Truman Signs Bill Allowing Credit Buying

All Installment Purchase Control Will End Nov. 1

CRITICIZES BILL

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—President Truman today signed legislation killing all controls on installment buying Nov. 1, 1947.

The president said he regretted that Congress did not follow the recommendation of the Federal Reserve Board and of the Council of Economic Advisers "by enacting legislation to provide for continuing as long as necessary regulation of consumer credit as a means of helping to promote economic stability."

Mr. Truman had asked for specific peacetime authority to regulate the American institution known as the "easy payment plan," as a bulwark against inflationary tendencies.

But Congress, instead, sent him a bill intended to force an end to the credit curbs in three months.

In a statement criticizing the legislation the president said:

"It is unfortunate that the Congress did not provide for restraints on over-expansion of installment credit in order to diminish inflationary pressures arising from this course."

Mr. Truman observed that continuation of present controls for the next three months has been "permitted and implied by the Congress," and he added that "this is preferable to immediate abandonment of these restraints."

"For that reason," the president continued, "I have signed the joint resolution."

He said it would be "far better to reduce prices rather than to relax terms in seeking new customers."

The restraints on installment buying were instituted in wartime under economic control authority within the "trading-with-the-enemy" act. The president said that under the circumstances he felt there should be specific peacetime authority from Congress. If the curbs were to be continued.

ODOM WAVES BEFORE TAKE-OFF

Commons OK's "Crisis Powers"

Attlee Sought Churchill Says Bill Will Mean Totalitarianism

HOT DEBATE RAGES

London, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Britain's Socialist-dominated House of Commons approved today the government's sweeping "crisis powers" bill, described by Winston Churchill as "a blank check for totalitarian government."

The House gave the bill a second reading—approving it in principle—without a record vote. The government hoped to push the measure through all remaining parliamentary stages before the Commons' scheduled adjournment next Wednesday.

An amendment to reject the measure was defeated 251 to 148. The Socialist government says the bill is necessary for effective dealing with the British economic crisis. It would empower the government to tell men and women where they must work and to take over the management of firms considered to be operating inefficiently.

Launching an all-out Conservative attack on Prime Minister Attlee's Spartan plans for meeting the economic squeeze—which Labor spokesmen asserted were "appropriate and necessary"—Churchill declared:

"The government's proposals will mean the abrogation of parliament and of all our long cherished rights."

Government-requested legislation to implement the Attlee program would extend and strengthen government powers, dating from wartime, to direct labor into "necessary" industry and intervene in "inefficient" industries. The program itself was aimed at cutting down imports and boosting production for export.

Speaking just before Churchill took the floor, Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison declared:

"We are not going to be cross-examined in advance as to exactly what we will do with the powers when we get them."

Churchill maintained that the labor and industry controls asked by the government would destroy British freedom, and added:

"These powers are the negation of British freedom and of way of living in time of peace."

He said the Socialist ministers would be "the absolute masters" of the country while parliament was in recess. It is scheduled to adjourn for the summer next week.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—After 112 heat deaths, the Midwest had a cooling off period today. Fever temperatures persisted however in the south. It was less warm in the east and the northwest was almost too cool.

The Chicago weather bureau predicted scattered showers from the Rockies to New England. The 100-degree region included Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana where Shreveport had 106 yesterday.

Yesterday's Casey's old fireman, Slim Webb, had nice things to say about Casey. So did the donors of the marker for the previously unmarked grave, Lucius Beebe, New York newspaper columnist and railroad historian, and his photographer, Charles Clegg.

The monument was unveiled by Casey's 14-year-old granddaughter, Barbara Jones, while in the distance, a freight train whistled a requiem.

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Veterans Administration today ordered the discharge of 8,000 administrative employees "as soon as possible," for economy reasons.

The agency estimated that as many as 500 of its 877 offices throughout the nation may be closed as a result.

A press announcement said that 700 employees will be discharged in Washington, and about 7,300 elsewhere. A Veterans Administration official said it may take several weeks for regional offices to compute work-loads upon which the discharges will be based.

These are radioactive—or "ray-emitting"—forms of common elements, such as carbon, phosphorus, sulphur, calcium and iron. They are produced in uranium chain-reacting "ovens."

They are similar, chemically, to natural elements of the same name. Radioactive carbon behaves the same chemically as does carbon which does not emit rays.

Hence the radioactive forms can be used as "tracers" in human, plant and animal systems and in various industrial processes to show what happens to ordinary, stable elements when utilized in those same systems.

