Henry Ward, our favorite candidate for governor of Kentucky, has more personal attributes and outstanding qualifications to elect him to any office in the land, both State and National. Among them, as he often admits with wry, good humor, is not personal handsomeness, however.

Yet if one were to evaluate the characteristics that attract women to men, you'd think that Henry was some kind of a movie star personality.

Last Friday at Ken-Bar Inn at Gilbertsville the first of many area meetings scheduled by the Women For Ward organizations was held. Some 400 enthusiastic ladies turned out to show their enthusiasm and support for Henry's campaign for governor. I have attended and even staged many similar events in the past and I can say without contradiction that I have never seen so many ladies wanting so much to congratulate and extend offers of help to one wonderful guy who has worked so hard for so long that I thought he had completely forgotten those little niceties that a gentleman says to a woman to make her beam.

Dressed immaculately in a dark business suit, Henry disobeyed every rule laid down for him to remain "back-stage" until time to walk into the Ken-Bar dining-room for an auspicious entrance. Fact is when we started sending out the word for him to march in with his lovely wife Gladys, and his state woman's chairman Anne Combs, Henry was nowhere to be found in the quarters we had set aside for him. Thinking that he had been way-laid by some male delegation seeking to talk politics with him, we got a little frantic when we couldn't find him.

The Inn was so crowded with women we first thought it was a lost cause to look for him, but we tried. And we found him! You know where? Right in the midst of a group of ladies, shaking hands, exchanging greetings, asking about kith and kin in his native First District area, and smiling as though it was election night and he was told he had been elected by a landslide, which he probably will be.

I couldn't help but be amused at the sight of this "new Henry Ward." There was a fellow, with whom thousands of Kentuckians are in agreement, who is known as a "tough guy." He is a straight talker, a yes and no man, a fellow who doesn't mince words with monkey shines.

But as I see it, campaigning for the office of governor has "grabbed" him, as the teen-agers say. He can tell a good, humorous story. He can take some hard core and good-natured ribbing. He keeps a warm smile on his face when he thrusts his hand out for a hand-shake while seeking support for his candidacy.

This is not to mean that "ole hammering Hank Ward," has gone soft on us. Far be it. If he sees sloppy copy in a news release; if his travel plans get fouled up; if he's late for an appointment where people are expecting him at a certain hour, he can still make it known in no uncertain terms that it shouldn't happen again. The exacting life as a newspaperman, legislator, and government administrator has saturated his soul with the desire for efficiency. But the huge crowds, the loyal workers, the expressions of support for him have brought about a heretofore unnoticed warmth in him that makes him look "plum purty," on occasions.

Leastways that's the way he looked to all of us at that luncheon.

If Henry Ward can get the ladies running over each other to shake hands with him, this guy's got it, but made. And that ain't bad at all!

Of course the luncheon was for his wife Gladys too. She looked her usual handsome, well groomed self, friendly and out-going. Seeing her perform was no surprise... but that Henry, he's somepin' again!

Long Struggle For Low Cost TVA Power Ends; Public Invited To Observe Event

At midnight Sunday the Fulton Electric system will begin service from TVA, and system subscribers will begin soon enjoying a much-lower rate than they have ever enjoyed heretofore.

The occasion will be sparked by a community observance in Fulton Monday evening at 8 p. m. when present and former members of the Fulton Electric Plant Board, city officials and specially-invited guests will gather at the Band Stand on Lake Street to memorialize the occasion. The public is invited to attend the event, and it is hoped a large gathering will be on hand.

The change-over to TVA service for Fulton concludes a long and often-frustrating campaign for low-cost electricity that began in 1948, was scuttled by an unfriendly council in 1948, began again in 1959 and was brought to a successful conclusion with the purchase of the Kentucky Utilities properties here four years ago.

In 1948 an Electric Plant Board was named by then-mayor Tom Boaz to begin negotiations with KU, but the Board was not acceptable to the Council and no action resulted.

In 1959 Mayor Nelson Tripp again took up the campaign, naming a 5-man Board to "look into" the matter of acquiring KU properties and operating them in the name of the Fulton Electric System. The first Board consisted of Clyde Williams, Jr., Rodney Miller, Paul Westpheling, Bill Adams and Ward Johnson. Williams was elected President, Westpheling Secretary and Johnson, a member of the City Council, as city representative.

The Board was immediately confronted with a major crisis when pending Congressional legislation threatened to exclude Fulton from TVA-served areas. Board members appeared before the Senate Public Works Committee in Washington, and were successful in their arguments to have Fulton included within the TVA area, in the spring of 1959.

Then began a long round of negotiations with KU resulting in the purchase of KU properties here in 1962, withdrawal of KU and the beginning of actual operation of the present electric system by the local system under the direction of the Board. By agreement with KU, and at a great reduction in the purchase price of the system, electricity was continued to be supplied by KU for a four-year period from the date of the purchase. Rates were generally the same as under KU ownership.

The 4-year period of KU-supplied electricity ends Sunday night, and with the change-over to TVA electricity will automatically come a rate reduction to conform to the scale that TVA establishes for areas it serves.

Since the beginning of its actual operations here, the Fulton Electric system has been busily engaged in rebuilding its entire system, rewiring its lines, replacing outmoded equipment and preparing itself for the increased "line load" that is almost sure to follow the forthcoming rate reduction.

Senator, Mrs Cooper Seek Help For Banana Festival

UNITED STATES SENATE
Washington, D. C.

April 1, 1967

Mrs. Paul Westpheling
Fulton, Kentucky

Dear Jo:

Because I know that you and all of your associates in the Banana Festival have maintained a keen interest in our friendship with Latin America, I wanted to send you a copy of remarks which I was honored to make at the Pan American Union this week.

The occasion was a gathering to dedicate a bust of Henry Clay, and it was my privilege to represent the Congress and to join with the Secretary General of the Organization of American States in speaking of the work of Henry Clay.

While I am writing, I also want to tell you that we are again at work on possibilities for assistance for this year's Festival, and I know that Lorraine has already had several meetings herself with newly appointed high officials.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,
John Sherman Cooper

I am honored to speak today on the occasion of the unveiling of a bust of Henry Clay, who was a citizen of my State — Kentucky — a member and Speaker of the House of Representatives, a Member of the Senate, a Chairman of its Committee on Foreign Relations, and a Secretary of State. Federal Court Ruling Favors Negro Teacher

Federal Judge Henry Brooks Monday ordered the Fulton County School Board to reinstate Mrs. Dorothy Dumas Vick as a teacher at the end of this school year.

He also ordered the board to give her one year's back pay.

