GREAT CALLOWAY COUNTY FAIR WILL BEGIN NEXT WEDNESDAY

The Fourth Annual meet of the Great Calloway County Fair begins next Wednesday morning to continue four days. Everything has been made "spic and span" and the grounds have already taken on a gala appearance. Many horses are already quartered there. The officials have labored hard with an eye single toward making this the greatest and grandest fair ever held in Western Kentucky and their efforts will be crowned with success. Among the free attractions will be Thos. Brady, the world famous aviator and his airship, not a balloon, but a graceful bi-plane, which like an American eagle will soar to dizzy heights from the grounds, higher and higher, until it is a mere speck in the blue empyrean, then swoops down to earth again within the fair enclosure.

Another attraction is El Diablo, the human cannon ball, who will be shot from a cannon suspended from a balloon a mile above the grounds and who will then descend to earth in a double parachute leap. These two features alone are worth more than the price of admission. But that isn't all.

At this fair there will be more race-horses than ever before, more livestock, more agricultural exhibits, more fine poultry, more in floral hall, more of everything than ever before seen at any county fair anywhere. And, if the weather is at all

I can eat anything I want to, and as much as I want, and feel better than I have at any time in ten years. I refer to any one in Boone Mill or vicinity and they will vouch for what I say." ### Death of J. G. Churchill.

We bought just one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that one bottle stopped his cough and cured his cold completely." For sale by Dale & Stubblefield.

Foreword.

There is a wealth of sparkle and variety in the entertainment given by the Jessie L. Hudson Co., with enough of the classical and new to be edifying, sufficient of the old to appeal to the heart, and plenty of breezy meriment.

Miss Hudson has been affiliated with bureaus in the East and West. Having begun recital work at the age of twelve, she understands and can adapt her personality and program to any audience.

As a violinist Miss Hudson is a genius. In addition to solos she plays the obligatos to her own songs—a clever feat which is very rare.

Her readings are superb, embracing prose and poetical (productions) selections which are interesting because of their accurate portrayal of character, their whimsical humor, intensity of repressed feeling and pathetic heart tragedies.

There is a rich, mellow quality in her voice that carries her songs to the hearts of an audience and makes them linger in their memory.

Miss Lyla Hortense Myers, accompanist, is a musician of remarkable ability. Her left hand piano solo is most out of the ordinary, and interesting. In the musical and dramatic sketches which the Company presents, Miss Myers shows herself to be a perfect complement to Miss Hudson.

The above attraction will appear at the opera house the night of October 10th, under the auspices of the Order Eastern Star. The proceeds will be used toward purchasing a piano for the Masonic Hall. The entertainment should be liberally patronized.

When you have an aching, stretchy feeling and you are all dull, tired and discouraged it is a sign of approaching malaria or chills. You should act quickly to ward off an attack. HERBINE offers you the help you need. It destroys the malarial germ, and drives out all the impurities and makes you feel bright, vigorous and cheerful. Price 50c. Sold by Dale & Stubblefield.

Elephants With Human Sense.

One of the big events in the Sun Brothers' performances this season, is the Superbly Trained Animal Ensemble. It is claimed for this section of the show, to be the surprise and wonder of all beholders. Here will be found horses that are clowns, acrobats, musicians, and dancers; elephants with the wits of human beings and with a sense of humor, these pachyderms are the sensation of every town and city visited, in fact they have appeared in all parts of Europe and the big cities of the United States, and forms in all the most picturesque, laughable, comical, astounding display of elephant sagacity ever conceived. There is also a bunch of wonderfully trained bears, baboons, mules, lions, camels and zebras, in fact more trained animals than ever before seen with one single show.

The Sun Brothers' Shows, for this season also present many distinct European "thrillers" and novelties, including feats and features absolutely new to the American public and vastly superior to those of past seasons. The wild west and animal display is a big affair and serves to exhibit a superb collection of the finest specimens from all parts of the jungles of Africa, India and Asia.

As usual and in vogue for nearly a quarter of a century with this show, the management is following its famous policy of allowing no gamblers, ticket scalpers, camp followers or immoral issues with the show at any time or place. Two complete performances will be given at Murray, on Tuesday, September 30.

