TWO DROPPED

Rev. H. O. Hofstead is Convicted and Suspended One Year.— Rev. McCamey Resigns.

Paris, Tenn., Nov. 9. — Two ministers' names were dropped from the roll of the Methodist conference, Memphis district, at the closing of the sessions today. The Rev. H. O. Hofstead, pastor of the Second Methodist Church, Memphis was suspended for one year and will appeal his case to the general conference.

When the name of the Rev. H. L. McCamey of the Camden circuit of the Lexington district was called, he being absent, the presiding elder, Rev. J. V. Freeman, reported that in order to prevent charges being preferred against him, Rev. McCamey had surrendered his credentials.

In the case of Rev. Hofstead the charges were immorality. It is not known what the charges were to have been against the other minister.

The Hofstead appeal will be handled by a committee headed by the bishop of the conference nearest Memphis. Bishop W. B. Murrah of the Memphis conference being ineligible, as the case originated within his conference.

The verdict of the jury was read by the Rev. P. G. Lowry, secretary of the jury. The findings were unanimous, it was stated.

Two of the charges against Rev. Hofstead were drunkenness and profanity. A third and more serious charge was not made public.

This afternoon, following the reading of the appointments for the coming year, the seventy-fifth annual session of the Methodist Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, came to a successful termination.

Trenton, Tenn., was unanimously selected as the meeting place of the conference for 1915.

This, the last day's session, was one of the most important of the entire conference, and much business of great moment was transacted. The disposition of the Memphis Conference Female Institute was definitely decided upon and was not turned back to the city of Jackson, where it is located, as was expected.

The subject of the Vanderbilt University came up and the conference in a measure turned a cold shoulder to the invitation, refusing to endorse it or recommend that young Methodists attend this institution of learning. Further, they unqualifiedly endorsed the new Methodist College in Atlanta, urging the people to give it their patronage and unqualified support.

WILL BE SAFE

Great Britain Gives United States Assurance of No Interference of Tobacco Shipments.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Great Britain today gave the United States officials assurances that shipments of tobacco in neutral bottoms destined to any country in Europe would not be interfered with.

The State Department made the following announcement: "The Department of State has received the assurance of the British Ambassador that the British Government has not placed tobacco on the contraband lists, so far as he is advised, and that the British Government has no intention of interfering with shipments of that commodity in neutral bottoms to any countries in Europe."

Recently Senator James, of Kentucky, asked the department to obtain a definition of Britain's attitude. Tobacco raisers were uncertain as to what would become of their shipments on the high seas.

The Courier-Journal of recent date says:

Money conditions will be bettered and the tobacco situation in Kentucky will be restored far toward normal, according to local tobacco men, if Great Britain lives up to the official assurance given the State Department at Washington that tobacco in neutral bottoms, destined to any European country, will not meet with interference. An immediate relief, it is declared, will be the effect of congestion caused by the storage in Louisville warehouses of large consignments of the old dark product which already have been sold to Germany and which have been held up since the outbreak of the war.

Brown C. Crawford, secretary of the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company, said if Great Britain carried out her promise, as indicated by news dispatches, much improvement could be expected.

"The money situation would be helped too," said Mr. Crawford, "as the money for the dark tobacco would be paid before the consignments were shipped. Of course, as long as the war lasts, we do not expect a full restoration of normal conditions. Another phase of the situation is that, since the outbreak of the war, there has been a shortage of vessels and the insurance rate on overseas transportation has been abnormally high."

Mr. Crawford pointed out that a large part of the dark tobacco crop had been sold to European countries, and that some shipments had been made to Italy and France. However, he said the large undelivered consignments for Germany had caused a congestion which the newly defined attitude of Great Britain promised to relieve.

Belcher-Bellenger.

Miss Pearl Belcher, of Almo, Ky., and Mr. Elsworth E. Bellenger, of this city, were married Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the parlors of the Palmer House. The Rev. S. E. Tull of the First Baptist church performed the ceremony, which was witnessed only by relatives and a few most intimate friends. The bride is a daughter of J. A. Belcher, a prominent tobacco-nist of Almo. She is a young woman of attractive personality and charming grace of manner, and with an especially wide friendship circle.