Brooks agreed with Mrs. Vick's contention that she was fired as a result of racial prejudice. She charged in her Federal Court suit that the board had violated her civil rights.

"It is evident her firing coincided with the closing of Milton Elementary School, which had been an all-Negro school," Judge Brooks said.

"With presentation of all the evidence," he added, "it is clear Mrs. Vick would have been re-employed if it had not been for the closing of the Negro school."

"Segregation was a way of life in Fulton as well as in other parts of Kentucky and it is evident that the school board was concerned with the reaction of parents to Negro teachers working in what had been all-white schools," the judge said.

A request by Mrs. Vick for a restraining order to force the school board to reinstate her was denied by Brooks last February on the grounds that he would hear the case on its own merits.

The school board said Mrs. Vick had been dismissed because she was unqualified, indifferent, uncooperative and controversial.

Her husband is an NAACP official in Fulton. Prior to her dismissal, she had complained of racial discrimination in a letter to the Justice Department. The case was investigated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

pinnacle, the presidency, but his thought and action influenced every issue of his time—issues which shook, yet molded, the young Republic. Henry Clay fostered a program for the internal development of the United States which he called the American system. He was a nationalist. His consuming concern was that the Federal Union, and the system of freedom which had been established in this country would be preserved.

He was the hero of the people. He considered himself primarily as an agent and defender of the people, but he appealed always to their reason. Perhaps it was his identification with the people and his passionate concern for freedom, which caused him to look beyond this Republic and view with understanding the struggles of the peoples of Latin America for independence and freedom, and it is for this that we honor him today.

Addressing the Congress in March of 1818, he spoke with deep feeling: "In the establishment of the independence of Spanish America, the United States have the deepest interest." He said, "We behold there the most sublime and interesting objects of creation; the loftiest mountains, the most majestic rivers in the world, the richest mines of the precious metals; and the choicest productions of the earth. We behold there a spectacle still more interesting and sublime—the glorious spectacle of eighteen millions of people, struggling to burst their chains and be free."

Henry Clay's early advocacy of the independence of Latin America, his support in the Congress of missions to report on the fight for independence, his resolutions calling for the prompt recognition of the new Latin American Republics, his insistence as Secretary of State that the United States be represented at the first Pan American Congress convoked at the Isthmus at the call of Simon Bolivar, were evidences of his vision that the United States and the countries of Latin America were linked together in the common cause of freedom.

Beyond the independence of our countries, Clay foresaw a great inter-American system, based on democratic values, hemispheric solidarity, and the equality of states. But with a true appreciation of freedom, and the equality of states, he said correctly and with sensitivity: "Anxious as I am that they should be free governments, we have no right to prescribe for them. They are, and ought to be, the sole judges for themselves. But I am strongly inclined to believe that... they will establish their independence, and secure the enjoyment of those rights and blessings which rightfully belong to them."

Today, our inter-American system is in its 77th year. It is a system of which Clay, Bolivar and the liberators would be proud. I cannot help but feel that this system, its institutions, the Organization of American States, and lately the Alliance for Progress, reflect in large measure the vision of these early American statesmen.

Our years are reminiscent of the early years of the last century. New challenges face our hemisphere today, and enormous tasks remain for the people of the Americas to accomplish. The struggle for independence and freedom is never-ending. We are concerned with providing greater political, economic and social opportunities for our rapidly expanding populations. In our lands, we face a young generation with rising expectations. We have the duty to answer them imaginatively, effectively, and within the framework of democracy and our common efforts.

As members of this Council prepare for the meeting of Presidents in Punta del Este, as those in legislative bodies and the citizens of our countries give thought to the problems of today and tomorrow—of the inter-dependence of our countries, of our mutual goals, it is fitting that here in the House of Americas, we remember and hold dear Henry Clay's vision of American association and solidarity of purpose, which must continue to animate our relations and our peoples.

Many Small Businesses Are Vital Force In Economic Development Of Kentucky

Is the development of small businesses neglected in the state's efforts to attract big industry? Is the small business man being neglected in Kentucky? A recent study at the University of Kentucky indicates that they are not.

The answers—in part—are to be found in a new study to be released this month by the UK Bureau of Business Research. Its title is "Small Business Enterprise in Kentucky: A Sampling of Current Problems and Assistance Attitudes."

UK Researchers Herman A. Ellis and Robert O. Brown have come up with a set of statistics demonstrating that small business is still "BIG" in the Commonwealth, where 97 per cent of all businesses qualify as small (having fewer than 50 employees).

"Small business in Kentucky has been and will continue to be of significant economic, social, and political importance in the life and well being of the state's citizens," say the two researchers.

Sub-topics include: Significance of Small Business; Survey of Business Units in Selected East Kentucky Communities; The Needs of Business People, and Appraisal of Assistance Now Available.

Included also are eight case studies of typical businesses: a sign manufacturer, two auto supply houses, a manufacturer of apparel, a furniture and hardware store, a one-man paint and wallpaper store, a retailer of office supplies and service, and a small auto dealership. Their experiences and problems are analyzed from the standpoint of the small business man.

The inquiry by Ellis and Brown, one of the first such studies to be made in Kentucky, was undertaken with financial support from the University of Kentucky Research Foundation. The authors said they are "hopeful it will stimulate interest in the problems of small business leadership in Kentucky, and lead to the formation of educational and service programs of lasting benefit to small business management throughout the state."

POET'S CORNER

A PARENT'S PRAYER

Oh, God, make me a better parent.

Help me to understand my children, to listen patiently to what they have to say and to answer all their questions kindly. Keep me from interrupting them, talking back to them and contradicting them. Make me as courteous to them as I would have them be to me. Give me the courage to confess my sins against my children and to ask of them forgiveness, when I know that I have done them wrong.

May I not vainly hurt the feelings of my children. Forbid that I should laugh at their mistakes or resort to shame and ridicule as punishment. Let me not tempt a child to lie and steal. So guide me hour by hour that I may demonstrate by all I say and do that honesty produces happiness.

Reduce, I pray, the meanness in me. May I cease to nag; and when I am out of sorts, help me, Oh Lord, to hold my tongue.

Blind me to the little errors of my children and help me to see the good things that they do. Give me a ready word for honest praise.

Help me to treat my children as those of their own age, but let me not exact of them the judgments and conventions of adults. Allow me not to rob them of the opportunity to wait upon themselves, to think, to choose, and to make decisions.

Forbid that I should ever punish them for my self-satisfaction. May I grant them all of their wishes that are reasonable and have the courage always to withhold a privilege which I know will do them harm.

Make me so fair and just, so considerate and companionable to my children that they will have a genuine esteem for me. Fit me to be loved and imitated by my children.

