THE MURRAY LEDGER.

VOL. 86, NO. 11

MURRAY, KENTUCKY THURSDAY, JULY 10, 1914

$1.00 PER YEAR.

TWO HERE

Gov. Beckham and A. O. Stanley
Candidates for Senator, Speak at Same Hour in Murray.

Murray was blessed last Saturday with oratory. Two candidates for the democratic nomination for the United States Senate delivered addresses here at same hour. Gov. Beckham speaking in the Woodruff opera house while Mr. Stanley delivered his address in the court house. Each speaker was heard by audiences estimated to be of about equal number. However, Mr. Beckham was heard by a larger number of voters than Mr. Stanley, many conservative persons estimating the Stanley audience to have been largely made up of ladies and children. Again it is freely admitted upon every hand that fully one half of the voters who heard Stanley are avowed supporters of Mr. Beckham.

Both candidates arrived in Murray on the morning train. The Almo band and a reception committee met Mr. Beckham at the station and he was driven in an automobile, preceded by the band, to the court yard where an open reception was held for some time, hundreds of admirers of the ex-governor meeting him and pledging their support in his present race.

Mr. Stanley was met at the train by I. G. W. Aycock, K. Robertson and Joe Lancaster. This company walked two abreast to the hotel where Mr. Stanley was quietly lodged in a room. After a short stay at the hotel, he was escorted by I. G. W. Aycock to the office of Joe Lancaster in the court house and the streets were verily ransacked for folks who wanted to go up to Joe's office and shake hands with the whisky trust candidate for the senate.

Promptly at the appointed hour Gov. Beckham was introduced by Eld. Green, pastor of the First Christian church, in a short address that both delighted and pleased the audience. Mr. Beckham spoke for about one hour and forty-five minutes and was given the very closest attention throughout. He reviewed his administration as governor of Kentucky for two terms and challenged honest criticism of any official act during the entire time. He told of the financial condition of the state when he assumed the duties of the office and pointed with pardonable pride to the fact that when he went out of office the state had to its credit a million and a half dollars in money and a handsome new state house had been erected. He explained his record on the liquor question and showed that while governor he was instrumental in the introduction of the first county unit bill and signed as governor the first law of that character ever passed in the state. He defined his record in the last state convention and told of his fight for a plank in the party platform declaring for the extension of the county unit bill to every county in the state alike. Other questions of import to the people were handled in a masterly manner and he was repeatedly and vociferously applauded by his hearers.

In handling the public records of his opponents Mr. Beckham did so in a gentlemanly manner, without any feeling of anger or harshness, but when he placed the record of Mr. Stanley before the audience he fairly riddled the bloated bully representing the liquor trust, and his audience showed their knowledge of Mr. Stanley's cowardly record by repeated applause. He convinced his hearers that the present fight was one between the liquor trust and the cause of prohibition. He explained Mr. Stanley's vote on the Webb-Kenyon bill in the national congress, proving beyond question the charge that Stanley is the candidate of the liquor trust. The audience was delighted with his address and after his speech hundreds shook his hand.

Mr. Stanley was introduced by Mr. J. Pat Holt in quite a lengthy address. And about all that can be said of the speech delivered by Stanley is that it was a defeated braggart's last stand. In his venomous way he assailed Mr. Beckham from every quarter and took a general crack at creation. However, he never could make even his most ardent supporters believe that he was sincere about anything or anybody. He attempted sarcasm, then comedy, then drama, and as one fellow said and declared he was a fine elocutionist. After delivering his speech here Stanley was driven to Hazel where he spoke at 8 o'clock that night. If reports be true about this speaking he certainly did throw a fit right. He returned to Murray after the Hazel speaking by the aid of an auto and a few friends and was later driven to Mayfield where he took a train for Louisville.

Mrs. Martha Crawford died last Saturday at about noon at the home of her son-in-law, John Wilson, of near New Concord. She was about 77 years of age and was one of the best known and splendid ladies of the county. She was the mother of Mrs. Jas. Brewer, of the Penny section, and had many friends throughout this and Graves county. The remains were carried to Chapel Hill, Graves county for burial.

CROP REPORT

Drouth General in Kentucky Brings Down June Averages Over the State.

July 10th, 1914.

The Crop Report as of July 1st shows the general condition of growing crops to be greatly damaged by the lack of rain fall. The continued drouth throughout the State is said to be so serious that in some localities almost a total failure of oats, potatoes, grasses, etc., is reported. Gardens and pastures are suffering the most, in some localities being almost burned up for the need of rain.

Corn is reported to be withstanding the drouth better than any other of the growing crops. It has been well cultivated, and so far reports show the condition to be 81 per cent.

Much of the wheat has not been threshed, but where it has been the final yield is reported as an average of 17 bushels per acre for the State, and of a good quality. Oats also show an average of 17 bushels on the final yield, although in some sections they are reported as so poor they were not worth cutting. Rye is given as making an average of 14 bushels per acre. Much threshing has not been done yet.

Burley tobacco acreage is given at 70 per cent, while the condition is estimated to be 65 per cent. Dark tobacco shows an average in acreage of 61 per cent, while its condition is given at 67 per cent. Much of the tobacco was unable to be set owing to the drouth, and what was set is reported to be in only fair condition and badly needed rain. It must be remembered, however, that there is a possibility for a great outcome in the tobacco crop in case of rain within the next few days.

Live stock is beginning to show the scarcity of water, although the condition of horses is given at 82 per cent, cattle at 92 per cent, hogs at 89 per cent, and sheep at 91 per cent. Poultry is reported as doing well under the season conditions, chickens showing 91 per cent, turkeys 89 per cent, and ducks are given at 90 per cent.

The crop of small fruits was greatly curtailed on account of the drouth. The blackberry crop is reported to be very short as berries are drying up on the vines. The present condition of apples is 70 per cent; that of peaches 75 per cent, while pears only show a condition of 65 per cent. Plums are given at 73 per cent and grapes at 87 per cent. Garden conditions are estimated to be 59 per cent. Great complaint of the gardens is shown generally throughout the State, in many instances a total failure being reported. Potatoes are reported at 47 per cent of an average year's condition. Alfalfa is reported at 78 per cent, while orchard grass is given at 74 per cent. Cowpeas show 72 per cent also, while clover is estimated at 69 per cent.

In summing up the report it shows that there has been a deterioration all along the line in the last month of crop conditions. There is a possibility of a fairly good corn crop and tobacco crop in case of rain in a short time. Farmers are urged to continue the cultivation of corn, but let that cultivation be exceedingly shallow. The drouth is general over the State, and several localities report there have been no showers since early in June, and some have not had any rain since the first of May.

Respectfully,
J. W. Newman,
Commissioner of Agriculture.

Downs Sells Hotel.

A. Downs has sold out his lease on Hotel Benton to Ed Cross and retired from the business.

During their stay here Mr. and Mrs. Downs have made many friends in our city, as well as with the traveling public, who will regret very much that they have sold out.

Mr. Downs and wife are congenial people who we sincerely hope will find other business here and remain in our midst indefinitely.—Benton Tribune-Democrat.

Cured of Indigestion.

Mrs. Sadie P. Clawson, Indiana, Pa., was bothered with indigestion. "My stomach pained me night and day," she writes. "I would feel bloated and have headache and belching after eating. I also suffered from constipation. My daughter had used Chamberlain's Tablets and they did her so much good that she gave me a few doses of them and insisted upon my trying them. They helped me as nothing else has done." For sale by all dealers.

The scholastic population of the state of Kentucky, according to the 1914 census, increased from 721,636 to 727,870, and it is stated that a greater part of the increase was from the new mining towns in Eastern Kentucky. In the next few years the population of Eastern Kentucky will be greatly increased by the rapid development of mines and new railroad lines.

Two mules and one horse, the property of Joe Phillips of the Pottertown section; one fine steer, the property of Tom Morris, of this city; were killed by lightning last Thursday night; a stable and contents, the property of Floyd Eckhart, of near Harris Grove, set on fire by lightning and destroyed. Considerable other damage is reported from different sections of the county.

Making Good.

A special from Oklahoma City to the Courier Journal says that Con and Will Linn, formerly of Murray, will be elected to circuit judgeships; that J. S. Ross, formerly of Paducah, will be elected to Congress, and that Ed Crossland, formerly of Mayfield, will be elected County Attorney of Tulsa county. All of which goes to show that Kentucky is coming to the front in Oklahoma; also that some of the boys who emigrated to that state must have "lit a runnin'". Some of those named in the foregoing special were active in Kentucky politics not so many years ago. They are to be congratulated on making good in the state of their adoption.—Frankfort State Journal.

Mr. Bob Gingles, of the Penny section, who has been ill of dropsy for some time, died at his home this morning about 5 o'clock. Burial will take place to-morrow in the Dale graveyard.

Dr. and Mrs. Ulysses Grant Gallimore, of Murray, passed through Benton Wednesday enroute to Sharpe where they visited friends and relatives.—Benton Tribune.

Mrs. Ernest Clanton, of Benton, was in the city the past week the guest of Mrs. Herbert Bailey. Mr. Clanton was here last Saturday to hear Gov. Beckham speak.

Brenning Waters, express messenger between Louisville and Lexington, arrived in the city Saturday evening and will remain here for several days, the guest of his mother, Mrs. Numa Waters.

LOCAL OPTION

Judge Lang, of McCracken, Orders
Election on Liquor Question for September 21.

