National Coal Strike Averted By New UWM-Owner Contract; Means More Pay For Less Work

Lewis Believes
Entire Industry
Will Sign Pact

CRITICIZES G. O. P.

Washington, July 8.—(AP)—An agreement averting a nationwide soft coal strike was signed today by John L. Lewis and a majority of the bituminous operators.

In announcing the signing, Lewis told a news conference that it is "reasonable to assume" the entire industry will accept the agreement within a few days.

More than half of Lewis' 400,000 United Mine Workers are covered by agreements thus far signed by northern commercial operators, steel companies and mine owners in the west and midwest.

For the workers, it means the highest pay in history and the right to work under "willing and able."

For the public, it means higher coal prices and possibly less coal production under a shorter work day provided in the contract.

The miners originally were scheduled to return to the pits early today at the end of a 10-day vacation. But they stayed away pending word from Lewis that the wage agreement—completed last night—had been formally signed.

As soon as the various operators signed, UMW headquarters sent out the signal for the back to work move in those operators' mines.

South Unsigned
Still to accept the pact are the southern operators, who refused to participate in industry-wide negotiations, and scattered operators in the midwest and west. Combined, they represent slightly more than 40 percent of total soft coal production.

Lewis said the pact would be "interesting" because it is the first negotiated since passage of the "Taft-Hartley law," a reference to the Taft-Hartley bill putting new restrictions on unions. He accused the Republican party of "selling out to finance and industry" for contributions to the 1946 Congressional campaign which gave it control of Congress.

"One thing about a Republican Congress," Lewis said, "they stay bought."

The agreement provided a flat $1.20 a day increase in earnings, but Lewis calculated—without explaining his figures—that it meant $3.54 extra a day for each miner. Presumably he was counting the miners' equity in increased welfare fund assessments and other benefits.

He told reporters he would be chairman of the three-man board of trustees which will administer the huge welfare fund of the miners. Under the new contract, the royalty to finance the fund will go up from five cents a ton on coal to 10 cents a ton. Ezra Van Horn, Cleveland, O., operator, will represent operators on the board and Lewis said that Thomas Murray of New York, will continue as the neutral member.

Welfare Fund Grows
The money collected from the five-cent royalty during the 13 months of government operation—approximately $25,000,000—will be merged into the new welfare fund.

The miners also will be able to vote on the wage and hour benefits, a form of "freeze" on their house rentals which could be lifted by area wide agreement or by negotiation by the UMW. The miner also will be able to purchase heating coal at cost which Lewis said would mean a substantial saving in that item.

Lewis, waving a cigar, told reporters with unmistakable pride that the contract that he had negotiated had "more real value for the individual mine worker than has been hitherto been negotiated in this or any other industry through collective bargaining."

"We hope that it is the beginning of a new era in the industry," he continued.

West Kentucky Fair Opens

Carson Park in Paducah
Site Of Annual Event;
Over 40,000 Expected

The West Kentucky fair, which opened at Carson Park in Paducah this morning, is expected to attract a larger attendance than the 40,000 present in 1946, the Paducah Kiwanis Club, sponsor of the event, said.

Homemakers, 4-H Club members, and businesses will have exhibits on display throughout the four days of the fair.

Dairy cattle and sheep will be judged Wednesday and ribbons and cash will be awarded owners of prize beef cattle and hogs Thursday. Horse shows will be held July 8-10. Fifty running horses, 115 show horses and more than 100 harness racers had been brought to the fairgrounds yesterday.

Canning Factory At Barlow Burns

Barlow.—The canning factory here burned yesterday morning with a loss estimated at about $50,000.

The factory, which canned hominy, beans, tomatoes and other vegetables, recently was outfitted with new, modern machinery.

Flying Disc Worth $1,000, Delivered At L. A.; Airborne Saucers, Smoke Balls Seen in Kentucky

By The Associated Press
America's "flying saucer" jag reeled on today. Stiff necks and goggle eyes were the order of the day. Sky watching was a new profession.

North Carolina joined the disc parade.

For the first time the discs were reported whirling through the atmosphere over Asheville in western North Carolina and over Greensboro and Raleigh in the north central portion.

Tabulators quickly figured. Forty one states had joined the disc brigade since the objects first were reported June 25.

Explanations. Take your choice: they were radio controlled flying missiles sent aloft by U. S. military scientists. Or they merely light reflected on wing tanks of jet-propelled planes. Or—no one knew for sure.