With all thy gifts, Oh God, do give me calm and poise and self control.

FULTON'S

Library Corner

By Brenda Rowlett

This week we received a shipment of new books from the Department of Libraries in Frankfurt. Come by the library and examine and check out several of these lovely new books to enjoy reading. Remember, READING IS WHAT'S HAPPENING.

I'M A LUCKY ONE by S-Sgt. Barry Sadler. When he was told at Clark Field Hospital in Manila, "Sergeant Sadler, you're going home—you're a lucky one," Barry Sadler had to write a song about it. He had written many songs about war and Army life, among them "The Ballad of the Green Berets." Soon they were to make him famous. Now he was another wounded GI on his way back home from Vietnam. I'M A LUCKY ONE is his story of what it's like to fight with the Special Forces in Vietnam, what his life was like in the years before he wore the Green Beret, and what's happened to him in the months since his return to the States. Barry Sadler has packed a lot of living into his twenty-six years. At times his story takes on a kind of antic, kaleidoscopic quality as one adventure overlaps another—each the unique experience of a high-spirited, curious-minded, ready-for-anything young man. He hears reveille for the first time at Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio, took his training in radar, shipped off to Japan, spent his eighteenth birthday in Tokyo. There he met a Japanese girl, got a tattoo, and made friends with Aikawa Kaichi, who treated him like a son, taught him judo and karate, and helped him win his black belt. In June, 1962, he finished his tour with the Air Force, went back to civilian life, played and sang with a three-piece combo, kicked around for a few months, and reenlisted, this time in the Army, volunteered for duty in an airborne unit as a paratrooper. From there he went into the Special Forces, the Army's elite Green Berets, who are assigned the mission of counter-insurgency, working directly with the Vietnamese, training them in guerrilla warfare, and starting civic-action programs to improve their standard of living. While training as a combat medic at Brooks Army Hospital, Fort Sam Houston, he met his future wife, Lavona, and married her after a five-week courtship. Months later he was in Vietnam fighting a war. Not long after, while leading a patrol of native Montagnard tribesmen out of a camp southeast of Pleiku, he bumped ed into a Viet Cong punji—a razor-sharp bamboo stick dipped in excrement—and developed a massive infection in his leg. His Green Beret days were over. Throughout his experiences, he had written and sung his songs—songs about war, his comrades, the Green Berets—to anyone who would listen. His buddies encouraged him. He started singing for Army functions. Some tape recordings were sent to a New York publisher. Soon "The Ballad of the Green Berets" was outselling everything else in the music field, winning him the first of two gold records. Barry Sadler is a lucky one. He made it back. There were many who didn't. For these men he has written most of his songs. To these men he has dedicated this book.

DIRTY POOL by George Bagby. The girl was little. She was pretty. She drew every man's eye, but what was the good of it when the knife was at her throat and no man anywhere she could trust? Certainly a girl in a fix like that should be

A meeting of Fulton County dairymen was held at the Cayce High School April 30 to discuss the organization of an insemination association at Clinton to serve Fulton County farmers.

Two cars collided Friday night, April 25, on Highway 45 near the Beelerton road intersection. Fred Counce of Wingo was driving one car and V. J. Farmer of Fulton drove the other. Both sustained minor injuries.

Dedication services for the pews and fixtures in the First Christian Church here were held Sunday morning under the auspices of the Sara Dean class. The building was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The sermon was delivered by the pastor, Rev. E. M. Oakes.

A severe wind storm struck Fulton and vicinity early Thursday morning, May 1, bringing with it considerable damage to business and residential property, damage being estimated to run into thousands of dollars. Baldrige's 5-10c Store building on Lake Street suffered the greatest damage of any property in Fulton. The walls of this 3-story building caved in and the roof was wrecked. Most of the rear wall fell and a portion of the east wall and south wall. Several large cracks were made in the remaining walls. Most of the building will have to be rebuilt from the ground up, it is believed. There was also damage to the Dotty Shop, Graham Furniture Company and Fulton Electric and Furniture Company, and Fulton was without electric power service for a while because of damage to power lines.

Winners in the first annual kite contest staged here last Sunday were: Bobby Boaz and his father, Paul Boaz, first place in the speed and altitude contest; Milton Owen Exum and his father, Milton Exum, second; Bennie Frank Jones and G. M. Jones, third; Vernon McCree and J. L. McCree, fourth. Gaylon Varden won the first prize for having the best all-around kite; Frankie Cardwell took second and Delbert Wood third place.

Two cars, driven by Alvin S. Hicks, Fulton Route 1, and Ernest Crittenden, Martin, Route 2, collided on Fairview Avenue near the cemetery Saturday night. Both cars were damaged, but occupants escaped without injury.

Jimmie James was named valedictorian of Fulton High School and Billy Murphy designated as salutatorian. Other students making high records were: Jack Browder, Elizabeth Ann Roper, Danny Baird, Edith E. Lancaster, Patricia Sublett, Betty Robertson, Lou Emma Cheniae, Hunter Whitesell, Marilyn Lynch, and Bobby Grisham.

Hello World: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Snow announce the birth of a daughter, Linda Carol, Tuesday, April 29, at Haws Memorial Hospital.

Those present were: Harry and Nicky Batts, Larry Dell Henderson, Phillip Brown, Nicky McClanahan, Charles Edward and Margaret Batts, Barbara Turner, Leon Shelton, Barbara Williams, Joyce and Rita Carol Hardison and the hostess.

FULTON, ROUTE THREE: We don't know what Richard Lowry is up to. He drives the tractor all day and half the night. Big crop, we suppose.

AUSTIN SPRINGS: The new home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bynum is very near completion, work is progressing nicely.

Work is nearing completion on the farm homes being wired by Delmas Copeland, electrician. Many are now awaiting current.

Letters To Editor

C. M. BROWDER
Duncan, Oklahoma

Dear Westphelings.

Just finished reading Jo's notes, the hospital patients and the death account, and while I hate to bore you busy folks, with my notes and gibes, I cannot keep from congratulating you on the fine comments you made relative to the death of another of my dear old friends, Tom Franklin. The first thing I saw when I opened my paper, was his picture, and before I read the head line, I thought I must write him a line, because I missed seeing him the last time back there, then I realized that I had waited too long.

I remember well when his first store was opened in the Meadows block, and it seems to me that W. W. Meadows was the head of the business, and Franklin next, also that another of my old-time friends, Charles Binford, was head of the men's department. I will never forget a suit of clothes I bought from Charles, as it had the fanciest three cornered vest that either, you or I, ever saw, so with that suit and my hair parted in the middle, I was some sport.

