Recent Showers Valuable.

The decidedly heavy shower of rain Sunday afternoon meant thousands of dollars to farmers in McCracken, Ballard, Marshall and Calloway counties. While the rain did not fall in every section of either of these counties, it was needed sorely in every community. Corn and tobacco crops have been threatened with ruin and even though West Kentucky should enjoy an average rainfall for the rest of the summer the yield for this year will be decidedly below the average.

Besides serving to aid the farmers materially, the Sunday afternoon shower cooled the atmosphere to a refreshing degree. Many parts of Western Kentucky have not had a material shower this summer and in some cases farmers have made no attempt to raise crops.

Additional showers have been reported from different sections since the rain of Sunday, and while the weather remains very hot and sultry much good has resulted from the local rains. However, a general rainfall is sorely needed and to be of much benefit must come within the next few days.

Minister Praises This Laxative.
Rev. H. Stubenvoll of Allison, Ia., in praising Dr. King's New Life Pills for constipation, writes "Dr. King's New Life Pills are such perfect pills no home should be without them." No better regulator for the liver and bowels. Every pill guaranteed. Try them. Price 25c. at Dale & Stubbs.

Says Bun is "Game Loser."

Down in Calloway county there is one defeated candidate who is a "game loser" for fair and his example might be emulated by others disgruntled, who failed to connect at the primary and finished among the "also rans." Admitting his third consecutive defeat of his life's ambition, the Democratic nomination for assessor of Calloway county, which is equal to election, Bun Outland thanks those who voted for him as well as those who favored his opponent, to whom he pledges his earnest support, declaring he can hardly wait until the time comes to vote the ticket from top to bottom. "I haven't any frown on my face, nor have I got my lips dropped to any man," he says. Louisville Times.

Mr. Jess Wyatt, of the Brandon Mill section, has been very low the past week, of congestion of the stomach and his recovery is very doubtful.

of the system with the exception of $1,000.00 paid by the City of Murray to the United States Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry Co. for balance due on account. This over amount was occasioned by the purchase of the power site and an extra deep well of C. N. and Wade Crawford. The estimate of our engineer, Mr. P. H. Porter, included only one deep well, and the old gravel pit owned by the City of Murray was to have been used as a power site, but it was afterwards deemed best to have an emergency well, also by having the power plant on the side track so as to effect a great saving in drayage on coal, etc.

We endeavored to have this splendid system constructed at the least possible cost to the City, and, from investigation of some of our nearby towns, find that we have installed it considerably below the average in cost. When our bonds were sold, it was stated by a large number that the $23,000.00 would only construct a system to serve the business portion of the town, and some of our citizens insisted that we should carry the water main to our school building, even if we had to neglect all other portions of the town. The system has been constructed within the cost of our bond funds, and covers practically the entire City of Murray.

For the services rendered for more than four months for the betterment of our advantages, the City owes us nothing, but when our coming generations glean over the acts of the City's past administrations, we trust we shall be allowed a short space in history by having served the City in this capacity.

Respectfully submitted,
H. B. GILBERT, Chairman;
TREMON BEALE;

WILL BUILD IT

Murray-Benton-Paducah Road Securing Additional Money and Builders Every Day.

The frog is nature's original croaker. Kill one and you will readily see that he is all legs and no brains. He croakes because he has no brains. He never built a thing in his life. The filthy pond in which he finds a contented home was not built by him or his fellow croakers. In fact he does nothing but eat bugs and croak. The pity is that he is not the only croaker in the world. This by brief word of admonition to the folks who would lead endeavor and build something. Don't go about the filthy pond of the croaker. Just let him croak.

The people of Calloway are awakening to the idea of building a gravel road from Murray-Benton-Paducah, and already many of the progressive citizens are offering their services, teams and money to complete the highway in two days. If you have not yet signified your willingness to aid in the undertaking, do so, and if you expect to lend help send in your name and help swell the list. Do it now. The Ledger has received the following since the publication of the call last week:

Citizens Bank, $25.00.
W. E. Marberry, $12.00.
R. T. Wells, $12.00.
H. E. Holton, $12.00.
Dr. B. B. Keys, $12.00.
M. D. Holton, $6.00.
Theron Wells, $6.00.
Lee Curd, two days.

Jeff Allbright, two days.
John Brandon, two days.
John Holland, two teams two days.

Wiley Utterback, two teams two days.

Earl Slaughter, two days.
Fayette Hart, team two days.
Richard Hart, one day.
Otley Farley, brick work one day.

O. J. Jennings, two days.
Hal Jennings, team two days.

This list should be increased by hundreds of names before next week. It should not matter in what section of the county you live it should be a pleasure to you to help your neighbor for two days. You can not say just how soon it will be before you will ask him for assistance. Use the blank below and send it in before next week. Marshall county is forging away ahead of Calloway and McCracken county is doing her part.

Mr. Jas. H. Farley has just completed the building of five-eighths of a mile of graded and gravel road from the corporate limits to Bee creek. The work was superintended by Mr. Farley under the direction of the county road engineer. The work was executed at a cost of only $390 and is pronounced one of the best roads in the county. It is splendid evidence of what can be done in the way of road building and persons in charge of similar undertaking would do well to visit this road. The road proper is thirty feet wide with a sixteen foot bed and the cost includes a combination brick and concrete tile sewer twenty feet wide. Quite a large amount of grading was necessary and a considerable quantity of dynamite was used. Calloway can have good roads if she wants them, and the Ledger is very anxious to see the work of extending this road already so well commenced to the Marshall county line and it can be done in two days if the folks will join in the move. Send in your name and be liberal with your teams and your money and your labor.

Mothers! Have Your Children Worms?
Are they feverish, restless, nervous, irritable, dizzy or constipated? Do they continually pick their nose or grind their teeth? Have they cramping pains, irregular and ravenous appetite? These are all signs of worms. Worms not only cause your child suffering, but stunt its mind and growth. Give "Kickapoo Worm Killer" at once. It kills and removes the worms, improves your child's appetite, regulates stomach, liver, and bowels. The symptoms disappear and your child is made happy and healthy, as nature intended.

This Candidate Has No Hands.

Hughey Smith, Democratic nominee for jailer in Kenton county, has no hands. Smith lost his hands some years ago in a railroad accident, but despite his affliction he is not seriously handicapped and promises to make one of the best jailers in the history of the county. By the use of mechanical hooks, which are attached to his arms, he is enabled to write, eat telephone, handle a club and discharge a revolver. He can unscrew the hooks and put on his coat without assistance. He is of powerful physique, and if elected will prove a terror to lawbreakers who disobey the rules of the county jail.

Resignation of Diplomat Effective Oct. 14 May Be Accepted at Once—John Lind Establishes Relations With Mexican Foreign Office.

Washington.—The United States government has informally sounded the powers and learned that foreign governments generally will do nothing to embarrass the peace policy of President Wilson toward Mexico and are inclined to support it.

Henry Lane Wilson, whose resignation as ambassador to Mexico recently was accepted to take effect Oct. 14, issued a statement attacking the reported statement of the British foreign office that recognition of the Huerta government had been extended after he had made a statement to the contrary.

President Wilson said the ambassador's statement was so incorrect that he promptly requested Secretary Bryan to ascertain through the British embassy here whether the utterance of the British foreign office as reported was correct, and the dismissal of Ambassador Wilson by summary acceptance of his resignation was under consideration.

Depatches from John Lind, personal representative in Mexico of President Wilson, indicated that he was in personal touch with Frederico Camba, the Mexican minister of foreign affairs, and was preparing to submit the representations of the United States on the restoration of peace in Mexico.