Mr. Bellenger, who is from Michigan, has made many friends since coming to Paducah about six months ago to become floor manager for S. S. Kresge & Company. Mr. and Mrs. Bellenger will make their home in this city at 327 South Fourth street.—Paducah News-Democrat.

Despondency Due to Indigestion.

It is not at all surprising that persons who have indigestion become discouraged and despondent. Here are a few words of hope and cheer for them by Mrs. Blanche Bowers, Indiana, Pa. "For years my digestion was so poor that I could only eat the lightest foods. I tried everything that I heard of to get relief, but not until about a year ago when I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and got a bottle of them, did I find the right treatment. I soon began to improve, and since taking a few bottles of them my digestion is fine." For sale by all dealers.

Come, let us make this the best association of the season.

Remarkable Cure of Croup.

"Last winter when my little boy had croup I got him a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I honestly believe it saved his life," writes Mrs. J. B. Cook Indiana, Pa. "It cut the phlegm and relieved his coughing spells. I am most grateful for what this remedy has done for him." For sale by all dealers.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express to our many neighbors and friends and physician our thanks for their help and kindness shown us during the long illness and death of our darling baby girl. May God bless and be with all of you in our prayer.—Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Story.

MAKES STATEMENT

Concerning the Planters' Protective Association, New Pricing Contract, Condition Favorable

As the season approaches for the marketing of tobacco many inquiries of the officials of the Planters' Protective Association as to its probable course with regard thereto.

The new pricing contracts are in the hands of the printer and will be ready for distribution next week. The county committees are advised to award them only to skillful prizers. There has not at any time been doubt in the minds or purpose of the management of the association that it would operate during 1914-15 season, although as is well understood an overwhelming percent of its product is for export and that therefore the great European war which has so seriously obstructed the financial and transportation business of the world has for a time proven a complete hindrance to its successful operation. So much so that the management considered it but fair to three year pledgers to release them if they so desired and to give them an opportunity for re-enlistment under changed conditions. At the same time it was so perfect-evident that if new or increased complications appeared to menace a successful marketing of tobacco the splendid system with the association's experience could do more to make successful sales than could individuals. Happily it appears market conditions present a somewhat more favorable aspect. The association has never offered a guarantee or even a verbal assurance to a grower as to what price might be obtained for tobacco. No inducement whatever has been offered him other than to say there is much in concerted action and that its management is alert, thoughtful investigation and would do the best for him opportunities permitted.

This is the only inducement it has now or probably will ever have to offer. But in consideration of this it is with pleasurable pride it refers to two facts. The first of these is that throughout the ten years of its existence often with seeming insurmountable obstacles and fierce opposition it has doubled the price of tobacco while the conduct of its business has been remarkably, clean especially in view of its magnitude. The next is to relate the circumstances of the Virginia dark tobacco growers once uniting with our association and soon thereafter severing such connection for the reason that Virginia tobacco had theretofore commanded a price quite two cents per pound above that of the Kentucky and Tennessee tobaccos, which condition our Virginia friends thought should prevail throughout the existence of the connection. To this we at this end could not consent unless Virginia's representatives would agree that its tobacco be marked Virginia and a buyer be given the option of taking it in preference to Kentucky and Tennessee tobaccos at two cents per pound advance on whatever grade. The Virginians viewed this as discrimination against their tobacco and the connection was severed. We separated good friends, entertaining the highest regards for each other the Kentucky and Tennessee end of the association having borne the entire expense of the effort to make Virginia a part of the organization. When the connection was severed Virginia was and has since been unorganized, the result of which is its tobacco of dark grades has emphatically sold for two cents per pound less than Kentucky and Tennessee tobacco.