The World Inventors Congress posted $1,000 for delivery of a flying disc to the exposition which opens in Los Angeles on July 11.

How About Radar?
Could they be spotted by radar?

A spokesman for the Army Air Forces said in Washington that no attempt had been made to spot the spinning, flying, whirling, stationary discs because there was not enough equipment to blanket the nation.

Powers Heads County Vets For Waterfield

Graves Education
Board Endorses
Local Candidate
PRAISES HIS RECORD

Ernest E. Powers, Hickman, has been named Fulton county veterans' chairman for Harry Lee Waterfield's campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Announcement of Powers' appointment was made today by Phil Ardrey, Waterfield's state veterans' chairman.

W. M. "Billy" Blackstone is county chairman for Waterfield. The Mayfield Messenger reported yesterday that the Graves county board of education has adopted the following resolution endorsing Waterfield's candidacy for governor:

"Whereas, education is passing through its greatest crisis in Kentucky, in which many qualified teachers have left the profession due to low salaries; and whereas, the state of Kentucky must assume its financial obligation to the school system to prevent bankruptcy;

"Whereas, Harry Lee Waterfield provided the leadership as speaker of the House of Representatives for the enactment of an improved educational program;

"Whereas, Harry Lee Waterfield has promised to enact the program into law which has been formulated under direction of the Kentucky Education Association to provide $34,000,000 appropriation to the common school fund;

"Be it resolved that the Graves county board of education urgently appeals to the Democratic voters of Graves county and Mayfield to support the candidacy of Harry Lee Waterfield for the Democratic nomination for governor of Kentucky in the primary on Aug. 2."

Martin Predicts Quick Passage Of New GOP Tax-Slashing Bill

Washington, July 8.—(AP)—Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) predicted today that the House will pass the new tax bill before nightfall "by an avalanche of votes."

But former speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) was leading a determined group in opposition to the measure. It would lop $4,000,000,000 from the nation's tax bill, granting tax cuts from 19.5 to 30 percent.

Martin said he expected the House to pass the measure "with 20 or more votes to spare over the two-thirds" needed to override a veto. He said he would not be surprised to see a majority of the Democrats voting for the bill.

The measure is identical with the one Mr. Truman vetoed June 16 as "the wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time"—except that the reduction would be effective Jan. 1, 1948. Instead of July 1, 1947.

Although Rayburn refused to concede that the House would override a second veto, most administration supporters pinned their main hopes on the Senate. There, sponsors of the legislation still are unable to name more than 61 senators who would vote to override a veto. That is three short of the number needed if all the 95 senators were to vote on the issue.

And a fight also is building up in the Senate over demands that the so-called community property principle now applicable in 12 states be extended to all states. This plan permits husband and wives to divide their income for lower tax purposes.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) said he will not vote to override a Presidential veto unless the measure contains such a clause. Two Republican lawmakers said the new Taft-Hartley labor act is powerless to block James C. Petrillo if he decides finally to ban radio network musical programs and phonograph recordings by his union musicians.

Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, first told a House labor subcommittee that "as of now" those are his plans for next year. Later he said "I'm in hopes that somewhere along the line we won't have to do the thing I said we'd have to do this morning."

Both chairman Kearns (R-Ia.) and Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.), a subcommittee member, expressed the belief that the Taft-Hartley act will not "stop Petrillo from going ahead with this if he wants to."

Speight Heads Civic Club

Former Fulton Swift Official Is Elected By Montgomery Exchange

Edward E. Speight, former assistant manager of the Swift and Company plant here, has been elected and installed president of the Exchange Club of Montgomery, Ala., where he now makes his home.

He left Fulton about three years ago, and now is manager of the Swift Ice Cream plant in Montgomery.

The new president of the Exchange Club was born in Paris, Tenn., 36 years ago. He is a steward at the Cathedral Methodist church in Cloverdale, Ala. The Exchange Club's weekly letter said, "He has plenty of personality, outstanding citizen and soft ball star. You will miss something if you are not present at every luncheon the coming six months."

A "leftover" from the Fourth of July was the final explanation for an explosion at Louisville's city hall, but not before it had touched off a rumor that a flying disc had crashed into the building. A throng gathered. Then calmer persons advanced the theory that it was an explosion of a firecracker left from the Independence Day celebration.

