POLICE JUDGES

Assistant Attorney General Says
They Can't Try Concealed Weapon Cases.

When the General Assembly of 1914 added the penalty of disfranchisement to the first conviction for carrying concealed a deadly weapon, it thereby increased the penalty beyond the jurisdiction of the Magistrates and Police Judges, in the opinion of Assistant Attorney General M. M. Logan. A number of Magistrates have requested enlightenment on the effect of the law.

The limit of jurisdiction for Magistrates and Police Judges in misdemeanor cases is 30 days in jail and $100 fine. They have jurisdiction to try all cases in which the penalty prescribed is within that limit. The penalty for first conviction for carrying concealed a deadly weapon is $25 to $100 fine and 10 to 30 days in jail, but added to this is the automatic penalty of disfranchisement for two years.

In the opinion of Mr. Logan the very fact that the penalty automatically attaches when judgment of sentence is pronounced, lifts the offense above the jurisdiction of Magistrates courts.

Mr. Logan in his opinion follows the decision of the Court of Appeals in the case of Owensboro, in the fine imposed on an alleged disorderly house keeping was less than the amount, which would give the Court of Appeals jurisdiction, but in which that court did take jurisdiction because the verdict and judgment carried with them an order for the sheriff to forcibly abate the nuisance, thus extending the penalty beyond the mere imposition of the fine.

Following the same course of reasoning, he believes that the disfranchisement for two years is a palpable extension of the penalty in "pistol toting" cases, and the limit of the jurisdiction of the inferior courts being clearly defined as to the amount of fine and term of imprisonment, the extension of the penalty deprives them altogether of jurisdiction.

County Judges were lifted out of this class by another act of 1914, which confers on them jurisdiction in all misdemeanors. If this act is constitutional, Mr. Logan said a County Judge clearly has jurisdiction to try cases of carrying concealed deadly weapons.

The law, extending the jurisdiction of County Judges to include all misdemeanors, has fallen under the suspicion of lawyers, because it excepts from its provisions County Courts of counties, containing Circuit Courts of continuous sessions. The constitution requires uniformity in this particular, and this law as well as the question of the jurisdiction of Magistrates and Police Courts in the concealed weapon cases, probably will be tested out.

Thirty Per Cent. Tobacco Crop.

R. F. (Bob) Farmer, one of the best known tobacco men in this section, has returned to Hazel after a trip of inspection of the tobacco crop in Calloway, and stated Wednesday that the crop would be only about 30 per cent. of what it was last year.

Mr. Farmer made a thorough investigation, and in all directions he found things in bad shape so far as the tobacco crop is concerned. He visited 100 farms, and failed to find a good full crop on any of them.

He found the outlook most likely in the Jones' Mill section and in Southwest Calloway. A scope of country down there has had fairly good rains. But to the east, west and north of Hazel the acreage of good tobacco will be very small. He found much tobacco dying on the hill, and learned that the plant beds were so dry a lighted match would destroy them. — Hazel News.

Sheriff Patterson Wounds Man.

Sheriff Patterson last Saturday shot Walter Hale through the leg at a barbecue and fish fry at Pine Bluff. Deputy Sheriff Felix Bailey had arrested Tom Hale when his brother, Walter, endeavored to interfere with the officer. When Sheriff Patterson went to the deputy's assistance and before order could be restored Patterson shot Hale. The wound was made with a 25 automatic Colt's revolver and is only a slight flesh wound. Both of the Hale boys were arrested.

A load of wheat caught fire Wednesday while the wheat was being threshed on the farm of Henry Skinner, near Farmington. A boy of Jim Thompson was driving his farm to a load of wheat when the wheat took fire, causing the team to run away through the wheat field. The boy escaped injury by jumping from the wagon. The team, a horse and mule, were badly burned. The mule is not expected to live, but the horse may recover. It took a lot of hard work to prevent stables and other property from burning. — Mayfield Messenger.

BECKHAM HOLDS STANLEY'S
LIQUOR RECORD UP TO VIEW

Former Governor J. C. W. Beckham, democratic candidate for United States Senator, and who will address the voters of Calloway county at the Woodruff Opera House in Murray Saturday at 1 o'clock, spoke to a large audience in Paducah Tuesday night of this week. The News-Democrat of that city in giving account of his speech says Beckham fairly riddled Stanley and convinced his large audience that Stanley was the candidate of the liquor trust. Go out Saturday and hear Gov. Beckham tell the voters of Calloway about Mr. Stanley's record. The account of the Paducah speaking as given by the News-Democrat is as follows:

"The major portion of ex-Governor J. C. W. Beckham's preliminary speech, delivered to hundreds of men and women in the circuit court room, of the county court house last night, was given over to explaining that the real fight for the Democratic nomination of the United States Senate from Kentucky lies between him and the advocates of prohibition on one side and Congressman A. O. Stanley and the Liquor Trust.

He insinuated that Gov. J. B. McCreary, the other candidate, stood little chance to win the nomination, except as an alternative of the liquor interests in case they thought, which he believed they did, that they could not defeat him (Beckham) with Stanley. He contended that Stanley, in his speeches being made here and there about the state, sought to raise a false issue, that of the railroad rate question, to distract attention of the voters from the real issue, that of prohibition and the defeat of the liquor interests. He pointed out that Stanley was the champion of the "Great Kentucky trust," as he expressed it—the liquor trusts. He said that "the liquor interests have had Stanley out waging a campaign for more than a year."

He pointed out that Stanley's campaign was given over to bitter and vindictive attacks upon him, and stated that he wanted to call attention to the fact that no attacks were directed against McCreary. He intimated that this condition existed because the liquor trust, Stanley and McCreary were in league and they had planned to have Stanley defeat him by a bitter and malevolent campaign, and let McCreary have the nomination, as they thought they stood more chance of putting him office than Stanley.

Beckham said that Gov. McCreary was an "amiable old gentleman" who was willing to run on almost any platform and was extremely accommodating, therefore, the liquor interests could get along very well with him.

In seeking to substantiate his claims that Stanley was allied with the liquor cohorts of the state and nation, the speaker asserted that he, (Stanley) was an advocate of the community unit law, as opposed to the county unit law and that when the Webb-Kenyon bill, which was to regulate the interstate liquor traffic, was before the national congress during the Taft administration, he fled from Washington to avoid going on record as an opponent of it. He affirmed Stanley dodged that issue until the bill, having passed both houses and, under the President's veto, came back to the House of Representatives, his bosses, the liquor trust, called him back to try to keep it from being passed over the veto. He alleged that Stanley then, under the goad of the liquor trust, made a speech before congress in which he declared the Webb-Kenyon bill unconstitutional.

Whenever he spoke disparagingly of the so-called liquor trust and of Stanley's subjection to its interests, which was often, the audience applauded, showing plainly that the advocates of prohibition in Paducah had anticipated that Beckham would outline his platform as an anti-liquor one and had turned out to give him their support."

Death of Rev. W. B. Palmore.