So much for our organization and its concerted course. Just another word now suggesting a pertinent idea. If there is anything whatever in the theory of concerted action with officials and employees trained to a point of high efficiency with members clinging loyally and tenaciously to an agency which has positively proven a Godsend in the recent past it would seem a traversery to dissolve such an agency at the most critical period of its existence. The association is standing perfectly erect and in full feather, but one thing more being necessary to enable it to cope with any circumstances of the tobacco market, which is greater support on the part of growers themselves, the intended beneficiaries. If the association is not a splendid and continuous success it will only be because of the absence of such support. Prizers, warehousemen, inspectors, salesmen, auditors and officials of the association generally have performed a service which the growers interest should ever be grateful for.

Yours truly,
F. G. Ewing, Gen. Mgr.

Free Seed Distribution

Washington, Nov. 9. — All is ready for starting the annual distribution of free seeds which members of Congress send to their constituents to the number of 75,000,000 packages a year. While the actual work of sending out the seeds does not start until next month, active preparation for the work is well under way, and big warehouses are loaded awaiting the packing.

In the work of sending out the seeds this year, a battery of 24 of the largest packing machines will be in almost constant use for three months. Every machine has an output of 20,000 to 35,000 packages in each eight hours.

During the busy season 180 people will be employed in the work of filling the envelopes, handling the seed shipments, pasting on the addressed slips, etc. Uncle Sam spends some $260,000 on this free seed distribution. In addition to this the Department of Agriculture makes its own distribution of rare seeds.

Although many attempts have been made to abolish the free seed distribution none has succeeded. Each year either the Senate or the House usually votes to knock out the free seed appropriation, but when the agricultural appropriation bill goes to conference the conferees restore the item.

Mrs. W. C. Sellers, of Memphis, was in the city the past week the guest of her brothers, Joe and R. T. Farley.

RUSSIANS ATTACK PRUSSIAN BORDER

RUSSIANS TAKE OFFENSIVE IN THE FOREST OF ROMINTEN.
MINOR ENGAGEMENTS.

ADVANCE BEYOND VISTULA

Petrograd Claims to Have Captured
Men and Guns in Fighting Near Cracow—Germans Heavily Entrenched at Sieradz.

Petrograd.—The Russian general staff has issued the following:
"On the East Prussian front the Russian troops are developing with success an offensive in the region of the Forest of Rominten and Lyck (East Prussia)."

"The German rear guard was dislodged by us from Mlawo on Nov. 4, suffering great losses."
"Beyond the Vistula the enemy continues to fall back. A German column passed through Czenstochowa, Russian Poland, moving west."

"Minor engagements have occurred near Warta and on the road from Andzjew to Meczow, near Mierzawa. In Galicath, Austrians in their retreat left behind them many soldiers ill with cholera at Jaroslaw, Przeworsk and villages on the San."

The left wing of the Russian army, in engagements taking place on the front in the vicinity of Cracow, took 274 officers and 18,500 men of the enemy.

In addition to these prisoners the Russian forces captured three howitzers, 40 pieces of artillery, 38 rapid fire guns and a large quantity of material for the manufacture of cartridges.

Russian forces are attacking the German position at Sieradz, on the Warthe river in Russian Poland, south-east of Valtz and about 15 miles east of the German border, according to information reaching Petrograd.

This engagement marks the beginning of the Russian advance against the fortified German positions on Russian soil.

The Germans are heavily entrenched at Sieradz, and appeared determined to dispute the crossing of the River Warthe.

BOTH ARMIES RE-ENFORCED

Dingdong Fighting Continues in Belgium—Germans Are Concentrated Around Ypres.

London.—In the west of the allied lines the dingdong fighting continues. The Belgians, who hold the lines along the coast, are being given a comparative rest after their three months of almost continuous fighting. The Germans still are concentrating around Ypres, where they are trying to hack their way through the Anglo-French troops to the coast.

Both sides claim to have made progress here, the Anglo-French forces southeast of the town and the Germans southwest. Correspondents in the rear of the armies say the fighting has not appreciably lessened and that both sides are using a tremendous weight of artillery in an endeavor to clear the ground for an infantry advance.