In Lexington, Miss. Frances Maxedon reported she and two companions saw a "movement of smoke balls travelling across the sky." At the time, she said she and her companions were driving south of Nicholasville in Jassamine county.

"They were white and kept going by in the air," said Miss Maxedon, "some singly, others in groups. They didn't seem to be too large and didn't have a definite shape. They didn't look like saucers either."

In Paducah, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Marshall and Harold Hummel reported seeing objects at night. Mrs. Marshall said she was unable to judge the height of the object. But, she added, "it was as big as a dinner plate."

In connection with the "flying saucers" reports, the National Guard announced in Louisville planes were standing by, ready to give aerial chase if any reports were received quickly enough to make it a chase.

Council OK's Parking Meter Ordinance By Unanimous Vote; Will Accept Bids On July 21

U. N. Approves
U. S. Blueprint
For Arms Cuts

Disregards Red's
Plea To Outlaw
Atomic Weapons

VETO WAS EXPECTED

Lake Success, July 8.—(AP)—The United Nations Security Council today approved an American blueprint for arms reduction discussions despite a Russian warning that the plan would bring about a collapse of arms regulation efforts.

The vote was 9 to 0, with Russia and Poland abstaining.

In view of Russia's firm stand against the U. S. plan it had been believed she might invoke the big power to block it.

Soviet deputy foreign minister Andrei A. Gromyko gave his warning before the United Nations Security Council in a new effort to revive the Soviet working plan which already had been rejected by the commission for conventional armaments.

His challenge was taken up promptly by French delegate Alexandre Parodi and U. S. representative Herschel V. Johnson, who announced their opposition to any substitute for the American plan.

Gromyko insisted that no program for arms regulation could succeed unless the plan was linked directly with an absolute prohibition of atomic weapons.

He declared that the U. S. plan approved by the commission did not link the problems of arms reduction and the banning of atomic weapons, for this reason. It offered no basis for a solution.

Gromyko opened debate on the arms question as delegates awaited another major declaration from him later in the day in reply to United States and British demands for action to restore order in the critical Balkan situation.

Delegates agreed they were approaching perhaps the gravest moment in U. N. history.

Harris Services Are Held Today At Walnut Grove

Funeral services for Mrs. M. A. Harris were held at Walnut Grove church at 2 o'clock this afternoon, with the Rev. Bunn Ross, Baptist minister officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery, with W. W. Jones funeral home, Martin, in charge.

Mrs. Harris died at Haws Memorial Hospital last night following a long illness. Her home was near McConnell, Tenn.

This airview shows what was left of two gasoline storage tanks following an explosion at Sawyer, Mich., in which 20,000 gallons of gasoline went up in smoke. Part of the one tank was blown several hundred feet and came to rest just behind white house at left. Near it a tree was uprooted.

Estimated 100 Meters To Be Placed On Lake, Church, Main, Commercial; Poll Reveals Majority Wants Them

CITY TAX RATE SET AT 90c; 5c UNDER 1946

Fulton's city council passed ordinance was made by Councilman Pickering, seconded by Councilman Gregory, and passed without a dissenting vote. The meters will be installed on a six-month trial basis.

Passage of the parking meter ordinance followed some seven months of controversy on the merits or defects of the parking pay devices. During that time, there has been an abrupt about-face in public opinion. It was revealed in a postcard poll conducted by the council last week.

Child Bitten By Rat Sunday

Large Rodent Attacked Little Jean McDade At Home While Family Slept

Jean McDade, one month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McDade, 912 Walnut street, was bitten by a rat Sunday night as she lay asleep in a bedroom with her mother.

Mrs. McDade was awakened by the screams of the child and when she went to her side found her face and hands bleeding. A rat had gained entrance to the bedroom and climbing upon the bed had bitten the baby on the bridge of the nose between the eyes and had chewed at the little finger of her right hand.

Dr. Ward Bushart was called by the frantic parents and gave first aid to the child. An antitetanus shot was also given to ward off infection. Today the infant is reported to be resting well, with only a little fever which is thought to have been caused by the shot.

After Dr. Bushart had left the house and the family had quieted down, Mr. McDade was unable to sleep. He heard a noise in the bedroom and saw the outline of the rat in the pale light of the night. He arose quickly and killed the vermin. It was a full grown young rat, that would weigh about one pound.