I believe about all the old time friends I have left there now, are N. G. Cooke and Gus Bard, and I have not seen Gus in years, but I never fail to see N. G., as, perhaps you have learned, it is a good idea to stay on the right side of bankers.

My wife and I have just returned from the big Scott & White Clinic and Hospital at Temple, Texas, and both got fine reports, and are feeling "pretty pert" for ancient folks. In fact they said if I could cut 30 years off my age, and she could double her eyesight, we would be just about perfect once more.

I do have one thing in mind that would be about the best thing that Carroll Hubbard, Jr.

TO THE CITIZENS OF --- FULTON, HICKMAN, CARLISLE GRAVES AND MARSHALL COUNTIES:

Let's elect Carroll Hubbard Jr. our next State Senator. We sincerely believe that the citizens of the First Senatorial District of Kentucky are ready for a change.

The man who has represented us in the State Senate for the past eight years has not yet named one accomplishment for our area nor one bill which he has introduced to help West Kentucky.

It is time for a change!

It is time for a new voice in Frankfort to represent our District.

As the State Senators from Murray and Paducah continue to obtain for their areas better county roads, new industries, more jobs and other improvements let us elect for our area an effective, qualified State Senator to work for us.

We ask the thousands in this District who realize the serious need for a change to work hard to elect Carroll Hubbard, Jr., a young Mayfield attorney and former American Government instructor at Murray State University, as our next State Senator.

Hubbard is by birth and choice a West Kentuckian and is independent of any factional ties. His being an independent is one reason he was chosen on four different occasions as State Youth Chairman for the Democratic Party.

Today is April 27, 1967. Election day is May 23, 1967. During this one month left—let's work for a change.

A victory for Hubbard for State Senator May 23 could end forever in West Kentucky political campaigns based on mud-slinging, name-calling, innuendoes and incorrect advertising.

Individual contributions for this effort may be mailed to Pete Gunn III, 520 West 12th Street, Benton, Kentucky.

Sincerely,

Committee For Carroll Hubbard Jr.

As Our Next State Senator

KENTUCKY BURGEOO

Tradition holds that a French member of John Hunt Morgan's forces originated Kentucky Burgoo at a time when food was low and the soldiers had to eat blackbirds. Visit Local Stores First

AUSTIN SPRINGS By Mrs. Carey Fields

Mrs. Inez Vincent returned to her home near Pilot Oak the past Monday, after several days visit with her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Grover True, near here. She had a delightful visit while there.

Jerry, small son of Mr. and Mrs. James King, returned home from Humboldt last week, where he was under treatment for an eye injury, sustained while playing mumble-peg several days ago. His eyesight is impaired and all friends here are indeed sorry to hear of his accident.

Bro. Raymond Cherry filled the pulpit at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday while Rev. Russell Rogers attended the funeral of a relative. We extend sympathy to the pastor's family in this, their hour of bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Murray and Mr. and Mrs. Arnie Cashion of Waverly, Tenn., were in our midst the past Sunday and were dinner guests of W. J. Reed, District No. 17. 'Tis their first visit down in the area since Mr. Murray underwent major surgery a few months ago. He has made splendid progress toward recovery, which all are glad to know.

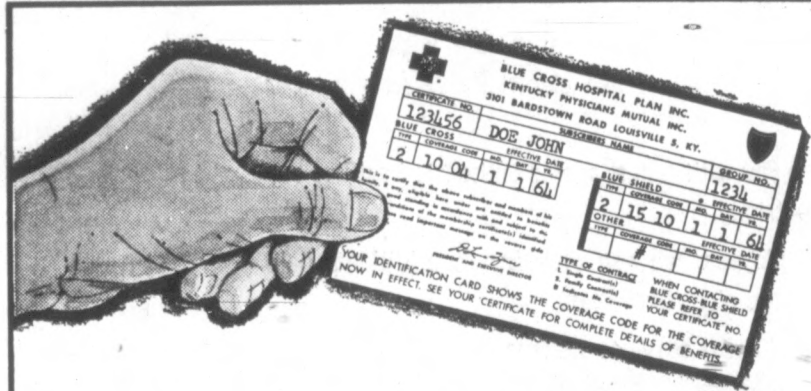

We extend profound sympathy to the family of Jerry McClain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud McClain, whose sudden death occurred this past week after a short illness. The McClain family are residents of District No. 1 and are well-known over this section. Funeral services were held at Union Church of Christ, with Bro. Garvin Brundage officiating, and burial was in Dresden Sunset Cemetery.

Mrs. Raymond Cherry returned home from Hillview Hospital Friday, after several days treatment of some complication that arose and required medication. We hope she will keep on the upward trend and soon be able to be getting out again.

All victims of the McClure-Grisson auto accident are now responding to treatment in Campbell's Clinic in Memphis, after being there a week. This was the accident which occurred on State Line Road and claimed the life of Brenda Cruce, a passenger in the Grissom car.

FULTON ELECTRIC SYSTEM

Pictured on the right are the men who will guide your new Fulton Electric System on this historic course. Policies for the Fulton ES are set by a 5-man board. Their standing policy will be to provide you good electric service at the lowest rates possible. The Fulton Electric System is chartered as a non-profit organization. All policy matters are decided with you - the customer - in mind. Wesley Thompson, Jr., handles day-to-day supervision and execution of board policy.

New, lower TVA rates will mean savings to homes, businesses, Schools industries and churches...

The new TVA rates will mean savings to each of the 7,682 customers of the Fulton Electric System. Next week we will begin the process of changing over to the TVA's present basic rates. The new residential rates will be as follows:

First	50 kilowatt-hours - three cents each
Next	150 kilowatt-hours - two cents each
Next	200 kilowatt-hour - one cent each
Next	1,000 kilowatt-hours - four-tenths of a cent each
And all additional electricity - three-fourths of a cents per kwh

In addition there will be an amortization charge of one cent for each of the first 100 kilowatt-hours used in the home each month. The minimum monthly amortization charge is $.25 and the maximum will be $1.00 a month.

The amortization charge, Reams explained, is necessary to repay the investment for Kentucky Utilities distribution facilities.

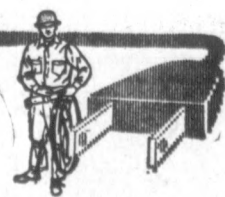

To meet acquisition expenses, commercial and industrial customers will pay a flat 10 percent surcharge with their bills.

In a few months all rates will change to a new TVA rate schedule which should be established by July 1. The July rates will be slightly higher than the rates described above, but considerably under present KU rates.

The overall savings over the next 12 months should total more than $120,000.