Richmond, Va., July 8.—The Rev. Dr. Wm. Beverly Palmore, editor of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, a Methodist publication died at the home of relatives here today, following a stroke of paralysis which he sustained yesterday morning.

Dr. Palmore was made ill by eating watermelon while enroute here last Tuesday from St. Louis. This it is believed brought on the stroke. He was never able to speak or move a limb after being stricken.

Dr. Palmore was a native of Fayette county, Tennessee, and a graduate of Vanderbilt University.

In 1908 he declined the honor of running for vice president on the National Prohibition ticket. The same spirit of modesty prompted him to refuse to allow his name to be presented to the general conference of the Methodist church for election to the office of Bishop.

Elliott L. Mitchell Dead.

Paducah, Ky., July 6.—Elliott L. Mitchell, a native of this city who for the past twenty years made his home in various points for some years as a mill man and later as a commercial traveler, died in this city Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m. from a clot on the brain. He expired at the home of his sister-in-law, Miss Zula Cobb, where he was visiting with his wife and daughter. He had been in slightly failing health for several months and recently in St. Louis, his home for the past several years, he had a serious attack. He recovered some but not enough to go to work. A few weeks ago he came to Paducah to rest and in a few days went to Murray to visit relatives. There he entered a sanitarium and apparently regained much of his health and strength. He came here two weeks ago to join his family, thinking he might soon return to work, but had been here but a few days when his ailments seemed to renew themselves. Saturday he was too ill to leave his bed and that night he grew worse. Sunday morning his condition was such that his physician declared death was quite near. He soon began to sink and expired at the hour stated. Deceased was born in Paducah April 14, 1868. He was a jovial, big hearted fellow, and his many friends in his native city were shocked at his untimely taking off.

Water Works for Hazel.

The water works project at Hazel is taking definite shape. The Hazel News of last week says: Work will begin early Monday morning on drilling a well for the water works system, which is to be put in at once by Claude Orr and A. E. Roane. The well will be sunk deep enough to give an everlasting flow of good water. It will be located on South Main street.

Brown's Grove.

Behold, there is nothing doing in this neighborhood. The dry weather is getting dryer all the time.

The time to set tobacco is past. Corn is beginning to dry up, pastures have given out and stock water is scarce and gardens have withered under the glare of a pitiless sun.

But we are not disposed to give up. Some will try planting between the rows so if the later rains are not in time for the old crop it will be in time for everything planted NOW. Corn that was planted in tobacco land is slowly coming up. Seasonable rains from now on would insure a good corn crop. Potatoes, beans, peas, etc. planted now would mature before fall. We still have a chance to raise a crop, except tobacco, if we will plant the seed. With a late frost this country will yet produce the crop. But we must plant seed and keep on planting. In all probability we shall yet have rains that will cause freshly planted crops to spring up as if by magic.

HOLD TOBACCO

Disposition to Sit Tight Shown by Growers in Hopkinsville District.

Hopkinsville, Ky., July 6.—The same disposition of holders of tobacco to sit tight and wait developments was more strongly in evidence during the past week than at any time since the drouth began to assume serious proportions in this part of the state. The dry conditions continue unabated and the reports from the growing crops in every section is that the prospect is very gloomy. Naturally those who have tobacco for sale from last year's raising see higher price in prospect, and they are not anxious to sell save at the figures they set.

The pessimism as to the growing crop is not confined to the farmers now, but the tobacco men themselves share in it. One of the foremost dealers in this city this week made the prediction that at very best, and counting on seasonable weather from now until the crop matures there could not possibly be over 50 per cent of an average crop grown. And, his prediction continued, if the drouth is not broken within a very short time there will not be over one-fourth to one-third of a crop. This comes from a man who buys heavily every year and whose interest it is to create as favorable an impression as possible as to the coming crop. Other dealers say practically the same thing.

And already dealers see lively competition ahead when the new crop does begin to move next fall. With such a short crop ready for sale and a demand that has increased largely during the past few years, the buyers will be unusually anxious for what is in sight. Not since 1874 has the crop been as short and prices are expected to be boosted accordingly.

There was little doing on this market last week, either with the Planters' Protective Association or on the open market, due to the stronger tone and disposition to withhold sales.

Best Diarrhoea Remedy.

If you have ever used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy you know that it is a success. Sam F. #### THEY DECIDE TO TRY IT AGAIN

Freddie Sidders (a sketch writer)—Listen! This is a great idea with a punch. Works right up to a novelty finish and—bang! If this act don't get six curtains, I'll—

Marion Meade (heavy woman)—No use talkin', Freddie, I ain't on the market for no more acts after that last one.

Freddie Sidders—It wasn't my act, was it? Didn't y' have no friends t' put you wise that Vance Van Haddon's act is over people's heads? Who wants society stuff?

Edna Flanigan (ingenue)—Vance Van Haddon's material wasn't handled right; I seen that myself. I was in the act. Marion was cast for a society queen—imagine! I was supposed to be her daughter. Just home from boarding school an' loaded down with table manners and that kind of stuff.

That was all right. I can play debautes to a finish. I had some home trainin' myself an' my language is right there, believe me. It was Marion's or Algy's flivver, I think.

Algy (late of the 'Ailes')—Wait! I queered the act, y' s'y? I made the mistake of me young life goin' out with y'. I'll tell y' who it was—little Percy Davis, sittin' right 'ere.

Dad Wadell (who knew Booth by sight)—When I saw the act it made me weep for Art.

Percy Davis (juvenile)—You awful London supernumerary, to insinuate that I ruined Marion's act. Have a care, sir! Remember I played on Broadway. I may have been a chorus man, but I outlived it.

Freddie Sidders—Old Dad has your number, crowd, when he says it was all to the ash can. I heard it myself.

Dad Wadell—She was leaning on a broken reed.

Marion Meade—Tryin' to say I can't play society ladies, huh? I was out there holdin' the crowd by my personality. It's a wonder the rest of you lasted a minute without me.

Percy Davis—I can't explain the Percy Davis—Why didn't you decide that long ago, my dear? I lost a good position in a show on account of your act. All I had to do was wave a pennant and say "Rah, rah, rah, for Vance." What fools we mortals be. No more and never again!

Algy—We decided that for you long ago. No more and never again with us. I'll always think to me dyin' d'y the eggs that 'it me was meant for you.

Dad Wadell—I believe so. You were standing on the spot he just stepped from.

Freddie Sidders—So they thrum eggs, eh? I thought they only howled and tried to climb over the "foots" to mob you.

Edna Flanigan—I wish you was there that night, Freddie. Me tryin' to look like a young but an' throwin' my lines like a leadin' lady with no support except Algy.

Algy—There's a girl knows the truth. Ear what she said about no support but Algy?

Freddie Sidders—No wonder! The actin' was all right; they was no idea to the act. No finish. Listen to this sketch of mine for five people. New idea, never been worked.

Marion Meade—Please don't, Freddie.

