Ward For Governor Offices Open Saturday

Official opening of the state headquarters of the Henry Ward For Governor campaign will be Saturday, Feb. 4, in Louisville, co-chairmen Foster Ockerman and Bert Combs announced.

They said a short program — from 1:30 to 2:15 p. m. — will be presented in the 10th floor ballroom of the Sheraton Hotel. But Kentuckians For Ward headquarters, a few doors south of the Sheraton on Fourth Street, will open at 9:30 a. m.

Guides will be present at the Kentuckians For Ward headquarters and at the offices in the Sheraton to take visiting friends and supporters of former highway commissioner Ward on tours of the campaign work areas.

"The latch string is out — everyone is invited to come to Louisville Saturday," Ward said.

Combs and Ockerman, the campaign co-chairmen, said that much of the preliminary organization for the campaign is underway and the opening will give friends and supporters of Henry Ward a chance to look over the headquarters they will be working with.

"Anyone who wants to meet Henry Ward, who wants to discuss any of the issues which might come up, is invited," the chairmen said.

"I consider myself a people's candidate, and I expect to direct my campaign to the people of Kentucky — I'm going to take my campaign across the state to the people," Ward said.

"I would not be in a position to run for governor now if the people of my home county, McCracken, had not first given me a chance to serve them by electing me to the legislature when I was 23-years-old," Ward said.

"Serving in the legislature gave me the opportunity to work for programs the people of Kentucky needed — rural electrification, soil conservation, health care, education, industrial expansion, workmen's compensation, strip mine reclamation," he said.

"Later, I moved on to where I could work to build a parks system, work to build a highway network, work to bring roads to people who had been isolated," Ward said.

"I want to continue to work for the people, effectively, efficiently, doing the job the way the people want it done," Ward said.

Jottings

From

Jo's

Notebook

As women grow older there are more and more things that we talk about less and less. Our age, our weight, the size of our clothes, our growing ailments are but a few.

Ima Phelps, who is being a tremendous help in organizing the Volunteer Hostess service of the Red Cross, afforded us a hearty laugh on Wednesday as she gave Annabelle Edwards the sizes of the uniforms to be ordered for the program.

"I know good and well I wear a ten," or "I've always worn a 12," were didactic statements heard all around. Except when the measurements were taken, it was a different story.

And what was the universal comment when the ladies found out differently?

"I'VE JUST GOT TO GO ON A DIET!"

Yea, like we do. Every morning of the world.

Sailing, Sailing!

A card from Betty and Parks Weeks on Wednesday made me almost cry with envy. Without comment, here's why!

"The days are passing much too swiftly on this great ship. Interesting people and much entertainment. We arrive at Madrid tomorrow, then on to Rome and the Riviera and Spain."

Betty and Parks are on a Mediterranean cruise aboard the S. S. Constitution. While they're away Betty's mother, Mrs. English Clark of Atlanta is looking after Marianna and Caroline, who seem to be having as much fun with their grand-mother as their parents are having with the excitement of their delightful trip.

Fun Party!

There's going to be a fun, Valentine Party at the Fulton County Club on Sunday, February 12. The House of Grace of Paducah is going to serve a full course roast beef dinner for members and guests for just three dollars per person.

Jean McCarthy is chairman of the event and says reservations must be made in advance. None will be accepted after Tuesday, February seventh. You can make these reservations by calling Jean at phone 472-2825 or Cordelia Fields at phone 479-2936. If you can't find either of these busy gals, then try calling me at 472-1600 or 472-3412 or Estelle Simrell at phone 479-2402. We're also on that committee, with our spouses.

Better get your favorite valentine and come along!

Proud Grandma!

Never saw a grandma who wasn't always yakking about their second generation off-spring. Justified as was that of Annabelle Edwards who said that her grand-daughter Chris (Meadows) Martin has made the dean's list at Delta State College at Cleveland, Mississippi. Chris, (Mrs. Gene) keeps house for her student husband, is active in drama circles, does the marketing and a thousand other things, and still makes the honored scholarship rolls. Yea, that's some necessary bragging.

Stubblefield Is Named To High Ranking Post

Representative Frank A. Stubblefield (D-Ky.) was appointed chairman of the dairy and poultry subcommittee of the House Committee on Agriculture at the committee's organizational meeting Tuesday morning under the leadership of its new chairman, Representative Bob Poage (D-Tex.).

Representative Stubblefield is the 6th ranking Democrat on the Agriculture Committee and received this subcommittee chairmanship by appointment from Chairman Poage. The dairy and poultry subcommittee will have jurisdiction over legislation assigned to it for study by Chairman Poage on pending matters before the Congress that relate to the dairy and poultry industry.

In the past, this subcommittee has conducted studies and hearings into the problems of these industries and such studies have contributed to the administration of relevant legislation.

Within the provisions of the General farm program legislation each year, the dairy industry's price supports are always a significant factor. Although there is no poultry program as such, in recent years various studies have been made which may result in definite legislative help for poultry producers.

Mrs. Pigue Named Fulton Heart Chairman

A further appointment has been made in Fulton County to serve in the 1967 Heart Fund drive, it has been announced by Kentucky campaign chairman, J. O. Matlick of Frankfort, State Commissioner of Natural Resources.

Mrs. Bertie J. Pigue, Fulton, will serve as Fulton Heart Fund chairman. The drive, which begins February 1st, and continues throughout the month, will be sponsored by the Fulton Woman's Club.

Mr. Matlick, himself a recovered heart attack victim, pointed out he has come to know first-hand of the "almost miraculous progress" science has made in the fight against heart and blood vessel diseases, and of how the Kentucky Heart Association "by its effective use of Heart-Fund dollars in the State's communities, hospitals and medical research laboratories has vitally furthered this progress."

The annual door-to-door Heart Sunday solicitation will be conducted this year on February 26.

Volunteer Hostess Program Trains 49 Workers For Hospitals, Nursing Homes

by Jo Westpheling

An anonymous author once wrote:

"I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good therefore that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any fellow creature, let me do it now. Let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

This well could have been the motivating theme that permeated the large gathering at the Derby Restaurant on Tuesday when 49 women set aside many hours from their busy day to take the Red Cross training course for volunteer hostesses to serve at the local hospitals and nursing homes in the months to come.

It could well be too the beginning of a much better understanding of the world-wide efforts of the American Red Cross, for Robert Wrenn, field representative for the organization in this area explained in minute detail the workings of this volunteer enterprise and the work and dedication that go into its far-flung existence.

In the afternoon session Mrs. Glynn Bushart proved an apt student in relating the training that she, Mrs. Ual Killebrew and Mrs. Bob White received at a work session in Princeton last Tuesday. Advising the ladies on the "do's and don'ts" concerning the much needed and humanitarian service they will render to persons confined to hospitals and nursing homes, Mrs. Bushart eagerly transmitted her own enthusiasm for the program.

Although approximately 60 persons had signed up for the volunteer service, that requires at least two hours of duty per week at the various institutions designated, only 49 were in attendance. Some of the persons who had volunteered for the service were unable to attend the training course because of other commitments; others either failed to give reasons for their absence or bowed out of the program.

In this light, it was pointed out, at least ten more volunteers are needed for stand-by service. When this number has been secured at other training class will be held.

The first uniform order was mailed on Wednesday containing the names of 48 volunteers who have paid $8.15 for the garment and cap.

Here is the list of people who as the author said "will not neglect the duty to show kindness to their fellow creatures in need."

