VOL. 85, NO. 42

MURRAY, KENTUCKY THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1914

$1.00 PER YEAR.

THE U. D. C.

Meets With Much Encouragement. Citizens Responding Cheerfully to Request For Funds.

The Monument Committee of the J. N. Williams Chapter U. D. C. has been, for the last two weeks, soliciting funds from the town folks for the beautiful Monument and Drinking Fountain which will be begun as soon as $1,125, half the cost of same, is in the treasury. Only a small per cent of the citizens have as yet been interviewed and only a very few have failed to respond.

If you haven't been seen, begin at once to "get up the price" because every man in Murray and Calloway county will, of course, want a part in such a good work, and these untiring women will get to you before many days.

They report about $900 on hand, $600 from friends out of the county. Old Calloway must do her part loyally; so line up men!

The largest gift from the county was made by S. H. Dees, $100 with the voluntary promise to give more. Mr. Dees can always be depended upon to do the right thing at the right time.

The Daughters trust others will follow his lead.

Rally to their support, citizens of Calloway, and let's erect the monument at an early day.

Committee.

The King of All Laxatives.

For constipation, use Dr. King's New Life Pills. Paul Mathulka, of Buffalo, N. Y., says they are the "King of all laxatives." They are a blessing to all my family and I always keep a box at home. Get a box and get well again. Price 25c. All druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co. Philadelphia or St. Louis.

A Horrible Tale.

The Mayfield Messenger of the 9th inst. certainly let some sucker bump it good and proper on an article published by it under flaring headlines, and which did not contain a single truthful statement and was filled with about the richest "B. S." we've read in many a day. The article, which filled about a column of space, told in a very sensational way about the arrival at this place of a box by freight from Roswell, N. M., containing the well dressed corpse of an unknown person, and was shipped to Mr. John Singleton, of the west side of the county, and the only message that accompanied the box was the mere statement that it was a present to Mr. Singleton. Messenger stated that when the box was opened at the depot and the gruesome find revealed that a general "scatterment" took place among the employees of the freight depot; that the body was viewed by hundreds of persons and was finally turned over to the county authorities and buried in the City Cemetery.

It was certainly rare, rich and racy and the Messenger is to be congratulated upon the wonderful "scoop" scored over all other newspapers of the world.

A Winter Cough.

A stubborn, annoying, depressing cough hangs on, racks the body, weakens the lungs, and often leads to serious results. The first dose of Dr. King's New Discovery gives relief. Henry D. Sanders, of Cavendish, Vt., was threatened with consumption, after having pneumonia. He writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery ought to be in every family; it is certainly the best of all medicine for coughs, colds or lung trouble." Good for children's coughs. Money back if not satisfied. Price 50c and $1.00. At all druggists. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

Officials Resign.

"Billie" Hills, for the past several years local agent for the N. C. & St. L. Railway Co., and Homer Williams, freight agent, have tendered their resignation to the company to be effective at an early date. It is with genuine regret that the Ledger learns that Mr. Hills and Mr. Williams are to quit the service of the company at this place. The Ledger is advised that Mr. Will Neely, now agent at Parsons, Tenn., will be appointed to the place of Mr. Hills.

OLD PAPERS

Ledger in Receipt of Several Copies of the Old Murray Gazette of Dates 1873 and 1876.

The Ledger is in receipt of several copies of the Murray Gazette of date 1873, edited by Capt. J. N. Bolen, and of date 1876, when the Gazette was edited by Hutchens & Holsapple. Mrs. Ella B. Schoonover, daughter of the late Capt. Bolen, now of Pocahontas, Ark., forwarded them to this office the past week. We have read these papers with considerable interest, and while published many years previous to our citizenship here, they contain much of interest to us. The copy of date, Dec. 25, 1873, contains an address by the late Col. G. A. C. Holt, delivered before "New Providence Grange No. 3," and is one of the most splendid articles we ever read. This paper contains the announcements of Geo. W. Silverworth, for circuit judge; N. P. Moss, A. B. Stubblefield and R. T. Johnston, all of Graves county, for commonwealth's attorney; P. M. Ellison, J. R. Elkins and G. G. Oury for county judge; C. H. Stewart, S. T. McClain, J. W. Ferguson, Robt. L. Bazzell, H. B. Miller, P. S. Hamlin, G. W. Buey and T. W. Lamb, for assessors; W. H. Covington, Linn Boyd and J. W. Jones for county clerk.

