Fulton, 42041, Fulton County, Kentucky Thursday, July 20, 1967

Should we change the name of Fulton County?

Should we change it to "Fitch"
County?

Our good friend and fellow-publisher Larry Stone of the Central City (Ky.) Messenger and Times-Argus called this matter to our attention this week, suggesting that if the county was really supposed to be named after the steamboat inventor, it should be changed to Fitch County. Larry enclosed the following clipping:

STEAMBOAT INVENTOR

A Kentuckian, John Fitch, made the first trip in his first steamboat in 1785. Robert Fulton did not operate his steamboat on the Hudson River until 1807. Yet Fulton is credited with inventing the steamboat and a Kentucky county is named after him.

So for some 150 years we have been going by the wrong name. And so has Fulton for the past 108 years, since it was named "Fulton" station in 1859 after the county in which it was located.

It all depends on how you look at it. If our county was named for the inventor of the steamboat, it should have been called Fitch County in the first place. But if it was simply named after Robert Fulton—regardless of whether he invented anything or not,—then it doesn't make any difference, and it can stay "Fulton" county.

This could present a real problem to all of the "Fultons" around the country, so I turned to my encyclopedia to first go into the matter.

Fitch was born in Connecticut. I don't know how the writer of that clipping figured he was a Kentuckian.

His steamboat DID make a successful run of some kind 20 years before Fulton's, but he couldn't find anyone to make a commercial "go" of it.

His biography, by the way, did not mention any connection with Kentucky except to say that in a fit of discouragement he committed suicide at Bardonia July 2, 1798.

On the other hand, Fulton... Was an early artist, going to London at age 21 to study painting, got interested in navigation, invented a bridge, a saw, a dredge and a canal boat;

He invented a submarine but when he demonstrated it, it failed;

He came back to the US, undertook experiments in steam navigation and was the first to make practical application of the principles and systems of steam navigation with his "Clermont" on the Hudson river. Maybe he just had a better press agent.

We shall proceed to send a query to the editors of the papers in Fulton, Mississippi, New York, Missouri, Tennessee and any others we can find and see how strong their feelings are in this matter. If they're all willing to change, By George we ought to do it too.

I'll keep you posted in this corner when I get any replies. And if you want to let off some of your own steam on the matter, just drop a line to "Ky Windage", % The News!

A. B. Long Fatally Shot By Intruder In Paducah

A B. Long, 48, operator of a Paducah night club and a firm that leases jukeboxes, pinball machines and other entertainment devices throughout this area, was shot to death in his Paducah apartment last Saturday by an unknown intruder.

Long was found dead in his apartment Sunday in what the coroner's office called an apparent murder. The man had been shot in the abdomen, cheek and arm.

Police said there was no sign of a disturbance and ruled out robbery. Long wore a large diamond ring and watch and a wallet containing $92 was found in his clothing.

Long operated the A. B. Long Music Company and the A. B. Long cigarette vending company out of Paducah, with a branch office in Martin, Tennessee managed by Roy Wright.

Dairy Imports Cut, Stubblefield Announces

Representative Frank A. Stubblefield, chairman of house dairy subcommittee, announced that President Johnson last Friday signed a proclamation reducing dairy imports to one-fourth the present volume, beginning July 1, 1967.

Mr. Stubblefield, author of legislation to restrict dairy imports, said, "This proclamation follows a White House meeting on Wednesday between President Johnson and members of House and Senate agriculture committees vitally concerned with plight of domestic milk producers. The President's action, taken under authority of Sec 22 of Agricultural Adjustment act, will mean dairy imports can be only about one billion pounds of milk equivalent annually, bringing imports to less than 1 percent of annual domestic production which is currently about 121 billion pounds."

Congressman Stubblefield labelled the President's action as a much needed, long-sought victory for our milk producers who recently have been caught in a cost-price squeeze because of low-priced milk imports. "Ultimately, the farmer, consumer, and the taxpayer will all gain by restricting such imports," the Kentucky Congressman said.

Cayce High Classes Recall Year Of 1957

The 1957 Junior and Senior classes of Cayce had such a good time at their reunion held at the Park Terrace Restaurant last week that another reunion is scheduled in five years.

Special guests for the occasion were Edmond Clark of Clinton who was principal at Cayce in 1957; Mrs. Leslie Walker, who was senior sponsor, was accompanied by her husband; Senior Class president Jerry Douglas of Huntsville, Ala., accompanied by Mrs. Douglas and junior sponsor Miss Sue Shuf.

Attending from Memphis were William Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ashe (Pat Jones). Jerry Douglas of Huntsville, Fla., assisted by his wife, served as Master of Ceremonies for the memorable affair.

Others attending were the At-wills of Cayce, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny. From Jefferson City, Tenn., came Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Brown (Janie Downey) and from near-by Hickman came Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Childers (Jeanette Roper) and Dale Clark.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Curlin (Joyce Hardison) of Bruceton, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. Billy Curtsinger (Brenda Harris) of Spanish Lake, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Douglas of Huntsville, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Forrester (Mattie Sutton) of Chicago, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Woodside (Annell Fowler) and Mr. and Mrs. Ermon Workman of Cayce. From Homewood, Illinois came Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hardison and from South Fulton came Mr. and Mrs. Larry D. Henderson (Clara McMurry) and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Lawson (Barbara Turner).

Perhaps coming from the farthest point was Mr. and Mrs. Howard Norton (Wanda Burns) of Mesa, Arizona. Mr. and Mrs. Vernell Myers and Leon Shelton accompanied by Brenda Todd attended from Crutchfield. Representing St. Louis was Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harper and from Louisville came Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Williams.

Price Foundation Announces Scholarship Awards To Festival's Princess Pageant

Col. Mercer Lee Price at the Hotel Quito in Quito, Ecuador during 1966 good-will trip with Twin Cities' International Banana Festival "ambassadors".

Colonel Mercer Lee Price, president of the Price Foundation of Ormond Beach, Florida, while meeting in Fulton on Tuesday and Wednesday with Banana Festival officials announced that he will again award college scholarships to the top winners of this year's Princess Pageant. The Price Foundation has awarded scholarships to the winners, and to a few other selected participants, for the past two years.

The Price Foundation's contribution to the Festival this year has been generously increased to $2,000 in cash awards. The awards will be given as follows: 1st Place Winner - $1,000; 1st Runner-Up - $400; 2nd Runner - Up - $300; 3rd Runner - Up - $200; 4th Runner - Up - $100.

The Price Foundation is also considering aiding the Banana Festival Princess in good will missions with the Latin American countries in which the Festival is so vitally interested.

In making the announcement Colonel Price was high in his praise of the Festival's significant program that is growing each year in the fields of international relations. Of the program he said:

"You people in the twin cities are to be highly commended for what you have done with a small undertaking and projected it into an event of national and international significance. I consider your Festival the number one independent Festival in the United States and perhaps the world. I am privileged to have a small part in it."

Colonel Price has indicated that he wishes to study a program of international goodwill missions in connection with the Princess Pageant and the young lady who will reign over the activities for an entire year. Details of this program are being discussed with Mrs. Paul Westpheling, international relations chairman of the Fifth Annual event.

The Price Foundation, with its home office in Ormond Beach, Florida, has awarded over 350 college scholarship grants to beauty contest winners in the U. S. and Col. Price annually serves as a judge in some 25 State and regional pageants throughout the country, including the "Miss" pageants in Tennessee, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska in this area.

He became interested in the International Banana Festival two years ago, has awarded generous grants to the five winners here for the past two years, and was an enthusiastic participant in last year's good-will trip of a local delegation to Ecuador, not only making the trip himself, but also paying the way for four guests, including Princess "Vickie" Hurd.

In addition to scholarships to pageant winners, Price has also voluntarily awarded substantial scholarships to girls here who were not finalists, but whom he considered as especially worthy of financial help in their college education.

The Derelection Of Society Is In Its Failure To Teach Today's Youth Discipline, Restraint, Respect

Almost daily throughout this summer we have been reading accounts of near-anarchy in a number of our major cities. This is a strange and troubling growth in this land of freedom and prosperity, looked upon by the rest of the world as the great leader in world society and progress.

And the problem seems to be growing every year instead of lessening.