Paducah, Ky., July 15.—In accord with the investigations by Sheriff George E. Allen, who was appointed by County Judge James M. Lang Monday to go over the petition of 2,031 names asking for a special election to decide the question of local option in Paducah and the rest of McCracken county, a special election for Monday, September 21, was ordered by Judge Lang yesterday morning, as 1,511 names of qualified voters have already been found by Sheriff Allen on the petition. It required signatures of 1,308 voters entitled to vote in the next general election to necessitate the granting of a petition for a special election, as that number was 25 per cent of the number of persons who cast their votes in the last general election, which is what the law requires. There is much speculation among the citizens of both the city and county as to what the outcome of the election will be.

There were many inquiries on the streets regarding the election this morning and as to when the city would go "dry" in the event the prohibition element is successful. The law fixes sixty days after the election, which will be about November 22 or 23.

Severe Attack of Colic Cured.

E. E. Cross, who travels in Virginia and other Southern states, was taken suddenly and severely ill with colic. At the first store he came to the merchant recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Two doses of it cured him. No one should leave home on a journey without a bottle of this preparation. For sale by all dealers.

Don't Want Joint Speaking.

Well, two candidates for United States Senate will speak at Mayfield Monday, July 20, at the court house. It was at Murray Saturday that Mr. Stanley made an appointment on the same day that Mr. Beckham was to speak and his place to speak was at the court house and Mr. Beckham at the opera house.

Now comes trouble at Mayfield. Stanley and McCreary are both to be here on July 20 at 1:30 p. m. Mr. Stanley will speak in the court house upstairs and Mr. McCreary will probably speak in front of the court house on the court house steps.

Mr. Stanley's friends pretended that they wanted a joint debate between Stanley and Beckham at Murray, notwithstanding it was agreed at the beginning that there were to be no joint discussions between Democratic candidates for this office. Now let's see if Mr. Stanley's friends here will challenge Governor McCreary for a joint debate. Never, no never. They are not after the scalp of Mr. McCreary, it is Mr. Beckham they are after.

Why not challenge Mr. McCreary? He is as much of a candidate for this place as Mr. Stanley or Mr. Beckham.

Mr. McCreary don't seem to be afraid of Mr. Stanley, for while Mr. Stanley will speak upstairs in the court house he will be speaking in the door of the citadel of justice.

No doubt Mr. McCreary would be glad for a joint debate with Mr. Stanley, but the people are anxious to know if the Stanley men will back down and not ask McCreary for a joint discussion.—Mayfield Messenger.

Best Diarrhoea Remedy.

If you have ever used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy you know that it is a success. Sam F. Guin, Whatley, Ala., writes, "I had measles and got caught out in the rain, and it settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time and had it not been for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not possibly have lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy, I am now well and strong." For sale by all dealers.

J. W. Ereni, of Paducah, Ky., will preach for the Water Street Church of Christ Sunday at 11 o'clock. Every body cordially invited.

HON. ROBT. H. SCOTT, Candidate for Congress

Mr. Scott will address the voters of Caloway county at the court house Saturday afternoon of this week at 1:30 o'clock in the interest of his candidacy for the democratic nomination from the First District. Mr. Scott is one of the ablest men in Western Kentucky and deserving of anything at the hands of his party. He is a splendid speaker and should be heard by every voter in the county. Saturday at 1:30 o'clock. Go out and hear him.

PEACE CONFERENCE PLAN IS OPPOSED

DISAPPROVED BY CONSTITUTIONALISTS TO WHOM SUBMITTED. FAVOR MARTIAL LAW.

OFFICIALS NOT SURPRISED

Understood Constitutionalists Will Follow Guadalupe Plan, Which Declares Military Government Be After Mexico Is Conquered.

Washington.—Border dispatches stating that the Constitutionalists would not enter informal peace conferences with Huerta representatives were partially confirmed here. Rafael Zuzar and Luis Cabrera, the two most prominent Carranza representatives here, had nothing to say, but word that most of the Constitutionalists generally to whom the plan for conferences had been submitted had disapproved it came from well-informed sources.

Minister Naon of Argentina, the only one of the mediators in Washington, read the dispatches with evident surprise. He indicated that the mediators would take no action until the attitude of the Constitutionalists was learned officially. Secretary Bryan said it would be improper for him to discuss the situation in advance of the arrival of Carranza's formal answer to the pending proposal for peace conferences.

The Constitutionalists leaders strongly oppose the idea of peace conferences did not surprise officials who have maintained it would be virtually impossible to modify the plan of Guadalupe, the platform of the Constitutionalists movement. This plan declares a military government shall be set up after Mexico City is conquered and that no elections shall be held until the country is pacified by military rule. The present purpose of the Constitutionalists is to understand, in so far as that program to the letter.

Reports from Torreon that differences between Carranza and Villa had been composed were verified today by agents of both, but there was an undertone of comment, indicating that it was but a temporary truce. The break has had a disorganizing effect politically in the Constitutional ranks and evidences of it are manifest in Mexican circles here.

Reports from the border said one of the conditions of the agreement between Carranza and Villa was that Rafael Zuzar be retired from his post as head of the Constitutional agency here. Mr. Zuzar and Mr. Cabrera have worked hard to bring about informal conferences with the Huerta delegates, who now are in New York awaiting word through this channel of information.

Despite the Carranza-Villa split, it is evident one common purpose of all the Constitutionalists factions seems to be to force the conquest of Mexico City and rule the country by martial law. That neither the United States nor Argentina, Brazil or Chile would recognize a military government is the opinion of many South American diplomats. Non-recognition means lack of moral, indirectly, financial support, and the mediators do not believe the Constitutionalists could maintain a government under such handicaps.

PACT PLEASES CARRANZA

Rebel Chief Satisfied With Agreement With Villa—Carranza Is First Chief.

Saltillo, Mexico.—The conference in Torreon which met to adjust differences between Carranza and Villa has completed its labors to the satisfaction of the first chief of the Constitutionalists, according to announcement here of Gustav Espinosa Mirlos, Carranza's private secretary. Details of the conference were not made public.

It was announced, however, that all generals of the division of the north, commanded by Villa, have reaffirmed their recognition of Carranza's authority and again expressed their adherence to the plan of Guadalupe, providing for Carranza's executive authority in case of Constitutional success until elections can be had.

It was stated that troops under Gen. Villa and those under Gen. Pablo Gonzalez would move southward in a combined campaign with Mexico City as their goal.

Federals Repulsed.—Saltillo.—Gen. Obregon has admitted a terrific defeat to the army of 6,000 Federals outside Guadalupe, after four days' severe fighting, according to a dispatch received by Gen. Carranza. The details of the engagement were not given in the message.

Villa Silent.—El Paso, Texas.—The Carranza-Villa mediators at Torreon remained silent regarding the negotiations to avoid a split among Constitutionalists leaders.

GUADALAJARA IS CAPTURED

Federal Rout Is Complete, Rebels Taking 5,000 Prisoners—Opens the Way to Mexico City.

Saltillo, Mexico.—Gen. Carranza was officially advised of the fall of Guadalajara before the Constitutionalists forces. The news was received with the utmost elation at Constitutional headquarters, where it was regarded as preliminary to the occupation of Mexico City itself.

The rout of the Federals was said to be complete that they had been cut off from Mexico City by the forces of Gen. Blanco, which had detoured from Ameca to destroy the Federal lines of communication. The Federals were reported scattered in all directions. Great punishment was inflicted on them in retreat, but no figures of losses on either side were available. Gen. Obregon led the main attacking force. For several days they had hammered the Guadalajara garrison, which came out from their defenses in the effort to scatter the besiegers. After a disastrous conflict, in which the Federals lost 10 troop trains and more than 600 prisoners, they retreated, leaving an unobstructed road to the second largest city of Mexico, which offered little resistance when the Constitutionalists appeared.

Further details of the conflict at Guadalajara said 5,000 Federal prisoners, with much arms, ammunition and supplies, were captured. The line of combat, it was said, extended over 35 miles, with Gen. Blanco commanding Obregon's advance guard.

The Constitutionalists were reported in complete control of the city, including the Federal palace. Gen. Jose Carranza, it is said, is preparing to attack San Luis Potosi within two days, and as he has a force of 18,000 men and the Federal garrison nearly all has been withdrawn, he is expected to encounter little difficulty.

The capture of Guadalajara and San Luis Potosi will open an easy road to Queretaro and it is confidently expected at Carranza's headquarters that the victory of Obregon will insure the speedy capture of Mexico City.

Constantino Jaca, representing all the Constitutionalists leaders of the State of Queretaro, has arrived here to report to Gen. Carranza that all the chiefs of that state have recognized him as first chief and to receive orders from Carranza for future military operations.

Guaymas, which has held out against the Constitutionalists for more than a year, is about to be evacuated, according to information received by officials at Nogales, Sonora. The Federals have most of their impediments loaded on boats and it is expected they will evacuate as soon as their position becomes untenable.

REBELS REFUSE TO MEDIATE Carranza Will Not Deal With Representatives of Huerta—Lays the Blame on His Generals.

Washington.—The Constitutionalists agency received word today from Carranza that he was drafting his declaration of the mediation invitation to appoint representatives to meet informally with the Huerta envoys. Carranza said he would immediately dispatch the reply Rafael Zuzar, head of the Constitutional agency here, and have him forward it to the mediators.

The note will set forth that Gen. Carranza consulted his generals as to whether or not they desired to amend the plan of Guadalupe so as to allow him to name delegates to deal directly with Huerta envoys in an effort to settle by diplomacy the internal affairs of Mexico and that they voted unanimously against the suggestion. Carranza will then declare that in the light of this action there is nothing left for him but to decline the offer of the mediators to arrange an informal meeting of the Constitutionalists and the Huerta envoys.

