AIDED BY RAINFALL

Reports From Clarksville District, However, Indicate Less Than Average Crop Planted

Clarksville, Tenn., June 21.—Sales in the open tobacco market for the week were 63 hogsheads and by the Planters Association, 577 hogsheads. Receipts amounted to 17 hogsheads.

During the past week there has been sufficient fall of rain over fully three-fourths of this section to make a tolerably good season for planting tobacco, and it was put to use with all haste possible. There were in some localities, many farmers who had planted a large portion of their crop, but had an inferior stand. These succeeded in finishing, and in most instances replanted. There were others who had never planted any before who finished, but a large number have not nor will finish, as plants are exhausted.

In some sections very little has been planted. The reports from the Clarksville district show that there is not more than 60 per cent of an average crop planted, and with the light season in many sections, the average now living will be reduced probably 15 per cent. Thus it seems that in spite of the effort on the part of the growers to plant an extra large crop to the neglect of a food crop, Providence has interfered, and already much land intended for tobacco is planted in corn with still more to plant.

There has been a fall in the sales department for the last two weeks that has prevented the sale of as much tobacco as was expected. There is no material reason for buyers to withhold from buying what they really want so far as can be ascertained, except a hope that prices may drop a little, or at least may not be raised. The largest buying firms here have succeeded in purchasing in loose form a sufficient quantity of tobacco to make them easy for a few months and are therefore not large competitors in buying at the present time.

While it was generally conceded that the crop last year was short of an average crop, and it has been reported there have been many defections from the Association, the receipts of the prize houses show enough already received to make 24,000 hogsheads, with enough yet in the county to make a few hundred more, and the number prized by farmers to make the receipts of the year 26,000, in comparison with 36,000 of last year.

The farmers, as a rule, are not pressing for a sale, but are patiently waiting, feeling satisfied that there can be no decline in prices and knowing that the markets of the world are not overstocked, nor are likely to be so next year.

The scouts added another victory to their long list yesterday by defeating Hazel 7 to 5 in a well played game. Hazel played good ball but the scouts were too much for them. The batteries for Murray being Beech and Ellison, for Hazel, Braswell and Puckett.

Dr. Blythe's Book

Dr. Vernon Blythe, of Paducah, has written a history of the civil war. Of this work Neale's Advertiser, of New York, says:

For many years the need of an adequate history of the Civil War has been felt throughout the United States. This is such a work. After many years of careful research, and after examining many records both official and private, Dr. Blythe has written a non-partisan history. Although a Southerner, and a son of a Confederate soldier, the author of this volume acquired his education principally in the North, and has lived many years in both the North and the West. It is believed that this work will be generally used as a text-book throughout the country. Illustrated by maps and portraits.

TOBACCO RULING

Expert Says Pooling Of Tobacco Over The State Is Practically At An End

Louisville, Ky., June 23.—A prominent tobacco man expressed the opinion today that the supreme court's decision to the effect that tobacco poolers will have no legal right to prevent the withdrawal of any member from a pool will not have marked effect on conditions in Kentucky. Virtually all of the tobacco pooling in Central Kentucky ceased some time ago, and there is at the present time but one big tobacco pool in the western part of the state centering around Henderson, Daviess, Hopkins and other counties. Almost all of the pooled tobacco has already been sold this year.

The supreme court holds that tobacco pools in Kentucky henceforth must be maintained entirely by common consent. Its decision smashes one of the last of Kentucky laws enacted against corporate activities.

Five years ago the pooling act of Kentucky was brought to the attention of the United States supreme court by Patrick Collins and Thomas Malone, two Mason county farmers, who withdrew their tobacco from the Burley tobacco pool and sold it independently. Under the Kentucky state act, known as the Crescecent act, a fine of $150 was imposed for taking the tobacco out of the hands of the agent representing the pool. The act provided that the agent should have the sole right to sell the pool.

The fines imposed upon Collins and Malone resulted in action in the courts testing the act, which by the supreme court's ruling is unconstitutional.

Indigestion and Constipation.

About five years ago I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets after suffering from indigestion and constipation for years without finding anything to relieve me. Chamberlain's Tablets helped me at once and using them several weeks I was cured of the complaint," writes, Mrs. Mary E. McMullen, Phelps, N. Y. For sale by all dealers.

