Blood Bank Seeks 150 To Sign Up Tomorrow

WANTED: 150 MSC "citizens" — staff members, faculty, and students — to sign up tomorrow as Red Cross blood donors.

Between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. tomorrow Gray Ladies will be in the lobby of the Student Union Building to make definite appointments for donors.

The goal of tomorrow's registration is 150 donors.

April 24 is the date of the Red Cross bloodmobile's visit to the campus.

"I don't believe we will have any difficulty in meeting the goal of 150 donors," said Danny Shelton, junior-class representative, who with SO President Jason Barr, represented the student body at the February meeting to plan the blood bank.

The April 24 blood station will be set up in the Carr Health Building gym.

Doctors will be on duty to check the medical record of each person before blood is given.

"There is no danger to a donor in giving a pint of blood," Mr. Henry Holton, blood-program chairman, stressed in talking about the uses of Red Cross blood.

Whole blood is used in many types of medical treatment, he explained. "But blood plasma is the major source of many valuable derivatives, including gam-

ROOM FOR ONE MORE? . . . . . No, there is not room for one more passenger in this car. This car, like many others that will be leaving Murray Friday when spring vacation begins, is already too crowded for safe driving. Having too many passengers in a car is an invitation for an accident. Passengers in the car are (front seat, left to right): David Babbs, Dallas Clark, and John Stanley; (back seat, left to right) Tom Taylor, Richard Walker, Emil Missaghi, and Ben Guyot.

DON'T ACT FOOLISH:

Get 'Big Picture' and Return Safely

By Martha Pierce
School's out! School's out! Teacher, let the fools out!
No more students, no more books, no more teachers' dirty looks — not for a whole nine days! Just sleeping, and playing, and running free. Sweet spring vacation!

That is, I hope it will be sweet. And yet it seems that at vacation time when I take leave of a friend, wishing him a good vacation, I often get a horrible sinking feeling. Suddenly I'm frightened, and I want to reach out and clasp him and urge him to be careful — and to come back safely.

I don't want to see him leave, because I remember that in 1962 there were 40,900 persons killed and 3.2 million injured in automobile accidents. I think, "What would my world be like without this person? Please may I not find out!"

It isn't that I want to think this way. I'm not naturally morbid. It's only that I've seen it happen.

I remember so vividly my first year here at Murray when I returned to Woods Hall after Christmas vacation.

Of course the girls chatted, and giggled, and exchanged news as usual, but over all the gaiety hung a heavy, death-conscious sadness, because one of us — now just another fatal automobile statistic wasn't back. Her absence was so tangible.

Nor have I forgotten that only a week after this semester started — not long enough ago that any of us should have forgotten

Well Performed, Well Produced, Says Critic of 'Easter' Drama

Reviewed by Prof. Clyde Faries

Sock and Buskin's timely production of "Easter" was a success. Because of able direction, some superior acting, and the realism brought to the arena stage by artful setting, costuming, and make-up, the play carried the message of Easter with clarity and some feeling.

The play itself, with its vacuous plot and its almost melodramatic language, with a less than excellent production would assure non-success.

Those who fail to see the drama club's productions miss some superb acting.

In this play special praise is due to Gene Raye Miller (Mrs. Heist), Ken Zimmerman (Benjamin), and Carol Ann Hopkins (Eleanora).

Performing the difficult role of the long-suffering wife of an embezzler, confused on the morality of her own implication in the crime, Miss Miller maintained the character with professional fidelity.

Perhaps the most believable character was portrayed by Zimmerman. Yet the stage was brought to life mainly through the efforts of Miss Hopkins.

The climax was heightened by an able performance of the creditor with a heart, John Ferry (Lindvist).

Major roles of Kristina and Elis gave little chance for Elaine Hobbs and Gary Bell to display their skills. The acting in these two roles was commendable, but this reviewer wished for more concern for character development and less for precise enunciation.

The lighting, costumes, and set design complemented the acting.

Some question could be raised as to the necessity of the odd-color plait of hair worn by Miss Hopkins and the presence of only one incongruent accent — that of the mother. However, major problems of production were handled with estimable skill.

The play is a sermon by a tired moralist whose trite phrasing reveals a spiritless sense of the dramatic.

The soap-opera suffering lacks the inspiration that the Easter story should stimulate. If the writer proposed to arouse sympathy for the pompous, troubled Heist family, he failed because of the exalted point of view from which he interprets suffering.