Perhaps you will be interested in this statement to "all law-enforcement officers" made over two years ago by J. Edgar Hoover in the FBI Law Enforcement bulletin. It was a matter of great concern then, is still a matter of even-greater concern now . . . and we wonder what it will be five years from now.

Mr. Hoover's statement:

TO ALL LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS:

YOUNG THUGS AND TEEN-AGE CRIMINALS may be pressing their luck by increasing their violent escapades while blaming society for their faults.

It appears that the public is beginning to gag on the steady sociological diet of excusing the conduct of teenage hoodlums because "society has failed them." Resort communities racked by senseless riots and citizens who cannot venture from their homes without being assaulted and beaten are getting fed up with pampered and insolent youth gangs.

Some courts in the troubled areas are taking a more realistic approach in handling those involved in these outbreaks. New laws providing stiffer penalties are being enacted in a few places. We can only hope that authorities everywhere will follow this trend. Certainly, the mere desire of young miscreants to have a "blast" or to "let off steam" is no excuse to ravage a community and to maim and terrorize its residents.

That holiday riots and similar antics by carousing youths have evoked widespread concern is not surprising. It is surprising, however, that strong public reaction did not come sooner. For several years, the increasing volume of criminal acts by young people—spurred on by the lenient treatment received—has presented a clear barometric reading of what we are now witnessing. For instance, from 1960 through 1964, the percentage of young age-group arrests for homicide, forcible rape, aggravated assault, robbery, burglary, larceny, and auto theft more than doubled the population increase percentage of the same group. Arrests of persons under 18 for simple assault rose 79 percent, drunkenness and related violations 52 percent, disorderly conduct 18 percent, and concealed weapons 17 percent during the same 5 years. In the light of this shameful picture, we cannot say that we were not forewarned.

The immediate objective, of course, is to put a stop to these rumbles and mass vandalism. Meanwhile, the question puzzling most people is what caused the principles and morals of some of our youth to degenerate to near animal level. Recognizing the problem comes much easier than its solution. However, of all the factors involved, I am convinced one of the most damaging is the false teaching which tends to blame society for all the frustrations, woes, and inconveniences, real or imaginary, visited upon our young people. Teenagers, and their parents, have been subjected to a foolhardy theory which condones rebellious conduct against authority, law and order, or any regulatory measures which restrict their whims, wishes, desires, and activities. This astonishing belief has spread into the schoolroom, the living room, the courtroom, and now into the streets of our Nation in the form of wild, drunken brawls.

No doubt, society has failed our youth, but not in the way many seem to think. Rather, the dereliction has been in the failure to teach them the meaning of discipline, restraint, self-respect, and respect for law and order and the rights of others. Consequently, the lesson now is both painful and costly.

A Dream For The Future Is Old Age With Twiggy

Twiggy, the girl you have to shake the sheets to find, has captivated an audience of designers who seem thrilled with the opportunity of making her an ideal for American women but I strongly suspect that their real motive is to make more dresses out of the same bolt of material to sell for the same amount of money.

Surely if we women were all Twiggy types we would use less material in our clothes but they wouldn't cost any less. We have become accustomed to the idea that we are not acceptable to mankind as the Lord made us but this constant changing to make us dissatisfied with our wardrobe is enough to make us long for a white robe on the Arabian desert. Who knows what shape you are in under one of those?

A few years ago they tried to flatten us out, then the late Mansfield glorified it and those that didn't have any, bought some. Then there was the waist line era when we clinched it in then they dropped it to the tummy and we let it out again. Hip curves were pressed flat to accommodate the tight shift then they were allowed to float happily under a tent. No wonder the divorce rate is so high, the women keep changing themselves around until friend husband doesn't know if his wife is the same sweet girl he married or not.

The difficult part for those of us over 40 is that we are the forgotten women. The ads say short skirts and long hair are stylish and then they add that frightful phrase, "not recommended for women over 25." And, what woman in her forties can achieve the little boy look?

Of course, we have said we would never do it, but how many of us have found ourselves walking stiff legged in a tight shift or trying to "drape" a purse across our knees to cover them when he sat down.

Those of us in our forties have only one hope it seems and that is to live long enough to share our declining years with the Twiggy of the world. Then perhaps the designers will discover that we form such a large group that we rate becoming fashions.

Then if we could live long enough for the designers to discover the beauty in the more endowed woman we would have a paradise on earth. In the meantime I'll buy enough material for three Twiggy dresses and make one of my own.

NEW AND OLD FRIENDS

Make new friends, but keep the old;
Those are silver, these are gold.
New-made friendships, like new wine,
Age will mellow and refine.

Friendships that have stood the test -
Time and change - are surely best;
Brow may wrinkle, hair grow gray,
Friendship never knows decay.

For 'mid old friends, tried and true,
Once more we our youth renew.
But old friends, alas, may die,
New friends must their place supply.

Cherish friendship in your breast —
New is good, but old is best;
Make new friends, but keep the old;
Those are silver, these are gold!

FULTON'S

Library Corner

By Brenda Rowlett

The juvenile books—both fiction and non-fiction—are in the limelight this week on our shelves of new books recently received from the Department of Libraries. Why not bring the children by the Fulton Public Library and while you are here check out one of our new adult books just received?

THE BELOVED LAND by Alida Malkus. Against the rich, lush background of Cuba, that exotic and troubled island to the south of us, Alida Malkus has told the story—at once human, passionate, heartwarming—of a struggle for freedom that is taking place today, and has been long going on, practically on our doorstep. It is the fateful story of Cuba and its people—a people so disturbed and oppressed in their own land that they exile themselves from their beloved island hoping one day to return and establish a democracy at home. A keen knowledge of Cuba and its people has enabled Alida Malkus, long a student of Latin America and its history, to bring a wealth of understanding of the people and the land to THE BELOVED ISLAND. The balance and judgment, the weighing of the facts, and her own passionate love of freedom are reflected in the pages of this unforgettable story.

THE HOPFUL by Lloyd Robinson. From the tense, noisy, and heated atmosphere of the nomination conventions to the eager anticipation of Election Day, Presidential election campaigns are among the most exciting periods in American politics. Lloyd Robinson captures all the drama of these turbulent days in this lively survey of the last ten campaigns, as seen through the eyes of the losers—Al Smith, Herbert Hoover, Alf Landon, Wendell Wilkie, Thomas E. Dewey, Adlai Stevenson, Richard M. Nixon, and Barry Goldwater.

OUR POLLUTED WORLD by John Perry. As a naturalist, John Perry is concerned about man's survival in an environment that man, a relatively new species, manipulates to serve his needs. Air and water are limiting factors in an environment, and when any species escapes for a time the usual factors that limit its population, a series of environmental changes begins which in the end, affects survival. The origins, nature, and disastrous effects of air and water pollution are examined in detail, as well as what is being done to alleviate the problems. The author has assessed the legislative and treatment measures and has found them to be stopgaps that gain time but are not keeping pace with the overall problem—Can man dump such a tremendous amount of waste into the air and water and still escape extinction? This timely and significant book is a "must-read" for every one concerned with the survival of the human species.

THE YEAR OF THE RACCOON by Lee Kingman. In this perceptive novel, Lee Kingman has drawn a realistic picture of a problem many young people face. As she explores Joe's relationships to his pet raccoon and the members of his family, the author reveals sensitively and often dramatically that there are many talents in life. As The Year of the Raccoon draws to its exciting climax, readers will feel convinced that Joey, after all, may have one of life's most valuable gifts.

Have you noticed the new holly shrub at the Fulton Public Library? This is another step in the beautification of the Library grounds. The shrub was donated by the Garden Department and Mrs. F. D. Phillips was the chairman of the project.

Wiggins, Mrs. Grady Varden and Mrs. Paul Boyd.

Mrs. E. D. Keiser entertained the St. Edward's Church bridge club Thursday night. There were two tables of players, with Mrs. Paul Westpheling winning high score prize and Mrs. Sidney Dyer receiving second high prize.

Mrs. J. A. Jones honored her daughter, Shirley, Friday evening with a six o'clock dinner at their home on Third Street, the occasion being her birthday. Invited guests were Emma Ruth Cavender, Barbara Homra, Martha Sisson, Barbara Rose Colley, Patsy Workman and Janice Lowe. After dinner the party went to the swimming pool, where swimming was enjoyed.