DONATIONS TO BUILD GRAVEL ROAD RAPIDLY ROLLING IN

It also cured others I gave it to," writes M. E. Gehhart, Oriole, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. San Francisco.—Two years in the federal penitentiary—on McNeil Island, Washington, and a fine of $2,000 is the sentence imposed on Maury I. ## MEXICAN SITUATION IS SAME

Little Importance Attached to Huerta's Message. Washington.—So far as the Washington administration is concerned, it became known, a special train over the Mexican situation is contemplated. The elections of October 26 now are waited with keen interest, and the next step in the policy of the United States is likely to make its appearance thereafter.

Administration officials read long extracts of Gen. Huerta's message to the Mexican congress, published here, but no formal comment was made. It is understood that the administration does not attach much importance to the document, though there are passages in it which did not pass without careful notice.

GOVERNMENT FILES A BRIEF

Miller of Indianapolis. The date for hearing the case will be set at the October term.

Bennett, Vice-president and general manager of the Willys Overland Automobile Company.

INDEPENDENCE DAY IN MEXICO CITY

NOTHING OCCURRED TO MAR THE HOLIDAY SPIRIT.

President Huerta Addresses Joint Session of Deputies and Senators. Amicable Relations With United States Expected.

Mexico City.—In spite of the rumors which dealt impartially with attacks upon Americans, an army uprising and the assassination of the president, Independence day came and went with nothing to mar the holiday spirit. Politically, the great event was the reopening of congress and the reading of the president's message. But without doubt Gen. Huerta was moved less by that than by the spectacle of thousands of students, citizens and soldiers doing him honor as he stood on the balcony of the National Palace reviewing the great parade, the feature in which public interest centered.

More than 4,000 volunteers and students, ranging in age from 12 years upward, had their taste of militia discipline, standing for hours in drizzling rain, and plodding through muddy streets.

They bore the hardships manfully, however, marching proudly between immense lines of onlookers whom the rain failed to damp, through the principal business street, past the palace and to various points where they disbanded. It is estimated that close to 10,000 marchers passed in review. They included a thousand of Blanquet's veterans, who did hard service in the Zapotec country, regular and volunteer cavalry and infantry, rufes, mounted and foot police, artists, cadets and hospital corps. Next to the students and volunteers who received the most enthusiastic applause were several ambulance automobiles filled with white-coated young women of the Red Cross hospital service.

In his message to the joint session of deputies and senators, President Huerta promised to spare no efforts to bring about the unrestricted election of president and vice president of the Mexican republic next month, declaring that it would constitute the greatest triumph of his career to turn over the office to his successor with the country at peace, as he hoped to do.

Dr. Huerta and the strained diplomatic relations between Mexico and the United States had caused the Mexican nation to suffer unmerited affliction and had retarded the pacification of the country. Nevertheless, he hoped for an early solution of the differences between the two nations and to see Mexico and the United States once more united in bonds of friendship.

SCHMIDT A COUNTERFEITER

New York.—The discovery of a counterfeiters' den which Hans Schmidt, priest and confessed slayer of Anna Ammiller, admitted was fitted up by him to make spurious money, led the detectives, George Foulke and other visitors to his cell in the Tombs to express the opinion that Schmidt is sane and that further investigation will develop that counterfeiting was only one of his "side lines." They declared it as their belief that he is feigning insanity after carefully thought-out plans of a master criminal mind. To the Rev. Father Evers, of the Tombs prison, to his attorney and other callers Schmidt admitted his connection with the plot in West 124th street where detectives found bundles of imitation $10 gold certificates.

To Reorganize Service. Washington.—The internal revenue service probably will be reorganized as soon as the new tariff bill is enacted, preparatory to administering the income tax provisions of the law. Designations of several collectors of internal revenue are expected to be accepted as one of the first steps.

Bankers Will Meet. Richmond.—Several hundred delegates from eastern and western cities arrived here by special train to attend the 11th annual convention of the American Institute of Banking.

CURRENCY BILL TO BE UNAMENDED

CHORUS OF "NOES" GREET EFFORTS TO ALTER PROVISIONS.

"GAG LAW" CHARGES RIFE

Lindbergh Is Voted Down—Mississippi Tried to Make the Subscription Ten Per Cent of the Banks' Capital.