Freddie Sidders—Act opens full stage; fancy door center; fireplace at right; moon streamin' in window with balcony backing. Old guy—for you, Dad—dozin' at fireplace. Burglar enters window with a jimmy; comes in. Is loadin' silver into bag when butler—Percy's part—comes in to tell the old man his daughter cloped with the strange young man across the street. Burglar sees butler and sneaks into closet, pulls door shut and locks himself in. A woman in black comes to see the old man—Marion's part; old man recognizes her as childhood sweetheart; proposes. The daughter and the strange young man—Edna and Algy—return to ask the old man's forgiveness and enough to start housekeepin'. Burglar in closet downfall of our act. Mr. Van Haddon is such a high-minded gentleman. His writings in the Literary Indigestible are dreams of thought. The idea we had was so uplifting. When you think of the psychological message we had to deliver.

Edna Flanigan—Oh, chocolate eclairs! Listen to that man talkin' sickeningly stuff. That's what was the matter with it.

Percy Davis—My dear, don't you think the object of the theater is to deliver a message?

Algy—No, that's for the A. D. T. Listen to me spoof when my 'cart is broken'.

Dad Wadell—When you tried to deliver your message that night there was nobody home.

Edna Flanigan—When Algy threw me his line—what was it?

Algy—I said: "You must give me your promise tonight, Agnes. Prince Boris is not the man to wed you, the proud and only daughter of Count Lionel De Jessep. Your manner, your breeding, your culture, must revolt at the thought of a nobleman who has naught to offer but 'is disputed title.' Clever, I s'y."

Edna Flanigan—Can't you fancy me playin' oppo'te that?

Dad Wadell—I saw you and I cried in anguish.

Percy Davis—It was just after that. Van Haddon don't have his people in mind when he writes the material.

Marion Meade—Don't you think I can play a lady?

Edna Flanigan—Don't y' think I can do a swell doll?

Percy Davis—Deah me, sir, don't you think I can take the part of a perfect gentleman?

Algy—I suppose y' think I can't play a jolly chap, w'at?

Freddie Sidders—Y' got me wrong. I meant that Van Haddon had a siffy outfit, workin' in his act, but his act wasn't there. Certainly Marion can play a lady.

Dad Wadell—I remember in my day a lady was always a lady. They—

Marion Meade—H'll never try it again. After this it's no for Dutch or Irish.

is suffocatin' and begs to get out. Algy opens door. Old man recognizes burglar as his long-lost son. Woman refuses to marry burglar's father. Young man, who is a newspaper reporter, is going to give the story to his paper.

Old man gives everybody a million to keep it quiet. The burglar reforms. Curtain.

Algy—Great!

Freddie Sidders—Listen! I have a man who will buy this act and back it if I get the right people. Will you stick?—Pay from the start.

Chorus—We will!

Algy—Who'll play the burglar, my dear fellow?

Freddie Sidders—I'm goin' to get a real burglar—friend of mine.

Booking Agent (entering)—Out! It's closin' time.

Marriageable Ages.

So-called marriageable ages vary very widely in different countries. In Austria a "man" and "woman" are supposed to be capable of marrying and cohabiting at the age of 14.

In Germany the age must be at least 18 years. In France the man must be 18 and the woman 14, and in Belgium the same.

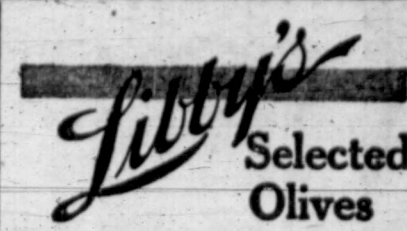

In Spain the husband must have passed his fourteenth year, and the woman her twelfth. In Hungary, for Roman Catholics, the man must be 14 years and the woman 12; for Protestants the man must be 18 and the woman 16.

In Greece the man must be at least 14 summers and the woman 12. In Portugal a boy of 14 is considered marriageable and a woman of 12. In Russia and Saxony a youth must refrain from matrimony till he is 18 years and the woman until she is 16.

SAYS GET BACK TO YOUTH

Advice of Physical Director to Tired Business Men About to Take Vacation Worth Heeding.

Business men about to start on their summer vacations are advised to read dime novels, smoke cornstalk cigarettes and act like "kids" again, by Dr. Louis R. Weismüller, physical director of the West Side Y. M. C. A. of New York. His prescription for the rejuvenation of business-worn members of the association has been posted all over the association's building. It reads:

"Forget your dignity, throw away your staidness, and be a kid again—a wholesome, fun-loving, rollicking, dim-snovel-reading kid—during your vacation. Many of you men, when youngsters, used to think it great fun to sneak out behind the barn, with a cigarette made of cornstalk and brown wrapping paper. It won't hurt you to try the same thing again. You won't be able to smoke enough to hurt yourself, and there's no danger of contracting the cornstalk habit."

"Dime novels make good summer reading. They are next to the Bible for vacation reading, but take the Bible along, of course. Many great men read Nick Carter, Jesse James and like writings for relaxation. Most of you men have come to New York and have made good. Help yourselves to make good again next winter by being a boy again on your vacation."

Travel-Talk Bored.

"Now is the season when all the world, just back from Europe, is bent on boring us with travel talk."

The speaker was Mayor Rockwell of Akron. He resumed:

"There are a number of ways to shut these travel botes up. A good way is the Coliseum one."

"The bore says to you, enthusiastically:

"And in Rome I saw the Coliseum by moonlight. Um-m-m, wasn't it fine?"

"The Coliseum?" you answer, calmly. "Which one?"

"Of course, there's only one Coliseum in Rome. But the bore isn't sure about it, and if there are two, he doesn't want to expose his ignorance. While he hems and haws and stutters, very red in the face, you easily make your escape from him."

That Whiff of Violets.

"My! what a flowery whiff! That handkerchief must have been literally steeped in violets," exclaimed one girl to another who had just shaken out from its folds a fragrant square of linen.

"Not steeped in violets, my dear," was the answer, "but boiled in orris water. The effect is the same. On washing day I supply the washerwoman with a good-sized piece of orris root, and she liquors it into the water where my handkerchiefs are boiling. When they come up from ironing they are as redolent of orris as can be. Then I slip them between the folds of a sachet filled with violet powder, and they never lose their fragrance. Violets and orris scent together make a real violet odor."

Advice to Girls.

Mrs. Havelock Ellis, the English writer and suffragist, said at a girl's graduates' luncheon at Sherry's in New York:

"I wish to advise you girls never to marry a man to reform him. To marry a man to reform him—that is the same as putting your finger in the fire to extinguish it."

Give Young People Useful Work.

The boy or girl who is given some useful work to do at home is helped to utilize and to enjoy the responsibility of doing the task and doing it well and is thus gaining in character-building. It may be that a boy is expected to keep a yard in order, go on errands, or relieve some one of care; or that a girl is required to attend to some household tasks, to dust a room, or keep a desk in neat condition, arrange flowers for the table, or make a dainty dessert. Little things, faithfully done, help to form habits of neatness, orderliness, thoroughness. These duties may seem small, but they are important beginnings.