Members of the local junta say that when Huerta finally makes up his mind to abdicate, they expect him to open up negotiations with the Constitutionalists through his envoys now in his country. In this case they say it is likely Gen. Carranza would name delegates to meet with them for the one purpose of arranging the terms of surrender.

Dr. Naon, one of the A. B. C. mediators, returned from New York, but did not remain in the city, leaving immediately to join his family, summing at Buena Vista, Pa. He refused to comment on Carranza's action in turning down the mediators' last plan.

Consul Arrives.—Colon, Panama.—William H. Gale, of Leesburg, Va., newly appointed American consul here, has arrived to take the place of the retiring consul, James C. Kellogg, of Louisiana.

No Dealings With Huerta.—Washington.—Gen. Villa has voted against informal conferences between Constitutionalists and Huerta representatives as proposed by the South American mediators.

May Force Huerta's Fall.—Vera Cruz.—Unless a peace agreement is entered into between the victoriano Huerta and the rebels, and the guarantee of the safety of the Federal generals is assured, the Mexican dictator's fall from power may come soon.

LEE S. OVERMAN

Senator Overman of North Carolina, chairman of the senate committee on rules, has been trying to explain how promotion letters of a gold mining scheme, in which he and Senator Chilton are interested, happened to be sent out on the stationery of the committee.

FIRE ON AMERICAN GUNBOAT

Michias Silences Dominican Rebels With Few Shots from Four-Inch Guns—Boat Is Not Damaged by Firing.

Washington.—Reckless firing by Dominican rebels sent several shots against the hull of the American gunboat Machias in Puerto Plata harbor and drew upon themselves a warning volley from the Machias' three-pounders and automatic rifles. The shooting from shore stopped immediately. A few days ago the gunboat used her main battery of four-inch guns to silence President Bordas' batteries, which were bombarding the rebel garrison holding the city in violation of the agreement that the lives of foreigners and other non-combatants would not be endangered by artillery fire.

Reporting the latest incident to the Navy Department Capt. Russell of the battleship South Carolina said considerable scattering rifle fire from the rebels passed over the Machias, and some shots struck her. Later, the dispatch says, the "junta" commission of legalists, representing the revolutionists, boarded the Machias and gave assurances of their desire to avoid endangering the safety of Americans.

WILSON HEARS BUSINESS MEN

Confers With Chicago Business Men and May Alter Bill—Sends Sources for Covington.

Washington.—Representatives of "big business" talked at length with President Wilson at the White House about the administration's anti-trust program. The leading members of the Chicago Association of Commerce gave Mr. Wilson their ideas of the trade commission and railroad securities bills and as a result the bills passed by the House and pending in the Senate may be modified. Both the president and the business men gave out statements referring to the cordiality of the meeting.

As a direct result of the discussion the president telegraphed to Representative Corning of Maryland, who framed the House trade commission bill, asking him to return to Washington to confer with the Chicago delegation.

MRS. CARMAN IS ACCUSED

Doctor's Wife Held on Charge of Having Killed Mrs. Bailey by Poisoning.

Freeport, N. Y.—Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, wife of Dr. Edwin Carman, was arrested accused of being the assassin who murdered Mrs. Louise Bailey, wife of a Hempstead manufacturer, by firing a bullet through her heart as she stood in the physician's office.

Mrs. Carman, at whom the finger of suspicion has pointed since the discovery that she had installed a telephone instrument in her husband's office to hear conversations between him and his woman patients, is in the Nassau County Jail at Mineola. There she will remain until next week, when she again will be examined by the coroner, before whom she pleaded guilty when arraigned. Her arrest in the room where Mrs. Bailey died.

City Controller Ousted.—Louisville, Ky.—Samuel M. Wilbitt, city controller, prominent in club and social circles, was arrested here, charged with embezzlement of city funds, following a report by expert accountants that they had discovered a shortage of approximately $14,500.

Submarine Sinks.—Toulon, France.—The French submarine Calypso was sunk during maneuvers by the destroyer Maquisseau. The Calypso's crew was saved.

SCOTCH MOB TRIES TO LYNCH WOMAN

SUFFRAGETTE ATTEMPTS TO ATTACK KING AND QUEEN OF ENGLAND AT PERTH.

SPRANG UPON ROYAL AUTO

It Required Force of Policemen to Keep Crowd from Woman—She Was Found to Be Armed Only With Petition.

Perth, Scotland.—A militant suffragette, uttering an exultant yell, sprang on to the footboard of an automobile in which King George and Queen Mary were driving through the streets of Perth.

The woman, who was identified as Rhoda Fleming, from Glasgow, seized the handle of the door of the royal automobile before the paralyzed police could act. Two policemen then seized her and it required a score of mounted soldiers to hold at bay the angry mob bent on lynching her. Miss Fleming turned out to be armed only with a petition against the forcible feeding of imprisoned suffragettes. A large force of troops was requisitioned to protect her from the populace as she was conveyed to the police station.

Earlier in the day in Dundee another suffragette pitched a bundle of papers into the motor car in which the king and queen were riding.

CARSON MAKES HOT SPEECH

Is Given Power to Call Volunteers. Ulsterists Ready for Mobilization at Moment's Notice.

Belfast.—The "provisional government" formed by the Ulster unionists at its first meeting gave Sir Edward Carson a free hand to take whatever action he may think necessary in calling the Ulster volunteers to arms. The men were declared ready for mobilization at a moment's notice.

Sir Edward Carson in a speech declared that the time had come for the loyalists of Ulster to translate their words into action. He said something must be done to make up its mind. Ulster, he concluded, was anxious for peace, but was not going to accept peace with surrender.

The official report of the meeting of the "provisional government" announced that the executive has been instructed to act in accordance with the spirit of a declaration, asserting that the "provisional government" will have the sanction of the Ulster unionists in the bona fide intentions of the imperial government compels it to press on with the completion of arrangements to resist by any means in its power any attempt to impose the authority of a home rule parliament on Ulster.

WAR SECRETS ARE REVEALED

Warrants Issued for Editor, Aviator, Writer and Photographer—Say They Betrayed Secrets.

San Francisco.—Warrants for the arrest of Charles K. Field, editor of the Sunset Magazine; Robert J. Fowler, an aviator; Riley A. Scott, a writer, and Ray S. Duhem, a photographer, were issued at the request of John W. Preston, United States attorney here, in the case of military secrets. The warrants are issued on the basis of the disclosure of military secrets. The penalty is 10 years imprisonment or a $10,000 fine for such disclosure if made abroad, and one year or a $1,000 fine if made in the United States.

In April the Sunset published an article entitled "Can the Panama Canal Be Destroyed from the Air?" Reproductions of photographs taken from an aeroplane and showing some of the fortifications of the Canal Zone accompanied the text. As soon as a copy of the number was called to the attention of the war department it requested Preston to investigate.

NAME-FOUR DREADNAUGHTS

One of Big Battleships Will Be Christened Mississippi—One Boat Under Construction.

Washington.—Secretary Daniels announced that the four newest dreadnaughts, beginning with number 38, would be named Arizona, California, Mississippi and Idaho. The last two states of Mississippi and Idaho might not lose their ships because of the recent sale of two battleships to Greece.

Volcanoes in Action.—Seward, Alaska.—All volcanoes along the Alaska peninsula, west of Seward to the Aleutian islands, are active, according to a report brought by Capt. McMillen, of the steamship Orizaba, which arrived from Dutch Harbor.

Women Kill Brother.—Sterling, Ill.—Emanuel Myers, 45, was shot and killed in his bar by his sister, Mrs. Leo Fulton and Miss Lillian Myers. Much of it is charged, fired two shots from the same revolver.

GEORGE B. A. HALLETT

George B. A. Hallett is the man whom Lieutenant Porte has selected as his assistant on the projected flight across the Atlantic in the Wanamaker Curtiss hydroaeroplane America.

"KATY FLYER" IS HELD UP

Two Men Rob Train 40 Miles from St. Louis—Bloodbath Placed on the Train—Safe Dynamited.

St. Louis.—The Missouri, Kansas & Texas "Katy Flyer" was held up by train robbers and the safe dynamited at Matson, Mo., 40 miles southwest of here, according to report which reached the St. Louis police.

A telephone message to the chief of police here from the sheriff of St. Charles County said two men held up the train, cut loose the express and tracked several hundred yards and dynamited the express car safe. How much the men obtained was not mentioned.

Sheriff Dierker and a posse boarded a special train to go to the scene of the robbery. Bloodhounds had been obtained from Martinsville, Mo. The first report of the holdup was sent to railroad officials at St. Charles by the telegraph at Matson. He reported the bandits board train No. 5 while it was taking coal at Matson.

REJECTS JONES' NOMINATION

Majority Oppose Wilson's Choice for Reserve Board—Warburg Also Refused—President Will Fight.

Washington.—The administration met defeat in the first stage of its fight to have the Senate confirm the nomination of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago and Paul M. Warburg of New York as members of the federal reserve board. The banking and currency committee voted 7 to 4 to reject the nomination of Mr. Jones and further consideration of the nomination of Mr. Warburg.

The Jones report will be submitted next week and debate over his nomination will be resumed on the floor of the Senate in executive sessions. The committee will take no further action on the Warburg appointment unless the New York banker decides to accept the committee's invitation to submit to questioning.

The next move, according to committee members, must come from Mr. Warburg. The committee's action was taken in the face of the president's determined effort to have the appointments approved. In his conference with newspaper men the president made it clear that he would keep up the fight.

Woman Admits Murder

Williamston, N. C.—Mrs. Joseph Johnson, who was arrested, charged with shooting and killing her husband while out driving with him, confessed here according to a statement issued by the authorities.

