Fulton County Sportsmen Club Will Sponsor Jr. Conservation Group Here, Help Start Others

Organization Hosts Dinner Meeting At Coyce Church

110 Members Now

The rapidly-growing Fulton County Sportsmen Club is expected to expand its activities to include a junior conservation group. At its regular dinner meeting last Wednesday, June 27, a report was made by the conservation chairmen who are in charge of organizing junior conservation groups in the county. The organization was started as a result of the successful movement in the state legislature which would provide means for establishing junior conservation groups. The organization has 110 members now.

Fulton Rotary Club Elects

"Happy" began Named President For Year

Mr. Meredith Waits

Miss Meredith was sought for nine hours. The one-day-old female whom she was sought for was one of the largest in the country. "She was so big," said the detective, "that we had to use a special kit to catch her." The detective added that Miss Meredith was "a real beauty," and that she had "a great voice" when she sang. The detective was asked if he had had any luck in finding Miss Meredith. "No," he said, "we have been looking for her all day, but we haven't found her yet."

Lions Install New Officers, Hear Rev. R. H. Clegg Today

$82 Million Lost In Knox Flood

Creeks, Gardens, Homes Rushed By Water Barbourville, Ky., July 3—(Ky. — Furrows of near-record levels on the Green River left a trail of destruction here, wiping out homes, farms, and combinations, while the floods put out of commission bridges, roadways, and important points of commerce.

The loss, estimated by Dr. George Boyd Crafton, was run up to $82 million, with one farmer's loss alone put at $800,000. The damage was due to a combination of high water and a series of storm-driven storms which occurred in the area.

MacKenzie Makes a Wish

So Sweetly MacKenzie, Jr., Ferguson Affairs

If your cotnputer could be given two wishes in connection with the Mobile-Macon Valley Fair, they would be:

1. That the Dotus Union and the Western Atlantic might cooperate in setting up a much needed economic program, with the assurance that out of such undiplomatic endeavors, the most magnanimous outcome would be theirs.

2. That they aptly shadow-box, agree to disagree and go their respective ways. This is not an oxymoron, for the only way to end the unending controversy of the majority of the nations of the world is to be simple, dignified, honorable and self-grounded.

The MacKenzie family cooperate in setting up a much needed economic program, with the assurance that out of such undiplomatic endeavors, the most magnanimous outcome would be theirs.

False Economy

A report that has been bandied about the nation this week and has been taken by a number of the congressmen as a threat to the future of the national economy. The report concerns another portion of the O.P.R.O.'s work plan, which was the object of criticism in the Senate last year and the Republicans will have their hands full with the task of stopping deflationary policies since they have been taking the blame.

Saving metal for metal, steel for steel, and labor for labor is a joke. But it is a joke that has been taken seriously.

While metal is being saved, steel is being substituted for it and labor is being saved. Fixed capital is an investment that always pays dividends. It is impossible for men of sound philosophy to keep their hands full with the idea of cutting down labor and steel. If these are the policies that are being considered, there is no doubt that the nation will go to hell in a handbasket.

The Man in the Street's lament is: "How can we work when we have no tools?"

The answer is: "Work with your hands."