RANK RINGSTER ROT.

The endeavor being made by the local managers of the whiskey trust's candidate for the United States senate to leave the impression that they are seeking a joint debate here Saturday with Hon. J. C. W. Beckham is about the rankest piece of rot ever attempted in the county. Gov. Beckham has had an appointment to speak in Murray for several weeks while the appointment made by Stanley is of recent date. The fact that Bert Purdom, jailer, and Polie Barnett, attorney, saw fit to let K. Robertson, Joe Lancaster and George Acock have the use of the court house for the whiskey trust candidate to speak in is not evidence to convince anyone that Mr. Beckham is in any measure avoiding or seeking a joint discussion with either of his opponents. In reality, the fact that Stanley comes to Murray on the same date as Mr. Beckham, knowing that Mr. Beckham, or could have known, had previously announced speaking here, smacks of the bully and the braggart. In the beginning of the campaign each of the three candidates announced a list of dates and places for speaking independent of the other, agreeing that there should be no joint discussions, and for a bunch of local ringsters to make endeavor to leave the impression upon the people of Calloway that Mr. Stanley is making strenuous endeavor for a joint speaking with Mr. Beckham is nothing but bucolic hum-combe of the braggart brand, the rankest rot of ring rule. The Ledger has no authority to speak for Mr. Beckham upon any question effecting his candidacy, but predicts that he will come to Murray and speak in the opera house, and that when he speaks will give account of his stewardship in no unmistakable terms and that the record of the whiskey trust candidate will be held up before the people of Calloway county and riddled with holes as completely as a machine gun would riddle a pine plank at close range. Fitting enough is the fact that K. Robertson, Joe Lancaster and George Acock be the campaign managers of the whiskey trust candidate in this county but their endeavor to create a false impression that Mr. Beckham is avoiding a joint discussion will not hood-wink the intelligent voters of this county.

NOTHING DUE M'CREARY.

We would gently suggest to Bro. Dick Beale, of the state board of equalization, that McCreary never gave a Confederate pension to anybody in Calloway—not even to brother Dick's brother. The Confederate bill was introduced by a Democratic legislator and passed by the Democrats of both houses. Old man McCreary had no more to do with that bill than a canary bird has in controlling the tides of the boundless seas. He signed it, of course, and we think it in exceedingly bad taste for him and his appointees to be continually urging the voters to support him simply because he by a mere stroke of the pen gave endorsement to a Democratic measure. Of course he signed it; whoever heard or read of suspected that Faxy Grandpa would not sign ANYTHING that happens to be popular—though he has never to this good day had his name signed on EITHER side of a whiskey or no whiskey election in his home town, and the fight raged hot there on several occasions. Reverting to the pension matter again, it is true that some Confederate soldiers have succeeded in getting pensions, yet quite a number justly entitled to them have never been able to get on the rolls, while others not so needy, who really do not come within the purview of the pension law, have been on the rolls for months. In fact, the ease with which some procured pensions and the difficulties confronting others in efforts to get what they are clearly entitled to has given grounds for suspecting that it takes a political pull or "a friend at court" to do business promptly with the McCreary administration. Therefore, those long-meter, southern harmony "piests," in a local paper as paid advertising, with Uncle Mac's picture right slap dab in the middle, are not taken seriously by anybody, their only redeeming quality being that they merely attest Bro. Beale's gratitude for having been appointed to an office which requires no great amount of work, while the salary and mileage is very satisfying. We take it that McCreary will also reappoint Bro. Beale, for he certainly is doing his best.

But the idea that Calloway county owes McCreary anything at all is preposterous. On the other hand McCreary owes the people more than he can ever repay, and he owes it to himself to keep his solemn pledge to the people that if they elected him Governor he would have his life-long lust for office fully satisfied, and that he would never! no, never! trouble, worry or otherwise bother the sovereign voters of Kentucky again.

The whole darn thing is over now but the shouting. Might as well call off the primary election and quit this foolishness enduring of the present very warm spell. We've felt all along that something dreadful were a'goin' to happen to add to the calamity of the dry weather, and we'll be daddized if our premonition have not at last come true.

"I, G. W. Acock, of the Murray Concrete plant, by and with the authority of the whiskey trust candidate for the U. S. Senate, do hereby challenge Hon. J. C. W. Beckham to a mortal combat of words to take place in the court room in Murray, Calloway county, Ky., on the day and date aforesaid, to-wit: July 14, hour 1:30 o'clock, p. m., Anno Domino nineteen hundred fourteen."

The rainrow is as dead as old man Heck's pup, but the woodcock heard the racket, roared the proclamation and at once threw a fit, and is now seeking taller timber. Please, will the congregation kneel while we pray for rain!

"Listless" is the word used by the Owensboro Messenger in describing the interest shown in Daviess county in the Senatorial race. Neither McCreary nor Beckham have spoken in that county and according to the Messenger, a crowd of less than four hundred heard Stanley. The Messenger adds that notwithstanding the fact that McCreary carried Daviess county over Beckham six years ago, it has yet to hear of the first McCreary man in Daviess county or Owensboro. All of which would suggest that the old War Horse is trailing in that neck of the woods.—News-Democrat.

For goodness sake don't let our Brother Beale know about this. We're afraid that if he should find it out that he would quit writing those nice "piests" in the Calloway Times about the old man with hair as black as the raven's wing. Bro. Beale has got it in his noodle that Kentucky is still in debt to McCreary because he gave three or four fellows in Calloway big fat jobs. Now, honestly, Bro. Beale, if keeping one man in office for about sixty-five years will not liquidate a debt tell us how in the world it can be accomplished, and especially when a fellow is worth three quarters of a million dollars or more.

Honolulu is so far west that it is in the east, but Col. Jeff McCarn, who is charged with having assaulted another lawyer in court with a deadly weapon, is a Tennessean and a contemporary and friend of Col. "Dunc" Cooper, of Carmack tragedy fame, no doubt.—Frankfort Ky. Journal.

Nope; you have the wrong pig by the ear. Hell Roaring Jeff was the leader of Tennessee's moral uplifters and law enforcers, and, if we remember aright, he assisted in prosecuting old "Dunc." Which may or may not have been the reason that "Dunc" didn't get his just deserts.

Judging from the rapidity with which the number of saloons is decreasing in Paducah, by assignment and otherwise, it would seem that by the time the local option election is held the coming fall the people won't find anything to vote upon, except something that crawled away and died during the summer. Anyway, at that time no sound of revelry by either night or day will ever emanate from Johnnie Rehkopf's "ladies parlor." In fact, it's so quiet in that parlor right now that one can almost hear a chamois skin.

This from the Louisville Ky. Times is a sample of what the pistol "toter" gets under the new laws of this state:

John Anderson an employee of the Dow Wire and Iron Works received a sentence of twenty days in jail and a $100 fine, besides being disfranchised for two years, when he was today presented in court in this city on the charge of carrying a concealed deadly weapon.