The explanation of the crime given by the woman was that her husband made life unbearable by constant accusations of infidelity. Sheriff J. N. Crawford said, Mrs. Johnson denied the alleged accusations.

Johnson was a prominent farmer. His wife, who is 22 years old, at first asserted that he was shot by an unknown person concealed by the side of the road. A revolver was found by the side of the body.

Killed by Posses.—Shawneetown, Ill.—George Sarver, farmer, was killed by a sheriff's posse after he had barricaded his home, 12 miles south of here, and defied the officers to take him. Sarver had evaded arrest on a charge of contempt of court.

Trolley Car Wrecked.—Fairbault, Minn.—Fifteen persons were injured, several probably fatally, when a trolley car collided with a freight train near here.

London Criminal Prosecution.—Sir Thomas Lipton, the chairman and director in Lipton, Ltd., was suggested by Sir Arthur Macpherson, a Liberal member, that a question addressed to the attorney-general appearing in parliamentary papers.

COLLIER BLAMED FOR SEA DISASTER

STORSTAD, CHANGED COURSE AND HIT EMPRESS OF IRELAND. THIRD OFFICER GUILTY.

OVER THOUSAND LIVES LOST

Another Collier Says Empress Was Swinging a Short Time Before Collision—Question of How to Prevent Such Disasters.

Quebec.—The collier Storstad is held to blame for the Empress of Ireland disaster in the findings of the wreck commission. The commission holds that the disaster was due to the Storstad's change of course, ordered by the third officer, without instructions from the first officer, who was in charge of the collier at the time.

The Empress was sunk in the St. Lawrence on May 29 with a loss of more than 1,000 lives.

The inquiry into the disaster was begun in Quebec by a commission composed of Lord Mersey, formerly presiding justice of the British admiralty court; Sir Adolphus Routhier of Quebec and Chief Justice McLeod of New Brunswick. Lord Mersey also presided over the inquiry into the Titanic disaster.

The collier's third officer, found responsible, is Alfred Tutenes. He was on the bridge when the crash occurred.

"We regret," says the finding, "to have to impute blame to any one in connection with this lamentable disaster, and we should not do so if it were not for the fact that Mr. Tutenes was wrong and negligent in altering his course in the fog, as he undoubtedly did, and that he was wrong and negligent in keeping the vessel in the fog, as he undoubtedly did, and that he was negligent in failing to call the captain when he saw the fog coming on."

JUSTICE H. H. LURTON DEAD End Comes Suddenly from Heart Failure at Atlantic City—Was 70 Years of Age.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Associate Justice Horace Harmon Lurton of the United States supreme court died suddenly at a hotel here from heart failure, superinduced by cardiac asthma. He was 70 years old.

The justice, who came here July 1, was in his usual health before retiring, and had taken his customary evening out on the boardwalk. Shortly after midnight he complained of feeling ill, and although his physician, Dr. Ruffin, who arrived from Washington, was summoned immediately, Justice Lurton died at 5 o'clock in the morning.

His wife and son, Horace H. Lurton, Jr., of Nashville, Tenn., were at the bedside. Mrs. Horace Lurton, a daughter, and her husband, an attorney, of Knoxville, Tenn., and other members of the family are expected.

The body will be taken to Clarksville, Tenn., for interment.

AMERICAN WINS AIR RACE

Brook Flies from Hendon, England, to Paris and Back—Makes the Trip in Seven Hours.

London.—An American, Walter L. Brook, captured first honors in the aeroplane race from Hendon to Paris and return. Brook outdistanced his nearest rival, Roland Garros, a French aviator, by more than an hour. His flying time for the distance—502 miles in a direct line—was 7 hours, 3 minutes, 6 seconds.

A thrilling incident was a plunge into the English channel, which Baron Carbox suffered when his aeroplane fell from a considerable height when half way across on the return trip. A life belt kept Lord Carbox afloat until he was picked up by a steamer.

Eugene Renaux lost his way several times on his way to Paris, more than seven hours being required to make the trip to the French capital. He carried a woman passenger.

Brewers Win Point.—Indianapolis, Ind.—Gov. Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana refused to honor requisition papers from Gov. Hooper of Tennessee for the extradition of seven officers of two Knoxville (Ind.) breweries, wanted at Memphis on grand jury indictments.

Four Die From Heat.—St. Louis.—Four persons died here and several were prostrated by heat, which broke all records for the current year. The official temperature was 102 degrees.

Real Estate Men Elected.—Pittsburgh.—Officers elected by the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges include: President, Thomas Shalcross, Jr., Philadelphia; Vice-president, T. M. Weir, Tampa, Fla.; and R. L. Foust, Knoxville, Tenn.

Yug to Aid Plague Fight.—Philadelphia.—The U. S. Navy, sent by the government at this port for boarding vessels with apparatus left for New Orleans with apparatus aboard for fighting bubonic plague.

AT THE BOOKING OFFICE

OFF-STAGE COMEDIES

by Will Bradshaw

WAS IT ACTING OR REAL LOVE?

Margie Walters—(dramatic woman)—Did you read where Winnie King and her hubby—
Tom Finerty (a single)—What trouble again?
Margie Walters—No, indeed, sir. They were just offered a hundred a week apiece in separate shows and they refused to separate. Such devotion in a young couple I never did see.

Tom Finerty—Young couple? He's young, but it's "grandma" parts for her after this. What you mean is, it was fine of them not to separate when they couldn't deliver the goods. When they played on a bill with me—oh! if that manager wasn't a kind-hearted old gink they'd be sentenced for life on the small time.

Margie Walters—I meant from an affectionate standpoint. Tom, it showed what a loving couple you will find in the show business every so often.

Alys Daly (of the Daly sisters)—I knew a couple like that one time—for two weeks. Then he got an offer of one show a day less—Blooey! Them hams ain't got no more affection than a chink laundryman, take it from me.

Edna May Sims (child impersonator)—Didn't the man spurn the offer to be with his loving wife, Alys?
Alys Daly—Lovin' wife? She's playin' in the Bronx and he's billed for San Diego the last half of next.

Dad Wadell—Such family disruption was not the rule in my day. I remember—
Gene Bally (comedy juggler)—Look at me, crowd, if you want to see a sample of conjugal bliss.

Wife's playing Chicago and I'm here.
Margie Walters—Conjugal bliss is easy under such conditions. If Mr. H. V. Walters had stayed 20 hours' railroad distance from me we would never have a word.

Alys (late of the 'Alis')—I'll bet you'd get lonesome and cry me young lily.

Margie Walters—Write my husband! Never! I did, however, send him a dozen telegrams when we separated. I sent the "charges collect," and all I said in them was, "You mean brute!" Mr. H. V. Walters will rue the day.

Gene Bally—Don't think my case is anything like that. Cruel fate is what separates us. If someone will tell me together, something for a comedy juggler and a leading lady—which she is—I'll give 'em my chicken farm.

Alys—I'll try to think of a way. But first give me a description of the place. It's more than a mile from Broadway I don't want it.

Margie Walters—Here's how Winnie's case was. Winnie and George were with us in "Oh, Oh, Claudine." After we were out two weeks they were married. A week later Paton & Takeoff cut down the company to 27 people. When the notice was posted at Ft. Wayne Winnie and George went up to read it. What did they see? Winnie was let out altogether and he let George go the count in the last act.

Tom Finerty—That was an awful responsibility to give to that ex-bill-hop.

Dad Wadell—In "Midsummer Night's Dream" I played Bottom and—
Alys—I'd 'ate to've been there when y' did it.

Edna May Sims—When George and Winnie saw that notice did they carry on something awful, Margie?
Margie Walters—Not a tall! They stood clasped in each other's arms. Winnie looked up into George's face, her big brown eyes filled with tears. George looked at poor little Winnie, and—

Tom Finerty—I got an idea for an act out of this muck. A leadin' lady behinds a poor juggler on a stranded side-show. That night the hotel burns and the juggler carries her down on one arm—my balance's stunk.

The juggler turns out to be her old schoolmate.

Algy—Keep your old chicken farm! Margie Walters—Yes, m' dears, they just stood there looking at that call-board.
Dad Wadell—A pretty situation, I'd call it. A dramatic moment.
Algy—I'd call it a piffle scene, I would.

Margie Walters—Winnie drew her self up to her full height; she choked her sobs. "George," she said, "it seems that we must part."

Algy—It seemed, eh?
Margie Walters—"Don't let me be a burden to you any longer," she cried. "Don't let me hold you back from the career that is yours. Take the juvenile job, let me go my own way and when you are great, all I ask is that you think of me—sometimes."

Edna May Sims—If I witnessed that scene I'd burst out weeping. I'm that tender-hearted.

Dad Wadell—My dear young lady, if you saw me in "Henry of Navarre" you'd weep.

Algy—By jove, you're a candid ol' top!

Gene Bally—That was George's chance to act as I would under the circumstances.

Margie Walters—He did, Gene. George took her in his manly arms and said right out loud, "Kid, you're not a burden to me. You're always played your half of the sketch. Ned Ward can have the juvenile job—the show will close soon, anyway. We're both going to quit now and go back East, back to your uncle's farm for the summer." George King is made of many material.

Edna May Sims—I don't know Winnie or George, never saw their act, but from those words I'd say he is every inch a man.

Algy—Back to uncle's farm for the summer, eh? 'Oo'd blame the rotter?

Edna May Sims—If I thought that was in his mind, I'd hate the villain.

Dad Wadell—None can fathom the subtle workings of a man's mind.

Gene Bally—His spiel then at that time did sound a little too "meio" to be real heart stuff.

Algy—I'll bet 'e 'ad the part rehearsed.

