British Admiralalty Releases Epic Story of Dunkerque Evacuation

London, July 17—The British Admiralty today released the long-awaited story of the Dunkerque evacuation. The story, which had been kept secret for some time, is said to be a comprehensive account of the evacuation of British Expeditionary Forces from Dunkerque.

The story includes details of the evacuation, which took place over a period of several days, and describes the difficulties faced by the British forces. It also includes accounts of the efforts of the French and Belgian forces in assisting the evacuation.

The story is said to be a valuable resource for historians and those interested in the history of the Second World War.

An Issue Of Rights

A Finance Committee meeting last night heard a paper by Dr. George A. Crowther, professor of government at the University of Kentucky, on the subject of rights and the denial of rights to minorities.

Dr. Crowther pointed out that the denial of rights to certain groups is a violation of the principles of freedom and equality that are the foundation of our democratic society.

"The right of individuals for innocent association with others is not only a fundamental right," he said, "but it is also a necessary condition for the preservation of democratic institutions."

The issue of rights is not a matter of theoretical speculation, but rather a practical one that affects every individual in society. It is not enough to talk about rights; we must also act to ensure that they are respected and upheld.

"The denial of rights to certain groups," Dr. Crowther continued, "is not only a violation of the principles of freedom and equality, but it also undermines the very fabric of our democratic society."

"Organize Or Die"

An AP Foreign Affairs Seminar

The United States government has just issued its first official statement of policy concerning disloyalty and a worker may be dismissed for disloyalty for which a worker may be dismissed for disloyalty.

One recalls all those indictments for disloyalty which have been guilty. One recalls all those indictments for disloyalty which have been guilty.

"What we want here is a summary proceeding," said one of the IHRA's leaders, "a fair hearing before a neutral body of experts."

Fast-Finders Say Sports Should Be Amateur Again

President Roosevelt has told sports leaders that amateurism should be restored. He said the following:

- The country's economic plight requires the restoration of amateurism.
- Increased costs of labor and depletion of the country's resources make it necessary to appeal to the amateurs.
- Roosevelt said that the current situation is outside of historic precedent, and that a return to amateurism is necessary to prevent the exploitation of the democratic system.

In Kentucky

In a report to Congress, the Secretary of Commerce said that the economic recovery of the country is progressing well. He said the following:

- The economy is recovering from the depression, and the government is making progress in its recovery efforts.
- The government is working to make sure that the recovery is widespread and even.
- The government is also working to ensure that the recovery is sustainable and not just a temporary phenomenon.