The radioactive forms can be traced by the signals they "broadcast," and these signals can be detected by delicate instruments.

For some uses, such as the treatment of certain diseases, the "rays" can be employed not just as tracers but as a means of direct treatment—similar to the radiations from x-ray or radium.

PLANE WRECKAGE PULLED FROM CHIMNEY—A crane pulls a portion of the wreckage of a small plane from a gas-fume chimney of the Beacon Oil Company plant at Everett, Mass., into which it plunged bringing death to its four occupants. The battered bodies of the victim—three men and a woman—were found in debris at the bottom of the flue. Police said the motor apparently "conked out" over the big vent and that the craft "dropped in like a dead pigeon."

It's All Over But The Counting, (Official) In Kentucky Primary

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Unofficial results of statewide races in Kentucky's August primaries were complete today. All that remained was for the state board of election commissioners to check the tabulations and put the official stamp of approval on the nominees.

The officials' returns are being forwarded from all of Kentucky's 120 counties to Frankfort, where the official certification of results will be made when the returns are in from the counties. That official canvass itself well might determine one statewide race, the closest contest being for Democratic nomination for state auditor.

Harry N. Jones, Lexington, is the winner on the basis of final unofficial returns, by a margin of 562 votes. The unofficial tabulation gave Jones 43,911 votes to 43,349 for J. L. Suter, Warsaw. They were the leaders in the four-man race.

Meantime, the possibility of a contest in Louisville and Jefferson county in the Republican race for nomination for governor faded.

John Fred Williams, Volga, state superintendent of public instruction, who ran with the backing of Gov. Simeon Willis, conceded the nomination to the State Atty. Gen. Eldon S. Dummit, Lexington, winner on the basis of unofficial tabulations.

Dummit's statewide lead over Williams was 8,010 votes. Dummit won the third district, including Louisville and Jefferson county, by a margin of 11,462 votes. Williams ran ahead slightly "out in the state," but not enough to overcome the lead Dummit built up in the third district.

The complete unofficial tabulations in the race for Democratic nomination for governor gave U. S. Rep. Earle C. Clements, Morganfield, a lead of 34,908 votes over Harry Lee Waterfield, Clinton, state House speaker.

Unofficial and complete results in the race for Democratic nomination for state auditor were: Democrat Paul J. Durbin, Fulton, winner over three primary opponents, who is without opposition in November since Republicans offered no candidate.

Second District: Democrat Frank L. McCarthy, Lexington, present commission chairman; Republican Oscar G. Kipping, without primary opposition.

Third District (all but 128 precincts): Democrats T. Jess Moore, Barboursville, 9,264 votes; Ernest Hopkins, Prestonsburg, 7,643, with three others trailing; Republican Clay M. Bishop, Manchester, incumbent.

EXTENDED FORECAST: Kentucky and Tennessee—Following Wednesday—Temperatures for the period will average 3 to 4 degrees above normal. Little trend. Light precipitation occurring as scattered showers, continuing until Sunday with total amount of .20 of an inch.

Dr. Nathan H. Woodruff, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission's radioisotopes division at Oak Ridge, Tenn., put the situation in focus this way: "Radioisotope production by the Atomic Energy Commission facilities is expected to be sufficiently large to satisfy the legitimate demands of all qualified investigators. In addition, instruments for the detection and measurement of radiotracers are becoming increasingly available commercially at reasonable cost in good quantity and quality."

Attlee Inadvertently Criticizes Socialism

By Dewitt MacKenzie,
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

That was a most convincing speech which Socialist Prime Minister Attlee made in the House of Commons in dealing with England's economic crisis—concluding from the viewpoint that the politico-economic system of this America of ours, the system that Britain forsook for Socialism, is the best of them all.

Mr. Attlee's explanations of the collapse, and the drastic remedies which he proposes, show clearly that his country's first all-out Socialist experiment has in the short period of two years arrived at the point of considerable government reorganization of the individual. In short, the royal road to Utopia has made a sharp turn toward a regime which certainly partakes—perhaps only temporarily—of totalitarianism.

Right here it should be said in fairness that the government has been saddled with many burdens inherited from the war. Of course former Prime Minister Winston Churchill says there will be no recovery from the country's present misfortunes until "the guilty men, whose crazy theories and personal incompetence have brought us down, have been driven from power by the votes of the nation." However, he is leader of the Conservative opposition to the Attlee regime. Thrusting politics aside we note that Mr. Attlee made these striking admissions:

"I would agree that it might have been better if we had had a greater concentration of effort. Maybe we have tried to do too much in a short time."