Lower rates . . . better living — greater savings

CHEMICAL WEED CONTROL ON THE INCREASE

From all indications we will have a tremendous increase in the use of chemical herbicides to control grass and weeds in Obion County this year on corn, cotton, and soybeans. The big increase will be in the use of preemergence herbicides since a large percentage of corn has had 2,4-D applied as a postemergence spray in past years.

Last week with corn planting moving into full speed we observed Obion County farmers either buying, installing on tractor, or reworking preemergence outfits. The preemergence chemical herbicides that we recommend on corn this year include: Atrazine, Simazine, Atrazine mixed with lora, Ramrod, Diuron, 2,4-D and EPTC.

The recommended preemergence chemicals for Cotton include: Cotoran, CIPC, DCPA, Karmex, Monuron, Noreo, Prometryne, Treflan, and a very promising material known as Planavin.

The Soybean preemergence chemicals include: Amiben, DCPA, DNB, Lorox, NPA plus CIPC, Treflan, and two promising materials: Planavin and DNB plus NPA.

SOYBEANS

According to the latest research information - the flowering of soybeans is affected by night length. Therefore, to prevent flowering too early, soybeans should not be planted until day length is at least 14 1/2 hours. Day length usually reaches 14 1/2 hours about April 28. Recommended planting dates are May 1 to June 15. Research reveals the optimum planting dates are May 1 to May 15.

To spread harvesting date, it is better to plant soybean varieties of different maturity dates than to have several planting dates of a variety. Thirty days difference in planting date of Lee Variety will usually delay maturity only 3 to 8 days.

How To Store Winter Clothes

Don't forget about your winter clothes when warm weather arrives, warns Mrs. Anna C. Thompson, Area Extension Specialist in Clothing and Textiles. Store them carefully so they will be in good condition next fall.

Store only clean garments. Spots and stains will be harder to remove if they stay on the garments all summer—and moth damage is more likely on soiled clothes, too. Wash and dry thoroughly all washable garments—don't use starch. Send other soiled garments to the dry cleaner, and call his attention to spots and stains and to any care instructions given on the garments' hang tags.

Make sure that all the garments are free of moths. Dry cleaning or washing will kill moths in all stages of growth. Brushing and sunning garments also rid them of moths, as well as moth eggs and larvae (the larvae do the damage to clothes). Brush thoroughly, especially in seams, folds and pockets.

For added protection against moths, you may want to spray the clean garments with DDT, methoxychlor, chlordane, Strobane, or Perthane before storage—be sure to follow directions and observe the cautions given on the container label. Or you may prefer to use "moth balls"—paradichlorobenzene crystals or naphthalene flakes or crystals. Usually, directions on the container suggest the amount to use.

Remove plastic buttons, buckles and other plastic ornaments before storing garments and avoid using plastic hangers. The plastic may cause a strain or melt into the fabric, especially if the garments are stored in a warm, dry place such as an attic or if "moth balls" are put in with the clothes.

If space is available, store hangable garments in garment bags on rustproof hangers. Put sweaters and other knitted garments in bags or boxes.

Tightly-wrapped paper packages, air-tight boxes or chests, or garment bags are the best storage places. Cedar chests are old favorites for winter clothing storage, but all garments must be moth-free before they are put into a cedar chest. Cedar oil vapor does kill small moth larvae but not older, larger ones. Also, as a cedar chest gets older, there is less cedar oil vapor. Therefore, a cedar chest that is several years old may give no more protection than any other air-tight container.

Be sure to clean storage areas before storing clean clothes. Cracks and crevices may contain lint and could be "hiding places" for moths. You may want to use one of the household "anti-moth" sprays in storage areas. Felt and yarn hats should be brushed thoroughly and the headbands should be cleaned with spot remover. Be sure to follow the manufacturer's directions on the remover's label and use it in a well-ventilated room. Stuff the crowns of the hats with tissue paper and place them—uncrowded—in boxes. You may want to add one of the moth preventatives to the boxes.

Clean and polish leather shoes and bags, using a leather cleaner or saddle soap. Protect them from dust by wrapping or placing them in boxes. Leather is subject to mildew, so check leather items periodically during storage and provide plenty of air circulation if the storage area is damp. Rubber or plastic boots should be cleaned inside and outside, dried thoroughly, and placed in boxes in a cool place.

able to turn to the police, even if every man on the force was trying to keep the city going in the face of the subway and bus strike. But what if it was the most trustworthy-seeming policeman who pushed her into this danger and if even the Chief of Homicide, Inspector Schmidt, was moving heaven and earth to put her right back into the hands of the killers? You might know that Schmitt and George Bagby were misunderstood, but how could she? It was her throat. Scene: New York City.

TODAY'S TEEN-AGERS by Evelyn Duvall. Dr. Duvall writes for today's parents who are all too often bewildered, even cowed, by their teen-agers . . . for teachers not sure of what to do with, or for, their adolescent students . . . for college authorities at a loss when trying to handle moral issues . . . and for leaders of agency youth programs dwindling because too few worthy adults feel capable of coping with this age group. She goes straight to the issues that concern members of both generations, and deals with them forthrightly. The discussion reflects the best that modern human development theory, research and practical experience provide.

could happen to dear old Fulton, but it would cost money, and perhaps be impossible. My son and family drive down at Denton, Texas, which has two or three pretty good size creeks running through the city, which they have concreted from the top of banks on both sides, as well as the bottom, with something like six inches of solid concrete, thereby preventing any grass or weeds from growing in the bed and preventing the banks from washing, as well as keeping the water moving nicely, and washing trash and refuse away. This certainly would improve the looks of old Harris Fork, as well as sanitary and health conditions. Just an expensive after-thought of mine, for what it is worth.

Sincerely,
Browder

The Parson Speaks

CHRISTIAN JOURNEY THROUGH HISTORY
(Part VIII)

By the fifth century of Christian history, we find the wish of Christ becoming a reality. He had told that the church is like a grain of mustard seed that must be planted so that it can spread its roots and grow tall for the birds of the air to come and made their homes in its branches. Among the barbaric tribes which settled upon the ruins of the Roman Empire, the Church began to send out its roots. With the command of Christ to preach to all nations and with the love of souls in their hearts, the Christian missionaries began to plant the Gospel in barbaric souls.

Under the missionary zeal of St. Patrick, almost the whole of Ireland accepted Christianity. When kidnapped by pirates and brought as a slave to Ireland, Patrick promised that some day he would return to the land of his captivity and bring with him the good news of salvation. After his escape, he did return as a priest and won Ireland to the Faith. Patrick was consecrated the first bishop of Ireland in 432.

Without so much romantic circumstances as Ireland, but with nonetheless equal zeal was Scotland won for Christ. St. Columba after studying in the renowned monastery of Clonard went to Scotland, where he established one of the most famous monasteries in history, that of Iona. By the time of St. Columba's death northern Scotland had joined the ranks of the Church.