Chief interest centered in the administration's attitude toward Ambassador Wilson's remarks concerning the British government and the information that European governments were disposed to lend their moral support to President Wilson's policy.

Calumet, Mich.—Gen. P. L. Abbey, in command of the state troops on strike duty in the copper fields, left yesterday for his home, on business for several days, but it is said he will go to Lansing to confer with Gov. The failure of Judge Murphy, the governor's representative here, to bring about a conference between the mine operators and Western Federation of Miners continues the deadlock and the stay of the troops indefinitely. Interest now centers in the next step of the governor. Western Federation officials announced that President Meyer, now in Denver, was expected here, as well as a representative of the American Federation of Labor.

Montgomery, Ala.—Shortly after 6 o'clock Tuesday evening Gov. O'Neal announced the appointment of Henry D. Mr. Clayton's commission was delivered to him in the governor's office, the ceremony being brief. Mr. Clayton accepted the appointment and announced that he would leave at once for Washington to present his credentials to the senate. He stated, however, that he would not resign his seat in the house until after he is seated in the senate.

COTTON FUND
COMING SOON

PROPORTION OF $50,000,000 ADDITIONAL FOR BANKS READY.

BANKERS POINT OUT NEED

Stipulation That Ten Per Cent of Security for Deposits Be in Government Bonds Withdrawn.

Washington.—Treasury department officials practically decided Monday to begin within the next few days placing in banks in the cotton states their portion of the additional $50,000,000 government deposits for increasing purposes. The need for these deposits in the Southern states was outlined by the bankers from that section at the recent conferences with officials of the department.

It was stated at the department that the cotton crop movement already had begun and that the need for the money was urgent. Representatives from several Southern states told the department that unless the money could be placed within the next few weeks it would be practically valueless to them.

A consideration that was most potent in deciding the department was that the South could return the money in time for its use in other sections. It was indicated that the cotton planters would be through with money during September and that it could be returned to the treasury department not later than the middle of November. No final decision has as yet been reached on the proposition of the deposits that are to be made. It was stated at the department that at least half would be placed in the South.

Announced as to the proposition of the various kinds of security that will be accepted has not yet been made. Government bonds are not to be included, however, it was stated at the department. It had been determined that 10 per cent of the security should be in this class, but at the request of the bankers this condition has been waived. Instead, it is said, the proportion of good commercial paper has been increased.

On most of the questions involved in placing these deposits, however, the final decision and announcement will not be made until after the conference at the department with the far Western bank ers.

TWO CLAIM GOVERNORSHIP

Lieut. Gov. Given Will Try to Occupy Executive Chair.

Albany, N. Y.—With Gov. Sulzer impeached by the assembly and the date of his trial before the senate and the judges of the court of appeals fixed for Sept. 18, the spectacle was presented of two men claiming to be governor of the state of New York. As soon as the articles of impeachment were presented to the senate, Lieut. Gov. Martin H. Glynn announced his intention of occupying the executive chair. Friends of Gov. Sulzer declared that the governor intended to continue in office and would use every weapon in his power to maintain his position on the ground that the assembly had no constitutional right to consider impeachment at its extraordinary session. Some asserted that the governor would go so far as to summon military protection if necessary to prevent the lieutenant governor from occupying the executive chair.

CHINESE REBELS IN JAPAN

Leaders of Chinese Will Not Come to America.

Tokyo.—The Japanese government is somewhat embarrassed by the presence in Japan of Dr. Sun Yat Sen and Gen. Huang Seng, leaders of the recent Chinese rebellion, both of whom arrived in disguise. The government, again at first disposed to refuse them permission to land, but eventually consented, in view of the fact that if they were deported to China, where a price was set on their heads, they might be arrested and death. It is reported that Dr. Sun Yat Sen does not intend to proceed to the United States, but will try to gather funds to continue the campaign against Provisional President Yuan Shi Kai.

Who Wouldn't Pay It?
Savannah, Ga.—Boogier Schwarz fined Miss Jessie Carter $50 for appearing on Savannah's main shopping thoroughfare in a short skirt and low-cut waist. Henry Smoak, her escort, paid $25.00.

Estimate Ready Value.
Washington.—The country will be divided into six districts by the Interstate Commerce Commission to facilitate physical valuation of the railroads. Probably Atlanta will be headquarters of the Southern territory.

Cady Aviator Buried.
Alderbury, England.—The body of P. S. Cady, Anglo-American aviator, killed here in a hydroaeroplane accident August 7, was buried with military honors in the Soldiers' cemetery here.

Hoboken, N. J.—High power wires that fell when an automobile crashed into their pole dropped upon the wreck of the machine and electrocuted Paul J. Parriett, of Jersey City.

TAMMANY USED
BRIBE FOR VOTES

SULZER'S FRIENDS SAY VOTES FOR IMPEACHMENT BOUGHT.

AN INVESTIGATION IS HINTED

Mrs. Sulzer Continues Very Ill and Assemblyman Levy, Who Led the Fight on Sulzer, Suffers Nervous Breakdown.

Albany, N. Y.—While the gubernatorial deadlock remained unbroken, with William Sulzer and Martin H. Glynn both claiming to be the legal executive of the Empire State, open charges of bribery in connection with the recent impeachment proceedings gave a startling new twist to the situation.

James G. Garrison, a close friend of John A. Hennessy, whom Sulzer appointed to probe all the state departments, issued this statement:

"I charge now and positively that Tammany paid cold cash for the four votes they needed to pass this resolution (that of impeachment), and they also used money to keep wavering votes in line. We will be prepared to prove this before we are through. There are some gentlemen mixed up in this who are headed straight to jail. That is all I care to say at this time."

The resolution impeaching Sulzer was carried with only three votes to spare. Tammany mustered 79 votes for the resolution, while only 76 were needed. If Sulzer's friends can prove that four of the votes against the governor were purchased, they declare the impeachment will fall flat.

While the bribery charges were attracting wide attention the war between Sulzer and Glynn went merrily on with demagogical screaming amid the various state departments.

Mrs. Sulzer still lies ill, with special care to constant attendance. She was slightly improved by a refreshing sleep. Aaron J. Levy, majority leader, who led the fight on the assembly floor for impeachment, is also suffering from a nervous breakdown.

MORE CORRUPTION CHARGED

Ex-House Page Says Pawnbrokers Gave McDermott.

Washington.—In a dramatic statement, E. H. McMichael, dismissed page of the house of representatives, presented to the house lobby investigating committee a sweeping charge of corruption against Representative James E. McDermott of Illinois, for years his sponsor. With intense earnestness McMichael in picturesque language, corroborated the allegations of M. M. Mulhall against McDermott, and made additional charges, at times shocking in the extreme, and spectators with outbreaks of profanity and slang. The witness declared that for years he had exerted every effort to expose McDermott, had loaned him money, had helped him in his campaigns. Now, he said McDermott had "thrown him down," and he felt he must tell the truth. In addition to the charges already made, McMichael swore that the Chicago representative told him that he received $7,500 out of a fund of $10,000 raised by the pawnbrokers of Washington to expose a bill passed in the last congress regulating interest rates in the District of Columbia.

TO STOP MARRIAGE EVASION

American Bar Association Will Propose Other Reforms.

St. Louis.—A summary of the reports to be made by committees of the American Bar Association at its meeting in Montreal next month, was made public by members of the Missouri council. The committee on judicial administration and remedial procedure will criticize the federal statute requiring that a copy of the indictment and a list of grand jury witnesses be furnished those indicted for capital offenses. The committee will advocate "The extension of these privileges to all who are charged as criminals." The committee on state laws will present a "marriage evasion act" which would prohibit the marriage in other states of persons ineligible to marry in the state in which they reside.