Mrs. Wilburn Allen, Mrs. Bill Adams, Mrs. Frank Brady, Mrs. Robert Batts, Mrs. James Best, Mrs. J. V. Callihan, Mrs. Paul B. Carnahan, Mrs. Oscar Cobb, Mrs. J. W. Coleman, Mrs. James Caldwell, Mrs. John P. Emerson, Mrs. C. D. Edwards, Mrs. Ernest Fall, Jr., Mrs. Charles Fields, Mrs. Pete Green, Mrs. James Green;

Mrs. Bill Homra, Mrs. Herbie Hunt, Mrs. Sam Haddad, Mrs. Homer Johns, Mrs. M. R. Jeffries, Mrs. Crawford Kennedy, Mrs. Dick Loney, Mrs. George Moore, Mrs. Zona Lee Moss, Mrs. L. M. McBride, Mrs. D. J. Murchison, Mrs. C. H. Newton, Mrs. Andrew Nelson, Mrs. Lester Patrick, Mrs. Rupert Phelps, Mrs. Gerald Powell;

Tom Franklin, Venerable Pioneer Resident Dies After Long Illness

Thomas M. Franklin died early Tuesday, January 31, at his home in Fulton, following a long illness.

The death of this tall and stately gentleman is like turning the final page in a history book that has chronicled all the interesting and colorful history of an era long past, but fondly remembered.

Venerable Tom Franklin was a pioneer citizen who lived in and loved every minute of his life in two centuries. He never abandoned his vivid recollections of this area's early history, yet he was able to live happily in his time, and with enthusiasm to the tomorrows which, even in his later years he anticipated, and with the same vigor and energy of his youth.

There are many recollections these editors have of Tom Franklin. It was as the owner of Franklin's Dry Goods Store located on Main Street that we came to know the character of this gent, whose first impression on a new-comer was one of austerity. It took no time at all to know that he was a friendly and gregarious as he looked stern and aristocratic, which the latter he surely was.

Like some of the stalwarts of this community who have gone on before him, Mr. Franklin had a tremendous sentimentality about his home-town, the people who lived in it, worked for it, and helped it to grow. He made great effort to live all of his life, and it was indeed a long and happy one, so that people who knew him and loved him could carry on the love and hopes he had for this area.

He was a Fulton merchant and civic and church leader for more than sixty years.

He was the owner of Franklin's Dry Goods Store, which was located at the present site of the Fulton Theatre. This department store was one of the leading department stores in the area before it went out of business in 1937.

Prior to opening this store, Mr. Franklin had been associated with Ed Slaughter and Percy McDowell in business.

Tom Franklin

In 1937 Mr. Franklin and his step-son, W. T. Browning, opened a men's store on Main Street, known as Franklin's Quality Shop.

Before his retirement in 1956, Mr. Franklin was active in church and civic affairs. He was a member of the First Methodist Church and served on the board of stewards. He was a member of the building committee when the church edifice was built in 1928. He was a past president of the Fulton Rotary Club and a Shriner.

Funeral services will be held this (Thursday) morning at ten o'clock in Whitnel Funeral Home chapel, with Rev. Homer Johns, Pastor of the First Methodist Church officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Mr. Franklin, 95, was born in Graves County and was a longtime merchant in Fulton, retiring in 1956.

His wife, the former Miss Iva Parker, preceded him in death in 1958.

Surviving are a step-son, W. T. Browning of Fulton; two grandchildren, W. T. Browning, III of Lexington, and Mrs. Judy Singleton of Durant, Okla., seven great grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Free Necktie With Purchases At Rummage Sale

The Christian Men's Fellowship of the First Christian Church will hold a rummage sale Saturday beginning at 9:00 a. m., in the old Doty Shop on Lake Street.

A special feature of the sale will be a free necktie with every purchase!

The men will sell clothing of all types and for all seasons, plus many other needed items. Proceeds from the sale will be used for a much needed project in the church.

Wilburn Holloway and Charles Gregory, chairmen of the rummage sale, have lined up the following committees to carry out the work of the project: Herbie Hunt and William Stokes in charge of building arrangements; Henry Hanna and Dudley Morris in charge of publicity; Joe Holland, Roy Pickering, N. E. Martin, Robert Witty, and Moore Joyner in charge of receiving; and Robert Holland, Presley Campbell, and Connie Roper in charge of disposition and storage of unsold items. All of the men of the church will be able to have a part in preparations and selling. Joe Holland is president of the C. M. F. group.

Girl Scout Fund Drive Is Underway

Joe Sanders, chairman of the Girl Scout Fund Drive, announced that the drive is now underway and will continue through February 6th. The city of Fulton has been divided into areas and each area will be directed by a Girl Scout leader who in turn has appointed mothers of the Girl Scouts to canvass the area.

The business establishments will be canvassed by Ann Hunt, Joan Homra, Shirley Holt, Donna Homra, Betty Lynn and Patty Butts. Country Club Courts will be directed by Joan Weaks; East Fulton by Sara Workman; Highlands by Mrs. Bill Jolly and Deepwood by Mrs. Doyce Clark. West Fulton is divided into three areas and they will be directed by Mr. Joe Higgs, Mrs. Helen Campbell and Mrs. Charles Thompson.

Each mother will carry official pre-numbered receipts. Your contributions are deductible from income tax and contributors of sizeable amounts should demand a receipt. Give when you are called on and please give generously.

Specialization Cited As Reason For Kentucky's Teacher Shortage

Why is there a teacher shortage in Kentucky? Increased specialization is one reason, a UK educator believes.

Dr. Lyman V. Ginger, commenting this week on the current shortage, said that "teachers are being taken out of the classroom and placed in specialist positions because of increased government funds."

The dean of the University of Kentucky College of Education agrees with Don C. Bale, Kentucky assistant superintendent for instruction, that the increased number of emergency teachers in Kentucky this year came about largely because qualified teachers are being used to implement the U. S. Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Of the 200 Kentucky school districts, 134 are employing emergency teachers, compared with only 99 districts last year.

The specialist positions were created under Titles I and II of the Education Act. Such jobs are in areas of remedial reading, health, guidance and counseling, library service and special education to handicapped children. These and other programs already have been activated in Kentucky.

A total of $25.8 million has been allocated to state schools this year under terms of the act.

"It is impossible to tell when the need for emergency teachers will peak, because it depends on how much the government will put into these funds in the future," Dean Ginger said.

"There is no backlog of qualified teachers," he added. "Before this drain began, Kentucky had a steady, rapid cut-back in the number of emergency teachers."

Dean Ginger also points, however, that many other states pay higher salaries and qualified teachers often migrate to those states — another reason for more emergency teachers.

He cited Indiana, which pays beginning teachers about $6,000 a year, while Kentucky pays about $1,000 less and has the same differential for more experienced teachers.

"Kentucky teachers now earn higher salaries than they used to earn, but the salary scale has not moved up as in other states scales," he noted.

Dean Ginger pointed out that Northern Kentucky has always had a problem because of its proximity to Ohio, which also pays higher teacher salaries. Louisville and Jefferson County, he said, are forced to hire emergency teachers because of the population increase and double school shifts, and the county's nearness to better-paying Indiana.

The emergency teacher situation will continue to grow for another two or three years," before it gets better," Dean Ginger believes. He said the program brought about by the new Federal legislation will continue and that even more money will be put into the Kentucky program.

A Kentucky emergency teacher must have at least 96 college semester hours, plus nine hours in the subject he teaches.

Dean Ginger explains, however, that most emergency teachers are women who have college degrees, often in one of the arts and sciences fields. Most of them were married following graduation and for awhile were full-time housewives. Others were office workers, "drafted" by local school officials into the classroom.

A few emergency teachers had classroom teaching experience, gained while certification standards were lower.

Most emergency teachers have more than the required two years of college, and could easily meet the requirements by studying during summer session or perhaps one semester, he added.

Dean Ginger said that just over 600 new teachers will graduate at UK this year. The largest scarcity is in the elementary schools, he (Continued On Page Eight)

Retailers Wail Of Shoplifting Menace, But Lack Of Adequate Salespeople And Wages Is Problem

In this issue of the News there's a news story that reveals that Kentucky merchants, like merchants all over the Nation, are losing millions of dollars each year as a result of shoplifting. The story goes on to say that over one thousand persons were convicted of this crime in 1966.

