The county 4-H Club beef show will be held Wednesday with County Agent John Watts in charge. The show committee includes Ed Williamson, Weldon King, E. W. Yates, J. B. McGeehe and Paul Gray.

The district fair calf grand champion show will be held the morning of Aug. 28. Amounts of the premiums will be announced that day.

The district 4-H Club fair calf show and sale will be directed by Mr. Gibbons, 4-H district supervisor. Mr. Shaw from Memphis, who has been the auctioneer in this district sale for the past several years, will serve in that capacity again this year.

Fire Destroys Willey Home

Residence In Riceville Is Almost Total Loss

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Willey in Riceville was completely destroyed by fire at about 8 o'clock this morning.

The Fulton fire department arrived too late to save the house, but kept the flames from spreading to outbuildings and other homes.

Miss Mary Jo Willey was alone in the house when the fire was discovered. Her sister, Miss Patricia Willey, had been gone for a few minutes and as she returned she noticed smoke pouring out a window. The Willey's clothing, furniture and practically everything in the house was burned.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Willey were away from home. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Indonesians Appeal to UN

Unwilling To Bargain Directly With Dutch

Lake Success.—(AP)—The Indonesian republic swept aside suggestions for direct negotiations with the Dutch over hostilities in the East Indies and appealed to the Security Council to order United Nations arbitration.

Former Premier Sutan Sjahrir, addressing the council amid reports of preparedness for bitter-end fighting in Indonesia, said the Dutch were holding a pistol at the heads of the Indonesians and this would block free negotiations.

His renewed request for UN investigation and arbitration foreshadowed the termination of the American offer of good offices. Subsequently the withdrawal of the U. S. offer was announced in Washington.

U. S. Deputy Delegate Herschel V. Johnson viewed Sjahrir's speech as an outright rejection of the American offer. The Netherlands had accepted Sjahrir's offer to the council in a bitter speech that the Dutch were bent on destroying his country. He said Indonesia asked the help of the council "because we have no faith in the honesty and good will of the Dutch government."

Connaughton Goes To Veterinarians' National Meeting

Facts of the newer knowledge bearing on healthier and longer lives of domesticated animals are being exchanged this week by veterinarians from all sections of the United States attending the convention of the American Veterinary Medical Association at the Netherland Plaza Hotel, in Cincinnati, O.

Fulton is represented by Dr. H. M. Connaughton.

The veterinarians are examining the increasingly important role in public health being played by veterinary medicine. This has taken a dramatic turn with the enormous development of air transportation of both humans and animals and the threat this holds of introducing into this country diseases common in other parts of the world.

Many of the bacterial diseases of animals may cause serious illness in human beings, and animals are susceptible to as many diseases as are human beings.

NLRB Rules Union Officers Can't Be Reds

Sworn Statement A Prerequisite To Board Services

COURT FIGHT SEEN

Washington.—(AP)—An official ruling that all "officers" of the C. I. O. and A. F. L. must swear they are not Communists before they can serve on the National Labor Relations Board started a controversy today that seemed likely to end up in the courts.

Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the board, issued the ruling under the new Taft-Hartley Act effective Friday. He held that the act requires affidavits showing no Communist affiliations from "officers" of "national, international, and parent labor organizations." He ruled that "officers" are all persons described as such in the organization's constitution.

The question immediately arose whether members of the C. I. O. executive board, who include Ben Gold, an avowed Communist, are "officers." An N. L. R. B. spokesman told newsmen that "no interpretation of the law as it affects the C. I. O. executive board will be made until the question is brought before the board."

Meanwhile Tom Shroyer, chief counsel of the Senate-House committee set up to keep tabs on administration of the act, said the application of the provision to C. I. O. and A. F. L. officers goes further than some congressmen had expected.

Shroyer told reporters some committee members had expressed the view that the law requires the affidavits from officers of international unions within the A. F. L. and C. I. O., but not from "officers" of those two parent organizations.

The C. I. O. and A. F. L., or other labor organizations, could test the ruling in the courts if and when a case comes to a head. Some unions already have challenged the act as a whole, and its individual provisions, in court suits. There was no immediate comment, however, from the C. I. O. and A. F. L.

Shroyer said Congressional intent on the applicability of the anti-communist provision was not clear and the debate did not cover the point.

The law itself says the board cannot act on any cases instituted by a union unless the board has on file an affidavit:

"By each officer of such labor organization and the officers of any national or international labor organization of which it is an affiliate or constituent unit that he is not a member of the Communist party or affiliated with such party, and that he does not believe in, and is not a member of or supports any organization that believes in or teaches the overthrow of the United States government by force or by any illegal or unconstitutional methods."