Missionary Is Shot.
Constantinople.—Rev. Charles H. Holbrook, an American missionary who was born in Massachusetts, was shot to death at Shoghli, a town of Asiatic Turkey, according to advices received here. He was on an excursion, with American teachers from Nivas, where he was station treasurer for the American Foreign Board of Missions.

Girl Strikers Arrested.
St. James, Mo.—Seven striking girl shirtmakers on picket duty were arrested in front of a clothing manufacturing establishment on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Looking Into Frisco.
New York.—Henry de Peyer, an inspector of the French ministry of finance, arrived here to look into conditions relative to the recent reversion of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad, in whose bonds French investors were heavily interested.

Autism Electrocuted.
Hoboken, N. J.—High power wires that fell when an automobile crashed into their pole dropped upon the wreck of the machine and electrocuted Paul J. Parriett, of Jersey City.

REAL MERIT HAS MADE
BOND'S LIVER-PILLS

a household word through the South.
We have spared neither time nor
money in perfecting BOND'S PILLS
for the cure of Headaches, Biliousness, Constipation, Malaria, and similar ills. MERIT was our chief object.
Not how "cheap" but how good we could make them.

The extraordinary success of BOND'S PILLS is due solely to their MERIT, not to loud and misleading

Young Man Took Warning.
"Charles," said a sharp voiced woman to her husband in a railway car,
"do you know that you and I once had a romance in a railway car?"

"Never heard of it," replied Charles,
in a subdued tone.

"I thought you hadn't, but don't you
remember it was that pair of slippers
I presented to you the Christmas before we were married that led to our union? You remember how nicely
they fitted, don't you?—Well, Charles,
one day when we were going to a picnic, you had your feet up on a seat, and when you weren't looking I took your measure. But for that pair of slippers I don't believe we'd ever been married."

A young unmarried man, sitting by,
immediately took down his feet from
a seat.

FUNDS FOR FIGHTING PLAGUE

State Legislatures in 1913 Made Generous Appropriations to Check the Spread of Tuberculosis.

Out of 41 state legislatures in session during the season of 1913, laws
dealing with tuberculosis were enacted in 30 states, while in 34 states consideration was given to bills dealing with the prevention of this disease.
This is a summary of the legislative campaign for 1913, issued by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis today.

Appropriations to the amount of
over $5,000,000 have been set aside for the treatment and prevention of tuberculosis by the various state legislatures in session this year. Most of this money is for the maintenance of state sanatoria. There are at the present time 39 such institutions in 31 different states, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, each having more than one sanatorium. Delaware is the only state which has made provision for a state sanatorium for tuberculous negroes. In addition to the amounts appropriated by the various state governments, congress will be obliged to set aside nearly $1,000, 000 for the maintenance of the United States public health, the army and the navy sanatoria, and the tuberculosis
hospital of the District of Columbia.

AN OLD NURSE
Persuaded Doctor to Drink Postum.

An old faithful nurse and an experienced doctor, are a pretty good combination in favor of Postum, instead of tea and coffee.

The doctor said:
"I began to drink Postum five years ago on the advice of an old nurse."

"During an unusually busy winter,
between coffee, tea and alcohol, I became a victim of insomnia. In a month after beginning Postum, in place of tea and coffee, I could eat
anything and sleep as soundly as a baby."

"In three months I had gained twenty pounds in weight. I now use Postum altogether instead of tea and coffee; even at bedtime, with a good
cracker or some other tasty treat."

"Having a little tendency to Diabetes, I used a small quantity of saccharine instead of sugar, to sweeten with.
I may add that today tea or coffee are never present in our house and very many patients, on my advice, have adopted Postum as their regular beverage."

"In conclusion I can assure anyone that, as a refreshing, nourishing and nerve-strengthening beverage, there is nothing equal to Postum."

—Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for booklet, "The Road to Wellbeing."

Postum comes in two forms.
Regular (not to be bottled).
Instant Postum doesn't require boiling but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary
cup of hot water, which makes it right
for most persons.

A big cup requires more and some people who like strong things put in a heaping spoonful and temper it with a large supply of cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate and
have it served that way in the future.
"There's a Reason" for Postum.

Fran arrived at Hamilton Gregory's
home in Littleburg, but found him absent
conducting the choir at a camp meeting.
She repaired thither in search of him,
laughing during the service and is asked to leave. Abbott Ashton, superintendent of schools, escorts Fran from the tent. He tells her Gregory is a wealthy man,
deeply interested in charity work, and a pillar of the church. Ashton becomes greatly interested in Fran and while taking leave of her, holds her hand and is seen by Augustine Clinton, master of the choir. Clinton, chairman of the school board, Fran tells Gregory she wants to come with him. Grace Noir, Gregory's private secretary, takes a violent dislike to Fran
and advises her to go away at once.
Fran hints at a terrible story, and Gregory in agitation asks Grace to leave the room. Fran relates the story of how Gregory married a young girl at Springfield, while attending college and then deserted her. Fran is the child of that marriage. Gregory had married his present wife three years before the death of Fran's mother. Fran takes a liking to Mrs. Gregory. Fran's father, Captain
Fran is the daughter of a very dear friend
of Gregory's. Fran's father, Captain
Mrs. Gregory insists on her making her home with them, and takes her to her room. Fran declares the secretary must go. Grace begins nagging tactics in an effort to drive Fran from the Gregory home. Abbott while taking a walk alone
at midnight finds Fran on a bridge telling her fortune by cards. She tells Abbott that she is the fiancée of the young man Nonpareil. She tried of course to drive Fran from home after midnight with a man. She guesses from Abbott's
and surmise the secretary must go.
Fran decides to ask Bob Clinton to go to Springfield to investigate Fran's story.
Fran enters Abbott in her battle against Grace. Fran offers Grace services to Gregory's purpose, returns and interrupts a dancing scene between Gregory and his daughter. Fran goes fishing with Mrs.
Gregory's brother, who is to be described as a superintendent. It is decided that Fran, thus her sitting alone in a bureau.

CHAPTER XV.—Continued.

She slipped her hand into his.
"Didn't I have a mother? Oh, these mothers! And who can make another-wishes come true? Well, and I just studied with all my might, and you'll keep on and on, till you're—"
out of my reach, of course. Which would have suited your mother, too."
She withdrew her hand.

"My mother would have loved you,"
he declared, for he did not understand
so well as Fran, about mothers' liking
for strange young ladies who train
lions.

"Mine would have loved you," Fran asserted,
with more reason.

Abbott, conscious of a dreadful emptiness, took Fran's hand again. "I'll never be out of your reach, Fran."

She did not seek to draw away, but said, with dark meaning, "Remember
the bridge at midnight."

"I remember how you looked, with
the moonlight silvering your face—you were just beautiful that night, little Nonpareil."

"My chin is so sharp," she murmured.

"Yes," he said, softly feeling the warm little fingers, one by one, as if
to make sure all were there. "That's the way I like it—sharp."

"And I'm so ridiculously thin—"
"You're nothing like that to me, as
when you first came to Littleburg,"
he declared. "I've noticed how you are—have been—I mean—"

"Filling out," cried Fran gleefully.
"Oh, yes, and I'm so glad now. Know,
because since I've been wearing long dresses, I've been afraid you'd never find it out, and would always be thinking of me as you saw me at the beginning. But I am—yes—filling out."

"And your little feet, Fran."

"Yes, I always had a small foot.
But let's get off of this subject."
"Not until I say something about your smile—oh, Fran, that smile!"