And if Mr. Anderson should be caught with similar goods on him a second time, he becomes the nominee for a term in the penitentiary.

Sam M. Wilhite, comptroller of Louisville, has been arrested on the charge of embezzling about $15,000 of city securities. But Sam was a cracker-jack golf player and belonged to all the hifalutin' clubs; so he needn't worry about the outcome. It's the sweaty-smelling fellow with a black cap, and a blue work shirt who wants to look a little out when Law in the cities comes snooping around.

The easiest way to have hard times is to growl and grouch, and complain and kick and peev. It will stop the clock every time.

Once your hand to the plow, look not back.

Save time and do not read more of this article UNLESS you possess some grey matter and can understand TRUTH and her teachings. POVERTY and sickness; the reasons why—

READ ON:

No one question is attracting so much attention throughout the civilized world today as the question of POVERTY. Its causes are being sought for by earnest thinking people everywhere. Much of our current literature deals with it in one phase or another. The great charitable organizations are devoting more and more time and effort to the discovery of the cause of such widespread poverty as exists today. This search and inquiry is being pressed even in the pulpit, which, by the way, should have been first instead of last to take up the question. It is well known to all who have taken the trouble to investigate that upwards of TEN MILLIONS of people under the stars and bars of these United States through no fault of theirs are in hopeless poverty. Out of work, out of health—out of heart with the world. Broken driftwood, vagrants, tramps—and to this number must be added a still larger number, who though able to procure the bare necessities are constantly on the ragged edge in fear of poverty.

Those who produce the wealth do not get it. The girls whose deft fingers make the costly laces costlier laces do not wear them; the women who weave the silks and satins do not wear them. The families of the men who dig the coal often suffer for the lack of fuel. Those who feed and clothe the world often feel the pangs of hunger and lack necessary raiment. The wives and daughters of the men who dive for pearls and risk their lives in diamond mines wear no jewels. If you are in a large city and wish to take a look at the poor, go where dwell the workers, and there you will find the ragged wives and children of the men who do the world's work. But if in search of the rich, go to the dwelling places of those who do not work, and there you will find them surrounded by every comfort and luxury.

The Roman Empire sank when eighteen hundred men owned all the wealth. When Egypt went down, two per cent. of her people owned ninety-seven per cent. of her wealth.

The word, "property," as currently and legally understood, includes LAND and wealth. Land the work of God and wealth the work of man.

I. W. W. LEADERS KILLED BY BOMB

MEN WERE MAKING BOMB WHEN IT EXPLODED—MEANT FOR USE IN TARRYTOWN COURT.

WOMAN ONE OF THE VICTIMS

Three Men Killed Were Arrested on Rockefeller Estate—Police Raid
Office of Anarchist-Publication.

New York.—Three men and a woman were killed when a dynamite bomb, said to be the most powerful ever used in this city, exploded in an apartment tenanted by Industrial Workers of the World. The upper part of the six-story tenement house, in which the bomb was being made, was wrecked.

A score of persons were seriously injured and much property damage was done in a wide radius from the scene of the explosion.

Those dead and those who escaped injury in the apartment included Industrial Workers of the World men who are defendants in the trial to be begun in Tarrytown, N. Y., where they were arrested when they went to the village to make demonstrations outside the Pocantico Hills estate of John D. Rockefeller.

As soon as one of the bodies of those killed in the explosion had been identified as that of Arthur Caron, one of the Tarrytown defendants, the police began an investigation of the explosion on the theory that the bomb was being constructed by Caron and others for possible use at the I. W. W. hearings in Tarrytown. There have been rumors of threats to Tarrytown officials.

Late the police escorted from the office of Emma Goldman's publication, "Mother Earth," to a police station a group of agitators.

ATTEMPT DR. CARMAN'S LIFE

Three Shots Taken at Freeport Doctor
Without Effect—Woman
May Be Arrested.

Freeport, N. Y.—Dr. Edwin Carman, in whose office Mrs. Louise Bailey was murdered, was shot at three times as he drove in his automobile through the town of Baldwin, near here. None of the bullets struck him. The doctor was on his way home from Rockville Center, where he had been to attend a patient.

Dr. Carman told the police the story of the attack on him. He had been out making professional calls and passed through Rockville Center on his way home. There he met Garland Gaden, an actor, and invited him to ride home with him.

"Gaden accepted my invitation," said Dr. Carman, "and got into the car. We stopped in a store and as we again got into the car I noticed a man on a bicycle near the curb. We drove off without paying any particular attention to the man.

"When about a mile and a half out of town I heard a report and thought one of the tires had exploded. My friend got out on one side of the machine and I got out on the other. As soon as I put my foot on the ground I heard another shot, and when I looked around I saw the man I had seen when we came out of the store standing beside his bicycle with a revolver in his hand. Gaden shouted, 'My God, Carman, he's trying to kill you.'"

SUFFRAGE IS STATE ISSUE

Wilson Addresses Delegation From Women's Clubs of Country—For Local Government.

Washington.—Five hundred members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs marched to the white house and drew from President Wilson a final refusal to accede to demands that he support the movement for a woman suffrage amendment to the federal constitution.

The president reiterated his statements to previous delegations that his party had not embodied this question in its platform, and then for the first time announced his personal conviction that the suffrage issue was one for settlement by the states and not by the federal government.

The women departed plainly disappointed and chagrined, some talking of immediate action against the democratic party.

Headed by such leaders as Mrs. Eliza Logan, Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, Miss Rheta Chiles Dorr and Miss Alice Paul, they had marched to the white house with bands playing and banners flying. They massed themselves in the historic east room, many carrying babies. Once inside the white house, the women made no demonstration and allowed their leaders to do all the talking.

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN DEAD

Was Striking Figure in British Politics—Heart Failure Cause of Death.

London.—Joseph Chamberlain, one of the most striking figures in British politics in the past generation, died at his London home here. His death came as a surprise. He had been suffering with paralysis, yet the condition of his health was not known to be any worse than for the past three years.

Mr. Chamberlain, who never left his husband's side since he was stricken with paralysis eight years ago, and his son, Austin Chamberlain, were with Mr. Chamberlain when death came. The event cast a gloom over the London season, which was at its height.

Mr. Chamberlain's last public appearance was at a garden party on the grounds of his Birmingham home on May 6 last, when, with his wife and son, he received several hundred constituents. Mr. Chamberlain was wheeled out on the lawn in a chair and appeared very feeble when he lifted his hat to friends and neighbor in acknowledgment of their salutes.

SIMPLE FUNERAL AT VIENNA

Vienna.—Owing to the difficulty of finding accommodations and a desire to spare Emperor Francis Joseph the fatigue of entertaining foreign sovereigns, the German emperor will be the only foreign monarch to attend the funeral of the late Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife, whose bodies are on the way to Vienna from Sarajevo. The exception was made in Emperor William's favor because of his close personal friendship for the archduke.

