27 Miners Die In Blast. Fire At V. Frankfort
Rescue Attempts Halted By Gas: All Bodies Found
CAUSE UNKNOWN

Frankfort, Ky., July 25-27-Twenty-seven miners died in an explosion and fire at the 14,408-foot Mount Ranier coal mine at West Frankfort, Ill., last night. The loss included a sighted on glacier on Mt. Ranier. * The fire was thought to have been started by an electric train which was thought to have jumped the tracks, but this theory has been discounted. It is believed that the blast was caused by a coal dust explosion. The mine is operated by the West Frankfort Coal Co., a subsidiary of the Illinois Fuel Co., and is situated in a coal field in the black coal area of the state. The mine is a pit mine and is operated by the Illinois Fuel Co.

Schools Face Crisis

One of the most vexing problems in the city is the situation in the public school system. The teachers are on the verge of a strike, and the school board is in a state of disarray.

The teachers are demanding a raise in their salaries, which have not been increased in several years. The school board, on the other hand, is facing difficulties in raising the necessary funds to meet the teachers' demands.

The situation is further complicated by the fact that the city's budget is already strained due to other financial obligations.

It is hoped that a solution can be found to the current crisis before the situation deteriorates even further.