Little Miss Susan McDaniel was honored on her seventh birthday Thursday afternoon by her mother, Mrs. C. H. McDaniel at their home on Eddings Street. Guests were: Joe Ed Bush, Marilyn Glisson, Bob White, Jr., Joy Nelms, Sue Moore, David Clounts, Jr., Jackie Rawls, Mickey Rooney, Reta, Jane and Judy Keiser, Barbara Ann Boyd, Dorothea Shields, David Bush and Horace Yates. Those sending gifts, but not attending, were Bobby Dunn, Joe Johnson and Marilyn Blackstone.

Route Three, Fulton: Mac Lee Starks has employment at Hudson's in Detroit and likes it fine at $1.35 an hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford moved to their new house recently built by E. C. Lowry.

Lynnville: A Stanley party was given at the home of Mrs. Fred Burt, a household shower honoring her son, Donald, and wife. They received many nice gifts.

Pilot Oak: A crowd of church people had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Darius Emerson Wednesday of last week. Forty people enjoyed their hospitality.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams visited Mrs. Mary Collins Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Collins did a very interesting painting of Jesus and His sheep for Bible Union Church near Latham.

South Fulton: Mrs. Ruby Neisler is the new reporter for South Fulton for The News. Everyone is asked to call her and give her the news.

Rock Springs: Mr. and Mrs. James Veatch are the proud parents of a baby girl, born July 14 at Haw's Memorial Hospital. She has been named Brenda Jane.

The origins, nature, and disastrous effects of air and water pollution are examined in detail, as well as what is being done to alleviate the problems. The author has assessed the legislative and treatment measures and has found them to be stopgaps that gain time but are not keeping pace with the overall problem—Can man dump such a tremendous amount of waste into the air and water and still escape extinction? This timely and significant book is a "must-read" for every one concerned with the survival of the human species.

THE YEAR OF THE RACCOON by Lee Kingman. In this perceptive novel, Lee Kingman has drawn a realistic picture of a problem many young people face. As she explores Joe's relationships to his pet raccoon and the members of his family, the author reveals sensitively and often dramatically that there are many talents in life. As The Year of the Raccoon draws to its exciting climax, readers will feel convinced that Joe, after all, may have one of life's most valuable gifts.

Have you noticed the new holly shrub at the Fulton Public Library? This is another step in the beautification of the Library grounds. The shrub was donated by the Garden Department and Mrs. F. D. Phillips was the chairman of the project.

Wiggins, Mrs. Grady Varden and Mrs. Paul Boyd.

Mrs. E. D. Keiser entertained the St. Edward's Church bridge club Thursday night. There were two tables of players, with Mrs. Paul Westpheling winning high score prize and Mrs. Sidney Dyer receiving second high prize.

Mrs. J. A. Jones honored her daughter, Shirley, Friday evening with a six o'clock dinner at their home on Third Street, the occasion being her birthday. Invited guests were Emma Ruth Cavender, Barbara Homra, Martha Sisson, Barbara Rose Colley, Patsy Workman and Janice Lowe. After dinner the party went to the swimming pool, where swimming was enjoyed.

Little Miss Susan McDaniel was honored on her seventh birthday Thursday afternoon by her mother, Mrs. C. H. McDaniel at their home on Eddings Street. Guests were: Joe Ed Bush, Marilyn Glison, Bob White, Jr., Joy Nelms, Sue Moore, David Clounts, Jr., Jackie Rawls, Mickey Rooney, Reta, Jane and Judy Keiser, Barbara Ann Boyd, Dorothea Shields, David Bush and Horace Yates. Those sending gifts, but not attending, were Bobby Dunn, Joe Johnson, and Marilyn Blackstone.

Route Three, Fulton: Mac Lee Starks has employment at Hudson's in Detroit and likes it fine at $1.35 an hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford moved to their new house recently built by E. C. Lowry.

Lynnville: A Stanley party was given at the home of Mrs. Fred Burt, a household shower honoring her son, Donald, and wife. They received many nice gifts.

Pilot Oak: A crowd of church people had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Darius Emerson Wednesday of last week. Forty people enjoyed their hospitality.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams visited Mrs. Mary Collins Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Collins did a very interesting painting of Jesus and His sheep for Bible Union Church near Latham.

South Fulton: Mrs. Ruby Neisler is the new reporter for South Fulton for The News. Everyone is asked to call her and give her the news.

Rock Springs: Mr. and Mrs. James Veatch are the proud parents of a baby girl, born July 14 at Haw's Memorial Hospital. She has been named Brenda Jane.

FHS Grads Enjoy Gay Time At Class Reunions

Fulton High School colors of blue and white were beautifully entwined to decorate the Country Club on Saturday night when the classes of '46, '47, '48 and '49 climaxed their first reunion with a cocktail party, dinner and dance. Mrs. Jean Smith and Wendell Butts were chairmen of the memorable event which culminated festivities that began Friday afternoon.

It was Paul Kasnow, general chairman of the reunion who thoroughly enjoyed watching the families meet and register in the hospitality room of the Park Terrace on Friday.

A barbecue dinner, under the direction of William Moss Kimbell, was held at the Country Club on Friday night, when bald heads and mature figures tried to remember what their friends looked like about twenty years ago.

Classes met in separate dining rooms for a country ham breakfast at the Derby on Saturday morning when class wills and prophecies were read with delight.

One hundred and forty-eight children of class members had their day at City Park where Mr. and Mrs. Billy Parrish and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bard had arranged a picnic in their honor on Saturday afternoon.

Teen-age youngsters attended a dance at the Park Terrace on Saturday night arranged by Mrs. Jean Dallas and Mrs. Billy Joe King. Chaperones included Miss Polly Thompson, retired Terry-Norman School principal who taught at Carr Institute and Mrs. V. E. McAlister.

It was in the blue and white setting on Saturday night at the Country Club festivities that happy tears and laughter reigned when W. L. Holland recalled events when he was principal and they were students at Fulton High.

John Joe Campbell made the presentation of prizes won by several class members. Mrs. Betty Carter Sutcliffe of Petaluma, Calif., won a prize for coming from the most distant point; Col. Billy Murphey, for having the smallest amount of hair; Jerry Hyland of Owensboro for having the largest family (several tied with five children but as Jerry's wife is expecting their sixth child soon, it was decided he should be the winner); Miss Jackie Bard had the smallest waist and Dr. Jerre Lowe, the largest waist.

Dancing followed the dinner. Charles Andrews' Melody Men Orchestra played for the event.

Billy Joe Forrest looks around for his old pass-receiving buddy, Billy Mack Bone. The Forrest-to-Bone combination accounted for a lot of football yardage when these two were in school.

THE JOINT REUNION of the FHS grads from the classes of '46-7-8-9 was such fun we'd like to plan another in five years, said this smiling group at the Saturday evening banquet-dance at the Fulton Country Club. (from left): Mrs. Jerry Warren, Bill Fenwick, Jean Fenwick, Leon Mann, Carolyn Mann and Johnny Hyland.

If you look closely at the crowded dance floor you can see Helen Shelton, Virginia and C. D. Jones, Jimmy Carter and Wendal Butts.

Those registering for the reunion were:

Ellis Park Races Festival Board Met Open Season Saturday, July 22

They're off and running Saturday, July 22, at Ellis Park for 38 days with the Inaugural Handicap featuring the opening program of the track's 44th meeting. This event, offering a purse of $3,500 is fashioned for three-year-olds and up over six furlongs.

C. M. Wilson's Great Mary, the 1966 winner, is a likely contestant and likely defender of her laurel. She has flashed her winning speed at Miles Park this year and revealed a fondness for the Ellis Park footing last year by tying the six furlong record of 1:10 and setting a new mark of 1:17 for six and one half furlongs.

Three allowance races, each offering a $1,800 purse, bolster the initial card of nine races.

Miles Park and Cahokia Downs both closed July 15 and arrivals from the two tracks helped fill the 28 barns to their 800 stall capacity.

Secretary Charles Triplett anticipates full fields in the majority of races.

"Overall we have a better class of horses in the past years," Triplett said, "and the racing should be the best presented at Ellis Park."