Both armies are being re-enforced. It seems to be realized that the Germans cannot proceed farther west because of the co-operation of the warships with the land forces and that a route either here or farther south must be found if the Germans are to attain their ambition of reaching the French coast.

INDIAN FORCE IN TURKEY

Landing at Fao Was Covered by Sloop
Odin—Turkish Guns Silenced.

London.—The admiralty announces the occupation of Fao, a port of Asiatic Turkey, at the mouth of the River Shatt-el-Arab, in the Persian gulf.

A military force from India, covered by the sloop Odin, landed with a naval detachment, after the Turkish guns had been silenced, according to the announcement. There were no British casualties.

Fao is the terminus of the submarine telegraph to India.

A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company from Amsterdam brings the following statement by the Turkish army headquarters, received from Constantinople by way of Berlin:

"The Russian army showed no activity."
"The Russian fleet bombarded the Black Sea ports Zennidrak and Kuzlu for two hours. At Kuzlu the Greek steamer Nikos was sunk. At Zennidrak the French church and consulate were destroyed."

In Touch with Enemy.
London.—The following official report from Turkish headquarters at Constantinople was received here:

"On the eastern frontier our troops are in touch with the enemy along the entire front."

Consul Hamm Dies.
Washington.—United States Consul Theodore Cushing Hamm died from smallpox at his post in Durango, Mexico. During the recent Mexican trouble Consul Hamm was active in protecting American interests.

SIR GEORGE PAISH

Sir George Paish, representing the treasury of Great Britain, who is in this country for the purpose of exchanging ideas with the federal reserve board and the administration of the bank and the method of establishing a basis of exchange between Great Britain and the United States.

APOLOGY NOT ACCEPTED

Turkey Has Definitely Severed Relations With Powers—Arabian Port Is Attacked by British.

London.—The British cruiser Milner has bombarded the Arabian town of Diddah (Jiddah) on the Red Sea.

Turkey has definitely broken off diplomatic relations with Great Britain, France, Russia and Serbia. Her diplomatic representatives in the capitals of these countries, acting on orders from the porte, demanded and received their passports.

Although no statement to this effect has been given out, it is understood Turkey's apology for the action of her fleet in bombarding Russian Black Sea ports and Russian ships was unacceptable to the triple entente powers in that Turkey was not prepared to accede to a demand that German officers in her service be dismissed and the ships purchased from Germany dismantled.

Now that Turkey has aligned herself among the nations at war, speculation is rife as to what the other Balkan powers will do. Greece is said to be preparing to take sides with the allies, while Bulgaria has given assurances of neutrality. Bulgaria, however, is mobilizing, for, as a Bulgarian diplomat said, "with Turkey in the area of the war, Bulgaria must be prepared for any eventualities."

GERMAN WEDGE IS HELD

French, By Counter Attack, Have Repulsed Advance—Attribute Check to Inundations.

Paris.—By a furious counter-attack the French center army wrecked the German wedge which was being driven at a point to the east of Vailly on the Aisne.

The important position of Laferme-de-Metz, occupied by the Germans several days ago, was recaptured by the French who cut the Germans to pieces with their quick-fire guns, raked them with artillery fire and charged them with cold steel, inflicting heavy losses.

The German attacks had become so furious that the French forces, who occupied advanced positions on the slopes of the plateau to the north of the villages of Chavonne and Soupir were compelled to withdraw to the valley, but those at Amont were able to resist successfully, maintaining their position in the face of terrific cannonading and rifle fire.

Two British Vessels Sunk
Germans Sink Two Warships Off Coronel, Chile—Glasgow Takes Refuge in Harbor.

Valparaiso, Chile.—The German cruisers Gieseler, Scharnhorst, Nürnberg, Leipzig and Dresden attacked the British fleet off Coronel, Chile. The British cruiser Monmouth was sunk. The cruiser Goodhope was very badly damaged and was on fire and is supposed to have been lost.