Washington.—With well-aimed legislative machinery working smoothly, the administration currency bill rolled steadily toward completion under detailed consideration in the house. A chorus of "noes" greeted quickly proposed amendments to the measure as agreed on by the Democratic caucus. Not a single material amendment was voted into the bill.

At the close of the day nearly half of the bill had been read. At this rate the house leaders thought they might be able to finish this week.

The debate bristled with charges of "gag law" and "cannon rule" from the minority, with occasional sympathetic replies from the Democratic side, but when the vote was needed the line held firm behind Chairman Clark of the banking and currency committee. Representative Mondell of Wyoming and Progressive leader Mardock devoted considerable time to pleading with the Democrats to "break the shackles" and desert the caucus pledge. Mr. Mondell became involved in a spirited controversy with Representative Starke of Kentucky, who had something to say about Republican caucus action.

Representative Donagan, Democrat of Connecticut, joined with Representative Mardock, one of his attacks, declaring that the leaders had abandoned the currency bill to the new members of the house.

"Not more than half a quorum is here," he shouted. "They draw their pay regularly and abandon the work attached to their positions. This is nothing more than stealing."

"What could they do if they were here?" demanded Representative Mardock, "the caucus has foreclosed all action on the bill."

A rapid fire of amendments was directed by the minority against the section of the bill providing that national banks must subscribe a sum equal to 20 per cent of their capital in the federal reserve bank in their district. Representative Lindbergh of Minnesota endeavored to make the subscription 10 per cent of the capital and surplus and allowed banks 120 days in which to pay on half of their subscriptions.

FRANCIS BURTON HARRISON. Francis Burton Harrison, the millionaire congressman from New York, has been selected by President Wilson as governor general of the Philippines.

ACCEPT HOKE SMITH'S PLAN

Underwood's Views May Prevail With Senate Concurses.

Washington.—Along with the announcement by Speaker Clark that the conferees' report on the tariff bill will be ready for consideration Friday came satisfactory assurances that Senator Hoke Smith's plan for regulating the cotton exchanges will be accepted by the conferees in lieu of the Clark amendment. It is understood that the house conferees, headed by Senator Underwood, favor the Smith scheme and it is confidently believed that senate conferees will accept it.

Rev. Hanley Indicted. Terre Haute, Ind.—The Rev. Elijah M. Hanley, president of Franklin College, was indicted by the Vigo county grand jury on a charge of assault and battery, growing out of his attack on his father, Calvin Hanley, last Thursday.

Progressives Busy. Washington.—An aggressive campaign to increase the Progressive party's strength in the house was planned at a conference, which a Progressive congressional campaign committee was organized.

SULZER LOSES IN FIRST CLASH

IMPEACHMENT COURT OVERRULES CHALLENGE OF 4 SENATORS

PROCEEDINGS ARE ATTACKED

Fight for Additional Charges Against Aggrieved Executive Will Be Made in Assembly on Thursday. Arguments Made.

Albany, N. Y.—Council for William Sulzer lost the first skirmish in a legal battle they began Friday, at the second session of the high court of impeachment, to prevent the accused executive from coming to trial. Their objections to permitting four senators to sit as members of the court were overruled.

They next attacked the validity of the impeachment with a motion to dismiss the proceedings, but failure to complete their argument when adjournment was taken until Monday precluded a decision in the matter.

Meanwhile three senators formally declared that he had no right to exercise the functions of chief executive pending the determination of the impeachment. This he did in a letter to Lieut. Gov. O'Day, turning over a request for the extradition of a prisoner, and explaining he had taken such action because of recent decisions of the senate. He said that the "executive" functions should be performed by yourself as acting governor.

After striving fruitfully from noon until 7:20 o'clock to obtain enough anti-Sulzer votes to insure the passage of additional impeachment charges, Majority Leader Levy moved that the assembly recess until next Thursday. The motion was adopted and shouts of joy and members who had been imprisoned in the chamber for hours dashed to their homes.

JAMES M. SULLIVAN. James M. Sullivan, the new American minister to the Dominican republic, is a Brooklyn lawyer and the man who secured the confession of "Red Jack" Ross in the famous Rosenthal murder case. He is a native of Ireland and was born in Killarney in 1873.

WHOLESALE KILLING PLANNED

Slayer of Anna Ammiller Reveals Gruesome Scheme.