Beckham's Lead.

Ex-Governor James C. W. Beckham will receive as many votes as Stanley and McCreary combined according to a statement of a prominent tobacco-nist who has just returned from a tour of the central and eastern portions of the state. The Beckham sentiment seems to be growing each day according to the tobacco-nist who stated that many democrats are deserting the Stanley forces and joining with those of Beckham. In Daviess county it is predicted that Beckham will carry the county by a majority of 2,000. This change in sentiment seems to have been brought about by the postoffice appointment made at Owensboro at the dictation of Urey Woodson.—Paducah Sun.

Beckham Strong in Hopkins.

A special dispatch from Madisonville says: "The Senatorial race in Hopkins county is getting interesting. Ex-Gov. J. C. W. Beckham will get one of the largest votes cast for a Senator, and the prospects are that he will defeat Congressman A. O. Stanley. Gov. McCreary will hardly be known in this county. The vote of the Confederate veterans had been conceded to McCreary early in the race, but now a great majority of them are going to vote for Beckham, and are supporting him in various ways. "Notwithstanding this is the home district of Congressman Stanley and Hopkins has in the past supported him, it will now give Beckham a good majority. Pastors of the different churches of the city are lined up for Gov. Beckham, and the temperance forces in Hopkins county will support him. It seems from the hard work that is being done in favor of Gov. Beckham by the moral and temperance legions in the county that Beckham is their choice in every respect. The veterans who have supported Gov. McCreary in everything he has wanted in the past years, claim he has had enough of public office and should retire. Interior Journal.

Get Rid of Your Rheumatism.

Now is the time to get rid of your rheumatism. You can do it if you apply Chamberlain's Liniment. W. A. Lockhard, Homer City, N. Y., writes, "Last spring I suffered from rheumatism with terrible pains in my arms and shoulders. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and the first application relieved me. By using one bottle of it I was entirely cured. For sale by all dealers.

Lee Scholes Elected Chief.

At the regular meeting of the city council held last Friday night Lee Scholes was elected chief of police to succeed the late Mr. Holland. Mr. Scholes is a well known citizen and for the past several years served as a guard in the Edgelyville penitentiary. He executed bond Saturday morning and was immediately sworn in and assumed the duties of the office.

Two Kentucky Couples.

Since our last report Esq. W. T. Snow has united in marriage two couples, the ceremonies being said in the office of the officiating Squire. They were Carl Hopkins to Miss Evie Turner, and W. G. Paschall to Miss E. M. Melvin. These young people, who reside at Murray, came to Paris to wed because they preferred to have the nuptial knots tied by our famous marrying Squire.—Paris Parisan.

Holds Family Reunion.

A rather peculiar case is the experience of a woman in jail. Mrs. Cal Cloys was lodged in prison last week. Her present husband, Cal Cloys, was already there as was her son-in-law, Jim Seat. One son was there also, and later another son spent a short while in the same jail. Next came her former husband, Bob Smith, who also spent several hours before being released. This was some family reunion, but probably not as pleasant as most reunions of the family.—Mayfield Messenger.

Only One Entirely Satisfactory.

"I have tried various colic and diarrhoea remedies, but the only one that has given me entire satisfaction and cured me when I was afflicted is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I recommend it to my friends at all times," writes S. N. Galloway, Stewart, S. C. For sale by all dealers.

44,000,000 Red Cross Seals Sold 1913

More than 44,000,000 Red Cross Christmas Seals were sold last December, according to a report issued to-day by The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, and the American Red Cross. In this way $440,000 is netted for anti-tuberculosis work in various parts of the United States.

The sale in 1913 is a gain of 4,000,000 seals over 1912, or 10 per cent. It is hoped that this year the 50,000,000 mark will be reached. The seal design for 1914 has been selected and orders for 100,000,000 seals have been placed. Plans for the organization of a larger sale this year than ever before have been perfected.