DENIES SHE EVER SAW MRS. BAILEY

DOCTOR'S WIFE VIEWS BODY OF DEAD WOMAN—DETECTIVES
EXPECT TO FIND GUN.

SEARCH MADE FOR WEAPON

Mystery Surrounds Shooting of Mrs.
Bailey in Doctor's Office—Bluths
Pump Cesspool in Hopes of Finding Evidence.

Freeport, N. Y.—While Mrs. Edwin Carman was in Hempstead, viewing the body of Mrs. Louise Bailey, the Long Island matron killed by a shot fired through the window in Dr. Carman's office here, detectives were pumping out a cesspool and a wall in the rear of the physician's residence and a cesspool in the cellar.

The detectives declare they expect to find a .38-caliber revolver containing one exploded shell.

The body of the murdered woman was taken from her home in Hempstead to an undertaker's morgue for an autopsy which had been ordered by the district attorney.

William D. Bailey at first refused to allow his wife's body to be removed from the house, but after the authorities had threatened to go to a supreme court justice and get an order permitting the autopsy he gave his consent.

Mrs. Carman and her attorney were waiting at the morgue. Mrs. Carman was taken into a rear room and asked to look at the dead woman's features. "Poor woman," exclaimed the physician's wife, "I am so sorry for her."

"Have you ever seen this woman before," her attorney asked.

Mrs. Carman replied: "No; I have never seen that woman in my whole life."

Detectives interviewed Miss Helen Combs, a lawyer's stenographer, who told them she was in the physician's house at the time of the shooting, having gone there for treatment.

SERBIAN PLOT IS EXPOSED

Bombs and Arms Secured at Serbian
Arsenal—Conspirators Confess.
Four in Plot.

Vienna.—Nedeljo Gabrinovic, who threw a bomb at Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife while they were proceeding to the Sarajevo town hall made a complete confession, according to dispatches received from Sarajevo.

Gabrinovic declared that after learning, while in Belgrade, that Archduke Francis Ferdinand was going to Sarajevo he communicated with Gavro Princip, who fired the fatal shots, with the result that they resolved to go there to kill the archduke, the duchess and their allies and die themselves for the fatherland.

To obtain bombs they applied to Maj. Milan Pribitchevitch, secretary of a Pan-Serbian union and formerly an officer in the Austrian army, who had joined the Serbians. Through him, bomb-making materials were obtained from the Serbian arsenal at Kraguyevatz.

DEPUTIES FIGHT ROBBERS

Kills One, Wounds Another in Aisle of Chair Car—Narrowly Escapes Death.

Pendleton, Ore.—George Macduffey, deputy sheriff of Heppner, Ore., fought a single-handed battle with train robbers in the aisle of a chair car fifty miles east of here, killing one and wounding another. He narrowly missed death himself when his pocket comb in the upper left-hand vest pocket slowed down a bullet aimed at his heart. The car was on the Oregon-Washington railroad.

The dead man was identified by an inscription in his watch as Hugh Whitney, a desperado, known for depredations in Montana, Idaho and Wyoming. His wounded companion and a third robber were trailed by possees. They got $200 from the express car of the train, one diamond ring valued at $700 and a few dollars from passengers.

REPLY TO ADJOURNMENT PLEA

Senate to Pass Trust Legislation First.
Lewis Told to Keep Quorum.
May Hold Night Sessions.

Washington.—Senate democrats, in conference, adopted a resolution declaring their purpose to stay in session until the trust legislation passed by the house has been acted upon in the senate. The resolution does not bind senators to vote for the bills without change.

The resolution is designed to serve definite and final notice to business and the country that anti-trust legislation is to be passed before congress quits Washington. It was proposed by Senator Stone after a talk with President Wilson and with other democratic leaders. Senator Stone said it was intended as an answer to the propaganda for immediate adjournment of congress.

If party leaders decided in the future that it will be necessary to make party measures of the three house bills, the substitutions offered for them, another conference will be held for the purpose of binding democrats to definite legislation. Some senators thought the resolution might bind senators to vote for the bills, but Senator Madero, who directs the Madero family business from here, recently left for New York. The impression was gained here that Mr. Madero was going to California for a rest, and only within 24 hours has it become known that he went to New York instead. It is commonly reported here that Mr. Madero went east to impress on certain business men having large interests in Northern Mexico of the necessity of continuing their financial support of the revolution, and there is a certain coterie here which is manifesting great interest in his return or some word from him.

WOMAN KILLS BABIES

Xenia, Ohio.—After killing her two children, Frederick, 8, and Ruth, 6, with a revolver, Mrs. James Lemm, 35, committed suicide. Domestic trouble is believed to have been the cause.

NEW PROPELLERS TESTED

Flying Boat Makes Longest Trip Since
Trials Begin—Shows Speed of 60
Miles an Hour.

Hammondsport, N. Y.—Speed trials and a bench test of the new propellers marked the work on the Rodman-Wanamaker trans-Atlantic flying boat. At noon Lieut. Porte took the America out for the longest trip she has made in the air since trials began. Apparently he had no difficulty in bringing the machine to planning speed on the water.

Over a marked course the machine showed a speed of 60 miles an hour. During this test the motors were running at 1,200 revolutions per minute instead of their maximum of 1,300.

A weight-carrying test with the new propellers was planned, but rain intervened with the program.

Lieut. Porte left for New York, but expects to return here before sailing for Newfoundland to make certain that the changes to be made to the hull have the desired effect.

Electric Car Wrecked.

BIG BUSINESS GIVES REBELS MILLIONS

AMERICAN INTERESTS CONTRIB-UTED THAT SUM IN LAST NINE MONTHS.

REBEL SPLIT IS WIDENED

Some of Money Went to Villa and
Some to Carranza—El Paso Has Been Clearing House for the Rebel Funds.

El Paso, Texas.—That more than $1,000,000 gold has poured into the Constitutionalists coffers from eastern sources alone during the past nine months, and that since the split between Gen. Carranza and Villa, much of this money support has been withheld by Constitutionalists, is the statement of men close to the situation whose tongues are now loosened for the first time. However peacefully the Torreon arbitration conference may be proceeding, the intense bitterness between followers of the two leaders here is steadily on the increase and is manifesting itself on verbal indiscretions which have been unthinkable a month ago.

So secretly have financial transactions with big business in the east been conducted that so far it has been impossible to place a finger on documentary proof of a single dealing of this kind. All that is definitely known is that the money has come here, sometimes in single drafts, for as high as $50,000 and that two local banks have been the instruments of transfers of funds. Some of this money has fallen into the hands of Carranza's representatives; some of it has gone to agents of Villa, but it is known that until the recent breach between the two leaders came the greater part of it was honestly applied to the needs of the revolution.

Alberto Madero, who directs the Madero family business from here, recently left for New York. The impression was gained here that Mr. Madero was going to California for a rest, and only within 24 hours has it become known that he went to New York instead. It is commonly reported here that Mr. Madero went east to impress on certain business men having large interests in Northern Mexico of the necessity of continuing their financial support of the revolution, and there is a certain coterie here which is manifesting great interest in his return or some word from him.