"The subject, now," remarked Fran,
"naturally returns to Grace Noir."
"Please, Fran!"

"I'll tell you why you hurt my feelings, Abbott. You've disappointed me twice. Oh, if I were a man, I'd show
you up something it doesn't want."

"You are very unjust. I did not tell her your plan. I don't know how she found it out."

"From you, nobody else knew it."
"She did not learn it from me."

"And that's what gets me!—you tell
her everything, and don't even know
you tell. Just hypnotized! Answer
my questions: the morning after I told you that I meant to do—standing there at the fence by the gate—
condemning a you, telling you everything I said the next morning, didn't you tell Grace Noir all about it?"

"Certainly not!"

Abbott tried to remember, then said
casually, "I believe we did meet on the street that morning."

"Yes," said Fran ironically, "I believe you did meet somewhere. Of course she engaged you in her peculiar style of impudic conversation!"

"We went down the street together."
"Now, prisoner at the bar, relate all that was said while going down the street together."

"Most charming, but unjust judge,
not a word that I can remember, so it couldn't have been of any interest. I did tell her that since she was—yes, I remember now—since she was to be out of town all day, I would wait until tomorrow to bring her a book she wanted
to borrow."

"Oh! And she wanted to know who told you she would be out of town
all day, didn't she?"

Abbott reflected deeply, then said
with triumph, "Yes, she did. She asked me how I knew she was going to the city with Bob Clinton. And I merely said that it was the understanding
that she was to select the church music.
Not a word was said on the subject."

"That was enough. Mighty neat. As soon as she saw you were trying to avoid a direct answer, she knew I'd told you. That gave her a clue to my leaving the choir practice before the rest of them. She guessed something important was up. Well, Abbott, you are certainly an infant in her hands, but I guess you can't help it."

"Self-pride was touched, and he reluctantly: 'Fran, I hate to think of your being willing to take her position
behind her back.'"

She grimaced.

"You'd know how I feel about it,"
he went on, "if you understood her better. I know her duty drives her to act in opposition to you, and I'm sorry for it. But her religious ideas—"

"Abbott, don't you understand that there's anything in it—this talk of doing God's will? Can people love God and hate one another? I just hate shams," she went on, becoming more
excited. "I don't care what his names
are, whether it's marriage,
education, or culture, or religion, if there's no heart in it, it's a sham, and I hate it. I hate a lie. But a thousand times more, do I hate a life that is a lie."

"Fran, you don't know what you are saying."

"Yes I do know what I'm saying. Is religion going to church? That's all I can see left. I want to believe there's something else, I've honestly searched,
for I wanted to be comforted, I tell you, I need it. But I can't find any comfort in mortal and stained-glass windows. I want something that makes a man true to his wife, and makes a family live together in blessed harmony, something that's good
on the streets and in the stores, something that makes people even treat a show girl well. If there's anything in it, why doesn't father—"

She snatched away her hand that she might cover her face, for she had burst into passionate weeping. "Why didn't you tell me that I was a show girl?"

She had burst into passionate weeping.

doesn't a father, who's always talking
about religion, and singing about it,
and praying about it—why doesn't that
father draw his daughter to his breast
and close to his heart—that's the only way she can feel for—there's the
house she has a right to, yes—a right,
I don't care how far she's wandered—"

"Fran!" cried Abbott in great distress. "Don't cry, little one!" He had no intelligent word, but his arm
was full of meaning as it slipped about
her. "Who has been unkind to you, Nonpareil?" She let her head sink
upon his shoulder, as she sobbed
without restraint. "What shame have I incurred—pure heart? Am I the cause of any of these tears? Am I—"

"Yes," Fran answered, between her sobs, "you're the cause of all my happy tears. She nestled there with a movement of perfect trust; he drew

her closer, and stroked her hair tenderly, trusting himself.

Presently she pulled herself to rights, lifted her arm from about her
neck, and rested it on the back of the seat.
A friendly compromise. Then she shook back her hair and raised her eyes and a faint smile came into the rosy face. "I'm so funny," she declared.

"Sometimes I seem so strange that I need an introduction to myself." She looked into Abbott's eyes fleetingly,
and drew in the corners of her mouth.

"I guess, after all, there's something
in religion!"

Abbott was so warmed by returning
smiles that his eyes shone. "Dear Fran!" he said—it was very hard to keep his arm where she had put it. He tried to look at her steadily, but somehow the light hurt her eyes. She could feel his warmth burning her cheeks.

"Oh, Fran," cried Abbott impu-
sively, "the bridge in the moonlight
was nothing to the way you look now
so beautiful—and so much more than just beautiful."

"This won't do," Fran exclaimed,
hiding her face. "We must get back to Grace Noir immediately."

"Oh, Fran, oh, no, please!"

"I won't please. While we're in Sure-Enough Country, I mean to tell you the whole truth about Grace Noir."

The name seemed to settle the atmosphere—she could look at him, now.

"I want you to understand that something is going to happen—must happen, just from the nature of things,
and the nature of wives and husbands—
and the other woman. Oh, you won't frown at me, I've seen you look that other way at me, so I know
you, Abbott Ashton."

"Fran! Then you know that I—"

"No, you must listen. You're nothing important to tell me that I don't know. I've found out the whole Gregory history from old Mrs. Jefferson,
without her knowing that she was telling anything—she's a sort of 'Professor Ashton' in her hands—and I mean
to tell you the whole history. You know that, for about three years, Mrs. Gregory hasn't gone to church—"

"You must admit that it doesn't appear well."

"Admit it? Yes, of course I must.
And the world cares for appearances,
and not for the truth. That's why it condemns Mrs. Gregory—and me—and
that's why I'm afraid the school-board
will condemn me. Just on account of appearances. For these past three years, the church has meant to Mrs.
Gregory a building plus Grace Noir. I don't mean that Mrs. Gregory got
jealous of Grace Noir—and I mean

"Admit it? Yes, of course I must.
And the world cares for appearances,
and not for the truth. That's why it
condemns Mrs. Gregory—and me—and
that's why I'm afraid the school-board
will condemn me. Just on account of appearances. For these past three years, the church has meant to Mrs.
Gregory a building plus Grace Noir. I
don't mean that Mrs. Gregory got
jealous of Grace Noir—and I mean
to tell you the whole history. You know
that, for about three years, Mrs. Greg-
ory hasn't gone to church—"

"You must admit that it doesn't ap-

"Admit it? Yes, of course I must.

"You must admit that it doesn't ap-

Ald would give chicken pie dinners down town, and Mrs. Gregory would be a red button or a blue button, and she would have her pie; but she was always third—in her home, or at church, she was the third. It was her husband and his secretary that understood the Lord. Somehow she seemed to disturb conditions, merely by being present.

"Fran, you do not realize that your words—they intimate—"

"She disturbed conditions, Abbott.
She was like a turned-up light at a seance. Mr. Gregory was appalled because his wife quit attending church.
Grace sympathized in his sorrow—it made him feel toward Grace Noir—
but I'm against a stone wall, Abbott, I haven't the word to describe his feeling, maybe there isn't any."

"Fran Nonpareil! Such wisdom grazes me—such suspicion!" In this moment of hesitancy between conviction and rejection, Abbott felt oddly out of harmony with his little friend. She realized the effect she must necessarily be producing, yet
she must continue; and she counted
the cost and the danger. If she did not convince him, his thought of her
could never be the same.