"The track is by far the best it has ever been," said Charles M. Brown, assistant manager who has spent his life at thoroughbred establishments as track superintendent, trainer, owner, clocker, ident-ent, trainer, owner, clocker, ident-

"We put 300 loads of the finest sand I ever saw on the track last fall," Brown said, "and planted it in wheat which was cut and worked into the soil during May. Horses working out on the track last week after a heavy rain came off without any mud on 17. The track is tops."

Festival Board Met In Regular Session

The Banana Festival Board of Directors held its regular monthly meeting Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The board accepted the resignation of the treasurer, Leon Johnson, who is moving. A new treasurer will be named at a later date.

Mrs. Ward Bushart, president, announced the following new committee chairman:

Mrs. Nicky Forrester—Marimba Band.

T. S. Wade and Mrs. J. T. Nanney—Banana-A-Rama.

Bill Scott—Concessions.

Frank Welch—Thursday night dance with the Marimba Band.

Rita Craven—Teenage Princess Ball.

Mrs. Felix Gossum, Jr.—Publicity.

Company L To South Carolina August 12 - 26

Company L, located in Clinton, will travel to Fort Jackson, S. C., by chartered bus on August 12, First Lieutenant Ronald D. McCage announced today.

Three men from Fulton will be part of Kentucky's 3,000-man 100th Division (Training), which will be assigned to Fort Jackson from August 12-26 for its Annual Active Duty Training.

The men are SFC Robert C. Atwill, Wells St.; SP4 James W. Bushart, 209 4th St.; and PFC Alfred L. Bushart, 209 4th St.

The entire Division has not been to Fort Jackson since it was activated there in early October 1942. It trained there before receiving its overseas assignment in World War II.

One regiment of the 100th Division, the 400th, has been training at Fort Jackson, S. C., in the past few years because of the advanced infantry schooling facilities there. The remaining four regiments of the 100th have trained at Fort Knox.

Members of the division will train active Army recruits in basic combat training, weapons firing, first aid, drill and military courtesy. Recruits are also taught combat support specialties such as cooking, driving, mechanical work, clerical work and communications.

Once the division is set up at the South Carolina post, it will assume duties normally handled by active Army outfits.

"Welcome Home" activities are planned for the 100th when it returns to its birthplace (Fort Jackson) this summer.

FARM NEWS

Tennessee's acreage allotment for the 1968 wheat crop has been set at 216,707 acres, Ed Jones, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, has announced. This compares with the 1967 allotment of 249,198 acres and the 1966 allotment of 188,553 acres.

The 1968 national wheat allotment of 59.3 million acres compares with a 1967 allotment of 68.2 million acres and a 1966 allotment of 51.6 million acres.

As indicated in the announcement of the national allotment figures, the 1968 acreage allotment—with average weather—would provide a crop of approximately 1.5 billion bushels. A crop this size will balance with estimated domestic use of 735 million bushels and an export target of at least 750 million bushels during the 1968-69 marketing year which begins July 1, 1968.

Chairman Jones points out that eligibility for price-support loans and wheat marketing certificates, as in previous years will depend on farmers' meeting program provisions. Individual farm allotments for the 1968 wheat crop will be mailed to farm operators by the ASCS county office within the near future.

Other operating details for the 1968 wheat crop will be announced soon.

Do you qualify for "rent-a-train" low shipping rates?

This year we're putting $60 million into new equipment for shippers.

Ask BRAINFARE!

With distribution costs on the rise, shippers need to watch their pennies. The Illinois Central offers them all kinds of ways to save money. For instance, a shipper with a steady flow of high volume traffic may want to talk about his own train. That's one way he can profit from high utilization of equipment. It takes planning, which is BRAINFARE'S job. He may find that hiring even a small train can meet his market requirements. Our marketing research man (pictured above) contends that we can be your low cost carrier for distribution in Mid-America. He and his BRAINFARE team would like to prove it to you. Contact John W. Ingram, Asst. V.P., 135 E. 11th Place, Chicago, Ill. 60605. Phone 312-922-4811.

BRAINFARE is Illinois Central's new total warfare program against outmoded concepts of transportation. We've marshaled our best human and electronic brains into problem-solving task forces to zero in on your total distribution and marketing needs.

Third Industrial Institute Slated For Murray; All Businessmen Invited

Sessions of the third annual Kentucky Industrial Development Institute are set for August in six communities across the state under sponsorship of the Kentucky Department of Commerce and the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

Associate Commissioner of Commerce Leonard T. Kern said that he one-day institute programs are designed to show just what a community must do to make itself attractive to industry and how to deal successfully with an industrial prospect.

Kern said special emphasis will be given to the need for further development of industrial sites and parks; the key role of transportation in economic progress, and factors involved in working with representatives of prospective new industries.

Commerce Commissioner Katherine Peden will address each session of the Institute. Her topic will be "Kentucky's Development Program — Past, Present, and Future."

In the Purchase Area, the Institute session will be held at Murray State University on Tuesday, August 22.

The session will start at 9 a. m. and adjourn at 3 p. m. following a question and answer period. The registration fee is $10, which covers cost of publications, other materials and luncheon.

Institute leaders will include industrial development experts from the Department of Commerce, the Department of Highways, the Kentucky Chamber, utility firms, transportation companies, and communities with successful development programs.

Last year, more than 240 community development leaders attended the institute.

W. S. C. S. Enjoys Family Style Picnic

Rev. Russell Rodgers filled his appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday at 11:00 which was the announced time for the summer revival. Rev. Bobby Pruitt is the visiting minister and services will be held daily through this week. Afternoon services are at 2:30 and night services at 8:00. The public is invited to attend each of these services.

Mrs. Cecil Hall left the past week for her home in Detroit after spending a few months with her sister, Mrs. Roy Brown in South Fulton, and brothers W. J. Reed and M. A. Reed, District No. 17, and other relatives. She saw old friends and made new ones.

Mrs. Dave Mallis isn't feeling so well but is up and around most of the time.

The small son of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Turbeville fell from a pick-up truck the past week and suffered a fractured skull. He is the grand-son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fagans. Every good wish is extended to the injured lad.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones and children left last Wednesday for their home in Akron, Ohio after a weeks vacation here with relatives. They also attended the funeral of their uncle Mr. Wess Jones while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Mathis, Akron, Ohio, spent vacation here with parents Mr. and Mrs. Daye Mathis, this village and all relations in this locality. They left for home this past Saturday.

Mr. T. T. Harris is still doing nicely at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Byassee, since he got here 10 days ago, from Orlando, Florida, accompanying them through by motor. He is enjoying seeing friends around here, where he formerly lived.

Your writer, accompanied by my grand-daughter, Mrs. Jimmy Argo, and children Chad and Kimberly, returned Sunday from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Frieleds and son Kerry, in Tullahoma, Tenn. We had a nice visit while there. Other points of interest were a trip to Shelbyville, and the Nut Cave Trout Farm, so famous for fishing. It was very interesting to see so many trout, from the pools of water where tiny ones are placed, on to different areas of different sizes and into the small lake where the catch is made. The owner of this trout farm feeds and cares for them each day and it must be a paradise for all sportsmen.

Mrs. Lou Virgie King

Mrs. Lou Virgie King, widow of Britt King, died Sunday afternoon at the McAlister Rest Home.

Services were held Tuesday afternoon at Hornbeak Funeral Home Chapel with Rev. R. H. Sullivan and Rev. Charles Jobe officiating. Interment was in Arlington Cemetery.

Survivors include one daughter Mrs. E. L. Merryman, Fulton; a son, E. L. King, Memphis; five grandchildren, D. M. Merryman, Fulton, Mary Lou Rushton, Fulton, our neighbor, but rather, that we should LOVE him. We must love our neighbor as ourselves. Sometimes we use religion itself as excuse for not loving our neighbor. We condemn those who do not believe as we do.