Attlee May Step Down Soon, London Daily Mail Writer Says

London, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Daily Mail said tonight that Prime Minister Clement Attlee "has told his closest colleagues in the government that for reasons of health he intends to resign the premiership in the near future."

A page one story by Wilson Broadbent, the Mail's veteran political correspondent, reported "it was said in unusually well-informed circles last night that Mr. Attlee will nominate Mr. Ernest Bevin, the foreign secretary, as his successor."

Although Attlee had been under fire from a substantial section of his own Labor party for his handling of Great Britain's economic crisis, the Mail's story was the first flat report that the prime minister might resign.

The Mail said that Sunday when Attlee and his cabinet ministers held a secret meeting at No. 10 Downing street—the prime minister agreed to carry on until the British-American loan revision talks in Washington had passed their most critical stage.

If Bevin becomes prime minister, the newspaper said, Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton is expected to become foreign secretary.

Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the board of trade, "is already mentioned" as Dalton's successor in the treasury post, the Mail said.

All cabinet ministers have kept silent about Sunday's hastily-called cabinet meeting, which some authoritative sources said was ordered to discuss the Washington loan revision talks. Attlee himself left London today to resume his vacation in Wales.

"Mr. Attlee's health has been deteriorating for some time," the Mail said. "While delegating authority, Mr. Attlee has always insisted on doing a tremendous amount of desk work. This has led to nervous exhaustion."

"Without doubt, the present unrest within the Labor party, and his inability to placate the would-be rebels in the past three weeks, must have reinforced Mr. Attlee's decision to heed medical advice." Attlee faced a severe test of his party leadership last week in a private meeting of Labor members of Parliament when he was reported to have won an endorsement of his steel nationalization plan by the narrow margin of four votes, with more than 100 Laborites abstaining.

400 Thought Dead, Over 500 Injured In Blast At Navy Torpedo-Mine Plant In Cadiz, Spain

Cadiz, Spain.—(AP)—The Spanish National radio, giving the first official casualty figures in the Cadiz explosion of a naval torpedo and mine factory, said 105 bodies have been recovered and rescue crews were continuing to search in the wreckage.

Unofficial estimates on the number of casualties have ranged as high as 400 persons killed and 5,000 injured by the explosion in this city of 80,000.

The Franco government banned publication in Spanish newspapers of any mention of dead and injured totals, but estimates of the dead mounted sharply when it was found that a hospital, and orphanage and a factory had collapsed under the force of the blast probably entombing 300 men, women and children.

An official explanation of the explosion still was not available, nearly 24 hours after the blast caused thousands to stampede from houses and public places thinking an earthquake was rocking the city.

One report, however, attributed to the fire chief of the city of Cadiz, said the explosion of a gas engine in nearby shipyards set off a fire which spread to the torpedo plant and exploded 500 mines.

Most of the thousands of injured were suffering cuts from glass and falling debris.

Greatest material damage was at the Echevarrieta and Larriaga shipyards which were destroyed, along with many ships. Unofficial sources said the loss here alone was 100,000,000 pesetas ($10,000,000).

The shipyards had a night shift of 700 men, and many were believed to have perished.

The full force of the blast hit crowded suburban San Severiano and San Jose where factories, business places, homes and apartments were trampled together in ruins.

In the main part of Cadiz, two miles from the blast, doors were ripped out, walls were cracked and windows shattered.

Most naval personnel at the torpedo factory were killed, but one worker escaped miraculously only to find his family of seven dead when he returned to his wrecked home.

Hundreds of rescue teams dug in the ruins in the light of ships' searchlights from the bay. But the city's greatest danger was lack of water. The authorities were reported considering at least a partial evacuation of the population if water supplies now being rushed by ship and rail proved insufficient.

Cadiz, built on a frying pan-shaped peninsula, was isolated for several hours when the explosion at the base of the narrow "handle" cut rail, highway, telephone and telegraph communications; wrecked power lines, throwing the city into darkness, and demolished the conduit supplying the city's only water.

Security Council Drops Balkan Row; Stymied By Vetoes

U. N. Assembly To Hear Dispute On September 16

RED VETOES TOTAL 16

By The Associated Press
Lake Success.—The United Nations Security Council admitted its inability to solve the Balkan problem after Russia invoked the big-power veto to kill two more American-supported attempts at a solution.