Among the news items appearing we note the following:

"On last Sunday, Tommy Beaman, a little son of Charley Beaman, living in the neighborhood of Coldwater, got his arm broke by being thrown from a mule. The fractured limb was set by Dr. P. Pool, and at last accounts was doing well."

"A grand ball will be given at the courthouse in Murray on the 26th inst., commencing at 2 o'clock p. m., for the benefit of the Murray Masonic Lodge."

"A call upon Oscar Turner to become a candidate for congress appears in the Paducah Tobacco Plant."

"Outland-Knight. On the 23rd inst., at the residence of the bride's mother, by the Rev. S. S. Nix, Mr. D. H. Outland was married to Miss Alice Knight."

"We learn that our friend Bill Lee has received his Christmas gift. Its a gal, and weighs ten pounds."

In the issue of the Gazette of June 28, 1876, published by Hutchens & Holsapple, we note the following item:

"Our young friend, Nat Ryan, and lady, gave the young folks of Murray a social and cotillion party at their residence last Saturday night, which we learn was enjoyed by all the little folks from the size of Burrell Linn down. The 'little ones' say, thankee, Nat."

This same issue of the Gazette also contains quite an interesting article regarding our good friend, Jim Farley, but we will await his consent before publishing the item.

PENSIONS

State Treasurer Issues Checks and Warrants Amounting to $120,- 000 to Old Soldiers.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 17. Besides $40,485.67 in checks paid to 1,338 Confederate veterans as the quarterly payment of their State pensions, the State Treasurer distributed today interest-bearing warrants for $79,204.42 to pensioners, whose February payments exceed the amount for which checks are issued. Many of these drew for the first time, and their claims include $10 per month from the time they filed their applications, some of them in July, 1912. The total distribution amounted to $120,190.09. The number of pensioners now on the rolls is 2,019.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 17. John C. Mayo has consented to pay all the interest-bearing warrants amounting to about $80,000, issued for the February payment of Confederate pensions. State Treasurer Thomas Rhea mailed out with the pension warrants a statement as follows:

"I am pleased to inform you that John C. Mayo has announced he will pay the face value of your warrant. Deposit the warrant in your local bank and instruct them in will be paid without discount when presented at the Paintsville National Bank, Paintsville, Ky. I have made this arrangement with Mr. Mayo because of the condition of the state treasury, there being no money with which to pay these warrants at this time, and because my determination that you should not be forced to take anything below face value of your claim."

Trigg News of Last Week.

Revs. R. C. Bogard and F. A. Sanders have just closed a great meeting near Eggners Ferry, on the Tennessee river. There were forty conversions and many reclamations and the community stirred for miles.

Trigg county was called upon last Sunday morning to give up another one of its oldest and most prominent and highly respected citizens in the person of Mr. Stanley Thomas, who answered the summons of the death angel last Sunday morning at his home about five miles south of here.

Byron Cunningham, a native of this county, but who left here and went West over twenty-five years ago, has written his son, Carlisle Cunningham, that he expects to visit his Trigg county relatives and friends about July or August of this year. He is now living at Kemp, Ok., and it has been about twenty years since he was last here.