His Maundy Thursday, Good Friday, and Easter morning symbolism perhaps puts clarity above depth, feeling, and reality.

Therefore, congratulations to the Sock and Buskin dramatic organization for a play well performed and well produced. They gave to a prosaic play more showmanship than the work merited.

it — an auto-and-truck collision killed another MSC student.

There have been others who were killed since I came here. And ever so many others who were "only" injured, as we so unthinkingly say. "Only" injured — but oh how much pain, time, and money that "only" represents!

Teacher, let the fools out. Fools? No, not really. College students aren't fools, only foolish. Foolish when they should be wise. I know; I am one too. But if I were wise, if we were all wise, what would we do differently?

Well, to begin with, not one of us would dream of leaving here Friday unless we knew that our car was in good working order.

We would make sure that the brakes, the headlights, the rear and stop lights, the tires, the steering and wheel alignment, the exhaust system and muffler, the windshield, the horn, and the mirrors were all working and adjusted as they should be.

If we were wise, if we valued our own lives and the lives and property of others, we would have done this.

And once we got under way, we would have guarded against daydreaming of all the fun to come, or cutting-up with our passengers. We would realize that driving is a full-time job which demands complete and undivided attention.

Realizing this, we would practice these basic three driving rules:

1. Get the big picture — Keep your eyes on the road. Be constantly aware of what is going on in front of and beside you. Watch all traffic signs, the condition of the highway, and all of the action taking place within eye-range.

2. Watch the rear — Remember that those behind you can cause trouble as well as those in front.

3. Mind the speedometer — A heavy foot must be counterbalanced by a watchful eye and a cautious mind, one which obeys the speed limits, but realizes that road, car, and the driver's conditions actually determine the speed.

And then, if we were wise and driving far, we would be careful to stop and relax occasionally.

FWC Forum Here Draws 175 Women

"Home Improvement" was the general theme of the First District Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs Seminar held in the Student Union Building ballroom Thursday.

President Ralph H. Woods welcomed approximately 175 women representing 26 clubs to the second annual seminar.

Seven faculty members and one student took part in the meeting. They were:

Mr. Roman Prydatkevych and Mr. Russell Terhune, music division; Miss Rufie Lee Williams and Miss Frances Brown, home economics department.

Mr. Clyde Faries, speech division; Miss Rubie Smith, education and psychology department; and Dr. Ralph Tesseneer, dean of graduate studies; and Carol Wolfe, junior, Kevil.

We'd even quit for a night's rest if such a stop seemed warranted. Surely a few hours or dollars saved aren't worth what driving when tired or sleepy could cost.

And if we were really wise — unlike those drinking drivers involved in about 30 per cent of all fatal automobile accidents — we absolutely would never drive when under the influence, even just a little influence, of alcohol.

Another thing we would do if we were wise is to be courteous. Here alone we could prevent so many accidents. For if we were courteous we would not flaunt the law intended to aid us. We would stop at stop signs, slow down in slow-speed zones, and never cross a yellow line when passing.

We would approach intersections with respect, knowing that here more than one-third of all accidents occur. We would give the other fellow his right of way — and even ours too if necessary.

Yes, if we were wise, we would do these things and others which we know to be part of safe driving. But so many of us don't. Why? Don't we realize that 30 per cent of all drivers involved in both fatal and non-fatal accidents were under 25 years old?

Maybe we only need to be reminded. Maybe when we take leave of one another Friday it wouldn't be a bad idea if we smilingly add, "and be careful. I want you here when I get back," to our, "Have a good vacation."

Thirty per cent, like students here at MSC, who shrugged that it couldn't happen to them. Oh couldn't it?

Maybe then, when we turn on the key to move our 3,000 pounds of steel down some public highway, we would have more than just nine happy days of vacation to think about.

Maybe then it could be said that MSC has let, not fools, but wise students out.

Observe Traffic Rules And Return to Murray

Spring vacation is a carefree time for students, but it also should bring to mind one important serious thought.

On Friday and Saturday Murray State students will be driving and riding varying distances. Everyone will be anxious to reach his destination. It is important and essential that every student think seriously about his safety on the highways.

Although ice and snow are gone, the highways are still dangerous. Most accidents occur under favorable road conditions when drivers seem to be a little less cautious.

Eagerness to get home may cause you to drive a little too fast. Don't take the risk for a few extra minutes at home.