At the end of a stormy session, the 60th Council meeting held on the Balkan question, Council President Faris el Khoury of Syria told the delegates they had reached the end of the road.

There was nothing left, he said, but to refer the problem to the 55-nation General Assembly which meets in New York September 16 and to inform the Assembly that the veto had paralyzed the Council.

Herschel V. Johnson, U. S. deputy delegate, said after the meeting that if the Assembly also failed to find a solution, the United States would consider new steps. He said there was nothing in the U. N. Charter to prevent joint military action in defense of Greece.

The Council's failure to reach a decision left the fate of the Balkan Investigation Commission and its subsidiary group in doubt. El Khoury expressed a belief that these bodies would continue indefinitely, but Russia and Poland challenged his opinion.

The general belief was that they might withdraw their representatives from the Balkan groups. El Khoury told newsmen he thought this possible.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko ran Russia's string of vetoes up to 16 with two last evening. He had invoked this special voting privilege three times yesterday to block the admission of Ireland, Portugal, and Trans-Jordan into the U. N.

The Balkan proposals he killed were:

1. An Australian resolution, supported by the United States, to order Greece, Albania, Bulgaria, and Yugoslavia to "cease all acts of provocation" and to try to settle their differences by direct negotiations.

2. An American resolution, declaring that Albania, Bulgaria, and Yugoslavia were threatening peace by aiding Greek guerrillas and ordering them to stop such actions immediately.

The vote on both resolutions was 9 to 2, with Russia and Poland casting the negative ballots. Under the U. N. Charter, all decisions on matters of importance must be made by seven affirmative votes, including the concurrence of all five major powers.

Australian Delegate Col. W. R. Hodgson immediately delivered a scorching attack on Gromyko's repeated use of the veto. He called it "the most vicious instrument ever utilized by man to

FTC's Attack Surprising

The Federal Trade Commission shows that there is more than one approach to solution of the high-price problem. By its action against alleged price fixing and restraint of competition in the steel industry, it has moved toward the substantial and enduring remedy of breaking down a system of national exploitation. This, many may feel, is preferable to the more swift but temporary method of controls and rationing.

As far as the public is concerned, the F. T. C. action came as a surprise. Everybody had his eye on the Department of Justice which, cheered on by the President, had advertised its purpose of moving along the same broad line of anti-monopoly investigations in general. There had arisen a sort of scornful comment to the effect that this would not get at the roots of higher prices.

However, the Trade Commission seems to have taken some of the force out of this argument. If it is able to prove that there are indeed collusion and phony methods among members of the American Iron and Steel Institute, and that as to the all-important steel industry the public has no benefit of competitive prices and genuine free enterprise, then a great step will have been taken toward a reduction in the cost of living. It will have proved that there are areas in which a definite responsibility for high prices can be fixed. And this is what Attorney General Clark and President Truman were talking about when they announced a search for conspiracies to fix prices of food, clothing and housing.

On the very face of recent developments, both Big and Little Steel are open to suspicion of the practices which the F. T. C. now openly charges. It may be recalled that steel companies, apparently independent and competitive, acted in striking unanimity last month to raise their prices. What made this action more emphatic was that it came in bland disregard of the President's mild request that industry wait and see how the new coal wage agreement would affect it before it raised prices. Not only did the steel makers not wait and see, they acted in concert almost before the echoes of Mr. Truman's words had died away.

Whether this was a monopolistic, collusive action or not, the effect of it was immediately obvious. Automobile companies, domestic and industrial equipment companies, announced increases in the price for their products. Steel was up, therefore their costs were up. But also obvious was a result which mystifies the average consumer. The new prices for manufactured goods were higher (up to $100 or more for automobiles) than the increase cost of steel that went into them ($5 to $7 a ton). Many a man on the street must have begun to suspect that higher prices for raw material and higher wages are actually small in relation to the increases he is asked to pay.

Thus, if monopoly and conspiracy exist in basic industries, if they are discovered and ended, then much of this chain reaction of price rises, both the justifiable and unjustifiable, will be stopped. This is what the Department of Justice is after finding. The value of its line of investigation is enhanced, now that the Federal Trade Commission, acting independently and, in a way, for different purposes, shows that there are teeth in the governmental process.—Courier-Journal.

Soviet Game In Greece

There is an ominous ring in the Moscow radio's hint that Russia may sever diplomatic relations with Greece on the strength of the allegation that Greek authorities have "been arresting and even subjecting to torture persons employed by the Soviet embassy" in Athens.