"Abbott, you may think I am talking from jealousy, and that I tried to get rid of Grace Noir so I could better
my condition at her expense. I don't know how to make you see that my story is true. It tells itself. Oughtn't that to prove it? Mrs. Gregory has the dove's nature; she'd let the enemy
have the spoils rather than come to blows. She lets him take his choice—here is she, yonder's the secretary. He isn't worthy of her if he chooses
Grace—but his hesitation has proved him unworthy, anyhow. The old lady won't mother—is a fighter, she'd have driven out the secretary long ago. But Mrs. Gregory's idea seems to be—'If I can't have her, after I've given him myself, I'll not make a movement to interfere.'"

Abbott played delicately with the mere husk of this astounding revelation: "Have you talked with old Mrs.
Jefferson about—about it?"

"She's too proud to admit it."

"But she's shyly hinted—however,
it's not the sort of story you could
pour through the funnel of an ear-
trumpet without getting wheat mixed with chaff. She'd misunderstand—the neighbors would get it first—anyway
she wouldn't make a move because her daughter won't. It's you and I, Abbott, against Grace and Mr. Gregory."

He murmured, looking away, "You take me for granted, Fran."

"Yes," Fran's reply was almost a whisper. A sudden terror of what he might think of her, smote her heart.
But she repeated bravely, "Yes!"

He turned, and she saw in his eyes
a confiding trust that seemed to hedge her soul about. "And you can always take me for granted, Fran; and always is a long time."

"Not too long for you and me," said
Fran, looking at him breathlessly.

"I may have felt," he said, "for some time, in a vague way, what you have trayed and his wife. Recognizing the provocation she had received, she was left unpunished. Another girl similarly betrayed committed suicide."

Legal Opinion.
"A cat cits on my back fence every night and he yowls and yowls and yowls. Now, I don't want to have any trouble with neighbor Jones, but this thing has gone far enough, and I want you to tell me what to do."

The young lawyer looked as solemn
as an old sick owl and said not a word.

"I have a right to shoot the cat,
haven't I?"

"I would hardly say that," replied
young Coke Blackstone. "The cat
does not belong to you, as I understand it."

"No, but the fence does."

"Then," concluded the light of law,
"I think it safe to say you have a perfect right to tear down the fence."—

Her Grief.
He—Who don't you give me a dance before midnight?

Young Widow—Well, you see at this time tonight it will be a year since my husband's death. I must honor
his memory properly, and not dance
until after the year is up.

to me. Of course it is evident that he prefers Miss Noir's society. But I have always thought—or hoped—or wanted to feel, that it was only the common life of religion—"

"It was not the truth that you clung to, Abbott, but appearances. As for me, let truth kill rather than live as a sham. If Grace Noir stays, the worst is going to happen. She may not know how far she's going. He may not suspect he's doing wrong.
People can make anything they want seen right in their own eyes. But I've found out that wickedness isn't stationary, it's got a sort of perpetual motion. If we don't drive Grace away,
the crash will come."

"Fran—how you must love Mrs.
Gregory!"

"She breaks my heart."

"Dear faithful Fran! What can we do—I say we, Fran, observe."

"Oh, you Abbott Ashton . . . just what I thought you. No, no, you mustn't interrupt. I'll manage Grace Noir, if you'll manage Bob Clinton."

"Where does Bob Clinton come in?"

"Grace is trying to open a door so he can come in. I mean a secret in Mr. Gregory's past. She suspects that there's a secret in his past, and she intends to send Bob to Springfield
where Mr. Gregory left that secret.
Bob will bring it to Littleburg. He'll hand it over to Grace, and then she'll have Mr. Gregory in her power—
there'll be no getting her hands off
him, after that."

"Surely you don't mean that Mr.
Gregory did wrong when he was
young, and that Miss Noir suspects
it?"

"Bob will bring home the secret—
and it will kill Mrs. Gregory. Abbott
—and Grace will go off with him—I know how it'll end."

"What is this secret?"

"You are never to know, Abbott."

"Very well—so be it. But I don't believe Mr. Gregory ever did very wrong—he is too good a man."

"Isn't he daily breaking his wife's heart?" retorted Fran with a curl of the lip. "I call that murder."

"But still!—But I can't think he realizes it."

"Then," said Fran satirically, "we'll just call it manslaughter. When I think of his wife's meek patient face
—don't you recall that look in her eyes of the wounded deer—and the thousands of times you've seen those
two together at church, on the street,
in the library—everywhere—
seeing only each other, leaning closer,
smiling deeper—as if doing good
meant getting close—Oh, Abbott, you know what I mean—don't you don't you?"

"Yes!" cried Abbott sharply. "Fran,
you are right. I have been—all of us
have been—clinging to appearances.
Yes, I know what you mean."

"You'll keep Bob Clinton from telling that secret, won't you? He's to go
tonight, on the long journey—tonight,
after the board meeting. It'll take him three or four days. Then

Warrants For Pension Money.

A few of the interest-bearing State warrants covering amounts due for Confederate pensions, were received in Calloway this week. Just how many have come is not known, but only a small number.

The warrants are issued on a special blank printed for the purpose. It has the red and white bars across the face, the colors of the Confederacy. The warrants bear 5 per cent interest until paid. But it is probable that these cannot be cashed for face value, even with the interest provided, and the Confederate veterans who want their money before the State is in a position to take up the warrants will probably have to discount them.

There are a large number of Confederates in this and adjoining counties whose claims under the Confederate pension law have been duly passed as correct and certified for payment, but owing to the lack of funds there was no way to meet them. Finally, it was decided to issue interest bearing warrants.

Suffered Eczema Fifty Years—Now Well.

Seems a long time to endure the awful burning, itching, smarting, skin-disease known as "tetter"—another name for Eczema. Seems good to realize, also, that DR. HOBSON'S ECZEMA OINTMENT has proven a perfect cure.

Mrs. D. L. Tenney writes—"I cannot sufficiently express my thanks to you for your Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment. It has cured my tetter, which has troubled me for over fifty years." All druggists, or by mail 50c.

Man Seven Feet Six.

It is likely the largest man known in recent times was the late Miles Darden, of Henderson county, Tenn., and there are a number of old people in the county still living who remember this man Darden. He was born in Northampton county, N. C., in 1799, and died near Lexington, Tenn., in 1857. His height was seven feet six inches, and his weight over 1000 pounds.

In 1839 his coat was buttoned around three men, each weighing over 200 pounds, and they walked around the square at Lexington, Tenn. In 1850 he required thirteen and one-half yards of cloth one yard wide to make him a coat. His coffin was eight feet long, thirty-five inches deep, thirty-two inches across the breast, eighteen inches across the head, and fourteen inches across the feet. It took twenty-four yards of black velvet to cover it. His hat measured twenty-seven inches around the crown and is now in possession of the State Historical Society at Nashville. This modern Goliath was twice married, and became the father of eleven children. In religion he was a pronounced Baptist. It must have taken a pretty deep stream and a strong minister to immerse him.—Paris Parisian.

E. P. Jones Has Narrow Escape.

As Messrs. E. P. Jones and Joe Bell, of Canton, were coming to Cadiz Monday morning they stopped near the residence of J. R. Lawrence, three and a half miles west of here, and Mr. Bell got out for some purpose, and while standing there the young horse, which they were driving, began to kick without any warning, and started to run. He had only gone a short distance when he ran against a telephone pole, which threw Mr. Jones out and the horse loose from the buggy. As Mr. Jones went out he became entangled in the lines in some way and the horse dragged him some distance before he could free himself from his entanglement.

Mr. Jones was considerably bruised about the body from being dragged upon the hard road, but was not hurt in any way, and was brought on to the toll-gate in another buggy, where his wounds were washed and dressed and he came on to town, where he spent the day in looking after business matters as usual.

The horse was stopped near the residence of Mr. P. B. Harrell. The buggy and harness were considerably damaged.—Cadiz Record.