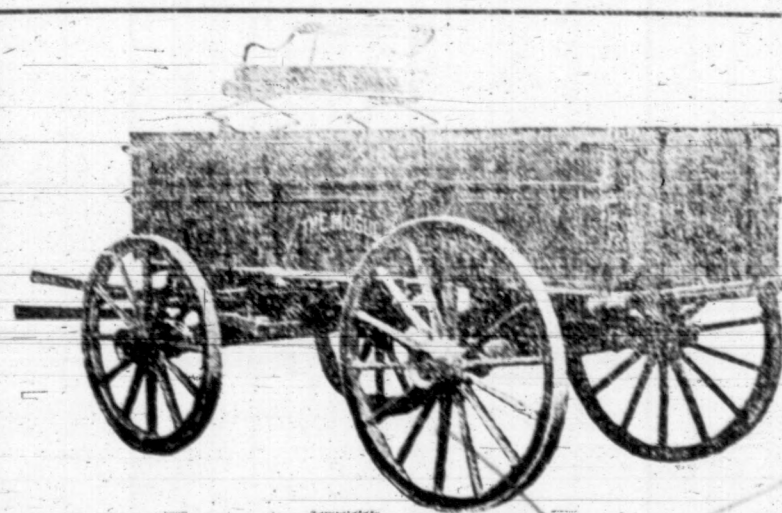

One of the cleverest pieces of work ever exhibited in Cadiz was brought here Monday by John Futrell, who lives in the Canton precinct. It was a violin, which he made himself, and it was one of the most attractive instruments you ever saw. It was of regulation size, made of Cherry, and the only tools he used in making it was a knife, file, chisel and some sandpaper. It also has a splendid tone.

Mr. Ralph Futrell, a prominent young man living on Donaldson creek about ten miles south of Cadiz, died on the 4th day of February of tuberculosis. He had been a sufferer from the dreaded malady for a year or more, and while he had tried many remedies provided by the medical profession, he found none of them of any avail and death came as a relief of much suffering. Mr. Futrell was about twenty-five years of age and was a son of D. Worth Futrell, a prominent farmer of the Donaldson country. A wife, who was formerly Miss Ruth Dixon, a daughter of the late J. T. Dixon, to whom he was married about two years ago, survives him. Cadiz Record.

Washington, D. C.—Following sensational disclosures by Senator Lea of Tennessee, the senate committee on interstate commerce brought in a favorable report on the resolution calling for drastic investigation of methods employed by the Louisville & Nashville and subsidiary lines to monopolize transportation in Middle Tennessee.

The most sensational feature of the hearing was the introduction of a statement from Examiner Keen of the interstate commerce commission, in which it is declared that ten inexperienced young men had been discovered destroying records in the library building adjoining the general offices of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway at Nashville.

Senator Lea has introduced a resolution to appoint a special committee of five senators to co-operate with the interstate commerce commission in its investigation of the affairs of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and its allied lines.

SENATOR BACON
DIES SUDDENLYGEORGIA STATESMAN EXPIRES IN A WASHINGTON HOSPITAL
AFTER SHORT ILLNESS.

ELECTED BY A DIRECT VOTE

Deceased Has Been Chairman of Important Committee on Foreign Relations Since Democrats
Took Power.

Washington, D. C.—Augustus Octavius Bacon, United States senator from Georgia for nearly nineteen years and chairman of the foreign relations committee since the ascendancy of the Democratic party March 4, 1913, died in a hospital here after an illness of ten days, aged 75 years. He was the first United States senator elected by direct vote of the people under the seventeenth constitutional amendment.

Though Senator Bacon had been seriously ill with kidney trouble, and complications developing from a broken rib, his death was unexpected. The immediate cause of the senator's demise was diagnosed as a blood clot on the heart.

Senator Bacon was born in Bryan county, Georgia, October 2, 1839, and for many years made his home in Macon. On being graduated from the University of Georgia in 1860 he entered the Confederate army, and served during the campaigns of 1861 and 1862 as adjutant of the Ninth Georgia regiment in the Army of Northern Virginia. Subsequently, he was commissioned as captain in the provisional army of the Confederate States and was assigned to general staff duty.

After the war Senator Bacon resumed the practice of law and took an active part in politics. He was president of the state democratic convention in 1884. In 1884, in 1871 he was elected to the Georgia house of representatives, serving in the legislature for fourteen years, and was for eight years speaker of the house.

PIE POISON ALARM TRAPS TWO THIEVES

"Put Bleaching Powder in Them," Says Woman—Pair Rushes to the Hospital.

San Francisco.—After Oscar Jorgenson and Norbert Wallendorf had taken two pies from Mrs. L. K. Frank's kitchen window the other day, they made the mistake of sitting down behind the back fence to eat them.

Mrs. Frank came to the window and saw the last of her pies vanishing down two eager throats.

"Oh, Willie," she cried to her son, playing in the yard, "did you get those pies? I put bleaching powder instead of the last of her pies vanishing down two eager throats."

"Quick, We Must Get a Doctor!" of baking powder in them and now you're poisoned. Quick, we must get a doctor!"