"It may well be that we have relaxed controls too soon. There has been a failure on the part of some workers to realize that shorter hours and higher wages must be matched by greater efforts."

And so because of this lack of realization, the prime minister said his government would have to take some measure of control over the employment of labor in order to stimulate production. He added:

"This will involve some sacrifice of individual liberty, though as little as possible. It may be necessary to take steps to limit employment on less essential work."

The government will take action against any industries operated with "inefficiency or lack of will."

Employees in the more essential industries will have to work longer, and coal miners will be asked to work half an hour a day additional.

Attlee appealed to workers not to press for increases of wages. He asked industry and commerce to refrain from declaring high dividends.

England's imports are to be cut down in a manner that will mean hardships for many people. Among other things there will be further food restrictions.

The armed strength is to be reduced by 420,000 men from the present total of about 1,297,000. America will be asked to ease clauses in the loan agreement.

It is a gloomy picture which Attlee painted, but he faced the issue with determination and he stood by his Socialistic guns. At this early stage in his great political experiment, he feels impelled to resort to regimentation, thereby most surely creating an issue upon which the next general election will be fought.

The issue is: will the British public stand for peacetime regimentation?

When Indiscretion Becomes Reprehensible

The mess of charges, admissions and denials in the Hughes-Brewster-Meyer-Roosevelt controversies has a sour smell. Even with the most favorable interpretations, the story tells us that the area where public business means private interests is honeycombed with a system of gratuities and favors, fawning and adroit pressure.

Perhaps it is not different in this respect from the practices of ordinary salesmanship—the drummer with his expense account and its items of "entertainment," the manufacturer's agent who takes a prospective customer out to the club for a round of golf at which he contrives to lose, perhaps custom itself has blunted the fine edge of perception—the perception, for example, that a ticket to a football game, a plane ride or the use of a cottage in Florida, proffered to a senator, or a wedding present lavished on an Army inspector, should certainly be cynically purposeful. The "cocktail lobby," it is reputed, has been one of the most effective in Washington. This doubtless is because the public official is bemused into believing that he is asked in for his parlor tricks and his sprightly conversation.

There arises a question of obligations and standards. One may lay aside for a moment the debatable (or at least the hotly debated) point of the senator's or Army officer's motives. One may assume that the intentions of both were innocent, that their complaisance was a matter of social convention. But one cannot overlook, even in the utmost of charity, that because of his mission, the senator or the Army officer in wartime rests under the special obligation to hold himself above suspicion. He has no right to the luxury of indiscretion. This is particularly true if the officer is the son of the President, on top of being assigned to guide the selection of weapons on which life and death depend. There are times when indiscretion, which is always either stupid or simply thoughtless, becomes downright reprehensible.

It would be extremely unfair, on basis of the highlights in dispatches, to indulge in conclusions as to anybody's culpability. Some of the accusations involved are so serious, indeed, as to warrant the deepest investigation. One of these is the central charge by Howard Hughes against Senator Brewster, that the latter was interested in promoting the fortunes of one of Hughes' airline rivals and that the present investigation came about when Hughes would not agree to merger of his T. W. A. with Pan-American. The charge, in essence, is one of black-mail.

But it is obvious that Senator Brewster is instantly at a disadvantage because he has accepted little favors—thoughtlessly or casually, perhaps, but nevertheless indiscreetly. In the same way, for all his vigorous and effective testimony, Elliott Roosevelt was at a disadvantage, because he never seemed to know the meaning of discretion and propriety in these matters.

Both Senator Brewster and General Roosevelt were dealing with the agents of a tough-minded and vainglorious man of colossal enterprises, or with the man himself. They were playing at the source of the system of big operations and big pressures, however innocent. Because they are who they are, their involvement was a natural consequence—

Our Readers Say—

Well, Fulton has sold its fishing worms to Paqueah. Our boys here in Fulton have been getting worms at the city garbage dump in the Fairgrounds and selling them to fishermen around Fulton to make their spending money, and several have bought their school clothes with money received for same. This is the only place people who like to fish can get worms during hot and dry weather.

Mr. K. P. Dalton, our chief of police, has leased it to a Paducah man for $25 a year for five years. I think the city council should have put a piece in the paper to this effect. Mr. Dalton has been against the people here long enough. He was Mr. Clement's campaign manager and might want some of us fishermen to vote in November.

To the new city council: If you can't put the affairs of the city back into the hands of the chief of council instead of the chief of police, it would be better for you people to have a city manager instead of a Police Manager.