Christ was so insistent upon the commandment of love, that he tells us if we go before the altar to worship and there realize that our neighbor has an offense against us, then leave your gifts at the altar and go first and be reconciled to your neighbor. St. Paul tells us that even were we to speak with the "tongues of men and angels," and do not have love, we are as empty noise. "even if we have faith so as to move mountains" and do not have love, it is to no avail. Yes, Auntie, love is even greater than faith. "The greatest of these is love." Christ preached this when he told of the good Samaritan, who was not lead to the temple by faith, but was lead to the ditch by love. The men of "faith" were going up to the temple indeed to pray to God whom they could not see, while they had no time for loving the neighbor whom they refused to see. They are liars and cursed by God. What a shock it must have been at their judgment, when all the time they thought they had been religious people. And after all our church-going, might not we too be judged liars and cursed.

Love is the very foundation of Christianity, without it there is no religion and faith is in vain, no matter what denomination it is.

Loving Nephew, Mousie

Introducing Our Churches - God's Agency For Spreading His Love

CHRISTIAN CHURCH, HICKMAN, KENTUCKY

According to a Kentucky History published in 1885, in the records of Fulton County, the following excerpt, "The first church edifice was erected about 1840, a frame building 20 x 40, used for school purposes also." It stood on the ground owned by C. L. Randle (now the property of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Vorhees). The present site of the Christian Church was bought in an exchange of property. The site of the present Hickman or Fulton County Elementary School was owned by the trustees of the Christian Church, and the present location of the Christian Church was owned by the Lutherans, who also used the building as a school.

Records of the Fulton County Court Clerk's office show: Exchange of property, DB-15, pages 194-195, July 7, 1888, James H. Saunders, Elder, S. W. Lauderdale, Deacon, S. W. Powell, Deacon, Trustees, Christian Church.

"For years the Christian church existed, but the property became involved in debt during the Civil War and for a time was suspended or inactive, meeting only on the first day of the week" — excerpt from history.

The old church burned in 1914 and meetings on the first day of the week were held in the court room of the court house. All records of births, deaths and the histories were destroyed in the fire.

In 1918 the present church building was erected, and dedicated on July 8, 1918. The minister is Rev. N. T. Patton, who has served the church a little more than seven years.

FT. LEONARD WOOD, MO.—Army Private Dwight D. Brown, 18, son of Mrs. Willie L. Deberry, Route 4, Hickman, Ky., completed an eight-week construction machine operator course at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., July 10.

He was trained in the operation of grading bulldozers and learned the techniques of cutting ditches and forming draining systems.

SAIGON, VIETNAM, July 7 — Seaman Brantford C. McClure Jr., USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brantford C. McClure of Rt. 1, Wingo, Kentucky, arrived in Vietnam to serve with the U. S. Naval Support Activity, Saigon.

The command provides logistic and administrative support for Navy Forces in three of the four Corps areas in Vietnam.

These include small-boat forces used in the Navy's efforts to prevent infiltration of enemy men and equipment by sea or by river in the Southern Delta area.

SUBIC BAY, PHILIPPINES July 10 — Seaman John C. Rice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Rice of 212 Browder St., Fulton, Ky., is serving at the Naval Base, Subic Bay, Republic of the Philippines.

Subic Bay is the Seventh Fleet's "service station and supermarket" on the South China Sea.

With the current Vietnamese crisis, Subic Bay has greatly increased its significance. The largest naval complex of its kind in the Western Pacific, it is a strategic point as a refuel, resupply and repair station for the ships and a rest and recreation facility for the men of the Seventh Fleet.

FT. LEONARD WOOD, MO.—Army Private Danny L. Burns, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey L. Burns, Route 4, Fulton, Ky., completed eight weeks of advanced training as a combat engineer July 7 at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

During his training, he received instruction in combat squad tactics, use of infantry weapons and engineer reconnaissance.

He also was trained in the techniques of road and bridge building, camouflage, and demolitions.

FT. LEONARD WOOD, MO.—Army Private Henry D. Sanders, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sanders, Route 2, Hickman, Ky., completed eight weeks of advanced training as a combat engineer July 7 at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

During his training, he received instruction in combat squad tactics, use of infantry weapons and engineer reconnaissance.

Former Mayfield Boy Taxi Driver Is Imperial Potentate

The highest position in Shrinism has been awarded to Thomas F. Seay, a native of Mayfield, Kentucky, who left home at the age of 15 to drive a taxi in Paducah.

Seay, has been selected imperial potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. In this capacity he becomes chairman of the board of the Shrine's 19 hospitals for crippled children throughout the world and is expected to travel more than 225,000 miles during his year as potentate.

Seay held numerous jobs since his days as a taxi driver and steadily worked his way toward being one of Chicago's major real estate developers known as Seay and Thomas, Inc. He is also a director of the United Bank of America, the Aetna Bank and the All American Life and Casualty Company. He has served as past potentate of the Shrine's Medinah Temple in Chicago, president of the Chicago Real Estate Board and a director of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

He also was trained in the techniques of road and bridge building, camouflage, and demolitions.

KY HA, VIETNAM July 12—Marine Sergeant William P. Sheehan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Sheehan of Route 4, Fulton, Ky., is at the Marine Air Facility in Ky Ha, Vietnam serving as a member of Marine Observation Squadron Six, a unit of the First Marine Aircraft Wing.

His squadron is a part of the Marine Corps air-ground team utilizing the UH-1E "Huey" helicopter to attack enemy personnel and emplacements, provide armed escort for troop transport helicopters, and to make aerial observation flights.

FT. LEONARD WOOD, MO.—Army Private Anthony D. Burcham, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Burcham, Route 4, Union City, Tenn., completed eight weeks of advanced training as a combat engineer July 7 at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

During his training, he received instruction in combat squad tactics, use of infantry weapons and engineer reconnaissance.

He also was trained in the techniques of road and bridge building, camouflage, and demolitions.

His wife, Jo Ann, lives on Route 4, Hickman, Ky.

Result Of Battle

The Battle of Tippecanoe in 1811 broke the power of the Indians north of the Ohio River and thus made Eastern Kentucky attractive to settlers.

RESOLUTION

The following resolution, expressing the gratitude and respect of the Fulton School Board for W. L. Holland, was adopted at the Board meeting July 11:

Whereas, On 1 July 1967, W. L. Holland retired from active service with the Fulton City Independent Schools after 38 years as coach, teacher, principal, and Superintendent, and;

Whereas, during this period he has served the system with loyalty, devotion, and dignity befitting the teaching profession, and;

Whereas, he has guided, counseled, led and inspired the students of the City of Fulton both from a professional standpoint and by example, and;

Whereas, through his diligent efforts the public education system of the Fulton Independent School District has compiled a record to be envied by all as evidenced by the performance of students going on to pursue higher education;

Now, Therefore Be It Resolved that W. L. Holland is accorded the highest accolades of the Fulton Independent Board of Education and a heartfelt "thank you" for his years of devotion and;

Be It Further Resolved that this Board wishes him the very best in his retirement and extends to him their hope that his future endeavors be as successful as his past performance.

DUKEDOM NEWS

By Mrs. Hillman Westbrook

Knob Creek Church of Christ announces that their revival will begin July 23. Bro. Charles Wall, pastor, will bring both messages on Sunday with Bro. James Schockley of Mayfield being the speaker for the other services. These are to be each night at 8:00 through Sunday, July 30. You are invited to all of these meetings.

Mrs. Lewis Cole enjoyed her birthday Sunday when the children all came home bringing covered dishes for the noon meal. Those present were Mr. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Kennedy, lately of Dresden, but in the process of moving to Nashville, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Davis and Donnie Kay of Martin, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Owens and Donna of Paris, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Watkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Watkins and Stephanie of Dukedom.

Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Watkins attended the Atkins family reunion at Greenfield of which Mr. Watkins is a member.

Mr. and Mrs. Durrell McCall went to Jackson Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams who are in the hospital and are not making much progress toward recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Burton are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Travis Dacus, having just returned from their honeymoon trip to California. They will make their home in Waterloo, Ill., where both are employed as teachers.

Mr. Loyd Wilds is a patient in Fulton Hospital where he is undergoing tests and treatment.

Mr. George Cunningham is still in Hillview Hospital where his condition is about the same.

Mrs. Ada Bowen, sister of Mrs. W. W. Cunningham is in a critical condition at Fulton Hospital.

Mrs. May Byars enjoyed a birthday dinner at the home of her son Bates on Sunday. She received a large number of cards and visits at her home in Fulton on Saturday.

Miss Ruth Darnell returned home Saturday from Gatlinburg where she has been enrolled in a summer work-hop.