Parking System Changed
Chief reason for the change in sentiment probably is the congested parking conditions caused in downtown Fulton by removal of parking space in the center of Lake street.

Here are the parking meter zones established by the council: All of Lake street, except the south side from State Line to Church and from Walnut to Fourth street extension; the west side of Church street; Main street from the Illinois Central Railroad crossing and Church street to the west line of Mulberry street, and the north side of Main street from Mulberry to the west line of the post office property; Commercial avenue from Lake street to the south side of the bridge over Harris Fork creek.

Meters will be in operation from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, and from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturdays. They will not be used Sundays and holidays.

Those who overpark in meter zones will be subject to fines of not less than 50c nor more than $1. Damaging or tampering with meters illegally subjects offenders to fines of not less than $5 nor more than $50.

Lower Tax Rate
The council also fixed the city's tax rate at 90c per $100 of assessed valuation, which includes the 75c maximum for cities of the fourth class plus 15c per $100 for the waterworks refunding bond sinking fund. Last year's city tax rate was 95c, which included 20c for the sinking fund.

City Clerk Martha Smith said the city's $25,000 waterworks bonds are scheduled to be retired in March, 1948. They were issued in 1933 when the city dug two new wells.

The city's total assessment last year was $2,300,454. The figure probably will be higher this year, but amount of the expected increase will not be known until the equalization board meets next week. Board members are J. E. Melton, L. S. Phillips and W. S. Gayle. Walter Voelkel is city tax assessor.

The monthly report of City Judge Lon Adams showed $430.00 in fines and $70 costs. Police Chief K. P. Dalton reported $45.00 in fines and $56 costs collected, and $85 laid out and worked out.

As Old As Oppression

It is often seriously argued that some form of communism will eventually prevail throughout the world because it is a young and dynamic doctrine, filled with vitality and promise, which satisfies the highest ambitions of peoples. On the other hand, the argument continues, capitalist democracy is old and exhausted, has outlived whatever value it may have had, and so is doomed to extinction in the long run.

This has all been stated persuasively by the totalitarian propagandists, who have made fine art of pamphleteering. But it is a complete perversion of historical fact. There is nothing basically new in communism, socialism, or any other totalitarian doctrine except the name. It is as old as cruelty and oppression. It deals with heretics, with the weapons of torture, execution and banishment—precisely as was done in the time of the Inquisition centuries ago. Its labor policy is that of serfdom—every man and woman regarded as a slave of the state, to be used at the official ruling class desires. Its economic philosophy is essentially that of absolute monarchy, when everything was the property of the king, and freedom of opportunity was unknown. Its attitude toward all civil liberties—freedom of press, of speech, of assembly—is likewise as old as recorded history itself. Everyone must think and parrot what he is told, or suffer grave consequences.

Are the masses of the Russian people any better off under the Soviets than under the czar? One ruthless dictatorship succeeded another by force of arms. The people, in those name the revolution was effected, are still submerged in an abyss of ignorance, want, fear and absolute mental and physical degradation.

Democracy, for all its faults, is the only form of government which has proven itself capable of maintaining the freedoms of the people. It is the only form of government in which the people exert complete authority, and have the eternal safeguards that make dictatorship impossible. It was the goal toward which nations strived through bloody centuries, and for which millions of men died. The dynamics of the total state are in reality the dynamics of the cruelest form of feudalism.

While You Read

In about the time it will take you to read this brief article, a fire will occur somewhere in the United States. Thousands of dollars worth of property will be destroyed. And it is very possible that someone will die a horrible death.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters states that a fire alarm is sent in every 33 seconds—and a fire breaks out every 57 seconds. Each day, the property loss runs into the millions, and several lives are lost. Finally, for each death, there are four injuries.

This is the record for an ordinary, "quiet day." On days when spectacular fires occur, the toll of death and destruction soars far beyond the average.

The fire that is in progress while you read this may be far away. But the next fire may be in your home or your place of business. Destructive fire has no favorites. It strikes without warning—and no property and no life is safe from it.

Fire is a terrible challenge to the American people. That challenge can be met only if all the people understand the causes of fire and act accordingly. The alternative is an ever-increasing toll of death and destruction.

Washington Letter

By Jane Eads

Washington—The American Economic Association, which has been holding its annual meeting here, has reported that removal of rent controls might have even more serious results than the record high food prices and other steep rises resulting from removal of government controls.