Sports Roundup

By Frank Kenesson (For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

Detroit, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The State of Michigan, slow on the uptake as Detroit's suburban Northville Downs trotting track zoomed within three years to become the second busiest night harness racing plant in the nation, drew a total operating fee of only $2,850 from the half-mile oval in 1946 but already has extracted nearly $80,000 from the first two weeks of arc-light activity here this summer. The state's new take of two per cent of the parimutuel, plus half the "breakage", should run into a revenue of more than $200,000 for the 48 days of the 1947 meeting. For the first 15 nights of the current Northville stand nearly 100,000 customers sent almost 2 1/2 million dollars through the machines.

The state swept the boards in the collegiate field as red-haired Shirley Spork, Michigan Normal College co-ed, won the women's title and Dave Barclay, square-jawed University of Michigan golfer, took the men's crown.

Crippled Chix Beat Miners

By 14-4 Margin
Play Again At Fairfield Tonight

The crippled Chicks rose up in righteous indignation last night and blasted the Madisonville Miners out of Fairfield with a 22 hit barrage that netted them 14 runs.

After a loosely played first inning that saw the Miners take what appeared to be a winning lead of four runs, the Chicks went bat crazy, and from the third inning on it was a case of the Miners trying to run the ball down while the Chicks ran the bases.

Ordinarily, you'd say it couldn't happen. The Chicks took the field with three pitchers and two catchers in the lineup. Engel was on the hill. Wesell was in right field; Hardcastle was on first. Lis was playing left field and Litzelner was catching. Buck, Gray, Rhodes and Peterson were at their regular positions.

The fireworks started in the third when Engel led off with a single. He was out at second when Buck hit into a double play. Gray singled and took second on an error by Schmidt. Rhodes then poled one out of the park for four bases to score Gray ahead of him. Lis fled out to left field to retire the side. The singles by Engel and Gray were the first and second, respectively, of four each for the game to give both a perfect night.

In the fifth, Engel led off with a single and took second when Buck also singled. Gray laid down a perfect sacrifice and both runners advanced. Rhodes fled out to left field and Engel faced home with a run. Peterson singled and Buck scored. Lis singled to advance Fete, but was out at second when Hardcastle forced him.

Litzelner started the sixth with a single. Wesell knocked him to third with a two-bagger. Engel singled to score Litzelner and drive Wesell to third. Buck then doubled and Wesell scored as Engel took third. Gray hit safely to score Engel and Buck. Then, for reasons known only to Biggs and Doubleday, Rhodes sacrificed Gray to second. Peterson fled out to right field and Lis fled out to left field to retire the side.

It was the seventh inning that found the Chicks really hitting the ball. It appeared they weren't satisfied with what they had done in the third, fifth and sixth. Hardcastle, first up, made the first out by flying out to Proulx at third. Litzelner singled, Wesell singled, Engel walked. Buck singled. Litzelner scored. Gray doubled. Wesell and Engel scored. Rhodes singled. Buck and Gray scored. Rhodes stole second. Peterson fled out to right field. Rhodes took third. Lis singled. Rhodes scored, and Hardcastle up his second time in the inning, fled out to center field to retire the side.

Almost lost in the din of base hits by the Chicks was Engel's fine seven hit pitching. After the first inning, when he gave up three hits, he miserly spaced out four hits over the rest of the game, one each in the second, third, seventh and eighth.

The same two team met again tonight in Fairfield for the second game of the series.

Navy Planes, Ships Seek Missing PBY At Kodiak, Alaska

Kodiak, Alaska, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Wind-whipped waters along the Alaska peninsula and the adjacent Aleutians today were the center of a second day's air and ship search for a missing Navy PBY-5-A with 20 men aboard.

Seventeenth Naval District headquarters said the Kodiak-based plane, with 15 passengers and a crew of five, last reported by radio at 10:45 a. m. Wednesday. It said it was 150 miles from its Dutch Harbor destination, with enough gasoline for six hours' flying. It had started the 600-mile flight at 6:28 a. m.

Searchers held the hope the plane might have made a safe landing in sheltered waters along the route, with its radio damaged.

There are 159,420 buses registered in the United States.

FULGHAM NEWS

LOOK WHERE WE'RE GOING

My, what a busy month, this August! There will be plenty of places to wear all our old clothes before putting on new dresses this fall. If the farmers and housewives get much work done, it will have to be "sandwiched" in between the "going and coming" of the following events.