Mrs. A. C. Bell was scheduled for surgery at Baptist Hospital in Memphis on Monday. She has been receiving treatments there the past ten days.

RECORDS HELP

Most dairymen have a special cow that they like to brag about and Mr. Haywood Green of the Mason Hall area is no exception for he has a cow called DOT that he is very proud of and he likes to tell her record. The first day for this lactation of Dot on July 5, 1967, Mr. Green got 101 pounds of milk from Dot.

Another reason for Mr. Green, who is a director of the West Tennessee Artificial Breeding Association, to be proud of Dot is because she is a product of the West Tennessee Artificial Breeders Association at Yorkville. Dot is a five year old Holstein cow sired by Magician Rosemere (H15), produced during first lactation in 302 days, 12,270 pounds milk, and 435 pounds butterfat. During her second lactation in 305 days, 17,580 pounds milk, and 561 pounds of butterfat or if calculated to 365 days, 20,240 pounds milk and 668 pounds butterfat.

Haywood Green is a firm believer in Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) records, and has been a member for 4 years. The first year he was a member in 1962 his dairy herd averaged a little over 8,000 pounds of milk per cow, and by improving at the rate of 1,000 lbs. per year, he closed out the 1966 year at 12,000 pounds of milk per cow. This year he is working toward bumping over the 13,000 of milk per cow average. Mr. Green is convinced that without using his DHIA Records which are electronically computed by IBM Machines he would not even be close to reaching the 13,000 pounds of milk per cow record. If you're a dairyman, you should talk to Haywood Green about the DHIA association and Artificial Breeding Association.

The Annual Meeting of the West Tennessee Artificial Breeding Association will be held at 7:00 p. m., July 24, Town House Restaurant in Trenton.

TAKE TIME

Take time to do this work with your herd of Beef Cattle. The job we are talking about is separating your cows with big heifer calves from the herd bull. Take the early heifer calves and their mothers and put them in a separate pasture. We get more criticism in regards to feeder calf sales from selling bred heifers than any other one thing. To start with it is expensive to producers and several have had to make rebates back on bred heifers. If you don't pull your bulls out of the pasture and July is a good month to pull the bulls, take out the cows with the big heifer calves. This little phase of beef cattle management will pay big dividends. Don't get caught this year.

Lions Elect International President

Jorge Bird of San Juan, Puerto Rico, was elected President of Lions International at the Association's Golden Anniversary Convention in Chicago, July 5-8. Serving as the 51st President during the Golden Anniversary Year, Mr. Bird heads the world's largest service club organization with 835,000 members in 21,400 clubs located in 137 countries and geographical areas. Lions International is best known for its aid to the blind, sight conservation activities, youth programs and its many community service projects. "Better World Understanding Through Lionism," and development of a stronger friendship between North and South America are the goals of Bird's program for his 1967-68 Presidential Year.

MOTORIST VIEW OF HIGHWAY STRIPER—This may be a familiar scene to Kentucky motorists this summer. State Highway Commissioner Mitchell W. Tindler says that machines of this type will paint 12,000 miles of stripes down the center of Kentucky's highways during the next few months. Tindler said highway travel may at times be slightly hampered where his department is carrying on this work.

YOUNGSTER CAN OUTGROW TOYS, TOO!

Just as a spring wardrobe replaces his outgrown winter clothing, the pre-schooler needs a new wardrobe of toys with his new "seasons" of growth. By now, the toys your child received last Christmas are probably "too small" for him—no longer challenging or interesting. After all, he is several months older and it is during these preschool years that he grows faster, learns more, encounters more new experiences, and meets and solves more problems than at any other period of his lifetime. His toys are his tools and "textbooks" of learning.

The pre-schooler discovers his world through play, and he does so in giant steps. It's no surprise that he outgrows his toys just as he does his shirts and shoes. When his wrist hangs well below his shirt cuff, he will still keep growing. But when his imagination is no longer stimulated by his playthings, his intellectual growth may not keep pace with his physical growth. His rapidly growing skills require new and challenging playthings. A few new toys to pace his growth every month or two are better than many toys only once or twice a year at Christmas and birthdays.

Along with toys that "fit," your child needs a creative environment for play, according to Playkool Research. You can help by providing these things:

- Opportunity to play, to learn, and discover at his own pace, in whatever directions of interest that his imagination and curiosity take him, within the limits of safety.
- Opportunity to make mistakes—to build, to tear down, to explore, to experiment, to test, without criticism.
- Parental acceptance, appreciation, and encouragement of his efforts.
- Option to play alone or with others.
- Room to play where he is free to exercise his beginning skills and to play safely without restriction.
- Adult guidance only when it is sought by the child. Ideally, it is guidance-by-indirection which simply points the way for a child to use his own imagination, intelligence, and skills in finding answers.

For additional information about a creative environment for play and how to select playthings for the fast-growing pre-schooler write for "Playthings to Shape a Child's World" from Playkool Research, Box 3342, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

2 Years of Helping People Help Themselves

On the eve of the Fourth of July, the mother of four suffered slashing pains in her chest.

Her husband, an Army specialist, was in Vietnam. She had no one to care for the children, so she took them all along when she rushed to Brooke Army Medical Center at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for treatment. The hospital admitted the mother and kept the children in the pediatric ward overnight.

Early on the holiday morning, the Army Community Service Center was ready with a helping hand. Two volunteer workers went to the hospital, planning to have two children stay at each of their homes while the mother remained in the hospital.

But the children seemed so frightened and concerned that the women felt they should not be separated. So one of the volunteers took all four to her own home. And arrangements were made in cooperation with the American Red Cross to bring the father home.

This incident, which occurred just three weeks before the Army Community Service (ACS) Program marks its second anniversary on July 25, points out the place where Army members and their dependents can get help when they need it, 24 hours a day—even on holidays.

The young and growing ACS program, through the efforts of Army personnel and dedicated volunteers—mostly service wives—has become a supermarket where anyone in the Army community can shop for assistance.

By helping people to help themselves, ACS aims at improving the social functioning of the Army community by preventing or reducing the disruptive influences faced by military families and by helping people seek answers to their personal problems.

ACS centers at Army installations, which cooperate with established health, education, and welfare facilities, can be of service on a wide variety of problems. Representative areas of ACS help include: housing, medical and dental care, legal and financial assistance, care of handicapped children, indebtedness, other personal problems, travel, and shipment of household goods.

And when family emergencies arise, an ACS volunteer can be a comforting friend. The ACS center at Fort Richardson, Alaska, was asked this spring to provide an escort for a recent widow who was flying from Alaska to Chicago. An ACS volunteer stepped in to care for the woman until she reached her family.

For families whose sponsors are going overseas to unaccompanied areas, ACS centers have developed a special program, aiding in problems of relocation and doing everything possible to soften hardships while fathers are away.

Servicemen overseas are especially encouraged to inform their families about the ACS program. All dependents need do to receive advice or assistance on a personal or family problem is to visit the nearest Army installation and ask for the Army Community Service Officer.

As the ACS program enters its third year, it continues to grow and improve its ability to aid the Army community, with the motto, "Self-help, Service, and Stability." (ANF)

ON THE TRAIL—Kentucky State Parks offer some of the best hiking opportunities in the nation, a fact to which this group will attest. More than 80 miles of well-marked trails meander through 16 State Parks. Naturalists at five parks conduct daily hikes to points of particular interest, exploring rock formations and identifying wildflowers and shrubs. Many trails have historical significance.

Second Workshop Scheduled At MSU

MURRAY, Ky. — Ten high schools in five states will send 21 students to Murray State University's second summer Newspaper Workshop which will open July 23.

The Kentucky schools participating will be Ballard Memorial High, Heath High, Hopkinsville, St. Mary High and Trigg County High.

Tennessee schools will be Dyersburg and Lake County of Tiptonville.

The other three schools taking part will be Reitz High, Evansville, Ind.; Pope County High, Golconda, Ill.; and Perryville, Mo.

Class instruction will cover the major phases of producing high school newspapers: news, editorials, features, columns, sports, headlines, and makeup.

Three Murray State staff members will teach the courses. They are Joe Tom Erwin, sports information director; Wayne A. Norton, public information director; and L. H. Edmondson, adviser to the Murray State News.