Preoccupation with vacation plans may cause you to be careless or break traffic laws. Keep alert; think of saving your life while you are driving.

Drive safely on your way home. Have a good vacation, and drive safely on your way back.

30 Minutes to Donate Blood May Determine Your Future

One pint of blood and 30 minutes of your time could mean the difference between life and death for a member of your family, a friend, or yourself.

Tomorrow from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. students, faculty, and staff will be able to sign up to save lives.

Gray Ladies will be in the lobby of the Student Union Building tomorrow to make appointments for prospective donors to give blood April 24 when the Red Cross blood-mobile visits the campus.

Under the "blanket coverage" program any resident of a county with a chapter which has met its quota can receive blood for himself or his family anywhere in the US without charge for the blood.

MSC students who are not residents of Calloway County will be given cards entitling them to the same nationwide privilege as county residents.

If the Calloway County chapter should miss its quota of 200 pints by 30 per cent or more, only donors and their families will be able to receive blood without charge.

Besides making whole blood available for the injured, the blood program provides blood derivatives that are sometimes more valuable than whole blood. Derivatives are used to prevent measles, combat shock, stop hemorrhage, treat anemia, treat hemophilia, and to treat severe vaccination complications.

No danger is involved in giving blood. A physician at the blood station will review medical histories and reject those who are physically unfit to donate. Those who are rejected will be given donor cards.

The purpose of making an appointment is to let the donor give a pint of blood when it is convenient for him.

Ten bottles of blood are used every minute in the United States — more than five million are used every year.

Tomorrow is the day to sign up. Do your part to help provide the blood that is so vital for saving lives.

Somnolence Reversed

I told myself that if when
I ever drink coffee black again,
To first push that drink aside,
For now I recline quite wide-eyed.

I'm really not a coffee fiend,
Yet curses on that wretched bean,
Which helps Brazilians to exist,
For now I need a hypnotist.

I drank not one but, mind you, two
In hopes of escaping what I've been through —
A college habit entitled "cram,"
Usually a prerequisite for an exam.

A moral here is fitting I'm sure,
That drinking coffee is hardly a cure.
I only think that coffee serves
To blacken one's teeth and weaken one's nerves.

MY typewriter isn't cooperating with me today. This is the third time I have re-written this column, and I'm still not sure it's right.

e.e. cummings typewriter sometimes didn't cooperate with him tho, and it didn't seem to bother him. My physics teacher told me that his typewriter had a differential reason for not typing well though. But it still doesn't bother me too bad.

MY words get stuck someplace between my brainwaves and the yellow copy-paper. They sometimes come out upside down or something. Some times I just can't think about something to write, you know. I don't think all the world's problems are solved yet, but the other day I had three mid-terms all on the same day, and I'm not really in contact with the masses of slaving, vociferating live I sense is stumbling all-around me, yet.

But it sure was good to see to thee sunlight through my window pane the other day. I think it was a symbol, but I'm not sure. Usually I'm not much good at recognizing symbols.

Those cute little robins were talking about going back down south I think. I heard some other kids talking about going down south too. But I don't think they were going down south for the same reason that those birds were any more that My physics teacher thought my typewriter worked like e. e. cummingses did.

I think I might go down south too, but I'm not going to go to that city in France. I'm going to go to the beach. My room-mate went to the beach last spring vacation time, and she sure did have a good time, I think.

She got to go to see Peter, and Paul, and Marie when she went down there. Maybe I will get to go to see the Beatles. Oh, Boy! Am I ever excited . . . just think . . . the real life Beatles!!!

But Peter, Paul, and Marie were not all she saw when she was down there on the beach. I think she found her a boyfriend, but she wouldn't tell me much about him. She didn't tell me much about what they did either. I haven't decided whether I want to try to find me a boyfriend when I go down there or not. I think it might be a little fun.

My roommate is going to stay at school and write a term-paper this Spring Vacation. I heard. She's not the same roommate I had last year. I think she's crazy when she could go to the beach.

I think its time to quit now. By the time I type my name it will be more than 400 words anyway. Have fun on the beach. Maybe I will see you there. — W. Hook.

Conference Topics 'Heated,' Says Foundation Delegate

One of the most dynamic and interesting persons on campus is Prof. Robert Perkins of the philosophy division. In fact, he is the one-man division.

Mr. Perkins is known and admired by the student body which makes him an ideal choice as MSC's Danforth associate. He is the fourth MSC faculty member to be a Danforth Foundation associate. His predecessors were Dean J. Matt Sparkman, Miss Rezina Senter, and Dr. Frank Steely.