It is commonly reported that the Carranza wing of the Constitutional party is still in good financial condition, but that it is not loosening up to Villa's faction and does not intend to. Hence the pressing need of aid from good friends of the past.

That El Paso has been the clearing house for large sums of money for the Mexican revolutionists is so well understood that it would be folly to contradict it. Where this money came from has also been guessed with fair degree of accuracy, although in absence of specific proof the names of contributing firms and individuals cannot be mentioned.

Through the medium of forced loans, confiscation, excessive war taxes and concessions, large sums of money for the support of the revolution in the State of Chihuahua have been raised by Villa and his agents, but the money as reported by these sources of supply accounts for a very small part of the money which has been expended on Villa's army. It is believed that nothing short of a congressional investigation to embrace all the United States during the past year, will ever unearth the specific facts with the names of the donors and the amounts of their contributions.

CARRANZA STILL HOLDS OUT

Rebel Leader Asks Time in Which to Consult With His Generals.
No Other Reply.

Washington.—With the Niagara mediation conference on the eve of a recess pending a proposed meeting of representatives of Gen. Huerta and the constitutionalists to discuss Mexican internal affairs, Gen. Venustiano Carranza, first chief of the constitutionalists, telegraphed his Washington agents that he had not heard from his associate leaders with regard to participation in such a conference.

Carranza's representatives, who had expected that some definite reply might be received, announced later that nothing would be learned.

Cardinals Other than Papan.

England has cardinals other than those created by the pope. At one time there were officials of that title attached to a number of our cathedrals, whose duty it was to visit the sick and relieve the needy, but St. Paul's is now alone in the possession of a senior and a junior cardinal, elected by the deans from among the minor canons. One of the holders of the title in recent times was the author of the "Jackdaw of Rhinoceros."

Kindness and Gratitude.

Beware of taking kindnesses from others as matters of course. The heart well puffed by humanity is so deeply conscious of its unworthiness that to receive acts of kindness always excites some emotion of gratitude, of shame, of surprise, or all three together—of gratitude for the benefit, of shame upon thinking how ill it is deserved, of surprise that our brethren should bestow upon us what we so little merit. From Mr. Gladstone's "Religious Life."

REBELS WOULD HANG HUERTA

Carranza is Preparing to Prevent Dictator's Escape—Picked Corps to Capital in Disguise.

Vera Cruz.—Gen. Carranza instructed his Vera Cruz representative, Heriberto Jara, to use every possible means to prevent the escape of Huerta. Senor Jara confirmed the report from Tampico that the rebels have sent a body of picked men in disguise to Mexico City for the purpose not only of preventing Huerta's escape, but also to protect the dictator from assassination.

Two of these men have obtained employment as palace guards and others have enlisted in Gen. Blanquet's famous Twenty-ninth regiment, Huerta's chief reliance.

Senor Jara says the rebels wish above all things to prevent the assassination of Huerta.

"We wish to try him legally," he said. "If he escapes we will demand his return as an embezzler, defaulter and murderer. I believe the American people will support the demand that Huerta be not classed as a political offender."

"We are prepared to prove that Huerta has stolen 20,000,000 pesos. Some of these funds are deposited in New York banks. Rafael Zubaran is tracing the accounts there."

Gen. Jesus Carranza, now at Tampico, is quoted as saying that a dozen offers to kill have been made to his brother, Venustiano, all of which have been rejected.

"We are determined that Victoriano Huerta shall go to the gallows," said Carranza. "But he must go legally."

Travelers arriving from Mexico City report that Huerta had planned to send his wife and daughter to Puerto Mexico. When he went to his wife's boudoir in the palace to bid her farewell he found her on her knees praying. She threw her arms about him, vowing never to leave him and, encircling his neck with a string of rosary beads, begged him to swear by the cross never to force her to part from him. Huerta, although he manifested great emotion, refused to take the oath.

LIND ADMITS AIDING REBELS

The Question is Whether or Not Lind Expressed Wilson's Views in the Statement to Rebels.

New York.—"As far as the impression is conveyed in these letters that I am in sympathy with the constitutional cause, that is true," John Lind.

John Lind shows very little appreciation of the issue raised by the reports of his peculiar activities in connection with the revolutionary junta at Washington and the constitutionalist cause, that is true. John Lind.

Mr. Lind's assertion that the statements contained in the various documents of the revolutionary junta correspondence accurately represents his views is highly important. It is of even greater importance to know whether the assertions that Mr. Lind was the direct representative of President Wilson at this time and whether, as is asserted in the correspondence, Mr. Lind was giving voice to the views of the president of the United States.

ASKS ABOUT LIND'S WORK

Kahn Desires Inquiry into Evasion of Arms Embargo—Was Lind
in the Scheme?

Washington.—Representative Kahn of California introduced a resolution to direct the secretary of state to transmit to the house the correspondence with the public interest, correspondence with John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico.

He specified documents "in relation to assurances given by Lind to Capt. S. G. Hopkins of this city or any person to the effect that war material might be exported from Mexico, Pensacola or other gulf ports in small vessels to Cuba, where their course might be altered to the mouth of the Rio Bravo, and that there would be no interference whatsoever with shipments made in this way."

The resolution was referred to the foreign affairs committee.

Would Aid Education.

Washington.—A delegation of Christian Brothers told President Wilson that members of their order had been driven out of Monterey, Mexico, and their property confiscated. Mr. Wilson promised to do everything in his power to relieve them.

Washington.—President Wilson has signed the naval appropriation bill, which carries a provision for two new dreadnaughts and permits the sale of the battleships Mississippi and Idaho to Greece.

The Cigarette Smoker.

No doubt as the time for opening school approaches the wide-awake, thoughtful teacher is mapping out a course of action that will in his opinion be most serviceable to the people whom he serves. The time is indeed ripe for action.

The rapidity with which the cigarette habit is growing upon the rising generation and the potency of the effect make it imperative that some energetic agency enlist in the battle against it. No one has a broader field or better opportunity for effective work in this line than the teachers of the common schools of our land.

When the cigarette habit first gained a foothold on the American people the teacher had an opportunity to exert his influence against it; and now that it has become a menace his privilege to fight it has changed to his undeniable duty. The teacher's work is peculiarly adapted to a vigorous campaign against the habit and with the proper cooperation with parents and tobacco dealers can be made very effective.

If the cry for a war with Mexico could be changed to a war against the cigarette habit much greater results would be the outcome.

The whole nation very rightly mourns the loss of the soldier boys who fell in the capture of Vera Cruz, but how many of us seriously consider the thousands of young men we lose annually thru the evil effects of the cigarette habit.

We are often disposed to abuse the laws of our state for not prohibiting criminal practices. But we cannot excuse our inactivity in this case in that way. The legislature has done its duty along this line. We have the law, and now the one thing necessary is for us to wake up to the importance of its enforcement.