Edna May Sims—How about Winnie?
Alys Daly—She's a wise old actress, that girl. She knows she can't get booked next season without George.

Stage Fight.
Very few people are really free from liability to stage fright, and the very least in public life is just as likely to be affected as the novice. Attacks, moreover, frequently come when they are least expected. Hence no speaker or artist can face an audience and feel sure that he will not have to suffer from the tortures of this particularly painful form of nervousness.

Musicians, of course, are the worst sufferers. The performer on a stringed instrument is helpless if his hand trembles, while the clear intonation of a singer can be ruined by that catch-in-the-throat or that twitching of the lips which is perhaps the simplest and most common manifestation of stage fright.

Greater Than Edison.
"Who is that man who is being cheered by the crowd?" asked the stranger.
"That is John Smith," replied the bystander.
"What did he ever do?" asked the stranger.
"He invented the noiseless phonograph," replied the bystander. "Citizen's Enquirer."

MORE MONEY FOR EDUCATION

SCHOOLS PER CAPITA WILL BE LARGER THAN IT WAS ONE YEAR AGO.

STATISTICS FOR THE STATE

Census Second To High-Water Mark Last Year—Exact Amount Will Be Announced at a Later Date.

(Special Frankfort Correspondence.)

Frankfort, Ky.—An increase in the school per capita is assured this year, although the amount has not been fixed by State Superintendent Barksdale Hamlett, who is awaiting information as to the estimated revenues for the schools, which will be forthcoming in a few days. The per capita last year was $4, which means that the state school fund was distributed among the counties and cities in the proportion of $4 for each child of school age. The census reports for 1914, with two cities missing and two counties approximated, showed an increase over 1913 of 4,237, but does not come up to the returns showed a total scholastic population in the state of 730,359. This was cut down the next year by a careful supervision of the lists erroneously. The total census for 1914 contained 727,870 names of children of school age, of whom 590,113 live in rural districts and 137,757 in cities of the first four classes. There are 237,422 white children in the country and 52,581 colored. In the cities there are 111,546 white children and 26,211 colored. The increase in the census is accounted for by the normal growth of the mining country both in Eastern and Western Kentucky.

Prison Board at School.

The state board of prison commissioners were in Lexington for an inspection of the reform school at Greenfield. The members of the board included William Connelly, Henry Ince and Chairman Daniel E. O'Sullivan. Mr. O'Sullivan said that the board found the condition of the school excellent, with the superintendent making constant improvements. In commenting on the recent criticism of the school by the grand jury, Mr. O'Sullivan said that the need of more land had been recognized by the board for some time, and that the criticism of the grand jury in this respect was well taken, but that the board was powerless to increase the acreage at the school without a legislative appropriation.

Preventable Diseases.

Of 91,359 deaths occurring in Kentucky during the three years preceding January 1, 1914, 37,222, or more than one in every three, were caused by preventable diseases, and of the latter, tuberculosis caused one in every three. Kentucky's death rate from tuberculosis during the three years was 63 for the 100,000 of population above the average of all the states keeping a record of vital statistics. Dr. W. L. Heizer, state Registrar of Vital Statistics, in his "Inches of health conditions" for the three years, says this is the first time in the history that the Kentucky State Board of Health has the actual facts before it.

Violators of Fish Laws.

Two men charged with dynamiting, it being alleged they were out from Anderson county and dynamited the Chaplin's creek, in Washington county, were arrested by State Game Warden Cash Shaw, of Frankfort, and George M. Hill, of Paris, who have been actively raiding wholesale fish buyers in the streams of Central Kentucky. One man was fined $50 and paid it and the other went to jail to serve out a similar fine.

Doctors Meet Here.

The Kentucky Midland Medical association held its 74th annual session at the Capital hotel, for the three days embracing Franklin, Fayette, Woodford, Scott, Bourbon, Shelby and Anderson counties. Dr. W. C. Parker, of Versailles, is president, and Dr. John D. Maguire, secretary-treasurer. The next meeting, when officers will be elected, will be held at Versailles in October.

Large Number Attend.

Much interest was manifested, not only in Frankfort, but throughout Central Kentucky, over the meeting of the Central Kentucky Retail Merchants' association, which was held here. A delegation from both Louisville and Cincinnati each a hundred strong and headed by a band arrived on special trains from their respective cities.

Crops Curtailed.

The report of Commissioner of Agriculture Newman, released last July is the most discouraging in years. In some localities there has not been any rain since the first of May, and the drought has prevailed over the state generally since the first of June. Notwithstanding the exceedingly unfavorable conditions, Commissioner Newman says there still remains a chance for a fairly good corn crop and a good tobacco crop if there is rain in a short time. Farmers are urged to continue the cultivation of corn.

Our Mineral Riches.

Two large volumes of the first report of the state geological survey under the act of 1912, including the work of the department from the beginning, have just been issued. In his foreword J. B. Hoseng, director of the survey, gives a general outline of the report. He says: "A re-echo of the report of the state geological survey. It shows a valuable coal field accessible to railroad transportation in coal veins above drainage, as well as a possibility of finding a large area of Ekhorn and Van Lear coals, which are there under drainage and can be developed only by the diamond drill. What is one of the valuable assets of Kentucky; and one which has not had the publicity which it deserves, is well treated in a report by A. P. Crider on the fire clay deposits of Northeastern Kentucky in Carter, Boyd and Greenup counties. These fire clays are present in large quantities and are the source of refractory material of all kinds. A report on the geology of the Georgetown quadrangle is given. This is in furtherance of the adoption of a plan by which the topographic sheets issued jointly by the Kentucky and United States geological surveys are to be used as a basis for final detailed geological work. A report on the coals of the Tell City and Owensboro quadrangle in the western coal field is also based on two of the topographic sheets issued as a cooperative work. A. P. Crider finds a large area of the Hawesville coal as yet unworked, and also notes a possible source of oil and gas."

How To Have Better Roads.

Former Postmaster Robt. E. Woods, of Louisville, state director for the National Highways association, which through the State Good Roads association is carrying on a campaign to crystallize public sentiment for the betterment of the roads, was in Frankfort conferring with State Commissioner of Roads R. C. Terrell. Mr. Terrell has issued the new road law in bulletin form for distribution and will send a copy on application. Commissioner Terrell has issued also a bulletin of hints on the subject of good roads, which is in part as follows: "Burn the weeds. (Sec. 48, Chap. 50, Acts 1914.) Drain the ditches. (Sec. 49, Acts 1914.) Retain the bridges; trim the hedges and give the roads a chance to dry. Not once a year, but when needed is the time to repair roads; don't put gravel or broken stone on a road until it has been properly graded and drained; don't expect some one else to throw out the loose rock in the road—throw it out yourself. The state department of public roads is ready and willing to furnish advice and information concerning public roads and bridges free of cost to the county."

Tuberculosis Blamed.

According to a report made by the state board of health, which covers a period of three years preceding January 1, 1914, there were 91,359 deaths during the three years, and of this number one out of every three was caused by tuberculosis. During the three years 37,222 deaths were caused by preventable diseases. These figures are set out in "An Invoice of Health Conditions," prepared by Dr. W. L. Heizer, state registrar of vital statistics. The birth rate doubled the death rate, being 27.18 in every 1,000 of population to 13.31 deaths.

High Honor Conveyed.

State Bank Commissioner Thos. J. Smith was elected president of the National Association of State Bank Supervisors at the 13th annual meeting of the association at Atlantic City. Commissioner Smith was elected vice president at the meeting last year, and is the first time a member of the organization. Thirty-two states are represented in the association.

Situation Shown in Films.

The moving picture exhibit of the State Tuberculosis Commission, showing two phases of the tuberculosis situation in dramatized form (The Price of Human Lives and Hope), were shown for the first time on the grounds of the old State Capitol. After touring Franklin county by automobile the show will be taken through ten counties of Central Kentucky this summer.

Lunch But a Memory.

Frankfort Protective association, composed of saloonkeepers of Frankfort, has put the ban on free lunch, and the order promulgated caused no end of adverse comment among the devotees of the counter who here have been satisfied the inner here with juicy roast beef sandwiches, soup, hard-boiled eggs, wieners and other indigestibles.

Men Are Paroled.

Sidney William Ross, charged with manslaughter, both from Fayette county, were paroled.

Supplies Purchased.

The state board of control, composed of Judge S. Wall, of Mayfield; Maj. J. Norton Fitch, of Nicholasville, and Col. T. A. Hall, of Frankfort, held their monthly meeting at the Kentucky State Hospital for the Insane. After taking up all routine matters they took up the needs of the institution in the way of supplies of coal, provisions and clothes. The purchases will supply the institution for the next six months and will consist of everything that is used at the hospital in clothing for the patients, supplies, etc.

NOT GOOD ARGUMENT

Old Cry About Tariff Reduction and Adversity.

Simple Reflection Will Convince Any One That There Is Little Real Reason for the Charge That Is So Often Made.

The old arguments that adversity must follow tariff reduction are being refuted, and it seems to be necessary to answer them as often as they are thrust before the public. A gentleman of prominence whose name it is kindness not to mention says: "You ask me why the price of labor must come down if the price of goods comes down. Suppose today the tariffs were taken off of steel. Naturally, there would be a rush to buy steel in the foreign markets, and suppose that 1,000,000 tons of steel were bought and shipped to this country, then naturally the labor which would otherwise have been employed in this country in producing that 1,000,000 tons of steel will not be employed. And the same thing happening in all other branches of trade where goods are shipped to us would soon decrease the demand for our other products here, because the unemployed could not buy and could not consume."