One of the most honored names associated with the missionary zeal of the first thousand years of Christianity is that of St. Gregory the Great. At a time when the world was confused and disunited, when the barbaric tribes wandered about their newly conquered continent like lost children, Gregory became the leader of the Church as Pope, the 63rd successor of St. Peter. No other individual deserves as much credit as does Gregory for bringing order out of chaos and civilization out of the ruins of the Greek and Roman culture. He was forced by circumstances to become a temporal as well as a spiritual leader to the confused tribes. With the Lombards, who were a constant threat to the weaker nations, Gregory had to negotiate for peace. As a spiritual father of all, he made laws about the just treatment of slaves; he even had to raise troops for the protection of Italy against further invasion.

One great desire of Gregory was to become a missionary to the Island of Britain. But, because he was the Holy Father of the whole Church, he could not fulfill his dream. However, from the monastery of which he had been a member, he chose 40 monks with St. Augustine at their head to go to the Island of Angeles, as he called them.

The King of Kent gave Augustine and his followers a warm welcome and full liberty to preach the Gospel. In the year 601, Pope sent another band of monks to England at the request of Augustine. It was not long before bishops were appointed for London, Rochester, and Augustine himself Archbishop of Canterbury.

The story does not end there; it is but the beginning of a love story, a story of men in love with God and on fire with the zeal for souls. The great monasteries were the places where the teachings of Christ burned in pure hearts sending them out to the corners of the world to " . . . teach all nations." Father Glahn

Introducing Our Churches - God's Agency For Spreading His Love

CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

FULTON, KENTUCKY

Rev. W. W. Kitterman

The Fulton Cumberland Presbyterian Church was organized on June 20th, 1887 by the Rev. G. H. Sheldrake, with eighteen members. The Church which was organized on the Tennessee side was received into Obion Presbytery, of which it is still a part at the present time.

In 1889 a Church building was purchased from the Methodist church located on the State line (Tennessee side), where worship services were conducted until 1901, when the congregation moved into a new building constructed on Commercial.

The present building, located on Second and Eddings, was built in 1948 with the educational building being added in 1953. A new manse was constructed last year in Deepwood sub-division.

In the early history of the Church there was a society organized to promote foreign mission work. This work has continued throughout the years, and at the present time the Cumberland Presbyterian Women are very active in the program of missions.

In our Church School, Crusader, and Cumberland Presbyterian Youth Fellowship meetings our adults, youth and children have the opportunity to study to learn the will of God for their lives. A knowledge of God's will for life is necessary in order to live a life pleasing to Him.

The present pastor, Rev. W. W. Kitterman and his wife, have been in Fulton a little more than a year, coming from the Modern Manor Church in Lubbock, Texas, where they had served for over two years. A cordial welcome is extended to all within the community to work and worship with us.

Carlisle County Newspaper Endorses Senate Candidacy Of Carroll Hubbard

Bardwell, Ky. — The Carlisle County News today endorsed the candidacy of Mayfield attorney Carroll Hubbard Jr., for First District State Senator.

The weekly newspaper, published in Bardwell, is edited by Ralph E. Graves.

The editorial endorsement of Hubbard said in part: "Voters in Kentucky's First Senatorial District who have decided it is time for a change this year have the opportunity to name one of the area's outstanding young men to the post. We refer to Senate candidate Carroll Hubbard Jr."

"From the very beginning of our association with him, we were impressed by his evident desire to help upgrade our way of life through legitimate governmental activities."

"Hubbard knows, as many others do, that Carlisle County and its neighbors can only make progress if we attempt to help ourselves and then select the leadership and elected representation capable of carrying out our desires.

"The day of elected officials filling office only for their personal likes and dislikes is fast disappearing. We need and deserve a man like Carroll Hubbard, who will hear our need, look for a solution, then go to work to initiate proper action."

"If you are not now a supporter of Carroll Hubbard's candidacy for the State Senate, may we suggest that you take a close look at his campaign presentation."

Local Attorneys, State Police To Observe Law Day

The hoped for result of this initial program is an idea and suggestion exchange that will come about as representatives of the Bar and Law Enforcement Agencies exchange thoughts.

Local police organizations have been asked to join in this program by opening their stations to interested citizens.

All Kentucky State Police Posts are observing this day by holding open house with an invitation to all interested persons wishing to attend.

TO THE CITIZENS OF --- THE FIRST SENATORIAL DISTRICT:

Elton "Buck" Ramage

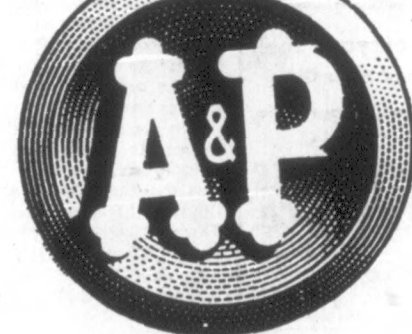

IF ELECTED YOUR SENATOR, I PROPOSE THE FOLLOWING:

1. I believe that a rural road program for Kentuckians should take preference over a toll road system for tourists, and I will work toward that end.
2. I believe that a formula can be worked out to more fairly compensate property owners whose land is being condemned for public purposes, and I will request the Legislative Research Commission to investigate the matter and report their findings to the Legislature.
3. I will oppose any measure which will increase the tax burden already being borne by the taxpayers of Kentucky.
4. I will be available at any and all times, day or night, to discuss with you your problems and desires.
5. I will at all times work for the best interests of all the people of this District, regardless of race, color, or creed and I will conduct myself personally in such a manner as to never embarrass the people I represent who are to be my neighbors for the remainder of my life.

I hope to see and talk with as many of you as possible before the election; however, I know I will not be able to talk with everyone and I would like you to consider this a personal appeal from me for your vote and influence in the May 23rd Primary.

Breathitt Pledges Higher Nurse Pay

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt told Western Kentucky public health nurses Friday that he will recommend substantial pay increases for them in the next state budget.

"That's not a promise. That's a reality," he was quoted as saying.

Mrs. Mary Davis of Paducah, one of six public health nurses who met with the governor in Frankfort, said no specific figures were mentioned. But she said the minimum standards set up by the Kentucky Nurses Association, pegging the minimum salary at $6,500, was discussed. The nurses, 21 of them in nine Western Kentucky counties, are ending a week-long protest during which they haven't worked. They will report for work as usual Monday.

Mrs. Davis said Gov. Breathitt commended the nurses for the manner in which they have conducted their campaign.