This newspaper has made every effort to cooperate with the various law enforcement and retail agencies in creating an awareness to this growing problem, but we think it high time that the retailers stop wringing their hands about the problem and do something about it.

We have reference of course to this almost universal transition to self-service in retail stores. There was a time when only grocery stores permitted their customers to select their purchases, place them in a cart, and have them checked out at the front counter. While we are sure that shoplifting prevailed to some degree, it would appear rather difficult to hide even the smallest items from the clerks. Perhaps it still is!

But today drug stores, variety stores, shoe stores, even some ready-to-wear shops feature self-service. And apparently, many people do just that, to their heart's desire.

During the holidays we were in a large shopping center in a large city, looking around for gift suggestions. We were appalled at the lack of sales people on hand to assist with the purchases. Not only that, we found entire floors of merchandise tended only by a cashier and perhaps one or two salesladies. And during the Christmas rush too. It's a wonder shoppers didn't lift even the counters, for they could have, if they had a mind to do so.

Having published so many stories about the costly business of shoplifting, and having waited and looked around for a clerk to take our purchase in one of the stores, we just got plum out-done and went to the manager and told him that his lack of sales personnel was not conducive to efficient salesmanship, and moreover was an open invitation to professional shoplifters.

He readily agreed, remarking that: "We just can't find the help."

Well, that's something again! In this day of high wages and the higher cost of living, there aren't many people who can afford to work at the going wages in many retail stores.

So there you have it! For want of reasonable wages, the help is gone, and for want of competent help, the merchandise is gone.

Now where is THAT crying towel?

When You Educate A Girl, You Educate Family, That's Why Many Men Support Girl Scouting

There are thousands of men in Girl Scouting. And the number keeps increasing. Why? Because busy men - civic leaders, labor leaders, business men, professional men, and others from all walks of life - recognize the wisdom of the adage, "When you educate a girl, you educate a family", the core of the future. They are lending their special skills to the Girl Scout program in the future interest of their homes and communities.

Girl Scouting is a flexible, informal educational program that influences the lives of girls by reinforcing and supplementing the teachings of the home, the school, and the church. It is carried on in small groups under trained adult leadership. Girls from 7 through 17 of all races, creeds, and nationalities, who accept the Girl Scout Promise and Laws are welcome to join.

Through a wide range of activities in the arts, the home, and the out-of-doors, girl gain new knowledge and skills which they are encouraged to put to use for the benefit of their families, friends, and communities.

Troop activities for all ages reflect the elements that give Girl Scouting its distinctive character; adherence to the ethical code embodied in the Girl Scout Promise and Laws; troop management; service; citizenship; international friendship; and health and safety.

Help do your job in your community by generously donating to the Girl Scouts when a mother or Girl Scout leader knocks on your door during this week and next.

Invest In Your Future

Money? Why do the Girl Scouts need money from ME? Parents pay all their expenses... the troop leader is a volunteer... the troop meets in a rent-free space. Why do the Girl Scouts need money from ME?

THIS question must run thru the minds of each person who is asked to donate. It costs money to form new troops. It costs money to recruit and train new leaders. It costs money to provide the best program for girls. The Girl Scout Camp is a vital part of scouting and it costs money, over and above the fee charged each Girl Scout, to maintain and operate camps.

Yes, it costs money! It's your right to know exactly how much and for what! The Girl Scout Board of Directors determines the annual budget and accounts for all expenditures. Our Community Leaders who serve on the Board are your friends and neighbors. Ask them the questions you need answered. They will be calling at your door during the week of January 30th. Then, after your questions have been answered, GIVE to the Girl Scouts. You benefit... our girls benefit... our community benefits. Girl Scouting today makes better citizens tomorrow. INVEST IN YOUR FUTURE!

Oh My Aching Head!

HARRISONBURG, VA., NEWS RECORD: "Dr. John D. Dougherty of the Harvard School of Public Health is one of a growing number of scientists who are taking a look at noise in contemporary society and its effects, apparently, are considerable... A researcher on hearing problems, Dr. Dougherty contends noise levels in many environments have reached the point they are causing serious hearing impairments... As examples of how noisy everyday contrivances have become, the researcher notes industrial studies which have shown that continued exposure to a noise level of 80 decibels has resulted in loss of hearing. Yet, such ordinary appliances as food blenders are rated at 93 decibels, a loud lawn mower at 107 decibels and a subway train at 95."

POET'S CORNER

OF ICE AND MEN

There's something warm about the cold.

When winter brings an icy breath

And glazes all the ways, and snow

Whiles down and up as if to hold

My town and all its people hard

And fast-frozen to their lot,

These folk rebuke with brotherhood.

They smile along the boulevard

As if to say, "The going's bad,

So strangers can be friends today."

How they refuse to isolate

Themselves for Nature's frenzied fad!

Some men who never met before

Will gather, grit their teeth and try

To push your car from icy curb;

Their muscles band a friendly corps.

When Nature casts us out, I've found

We cast each other in. I like

It when we pause to know we're men

And thaw to spite the frozen ground.

MOMENT OF TRUTH FOR LOUISVILLE PRESBYTERIAN THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

The fact that a professor of the Louisville Presbyterian Seminary now sits on the board of directors of the Southern Conference Educational Fund is a question that we believe will be of interest to all Presbyterians. To be a Christian pacifist in the context of Christian conviction is one thing - to be a member of S. C. E. F. is another. This is neither pacifism nor Christianity. This is participation in what is undoubtedly one of the most militant and uncompromising leftist movements in the south and in the nation. The public activities of its leadership, Carl and Anne Braden, are a matter of public record.

Professor George Edwards is not acting by himself in these matters insofar as he was accepted as spokesman for the faculty on its action taken on Wednesday, January 4th in a message calling for "unconditional cessation of bombing by the United States" in North Viet Nam. The Louisville Courier-Journal reported as follows: "The Rev. George Edwards, a faculty member, said the messages, signed by 11 of 15 faculty members at the meeting, were sent in response to a request from the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education..." This movement was originally set in motion in America by the National Council of Churches. This issue, therefore, can no longer be dismissed as simply being the radical or extreme position of one man, since in truth he appears to represent the general tenor and opinion of eleven of the fifteen faculty members at the meeting. In this sense, indeed, the moment of truth has arrived both for the Seminary and for the Presbyterian churches in the Kentuckiana area. We need only to add that a similar issue is posed in the case of

County Agent Still Very Much On Farm Scene

The county agent as Kentucky has known him is not disappearing.

But in the future the agent's office will involve all the professions and work with business, as various area specialists from the University of Kentucky concern themselves with every kind of local and regional problem, delegates to the Kentucky Cooperative Conference were told in Lexington last week.

Dr. Lewis W. Cochran, UK provost and dean of the Graduate School, said the University already has area specialists and extension professors at work, "who have a higher degree of specialization and more formal education in a particular specialty."

They serve not a single county, but a group of counties, he said.

As time goes on, Dr. Cochran said, there will be an enlargement of this service function of the University.

"There is a changing pattern in cooperative extension service in agriculture, which now requires a greater degree of expertise on the part of extension people than has ever been the case in county agent and home demonstration agent positions."

Although the University "is a complex institution with a multiplicity of programs and responsibilities," Dr. Cochran said, "it is still a single institution with a single administration and a single faculty with the education of the young people of this state as its central purpose."

But it is also concerned with the continuing education of adults and with providing a service to all the people of the state.

Dr. Cochran said UK's complexity and unity gave it a particular strength, "to provide the wide range of educational opportunity needed in modern society."

Two areas where programs are being developed, he said, are social work and community planning, "and Kentucky needs both of this type of people."

The University has stressed its three functions — teaching, research, and service — throughout its 100-year history, but the three missions were only officially assigned to UK by the last session of the Kentucky General Assembly.