The British cruiser Glasgow took refuge in the harbor of Coronel and is now bottled up. The cruiser is reported to have been badly damaged.

The German cruisers Scharnhorst, Nürnberg and Gieseler anchored in Valparaiso harbor, unharmed.

Czar Makes Statement.
London.—A dispatch from Moscow to Reuters Telegram Company says that Emperor Nicholas said: "Peace only is possible when Russia reaches the heart of German soil. This is the unanimous opinion of all Muscovites."

Austrian Claims.
Manchester.—The Austro-Hungarian ambassador, Dr. K. T. Dumba, says: "On the River San the Russians had great losses. At Roseau and through Stary Sambor, 800 Russians and three machine guns were captured."

JAPANESE CAPTURE TSING-TAU FORTS

INFANTRY CHARGES FEATURE OF
FINAL ATTACK ON GERMAN
FORT—DETAILS SECRET.

RESISTED FOR 3 MONTHS

Garrison of 7,000 Men Held Strongly
Fortified Position—Every Weapon Known to Warfare Used by the Allies.

Tokyo.—It is officially announced that the fortress of Tsing-Tau has surrendered to the Japanese and British. It is officially announced also that the first step in bringing about the surrender of the fortress occurred at midnight, when the infantry charged and occupied the middle fort of the line of defense. In this operation they took 200 prisoners.

The Germans hoisted the white flag at the weather observation bureau of Tsing-Tau.

The quick capitulation of the Germans was the cause of much surprise and joy to the men of the army and navy operating against it and also to the people of Tokyo.

The charge against the middle fort was a brilliant one.

It was led by Gen. Yoshimi Yamada at the head of companies of infantry and engineers.

The number of the German and Japanese losses, which were large, have not been announced.

The fall of Tsing-Tau ends the most picturesque of the minor phases of the great world war now raging.

On two continents and in many islands of the seas where colonies of the warring nations were planted, combats of more or less interest have taken place, garrisons have been captured and towns occupied peacefully, but in the little German concession on the south side of the Shanghai peninsula of China there has been going on since late in August a reduced scale of war that from all accounts has duplicated nearly all features of those battles in Europe that have resulted in the capture of fortified positions.

The capture of Tsing-Tau loses to Germany her last foot of possessions on the Asiatic mainland, as well as her last strategic position outside of the German empire in Europe. For nearly three months the little German garrison of about 7,000 men and nearly wholly composed of reservists in China, has held out against the land and sea attacks of the Japanese, of certain British detachments of both white and Indian troops that found themselves in China at the outbreak of the war. What the losses of the garrison have been are not known, but the official Japanese and British reports indicate that Tsing-Tau has been taken at heavy cost of men on the part of the allies.

BORDER CLASHES REPORTED

Bottle Up Turkish Fleet in Bosphorus.
Russians Stand Guard at the Entrance.

London.—Developments on land and sea and in the diplomatic situation rolled up, cementing Turkey firmly in her warlike position.

Russian admiralty announced officially that the Turkish fleet has been driven from the Black Sea and is now effectively bottled up in the Bosphorus with the Russian Black Sea fleet standing guard at the entrance.

On the Caucasian frontier Turkey is stated to have massed 100,000 troops, including 25,000 cavalry and over 100 batteries of artillery, with guns of heavy caliber and newest type. Gen. Sanders Pasha is in command of this army, which, already reported to have taken numerous villages along the frontier. This report comes from an apparently authentic Turkish source.

Teutons Retired 7 Miles from the Vistula—Lodz Has Been Retaken.
Russians Take Sandomir.

Petrograd.—The following official communication has been issued from Russian general headquarters:

"We continue to progress on the East Prussian front. The Germans are falling back along the whole front, only keeping a fortified position in the region of Werbitzow."

"On the left bank of the Vistula the Russian army is continuing its vigorous offensive, pursuing the retreating enemy. The crossing of the San by our troops continues with success. The Austrians are retreating."