The associates program was begun in 1941 as a result of the foundation's concern for the personal needs of college students.

Associates are selected on the basis of their competence as a teacher-scholar, the ability as non-professional counselors to students, and their interest in religion.

The Danforth Foundation was created in 1927 as a non-profit philanthropic corporation in Missouri. It now encompasses the nation. The purpose is to strengthen higher education through grants to colleges, universities, and other educational agencies.

The Foundation gives grants to colleges which are instituting new and worthwhile programs or projects. Fellowships for graduate work are given each year.

Mr. Perkins recently attended the Danforth Foundation Associates Regional Conference at Berea College.

Six papers were presented dealing with the general topic "Education and the Moral Crisis." Mr. Perkins gave one of the papers. His was "Liberal Education and the Moral Crisis." The papers were read in small discussion groups, the idea being to animate discussion.

Mr. Perkins said the conference was "a lot of fun." He gave his views on education and attacked liberal education and the life-adjustment and "play" theories of education. According to Mr. Perkins, the discussion session was "rather heated."

In his paper, Mr. Perkins said that education is just plain hard work. He said the play-around theory was frustrating when the child suddenly discovers that education is hard work. He also pointed out that most children would actually rather work than play. He suggested that one of the major demoralizing influences of our times is the "obliteration of the distinction between knowledge and ignorance in much of our educational system."

"Action," said Mr. Perkins, "is the ultimate aim of learning." He discussed the "illiberalism of liberal education," and dealt with the three great cultures — those of the Romans, the Greeks, and the Hebrews. Yet few colleges even mention Hebrew or Biblical studies. Mr. Perkins believes that much of the moral confusion and crisis today is due to "our forgetting our Hebrew heritage."

Mr. Perkins' main function as an associate for Murray is to watch for students for the Danforth Fellowships and to provide counsel and guidance.

DANFORTH ASSOCIATE . . . . Prof. Robert Perkins, (left), philosophy division, recently attended the Danforth Foundation Associates Regional conference at Berea College. Mr. Perkins is MSC's fourth associate to the Foundation which gives grants to colleges and fellowships to students for graduate work. Here he is talking with Dr. Frank Steely, who preceded him as the MSC associate.

Show Raised Money for Athletes' Awards

By Jerry Heinzman

Murray State's first Water Carnival was held 26 years ago for the purpose of raising funds to purchase miniature golf-ball awards for Thoroughbred athletes.

According to Mr. James Hurley, secretary and treasurer of the "M" Club at that time, the first carnival was such a financial success that plans were made to make it an annual affair.

The carnival has progressed, and the financial success of the first carnival has remained a stimulus for each year's production.

Pat Kleckner is the director of this year's carnival, which is sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association. "First I had to pick out a theme and figure out the stunts," said Mrs. Kleckner. "This takes a lot of hard work and worry."

Mrs. Kleckner gave a great deal of thought to how several plans could be worked out effectively. She finally decided on "Sea Fantasia" as the theme.

This theme centers around the water and water-creatures. "Once a theme has been chosen, the whole show must be basically worked out — some on paper and a lot in the mind," said the Water Carnival director.

Many problems arise during the planning and rehearsing of the carnival. Since the motions of the swimmers are timed to music, the recordings must be carefully chosen.

Tryouts are held for swimmers, and the best are chosen. Hard work on their part has just begun. Even before practice, swimmers drill on their own free time. Then the cast must practice four nights a week in March and five nights a week during April.

Various meetings, social functions, and studies conflict with rehearsal periods. These are the reasons it is difficult to find enough people willing to work for the carnival.

"Equipment, such as spotlights, is not always available to the group," Mrs. Kleckner said. The pool is not always open and is not always available.

The spectators' imagination will have to be used a great deal in this year's Water Carnival. Therefore the show will have a narrator to tell the story — a story much like a fairy tale.

Finally rehearsals will be over, and the big day will arrive. For Mrs. Kleckner this will be the most hectic time of all with the tension, fatigue, and last-minute changes. However the satisfaction of seeing a "job well done" will compensate for any of the pre-show anxieties and frustrations.

Swimmers and divers will carry out the theme "Sea Fantasia" for the carnival which will be held May 14-16 in the Carr Health Building pool. The first Water Carnival was held 26 years ago to raise funds to purchase miniature gold-ball awards for Thoroughbred athletes.