This smacks of Communist maneuvering in preparation for a coup which would further Moscow's aim of securing control of the Greek peninsula as a steppingstone to domination of the eastern Mediterranean. While Russia's broad strategy is clear enough, the exact meaning of the new tactics is a matter of debate.

Some diplomatic observers in Athens say it is likely that both the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia are looking for a chance to break off diplomatic relations with Greece.

Why? Well, such a break could be a preliminary to the setting up of a Communist government in Northern Greece as a rival to the established monarchist regime in Athens. Then Moscow and its Balkan satellites could recognize the new Red government, perhaps as a separatist regime or even as the government of all Greece. The Communists, of course, long have maintained that the monarchy is being maintained (with American and British help) against the will of the majority of the people.

In considering the possibility of such a Red coup, one is bound to recall that only last Tuesday the American delegation to the United Nations declared that if the security council fails to solve the Balkan problem the United States is prepared to join with other countries to protect Greece "within the provisions of the charter." Deputy U. S. Delegate Herschel Johnson gave this warning to Moscow after charging that Communists groups supported by Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria hoped to set up a totalitarian regime in Greece.

Could it be that a severance of relations with Greece by Moscow is an answer to America? The establishment of a Red regime in Northern Greece might be followed by a declaration from the Russian bloc that in turn it would protect the Communist Greek government "within the provisions of the charter."

In creating such a government the Communist bloc would merely be "legalizing" a situation which already exists, since the recent majority report of the U. N. Balkan border investigation stated that Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia were fostering the Communist civil war in the north. However, an excuse for greater Red intervention would be provided.

That would be playing with high explosive. Still, Russia has made it plain that she isn't afraid to handle dynamite if that is necessary in order to carry out her program of Communist expansion. Moreover, Moscow has been working shrewdly through her puppet states. They are her shield and spear.

In short, if the western democracies should take action against the Red operation in Northern Greece they would come up against not Russia but the satellites—the Soviet shield. This is calculated to give the Communist bloc what it wants without precipitating another world war—which nobody wants.

It is a dangerous game but one which bids fair to be played out to some sort of conclusion—risk or no risk.

Night Deer Hunts Must Be For Coon

Monterey, Calif.—(AP)—Hunting wild boar at night is definitely out on Monterey peninsula, declare game wardens Owen Mello and Ellis Berry.

They are tired of hearing illegal deer hunters, who use powerful lights to blind deer at night, claim they are hunting wild boar.

The wardens point to a section of the game code which forbids taking anything but predatory birds and animals at night.

The wild boar is not predatory. Rabbits are, however, to it still all right to go "coon hunting" at night.

HOLLYWOOD

By GENE HANDSAKER

Hollywood—"Have you seen these 16-pound shots?" Doug Fairbanks, Jr., asked, picking up two big ones. One he dropped with a shuddering crash to the sound-stage floor. The other he pitched, with a grin, at my stomach. Doubling up instinctively, I threw out my hands to catch it. It was of balsa wood, light as cotton.

Practical jokes, Doug thinks, keep people happy and actors from going stale. An epidemic of pranks has been sweeping the set of his picture, "The Exile." Tiny firecrackers daubed with strong rubbery glue have exploded against the seats of pants. Lampblack applied to telephone receivers and the sponge-rubber eyepieces of cameras has blackened the eyes and ears of crewmen and actors.

A chair in Fairbanks' dressing room becomes an electrical hot-seat when he presses a button under the edge of his dressing table. The chair is patterned after one used for years by Fairbanks, Sr., to shock his visitors. But electricians switched connections on Doug, Jr., and it was he who leaped into the air when he tried to electrify Nigel Bruce.

"If there's nothing but 'd-d-gory,' Doug explains, 'nobody enjoys working.' And so far nobody has got sore."

Fairbanks' leading lady is Paule Croset (pronounced Paul Cro-SAY). Mary Pickford-ish, blue-eyed blonde whom Funster Fairbanks addresses as "Miss Croset." As "Rita Corday" at another studio, she played tough gun molls and French floozies in several B pictures. Then she won out over 140 girls interviewed and 35 screen-tested for the Dutch peasant role with Fairbanks.

Her full name is Jeanne Paule Telpotemarama Croset. The third name is Tahitian—She was born on the island, where her father was acting Belgian consul—and means "ball of light." And as pronounced by Paule, it sounds beautiful.