New York.—Hans Schmidt, most pitiful, despicable and venal criminal who has fallen into the hands of the police of New York, astonished Inspector Farrow's detectives by unfolding a plan he had conceived for wholesale killings in New York City. With no variation from his customary ecclesiastical manner, the self-confessed murderer of Anna Ammiller calmly informed the detectives that he had intended to execute old persons, cripples, persons suffering from incurable ailments and "all who found this world a hardship." He proposed to execute the selected victims either by shooting, poisoning or dissection, which he declared to be the easiest forms of death.

ADMITS MANUFACTURERS' AID

Denies, However, They Spent $50,000 in His District.

Washington.—The house lobby committee abandoned work on its report long enough to hear former Representative Charles E. Littlefield of Maine testify that his views on labor legislation coincided with those of the manufacturers, and that in his congressional career he gladly accepted the aid of the manufacturers' association, through Marshall Cushing, then its Washington representative. Littlefield said Marshall went to his district in 1906 to help in his campaign. He denied McCall's testimony that the National Association of Manufacturers spent $50,000 in his district in the campaign in 1908.

Treaty Is Signed

Constantinople.—The protocol of the treaty defining the Turkish-Bulgarian frontier provides that the new frontier line shall begin on the Black Sea at the mouth of the River Rhyndak, immediately north of the town of San Stefano, 25 miles above Midia.

Swain Audience Kept Dry By "Kan Leek" Tent.

"Kan-Leek" is a chemical creation sought for many years by canvas users and chemists alike. In discovering "Kan-Leek," Mr. Swain became possessed of a solution of unequalled commercial value for waterproofing and preserving canvas.

Every positive has its negative, and for years these interested in waterproof and rotproof canvas have striven to produce a negative for water that does not contain oil, and in compounding "Kan-Leek," Mr. Swain not only succeeded in discovering an entirely new negative (or opposite) to water, but also found an affinity for cotton.

When applied, "Kan-Leek" is immediately absorbed into the innermost core of every fibre, and repeated tests have shown that this preparation is retained by each individual fibre during the entire life of the canvas. In accordance with the well known scientific fact that no two bodies can occupy the same space at the same time, water cannot gain access to the fibre, while "Kan-Leek" is thus retained.

The tents of the W. I. Swain Show Co., which will be the attraction extraordinary in Murray for a solid week, commencing Monday Sept. 29th, are all treated with "Kan-Leek," thus rendering patrons immune from rain or even dampness.

Relative Merits of Genius and Talent

By LINDSAY SWIFT

When Macaulay described that tireless New Zealand or standing on the ruins of London bridge and viewing the wreck of empire, he omitted to state that this traveler of the future would find on the parapets two worthies discussing the relative merits of genius and talent. This problem will continue to hold the boards long after the protective tariff and capital punishment have ceased to be subjects for debate.

What are these two qualities or possessions of human mind? Bulwer called talent "doing something better than others," and that will answer very well. If there were not an immense amount of talent in the world there would not be so much success, and the movement of life would be backward, not forward. We must not minimize the importance of talent.

But what is genius? Is it the highest degree of talent; or is it something wholly distinct—a special gift to certain rare individuals? Does it partake in a measure of the divine or creative power, or is it a survival of that fiercer primitive energy so necessary to the survival of man or animal when life was only a desperate struggle to exist at all.

Mr. Henry Adams, in his remarkable "Letter to the American Teachers of History," speaks of the cocoon lentur as probably the most energetic creature that ever came into being, and man has probably lost a large measure of the original force such an animal possessed. Certain it is that when we think of the greatest intelligences that ever lived we name some of the ancients out of all proportion to the moderns.

Perhaps it would not be going too far to say that Aristotle and Julius Caesar were the greatest individuals this planet has produced. It seems to be true that with the enormous increase of human efficiency and of applied talent that the appearance of indubitable genius of the highest order becomes rarer.

But we may, I think, dismiss any consideration of these marvelous personalities of every age. Their position is fixed and unassailable. There is also an every-day genius—the unusual capacity displayed in our common life, that is well worth our attention. Most of us go along every day after day, accepting the fruits of the past, but not letting our wits work to better things, or to introduce any new tone into human conditions.