The Association points out that shelter is "an immediate need, the shortage of which is so readily overcome." Dr. Dorothy Dickins, chairman of the Family Economics and Home Management Division of the Association, says:

"A 15 percent rise in rents paid in a year, eat up a month's bill of a low income family. The wholesale commodity average has gone up 33 percent over a year ago. The drain of this rise on a limited income threatens the whole economy of the home."

The moderate income customer, she says, has kept his foot up to now, but if further rises in prices are permitted, he will start to slip. If this happens, he may soon

War Not Inevitable

By Dewitt MacKenzie,
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The battle of the isms between the Russian bloc and the Western Democracies is intensifying as the result of Moscow's curt refusal to join in a unified program for the economic rehabilitation of stricken Europe—a refusal generally accepted in the western world as signifying Soviet intentions to push the campaign for the communization of all the continent, and other lands.

That's a disconcerting development, though not unexpected. It likely means an ideological fight to a finish. However, it strikes me we shall make a mistake if we adopt the pessimistic viewpoint being advanced by some: that this ideological warfare necessarily means combat with bombs and guns.

Of course we should be foolish not to recognize that the battle of isms might grow into a clash of arms, and we certainly must be prepared for all contingencies. But the real danger of war lies in permitting aggressive Communism to expand and gain power by using strong arm methods on helpless countries. If such expansion is halted now, the danger of war will be lessened and perhaps nullified.

So we shall do well to avoid developing a complex that war is inevitable. Such a complex is a breeder of war.

The greatest bulwark against aggressive Communism would be an economically healthy Europe, and the Anglo-French allies are proceeding energetically with arrangements for the conference of nations to consider the economic program proposed by U. S. Secretary of State Marshall. As demonstrating that Russia's cooperation still is wanted, London and Paris at the week-end sent new notes to Moscow, expressing the hope that the Soviet decision to boycott the American plan wasn't final.

All the countries within the zone of influence also have been asked to join the western countries in the forthcoming Paris conference. However, unless Moscow changes its attitude one would expect it to order its satellites not to participate, thus precluding hope of achieving the badly needed economic unity for all Europe.

Apologies of this Russia already is beginning to put the screws on some of the western democracies to keep them from adhering to the project. This is being done through the Communist parties in the various countries, again demonstrating the significant fact that many Communists take their orders from Moscow, irrespective of the policies of their own countries.

France already is coming under fire of her own big Communist party—and she is vital to the economic recovery program. If Moscow so decrees, the French Reds can do much damage, for they are powerful both politically and in the trade unions. Italy is another country which is eager to participate in the recovery program, and is in much the same position as France with respect to the Communists.

Unless Russia unexpectedly changes her mind and joins with the west, she probably will concentrate heavily on France and Italy in an effort to hamstring them. Both these war-shattered countries had large Communist representation in their cabinets until recently when the Red ministers were ousted by the premiers. However, both governments remain shaky and the situation is one which Moscow is likely to try to exploit.

be the invisible man," she says.

Dr. Martha M. Elliot, associate chief of the U. S. Children's Bureau, back from a six weeks' survey of European countries, believe that Poland's war-afflicted children have the greatest need for aid.

Nevertheless, with all the impossible conditions existing in that country, Dr. Elliot reports great effort is being put forward in the interests of its some 1,500,000 orphan.

Homes are being found for thousands, and school teachers are caring for many.

Polish mothers whose husbands were war casualties and who themselves had been slave laborers are being cared for by the state in institutions along with their children.

In the institutions they are taught various trades—dressmaking, shoe repairing, toy making. Dr. Elliot says the children have no playthings at all, because of the prolonged shortage of supplies.

Dr. Elliot, who visited seven countries at the request of the International Children's Emergency Fund, says that milk is the greatest need for all European children today.

At one Yugoslavian orphanage she says the last supply of milk was received in January. Since then, she says that there had been only one small allotment of a case of enough to give each child a small piece at one meal a day.

There are not enough family and hired workers on the farms to meet our food and fiber requirements and help overcome shortages in other countries. At the same time, the demand for agricultural production is at record levels.

Thus the Department of Agriculture points out, there is need for thousands of extra farm workers from now through November.

The bulk of the needed labor supply will come from an increasing flow of those who followed the crops in the war years; from the ranks of those who have free time during peak farm labor need, and from people who want to supplement earnings from other employment.