You'd never guess the amount of legal hairpulling that goes on between actors' agents and studios over the size type to be used in advertisements and screen credits. A written agreement I saw it—guarantees that Betty Hutton's name shall be in type 75 per cent as big as the picture title, "Perils of Pauline." Costar John Lund rates 60 per cent while Billy DeWolfe, William Demarest, Constance Collier, and Frank Faylen must be content with 33 1-3 per cent. But Billy has one consolation—his name is in capital letters.

The state of Washington is as large as all of New England plus Delaware.

Dog Chases Fawn, But Runs from Doe

Redding, Calif.—(AP)—"I saw the worm turn," says forest ranger Clyde Lewis.

He was riding with rancher Ellison Saunders in the rugged Yolla Bolly mountains, when Saunders' dog jumped a fawn and chased it into some brush.

The dog came streaking back. After him bounded a doe, slashing at him with her hooves at every leap. She chased him to within ten feet of the men, then stood there pawing the earth, her tail straight out and every hair along her backbone standing straight up.

"Worst frightened dog I ever say," says Lewis.

Australia Wants New Cars, But Gets 760 Monthly

Canberra—(AP)—The New South Wales Department of Road Transport is holding 20,662 applications for new automobiles, but only about 760 new cars become available each month, according to figures disclosed by the administrator of the department, J. J. O'Rourke.

This is typical of the shortage throughout Australia of new automobiles which may be purchased only by government permit.

Sports Roundup

By Allan Merritt
(For Hugh Fullerton Jr.)

St. Louis—(AP)—If the St. Louis Cardinals repeat by coming from behind to snatch the National League pennant from the Brooklyn Dodgers, all the howls that go up in Mound City won't be for joy.

Last fall after the Cardinal-Dodger pennant playoff there was considerable hue and cry over the fact that only about 12,000 reserved seat World Series tickets were left for sale to the general public for the games at Sportsman's Park. This time, unless it develops that such speculation is entirely unnecessary, only about 8,600 will be left for John Q. Public.

Main reason for this situation is that the Cardinals have sold some 20,000 ticket books this season, about double the number sold in 1946. Each holder of two of these books is entitled to a set of World Series tickets if the Redbirds win.

A SAGE PROPHECY

Cardinal Manager Eddie Dyer's prediction that the pennant chase would end in another bruising battle between the world champions and their old Brooklyn foes, with Boston and New York close behind, is remarkable in that he made it early last June when the Redbirds were giving their all to get out of the loop's dungeon. Dyer's faith in the club doesn't change with the standings, and his original forecast still stands. He'll go this far: "If we continue to get the breaks and have no serious injuries, we'll have a good season."

It's a shame to discard shoes which only need a good repair job to give them many more miles of wear-ability. Bring them here and be amazed at how little we charge to renew worn footwear.

Struck Trailway Stations Picketed

Alexandria, La.—(AP)—Company officials of the strike-locked Southern Trailways bus lines reported here today that many prospective employees had begun applying for jobs left several months ago by regular workers, but at the same time pickets were marching before Trailway stations and shops here and in Jackson, and Columbus, Miss.

At Columbus pickets took up their placards shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. Cy Perkins, a striking bus driver, said object of the line was that any employee returning to work "will have to cross it." He added, however, that the pickets intended to operate in "a gentlemanly manner."

Coach Tyree Pessimistic

Union City—Thirty candidates answered the first call for football practice at Union City high school Monday afternoon and went through a light workout directed by Coach George Tyree and J. C. Dixon.

Of this small squad, only six are returning lettermen, and only two or three others have had any experience on the field. Six lettermen from the 1946 Golden Tornado were lost by graduating and two are ineligible.

The first game on the Tornado schedule will be played at Union City Sept. 12 against Tiptonville. The following week the Union City team will go to Memphis to play Central high.

Coach Tyree already has called for his crying towel as he contemplates the coming season, but said he had several boys who wanted to play football and that they would be given the chance.

Chicks Bow To Lowly Hounds At Turner Field By 5-3 Score

The Fulton Chicks bowed to the lowly Greyhounds in Union City last night at Turner Field by a score of 5-3.

After jumping off in the first with a 2-0 lead which they stretched to 3-0 in the third, the Chicks faltered and saw the Greyhounds sweep them by scoring once in the third, once in the fourth, twice in the sixth and once again in the eighth.

One run by the Greyhounds was an out-of-the-park home run by Godfrey in the fourth inning. There are a lot of fans who attended the game who will bet you that the ball was foul, though.

Lynch started the game for the Chicks and was pulled in the seventh to allow Litzelner to hit for him. Litzelner fanned and Musgraves pitched the rest of the game.