A very simple instance of the application of this quality of genius into ordinary affairs is shown by that simple little invention suggested by Ben Franklin on one of his several voyages across the Atlantic. The ship's cook wanted to make pea soup, but could find no way to grind up the peas to a suitable consistency. "Put a ten-pound shot in the pot," said the marvelous Benjamin, "and the motion of the vessel will grind the peas." Simple enough, when a man like Franklin has first thought of it.

Now the man of talent will take up these wonderfully simple, yet potentially great ideas and will improve upon them, introduce them to the world, and will do what the genius often cannot do—make money out of his ability and skill.

Lindsay Swift

Advance of Women All Over the World

By J. E. DUMARS, Boston, Mass.

The modern woman does not want to know how pies are made or read a string of useful receipts in women's magazines.

Women of the present day read fiction. They also go into many subjects that heretofore have only been published for men. I am connected with a magazine that has a circulation of two million. Each subscription is paid in advance and the magazine is devoted entirely to woman and her work. The blurring of the school systems is one of the things that has interested women in the higher grades of fiction. Women are advancing all over the world.

They have the same love for their home and children, but the advancement of the school room has had a great deal to do with the change in their mode of life and way of thinking.

I do not mean to say that because the modern woman does not want to know how to make a pie that she does not take interest in her household duties.

Years ago the only reading matter contained in women's magazines was devoted to receipts and useful household hints. But it is different now. Women have a great work in the world and their advancement has been very rapid.

A number of the magazines published exclusively for women are among the most widely circulated periodicals in this country.

World Has Little Use for Jesus

By Rev. William Rader, San Francisco

The world has no use for a person with a long face. Sorrow drives away friends, and it is because Jesus was a man of sorrow that the world has so little use for him. There was one day when Jesus was popular, and that was when he fed the multitude bread; a few days later he was unpopular because he talked to the same multitude about their souls and bread from above.

He was popular when he ministered to bodily wants, but unpopular when he ministered to spiritual ones. It is the same today—a preacher or a church can be popular by ministering to things of the flesh.

Should we turn this church into a hospital every newspaper in the city would applaud because we were doing some practical good, and the populace would cheer.

When it comes to the church doing its main function, to remind people of the city to come, then the world turns away.

It is because he is a man of sorrow that he means so much to us Christians, because he tells us of the unseen world.

For the things that are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal.

How Many Society Women Drink Cocktails

By CHAS. T. WILSON, Chicago

Formerly when fashionable women wanted to drink a cocktail they had to do a lot of maneuvering to get one.

At present all a woman has to do is to enter the dining room of the first fashionable hotel she is passing and hand her order to the waiter. It may be that she does not want it known that she is ordering a drink.

She need have no fear, for the waiter is well aware of this, and will not serve it to her openly. Perhaps it will reach her in an after-dinner coffee cup, or the chances are that she will receive it in an ice-cream glass, surrounded by a lot of fancy cakes or some pretty tulle to hide the contents of the glass.

If two or three women are together and give an order for cocktails it will not be surprising to see the waiter serve it in a silver soup dish, and then the contents out with a ladle into small cups.

LIST' TO THE LAY OF THE OLD SALTS

Toll of Many Strange Happenings on Amazon River.

THROUGH SEA OF RED

Huge Alligator Attacks Ship; Mando-In Music Lures Whistling Monkey on Deck; Big Turtles, Hail Vessels and Men Fight Vampire Bats.

New York—Pipe all-hands on deck, mates, and listen to this story told of the sea. It is the tale of the little steamer Javary which recently arrived from a voyage of 2,500 miles down the Amazon river.

Captain Alexander Alexander is master of the Javary and many a trip he has made up and down the Amazon. The first mate is H. N. Duff, the second R. B. Purnous, and the third, J. L. Williams. All are familiar with the waters of the Amazon, its mosquitoes, its alligators and its blood-sucking vampires.

On the second day out, with just a whiff of breeze to temper the heat, the Javary was coming along slowly, as all ships do in those waters at the start. Mr. Duff—they call all officers "Mr." on all well regulated ships—was on deck. A huge alligator showed his ugly head above the water near the river bank, then came with a rush up to the steamer.

With a bang he hit the side of the ship, and the force of the shock bounced him back.