"They formally assigned us the responsibility for advanced graduate education at the doctoral level, for most of professional education, and for the major research and service programs of the state," he said.

"It has become increasingly clear that the University has the responsibility to provide the type of service we have offered in agriculture in other areas," Dr. Cochran continued.

"We have much of it now in the form of extension courses, for service from our College of Education to the public school systems of the state, and from continuing education programs in medicine, dentistry, nursing, and the beginning of a greater effort in business and economics."

The county agricultural agent will be supplemented by area specialists—not only in agriculture—but in the several areas the culture and day-to-day life the area demands.

Soil Conservation News

by Chas W. Martin, Jr.

Kentucky farmers were cautioned this week on choosing soils in meeting stepped-up demands for U. S. food products at home and abroad.

"We advise farmers to use the scientific information contained in modern soil survey," said Homer A. Taff, state conservationist for the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service, headquartered at Lexington.

Taff pointed out that when this country was plagued by large crop surpluses, a great deal of land was taken out of cultivation. It was put in grass and other vegetation that protected the soil against erosion.

Except for rice, peanuts, and tobacco, national surpluses have disappeared," Taff said. "Now there's need to produce more food for our rapidly increasing population. On top of that, millions of hungry people in other countries look to us for food."

"We need to increase yields of acreage now in cultivation. Only the best and most suitable land presently out of production should be brought back. Otherwise we will return to the wasteful days of erosion when our productive topsoil was washed and blown away. Productivity then was reduced to low levels."

Soil surveys provide the only scientific guide for choosing land, Taff said. They reveal soils that can be cultivated profitably and safely. They also show marginal soils that should be left in grass or other protective cover. Taff added:

"I feel confident that farmers, cooperating with their soil conservation districts, will use the soil survey data to decide what land, if any, they will bring back into row crop production."

According to Fulton County's soil survey, about 30,000 acres of the county's gently rolling to steep land has lost at least 50 percent of its topsoil. This happened because steep land was used for cultivated crops rather than permanent grass or trees. Also because rolling land was planted up and down hills, used too intensively, had its organic matter depleted, and lacked supporting conservation measures.

QUALITY COTTON

Much has been said about who is producing cotton for U. S. Government loan. As of December 1, 1966 an inventory of cotton owned by Commodity Credit Corporation reveals that of all the cotton accumulated over the past years that Tennessee has contributed only 4 percent and that only 4.9 percent of the 1966 Tennessee cotton was in the loan. Tennessee has been producing quality cotton very usable in the cotton mills.

IS DHIA PROFITABLE FOR DAIRYMEN?

The table below does a good job of answering this question. Take a look at the increase Tennessee DHIA cows have made (3,231 lbs.) compared to the increase all cows in Tennessee have made (1,300 lbs.) for the period listed. There is a difference of 1,931 pounds of milk per cow for the DHIA cows. At $5 per hundred for milk, this is $96.55 per year for each cow in the herd.

The average DHIA cost per month on a 50 cow herd is approximately 55 cents per cow. This is a cost of $6.60 per cow per year.

Average Milk Production Per Cow in Tennessee

	DHIA Cows	All Cows
1956	7,009 lbs.	3,920 lbs.
1966	10,240 lbs.	5,220 lbs.
Diff.	3,231 lbs.	1,300 lbs.

DHIA records help to eliminate the guess work in management of the dairy herd. All records are now being machine processed and much more information goes to the dairyman than when they were hand calculated. This information, if studied and used, will increase production and profits from the herd.

Tennessee's DHIA cows have increased 46 percent in production for the past 10 years compared to a national increase of 22.3 percent.

In addition to the extra milk cows on DHIA produce, there are other advantages. Over the state heifers from cows with records have averaged selling for well over $50 more than heifers from cows without records.

DHIA TESTING IS AN INVESTMENT, NOT AN EXPENSE

Four States' Report On Oil-Gas Available

A report on oil and gas developments in Kentucky and three neighboring states during 1965 is available through the Kentucky Geological Survey at the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Wallace W. Hagan, director of KGS and state geologist, says the report, entitled "Developments in East Central States in 1965," describes petroleum and natural gas drilling and production activities for Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Tennessee.

Copies of the report are available at 36 cents each from the Kentucky Geological Survey, Mineral Industries Building, University of Kentucky, Dr. Hagan suggested that interested persons ask for Reprint 19.

Economic Growth In Kentucky Seen Continuing Through 1967, Beyond

The director of the University of Kentucky Bureau of Business Research sees a continuation of the economic development of Kentucky counties during 1967, and a greater promise for the years ahead.

Dr. John L. Fulmer added that the steadily increasing level of education among men over 25 years of age is the greatest contributing factor to economic growth in the state.

"High levels of income have always had a strong relationship to high levels of education," he said. "In present times, the importance of this fact cannot be over-estimated."

He said that a close study by the Bureau indicated that those counties where a relatively high percentage of males over 25 have four years of high school or more, "are generally prosperous, and incomes are higher."

Dr. Fulmer's study reveals that Kentucky counties all show—over a ten-year period—a steadily increasing level of education among these men. Some of the counties, he said, show an increase as high as 300 per cent as in Meade County; Martin County shows a 100 per cent increase, and McCracken County 40 percent.

"These and related positive factors point to the growing potential for leadership in the Commonwealth," he continued. "It is an encouraging study because it can be related to another reassuring correlative—our counties are holding relatively more of their young leadership from a decline in loss by out-migration."

Dr. Fulmer praised the efforts of state development agencies to promote new industry and said they were contributing greatly to the decrease in "out-migration" of potential leaders—through continuing success in bringing new industries into more areas of the state.

"Taken in their entirety, these facts point to a continuation of this trend in 1967. The rate of education in community development will grow in importance not only in 1967 but also in the years ahead."

He said it was the duty of each community to look to the development of its own leaders, and that such development in turn will promote new regional industries, filling managerial positions in those industries with local men of good education.

UK Colleges Open Major Building Era

The University of Kentucky has embarked on a $47 million building program on the Lexington campus and in its several community colleges, most of it to be started this year.

Construction on the central campus will amount to about $26 million, including the new 13-story classroom-office building on the site of old White Hall, three parking garages, and a laboratory-office building for nutritional sciences.

Construction plans call for $16 million to be spent on community college campuses and provide for new campuses at Hazard, Maysville and Jefferson County.

Robert Kerley, UK vice-president for business affairs, said revenue bonds will be sold to provide funds for most of the projects. Some help will come in the form of grants from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

GROWING SEASON

Kentucky's crop-growing season ranges from 176 to 197 days each year, the State Agriculture Department reports.

Who reads the ads in the paper?
I don't.
So why should I advertise my store when I don't even read the ads myself?

Of course men don't read ads; men are strictly in the minority as buyers in the family. 88% of everything bought in the home is bought either by the women, or the selection is influenced by them.

Women are ALIVE each week to what's going on SPECIAL in the stores, and that's why we read the Fulton SHOPPER each Wednesday and the NEWS each Thursday. To a woman, advertising is "news" of what is able to save her money.

The Fulton Shopper goes swingin' up and down the streets of Fulton and Clinton . . . up and down the highways and byways of EVERY SINGLE MAIL ROUTE IN THE ENTIRE FULTON TRADE AREA every week of the year, singing a song of "best" buys in merchandise and services.

Gun Injuries Were Mishap, Father Says

Leonard Phipps accidentally shot his two teen-age daughters, Allie Mae and Lenda Carol, at approximately 3 a. m. Sunday at their home in Crutchfield, Sheriff James C. Menees said today.

According to the statements of Phipps, his wife and his two daughters, Phipps came home some time after midnight and was examining the pistol (30 special Smith and Wesson six shot snub-nosed revolver) which he had purchased on Saturday in Fulton. He said he was cocking the pistol and letting it off and did not know it was loaded. The two girls and their mother were in the living room.