Fulton's big inning was the first. Buck led off with a single and took second on Gray's single. Rhodes, laying down a sacrifice, was safe at first on the short stop's error as Buck came home with a run and Gray moved to third. Propst filed out to centerfield and the runners held. Peterson scored Gray on a fielder's choice and moved Rhodes to third. Seawright then hit into a double play, short to second to first, to retire the side.

In the third Buck struck out to start the inning. Gray, the hottest Chick on the diamond last night, singled. Rhodes filed out to right field. Propst slashed to a three-bagger, to score Gray. Peterson rolled out to the pitcher to end the inning. That was the end of scoring by the Chicks.

The Greyhounds led off with Cooper in the first. He rolled out to Lynch. Sepanek drew a base on balls. Kustich didn't make it to first on a ground ball for the second out. Traeger then scored Sepanek with a single and moved on to third on Gray's throw to first that Propst didn't get. Majerick struck out to retire the side.

Godfrey, first up for the Greyhounds in the fourth, poked one out of the park for a home run. The ball was hit very close to the foul line, but the umpire who says "they ain't nothing till I call 'em" ruled it fair. Schloessmann singled. Simpson walked out to Pechous in center field. Kustich singled, Cooper walked. Lynch then bore down the 110 miles of trails to a base camp when additional men are needed.

In the sixth, Kustich drew a base on balls and took second on Cooper's ground ball which Propst fielded and tossed to Gray who was covering first for the first out. Sepanek filed out to Peterson in right field. Kustich singled to score Kustich. Traeger singled to send Kustich to third. Majerick singled to score Kustich. Godfrey made the third out, Rhodes to Propst.

Adding insult to injury, the Greyhounds scored once again in the eighth. Cooper, first up, walked and then stole second. Sepanek made the first out as Cooper moved around to third. Kustich singled and Cooper came home with a tally. Traeger walked. Majerick filed out to retire the side.

Peterson, Godfrey struck out to end the first inning. The loss pushed the Chicks deeper out of the first division. They are now a game and a half behind Hoptown and Madisonville who are tied for third place, and two and one-half games behind Mayfield who moved back into second place last night. The Oilers still hold a commanding six game lead over the second place club.

The Chicks return to Union City tonight for the final game of a three game series with the Greyhounds.

Aching Bulldogs Getting In Shape For Gridiron Wars

The Bulldogs of Fulton high school, sweating in every pore and aching in every muscle, are out this week getting in shape for football this fall.

Coach J. B. Goranflo, wisely enough, is holding the practice down almost entirely to limbering-up exercises. He has the team divided for closer supervision with the line reporting in the mornings and the backs coming out in the afternoons.

Monday of next week the entire team will be given thorough physical check-ups and practice will then become harder. By Thursday Goranflo hopes to have his charges hard at it, with rough work in full uniform a daily chore.

22,085 State Vets Students On Aug. 1

The number of World War II veterans enrolled in Kentucky educational institutions under the G. I. Bill and the Vocational Rehabilitation Act continued to decrease during July, totalling 22,085 on Aug. 1, the Veterans Administration regional office here reported today.

The total was 1,377 less than the July 1 enrollment and 7,346 below the peak attendance of 29,431 of last April.

VA officials expect the veteran enrollment to again exceed 29,000 after opening of the fall term in Kentucky's schools and colleges.

The Arcadia Homemakers Club in McCracken county won a first prize of $50 on an exhibit of a "Well-Equipped Sewing Room."

prevent the prevailing of the democratic will."

He told the Council he had just received a report that the subsidiary commission of the Balkan Investigating Commission had just voted 9 to 2 that the three Soviet satellites were guilty of "10 deliberate border violations" against Greece.

Gromyko declared the proposals he had vetoed were part of a "political game." He then challenged el Khoury's ruling that the subsidiary group should continue in existence. He said the groups had "exhausted their tasks" and should be considered "liquidated."

Johnson and British Delegate Sir Alexander Cadogan supported el Khoury's ruling, which continued to hold at the meeting adjourned, subject to call of any delegate.

The meeting began with a concerted attack on the United States by Albania, Poland, Yugoslavia, and Bulgaria.

Albanian Representative Nesti Kerenxhi opened the Soviet bloc's attack on the United States with a declaration that the United States was trying to cover up its own intervention in Greece by charging Albania, Yugoslavia, and Bulgaria with interfering in Greek affairs.

Certain countries, he said, were more interested in furthering their own interests than in finding a solution of the Balkan problem.