As if shot, Jorgenson and Wallendorf sprang to their feet and ran full speed to a neighboring grocery store. "Call an ambulance, we're poisoned!" they shrieked.

While they waited for the ambulance their imaginations worked, and when they finally reached the Central Emergency hospital with their stomachs showing every symptom of acute poisoning. The hospital staff never doubted for a minute that the men were in a serious state and bitter emetics and stomach pumps were vigorously applied.

While the heroic treatment was under way the telephone rang. It was Mrs. Frank.

"There was no poison in those pies," she explained. "I only wanted to scare them."

"You certainly succeeded," grinned the doctor.

DOG MOURNS ADOPTED PIGS

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Nellie, the Boston bull terrier at No. 31 engine house, Troy, Ill., is not only mourning the loss of her litter of pigs, but a pair of suckling pigs she had adopted.

Nellie has the maternal instinct strong within her breast, and when her puppies were taken from her and scattered far and wide she would not be comforted. A few days later Capt. William Higgins of No. 31 engine company visited the stockyards at Herra Island, where he was presented with a pair of wee, motherless pigs.

Captain Higgins took the pigs to the engine house, fixed them a bed and hid himself to a drug store for a couple of nursing bottles. These he filled with warm milk and Nellie, when he got back to the engine house, found no use there for his nursing bottles. Nellie, meanwhile, had found the orphan piglets. When they were taken from her the other day and sent to a Reserve township farm, she showed as much concern and grief as she did when her own babies were taken.

ARCHDUKE CARL LOVES BABY

Austrian Sprig of Royalty a Model Father—Punishes Child's Carr in Public.

Vienna.—Archduke Carl Francis Joseph is a model father. In fact, so much does the archduke think of his baby, who was born on January 3, that he pushes the cart in which the child takes its outings in public. The archduke and his wife, who was Princess Zita de Bourbon de Parme, 36, left imperial etiquette by appearing at most daily on the country roads behind the baby carriage. They take turns. The daily promenade takes place a few miles from Vienna. The trip is made in an automobile with the baby carriage strapped behind.

GAVE A JOSSHOUSE IDOL'S BEARD PULL

Image, Dressed in Silk, Fell to the Floor, and Was Broken to Pieces.

SWUNG OVER RAILING

Crash Brings a Gigantic Priest Armed With a Long Knife and the Intruder Escaped by Jumping Out of Windows.

New Orleans, La.—In the parish prison is a man who has traveled much and had many adventures, one of which follows: Four years ago, when in San Francisco, he said, "I had a shrunken 'Prunes' Wishard. One day when we were walking in Barbary Coast, San Francisco's tenorline, we decided to invade a joshhouse. It was on the second floor over a Chinese store. We entered the place and found it deserted.

"There were three idols in the room. All were dressed in long silk gowns. The two end ones had small white beards. The center idol had a white beard about two feet long. In front of each were lighted pink sticks.

"After viewing the idols from a distance we moved closer. I noticed 'Prunes' glancing over his shoulder, and I knew, by the expression on his face, he was up to some mischief. Leaning over to me he whispered: 'You are not game to pull his whiskers.' I admitted I was not. I would have just as soon entered a lion's den and pulled the beast's whiskers. The place was beginning to get on my nerves.

"Well, if you won't, I will," he said. "I begged him not to do so. I told him of all the tales I had heard of the revenge the Chinese priests take on any one who insults one of their gods.

"No use. He had made up his mind to pull those whiskers, and nothing could make him change. He walked slowly up to the center idol. I began to look for an exit.

"Very deliberately 'Prunes' caught the beard in his right hand and, glancing toward me, gave it a yank.

"The idol was in flight. When 'Prunes' and I looked back, the idol was gone.

gave the yank the idol fell and broke in a hundred pieces.

"We both started for the door. Just as we reached it and saw safety ahead a priest appeared. In one hand he carried a large knife. At the time it looked to be about two feet long. I will almost swear he was seven feet tall and four feet across the chest.

"Seeing the door blocked, we turned toward the windows. We each went out a different one, and found ourselves on a gallery. Not looking to see what 'Prunes' was doing, I started running until I saw a telephone pole about four feet from the railing. Deciding to take a chance, I made a jump for it and caught on.