August 3 (Sunday) Jackson Chapel entered their annual revival with Bro. Rogers, pastor, in the pulpit. Aug. 6 (Wednesday) Clinton and Mt. Pleasant WSCS meet at Mt. Pleasant for a joint session. Aug. 8 (Friday) our Homemakers go to Kentucky Lake for an annual picnic. August 15 (Friday) the public comes to Fulgham for the Chapel church fair. Night program, too. August 17 and 18, Mt. Pleasant and Bethel faculty and students enter another school term at Fulgham.

Rev. M. I. Stroud of Brownsville, Tenn. occupied the pulpit at Mt. Pleasant, his home church, Sunday. He and wife, Ruth, and their daughter, Shirley, spent Saturday night here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stroud, enroute home from a month's vacation in Colorado. They stopped Sunday afternoon for a brief visit in Fulton with Mrs. Stroud's dad, G. A. Legg and Mrs. Legg.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Floyd and daughter, Phyllis, of Lebanon, came Saturday night for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Floyd. Sunday morning, they were called to Paducah by the serious illness of her father, W. A. Jones, who was carried to Riverside hospital, following a kidney hemorrhage.

Wallace Allison, wife and two sons, Robert and Gene, stopped for a brief visit with us Saturday, enroute to their home in Detroit. They were accompanied by her uncle, Rev. Morris Vaughan.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Gatewood and daughter, Julia Mae, of Detroit are the houseguests of her grandmother, Mrs. Letha Crenshaw, who is gradually improving.

Mrs. Leland Gravelle and son and daughter, Beverly, of Detroit have been visiting here in the homes of Luther Cunningham, Jewell Watts and Claude Burgess.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Shupe and son, James Ross, accompanied by Billy and Bobby Bone, attended the church homecoming at Tri-City Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wilkins of Prossburg spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Vanpool.

Miss Patti Mae Vaden was carried back to the Jackson hospital last night, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Art Vaden, of Alamo, Ky., were called to her bedside. Pat was here visiting Miss Katherine Burkett.

Sgt. Hollie Bugg, Jr., has arrived home from Craig Field, Ala., with an honorable discharge, after serving 18 months in the armed forces.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ray of Akron, Ohio, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hollie Bugg.

Boy, 18, Held In Death Of Cincinnati Grocer

Cincinnati, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Jesse McWhorter, 18, was charged with murder last night in the fatal shooting of Richard Johnstone, 38-year-old grocer.

Reds To Blame, Hoover Thinks

"One Nation" Caused Present Unsettled State, Former President Says

San Francisco, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover holds "one nation alone"—Soviet Russia—responsible for the world's present unsettled state.

And he said in a statement yesterday, the United States may have to rearm and indefinitely continue shipping surplus food to stave off starvation elsewhere unless there is a change in international relations.

Hoover, who will be 73 Sunday, recently carried out a world food survey at the request of President Truman. He said that another year after the war's end finds the earth without peace, little recovery in production, increasing danger of starvation abroad and "alarms of another world war."

"One nation alone, by refusal of cooperation and destructive acts, is responsible," he said.

"If we are to reverse this tide of disaster then free nations have but one of two possibilities. 'First, cooperation from Russia—which is improbable.

"Second, making peace among the peoples outside Russia and her satellites, together with subjugation of her international poison squads—which is impossible."

"If neither is done, then an armed United States can live in reasonable comfort, use our food surplus to stave off starvation and wait, even if it means much isolation—which is most undesirable."

Nancy Perini's Body Found

Millionaire's Daughter Drowned Off N. England Coast, By Parents' Home

Falmouth, Mass., Aug. 8.—(AP)—The body of Nancy Perini, 4, niece of Lou Perini, millionaire contractor and part owner of the Boston Braves baseball club, missing since yesterday, was recovered today from the ocean in full view of her parents watching dragging operations from the family porch.

The body was recovered while District Attorney Frank E. Smith's investigators were proceeding on the theory she had been kidnapped. Police said there appeared to be no doubt the drowning was purely accidental.

The body was hooked by firemen who began dragging operations at 3 a. m. (eastern standard time) under floodlights.

As it was pulled ashore, Mrs. Perini cried, "Oh, my baby," and collapsed in the arms of her husband, Charles, a Braves stockholder and associate of his brother, Lou, in the contracting business. He carried her gently into the family summer home.

The tot's tiny form was hooked about 20 feet from shore at a spot that has a seven foot drop on Moganet Beach, directly in front of the Perini summer estate.

Police said that the little girl apparently wandered alone from the yard of her home to the beach and waded to death while the resort was deserted. She was wearing a tiny bathing cap.