Mr. Duff walked forward, looking over the side, and the alligator followed him in the water. When they got to the bow the attacking party renewed the attack. A keel anchor hung over the bow, for in those waters they have to be ready always to drop a hook or throw it into the bank to warp around a bend. The keel anchor was hit by the alligator's head, and the alligator was rushing head on at the bow plates, then pulled the pin.

With an awful bang the hook smashed down upon the head of the most surprised alligator ever seen in the Amazon.

Third Mate Williams plays the mandolin. One evening, shortly after the alligator episode he was on deck, the vessel being at anchor under the overhanging foliage of the bank. As he played he heard a whistling accompaniment to his playing. He stopped, puzzled, and the whistling stopped, too. He played again and the whistling was resumed. It was eerie. While he was trying to make up his mind whether the sound was that of a mermaid or a banshee something fell or jumped from aloft and landed on his back. He screamed in terror as a pair of hairy arms encircled his neck and rose to grapple with the "whatever" it was. Sailors ran to his assistance and found him tied up with a gibbering, jabbering whistling monkey. It was a species of the whistling monkey of the Amazon, which had been often heard by those on board and never before seen.

It was only a few days after this occurrence that Second Officer Purnous, who was on deck, noticed a most peculiar phenomenon in the water ahead. The river had suddenly turned black. The officer called the captain and, by and by, through the glass they made out an immense school of turtles. They were thick as logs in a jam in the northwest. The motor boat had to be lowered and the turtles shoved off with pikes, just as they handle a log jam, to make way for the steamer. The jam extended for nearly half a mile.

At Aquim, Hayti, the Javary took on a deck cargo of dye wood. The next day it rained and the dye ran out of wood, flooding the sea with a crimson hue, so that the ship appeared to sail on a sea of blood in her wake. The deck was stained with the dye. All was red, red, red.

ANGLER HOOKS MAN WHO IS DROWNING

Amateur Fisherman Had Narrow Escape From Death in Lake Pontchartrain.

New Orleans, La.—William Klein, an upholsterer, of No. 1514 Ruterpe street, an amateur angler, experienced a narrow escape from death just as he had finished preparations for a day's sport in fishing off the northeastern bridge over Lake Pontchartrain, about 500 feet from North Shore.

The presence of mind of John Landry, a negro living at No. 119 North Liberty street, saved Mr. Klein from drowning. Landry cast a line and hooked Mr. Klein as the latter was sinking.

Mr. Klein, accompanied by his son, arrived at North Shore about 7 a. m. and began scaling the "long bridge." When about 500 feet from the shore the crowd gathered on a small platform to permit an incoming local train to pass. Mr. Klein carried his fishing pole strapped across his shoulder.

The Hook Caught.

ders. This was hit by the tender of the locomotive-train.

The upholsterer was thrown in the lake on the Mandeville side of the bridge, landing in the water some what dazed. A swift tide running at the time carried Mr. Klein under the bridge and out into the lake.

John Landry, the negro fisherman threw his fishing line in the direction of Mr. Klein, fortunately striking him on the leg. The hook caught and the almost lifeless body was brought up and held at the surface.

Several men who witnessed the sensational rescue climbed down posts and fastened a rope to the fisherman's body. He was held there until a small fishing craft was brought to Mr. Klein's side and later he was taken ashore.

It was not until some time after his son and several of the amateur rod men worked on the prostrate form that the man was revived.

Mr. Klein suffered pain as a result of the fish hook which caught in his leg when Landry threw the lucky line. The hook was deeply imbedded in the fleshy part of the leg and had to be cut out.

BIG RATTLER CHARMS CHILD

Little Girl Wiggled and Squeaked Like Snake Until the Reptile Was Killed.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Charmed by a big rattlesnake three feet long with nine rattles, Helen, the three-year-old daughter of Andrew Lahey of Amenia, near here, who was snatched from her mother by her mother the other day, has caused much astonishment to the residents of that section by her strange actions. The little child wiggled and squeaked about like a snake and it was not until the reptile was put to death by the father of the child that the little girl stopped squirming and returned to her normal condition. She was not bitten by the snake. For several days the mother of the little girl noticed that the youngster played around a stone door step in front of the house and disliked being taken away from the spot. Finally the mother noticed the baby playing in the same place and talking to someone. Creeping up behind the baby Mrs. Lahey was astonished to find that her little girl was bent over talking to an object under the step. Securing an iron bar Mrs. Lahey lifted up the stone to ascertain the attraction of the baby and much to her horror she discovered a huge rattler coiled up under the step—Snatching the child and screaming for help Mrs. Lahey attracted the attention of her husband and he killed the snake. Immediately after the reptile was put to death the little girl recovered her normal condition.