WELL TOLD

By a Murray Resident.

The following has more interest for Murray residents than it otherwise would have because Mr. Overby is one of ourselves, a citizen of Murray. If it prove of assistance to but one person in Murray, it will have been well worth the telling.

A. P. Overby, Murray, Ky., says: "For two or three months I was troubled by disordered kidneys. I had dull pains in the small of my back and whenever I stooped or lifted, sharp twinges caused me much misery. At night the backache greatly disturbed my rest. I got up in the morning feeling tired and languid and nervous spells bothered me. Sediment in the kidney secretions proved that my kidneys needed attention. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I began using them. In three days I was relieved. It took but one half the contents of one box to make a complete cure. The cure has been permanent."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Chicago's Woman Judge.

In the "About People" department of the September Woman's Home Companion appears a short sketch of Miss Mary M. Bartelme who is a judge in the Juvenile Court of Chicago.

Miss Bartelme was for 18 years public guardian for the children of Cook county. She was graduated from the Northwest University Day School in 1894. Years ago at the suggestion of Judge C. C. Kohlstaet she took charge of some probate cases and in dealing with cases relative to the guardianship of children showed such a degree of judgment and sympathy that the judge appointed her public guardian of Cook county.

In this work she was the official mother to never less than 400 children at a time caring for their health, their education and their finances. She has become the child expert to whom divorce court judges turn for advice as to the disposition of court-orphans.

Now, as Judge Bartelme, she deals, more like a sympathetic elder sister than a judge with the many young girls who are brought before her, giving them whenever it seems possible, another chance, either in new homes or in their old homes on probation.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When the tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, price 75 cents. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Brown's Grove.

This morning, August 19, finds the farmers of this community sitting on their back porches with sad countenances, looking over the sun-baked fields and withered crops, thinking of the hungry stock and wondering what to do for the best. Our prospects are indeed gloomy, but we are not of the kind to give up. When we think of the many promises of holy writ, we take fresh courage, for an all-wise Creator has promised to make the wind favorable for the sown lamb. And so with the help of the good Lord and rigid economy we will make the best of the situation we can.

While pondering over these things we received an invitation to attend a birthday dinner given in honor of Thompson Thurman. Of course we hied to the place, glad of one more chance to test the capacity of our interior. Mr. Thurman lives with his daughter, Mrs. Dick Bazzell. This being his 79th birthday, his children, grandchildren, and friends turned out in mass determined to make it a success. The guests arrived early and the place was thronged with a jovial mass of humanity, all intent on making the day pleasant for Mr. Thurman and each other.

Mr. Thurman being a man of more than ordinary intelligence has made him very useful in his day and generation. His deep piety, manly bearing and Christian deportment has won for him that degree of confidence and respect that few men can enjoy.

The string band was on hand and made music for the occasion to the delight of all present.

When dinner was announced a long table was spread nearly across the yard and was piled high with viands of a great variety to which the hungry crowd did ample justice. Before the crowd began to disperse it was suggested that Mr. Thurman give us a talk and he rehearsed his experiences and desires to the encouragement of all present.

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery.

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and I used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill, of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by Dale & Stubblefield.

Frequent Eclipses.

On August 31 there will be a partial eclipse of the sun. However, it will be of short duration at this point and will doubtless attract little attention.

On September 15 there will be a total eclipse of the moon, visible in all parts of the United States, and will be a sight seldom witnessed in a century. On September 29 there will be a partial eclipse of the sun, visible in this locality. This gives us two eclipses of the sun within one month, or at two consecutive new moons, and an eclipse of the moon at the full moon, which intervenes between the two eclipses of the sun.

Two Former Calloway Citizens.

At a mass convention of the Socialists of Tripp county, held in Cadiz the past week, Joe Bell, formerly of this county, was nominated for the legislature and S. F. Parker, also a Calloway boy, was made the nominee for assessor. A full ticket was nominated at the time as follows:

Joe Bell, representative; W. C. Oakley, county judge; Hurchel C. Dunning, county attorney; F. M. Forguson, sheriff; J. F. Parker, assessor and Clay Morris, jailer.

Home Team Defeats Benton.

The Murray Boy Scout ball team defeated the Benton Boy Scout team on the local grounds last Friday in one of the best games of ball ever witnessed here. The home team is Hazel and they played the team of that name. They will possibly visit Benton for a return game at an early date.

Eaten By Dog With Rabbits.

Boyce Taylor, son of Rev. H. B. Taylor, and Hilton Hughes, son of Thos. Hughes, left Murray Tuesday afternoon for Bowling Green, Ky.; where they will receive the Pasteur treatment under the direction of the state bacteriologist. A dog belonging to Mrs. Owens bit the boys. Young Taylor was bitten some several days ago and after the animal bit young Hughes it was killed by Dr. Tyree and the head sent to Bowling Green for analysis. A telegram was received late Monday afternoon stating that the dog's brains showed a well developed case of rabies. The boys were hurried away as soon as possible for treatment.

Costly Treatment.

"I was troubled with constipation and indigestion and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and treatment," writes C. H. Hines, of Whitlow, Ark. "I went to a St. Louis hospital, also a hospital in New Orleans, but no cure was effected. On returning home I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets, and worked right along. I used them for some time and am now alright." Sold by Dale & Stubblefield.

Inspecting Court House Furniture.

County Judge Patterson and the members of the fiscal court left here last Monday afternoon for Louisville where they will inspect several times of furnishings for Calloway's new court house. They will be absent several days. It is the purpose of the court for the very best stuff possible and deemed it advisable to visit the market in person rather than to buy upon representatives of the sellers. The expenses of the court are being jointly paid by the firms handling the furnishings.

School Will Convene September 15th.

The Murray public school will convene September 15th this year. This decision was reached at a recent meeting of the board, and the delay is occasioned by the fact that the Calloway County Teachers Institute is to be held the second week in September, which would mean an interruption of one week after teaching one week. Owing to this fact the board deemed it a part of wisdom to postpone the opening until after the meeting of the institute.

Engine Derailed in Yards.

An engine pulling a freight train was derailed in the yards here Wednesday morning causing a delay of the morning passenger train several hours. A wrecker was sent here from Hol-

The weaving shown was woven by Mrs. Anna Ernberg, a Swedish woman, the most expert weaver now in America. This exhibit will be under the direction of the Arts and Crafts Club.

Good Reason for His Enthusiasm

When a man has suffered for several days with colic, diarrhoea or other form of bowel complaint and is then cured sound and well by one or two doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as is often the case, it is but natural that he should be enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy, and especially in this case of a severe attack when life is threatened. Try it when in need of such a remedy. It never fails. Sold by Dale & Stubblefield.

Sold Hogs by Telephone

A South Carolina farmer had a large number of hogs which were ready to kill. The weather was so warm that killing was out of the question.

He went to his telephone, called a dealer in Columbia over Long Distance and sold his hogs at a good price. He then called the local freight office and arranged for shipment.

The telephone is now a necessity on the farm. You can have one on your farm at small cost. See the nearest Bell Telephone Manager or send a postal for our free booklet.

After Twenty Years.

Glasgow, Ky., Aug. 12.—While Mr. and Mrs. James Huffman, of the eastern part of this county, were thinking of their son, Virgil Huffman, who went to Alaska twenty years ago to seek his fortune, and wondering if all was well with him and if they should ever see him again, they were interrupted by a traveler who asked if he could spend the evening with them, as he was dusty and tired from a long journey. They thought it was not convenient, as they had guests in the home, but the mother, with her heart full of thoughts for the absent son, told the stranger he could stay, and he was asked to come in the house and get his supper. The lights were turned on and the mother turned to take the hat of the stranger when she stood face to face with her son, twenty years older but the same picture that had been in her heart for all the years. The young man had prospered and has returned to his home to spend his life with the family and friends he loved so well. —Louisville Times.