New Band: From 'Waltz to Jazz,' the Barons Play On

A versatile band with a lot of brass backing describes the newly-formed dance band sensation on campus called the Barons.

"We chose the name because it had an unusual and catchy sound. We want everyone to know that the Barons is a band in itself and not an imitation of other local bands," said Mike Jones, one of the group's originators.

The band made its first personal appearance at the sophomore-class dance after the Tennessee Tech game last month.

The group tries to be as versatile as possible. "Our first song is always too fast for dancing. We start off fast and then break down into a more moderate beat. We have always found this to be a real ear-catcher. We try to get the attention of the audience the first thing," said Jones.

The band is not completely organized and is still in the rough experimental stages. Presently the Barons are having to copy arrangements of songs until they are able to write some of their own.

The group plays everything from "Greensleeves" to dixieland jazz. They pattern themselves after the Ray Charles and James Brown style; yet, they are constantly working to get a sound that is different and original.

"Our biggest problem," said Jim Jennings, Dayton, "is trying to find a place to rehearse. Because our band is fairly large, we have had to rehearse wherever anyone would let us. Lately we have been having to practice in the American Legion Hall."

Another problem members of the band have had to cope with is busy schedules. "We just can't seem to find enough free time to practice together," said Jones. Of the nine musicians, eight are enrolled at Murray State. Jones, the youngest of the group and a senior at College High, plays the organ.

The MSC students are:

Bill Games Jr., drummer, West Point; Jennings, singer and guitarist; Ron Keilholtz, tenor saxophone, Hagerstown, Md.

Gary Massetto, trumpet, Herrin, Ill.; Ray Pappalardo, baritone saxophone, Jamestown, N. Y.; Danny Rowland, bass player, Murray; Raleigh Sherertz, trumpet, Huntsville, Ala.; and Millard Thompson, trumpet, Point Pleasant, N. J.

Jones is very enthusiastic about the band's future. Musical arrangements are now being written for additional instruments. This means that there will be more positions in the band that must be filled.

"We have more than our share of dance engagements in this area," Jones said. "In fact, we are even making plans to cut some records before long."

Who knows? Perhaps students all over the nation will soon be dancing and listening to the music of the Barons.

Give Your Hair-Do Perky Italian Look

Is it true coeds have more fun in the summer when their hair is short rather than long?

With summer and trips to the lake drawing near, many blondes, brunettes, and redheads will probably be reverting to those short "wash-and-wear" hair-dos.

A predicted favorite for the coming swimming season is the perky Italian-looking cut. This cut is medium short, swept across the forehead with bangs or a slight lift on top, and has distinctive sideburns. These sideburns curve rather than really curl, in front of the ears and onto the cheeks.

The back hair is brushed in a trim, straight line. The thing that makes this hair style so wonderful is that even after several plunges into the lake or the pool it doesn't require any setting.

All a girl need do is gently shape the style back into the hair with comb and fingers, lifting the top with one stroke of a rattail comb, and she is pert and pretty again.

Another appeal of this simple little cut is its variability. A coed may want to swing the side hair over the ears, brush the bangs a bit higher, and curve the back hair forward. Or she can brush the sides back and upward leaving only one little sprig in front of the ears.

Nearly any girl can wear this style. She need only have hair with natural body and bend or a very soft permanent.

The style definitely calls for a first-rate professional cut. But, the cut is rewarding, for the care and effort saved will be pleasing to any girl who spends much of her time in the sun and water.

ITS MATE? . . . The first OVC All-Sports Award was presented Murray State last May. Dr. Ralph H. Woods holds that trophy and like the entire school is hoping its mate will arrive on campus this May.

Racers Lead by 7 In Bid for 2d OVC All-Sports Trophy

Murray's hopes of capturing its second consecutive Ohio Valley Conference All-Sports Award appear mighty good at the opening of spring-sports schedules.

Murray has run up a total of 32 points while its nearest competitor, Western Kentucky, has compiled only 25.

East Tennessee and Eastern Kentucky are tied for third with 24. Middle Tennessee is fifth with 23, followed by Tennessee Tech with 21, Morehead State with 14 and Austin Peay with 11.

Going into the spring sports, Murray is favored in track and is expected to finish no lower than second in tennis and third in golf.

The deciding factor will probably be the outcome of the baseball season.