New York State led the country last year with a sale of over 10,500,000 seals or one for each man, woman and child in the state. Of this number, more than 6,825,000 were sold outside of New York City by the State Charities Aid Association. Pennsylvania's sale was second, largest, aggregating 3,125,000 seals. Ohio came next with a sale of 2,300,000, Wisconsin fourth with 2,700,000, and Illinois fifth with 2,500,000. Hawaii sold the most seals per capita, the total sale being somewhat over two for each inhabitant. Rhode Island came second with a sale of two per person.

Beginning with a sale of 13,500,000 in 1908 in six seasons the revenue which these little holiday seals have brought to the anti-tuberculosis campaign has more than tripled, an aggregate for the period of over $1,800,000 or 180,000,000 seals.

An Eccentric River Hero

In the "Interesting People" department of the July American Magazine appears a sketch of Jack Ring, who in the last forty years has rescued 300 persons from the Missouri River and recovered about 150 bodies of the drowned. He is called the "River Hero," and is a "great character," in the Missouri valley. Following is an extract from the article:

"There is at St. Joseph, Missouri, a small, catfish-eating man, past sixty, who has won and gracefully wears the title of River Hero. Some three hundred persons saved from the sucking throat of the flood, about one hundred and fifty bodies taken from watery shifting graves behold Ring's record. Of the rescued, forty were boys, twenty-five were women, including a famous 'laughing girl,' and the rest were men, one of them a two hundred and fifty pounder.

"Jack Ring's boat is one mile of the river front, and he has patrolled it almost daily since 1873, with the exception of six months when he was fighting in the Philippine Islands.

"I had a long talk with the life-saver, one day down by the stream, and learned as follows:

"He knows the Missouri River; its subtle moods, when the floods will come and when recede; the changing channel, treacherous currents, suck holes, eddies, boilings-up, where the sand bars are; the habits and haunts of the wiggling things, big and little, that inhabit the stream.

"He has developed a scientific and effective method for rescuing persons from drowning.

"He has discovered that there are mysterious laws which govern the movement of corpses in the water.

"So intimate is Ring's knowledge of the river that if he is informed where an unfortunate sank to death he will calculate the suck hole, eddy or sand bar down-stream, a hundred yards to five miles, where the body is likely to be found. Tests have often been proved of accuracy of his conclusions.

"Not by guesswork or intuition does Ring locate the dead bodies, as many have fancied. He consults his mental map of the river and then makes a mathematical calculation.

"And the map of the river is different every year, the hero explained. 'This stream is a restless thing, an' twists an' turns in his bed.'

"Ring's skill as a life-saver is predicated, of course, on his expert swimming. The supreme test of river swimming, so the expert said, is for one to be able to take care of himself in the swift and mighty current, battle through the suck holes and hold his own in perilous places where the water 'kinks up' and backs like a broncho. 'I've been in a lot o' ticklish places but never lost my head,' the old man mused, 'an' that's why I'm here.'

"Experience has taught the hero that it is useless to reason with a person afflicted in the water, and it is his practice to knock such a one senseless with a carefully directed blow with the fist on the forehead or just back of the ear."

You Look Prematurely Old

HEALTH PAST FIFTY

Careful diet is of utmost importance to men and women past fifty years of age; it keeps up their strength, and the oil food in Scott's Emulsion is a nourishing food, a curative medicine and a sustaining tonic to regulate the functions of the body. It contains the medicinal fats of pure cod liver oil and science proves that they furnish twice as much energy as other foods—then too, it creates pure blood, sharpens the appetite, relieves rheumatism, strengthens the body and alleviates the ailments due to declining years. Scott's is free from wines, alcohol or harmful drugs. Beware of substitutes.

Entering a New World

A man was pardoned out of the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus a few days ago after serving forty-three years of a life sentence. He entered the prison in 1870 at the age of twenty-three. He left it at sixty-six to begin life over again.

This prisoner never had seen an automobile, a bicycle, a motorcycle, an electric car, an arc light, a picture show or a skyscraper. He had never heard a phonograph. He had never been in an elevator or a street car. He had never talked over a telephone. He could not imagine anything about wireless telegraphy and he knew nothing about aeroplane except that he had once seen a picture of a flying machine in a book.