"When I was on solid ground I began to look for 'Prunes.' I found him in a saloon calmly drinking beer. He told me he had swung under the gallery and gone down a station. He proudly held up one hand and showed me where he had been slightly cut by the priest as he swung over the railing of the gallery.

"Needless to say, we never entered another joshhouse."

HE IS LITTLE, BUT KNOWS HOW TO FIGHT

Giant, 6 Feet 4 Inches, Subdued By Belleville Chief, Only 5 Feet 4.

Belleville, Ill.—When Andrew Muehl, a Taborborn (Ill.) stock raiser, height 6 feet 2, and weight 200, came here the other night he was feeling strong enough to whip all creation.

He had been to East St. Louis and had sold a bunch of stock and was feeling prosperous as well as strong. Homebound, he dropped from an electric car on West Main street, in Belleville, and went into George Keck's saloon.

"Eight or ten citizens were spending a peaceful evening there. Muehl evidently did not like their looks. He told them to get out. They demurred and he undertook to evict them. While he was about it Keck telephoned a call to the police station and suggested that the entire police force would be needed to quell the uprising.

All the policemen were busy except Chief Sam Stoeckley. The chief, as they say in Belleville, "is little, but he's got it." He is 5 feet 4 and weighs 146.

He hasn't forgotten how. Ask Andrew Muehl of Paduergorn if he has. Andrew knows.

When Stoeckley reached the saloon he found the eight or ten citizens bunched in the corner nursing their bruises. Muehl, after piling the citizens in a heap, and smashing a glass panel with his fist, had gone to the stable to hitch up his horse, which he had left there in the morning.

Stoeckley went out and stood before Muehl. He could not march more than chin the lowest button of Muehl's vest. Muehl thought he was a messenger boy. "What do you want, sonny?" he asked.

Stoeckley said he had come to arrest Muehl, and exhibited his star. "Ho, ho!" rambled the giant. "So you have come to arrest me. Well, I can't allow it."

He hated to hurt such a little fellow, but he struck at the chief. Stoeckley brushed Muehl's hand aside and hit him on the head with his billy-breaking butt. Then he damaged his fist on Muehl and, raising it, grabbed him around the knees and threw him to the floor, with both shoulders touching—the wrestling rules require and sat on him.

When Muehl came to he said he had had enough for the evening and went along with the little chief to the lockup.

HORSE GETS NEW SHOES

Goes Alone to Blacksmith Shop and Stands in Line With Other Horses.

Quincy, Ill.—Gilbert A. Penney turned a horse, Big Ben, out to pasture and went cruising on his power pole. He forgot that Ben had pulled the horse shoes off before turning him out to graze. Nor did he remember it after his return as business kept him occupied.

The following day Timothy Skid more, a blacksmith at Good Ground, several miles away, called Penney on the telephone.

"Your horse is shod and is all ready for you," said Skidmore.

"What are you talking about," demanded Penney.

"Why, Big Ben walked in here today and got in line with the other horses waiting to get shod. I thought it was funny nobody was with him, but when his turn came I did the job."

Then it developed that Big Ben had escaped from his pasture, and, deciding it was time for his new winter shoes, trudged to Good Ground and walked into the blacksmith shop, where he had been fitted for years.

"Turn him loose and see if he'll come home," Penney telephoned on hearing the story.

An hour afterward Big Ben walked proudly up the Penney driveway and went to his stable.

OLD TIMES AND NEW

Fiji Islands of Present Is Unlike Those of the Past.

Once the Abode of Bloodthirsty and Glutinous Cannibals, Is Today Under White Man's Influence. Place Where Strangers Are Safe.

New York.—In the popular mind the Fiji Islands—stuck somewhere off in the vast South seas—are still the lurking place of giant cannibals. And we are apt to think of the Fiji himself as a black, bushy-headed, ring-poled savage, flourishing a frightful war club, and dancing naked about a heap of well-picked human bones. It's all the Fiji's fault, too; if we think thus of him, for he is a man with a lurid past.

For years all news from Fiji bristled with tales of butchery, human sacrifice, and widows strangled to death. The first Fiji chief ever to visit America was killed on the way—who was brought around the Horn to Hampton Roads on the Yankee corvet Vincennes, years ago, to stand trial for killing and eating a party of American sailors who had landed on his island. And away back in 1840, when American ships ruled the sea and Uncle Sam made the first survey of the Fiji Islands ever undertaken, our sailors found out for themselves just how fully the Fijians deserved the terrible reputation they enjoyed.