Points are scored 16, 14, 12, etc., for the major sports (football and basketball) and 8, 7, 6, etc., for the minor sports (cross-country, track, tennis, golf, and baseball).

Bones Rattles On . . .

By Mike Driscoll

Anyone who was at Murray last year and saw the baseball team in action with any regularity will probably agree that the pitching staff carried a seemingly weak array of hitters with them to a Western Division championship and a share of the overall OVC title.

The consensus was for more of the same this year. But if the early performances of the mound crew mean anything, the Racers may find their title hopes this season riding in the hands of the batters.

Prior to today's doubleheader with Austin Peay, the Thoroughbreds had won three of six while playing 48 innings. The pitching staff has given up 54 bases-on-balls, 37 hits, and 40 runs.

Last season in 31 games and 252 innings the pitching staff issued only 147 walks, 157 hits, and 95 runs.

George Dugan and Henry Schwier, two of the top hurlers last season, haven't finished a game as yet. They have a combined total of nine complete innings between them in three starting assignments and two appearances in relief.

The hitters have produced an average of nearly six runs for the six games, with three or more being scored in each game.

All-State Thornton Of Louisville Male Signs MSC Grant

Dallas Thornton, Louisville Male's talented all-state forward, has signed a grant-in-aid with Murray State College.

Following his announcement Racer Coach Cal Luther remarked, "We are pleased that Thornton has decided to play ball at Murray. In my opinion he was one of the best all-round high-school basketball players in Kentucky this year."

Thornton, while only 6-4, is regarded as one of the finest rebounders in the state. During the past season he averaged 14 rebounds a game while scoring at a 16.5 clip.

with the exception of Saturday's 4-1 loss.

The track meet with Wisconsin tonight in Cutchin Stadium looms as possibly the stiffest competition for the Racers this year. It shouldn't be missed by anyone.

The OVC basketball coaches will meet with Commissioner Art Guepe in Nashville Friday to discuss matters concerning the league.

Also on tap for discussion is a proposal of a tournament among the conference teams in Louisville Dec. 21-23. Mr. Guepe has already reserved Convention Center for the proposed three-day affair.

Why such a tournament is needed is beyond me. It would take luster from regular season play, while also preventing OVC teams from participating in another pre-Christmas tournament.

It seems to me that the conference can best obtain national recognition from the performance of its members against teams from other leagues and top-flight independent schools.

After all, you can look at the standings at the end of the season to find out who was the best in the league. The tournament proposed by Mr. Guepe has no reasonable basis for existence as far as I can see.

Purdue Downs Racer '9, 7-3, To Split Cold-Shortened Series

Purdue University's batters jumped on Thoroughbred pitching for four hits and three runs in the first inning and went on to defeat Murray March 24 in the second game of a scheduled three-game series, 7-3.

The victory earned a split for the Boilermakers as the Racers took the opener between the two schools the day before, 6-2. A third game scheduled for Wednesday was cancelled because of cold weather.

Left-hander Henry Schwier opened for Murray, but gave up two singles, a triple, and another single after retiring the first batter of the inning.

The Racers came back with single tallies in the first and second frames. An error on a grounder hit by Dave Boyd was followed by a double by Ron Anderson to account for the first score.

Dave Darnall and Boyd drew walks in the second inning, with Darnall crossing the plate following a single by Mickey Martin.

The Boilermakers added single runs in the fourth and fifth innings and a pair in the sixth, without a hit, to move ahead, 7-2.

MSC Defeats Northwestern Twice, 5-4, 11-5, Before Bowing, 4-1, in Series Finale Saturday

The Thoroughbred baseball team was held to three hits and one run Saturday afternoon as Big Ten representative Northwestern, beaten in both ends of a doubleheader Friday afternoon, 5-4 and 11-5, salvaged the finale of the three-game series, 4-1.

The loss on Saturday was the third for the Racers in six games and brought their mark against Big Ten schools this year to 3-2.

Henry Schwier started for the Racers, but ran into trouble in the second inning. Two straight singles and a booming home run, the third for the Wildcats in the three games, sent the visitors into a three-run lead.

Murray came back with a run in the same frame as Ken Maziarka and Jim Jolly drew walks after one man had been retired. Dave Darnall lined a hit to right and Maziarka scored.

The story was different on Friday though, as timely hitting powered Murray to the twin-killing. The second game was called after six innings because of darkness.

Murray took a first-inning lead in the first game on walks to Dave Boyd and Dan Wright, followed by a fielder's choice.