The need for extra help is greater even than last year, since farmers this year are asked to plant 357,000,000 acres of crops, compared with 345,000,000 acres planted in 1946.

Ladies Profit By Needlework

Calloway County Women Excel In Slipcovering, Rebuilding Furniture

How two housewives in Calloway county have turned their knowledge of slipcovering into a means of earning money, is told by Home Agent Rachel Coloway. More than 40 pieces, from modern chairs to Victorian armchairs, have been renewed.

Two years ago, Mrs. Bun Swann and Mrs. Carl Lockhart represented Lynn Grove Home-makers Club at a series of training schools on slipcovering given under the direction of Miss Vivian Currutt of the UK College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Along with other club leaders in the county, they also learned how to rebuild spring cushions, re-inforce old chairs and how to cut down and pad rocking chairs. This information they relayed on to other members, as they demonstrated on various pieces.

Nickajack Lake Drained In Search For Cave Explorer

Shellmound, Tenn., July 8.—(AP)—The draining of Nickajack Lake was begun early today on the order of State Safety Commissioner Lynn Bomar as state police intensified their efforts to end the week-long search for John T. Hurn, 35.

Bomar, who arrived here shortly after midnight, said he expected the pool to be lowered 10 feet by early tomorrow.

Pools inside the cave—which some searchers have drained—also will be lowered. The half-mile-long murky lake, made by a dam holding back spring waters in the deep cavern, stands on the entrance to the cave. Search parties must ride over it to where the cave's trails begin.

Hurn was reported to have vanished in the pool-dotted, miles-deep cave last Tuesday—but searching parties have found no clue. Bomar's appearance on the scene indicated the possibility of an early break in the case.

Among shortages developed during World War II are light-houses, owing to wartime destruction and lack of maintenance.

Reds May Go To Paris Talks

Hunted That Moscow Is Trying To "Back" Into European Aid Meeting

Paris, July 8.—(AP)—Indications mounted today that at least some of the nations within the Soviet orbit would attend the Paris conference on the Marshall aid-to-Europe program, and a dispatch from Prague quoted Czechoslovak sources as suggesting Russia herself might try to back into the talks.

A Sofia dispatch quoted an authoritative source as saying "probably Bulgaria will participate" in the conference, which opens in Paris Saturday. The dispatch said the Bulgarian council of ministers was meetings to reach a decision in the matter.

Despite a Moscow radio report that Yugoslavia had rejected the British-French invitation to participate, observers in Belgrade said the Yugoslavs still had not replied, and probably would not do so before Thursday—the deadline for an answer. Dr. Alex Debler, assistant Yugoslav foreign minister, has just returned to Belgrade from Premier Marshal Tito's summer palace at Bled and was reported conferring with sections of the Yugoslav foreign office. Tito's government has shown intense interest in the principles of the Marshall proposal for American-backed European reconstruction.

BROADWAY

Well, the weather finally cracked and it's hot. The rain and gloomy weather had kicked Broadway business off a little more, and now the owners of the big joints and little flea traps alike are wondering if the heat will keep the customers away. Nothing seems to help anyway this year, and everyone is feeling. Instead of "There's no business like show business," there's just no business.

Tough about Adrienne Ames dying, for she was a beautiful gal who apparently had a lot of fun, even as recently as a couple of weeks before she died, when we said hello at the premiere of a new play and later at the Stork. I hear she knew all along she was ready to go but wouldn't let on even to her best friends. Her family told reporters it was okay to list the cause of death as cancer because it might help to talk about it rather than whisper, and maybe the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund might benefit. Sweet gal and we'll miss her around the Big Street.

The new skating revue at the Center Theater, "Ice Time of 1946," is grabbing a nice bunch of crowds. Sonia Henie and her partner Arthur M. Wirtz have the best psychological attraction in town, for there's nothing better to think about on one of these torrid evenings than to just sit and look at a cake of ice a whole theater wide.

That new singing kid, Mel Torme, opened the other night at the Copacabana, and may I say that he's almost as good as his press agents say? His voice is a little thin but his style is attractive and he's a clutch to draw the college trade. He's only 21, blonde and the back tables were mobbed with youngsters. You can tell them a mile off—the boys all wear white dinner jackets and the girls long evening gowns and they make a very pretty contrast to the tired, dour and disillusioned regulars at the ringside of the prominent saloons. The kids of course can't afford to "grease" the head-waiters for the best tables so that they wind up frequently in what is known as "Burma Road," a section so far away from the dance floor and floor show that you can hardly see what's going on.