When released from prison he asked that some one be sent with him 'until he got used to things.' What surprised him most, he said, was the number of automobiles. In his day even the number of buggies and carriages was limited. "I heard in prison that the world was moving faster and now I know it," he said. "I can't explain it very well, but somehow it seems to be a different sort of a world, doing things in a different way."

The changes that have come about in a period of more than forty years are marvelous even to those who have witnessed the onward march of improvement while moving along in the vacations of life. The ordinary citizen can have but a faint conception of what a revelation the activities of a modern city must be to one who has been shut off from the world for so long a time. The old prisoner will find it a most difficult task to adjust himself to present-day conditions.

The Poor Boy and His Chance

It depends largely upon the boy himself, and not the condition surrounding his birth, what he will be when he arrives at man's estate.

Almost every sketch of the life of a rich business man who has died in recent years reveals the fact that he started life a poor boy.

Andrew Carnegie thought he was on the road to riches when he received $2 a week and walked five miles to borrow books from a friend to read.

Abraham Lincoln and James A. Garfield, who became presidents of the United States, began life under the most impoverished circumstances.

An endless list of men great in science, in religion, in art, in finance, in law, in fact every profession, can be traced to boys who had to struggle with poverty in their early school days.

Because a boy is born of moneyless parents is no reason he may not die a man of influence and wealth.

Usually fortunes thus obtained have a double value because the possessor knows the pangs of poverty and can fully appreciate what a struggle was necessary before independence became assured.

A poor boy today has as much of a chance, if not a better one, than the boy had 60 or 70 years ago. The great men who are now passing out of life look back to the time when they were boys and are impressed with the brighter opportunities the poor boy has today.

Somewhere there is a chance for every young, energetic and ambitious boy. He will not find that chance by idling away his time in bad company or by relying upon his parents to support him. All young idlers should brace up, become ambitious and go where their labor is wanted.

This should be remembered above all things. The poor boy has the same opportunity of reaching the gilded goal that the son of a rich man has if he will but apply himself. The rich man's sons rarely succeed in after life. Days of luxury have stilled the struggling ambition which is the foundation of success. This is not true in every case, but it is too frequently noted.

The world is open for the poor boy. He must fight his way. He must struggle to win, but victory achieved under such circumstances is always sweeter in the end.

Every boy, poor or rich, has

Old Superstition Discarded

Washington, June 24.—Astrology is branded as a superstition by the Department of Agriculture in its current weekly news letter. Discussing the question of whether the planets affect the weather, the department declared "the belief, still to be found in all countries, that the planets and the moon do affect the weather, never had any scientific basis whatever; it is only a remnant of the many superstitions generated and fostered by that other great superstition, astrology."

The department's conclusion on the subject says: "We have every reason to believe that neither the planets nor the moon can have any appreciable effect on the weather, because they furnish so little heat upon which all weather changes ultimately depend, and this belief is fully supported by weather records."

Seventeen-Year Locust Due.

The seventeen-year locust, last seen in 1897, is due to reappear this year according to a late bulletin sent out by the State Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington, warning farmers and fruit growers. The seventeen-year locust is harmful because in the warm state it lives by sucking sap out of the roots of trees and shrubbery and when the eggs are laid, trees and plants on which they are deposited die. The locust is the longest lived insect known to scientists. Seventeen years ago the eggs from which this year's crop of locusts will be hatched were laid on trees and shrubbery. The eggs, after three weeks, develop into worms which dropped from the trees and burrowed into the ground where they have lived since 1897 preying on the roots of trees. During this month the forms are expected to re-appear and will develop into locust.

SEVERE BRONCHIAL COUGH

Doctors Feared Lung Trouble, Restored to Health by Vinol.

The medical profession does not believe that lung trouble is inherited, but a person may inherit a weakness or tendency to them.

Mrs. Kate Heckman, Springfield, Ohio, says: "A few years ago I was in a very bad run-down condition, and the physician told me I had consumption. I tried another physician, and he told me I had ulcers on my right lung. I quit the physicians and started on 'Vinol.' Today I am perfectly healthy, and that is why I recommend 'Vinol.'"

Vinol soothes and heals the inflamed surfaces and allays the cough. Vinol cures an appetite, strengthens the digestive organs and gives the patient strength to throw off incipient pulmonary diseases. Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Dale & Stubblefield.