Art Guild Will Sell Paintings

The Paducah Art Guild is featuring a sale of original paintings at the Art Guild Gallery in the Markethouse Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, April 28-30.

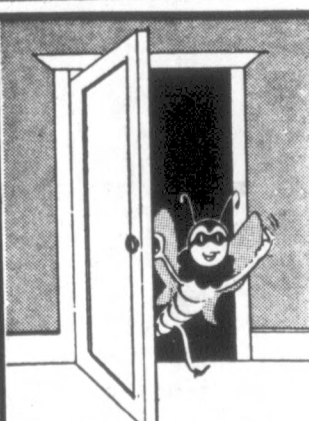

Members are donating the paintings for the sale as a means of raising funds to carry on the work of the gallery. The Paducah Art Guild Gallery is the only free, public art gallery, outside of Louisville, in Kentucky. It is operated on a year-round basis and maintained solely by dues of members and gifts of patrons.

Now in its 10th year, it has shown over 100 exhibits of the work of outstanding artists from all parts of the country. It serves a wide audience in West Kentucky, Southern Illinois, and Southeast Missouri.

A guild spokesman reported the paintings will be sold at "give-away prices which will give many people an opportunity to own an original painting at a small cost."

The sale will be held between noon and 9 p.m. on Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. next Sunday.

Education, coupled with an annual health checkup, can do more to save lives today from cancer than from any other disease. The American Cancer Society's 1967 Crusade theme is: "Guard Those You Love; Know Cancer's Warning Signals — Give to the American Cancer Society."

SOBER CHRISTIANS

"Let us, who are of the day, be sober..." (1 Thes. 5:8).

Many people entertain the erroneous idea that truly spiritual Christians must always be solemn and long-faced. In fact, they suppose that such Scripture passages as the above teach this.

Nothing could be farther from the truth, for the word "sober," in our English New Testament does not mean solemn, but completely under control. This is also true of the original Greek word from which the English word "sober" is translated.

Sobriety in Scripture, as in modern English, is the opposite of drunkenness. This is brought out in the rest of the passage cited above. Along with its context, this passage reads as follows:

"For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken be drunken in the night."

"But let us, who are of the day, be sober putting on the breastplate of faith and love, and for an helmet the hope of salvation."

"For God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ."

"Who died for us that... we should live together with Him" (1 Thes. 5:7-10).

Thus those who are "of the day," and know Christ as their Savior, should not "sleep" on the one hand, or "be drunken" on the other, but should be awake and alert, their faculties completely under control, so that they might witness the more effectively to the saving grace of Christ.

If ever there was a time when true Christians should "watch and be sober," it is now.

4 Sows with 48 Pigs

Sows were fed WAYNE Sow Blox from breeding to farrowing.

Mr. Dawes says "The pigs were all large and vigorous at birth." He likes the WAYNE SOW BLOX program because he can control weight on bred sows, and the Sow Blox are convenient to feed.

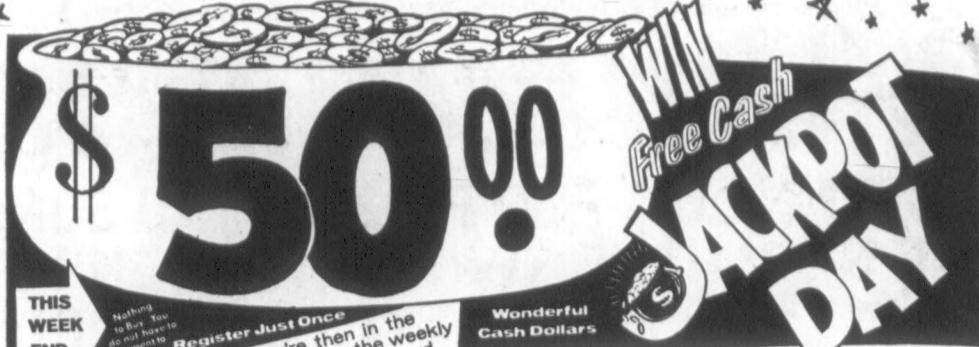

The pigs are now on TAIL CURLER ROCKETS; this will be followed by T. C. Pig Starter, and the pigs will be weighed at 8 weeks to determine the cost of production.

DESSERTS ARE MY DOWNFALL

Heard across the bridge table: "Oh dear, I wish hostesses wouldn't tempt me with candy and nuts..."
"You really don't have to eat them, darling..."
"I haven't noticed you refraining, dear!"
"Come on, girls, I bid a no trump!"
"Two spades. I can let the bridge mix alone. It's desserts that are my downfall!"
"Three no. And don't even talk to me about desserts."

Well, now, what's wrong with desserts? Properly planned as a part of the meal, not as an afterthought, they not only add a final fillip, but supply good and essential nutrients. They don't have to be what nutritionists call "empty calories." There is no need to be a dietetic killjoy about desserts.

Plan Accordingly
Why should we deny ourselves the pleasures of a fine cake, well frosted, or a tasty meringue with suitable trimmings, like maybe ice cream and fruit? These are excellent foods, providing the essential nutrients in a tempting form. They are not, however, suitable at the end of an elaborate meal featuring rich and high-calorie foods. When these desserts are planned, or others like them, the rest of the meal should be adjusted accordingly.

Try Ice Cream Or Ice Milk
There is no need to forego desserts like ice cream, if they are planned as part of the meal. Ice cream is a delicious form of milk which is particularly useful for those who may not wish to drink milk. Children, of course — of all ages — love ice cream. For those who wish more protein and carbohydrates and less fat, ice milk is excellent. For those who cannot take sugar, dietetic ice cream or ice milk are available, and taste almost as good.

A good hostess trick with desserts is to postpone them for an hour or so after the meal, serving them with coffee in the living room or on the patio.

A suitable dessert may make the difference between a good and interesting evening and a social dud, with everyone fighting sleep.

Ward Banner In Hickman County Is Torn Down

For the first time in many years a campaign headquarters for a gubernatorial candidate opposing Harry Lee Waterfield has been opened in Clinton, and "apparently the event is hard to take" a headquarters volunteer for Henry Ward told the News this week.

A huge street banner put up by the Ward For Governor supporters in down-town Clinton was torn down under the cover of darkness last week and obviously destroyed.

"Some people say it's in Cairo, others say it's in the Mississippi River," the headquarters aide said, "but in any event it shows the poorest sportsmanship we can imagine."

Ward is opposing Mr. Waterfield, a Clinton newspaper publisher in the Democratic primary in May.

A huge fund-raising dinner for Henry Ward is planned in Clinton for May 2.