STYLE WRITING HEREDITARY

Science Wakes Up to a Fact That the Public Have Long Ago Realized.

London.—Non-scientific persons have long realized the remarkable similarity in handwriting of members of the same family, sometimes lasting for half a dozen generations, and now, it seems, science is at last waking up to this suggestive fact in heredity. Sir Rickman Goodlee, president of the Royal College of Surgeons, said:

"I have lately been reading old letters dating back to the early part of the eighteenth century, and I have been struck with the way in which more handwriting is handed down from father to son, and mother to daughter. It is possible to trace quite clearly my great-grandfather's writing in that of my cousins and my father's and my own. If mere handwriting is thus transmitted, together with the tone of the voice and the shape of the nose, the question arises whether any one need be ashamed of his defects, or proud of his misdeeds, or satisfied with the consciousness of virtue. We may feel the long arms of our apostle ancestors stretching out of the past and moulding our characters. We may read all that has ever been written about free will from the time of Aristotle, and we may hug the notion that our actions have been predestined from the nebulous state of our planet."

"But it makes no difference to us. We are still doggedly convinced that by taking thought we can add one cubit to our stature, or at any rate prevent it being one cubit less."

FINDS HEADLESS GIRL AT SEA

Fishing Schooner Captain Buries Body of Woman Clad in Expensive Clothing.

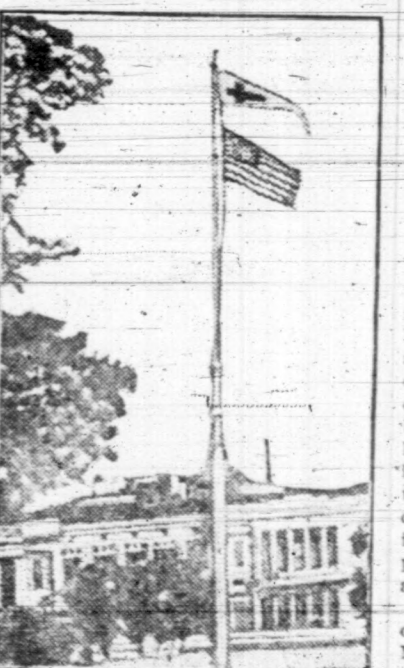

Boston.—The discovery at sea of the headless body of an expensively dressed girl was reported by Capt. Charles White of the schooner Jennie Gilbert, upon his arrival in port from a sword-fishing trip. To the captain it appeared that the head had been skillfully severed with a sharp knife.

The body was picked up July 18 about 170 miles from Boston, in the track of both ocean and coastwise steamers. It evidently had been in the water but a short time. Capt. White described it as that of a well-nurtured girl of from sixteen to twenty years. The clothing gave no clue to the identity of the wearer. Captain White says he wrapped the body in canvas and sank it in the sea.

CHURCH FLAG UP ON SUNDAY

Old Glory Gives Way Only for This Christian Banner on Sabbath Morn.

Washington.—In whatever corner of the world Old Glory waves there is only one banner to which it gives way, and that is the church flag. On Sunday morning at all the United States naval stations and at other points where the navy holds sway and on every battleship and gunboat of Un-

Old Sam's on every sea may be seen this snowy pennant, with its blue device, shown in the accompanying picture, flying above the stars and stripes.

Only while the church services are in progress does the starry flag surrender its supremacy. When the worshiping is concluded the "Banner of the Blue Cross" is lowered with fitting ceremonies and the Red, White and Blue is restored to its head. In the picture is shown the main building at the Mare Island naval station at Vallejo on San Francisco bay in California, with the church flag flying from the staff in the foreground.

Was a Wife for a Day. Milwaukee.—It was worth the money to be a wife, even if it didn't last long. I'm no spring chicken any more, and I did want to be some man's wife. So declared Mrs. Violet Adams, thirty, of Stonefort, Ill., after her husband of a day had disappeared with $500 of her money. She appeared to the local police for aid.

Many Have Appendicitis. Mount Pleasant, N. H.—Calebbrook, near here, has gained the name of the "Appendicitis town." Over 200 of the 3,000 inhabitants have undergone operations for appendicitis.

SAVE OLD ST. JOHN'S

Historic Church Edifice in N. Y. to Be Conserved.

Old Chapel of Trinity Parish Is One of the Two Structures of Their Kind Standing on Manhattan Island a Century Ago.

New York.—Blocking the road of progress—even where it is the road of temporary progress only—is an offense of which growing cities are ruderly impatient. They are apt ruthlessly to destroy for some immediate commercial end landmarks which cannot be restored when, after a few years, the road of progress must be shifted again. New York naturally is particularly apt to be hasty in such matters. Perhaps, in view of the comparative scarcity of historical architecture worthy of preservation, it has more excuse than some older cities for an unsentimental attitude. All the more reason therefore exists for protecting whatever exists that is worthy. And the case of St. John's chapel of Trinity parish is a notable case in point.

Portico and Spire of St. John's.

The beautiful old building in Varick street has had many narrow escapes already, and Trinity Corporation can hardly claim the credit for its survival into its one hundred and fourth year. Rather the vigilance of the newspapers has saved it. It is the newspapers again which have widely advertised those recent plans for street improvements to meet new conditions in the region of west side buildings which contemplated once more the sacrifice of St. John's rather than, for instance, any part of the ugly pile of brick across the way—the freight station which was the usurper of the park which once faced the chapel, and though the fashion that frequented it has moved far uptown should still face it. Publicity is doing its part. For the rest the present status of affairs is indicated in the following statement from George McAneny, who, as borough president of Manhattan, has the streets in charge.

"It is recognized," says Mr. McAneny, "by all who want to preserve the old landmarks of New York, that nothing should be left undone to prevent the demolition of St. John's chapel. The matter is in abeyance now, pending the acquisition by the city of the land which is to be taken in connection with the widening of Varick street. When the map has been fixed, however, the board of estimate and apportionment will have the power to change the line of either the roadway or the sidewalk. I propose to ask the board to take action upon this not later than the first meeting in September. It is impracticable to obtain action before that time, because any change in the plans at present would involve the reopening of the entire proceeding for widening Varick street, and that would mean a long delay."

St. John's chapel is one of the two church edifices that were standing on Manhattan island a century ago, the other being St. Paul's chapel, between Fulton and Vesey streets on Broadway. The Trinity church, which then stood in Broadway opposite Wall street, was not the present Trinity church, which is the third on the same site, the first, consecrated in 1698, having been destroyed in the great fire of 1776, and a subsequent structure, erected after the Revolution, pulled down to make way for the present one. St. George's, on what was known as Chapel hill at Cliff (then Van Cliff) and Beekman streets, was the first of the Trinity chapels to come into existence. It was consecrated in 1762, but became a separate charge in 1811. The edifice was burned in 1814 and rebuilt the following year, and after 1846 rebuilt once again on the ground on which it now stands, in Rutherford place.

Wooden Leg Is Mangled. Philadelphia.—The wooden leg of Jeremiah Connelly was run over and broken when he tried to board a moving freight train here. Years ago he lost his real leg against a big steel and since then has broken the wooden one three times.

Slain While Digging Grave. Philadelphia.—While digging a grave in Holy Cross cemetery, here, Patrick Tenny, 36, was struck by lightning and killed. He fell into the open grave.