"In the Black Sea region no change is reported."

Berlin.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung says:

"The Turks attacked and destroyed a Cossack battalion on the Russo-Turkish frontier near Ordu, and then crossed the frontier, taking up a strong position in Russian territory."

Bombay.—The behavior of Turkey has led to demonstrations of steadfast loyalty to Britain by Mohammedans throughout India which is remarkable. The British Indian army is preparing for the beginning of the war.

GEN. BARON MEYENDORFF

General Meyendorff, one of the leading commanders in the Russian Army, has been decorated with the Legion of the Order of St. George by the czar.

TURKS PREPARE FOR WAR

France Declares War on Turkey.
American Marines Land at Beirut,
Syria, to Protect Christians.

New York.—No marked changes in the battle line in France and Belgium are indicated by the latest official reports. The Germans claim progress at several points in the extreme west, notably near Ypres, where they are trying to break through to reach Calais. The French say there is nothing new to report in the operations north of the River Lys.

Petrograd claims continued successes in East Prussia and south of the Vistula, while Germany says conditions in these regions are unchanged.

Russia still contends that her troops are vigorously defeating the Turks, but the Ottoman government contradicts this and declares its forces are victors in engagements that have occurred.

A Petrograd newspaper says a Turkish army of 90,000 men is on the Caucasian frontier and has occupied many villages. A dispatch from Odessa says 12 German and Turkish colliers have been sunk off the coast of Anatolia. France, following the lead of Great Britain, has declared war on Turkey. Persia has sent a note to the powers announcing that it will maintain strict neutrality in the war. The Spanish premier also says that Spain will not become embroiled.

American marines are said to have landed in Beirut, Syria, to protect the Christian population.

According to a Rotterdam dispatch, the people of Ostend have been warned to take to their cellars with five days' food supply.

SAY RUSSIA WAS AGGRESSOR
English Note Claimed to Show Fear of Turkey Cutting Off Commerce
Is Result of Mines.

Berlin.—Information was given out to the press from official quarters as follows:

"The first encounters on the Turkish waters. This fact proves the hostile intentions of Russia."

"The Gazette del Popolo says that the present treatment of Germans in England is a policy open to question, as numerous English industries are conducted by Germans who would be difficult to replace."

"The note of Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, denouncing Turkey, handed to the Italian government by the British ambassador, has created in Italian political circles an impression unfavorable to England, as it shows England's fear of Turkey."

"Great Britain's denunciation of the principles of the declaration of London, it was announced in German official circles, probably will be followed by Germany."

"An inspired dispatch from Berlin, printed in the Cologne-Gazette, commenting on this question, says that newspaper reports of England's action have not been confirmed officially, but that if they are true Germany will adopt a similar policy towards England."

Allied Ships Seized.
London.—In a dispatch from Athens, the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company says the authorities of Smyrna, in Asiatic Turkey, confiscated all the British, French, Belgian and Russian steamers lying in the port.

Persia Demands Recall.
Berlin.—A dispatch from Copenhagen, according to information given out in Berlin, says the Danish minister to Petrograd has demanded the immediate recall of the Russian forces of occupation in Persia.

Dardanelles Not Hurt.
Berlin.—British warships, says an official announcement, issued here, bombarded the Turkish port of Akaba and attempted a landing. The force, it is estimated, was losing four men.

GOVERNOR MCCRERY SETS
APART NOVEMBER 26 AS THE DAY TO GIVE THANKS.

PROSPERITY, ABUNDANT CROPS

"While War Has Desolated and Devastated Many Nations We Have Had Peace."

(Special Frankfort Correspondence.)
Frankfort.—Gov. McCreary issued his Thanksgiving proclamation:
"To the people of Kentucky:
"It is proper that we should turn to a stated time in each year, in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings to the people of Kentucky."

"The year now drawing to a close has been conspicuous for manifestations of His kind and beneficent dispensations."