BLOODHOUND DIGS UP A "TREASURE"

Camphor Scent in Police Station Leads to Cache.

FINDS "GREAT" HOARD

Lockup Keepers of Chicago Jail Thought Negro "Runner" for Prisoners Had "Fortune" Hidden and Start Sherlock Holmes Search.

Chicago.—After three days of digging in the basement of the South Clark street police station, a treasure hoard amounting to $1,200 was uncovered the other day by Bob, a Siberian bloodhound, owned by Pinky Isenstein, who conducts a second-hand hardware store next door to the station.

The treasure belongs to Sam Wilson, a negro, who for the last seven years has been a "regular boarder" at the station. He is the only man in the employ of the police department who is satisfied with the salary he receives. He never has asked for an increase, and a few months ago, when Mayor Harrison announced a reduction in policemen's salaries owing to a shortage of funds, Wilson sent word to the mayor that he was willing to help him out.

Wilson is something of a humorist. The only salary he gets is what prisoners give him for running errands. He takes coffee and pie and sandwiches to those behind the bars, and the usual tip is 5 cents. Sometimes he gets 10 cents for a run by purchasing a nickel cigar and charging the prisoner a dime for it.

For a long time there has been a suspicion among the policemen at the station that Wilson was in affluent circumstances. The lockup keepers probably were to blame for the story that "Wilson had a plant."

"That fellow," meaning Wilson, Lockup Keeper Leonard said to Captain O'Brien, "has got all kinds of money. He runs from twenty to fifty errands every day, and there's always a piece of change for Sam. I would not be surprised if he had several hundred dollars buried somewhere in the basement."

Other lockup keepers told a similar story about Wilson's buried treasure, and for months a close watch was kept on him to see if he would go to the place where the hoard was hidden.

A few days ago Wilson got into an argument with Sergt. Arthur Danahy as to the ingredients in chili dogs, a southern dish of which Wilson is inordinately fond. It ended by Wilson offering to bet $1 that he was right. Danahy took him up.

Wilson disappeared for a half-hour. When he returned he had a dollar bill that smelled of camphor. It had come from the "plant."

Danahy was sure there were seven or eight hundred more dollars where that camphor-smelling bill came from. At that moment Bob, the Siberian bloodhound, wagged his way into the station. Danahy snatched the bill from Wilson's hand and gave the dog a sniff. He then led the beast to the basement and told Bob to find the treasure, but without success.

The following day Bob was again given the scent of the camphorated bill and this time he led the treasure seekers to the front part of the basement, which is concreted. Pikes were sunk into the adamant composition and every man in the station who was on reserve duty was called out of bed to help in the work. When they quit the basement was completely dug up.

Lead yelps from Bob brought the police on the run to the alley in the rear of the station. The dog had dug a hole about two feet deep at the side of the rear door. Once more the pikes and shovels were brought into service and after a few minutes' work the treasure box was found. Besides the money it contained a presidential campaign button, William Jennings Bryan and a check good for 2½ cents on a 15-cent drink.

BISHOP'S POINT WELL MADE

Rebuke to Which It Is Hard to See How the Curate Could Make an Answer.

Bishop Oliphant of Llandaff had a well-to-do young man as curate who had rather sporting instincts. He kept his own horses and always drove tandem. The bishop disapproved and decided to administer a rebuke on a favorable opportunity. Both the bishop and the curate, each driving in his own way, met near the historic Cow and Shovelers. The bishop, of course, was driving two abreast, and the curate tandem, as usual.

"I really must protest," said the bishop, "at your driving about in such a manner."

"Well, my lord," said the curate, "you are driving two horses, and so am I. What is the difference?"

After a few moments' reflection Bishop Oliphant replied:

"If, when you are at prayers at the cathedral, the congregation placed their hands in the same position as you have placed your horses what would become of the dignity and solemnity of the service?" Lander Mail.