Bennett-Roberts Vows Are Said At Tiptonville

In a simple but impressive ceremony, Miss Sheila Harolyn Bennett was married to William Carlton Roberts at 2 o'clock in the afternoon Sunday, March 19, at Tiptonville First Methodist Church.

The Rev. Pittman Marbury, pastor of the church officiated. Miss Bennett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bennett of Fulton, Ky. Mr. Roberts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Roberts of Tiptonville.

The vows were said before a background of tall stands of jade centered by a tall fan-shaped arrangement of white gladioli. Two wrought iron candelabra on either side held white tapers, the lights ascending from the center. Balls of emerald greenery were used at the bases of the candelabra, stands of greenery, and flower arrangement. The pews were marked by white bridal satin bows.

Mrs. Jerry Merritt, organist, and Mrs. Fred Robertson, vocalist, presented the program of nuptial music preceding the vows. Mrs. Merritt played "Melody of Love", "I Love Thee", "Liebestraum", "O Promise Me", and the traditional wedding processional and recessional marches. She accompanied Mrs. Robertson as she sang "Sweetest Story Ever Told", and "The Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a becoming three-piece pink brocade suit with matching pumps. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift of the groom. Her headpiece was a circle of pink flowers with a pink bow veil. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid, from which cascaded white satin streamers.

Her only attendant was Mrs. Charles Graham, matron of honor. She wore a lime green two-piece dress with a matching small green hat and matching pumps. Her crescent bouquet was of white carnations.

Mr. Roberts served as best man to his son. Groomsmen were Walter Philip Throgmorton of Wynnburg and Walter Tipton Roberts, brother of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Bennett chose to wear a two-piece costume of oyster white with matching walking coat. Her accessories were yellow, and her small yellow hat had a matching veil. On her shoulder was a white rose corsage tied with green ribbon.

Mrs. Roberts was attired in a beige two-piece linen dress, the hemline of the long overblouse edged in matching lace. She wore a green floral toque-shaped hat and matching beige accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

Parents of the couple gave a reception at the Roberts home following the wedding.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Robertson, and Mrs. Merritt.

The dining table was covered with a white linen cutwork cloth over pink, centered by a bowl of white carnations, with double silver candelabra on either side. The two tiers of the wedding cake were separated by swan colonnades, and topped with a miniature bride and groom under a pink arch. Pink flowers circled the cake, which was served with punch, nuts, and mints.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Nashville. They are at home at 525 Maple.

Mr. Roberts operates a hardware store with his father.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Frances Stephens, Mrs. Hazel Humphreys, both of Mayfield, Ky.; Sherri Bennett, sister of the bride, Mrs. Billy Joe McCoy, sister of the groom, Mrs. McCoy and Yolanda Carol, Mrs. Gus Paschal of Fulton; Mr. and Mrs. John Hornsby, Paducah; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Roberts, Fulton, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Sudbury, Mrs. Douglas T. Sudbury of Greenfield; Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Wyatt and family, Ridgely; Mrs. John Alexander, Ridgely; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Roberts, Hornsbeak; Mr. and Mrs. Bart Smythe, Knoxville; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Davis, Mrs. Ed Hogan, Troy; Mr. and Mrs. George Holman and David, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sturgis and Peggy of Union City.

Bridal Luncheon

Miss Sheila Bennett, bride-elect of Billy Roberts, was honored with a bridal luncheon at 1:00 o'clock Thursday, March 16, given by Mrs. R. R. Tipton, Jr., and Mrs. Gregory McCain at the McCain home.

Miss Bennett wore a beige silk shift with green accessories. Her gift corsage was of pink carnations with multi-colored ribbon.

Mrs. W. C. Roberts, mother of the groom-elect, was dressed in a two-piece light blue dress with black accessories, and a gift corsage of white carnations.

The hostesses presented the bride-elect with a goblet in her chosen crystal.

Guests were seated at quarter tables covered with white linen cloths and centered with hyacinths and daffodils in silver compotes. Wedding bell place cards were used.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM CARLTON ROBERTS

Bennett-Roberts Rehearsal Party Is Held At Peacocks

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Peacock entertained with a rehearsal party at their home Saturday evening for the Bennett-Roberts wedding party following the rehearsal at First Methodist Church, especially honoring Billy Roberts and his bride-elect, Miss Sheila Bennett.

Miss Bennett chose to wear a dress with black velvet sleeveless scoop-neck bodice, atop a white skirt. Her corsage was of gladiolus.

Mrs. Harold Bennett of Fulton, Ky., mother of the bride-elect, wore a pink model with three-quarter length sleeves, the fullness of the skirt accented with a flat bow. Mrs. W. C. Roberts, mother of the groom-elect, was dressed in a gray jersey suit with trotter-length coat.

Mrs. Peacock, the hostess wore a mauve wool skimmer with rolled collar.

The hosts presented the honored couple with a teaspoon in their chosen pattern.

Miss Bennett presented her matron of honor, Mrs. Charles Graham, and the vocalist, Mrs. Fred Robertson, and organist, Mrs. Jerry Merritt, with French purses. Mr. Roberts presented his father, who served as best man, with a pen. To his attendants he gave tie tacks.

Mr. Roberts presented his bride-to-be with pearl ear rings, and her gift to him was cuff links.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE by the

 Kentucky Department of Agriculture

The Kentucky Department of Agriculture is engaged in a project designed to aid in future pasture for honeybees. C. Harold Bray, director of the Department's Division of Markets, reports that the beekeeping section has distributed Vitex seed to interested beekeepers throughout the State.

The seed were produced at the Abbey of Gethsemani, located at Trappist. Bill Eaton, beekeeping specialist in the Division of Markets, said packages have been mailed to some 45 persons thus far. Seed were mailed to persons requesting them, whereas in previous years they were mailed to local beekeeping groups for distribution.

According to Eaton, Vitex, a flowering shrub, is highly desirable as a supplementary source of pasture for bees. He said it provides maximum results in a relatively short time. It takes about five years for the plants to reach full maturity and, once mature, prove rather hearty. In addition to being useful as a source of nectar for bees, the shrubs also provide food for other wildlife.

Eaton said Vitex is a late flowering shrub, providing a source of nectar when the supply of clover is about gone. Vitex honey has good quality and has a color similar to clover honey. The beekeeping section began distributing Vitex seed produced by the Abbey three years ago. The monks have had bees as a project for 35 years. They have experimented with Vitex plants for 15 years. In an effort to make the plant available to beekeepers throughout the State, they made a supply of seed available to interested persons.

Eaton said he still has a few packages on hand. Any beekeeper interested in growing the plants is asked to contact the beekeeping section of the Division of Markets in Frankfort.

Requests should not be sent to the Abbey as the monks no longer have a supply available for distribution.