The gun accidentally discharged, going through the arm of Allie Mae and through the hip of Lenda Carol. They were brought to Hillview Hospital at 3:20 a. m., treated and released about 4:45 a. m. They were not seriously hurt.

No charges have been filed, pending further investigation.

Shoplifting Is Causing Losses Of Much Income

During 1966 over one thousand shoplifters were convicted in Kentucky according to Ivan Jett, Executive Vice President of the Kentucky Retail Federation.

Kentucky merchants are losing millions of dollars annually from this crime. This results in increased prices to consumers. Photographs of convicted shoplifters are sent to merchants throughout Kentucky and this has aided in the apprehension of offenders.

Also, the losses are so large from shoplifting that merchants realize that they must convict everyone apprehended if these losses are to be reduced.

The penalty for the first offense is a fine up to three hundred dollars and imprisonment for not more than six months. For the second offense a fine of up to five hundred dollars and imprisonment for six months. For the third offense imprisonment for not less than one nor more than five years.

William Redman New Veep With Citizens Life

J. D. Butler, President of Owensboro-based Citizens Security Life Insurance Company has announced the appointment of William L. Redman of Dawson Springs as Regional Vice President. Redman is a former resident of Hickman, Ky.

Mr. Redman began as a life insurance agent for the Company and was chosen because of his established record of sales and management ability.

He attended the University of Berlin and graduated from the University of Tennessee with a degree in Civil Engineering. For 9 years prior to joining the Company, he was engaged in the highly specialized field of property acquisition for leading national pipeline corporations. He holds the rank of Major in the United States Army Reserve. He is married to the former Juanita Menser of Dawson Springs.

Mr. Redman produced more than one million dollars of life insurance for the Company in his first year in addition to his management responsibilities in which he was distinguished as the leading district manager for 5 consecutive months of 1966.

Area Students Get Roles In Campus Lights

Sally Pirtle, a sophomore at Murray State University, has been selected to appear in the dancing chorus of the thirtieth annual production of Campus Lights. At the same time, Barry T. Adams and Cletus Murry were selected to be members of the singing chorus.

DUKEDOM NEWS
By Mrs. Hillman Westbrook

Rev. Oren Stover, of Union City, preached for the Good-Springs Cumberland Presbyterian Church on Sunday. His message was well received by the congregation.

Good Springs CPW will meet at the church Saturday, February 4, at 1:30 p. m. for the monthly meeting, with Mrs. Thomas Bruce, president, presiding. The program "For This Is My Son" is dealing with the ministry of the church to the youth of today and will be presented in a panel discussion by Mrs. Winnie Cunningham, Mrs. Juanita McCall, Mrs. Mapelle Ainley and Mrs. Frances Watkins. Visitors are very welcome.

Word was received last week of the passing of Baalam (Uncle Tooter) Petty. He had in recent years lived with his son near Arlington, but was a resident of this community for a long time. He had been in poor health for over a year.

Dale Windsor is in Fulton Hospital, recovering from surgery which he had two weeks ago. Recovery has been slower than expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Durell McCall returned from a visit with friends and relatives in Detroit.

Jimmie Clapp was able to go back to school, after being sick for most of the time since Christmas.

Mrs. A. C. Bell has been in the Volunteer Hospital at Martin, but was able to come home last week. Myrtle Latta, Pauline Peeples and Ozelle Sylvest visited Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Armstrong Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shelton and daughter, Valerie, of Memphis and Mrs. Lorene Rushing of Martin attended church at Good Springs Sunday. Mrs. Shelton is the former Lynda Bailey.

Mrs. Willie Parker celebrated her 92nd birthday last Friday. She received many cards from her friends and had as guests for the day Mrs. Maggie House and Mrs. Raymond McNatt. Sunday afternoon visitors were Mrs. Winnie Cunningham, Mrs. T. L. Ainley and Mrs. Hillman Westbrook.

The Dukedom Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. Roy Puckett, with 16 members and two visitors present. The visitors were Mrs. Darrell Laws and Mrs. Mitchell Powell. After the business meeting, interesting and instructive reports were given by project leaders.

Clothing leader, Mrs. Randall Brown, reported on new fashions and the use of bright colors for the coming year. Garden leader, Mrs. William Roberts, reported on the time to fertilize and caution in handling poison bulbs and plants. Home furnishing leader, Mrs. Joe Wilds, spoke on formal and informal furniture and the texture of materials to use with each.

The February meeting will be with Mrs. Ray Thomas.

NEW LIBRARY—Governor Edward T. Breathitt dedicates the new Nicholas County Library in Carlisle and receives applause from county board members. The new library is also headquarters of the six-county Buffalo Trace Library Region. It replaces a library that was located in a former store building in Carlisle. Breathitt said the total project cost of the 13,000-volume library was $116,495.

CHESTNUT GLADE
By Mrs. Harvey Vaughn

After several months of intense suffering, Van Brann passed away at his home in Memphis last Tuesday, another victim of the treacherous enemy that threatens each daily. It is indeed difficult to understand the loss of one who was needed so much by so many. Sympathy is extended to his beloved wife and to his aged mother, Mrs. Minnie Brann, whom he cared for so devotedly since the death of his father in 1951. He was a friend that could be counted on to help anyone who needed help. An invitation was extended to visit his home at all times. Funeral service was at the Sandy Branch Church last Thursday afternoon at two o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Trentham took Mrs. Van Brann and Mrs. Opal Pounds to their home in Memphis Monday and will spend several days with them.

Word has been received of the death of Hardy Vaughan in California, where the burial was several days ago. He was the son of the late John Vaughan.

PIERCE STATION
By Mrs. Charles Lowe

Well, I'm back home from the hospital and want to thank my many friends for the cards and visits. News is scarce this week.

Nice crowds attended service at Johnson Grove and Chapel Hill last Sunday. Several from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Lula Lowe, which was held in Hornbeak Funeral Home Sunday afternoon. We extend sincere sympathy to the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rogers spent the week end in Memphis with their daughter, Linda, and husband.

Billie Stem, of the Naval Reserve, spent the week end in Millington.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Adams, of Martin, spent Sunday with Mrs. C. E. Lowe.

Mr. and Mrs. Buford Adams, of Martin, were recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Stem.

Mrs. Preston Edgington has been a patient in Hillview Hospital, but is home now and doing very well.

CAYCE NEWS
By Miss Clarice Bondurant

Miss Brenda Cruce, a student at Murray State University, spent the mid-term vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Cruce.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wade and Andy spent the week end in Memphis with Mrs. Ethel Oliver and Miss Lynette Oliver. Mrs. Oliver returned home with them for several weeks visit.

Mrs. Lillian Newton of Memphis spent Saturday night with Mrs. Mae Wall and Harold Hampton.

We are glad Turner Pursell is able to come home, after two weeks in the Fulton Hospital. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Maurice Carr Bondurant, a student at Murray State University, spent the mid-term vacation with his father, Maurice Bondurant, and his grandmother, Mrs. Clara Carr.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Simpson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Woodside in Union City last Sunday afternoon.

Clarice Bondurant attended the funeral and burial of Miss Bess Lawson at Union Church Saturday morning.

Saturday afternoon guests of Mrs. Mary Cruce were: Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Cruce and Ricky, and Mrs. John Peterson of Paducah, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cruce of Milan, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Cruce and Larry Gardner.

Larry Gardner, a student at Paducah Junior College, spent the mid-term vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Cruce. He will enter Murray University this semester.

We welcome Mr. and Mrs. James Gray and family to our town. They have purchased the home of Mrs. Virgie Bondurant.

Letters To Editor

TELEGRAM
January 26, 1967

Fulton County News: Representative Frank Albert Stubblefield announced today that the president's budget message to Congress for the Army Corps of Engineers in fiscal year '68 included a $30,000 request for advance engineering and design planning on Obion Creek. The president's recommendation for these funds is a big step toward gaining congressional approval of this most essential conservation project, said Mr. Stubblefield, and I shall do all I can at the congressional level to insure favorable action by the Congress at this session.