At that time, and for long afterward, these islands were undoubtedly the abode of the most bloodthirsty and glutinous cannibals which it ever became civilized man's duty to subdue. The cheapest thing in Fiji was human life. While villages were killed off, merely to furnish meat for some tribal feast. Living men were used as rollers for launching new and heavy war canoes, their lives being crushed out to appease the gods who looked after navigation, and it was a common practice to bury men alive under the foundations of new houses and temples. When a great man died his wife, friends, and sometimes even his mother, willingly came forward and were strangled to death beside the dead man's bier. Captain Cook visited the islands in 1770, but for nearly a hundred years afterward these wild orgies continued, and the conquest of Fiji cost the civilized world much money, and many a white man's life.

Today over 100,000 Fijians still inhabit these distant isles. Many of their weird superstitions still prevail, and on feast days the warriors paint their faces, don their strange grass kilts and enormous head-gear, and go through their noisy, war-club dances. But the wild cannibal feasts are a thing of the past, and a Fiji who now strangled his friend's widow would not doubt be promptly hanged. Probably no other savage race responded so quickly to the white man's influence once they came thoroughly under it—and today in the Fiji Islands a stranger may pass about in perfect peace and security. The reform of these cannibals is a monument to missionary heroism, and to the wise methods of the British in handling savage races. Of the 200 or more islands in the group, 80 are inhabited, and on every one of the 80 there stands an English-Methodist church.

HUNTERS KILL 7,000 RABBITS

Work of 30 Men in Seven Hours' War Against the Pest in State of Colorado.

Gault, Colo.—All Colorado records for rabbit hunting were broken when two parties of hunters went out to clean up the country and came back at the end of seven hours with 7,000 rabbits, or at the rate of 1,000 an hour.

There were 15 men in each party, and the campaign was decided upon because the animals were eating large quantities of good hay, a valuable commodity since the heavy snowfall, which has sent the price soaring. One farmer lost a total of five tons of hay, which he might have sold for nearly $100.

BOSWELL'S HOME IN DANGER

One of Few Examples of Domestic Architecture of Inigo Jones Likely Soon to Be Torn Down.

London.—London is in danger of losing one of the very few examples she has left of the domestic architecture of Inigo Jones, or, at any rate, of his school. This is the beautiful plastered black house now numbered 55 and 56 in Great Queen street and next to the headquarters of the Free Masons. The western portion of this building, No. 55, is built over the archway leading into New Yard, and is in the occupation of a firm of pencil manufacturers.

The remainder and larger part of the house is made particularly interesting by the fact that, according to the London county council tablet let into the wall, James Boswell, the biographer of Dr. Johnson, once lived there. Indeed, it is as Boswell's house that most people recognize this beautiful building.

The construction of Great Queen street was begun in 1695, and there were 15 houses erected on the south side before 1620. Then came Inigo Jones, or his pupil Webb, to finish this side, which was originally intended to form one of the sides of a square. Nos. 55 and 56 are all that remain of this typical work of the Inigo Jones period. They were built between 1645 and 1660.

The street in its day was considered very grand. It must have been very beautiful, too, to judge by these fragments which remain, and which are now, it would seem, threatened with destruction.

In addition to the Boswell and the Inigo Jones connections there are other reasons which make it desirable that this house should, if possible, be saved to London. Hudson, the master of Sir Joshua Reynolds, is said to have lived here, and if so, Reynolds must have served there from 1740 to 1745.

The names of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, James Hoole, Kitty Clive and many other famous people are also linked with the house, although there must be a good deal of guesswork connected with some of these.

LITTLE GIRL KILLS A BEAR

Attacked by Beast—She Stops Its Charge With Bullets in His Brain.

Everett, Wash.—Ivy Thompson, fifteen-year-old Everett girl, rented a 22-caliber rifle from a sporting goods store and within a few hours had shot and killed a black bear within the city limits. The animal weighed, dressed, 200 pounds.

When the girl opened fire the bear was charging her. Miss Thompson aimed two bullets in the animal's brain that brought Bruin to a dead stop at her feet.