The Torme (they pronounce it "tormay") kid is a good musician and makes up in style and smart phrasing what he lacks in voice. Monte Proser signed him a year ago when he first started making successful noises on records. His album with Artie Shaw is a dilly.

The star of the Copa show is Mitzi Green, who finally is flowering into full stature as a night club star. She hangs onto the crowd's attention as if she had a ring in everyone's nose. She did a pair of imitations the other night which had the crowd standing up applauding: Joe E. Lewis and Sophie Tucker. Both Joe and Soph were at the ring-side and enjoyed it as much as we did. Mitzi's takeoff on Joe E. is a slick satire, but her Sophie bit is pure Tucker and you'd swear the last of the red hot mamas was up there shouting away if you couldn't see the lithe and shapely Mitzi at the mike.

New Elevators In State Capitol

Frankfort, Ky., July 8.—(AP)—Installation of new elevators in the state capital building was begun today.

They will take the place of the present ancient, and somewhat creaky, old ones, and were described at the office of the state engineering and construction division as modern in every respect.

A contract was awarded nearly a year ago to the Otis Elevator Company of Chicago, at $20,000, for the two new lifts, but it was explained that it had been impossible to get all material until now.

The entrance doors will bear Kentucky's great seal and motto.

Wall Street Report

New York, July 8.—(P)—Selected stocks continued to make a little further headway in today's market although many leaders faltered.

Settlement of the coal wage dispute with northern operators inspired some bidding but the outlook for rising prices of steel and other lines as a result of the boost provided a cautionary argument.

Dealings were quiet from the opening on and trends were moderately mixed near midday. Ahead at intervals were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Goodyear and North American. Numerous pivots were unchanged.

Occasional losers included International Harvester, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, International Nickel, Boeing, Anaconda, and Caterpillar Tractor. Bonds and cotton futures were uneven.

First Polio Case In West Kentucky

Paducah—The first infantile paralysis case of the season in Western Kentucky was reported yesterday afternoon by the Riverside Hospital.

According to Riverside attendants, the victim is Mrs. Jeanette Buchanan, 25 Benton. They said that both the victim's legs were paralyzed and that she has been a patient in the hospital's isolation ward since July 1.

through a glass darkly

By ERL SENSING

Saucers are flying. Everybody sees them. One fellow saw a couple of flying teacups. A lady is sure she saw one with legs flitting around. Just what they are no one knows. Are they scouts out in front of a space fleet from Mars? Are they spots before the eyes, images of corpuses projected out in the air? Or are they figments of the imagination, fantastic phantasmas, conceptions of an illusionary, hypnagogic vision?

I could have been mistaken—it might have been chaff from Browder's mill—but it seemed to me I saw a thirty-five piece dinner set flying in perfect formation over Lake street late yesterday afternoon in the dusky twilight. They pulled up to a halt when they came to the traffic light at Carr and hovered in mid-air. I waited for the light to change to see them take off, but instead of moving ahead when the light turned green, they backtracked down Lake and disappeared around the corner at Smith's—a big platter bring up the rear.

And they were gone—I don't want you to believe this, if you don't want to. I say, again, it could have been chaff from the mill blowing up and down the street.

Mrs. Jack Vaden will entertain the local Homemakers club Friday afternoon and Mrs. Jesse Miller will be hostess to the Mt. Pleasant WSCS Thursday July 17.

Rev. H. M. Stroud, pastor of the First Methodist church at Brownsville, Tenn., visited us while July the Fourth on his way to his dad's home, J. W. Stroud, where he spent the night. The Rev., who is still owned, "Dupree Delight" and Morris says he is the best he has ever seen. "Dupree Delight" will spend a month in Kentucky while Morris and wife, Ruth Legg, and their daughter, Shirley, are vacationing in Colorado where they one time resided. Saving the biggest thrill for last, they're driving through in a brand new Oldsmobile with all the extra gadgets attached. Still not all, the car was given to him by a good friend from Brownsville and he isn't a member of Stroud's church either. Yes, miracles still happen. And even I could register more energy and enthusiasm on vacation in a new car. Regardless of dog or no dog!