AUSTIN SPRINGS
By Mrs. Carey Friebe

Mrs. Dave Mathis returned home from the Volunteer Hospital in Martin the past week and is now convalescing in this village. She remains in bed a portion of the time.

Rev. Russell Rogers filled his regular appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday at 11 a. m., also at the evening worship, following the meeting of the BTU.

Mrs. Hazel Henderson has returned home from Chicago, after a visit with children, Mr. and Mrs. Noble McGeehee and Mr. and Mrs. David Earl Copeland.

Mrs. Oder Warren has returned from the Fulton Hospital to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Roberts. She was under treatment for several days and all friends wish her a rapid recovery.

Grant Bynum is feeling some better than the past week, hasn't been resting quite so well as in previous weeks. All friends hope he will soon get on gaining grounds again. Mrs. Chap Johnson and Mrs. Grover True visited at the bedside of Mrs. Oder Warren the past Monday afternoon. She is resting better, but has to have oxygen at times when her breathing is difficult. We hope she will improve during convalescent days.

Grover True celebrated his 82nd birthday Saturday, January 28, and he wishes to thank everyone who sent cards, 26 in all. He had a very nice day, spent quietly at his home near here.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lassiter and sons, Mark and Stevie, of Martin, were Saturday night dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Buton Lassiter.

Your writer spent last week in Hickman with grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Argo. Karen is improving, after being a patient in the Fulton Hospital and I hope she continues on the upward trend. She is under the care of Dr. Peterson.

Love And Marriage, College Studies
Still Go Together With Better View

Marriage and children and college do mix, more than 800 women students at the University of Kentucky have found.

Many mature women students at UK are not waiting until their children are grown to pursue educational goals, a recent study by Mrs. Cella K. Zyzniewski, assistant to the dean of women for continuing education of women, discloses.

In a report to Robert L. Johnson, UK vice president for student affairs, Mrs. Zyzniewski stated that questionnaires were sent to 822 women students 25 years of age and older who were enrolled at UK during the fall semester.

A total of 557 of the women students represent 25 per cent of the enrollment of the UK Graduate School, while 265 are undergraduates. Enrollment of mature women at UK is 40 per cent more than in 1965.

Thirty per cent, or 244, responded to the questionnaires. Mothers reported having 134 children in elementary school, plus 62 pre-school age children.

Decisions to continue their education were made by 212 of the women themselves—or 86 per cent—while 127 added that their husbands had also encouraged them; 41 reported encouragement from their children.

A total of 98 women reported study problems; 93 stated they are having problems with friends, and 70 have encountered financial difficulties.

While enrollment in the field of education showed the highest interest—27 per cent—scientific and liberal arts studies also had a large following, especially at the graduate level, Mrs. Zyzniewski points out.

These and other problems involved in the continuing education of mature women will be explored during a series of programs on February 2, 9, 16 and 23, at UK.

Each program features a UK faculty member offering various approaches to these questions, and discussions will be held with women visitors who are successful in their respective professional fields. Sessions will be held from 9 a. m. to noon.

The Parson Speaks

UFO'S (FLYING SAUCERS)

Are you a "Believer"? With the mention of UFO's (unidentified flying objects), immediately the world is divided into two classes, those who smile a sly smile of disbelief and those whose eyes bulge in wonderment at finding a fellow-believer. But the immediate question is not the most fundamental one concerning Flying Saucers. The question that awakens my curiosity the most is, "Do other people live in the Universe?" For if there are other people "out there", whole new expectations arise for the human race. If there are no others, that, too, makes unimagined demands upon human kind. "To think, we are the only ones in the unmeasured sea of space!"

I remember asking an astronomer one day if he thought that we were the only ones. He told me, "It would be a great act of pride on our part to consider ourselves the only people. An educated guess leads us to believe that there are about ten million other planets which are capable of supporting life, as we know it, besides our own."

Of course, that statement was too good a lead to end questions there. I followed through with greater curiosity. "Well, then, just how many stars and planets do you think there are in the universe?" He shrugged under the immensity of the question and said, "No one knows, but from the estimation of what we can see, there must be over ten-million-billion."

After a few more cups of coffee, I began to realize how very small are our earth and sun and planets. The earth is smaller than a speck of dust in space. It would be pride to think we were the only ones chosen for life. It was not a very flattering thought to take to bed that night, thinking that we are little things walking around on a speck of dust. But, then, when you think of the greatness of God and that we are loved by such a Star Maker, and that He designed the detail of our bodies and minds, we are awakened to know that we ARE small, but very precious to God.

For a moment, look at the smallness of the world and maybe you'll find the greatness of God. Light will have to be our measuring stick. It travels at 186,000 miles per second. Light will go around the world seven times in one second. It takes light about three seconds to go to the moon and back. For light to get to the NEAREST star, it takes 130,000,000 seconds, or four and one-half years. So, you see our world is not too large, by light, only 1-7 of a second. Light going across the Milky Way, the Galaxy to which we belong, would travel for 100,000 years before reaching the other side. Multiply 100,000 x 365 x 24 x 60 x 60 x 186,000 and find out how many miles it is across our Galaxy. There are millions of galaxies in space. The one closest to us is Andromeda. A space ship traveling at the speed of light would journey 1,700,000 years before it arrived there. You see the moon is not so far, after all, and the earth is a grain of dust.

We are pitifully small, but the God of the Universe loves us. And long after the stars have grown dim and died, we shall live with God forever. Isn't God great?

"Oh, sorry about that . . . you can live without bringing religion into it? You don't believe in God?"

Father Gerard Blahn

professors from Centre College in Danville and Florida Presbyterian College in St. Petersburg. If the members of Protestant churches in the south, and in the Kentuckiana area, want positive proof of the degree to which religious leadership is now actively involved in the extreme left-wing activities, then they need look no further than these announcements.

UKCC Students Share Autographing Party

It was something of a switch from the usual autographing party for a recent visiting author at the University of Kentucky Southern Community College at Cumberland.

J. R. LeMaster, author of "The Heart Is a Gypsy" and "Erotica 13," and editor of "Poets of The Midwest," was a guest of the college's Southeast Literary Society last Saturday when he autographed copies of his books.

Members of the "Writing of Fiction Class," on hand for the party, performed the switch when they affixed their autographs to their own book, "The Long Way Home," and presented it to the visitor.

The fiction class is taught by Lee Pennington, English instructor, who has helped many of his students break into print by steering their writings to various magazines. LeMaster gave a poetry reading following the autograph party.

THE FULTON CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

The peculiar hand of God began to move at the turn of this century toward establishing what is now The First Church of the Nazarene in Fulton. To the south of us was an old-fashioned Holiness Camp Ground, known far and wide as Uba Springs Camp, where some of the greatest Holiness preachers preached under the unction and anointing of the Holy Spirit.

Out of these camp meetings came some of our older members, Brother and Sister Walter Damron and Sister Ida Edwards. Before coming to the church here in Fulton, they were charter members of what was then known as Oak Grove Church of the Nazarene in the Camp Ground community.

At the same time, north of Fulton in the Water Valley community was another Holiness Camp Ground, known as Mobley Camp Grounds. From this camp ground came Rev. J. J. Owens, a local business man, who organized what was known as Rice City Methodist Church and from this church came one of the greatest laymen of this generation, Brother E. P. Woley, and Illinois Central Railroad engineer, along with others from the Rice City Church.

After several revival meetings in Fulton in the old Carr Park Auditorium, on January 2, 1935 The Church of the Nazarene was organized by the District Superintendent of the Tennessee District,

Rev. L. B. Matthews.

Having no building at the time, services were held in homes until our first pastor arrived on the scene, Rev. S. B. Damron from Bernie, Mo., who immediately began the moving of the Oak Grove Church building to Fulton, locating it on Church Street in South Fulton.