Miss Higgins Is Bride Of Mr. Smothers

SOUTH FULTON, Tenn., July 15—On July 1, at 11 a.m. the Assembly of God Church in Union City was the setting for the wedding of Miss Marilyn Laura Higgins to Larry Dale Smothers.

Miss Higgins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Higgins of South Fulton Rt. 3. She was in the 1965 graduating class of South Fulton High School, and attended Murray State University the past two years.

Mr. Smothers is the son of Mrs. Idella Smothers of Union City, and the late Mr. Smothers. He was in the class of 1965 at Union City High School and is employed at Henry I. Siegel Company in South Fulton.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. E. C. Davis of Union City.

The bride was attired in a street-length white sheath dress complimented by white accessories.

The only attendants were Richard Simmons of Fulham, and Mrs. Idella Smothers, mother of the groom. Only the immediate family and friends attended.

After a short honeymoon to the lake, the couple now resides in Union City.

Luncheon Is Given For Miss Hardy

FULTON, Ky., July 15—Miss Jenny Lou Hardy, bride-elect of Robert Bagwell, was complimented with a luncheon Thursday, June 13, at the home of Mrs. Robert Thompson, with Mrs. James Wade as co-hostess.

The honoree chose from her trousseau a yellow cotton dress and her gift corsage was of pompons. The hostess gift was a brass vase.

The guest list, in addition to Miss Hardy, included her mother, Mrs. W. W. Hardy, Mrs. Willard Bagwell of Union City, mother of the bridegroom-elect; Mesdames R. B. Watts, Ralph D. Hardy, Mansfield Martin, Mildred Anderson, Ward Burette, C. E. Underwood, Alice Sowell, Mac Burrow, John Burrow, Grace Andrews, Estone Browder, Harvey Linder, Charles Powell; Misses Sandra Bagwell, Marilyn Hardy and the hostesses.

Barbara Ann Vaughan, J. L. Grooms Jr. Are United In Marriage

FULTON, Ky., July 15—The Wesley Methodist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Barbara Ann Vaughan and James Lowell Grooms Jr. on Sunday, June 18, at 3 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Vaughan of Wingo, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Grooms of Fulton.

The Rev. Norman Crittenden, Methodist minister of Covington, Tenn., performed the double-ring ceremony.

The vows were exchanged before a white satin pillowed prie-dieu, accented by a tall basket of white gladioli on either side. Also, used in the decorations were branched candelabra, burning with tall white wedding candles and roped with smilax and pairs of white wedding bells.

Garlands of smilax decorated the pulpit rail. Marking the family pews were white satin bows.

Mrs. Calvin Elliott of Duplo, Ill., kept the register.

While the guests assembled, a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Nancy Conn, pianist, and Miss Maggie Conn and Mrs. Sandra Vaughan, soloists.

Preceding the ceremony, the candles were lighted by Perry Jo Williams and James Turbeville, who also served as ushers.

The bride, entering with her brother-in-law, Dewey Medley of St. Claire Shores, Mich., who gave her in marriage, wore a formal gown of white bridal satin, fashioned along empire lines. It featured a round neckline accented with white lace, and full-length calla pointed sleeves. A chapel-length train, edged in white white lace, was attached at the raised waist.

Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was doubled and fell from a white satin coronet which was topped with a spray of white flowers. White streamers flowed from her bouquet of Stephanotis which was topped with an orchid. She carried these atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Jessie Meadows served her sister as matron-of-honor, and Mrs. Billy Grooms, sister-in-law of the groom, was bridesmaid. They wore identical floor-length gowns of sleeveless perma-lace in tones of blue. They wore matching rosette crowns of medium blue satin with illusion veils of the same shade and each carried two long-stemmed white carnations tied with white satin ribbons.

The groom chose his brother, Billy Grooms, for his best man, and Don Jones as groomsmen.

The mother of the bride was attired in a light weight white and gray print. Her accessories were white. The groom's mother wore a summer frock of deep orchid hue. Her accessories were white and orchid. Both Mrs. Vaughan and Mrs. Grooms wore corsages of white carnations.

When the couple left for their wedding trip, the bride was wearing a dress of blue cotton, crinkle crepe with white trim, and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Health Tips From AMA

The traditional summer vacation of the American family is highly recommended by your doctor. The family needs to get away from customary home and office chores, forget day-to-day worries for a short time and generally get rejuvenated and ready to face another year.

Whether your vacation will be a short trip to a nearby lake, camping out in a national park, a plane trip abroad, or what have you, there are a few things to keep in mind that will help avoid having the holiday spoiled by illness.

Depending on where you're going, you may need some vaccination shots. Tetanus, certainly, for anyone who expects to include some out-of-doors activities. Typhoid, if your journey includes areas where the water supply is uncertain. Smallpox, if you're planning to leave the United States to visit a foreign land. Ask your doctor about these, and possibly other, immunizations.

The American Medical Association suggests that you remind yourself to use common sense about your vacation diet. Many a family trip has been spoiled by too many roadside hamburgers and soft drinks. A sound rule while driving cross-country is to eat lightly. Be cautious about heavy, rich meals, particularly if you're not accustomed to such fare at home.

Know what sort of climate you will encounter at your vacation spot and dress accordingly. It can get cold in the mountains at night, even in midsummer. Good walking shoes are important to the travel wardrobe.

If you wear glasses, take along an extra pair. Or at least a copy of your prescription. If you're taking a regular medication, make certain of your supply before you leave.

And, finally, don't overdo it. Almost no one other than a trained athlete is ready for 36 holes of golf or five sets of tennis under a broiling sun. Schedule your vacation to allow daily rest periods. Do most of the driving in the morning hours and stop for the evening in early or mid-afternoon.

Your vacation should be a holiday for rest and relaxation. It should not be a grind that necessitates another vacation to rest up from the vacation.

Heat --- Take It Easy This Summer

You can't really beat the heat. Whether it's the heat or the humidity or both, it's hot in almost all of the United States in July. After weeks of sweating and steaming, it's not uncommon to find the heat is beginning to wear you down.

You can't do anything about the outside temperature. You can avoid it if you're fortunate enough to work and live in air-conditioned comfort, but it still will be hot outside.

The American Medical Association points out that there are some things you can do to be more comfortable—things that can help you beat the heat.

Stay out of the sun as much as possible, especially during the middle of the day when rays are hottest. Wear light, loose clothing. The ladies have an edge over the men in this respect. Drink more liquids than usual, but take extra salt only on your physician's advice, particularly if you have liver or kidney trouble or a heart condition.

Take a shower or dip in the pool once or twice a day to cool off. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Eat your regular diet and don't go overboard on cold cuts and salads, unless you like them anyway.

Get up early in the morning to do your heavy work on the lawn or garden. Or work at dusk in the evening, but try to avoid heavy exertion during the hottest hours of the day. There is a sound physical reason behind the siesta custom of the tropics.

You need exercise in the summer as well as in the winter, but don't overdo it, especially on extra hot days. Don't overdo physical exertion, whether at work or at play.

The more relaxed outdoor life of the summer months has many advantages to compensate for the heat. Stay relaxed and use common sense and you can beat the heat—at least somewhat.

Molded Salad Refreshingly Good

This salad beauty is refreshingly good—and a breeze to prepare. Apricots provide gay color contrast and a tempting flavor accent for the lime gelatin base, made creamy smooth and a delicate seafoam green with double-rich evaporated milk. Creamed cottage cheese, celery and pecans are stirred in for total good eating.

Apricot Lime Salad

- | | |
|---|---------------------------------|
| 1 can (1 lb.) whole peeled apricots | 2 tablespoons lemon juice |
| 1 pkg. (3 oz.) lime flavored
gelatin | 1 cup creamed cottage
cheese |
| 1 cup evaporated milk | 1/2 cup diced celery |
| | 1/2 cup chopped pecans |

Drain apricots, saving syrup. Cut apricots in half, discarding pits. Place 6 halves on bottom of a lightly oiled 5-cup ring mold. Cut up remaining halves and set aside. Measure apricot syrup, then add water to make 1 cup liquid. Heat over low heat to boiling. Pour over lime gelatin in a medium size mixing bowl; stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Cool. Gradually stir evaporated milk into cooled gelatin, then stir in lemon juice. (Mixture may look curdled, but this does not affect finished salad.) Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites, stirring occasionally to keep smooth. Fold in cottage cheese, celery, pecans and apricot pieces. Spoon mixture carefully over apricots in ring mold. Chill until set, 3 to 4 hours. Makes 8 servings.