Accompanied by her father, her uncle and her brother, the girl started out through Pigeon Gulch in search of a hot trail. They thought he was after a wildcat, but found he had freed a black bear. The animal hid in the hollow of a tree, but the men squaled the bear out. Ivy let fly a 22-caliber bullet at the animal. She missed and the bear charged her.

The girl did not lose her nerve, but throwing another shell into the rifle she fired, again, this time hitting Bruin in the head. Another bullet killed the animal.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. How to Detect the Alum Baking Powder

"Which are the alum baking powders; how can I avoid them unless they are named?" asks a housekeeper.

Here is one way: take the can of a low-priced powder in your hand and read the ingredient clause upon the back label. The law requires that if the powder contains alum that fact must be there stated. If you find one of the ingredients named alum, or sulphate of aluminum, you have found an alum baking powder.

There is another and a better way. You don't have to know the names of the alum powders. Use Royal Baking Powder only; that assures you a cream of tartar powder, and the purest and most healthful baking powder beyond question.

Consumption Takes 350 People Every Day in the United States and the surprising truth is that most cases are preventable with timely, intelligent treatment.

These appalling facts should warn us that after sickness, colds, overwork or any other drains upon strength, Scott's Emulsion should be promptly and regularly used because tubercular germs thrive only in a weakened system.

The tested and proven value of Scott's Emulsion is recognized by the greatest specialists because its medical nourishment assimilates quickly to build healthy tissue; aids in the development of active, life-sustaining blood corpuscles; strengthens the lungs and builds physical force without reaction. Scott's Emulsion is used in tuberculosis camps because of its rest-building, blood-making properties and because it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drug. Be sure to insist on Scott's.

MRS. W. W. LAKE

Tells Others How to Get Strong and Well.

Mrs. W. W. Lake of Aberdeen, Miss., says: "The grippe had left me in a weak run-down condition from which I suffered for some time. I tried different remedies but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol, from which I received great benefit. My cough is almost entirely gone and I am strong and well again, and I am glad to recommend Vinol to others who suffer as I did."

Mrs. Lake's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements extracted from cod's livers—combined with the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol, and her cough disappeared as a natural result. We guarantee that Vinol will do all we claim and will pay back your money if Vinol does not satisfy you. Dale & Stubblefield.

Can't be Delivered by Mails.

Washington, Feb. 14. Babies are not mailable. The postoffice department so holds in an edict today barring them from the parcel post.

The question arose over a request by the postmaster at Stratford, Okla., for a ruling by the department as to whether a patron of his office could send a two year old child by parcel post from Twin Falls, Idaho to Stratford.

(In the future, as in the past, the delivery of babies must be the function of another branch of the American government.)

School House Burns.

Center school house located four miles north of Cottage Grove, burned to the ground at an early hour Wednesday morning.

This was one of the largest in the county and was valued at $1,600 or $1,800 together with the contents, on which there was insurance to the amount of $1,100.

The light from the fire wakened a neighbor about 5 o'clock. The building was wrapped in flames and it was then too late to save any of the furniture.

The school was under the direction of Miss Lydia Acre, as principal, and Misses Alma Webb and Odessa Wiggins assistants. Paris Post-Intelligencer.

Get at the root of the trouble. Rubbing an aching back may relieve it.

But won't cure it if the kidneys are weak.

You must reach the root of it—the kidneys.

Reach the cause; relieve the pain.

Begin at once with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Are recommended by thousands.

Here is a statement from a resident of this vicinity.

Mrs. G. A. James, 422 S. 9th St., Paducah, says: "One of my family used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and found that they were enough to cure a very stubborn case of kidney trouble. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, as I am sure there is no other kidney remedy as good as they."

Damage By Hailstorm.

Last Friday afternoon between three and four o'clock, a terrific hailstorm swept over Cottage Grove, Big Sandy, Faxon, McKenzie, Lexington, West Port, C. & St. L. Railroad. The storm developed into a cyclone and demolished several houses, while the huge hailstones rained down with window glasses. It was reported that a cyclone had struck Paris doing considerable damage, but fortunately the storm cloud divided and passed on either side of our city, and was felt only in the sudden fall of temperature Friday night.