On December 4, 1944, our church burned to the ground in a morning service. Rev. D. K. Wachtel, our pastor, immediately began to set in order the necessary organizations for the building of a new church. A lot was secured on the Kentucky side of State Line. On this site now stands our present building, which is a monument to the faithful labors of Rev. Wachtel and members of the church.

The history of our church would not be complete without paying tribute to our Missionary Society, which has been the "filling station" or "power house" of the church. Nor would we close our history without paying tribute to our young people, some of whom are teaching in our colleges, and are serving as pastors or musicians in cities across our nation.

Ours is the old-fashioned gospel of true repentance and heart purity as taught by John Wesley. Our altars remain in our church, for which we are thankful.

Brenda McBride Is "Charmed" As Homemaker

Brenda K. McBride ranked first in a written homemaking knowledge and attitude test given to senior girls Dec. 6 and becomes Fulton High School's 1967 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow. It has been announced. Registered for the test were 581,334 girls in 14,753 of the nation's high schools, a new record for the 13 years the program has been offered by General Mills, its sponsor.

Brenda will be awarded a specially designed silver charm, and she remains in contention for state and national scholarship awards ranging from $500 to $5,000. In the program's next step, a state Homemaker of Tomorrow will be selected from winners in all schools of the state. She will receive a $1,500 college scholarship, and her school will be given a set of Encyclopaedia Britannica by Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc. The state runner-up's award will be a $500 scholarship.

Good Advice!

Connie Pawlukiewicz tells me the story of the individual who was complaining of being tense, nervous and sadly in need of relaxation. She told him: "Why don't you run for Governor of Kentucky?"

Shocked at such a suggestion the gent, who scarcely knows the primary elements of politics, was amazed at such a suggestion.

"Why not," she offered, "everybody else is."

To date eleven candidates for the Democratic nomination. The number seeking the second spot is too numerous to contemplate.

UK Enrollment Up By 2640 Over 1966

The University of Kentucky spring semester enrollment is 18,715, an increase of 2,640 over that of 1966. The Lexington campus hosts 13,336 of that number, with 4,654 in the community colleges and the Lexington Technical Institute, and an estimated 725 in extension classes throughout the state.

At the spring semester a year ago, there were 11,225 students at Lexington, 4,350 in the community colleges and about 500 in extension classes.

Community colleges report the following enrollment figures: Ashland, 765; Elizabethtown, 512; Fort Knox, 404; Henderson, 400; Hopkinsville, 273; Covington, 1,009; Prestonsburg, 478; Somerset, 397; Cumberland, 347; and Lexington Technical Institute, 69.

Billy McCollum, a cross-bar switchman in Southern Bell Telephone Company's central office in Fulton, was recently honored for fifteen years service. He was presented with a gold pin from the company, containing three stars, one for each five-year period of service, the presentation being made by R. E. Moody, central office foreman, at a dinner held in the Derby Restaurant. He is shown here with some of the intricate machinery he operates.

Cadette Troop To Visit State Capitol Friday

The Cadette Troop 148 of the Twin City Neighborhood, along with 150 other Cadettes of Bear Creek Girl Scout Council, has planned a day trip to Frankfort, Ky. on February 3. The trip will include visiting the State Capitol Building, the Senate Chambers, the House of Representatives, and the Court of Appeals.

The group will have lunch in the Capitol Annex Cafeteria and spend the afternoon touring the Old Capitol Building, which is a Museum of the Historical Society, and the Old Frankfort Cemetery, to see Daniel Boone's grave.

Judge Earl Osborne of Benton, who has recently taken office as a Judge of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, has helped plan and arrange the trip for the girls.

There are twenty girls going from Fulton, with their leaders, Mrs. Henry Dunn and Mrs. Betty Lynn, and Senior Program Aide, Martha Poe. The group will be leaving Fulton about 2 a. m. Friday in order to be in Frankfort to begin the busy day of sightseeing by 9 a. m.

The trip should be both educational and fun. The girls hope to see how State Government functions, and to obtain help with their active Citizenship Challenge of the "My Government Badge." School superintendents across the Council have given their approval for the trip.

UK Students To Work In Bogota, Columbia

Ten to 15 University of Kentucky students will work in Bogota, South America, next summer through a program sponsored by the campus YMCA.

The project, the Third Annual UK-YMCA International Work Camp, will take the students to Bogota, the country's capital city, to help build schools, recreation and health facilities, in an under-developed area of the city.

They will give voluntary service in the barrios (slums), in children's camps, playgrounds, in health clinics and in YMCA and community centers, and will work with Bogota University students at YMCA headquarters there in what is called "a first-hand transcultural experience."

BULLDOGS Vs PILOT!

Tomorrow (Friday) night the Fulton Bulldogs will play Fulton County Pilots at Carr gym. The B game will begin at 6:45 and the A game will follow.

Fulton Is A Good Town!

Is Your Farm In Need Of Additional Capital To Increase Net Farm Income?

One of the fastest moving trends in agriculture is the use of capital to increase volume of business per farm.

A recent study made by farm management specialists for the University of Kentucky of a pilot farm in this area showed that additional capital could increase annual net farm income by 20 percent of the additional capital invested. If your farm is lacking this capital - you may be lacking in net farm income.

This capital may be obtained through a short or intermediate - term loan from the Jackson Purchase PCA.

Judging Team

The University of Tennessee Dairy Cattle Judging team, of which South Fulton's John Burrow is a member, has been named the International Intercollegiate dairy cattle judging winner for 1966.

As the international intercollegiate winner, the team has been presented a revolving trophy by the Curtiss Candles and Breeding service.

The U-T team was the high scorer in judging Holstein and Brown Swiss animals, second on Ayrshire and Guernsey animals, third on milking Shorthorn and seventh on Jerseys. It was also judged the top team in its oral report and the top team over-all.

The trophy presented by the Curtiss Co. has been in that family since 1760, was handmade of Georgian silver in 1720 during the reign of King George III of England and is insured for $6,000 but is considered priceless.

The same U-T team was second high at the Southern Intercollegiate judging contest in Memphis recently, losing by only two points out of a possible 2,250 to Western Kentucky.

South Fulton, a hot-bed of 4-H activity, has produced Oblon county's three representatives to the National 4-H Congress. John Burrow and Gene Cannon, who live on adjoining farms, were national winners in their respective fields and John's sister, Susan Burrow, was a state winner and attended the nationals. She, however, did not compete on a national level as there is no such competition in her field.

John in 1963 showed the grand champion Guernsey at the National Junior Guernsey show in Waterloo, Iowa. He plans to go into the dairy business with his father, Mac Burrow, when he graduates from U-T this year. Mr. Burrow operates a 94-cow dairying set-up near South Fulton.

Other members of the U-T team were Doug Goddard of Dandridge, Tenn., Dan Alexander of Nashville and Carolyn Armentrout of Jonesboro.

Fire Breaks Out
At Wingo School
On Thursday

Fire broke out in the Wingo High School gymnasium Thursday about 12:30 p.m. scorching the floor and causing light damage, it was reported by the Wingo Fire Department.

An old couch located on the stage in the old gymnasium caught fire, but was extinguished by several school boys who used a hand fire extinguisher, Lewis Tucker Wingo Fire Chief said.

Cause of the fire was undetermined, Chief Tucker said.

Students spilling out into the rain were soaked by the time the word came that the fire was out. By that time, too, a tornado alert had been posted for Western Kentucky, so school officials decided to send the students home early.

Regular Hue's Hue

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (—It was a colorful transaction when Mrs. Mary White of Lewisburg, Tenn., ordered a gift for her friend, Mrs. Roger Brown, a patient in St. Thomas' Hospital.

Mrs. White telephoned the hospital gift shop, which is operated by the Ladies Auxiliary known as the Pink Ladies. The woman who took the order from her was Mrs. Jessie Lavender.