Those talking in this way must think that the imported goods are given to us. If they are bought; they must be paid for, and the labor which is not employed in making what we import must be employed in producing whatever goods are exchanged for the foreign goods. Any man or merchant can do better in his natural specialty than in a "side line," unless he is tempted by abnormal profits granted to privilege and not earned by merit. The profits of privilege do not go to the wage earners, and tariff reform threatens only the profits of the extortioners, who are not high wage payers.

An "Adequate" Navy.

President Wilson, on occasion requires, indicates to the members of his party in congress that he regards the Baltimore platform as a responsible authoritative document, a contract or covenant and not a bit of fiction.

Therefore, it is a creditable report that he has given the Democratic congressman-to-be an understanding that he will not vote with indifference the skimping of the navy estimates to fill the pork barrel.

The Baltimore platform declared for "an adequate" navy, a term used for "a statesmanlike looseness and probably" later to be interpreted to mean anything from a Jeffersonian flotilla of river boats to an efficient fleet of battleships.

In all rational American opinion an adequate navy cannot be provided by other than the authorization, from year to year, for a period not yet limited, of two modern first line ships with such other vessels as are needed for the balanced and proportioned development of the naval machine.

President Wilson subscribes to this view. It is presented by Secretary Daniels of the navy department, a bit hesitatingly, it would seem, as if the secretary were convinced himself by his lack of enthusiasm.

The president, who believes that a platform is a pledge and that "adequate" cannot have a small meaning in relation to the American navy, is likely to strengthen the party program in this respect as he has in others.

After Victory.

"It is easier to win victory than it is to use it," remarked Charles H. Parkhurst on the morning after the triumphant election of Colonel Strong to the majority of New York by the forces of reform.

We commend these words to the attention of all true Democrats. A tremendous opportunity is before the party, and opportunity always involves responsibility in exact proportion to it. The main concern now is not the exchange of felicitations and the burning of red flags, but the burning of the small boy of the plainly garbed old man. "Yes," he answered. "A shaking Quaker?" pursued his interlocutor. "Yes," came the answer once more. "Well, then," said the small boy, "do it!"

Republican Guns Spiked.

If the Democrats were not armed with so many statistics on conditions as they are, it would be much easier for the Republican congressmen to throw an atmosphere of gloom over the situation in time to use that gloom in the fall elections.

Record To Be Remembered.

The president has been in the White House a comparatively short time. In that time he has secured the passage of the first honest tariff law since the Civil war, and the first great currency reform known in the same period.

Congress and the Tariff.

Congress, under the Constitution, is charged with the tariff power—the greatest power it exercises. It could not if it would, and would not if it could, part with any vital portion of that authority. In revising the tariff, congress of course needs light, and the lighting scheme must be under its own full control. The proposition to put it under the control of a non-partisan scientific tariff commission begs the question.

PREPAY FAN

The American Prepay Electric Fan Company has adapted for use in connection with its nickel-plated and chrome-plated fans made by the General Electric, Westinghouse, and other manufacturers, standard electric fan manufacturing companies. The company is fully protected by patents, trademarks and copyrights, and all infringements will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

This company has the only successful invention of the kind in commercial use. All prospective investors are cautioned, stage agents to require stockholders and all persons claiming to represent this company to show their written authority under the company seal signed by Francis H. Davis, President, and Joseph E. Jackson, Sec. of the Company.

Fan material is being received in carload lots, and American Prepay Nickel-plated fans are being shipped up and put into service daily. The thousands of orders on hand are being filled as fast as the material from the sale of stock will permit. The factory having a capacity of over 5,000 fans per day is located in the Lotus Building, Memphis, Tennessee.

Real Tragedy of the Stage.
A beautiful actress, Fraulein Damer, was killed by accident recently, while playing at the Theatre of Varieties at Vienna, Switzerland. The last act of the comedy, "The Pride of the Third Company," was coming to an end when Fraulein Damer fell through a defective stage trap to a distance of six feet and fractured her skull. The actress was carried unconscious to her room and a doctor was in prompt attendance, but the case was beyond his help, and as the curtain fell on the comedy on the stage the girl died.

Neither the members of the company who took the final "call" nor the public, who wondered why the actress did not appear, had the slightest idea of the tragedy that had occurred behind the scenes.

Marriage Causes False Alarm.

Seven minutes of black from the whistle of the Passaic Metallware company, in honor of the marriage of the daughter of the superintendent, recently turned out five volunteer fire departments. The fog made the whistle not visible with indifference the skimping of the navy estimates to fill the pork barrel.

It took half an hour to determine where the whistling came from. The wedding which caused the commotion united Miss Sallie Karp, 217 Brook avenue, Passaic, to Michael F. Bernan—New York Mail.

A Rough Road.

"My dear sir," said the philosopher, "when we look about us and see the troubles that afflict other people, we ought to rejoice that our own paths through life are made smooth."

"Your path may be smooth," sighed the pessimist, "but a thundering big steam roller would have to make a great many trips over mine before the bumps in it were pressed out."

White House Rose Garden.

The rose garden that Mrs. Woodrow Wilson had planted at the White House is said to be quite equal to others that she planned at Princeton and other places where she has lived. She and her daughters have spent much time, not only in superintending the work of the rose garden, but in actually working in it.

LOVES CONFEDERATES-NIT

McCreary affects undying love and loyalty to the Confederate soldier, and on a thousand rostrums has beat his breast and exuded tears as big as June apples, frequently almost drowning old comrades on the front seat. Some of his exploits of 61-5, as related in the public prints, and by himself, read like romance—as a large part of it is, undoubtedly; to hear him modestly refer to his career one would naturally conclude that when Napoleon's imperial guard and his mighty marshals clashed with England's steel-mailed cavaliers on the plains of Monte St. Jean—that the one great mistake the illustrious Corsican made was in not having McCreary there to stay the flight and prevent the awful panic of the French when Wellington, like an hundred cyclones, bore down upon them. But even at that time, 1815, McCreary was getting along in years and Napoleon perhaps concluded he was too old to take an active part in the battle.

McCreary loves the Confederate soldier—yes, with an all-consuming love, when HE wants an office. But when the Confederate soldier wants an office—what then? Look over the list of his appointees and see how many you can find. Just now we cannot recall a single one—except one that he retained who was appointed by his predecessor.

Love them, yes; but let's see. When Gen. Bennett H. Young, Commander-in-chief of the Confederate Veterans, recently applied to McCreary for the honor of representing, for a few weeks, the state of Kentucky in the Federal Senate, asking for the appointment to succeed the late Senator Bradley, what did McCreary do? Here was a chance indeed, for him to do for the honor and glory of the whole South. Think of it: the Commander-in-chief of the Confederate Veterans appointed to a seat in the United States Senate! How the old boys of the lost cause would have almost wept for joy. Mississippi, Louisiana and Georgia would have grasped the hand of Kentucky in fulsome gratitude and congratulation. In a measure the principles for which the boys in gray shed their blood upon the ashes of their wrecked and ruined homes would have been vindicated. At least they would have said, "the spirit of the old South still lives and chivalry is yet to be sacrificed on the altar of Mammon."

BUT WHAT DID GOVERNOR McCREARY DO?

Instead of appointing the gallant, the intrepid, the valorous Bennett H. Young he turned down the old soldier who needed not the honor as much as he needs the scant emolument of the few short weeks of service, and he appointed who?

Why, Johnson Camden, who but recently moved from another state to Kentucky, who is reputed to be the wealthiest man in the state and for a verity the "cattle of a thousand hills" and the race horses of a hundred tracks graze upon his farm—one of the finest in America, whose home is a castle and whose cow stables are more imposing than any residence in Calloway county. He's a young man who inherited his wealth, and a fine young man, too, we'll agree, but he never smelled powder and blood; he never heard the whine of a musket ball, nor was he ever forced, as General Young and his ragged men were, to subsist upon dog and horse meat and parched corn.

You thought sure McCreary would appoint Gen. Young, that fearless cavalry leader who with his gallant band went through the federal lines like a steel wedge and penetrated to the North even as far as Vermont, gathering money to put into the empty treasury of Jefferson Davis.

But McCreary turned him down. We are not surprised. Gen. Young is a poor man. He gave his all to the Confederacy and has no money now to contribute to anybody's campaign fund.

And McCreary turned him down. A millionaire got the appointment. Oh, ye Confederates! Ye who walked over stone walls and through walls of steel and lead and living flesh. Can you not now, even though your eyes be dim, see through the cracks of a mud fence? We think you can.

Bro. Beale, who has at least temporarily deserted his high calling in the ministry, to make endeavor to convince the Calloway voters that "WE owe" Gov. McCreary something more because he appointed Bro. Beale to a job on the state board of equalization at a salary of about $600 and a few nice perquisites per year, takes a few flings at Jennings in a paid article published in the Times this week.

Jennings only desires to say in reply that he knows more about political affairs than Brother Beale knows of the Bible; that he has a better knowledge of the tenets and principles of democracy than Brother Beale has of the ten commandments; that he has had the nerve and grit in the past and has it now to fight political prostitutes and pharisees parading as friends of the people, and he boasts that he has voted against them and fought them in the past and stands pledged to pursue the same policy in the future; that he has never hung his head in shame because of any vote he cast but feels proud of every feeble effort put forth to bring about the defeat of hired harlots seeking public favor in the name of Democracy. Bro. Beale if you can not say the same thing then you must confess to the world that you are not the man of God that you claim, but up on the other hand, you have swallowed rotten ringsters without endeavoring to spew them out. How Jennings voted or is going to vote has naught to do with what "WE owe" Mr. McCreary, and to be perfectly frank, we have about concluded that the fact that the governor gave Bro. Beale a nice little job that he knows but little about, should have but little weight in influencing men how to vote in the senatorial race. Just a little friendly advice in conclusion, Bro. Beale, you'd better stick to your calling and do your darndest to nurse that job because it is the last McCreary will ever be able to give you, and let Jennings severely alone. He's going to paddle his little canoe without the advice or consent of any other sucker on the face of the globe.