Southland Beauty Contest
Set For Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — August 30th through September 3rd has been set as the date for the 26th Annual Cinderella Holiday at Daytona Beach, featuring the Miss Southland Beauty Contest, a unique contest in that only young women who earn part of their livelihood are eligible to enter. Young professional beauty contestants and models are not eligible to be participants.

While fabulous awards go to the winners, the Greater Daytona Beach Area rolls out the red carpet for the visiting young career women. Balls, parades, games and contests, dog racing, sky diving, block parties, are just part of the events planned for the entertainment of Miss Southland Beauty Contestants. Young women between the age of 17 and 25, who are single and never have been married, and who earn at least a part of their own livelihood, are eligible for the four-day Cinderella Holiday where they will be guests at the Daytona Plaza Hotel, one of Florida's most fabulous beach hotels, and where from the moment they enter the contest and are presented a key to the City by his Honor, the Mayor of Daytona Beach, will be in the limelight for the duration of their visit.

An entry blank and full particulars will be mailed to interested young women. Just send your name and address, along with a snapshot and resume of yourself, to CINDERELLA HOLIDAY — P. O. Box 1625, Daytona Beach, Fla., and those chosen will have the opportunity to open doors that could be most important to their future. Since only 25 contestants can be accepted, those who are interested should send for their entry blanks at their earliest opportunity.

To Offer Master's On Water Resources

KNOXVILLE — Beginning in September, the University of Tennessee will offer a master's degree degree in water resource development. Dr. Hilton A. Smith, vice president for graduate studies and research, said the course is designed primarily to prepare graduate students for positions involving planning, directing and coordinating the work of water resource agencies.

Reunion Planned
At Reelfoot

A family reunion of the relatives of Mrs. H. V. Huffstutter of Obion and Mrs. L. B. Langley of Newbern is being planned for July 23 at Blue Bank at Reelfoot Lake. All friends and relatives of the families are invited to bring a picnic lunch and come to the lake for the get-together.

Allen To Lead
Revival Series

The Rev. Ronald Allen of Troy will be the evangelist next week at revival services scheduled at the Sanders Chapel Methodist Church, the Rev. M. K. Harris, pastor, has announced.

Services will begin Sunday and continue through Friday, July 21, and get under way at 8 each night. The public is invited.

To ease the discomfort of his 10 year old son, Dr. John B. Dunlop developed the pneumatic tire one day in 1888. A veterinary surgeon of Belfast, Ireland, Dr. Dunlop fitted an air valve to a rubber tube. He slipped this inside a larger tube. He then bound this to a wheel and pumped air into it. So, the air-filled tire was born. You can see the tire, wheel, and other accessories of the first horseless carriages among the 30,000 items at the Harold Warp Pioneer Village in Minden, Nebraska.

IC, GM&O Railroads Resume Merger Talks

NEW ORLEANS—The Illinois Central Railroad and the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad have reopened formal merger discussions.

No definite decisions have been reached, but additional conferences are planned, according to an announcement by Glen Brock, president of GM&O, and William B. Johnson, president of Illinois Central and its parent company, Illinois Central Industries Inc.

The announcement noted that the Illinois Central has been the largest stockholder in GM&O for some time.

In February it was reported that the two roads had been holding formal discussions for several months to decide whether to open formal negotiations.

The possibility of a merger first was broached about 10 years ago but apparently wasn't actively pursued until the early 1960s, when the Chicago & North Western Railway purchased about 13% of the GM&O's outstanding stock. Jarred by that development the GM&O's management turned to the Illinois Central and a merger study was formally begun. Negotiations between the two roads dragged on for several years, however, apparently without making much headway. And in 1965, the talks were described as "still open" but without new developments. Meanwhile in 1963, the Illinois Central acquired about 9% of the GM&O's outstanding stock when the North Western sold its interest. Both roads operate over north-south routes and in mid-March Mr. Johnson confirmed that the Illinois Central planned to pursue more aggressive acquisition tactics. He said the policy was one of building "a strong Lakes-to-Gulf railroad."

In 1966, the Illinois Central reported gross revenue of $286,968,615. GM&O's gross last year was $30,946,563.

It's Time For... EYE CARE

Dr. Newton K. Wesley
DRIVING AND VISION

Vision requirements in most states have tightened for drivers. Only South Dakota permits a person to drive a car without taking a driver's test. Some states permit the driver to wear contact lenses, asking only that he present a card showing he is a wearer of the tiny vision aids.

Motor transportation has increased at such a high rate in recent years that 6 million people are examined each year for driver's licenses. 13 of our states require visual examinations upon license application. Much pressure is presently being exerted to include such examinations in the other 39 states. At 6 million drivers each year, it seems reasonable to suppose that many of these new motorists need some type of vision correction.

One good law missing in all 50 states is a test for night vision or glare resistance. Some states restrict a driver to daytime motoring if he has a deficiency, but some provision should be made to include a night driving test.

Many people know they should be wearing glasses while driving and do not wear any type of correction. The Driving Research Laboratory of Iowa State College states that 60 per cent of the general adult population require glasses but only half of them wear them.

If you are one of the 6 million drivers in this country, you should be sure you are driving with your vision at its best. Have your eyes examined soon.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

Is This Leadership?

HERE is a statement by Theodore Roosevelt: "People always used to say to me that I was an astonishingly good politician because I divined what the people were going to think. This really was not an accurate way of stating the case. I did not 'divine' how the people were going to think: I simply made up my mind what they ought to think, and then did my best to get them to think it." There has been a vast deterioration in public and private morals, and in the integrity and honor of statesmen, since Theodore Roosevelt revealed his attitude as a statesman. How many of our leaders today could say as much for themselves?

Dr. Kershner

Has it not become the well established practice of our public officials and candidates to take poll after poll before they announce their policies? After the polls have revealed the way the tide is running, then the public officials or the candidates announce, with whatever show of bravery and firmness they can command, what they think about the issue in question and what they propose to do about it. We may not realize it, but the revolution that has taken place in our political leadership means that the leaders are no longer leaders at all, but on the other hand, are following the mob. Where is the bold leader today who determines objectively what is right and good for our country and then goes out to sell his ideas to the electorate?

In the great days of our country that's what our statesmen did. Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton and the others argued long and earnestly over the principles upon which they believed government should be based. Having carefully thought out their positions they strove earnestly to convert men to their way of thinking. Few of them surrendered their own principles just because they thought it would get them more votes. They earnestly advocated the courses of action in which they believed, in the hope of getting votes by changing the thinking of the electorate.

It is a sad situation, very discouraging indeed and perhaps fatal to the future wellbeing of our country, that, with few exceptions, we have lost our political leadership. Our fate is in the hands — not of strong men of character and principles — but of opportunists who have few principles of their own, and who, by and large, are among our least capable citizens. But if we have reached the point where our most gifted people are not going to lead, but are merely going to follow the masses, because that is the only way to get elected, then most assuredly we shall not be able to compete with the countries whose destinies are shaped and directed by comparatively few of their most gifted people.

Buggy whips, contrary to reports, were not carried by the drivers of horseless carriages to beat off vengeful horses. They were used to chase cows and dogs off the roads. At the Harold Warp Pioneer Village in south central Nebraska, visitors can see vintage auto's with buggy whips, and many other unusual items of yesteryear.

The bicycle has not changed since 1887, when Starley introduced his "safety" bike. The safety of "Low Rover", using the same 15 to 1 gear ratio with smaller wheels and a larger sprocket, was scorned by the high-wheeled "He-Men" for many years. At the Harold Warp Pioneer Village in south central Nebraska, you can view all the changes of the bicycle from the hobby horse of 1816 to the modern bike.

reached the point where our most gifted people are not going to lead, but are merely going to follow the masses, because that is the only way to get elected, then most assuredly we shall not be able to compete with the countries whose destinies are shaped and directed by comparatively few of their most gifted people.