Pierce-Harris Club Projects

Mrs. Charles Hutchison, new president of the Pierce-Harris Community Club, appointed various committees for the coming year at the January meeting held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Roberts.

In the absence of Mrs. Claire McCollum, Mrs. J. M. Mayberry presented an outline for club work in 1967 and told of reirements for several projects. Announcement was made of special events for clubs in the new year, then members participated in an open discussion.

A work day was set for Feb. 1 in the home of Mrs. J. M. Mayberry.

Hostesses were named for the year with the February meeting to be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Powell. A recreation period was conducted by Mrs. Alvin Ferguson.

Newly Discovered Evidence

Suppose that, after a man is convicted of murder, the "murder victim" turns up alive. Everyone would agree that:

1) the jury's verdict was wrong; and

2) the prisoner should go free.

Such melodrama is rare in real life. But new evidence of some kind often does come to light after a man has been found guilty of a crime. Does that entitle him, if not to outright freedom, at least to a new trial?

Generally speaking, the law is wary of granting a new trial on the claim of "newly discovered evidence." For there is a distinct danger of fakery. The looming reality of a jail cell may inspire the defendant (or his sympathetic friends) to suddenly "remember" things that never happened at all.

In one case, a convicted rapist sought a new trial on the basis of "newly discovered evidence" that he had been playing poker with his cronies on the night of the crime. But the court denied his request, observing drily:

"Doubtless his conviction stimulated his memory and the memory of his friends."

A man was convicted of shooting his neighbor to death. After the trial it was learned that the neighbor, too, had owned a gun. But there was no evidence that the other gun had anything to do with the fatal quarrel.

New trial? The court said no, since the neighbor's ownership of a gun simply wasn't important enough to change the verdict.

On the other hand, new evidence may at times disclose a real miscarriage of justice.

Some years ago, ballistics experts discovered a new and better way of testing firearms. Checking the gun of a man already convicted of murder, they decided that his weapon could not possibly have fired the fatal shot.

Clearly this was grounds for a new trial, which was duly granted. We cannot expect that the law will never make a mistake. But we can expect that a mistake, once discovered, will be corrected.

Army Honors CD Director

WASHINGTON (ANF)—Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor presented the Distinguished Civilian Service Medal to Civil Defense Director William P. Durkee for his contributions to the Nation's capability to survive an attack.

Durkee, who resigned effective December 31, had been director since July, 1965. He was cited for his initiative and leadership in establishing the community shelter planning program and the home basement survey.

The citation said Durkee was "particularly effective in coordinating the efforts of military and civilian authorities to improve civil defense."

George Washington's Name In A Cave

EVITT'S RUN, W.Va.—A famous incident in American cave exploration was recorded here in 1748 when George Washington explored a small cave and scratched his name in block letters at the blind end. The cave was in Virginia; now it's in West Virginia.

Jackie Cooper Asks Public to Join Him In March of Dimes War on Birth Defects

By JACKIE COOPER
TV and Movie Star
California State Chairman,
March of Dimes

Some folks won't believe it's in character for a movie and television actor to concern himself with birth defects and the March of Dimes.

There's still a lot of feeling that a film actor never thinks about anything except his best profile and his scrapbook of flattering press notices. In real life, that's nowhere near the truth. Many actors are involved today in quite a few occupations other than show business.

As you know, some of us in Hollywood are even in politics. For another example of an actor who has outside interests, I could immodestly cite myself. As vice president of Screen Gems, Inc., I am a businessman. I've even been known to carry a brief case home nights.

Helps March of Dimes

In another non-Hollywood capacity, I am very much interested in the March of Dimes, of which I am now California state chairman for the second year.

You might ask how did I, an actor, director and TV producer, become interested in a subject that would seem a long way from my profession. Well, the fact is I was asked by a friend on the Columbia Pictures lot whether I would volunteer in the March of Dimes fight against birth defects. I told my friend to get me some material on what the March of Dimes was doing, and to let me think it over.

When my wife and I first read the figures about these tragic disorders, I have to admit we were somewhat ashamed of our lack of knowledge. A quarter of a million infants are born each year with defects. Also each year, we lose a half-million unborn babies as well as 60,000 infants, children and adults, all due to birth defects.

Figures Are Shock

I have a hunch that these shocking figures were unknown to the general public for years, not because they weren't available, but because nobody really wanted to hear about them—particularly young parents. In the March of Dimes fight this battle, now it's my turn to ask the same of you. I very much hope you will join me. Aside from making monetary contributions, there's a lot of worthwhile things that March of Dimes volunteers can do. Perhaps everyone can't pilot his plane around his state, as I interests (or from anyone's). I have four of the best reasons in the world for being interested. I have four children. Looking ahead, I am also concerned because some day I hope they'll have their own children—healthy, normal ones. As matters now stand, there's no way of predicting with certainty whose infants are going to be born defective.

FATHER OF FOUR children, Jackie Cooper, noted television and screen actor who is California chairman of the March of Dimes, explains in this article why parents particularly should concern themselves with the fight against birth defects. Here he visits with a young victim of birth defects at a March of Dimes Birth Defects Center in Los Angeles.

Just as someone asked me to join him in helping the March of Dimes fight this battle, now it's my turn to ask the same of you. I very much hope you will join me. Aside from making monetary contributions, there's a lot of worthwhile things that March of Dimes volunteers can do. Perhaps everyone can't pilot his plane around his state, as I do when I'm asked to appear in various California cities. But there are other assignments—many of them involving vital and rewarding tasks in the fields of medical care and in education.

STOP THAT S-K-I-D !

A safety tip from: Women's Representative, American Oil Company

By driving slower than usual, avoiding sudden starts and stops, and applying the brake carefully, chances are you won't get caught in a skid this winter. If you should, however, you need to know—in advance—exactly how to handle it.

- If you feel the car going out of control . . .
- Lift your foot from the accelerator but resist the natural inclination to step on the brake. Braking tends to increase a skid.
- Keep your forward motion, giving the engine a little gas if necessary.
- Turn into the skid, not away from it—turn the wheel the direction the car is slipping.
- As the car straightens, straighten the wheel to compensate for a possible skid in the other direction.

'Vietnam Counteroffensive'

WASHINGTON (ANF)—Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor has approved the designation of "Vietnam Counteroffensive" as the third U.S. Army Campaign in Vietnam.

The period covered by this designation is from Dec. 25, 1965, to June 30, 1966, inclusive. The campaign streamer bearing the approved designation will become the 148th streamer attached to the U.S. Army Flag.

The two previous campaign designations for actions in Vietnam were "Vietnam Advisory Campaign" from March 15, 1962, to March 7, 1965, and "Vietnam Defense Campaign" from March 8, 1965 to Dec. 24, 1965.

EYE EXAMINATION RECOMMENDED IF—

Can you tell if you need an eye examination?
You bet you can, according to the Guild of Prescription Opticians of America, Inc., which says that any one of 11 danger signals can warn you that a complete eye examination is needed.

- Here are the signals:
1. Continuing pain or discomfort
 2. Loss of side vision.
 3. Persistent redness of the eye.
 4. Rainbow halos around lights or foggy vision.
 5. Sudden appearance of floating spots.
 6. Growths on eyelids or eye.
 7. Persistent discharge or crusting.
 8. Crossing of eyes, especially in children.
 9. Nearsightedness or farsightedness.
 10. Distorted shape or pupils of unequal size.
 11. Constant double vision.

The Guild cautioned that if in doubt, visit your eye physician anyway because statistics prove that the blind population in America is increasing at a faster pace than the general population.

A survey in October, 1965, by the American Institute of Public Opinion, showed that next to cancer, Americans fear blindness more than any other disease.

The Guild, located in Washington D. C., said that it will continue to advise Americans on proper care of the eyes in hopes of making certain that the eyes receive the attention they deserve.