We never let an opportunity by of applying the strong arm of the law to the boot-legger, but how many times have we known a tobacco dealer to be indicted for handing out cigarette papers? How many minors have been indicted for using cigarettes since that was made a violation of law?

I do not mean that our work of eliminating the use of cigarettes is to be accomplished by the strict application of the law in all cases. There is a better means of attaining the same end. Neither can we hope to attain our end by dealing alone with those addicted to the habit. We must cooperate with parents and dealers. Let us first get the help of the parent and tobacco dealer. But you may say in that very thing lies the difficulty. So it does, but the problem is not impossible. Why can't we organize a league for the purpose of eliminating the cigarette habit, and thru the instrumentality of the league educate the people to the deadly effects of the habit. Thru education is the only solution. We can certainly count on the help and sympathy of the medical profession from the beginning.

The results of the cigarette habit are not only the weaknesses attending a wrecked physical condition of the body alone, but they lead to the degeneracy of the mind as well. Degeneracy of the mind leads to criminality. A large percentage of the crimes committed are committed by people whose minds are in a depraved condition. Nearly all people in such state of mind are thus because of the practice of some bad habit—one of the worst of which is cigarette smoking.

It is said that 90 per cent. of the honors carried away from colleges of late years are carried away by the girls. This marked falling off on the part of the boys is attributed to no other cause than the smoking of cigarettes. A retrograde not only threatens masculine humanity today but it is actually beyond a doubt, as shown in the above illustration, but of the education of the present generation.

Thanks to the purity of womanhood that she does not indulge in the damnable habit to a very dangerous extent.

I would be pleased to have a personal letter from all those teachers who chance to read these feeble remarks, bringing with it any suggestion they feel like making in regard to the elimination of the cigarette habit. Let's inaugurate a vigorous campaign against it.

Someone suggest the way and I and many others I am sure will follow.

J. H. Fitch,
Dexter, Ky., R. 1.

Obituary

Mary Gream, after several years of illness died at her mother's home, Mrs. Trella Jones.

She was born in 1863, in Graves county, and fell asleep in Jesus arms when she was 21 years 5 months and 8 days old.

It was hard to give Mary up, but it is a debt we all have to pay sooner or later; she was such a sweet girl, the greatest consolation we have is this, she tried to live a christian life and did, and we know she has gone to rest and to live with her two little brothers, who are with Jesus.

She leaves behind a husband, mother, father, one brother and three sisters, besides a host of relatives and friends to mourn her death.

She only enjoyed married life three months. Weep not dear Nall for Mary is at rest, although it was hard to give her up, but God knows best.

Her body was laid to rest in Sedalia cemetery.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord when love has bound the heart. 'Tis hard so hard to speak the word must we forever part?

Dearest loved one we have laid thee in the peaceful grave's embrace, but the memory will be cherished till we see thy heavenly face.—Written by a cousin, Mattie Copeland.

THERE'S NO SENSE IN TAKING CALOMEL

Dodson's Liver Tonic will fix up your liver safely and won't "knock you out" a day. A man feels very little like working and a child don't want to go to school when bilious or constipated. If you try calomel to cure you the chances are that will be so weakened by its after effects that you will be laid up for two or three days more. So we say "Don't take calomel!" You can get a perfect remedy to take the place of calomel at Dale & Stubblefield's drugstore that is guaranteed to relieve constipation and loosen up the liver just as quickly as calomel, but without any of the bad effects of calomel. The name of this medicine is Dodson's Liver Tonic. It is a pleasant tasting vegetable tonic that mildly stimulates the liver and causes it to work just right without any danger of salivation. If it does not fully satisfy you, you may have your money back from the store where you bought Dodson's.

SEPARATE COACHES FOR COLORED PEOPLE

W. H. FINNEY

JOE RYAN

THE WEST KENTUCKY REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE

1909 FIVE YEARS OLD 1914

presents herewith the most select list of property ever offered for sale in this section of the country. These farm lands are peculiarly adapted to the growth of fine dark tobacco and rank among the first in the world in its production, often yielding more than $100 per acre, ranging as high as $200 per acre. The annual yield in county is ten to thirteen million pounds.

Corn, Wheat, Rye, Oats, Hay, Cow Peas, Sorghum and every variety of vegetable products grown in this latitude do well here. Red Clover, Sweet Clover, etc., yield abundant harvest under approved methods of farming.

Apples, Peaches, Pears, Cherries, Grapes, Strawberries, and in fact every variety of fruit grown in the South Central States does well in these very farms offered for sale.

Stock raising is an important industry with a ready market for every pound of flesh produced, whether it be Horses, Mules, Cattle, Hogs, Sheep or Goats.

Poultry raising is an industry from which we receive returns twelve months in the year.

Our climate is excellent, annual rainfall 46 in., and other conditions generally conducive to growth of good crops. The surface of our county is level and undulating in the west and central parts, while the fertile valley of the Tennessee River on the east side is skirted by a range of hills from north to south. The elevation is sufficient to render the climate healthful, being from 500 to 600 feet above sea level. Our water supply is abundant, there being a splendid sheet of pure water at a reasonable depth beneath the surface.

MURRAY, THE COUNTY SEAT

Richly deserving the title of "Pride of the Purchase," a splendid little city of three thousand souls, and inhabited by as splendid citizenship as can be found in Kentucky. Possesses miles of gravel streets and substantial concrete walks; a municipal owned system of water works that is not excelled anywhere; four beautiful churches and church-going, christian people; one of the most splendid high schools in the state attended each year by hundreds of pupils from the county, and now consolidated with the County High School, affording free tuition to all pupils of the county completing the common school branches; a social life unparalleled in the whole south; here you find no class distinction and the only demand made by society is a clean moral life; numerous tobacco factories and other enterprises giving employment to hundreds of laborers every day; beautiful homes occupied by as hospitable people as lives anywhere; $71,000 appropriated by congress for a federal building; all combined makes the city an ideal location for a home and affords the county a splendid market for every product of the farm.

CALLOWAY COUNTY

All that can be said of the city of Murray can be said of the entire county of Calloway and to it much could be added. Every locality has its splendid school and church, miles of good highways traverse the county in every direction and to these are being added each year; the substantial and beautiful country homes built within the past few years are mute evidence of the increasing prosperity of a happy, hospitable and contented people; handsomest court house in Western Kentucky recently erected; here the twenty-one thousand inhabitants live at peace with their neighbors and the entire world and extends a welcome hand to the new comer.

The facts set out above are well known to the people of this county, but on account of the wide circulation of this advertisement these matters are given this publicity. In fact, it is our purpose to send this advertisement throughout many states in order to acquaint other people with the great advantages of this county, the possibilities of our soil and the future in store for Calloway county. We invite a comparison of land values as to production per acre, and when this is done it will be shown that more dollars' worth of farm products can be grown here per acre than can be raised upon lands selling for double the price of Calloway lands. Come and make your home with us and always be happy.