The Wildcats came back with three runs in the second, two of which were charged to starter George Gilley and one to reliever Jack Czyz. Four walks highlighted the frame, with the Wildcats getting only one hit.

Silenced with only one hit for the first five innings, Murray got only one safety in the sixth, but combined that hit with three walks and a sacrifice fly to tie the score.

TIMELY . . . Ken Maziarka came through with a timely blow in the Racers' defeat of Northwestern in the first game of a doubleheader Friday, 5-4. Maziarka singled in teammate Ron Anderson with one out in the final inning to give Murray the victory.

Ron Anderson, Bill Ryan, and Maziarka drew the walks, with the first two scoring on a single to center by Darnall. Maziarka, after a brilliant maneuver to avoid being trapped off third, scored on the sacrifice by Boyd.

Reliever Ken Meredith set the visitors down quietly in the seventh to set the stage for Murray's winning run in the last of the inning.

Anderson lined a single to center and went to third on a one-out safety by Ryan. Northwestern moved the infield in for a play at the plate, but Maziarka lined one through shortstop to score Anderson.

The night-cap saw the Racers score five times in the second to move ahead by a run, and then one more in the fourth and five in the fifth to sew up the game.

Anderson opened the second by reaching first on an error. Walks to Ryan, John Alton, and Mike Ward and a sacrifice by Bob Spears accounted for two runs.

Boyd walked to reload the bases, and another run was forced in as Mickey Martin took a full-count pitch for a base on balls. Maziarka brought in the fourth tally on an infield hit, and the fifth came on a walk to Anderson.

Northwestern tied the score in the first half of the fourth on a home run over the left field fence, but Murray regained the lead in the same frame on a single by Boyd, a walk, and a run-scoring single by Anderson.

Both teams loaded the bases in the fifth with no men out. The Wildcats failed to capitalize on the opportunity but the Thoroughbreds did.

Anderson received credit for the win after relieving George Dugan in the third inning.

Racers to Play 4 Games On Spring-Break Trip

The Thoroughbred baseball team will play four road games, including a conference doubleheader with Austin Peay, during the spring vacation and then six more, four of which will be conference encounters, during the week following vacation.

The Murray team was scheduled to play a twin-bill with the Governors of Austin Peay starting at 1 today at the Murray diamond in the opening conference games for both schools.

The Racers will travel to Jonesboro, Ark., to battle the Indians of Arkansas State in a single game Saturday.

The Indians inflicted one of the four losses suffered by the Racers last season when they beat them at home, 6-5. Murray had won the previous meeting here earlier in the year, 14-7.

Murray will meet Austin Peay again Monday in another doubleheader, this time at Clarksville. Last season, with the Govs a non-conference foe, Murray swept the four games by scores of 2-1, 2-0, 3-0, and 9-2.

Tuesday afternoon will find the Racers in Jackson, Tenn., for a single game with Lambuth. Lambuth fell to the Thoroughbreds twice last season, 4-1 and 7-0.

The Racers will face Western Kentucky in a league doubleheader here April 15, two days after vacation.

The Hilltoppers finished second in the Western Division last year, losing four league games to the undefeated Racers. The scores of the two doubleheaders were 6-1, 17-5, and 5-0, 7-2.

North Dakota University will follow the Hilltoppers two days later for single games on Friday and Saturday. Murray did not face the Dakotans last year.

The Thoroughbreds will take to the road against April 21 for a conference twin-bill with Middle Tennessee.

Middle Tennessee came the closest of any OVC school in the Western Conference last year to beating the Thoroughbreds. The second game of the doubleheader at Murfreesboro ended in a 9-9 tie when play was called because of darkness.

The first game went to Murray, 10-1, with the Racers sweeping a pair here later in the season, 6-1 and 5-1.

Golfers Place 4th in LSU Tourney; Lancaster Leads Racers With 144

The Murray State golf team opened its 1964 season by finishing fourth Friday in the Louisiana State University Invitational Tournament at Baton Rouge, La.

Louisiana State finished first with 584, followed by Memphis State (593), Mississippi State (603), and Murray (604).

The Murray linksmen were led by Fred Lancaster who placed third among varsity contenders with 144. He missed capturing the individual honors by two strokes.

Ted Hale was also among the top contenders with 146.

Tommy Thomas ended match play with 155, followed by Larry Mullins who carded 159.

Murray State's fifth entry, Len Newton, shot 165. But only the four lowest scores constituted the team score.