Stanley, in his speech here last Saturday, stated that Jennings reminded him of a "tom-tit" on the end of a pick handle. Say, bud, dam we don't believe you've got our measure 'actly. The tom-tit is about the stickiest little son-of-a-gun you ever saw. Always on one side or the other of every question, never flying away, and nearly always on the uppermost side. Can't say so much for you Mr. Stanley. When you ran away from your post of duty as a member of the United States Congress when the Webb-Kenyon bill was up for a vote you showed none of the attributes of a tom-tit, you didn't stick. There is not a white feather in a tom-tit; he couldn't show one if he wanted to. You displayed the part of a moral coward, you lacked the courage of a tom-tit. Upon the other hand when the Webb-Kenyon bill was up for passage over the president's veto you went back to your post of duty—very much as does the parrot, repeating what had been placed in your mouth by the whiskey trust and you voted against the bill, thereby putting yourself on record as endorsing the partnership existing between the bootleggers and blind-tigers and the government of the United States. Your display of cowardice in the beginning and later your vote in support of the liquor interests forever damned any possibility you might have had for the nomination you are now seeking, and rightously it should. Had you displayed manhood enough and stayed in Washington and voted against the bill, as was your right, certainly you would have won the admiration of the bootleggers and blind-tiger keepers and all other liquor elements, but even they should now entertain a suspicion of doubt regarding just what course you would pursue should you be elected senator.

The Ledger wants to see ample accommodations made for the people who come to Murray to do their trading and spend their dollars but it does appeal to us that a more suitable place could be found for the purpose of erecting hitching racks than around the new court house. Calloway taxpayers have expended about $75,000 for this handsome new building, furnishings, walks, etc., and now to have them decorated with a bunch of mule racks would be a shame and a travesty. By all means hitching accommodations must be provided, but the Ledger believes that if every citizen would express an opinion a great majority would oppose the erection of these racks around the court yard, where cess pools will form, creating a stench almost unbearable and millions of flies find breeding and feeding places. But if it is the purpose of the officials in charge to erect these racks around the square regardless, at least some endeavor should be made to conserve the appearance of the square. The portion of the street over which they are to be erected should first be graded and placed in at least a respectable condition and instead of using the tree trunks now on the ground for posts, some of which will measure two feet across the butt, steel posts, set in concrete should be used. Criticism has been made of the city for permitting the electric light and telephone poles to remain in the street, a menace to life and property, and many of these objectionable poles have been removed and the remaining ones should be forced from the square, and before erecting another dead-end on the same premises careful consideration should be given the matter.

The idiotic argument being advanced by a number of empty-headed Stanleyites, that the Republicans want Beckham nominated in the August primary in order that they (the Republicans) can win in the final election is about as wide of the mark as any of their other wild claims. By way of refreshing their memory we point with pride to the fact that Governor Beckham has never yet gone down in defeat at the hands of the voters of Kentucky in a primary or general election either. Four members of the legislature, who betrayed the trust reposed in them by their constituents, defeated him by selling out to the Republicans, and these same cut-throats are all against him in this race. We are proud of the fact that Gov. Beckham is too clean a man to ever find favor and support from such depraved wretches as these four men.—Benton Tribune Democrat.

A few little one by six blatherskites are endeavoring to make political capital for Stanley by saying that the republicans of the state are for Beckham, that they want to see him nominated because they can defeat him in the November election. Rot! Why, the stench smells to the skies. To a dead moral certainty if Stanley is the nominee there is not less than 50,000 democrats who are church-going, God-fearing citizens who will refuse to swallow him in the November election, this record on the liquor question standing in the face. Better make the nomination of a candidate for the senate a calling that is an election sure, and this can only be accomplished by making Mr. Beckham the nominee at the August primary.

We stand corrected. Information comes to us that I. G. W. Aycock, calls us to law in regard to his connection with the Murray Concrete Plant, stating that he severed his connection with the firm some year or more ago. Corrected we are, and in the future we will state facts and say, "I. G. W. Aycock, formerly of the Murray Concrete Plant." The Ledger desires to treat all persons with due respect and courtesy, and we know that the irksome task of conducting a county campaign for the whiskey trust candidate for the senate is a real big thing for I. G. W. Aycock.

"He is a candidate of the machine wing of his party. Every State officer and every hireling in a State office as a Beckham supporter."—Grant County Times.

Here's a fellow gone stark mad. Say, sonny, come down here in Calloway and watch this bunch of $10,000 per year appointees and see who they are supporting. Why, even our Bro. Beale, a $600 per appointee, is absolutely tearing his shirt for the amiable old gentleman "with hair as black as the raven's wing." You're bug house, got the wrong sow by the ear. Turn loose, dad burn you right now.

The extreme heat of the past several weeks has had a rather depressing effect upon our handsome friend, Bud Cross, editor of the Benton-Tribune-Democrat, judging from several editorials contained in his paper of last week. Bud leaves the impression that Marshall county is the home of an animal whose parentage on the maternal side of the house lived mostly in the back yard chained to a stob and fought flies and fleas with a rear pedal extremity. Take a little ice water. Bud, and cool down a degree or more.

Intense heat and continued drought over most of Kentucky are damaging the crops severely. At Henderson the sun started two fires when boxes of matches in store windows were ignited by its rays.

"Meets Death Under Assumed Name," is a headline in the Louisville Times. Pray, what was death calling himself when you met him?

HAPPY MOTHERHOOD

The happiness of motherhood is too often checked because the mother's strength is not equal to her cares, while her unselfish devotion neglects her own health. It is a duty of a husband and friend to see that she gets the pure medicinal nourishment in Scott's Emulsion, which is not a drug or stimulant, but nature's concentrated oil-food tonic to enrich and invigorate the blood, strengthen the nerves and aid the appetite. Physicians everywhere prescribe Scott's Emulsion for overworked, nervous, tired women; it builds up and holds up their strength. Get Scott's at your nearest drug store.

Health, Wealth and Sunshine LOOK AND LIVE

Once your hand to the plow, look not back.
Save time and do not read more of this article UNLESS you possess some grey matter and can understand TRUTH and her teachings. POVERTY and sickness; the reasons why.

READ ON:

No one question is attracting so much attention throughout the civilized world today as the question of POVERTY. Its causes are being sought for by earnest thinking people everywhere. Much of our current literature deals with it in one phase or another. The great charitable organizations are devoting more and more time and effort to the discovery of the cause of such widespread poverty as exists today. This search and inquiry is being pressed even in the pulpit, which, by the way, should have been first instead of last to take up the question. It is well known to all who have taken the trouble to investigate that upwards of TEN MILLIONS of people under the stars and bars of these United States through no fault of theirs are in hopeless poverty. Out of work, out of health—out of heart with the world. Broken driftwood, vagrants, tramps—and to this number must be added a still larger number, who though able to procure the bare necessities are constantly on the ragged edge in fear of poverty.

Those who produce the wealth do not get it. The girls whose deft fingers make the costly laces costly laces do not wear them; the women who weave the silks and satins do not wear them. The families of the men who dig the coal often suffer for the lack of fuel. Those who feed and clothe the world often feel the pangs of hunger and lack necessary raiment. The wives and daughters of the men who dive for pearls and risk their lives in diamond mines wear no jewels. If you are in a large city and wish to take a look at the poor, go where dwell the workers, and there you will find the ragged wives and children of the men who do the world's work. But if in search of the rich, go to the dwelling places of those who do not work, and there you will find them surrounded by every comfort and luxury.

The Roman Empire sank when eighteen hundred men owned all the wealth. When Egypt went down two per cent. of her people owned ninety-seven per cent. of her wealth.

The word, "property," as currently and legally understood, includes LAND and wealth. Land the work of God and wealth the work of man.

WHERE IS THE ALTERNATIVE?

Answered, as I see it:

LOOK AND LIVE: HOW?

By the exercising of one's own brain, 4-thought. Catching the good ship of OPPORTUNITY and riding her waves to prosperity, health and happiness. Then you have not only lived to enjoy all, but BEST of all, in the evening of your sunset, you have within your gift something of this world's goods left to and for society.

MANUEL NEAR A DIVORCE?

A Paris dispatch says that although the repeated rumors of a divorce between the deposed King Manuel of Portugal and his German princess lack confirmation, friends of the family in Paris say that their affairs have reached an acute stage. Manuel and his wife have never understood each other, and in spite of praiseworthy efforts on the part of both to arrive at an honorable arrangement of their life, they never have succeeded in bridging the gulf which opened between them immediately after their marriage.

The marriage was an idyl. Queen Amelia looked upon the daughter of her old friend, the prince of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen, as the ideal wife for her son, possessing all those qualities which were lacking in his character. The little princess had a will of her own, and was not devoid of ambition. Might she not be the means of bringing Manuel back to the throne? Such a role, however, demanded, first of all, experience, and in this the princess was totally lacking.

She found that Manuel was a careless, easy-going, almost irresponsible youth, irresolute, but yet capable of sudden and unforeseen obstinacy. He on his side saw in her a narrow-minded authoritative young person, with ideas which appeared to him out-of-date and provincial—a passion for house-keeping and other domestic virtues which fell in neither with his tastes nor his requirements. Under these circumstances a quarrel was inevitable.

Queen Amelia and the intimates of the two families are doing their best to smooth away the differences between the young couple, but they are not optimistic.