Many Young Men Soon Become Round Shouldered

By C. L. HARCOURT, Chicago.

and holding their heads up in a manly way they hang their heads and bend over and fall along in a lazy, careless lops. These young men soon become round shouldered and hollow-chested, pitiful specimens of manhood.

Round shoulders are not uncommon among us, for almost any average person is slightly affected. We see the little messenger boy struggling along with his head bent over and everywhere in the public schools we see some first symptoms of spinal curvature. I think that entirely too little attention is given to teaching children to sit at their desks at school in the proper position. At their ages the bones are not well hardened and to shape them wrong is not difficult.

Round shoulders are often noticeable in office workers where constant leaning over uncomfortable desks is required. Ill-fitting clothing around the neck also tells on the wearer. The most common cause is the mere ignorance and carelessness of the people themselves.

If a child is taught while young to walk straight and is watched carefully he will mature with the instruction firmly fixed as a good habit. But if no precaution is taken the man will develop the tendency and he will waste away before his time comes. We never stop to think about these seemingly trivial things, but rush on to some vain goal only to find ourselves physical wrecks.

Why do we admire the soldier boys? They walk erect with that fine bearing characteristic of genuine manhood. Round shoulders are becoming more prevalent and by a random observation we can see what our future citizens will be and what they will not be.

I suggest that some step be taken to impress upon the unwary and heedless the necessity of caring for both the teeth and the lungs. Illustrated lectures which will open their eyes to the facts in each case would help. I wonder if, after we learn to stand, walk and breathe properly, the ranks of the consumptives would not begin to thin out and general debilities to disappear, leaving us a happier nation, stronger physically and mentally.

Easy Matter to Fake Trip Around World

By W. H. CHENEY, Montreal, Que.

It is very easy for a man to take a trip around the world and never leave his home. I saw a man enter a big hotel the other day with two traveling bags that had hotel and railroad posters over them until you could not see the leather. I will venture to say that the owner of the bags had never visited the countries from which the labels were supposed to be.

All you have to do now when you want to make your friends think you have been on a trip to South Africa, while the truth of the matter is you have not had enough money to get very many miles away from your home, is to go to a well-known tourist's agent in New York and tell him where you want to go. For a small consideration he will plaster all over your traveling bag the correct hotel, steamship and railroad stickers for the route you want to take. If there happens to be quarantine rules in the section of the country through which you are supposed to pass the tourist's agent has the correct quarantine labels, also "inspected and passed," in bold red letters, which he will place on your bag where they can be plainly seen.

The tourist's agent's rates for this kind of service are not very high. He will send you through the Suez canal to the Philippines and back to the United States, to San Francisco, Cal., on one of the Japanese mail line of steamers. Only the stickers from the most expensive hotels will be stuck on your bags. He will furnish you with a description of the route you have taken and by careful study you can soon be able to tell your friends all about the trip, and to prove to them that you are not telling of a dream you have had you can refer to the posters on your traveling bags.

Learning in Public Schools and Outside

By ANNA GOLDBERG, Chicago.

Thousands of boys and girls were recently graduated from grammar and high schools and colleges. How many observe their joyful and pleasant faces, their pride and ambition! The hearts of the parents are also filled with joy to have attained that day when their children complete their courses. Many boys and girls have to seek employment and become self-supporting. The more ambitious among them desire more education and they easily gain it. Some persons study for pleasure, others for knowledge and still others to pursue a profession for a future living. Those who are capable of continuing school will surely embrace their opportunity. Those who have to leave and seek employment, if ambitious for more knowledge, will obtain much.

I know many men and women who have had little schooling, but have become learned nevertheless. Home study can aid much and the reading of good literature will also help. The poor boy or girl with ambition will become greater than the wealthy one who studies at college, but who concerns himself more with the social part of life. The poor student struggles for a while, but becomes successful later.

Knowledge has no end. Possessing it, let us do the best we can to disseminate it among those who struggle for it, that they may advance the welfare of morality and civilization.

Light and Cool Garments Urged for the Men

By Dr. W. K. HANSON, Springfield, Ill.

When they should wear only one light garment to cover them, they persist in putting on two shirts, a vest, a tight, stiff collar, a necktie, and, last but not least of horrors, a cloth coat, padded and wadded and lined, and with a thick double overcollar.

O women, sisters and girls, let us unite in some effort to help the poor benighted men to cast off their insane traditional custom.

The first thing that women voters should do is to get a law passed abolishing the burdensome, rigid uniforms of the policeman, postmen and car conductors. They would then be enabled to do their work more effectively, as well as more comfortably, if clad in tropical clothes during tropical weather.

Most serious is the question of walking in a correct position. It is really astonishing to see the way that many young men walk nowadays. Instead of throwing their chests out and holding their heads up in a manly way they hang their heads and bend over and fall along in a lazy, careless lops. These young men soon become round shouldered and hollow-chested, pitiful specimens of manhood.

FAR BETTER THAN QUININE.
Elixir Babek cures malaria where quinine fails, and it can be taken with impunity by old and young.
"I have suffered from Malarious Fever for several months, getting no relief from quinine and being completely broken down in health. Elixir Babek effected a permanent cure."—William F. Marr, Elixir Babek, 25 cents, all druggists or by Parcel Post prepaid from Kloczewski & Co., Washington, D. C.

Up Against It.
"That woodpecker may be persistent, but I think he's beaten this time."
"What's he trying to do?"
"Drill a hole into an iron trolley pole."

Practical Virtues.
"How did that never-do-well manage to live?"
"In hope that if he inspired enough faith he might live on charity."

Poor Excuse.
"Why did you drop off the water wagon?"
"It was so crowded I couldn't get a seat," explained the other man, lamely.

Fashionable Sanitarium.
"The boss is worried about the new patient."
"He seems weak."
"Yes; too weak to sign a check."

Not for Long.
"Now I am twenty-one, and my own master!"
"Yes, but you are engaged."

As Usual.
"Who scored the new musical comedy?"
"The critics, chiefly."

Always Moving.
"Does Gubbes ever make a move at the club meetings?"
"Oh, lots of them. He's got St. Vitus' dance."

Improving on the Idea.
"Is that amateur musical organization short-handed?"
"It's worse than that. It's as dead as a door nail."

Rexie Anderson has gone to Tennessee on business.

Rev. Jackson and wife, who have spent the past two weeks here with her sister, Mrs. Cath Bratton, and conducted a big meeting at Shady Hill, have returned to their home at Hoxie, Mo.

Euria Gordon is no better. His father, Esq. J. J. Gordon, died of pneumonia Aug. 15. He was about 70 years old. His first wife was Miss Jane Neal, by whom 7 children are living: four boys, Tom, Bolen, Jack and Oscar, and three girls: Mrs. Bettie Darnell and Mrs. Ellen Norweathers, of Dexter. His second wife was Miss Carrie Wolff, of Maple Spring. She has only two children living, Eurina and Joe. Rev. Mac Pool, of Murray, and Uncle Bud Dotson, of Dexter, conducted the burial services. Ye scribe could not get in the house, but the text was something about the ways of the righteous are pleasant, and most appropriate for his past life. He was one of the leading christians of the land; his wise counsel will be greatly missed a long time. Children try, as a rising generation will do, to walk in the footsteps of your father and you will never go many steps in the wrong direction till you will make a hasty retreat back to the right. He was buried with Masonic honors in the presence of an unusual large crowd of sorrowing relatives and friends in the Gordon grave yard, Aug. 16, 1913. It is hard to say farewell, Uncle Jack.

Bun Outland's resignation in last week's Ledger was the first I ever read. If he ever runs for another office all the crimples may run against him, but I will support him.