In freshman competition John McClindon of Louisiana State was the low-ball winner, while his teammates took the team-score honors with 289.

Gary Flowers and Rick Acree tied for fifth in the freshman low-ball competition by shooting 153 and 163 respectively.

Jimmy Williams followed Flowers and Acree with 164.

Net Team to Play 5 Foes in 7 Days On Southern Tour

The Murray State netters will leave Friday morning on their annual southern tour on which they will meet five teams in seven days.

They are scheduled to meet Pensacola Navy on Saturday, Spring Hill College of Mobile, Ala., on Monday, Mississippi Southern on Tuesday, Louisiana State on Wednesday, and the University of Mississippi on Friday, April 10.

Murray State has never played Spring Hill before this year. The school traditionally has strong tennis teams, according to Coach Chad Stewart.

Murray played Mississippi Southern in 1962 and won 5-4. That was the year the Racers were OVC champions.

LSU is by reputation the toughest team on the tour. The Tigers defeated the University of Kentucky, 9-0, last week and have two nationally ranked players on their squad.

Mississippi, another SEC school, will field a formidable team and should provide ample competition for the Racers.

On last year's tour the Racers won two while losing three. Murray victories were over Troy State (Ala.), and Florence State (Ala.) and losses were to Pensacola Navy, Alabama, and Mississippi State.

Tennis Tomorrow: Bradley Braves To Battle Racers

The Murray State tennis team will play two more home matches before the spring vacation: Bradley today and David Lipscomb tomorrow.

Bradley will bring a team which last season managed only a 7-9 record. The Braves have three lettermen back this season.

Leading the Braves will be Neil Kramer, a senior who last year played the No. 1 spot. Playing against some of the nation's best collegians, he was 7-11 in dual competition last season.

The Bradley team is on a southern tour and was scheduled to open its 1964 season yesterday at Southeast Missouri.

David Lipscomb, a team which beat the Racers last season, will present one of the biggest hurdles in the tennis season. The Nashville, Tenn., school had a young team last year and is expected to give Murray plenty of competition.

Netters Open Season With Wins Over Illinois State and Missouri

Coach Chad Stewart's netters opened the season in fine fashion last week by downing Illinois State, 5-4, and whitewashing the University of Missouri 7-0, on the Thoroughbred courts.

In Friday's match with Illinois State's Redbirds, Murray State won four of the six single matches and the No. 3 doubles, the final match of the day, to eke out the 5-4 decision.

In the No. 1 singles match Bill Bowen (MSC) lost to Rich Snowberg, 6-3, 6-3. Henry Baughman (MSC) beat Jim Whitman in two extended sets, 7-5, 9-7, at No. 2. Mike Barnes (MSC) lost to Bill Powell, 6-4, 6-2, at No. 3.

Charles Champion (MSC) crushed Roger Ninness, 6-0, 6-0, in the No. 4 singles match.

Freshmen Pat Bryan (MSC) and Chuck Close (MSC) downed Milt Neuman, 5-7, 6-4, 6-1, and Roger Kohlin 6-0, 6-4, respectively at No. 5 and No. 6.

In doubles MSC's Baughman-

Tom Higgins lost the No. 1 dual to Snowberg-Whitman, 6-0, 6-2. Illinois State's Powell-Ninness won a long three-set match over Barnes-Close, 2-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Bowen teamed with Don Greenwell to defeat Newman-Kohlin, 6-2, 6-3, in No. 3 doubles to give MSC the 5-4 victory.

In the Missouri match Bowen (MSC) defeated Heath Meriwether in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3. Champion outlasted Miz-zou's Jim Barnett, 11-9, in their first set at No. 2, then won the second, 6-0.

Baughman (MSC) downed Ray Ward, 6-2, 6-0, at No. 3. Barnes (MSC) won at No. 4 over Ray Hoehle, 7-5, 6-2. At No. 5 Pat Bryan (MSC) defeated Tom Turner, 7-5, 6-1.

Bowen-Higgins (MSC) won at No. 1 doubles, 6-4, 6-3, over Meriwether-Barnett. After losing the first set 7-5, Baughman-Greenwell (MSC) came back to win, 6-4, 6-1.

Dean Nash Warns Students of Penalty For Vacation Cuts

Spring vacation will begin officially at 4 p. m. Saturday and end April 13 at 7:30 a. m., according to Dean William G. Nash.