COPIES UNITED STATES STYLES FOR HOME

King Christian of Denmark has decided that the newest of his numerous residences shall be furnished in American style in every detail. The style he has selected to copy is that of the simple and efficient equipment of the average American home. He has long been an admirer of the American arts and conveniences of home-making and he has insisted that his new house, which is situated on the Skov, will lack none of them.

The excuse for so many residences as King Christian has in so small a country as Denmark is his fondness of keeping in touch with his people, which, he maintains, he cannot do better than by living everywhere.

Recently on a visit to Naskov the king was attracted by a delicious apple pie displayed in a shop window. He went inside to the shop. Later the shop woman brought some cake for a small boy the king. He promptly hung out a sign announcing that her shop purveyed to the royal family of Denmark.

NEW SENATOR FROM KENTUCKY

Johnson N. Camden of Versailles, Ky., recently appointed by Governor McCreary to fill the seat of the late Senator Bradley until a successor can be elected at the November election, was sworn in at Washington a few days ago. He has not announced his candidacy for the unexpired term of Mr. Bradley, which would end next March, but his friends are pointing out that his appointment would mean little to him if he does not enter the race for the primary nomination.

Mr. Camden decides to run for the short term, which is probable, his friends say he will have the best chance of winning.

Mr. Camden is not a stranger to Washington. His father, Johnson N. Camden, served in the senate from 1881 to 1887, and in 1893 was elected to fill the seat made vacant by the death of Senator Keena, serving until 1895. The newly-appointed senator during the residence of his father in Washington attended the Virginia Military Institute.

HINDU POTENTATE TO VISIT AMERICA

It is not at all unlikely that the Maharajah of Kapurthala will be among the distinguished foreigners who will visit America next year to attend the Panama exposition, so says recent gossip in Paris, where this magnificent "prince of princes" is as well known as a figure in the Parisian set as Andre Fougere himself. Both are exquisites, and it was the Parisian arbiter who went to India three years ago, on the occasion of the wedding of the eldest son of the Maharajah, to lead and arrange the cotillion; for, as an international chandelier on good taste declaration, "no ballroom in France is considered complete without the presence of M. Fougere," and the Maharajah, who made this occasion like a dream of the Arabian Nights, really had Paris transported to Kapurthala.

It will not be the first visit of the Maharajah to this side of the Atlantic. He was the guest of Mrs. O. L. Belmont and other powerful social leaders. He was unquestionably the fashion. Polished, and with the poise and cleverness of the ideal man of the world, he made a most agreeable impression. Indeed, some of the women who recall the graces of the young Hindu potentate declare he was "simply fascinating."

GROWLERS ARE HAPPY

HOW THE BRITISHER GETS HIS GREATEST SATISFACTION.

Writer Probes Mysteries of Numerous Complaints—Safety Valves for Disgruntled Found in Newspapers, Public Offices, Etc.

Just as the proverbial old lady was never happy unless she was miserable, so the average Britisher extracts his greatest satisfaction from a downright honest growl, says a writer in London.

No one can justifiably call us a nation of grumblers, and yet on every hand we hear complaints, loud and penetrating. It is our right and prerogative to growl, and growl we do, as a kind of habit.

The baby grows because its clothes are too tight or its bottle not up to the schedule time in its appearance. The child grows because bedtime arrives too soon. Schoolboys and schoolgirls are inseparable from growls, and the adult wades cheerily through a perfect sea of them. Old age, again, is only too frequently typified from being grumbly to end as one reverberating grumble.

In the curious psychology of the human race there is not to equal the joy of a growl well aired. You feel terribly angry because the 5:05 train from the city to you has been run late for nearly a week, and you write a stinging, virulent, scorching, crushing letter to the manager of the particular railway company entangled in your wrath. All the time you know full well that the manager keeps a kind of tame, shell-shocked, armor-plated assistant who will contentedly post you a cold acknowledgment and drop your complaint into the waste paper basket. You understand all this quite clearly, and yet you are satisfied, for the writing of that virulent letter has put you right with yourself.

Growls are just safety valves for over-pressed feelings. Picture the old lady who writes a frantic letter to the local newspaper about the paucity of policemen in her quarter, suburban backwater. Seeing her flaming words in the majesty of print, she marshals each paragraph as an imaginary consoling guardian of her life and property. Her efforts have brought her both joy and security, but were she to analyze the matter she would realize that she has merely flattered herself into the belief that her mighty relative has set in motion the police of the county, while, as a matter of fact, no one takes any notice.

Of all the vast army of growlers, the farmer is surely the worst offender. He complains if the sun is not shining in one field, rain falling in another, and gentle, drying breezes are not blowing in a third—all simultaneous. And after the farmer, commend me to the amateur gardener. Public officials, were they not thick-skinned, would all be made subjects for the lunacy commissioners by the frequency with which growls rain upon them. Editors of all classes of papers come in for many grumblers, and the reverend gentlemen who act as our spiritual advisers get more than their share of circulating complaint.

Everybody, from the belated errand boy with the groceries to the most voluble politician, earns approbrium from someone, and the people who growl most are usually those who are happiest for their pent-up feelings have full play and outlet.

The man who thinks he is marrying an angel in disguise occasionally discovers, later that the alleged disguise was permanent.

AWOKE THE HUNTER INSTINCT

Alert Traveler Evidently Imagined Providence Had Thrown "Game" Within His Reach.

Gilbert Parker, the English author, tells of an English gentleman who recently came to this country to visit some friends in California. "In common with most travelers he supposed that state, so he carried with him the necessary guns and ammunition.

"As his train neared San Bernardino—just before making the mountain climb—there was a delay. Several hours passed, and still the train remained stationary; and our traveler friend grew restive, and sought the porter of the Pullman car to ascertain the cause of the delay.

"It seems that in mounting the grade a freight train had broken apart, the rear portion having descended the grade and blocked the track. The porter informed him of the accident to the freight train, and said: 'There is a caboose on the track.'

"Immediately the 'hunter' instinct was awakened, hastening to his berth, he procured his gun and started for the door, saying: 'Show it to me! Show it to me!'

A Fish Story.

"The Inns of dear old England are picturesque," said Richard Le Gallienne, on his return from abroad, "but the food they serve is something terrible.

"After a visit to Blenheim palace I entered an inn in the quiet village of Woodstock. As I lunched—or tried to lunch—my landlord said to me: 'The great cook of Marlborough once sat in that chair you're a settin' in, sir.'

"Is that so?" said I.

"And the duck once drunk 'is beer out of that same mug you're a drinkin' out of."

"And I bet," said I, "I bet he refused to eat this fish, too. Well, take it away, my man. I don't want it, either."

An Apposite Choice.

Bishop Evans Tyree at a dinner in Nashville was asked if he had any idea of preaching on the new fashions—the backless evening gown, slashed skirt and so forth.

"No," said the bishop, "such an idea has not occurred to me. If, however, I should preach on the new fashions I would assuredly choose my text from Revelation."

DON'T SUFFER WITH ITCHING

My, what relief!—The moment resitol ointment touches any itching skin, the itching stops, and healing begins. It removes all trace of eczema, rash, tetter, ringworm, pimples or other ugly, tormenting eruption, and leaves the skin clear and healthy. It is equally effective for sunburn, insect bites, sores, boils, burns, rough hands, dandruff and falling hair.

You need never hesitate to use resitol. It is a doctor's prescription that has been used by other physicians for the past 19 years in the treatment of most sorts of skin affections. Unlike many other remedies, it contains absolutely nothing that could injure the tenderest skin. Resitol ointment and resitol soap are sold by all druggists. Look out for worthless imitations—Adv.

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich.—"I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and more, and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway.' So I took it for three months and got well and strong."—Mrs. ALONZO E. BAKER, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

Not Well Enough to Work.

In these words is hidden the tragedy of many a woman, housekeeper or wage earner who supports herself and is often helping to support a family, on meagre wages. Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chase & Fletcher. Castoria moves the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chase & Fletcher.

RISKY CALOMEL

Here is a vegetable tonic that is far better for you to take than the dangerous drug and poison called calomel. You never can tell when calomel is going to "get you." That's the worst thing about taking so uncertain and dangerous a drug for constipation and liver trouble. Calomel is liable to salivate you or "knock you out" for at least a day the very next time you try it.

Dale & Stubblefield have the mild vegetable remedy that successfully takes the place of calomel. This remedy is Dodson's Liver Tonic, a very pleasant tasting liquid that gives quick but gentle relief from constipation, torpid or "lazy" liver.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is fully guaranteed, and if you buy a large bottle for fifty cents and it does not entirely satisfy you, the drug store where you bought it will promptly give you your money back with a smile.

Dodson's is fine for both children and grown people.

Increase in School Per Capita Assured

Frankfort, Ky., July 8.—An increase in the school per capita is assured this year, although the amount has not been fixed by State Superintendent Barksdale Hamlett, who is awaiting information as to the estimated revenues for the schools, which will be fourth coming in a few days. The per capita last year was $4, which means that the state school fund was distributed among the counties and cities in the proportion of $4 for each child of school age.

The census reports for 1914, with two cities missing and two counties approximated, showed an increase over 1913 of 6,237, but does not come up to the highwater mark of 1912, when the returns showed a total scholastic population in the state of 730,359. This was cut down the next year by a careful supervision of the census to prevent names from going on the lists erroneously. The total census for 1914 contained 727,370 names of children of school age, of whom 590,113 live in rural districts and 137,257 in cities of the first four classes. There are 537,432 white children in the country and 52,581 colored. In the cities there are 111,546 white children and 26,211 colored.

The increase in the census is accounted for by the normal growth of the mining counties both in Eastern and Western Kentucky.