"While war has desolated and devastated many nations, we have enjoyed peace and prosperity, and the divine declaration on earth, peace, good will toward men, has encouraged and made our people happy."

"Our State has had prosperity, abundant harvests, productive industries, law and order, and the glorious heritage of self-government has been maintained and strengthened, and the year has brought a greater degree of achievements and more abundant cause for praise and gratitude to God."

"Wherefore, I, James B. McCreary, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, designate Thursday, November 26, 1914, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and invite all the people of Kentucky to cease their accustomed occupations on that day and give thanks and praise to God for the blessings he has conferred upon us and to humbly beseech a continuance of His mercies."

Big Tree Nursery.
The second big tree nursery will be opened by State Forester J. E. Barton here this fall. Twelve seed beds 4x24 feet in dimensions are being prepared on the farm of the Kentucky Normal and Industrial Institute on the Versailles pike just east of the city, and hickory, walnut and several varieties of oak trees will be planted. The nursery at the first will have a capacity of about 100,000 trees. The nursery at Louisville will be greatly enlarged at once and this fall apple seeds will be planted with the expectation that the seedlings will be ready for budding in the spring. Standard varieties suitable to the soil and climate of Kentucky will be grown. The hardest stock will be budded with the best varieties of fruit. Mr. Barton expects that by spring about 1,000 young trees, particularly black locust, will be ready for distribution at cost from the Louisville nursery.

Quarantine Approved.
The Kentucky Live Stock Sanitary Board has approved the action of J. W. Newman, Commissioner of Agriculture, in establishing a quarantine against live stock importation from Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan, where the foot and mouth disease has broken out. This action was taken at a meeting here. He was authorized to take further steps he may deem necessary to protect Kentucky cattle.

Commissioner Newman is now buying running down the places of delivery of fourteen carloads of cattle received here from Chicago. While the case of the foot and mouth disease has broken out in Kentucky as yet, the commissioner holds it advisable to take every precautionary measure. When an animal contracts the disease he says it should be killed at once.

Reject Commission Farm.
The voters of Frankfort rejected the proposition to adopt the commission farm of government by a majority of 61 against it. The vote was decisive, considering the elements which enter into such an election. Politicians who are out and about to get in for dirty favor any change in the system of government, voters who are dissatisfied with conditions frequently welcome any new plan, and the minor party men always are dependent upon to favor a reform plan.

Yea, all these elements and only 253 of the voters, who participated in the election, failing to register an expression of their opinion on the proposition, it lost.

Heads of the four tickets on the ballot received a total of 1,852 votes while there were 1,437 votes cast on the commission farm proposition, 718 for it and 719 against it.

State Forest Protection.
The timber protection service has been considerably strengthened by the forestry department this year and includes some counties of Western Kentucky, as well as the mountain section. Wardens are on the lookout for poachers and are doing fine work both in fighting fires and in keeping a lookout, as well as in spreading sentiment against careless exposure of woodland to the danger of being set on fire. The first fire of the season was reported from Harlan county.

To Represent Governor.
In response to an invitation from Governor O. B. Colquitt, of Texas, to attend a meeting at Austin of Southern States to consider a uniform plan of regulating freight rates, Governor McCreary has designated Lawrence B. Finn, of Franklin, chairman of the State Railroad Commission, to represent him. The meeting is November 2. Governor McCreary is en route to Alabama in a few days to look after his cotton plantation and will be unable to attend the meeting personally.

The Economic Waste.
Kentucky is now in the throes of a great educational awakening. Progress made in the education of a youth during the past few years has been greater than any other state. Kentucky never enjoyed the benefit of the large sums of money for education which have been bestowed by congress upon the younger states. No land grant was ever made to the state which we love best. Without federal aid our people are united in one mighty effort to improve our public school system and to wipe out adult illiteracy.

A Big Inspiration.

The "Kentucky Arbor and Bird day 1914-1915," annual compiled by Mrs. V. O. Gilbert and issued by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Barkdale Hamlett, inspired a desire to observe this day. Opening with Gov. McCreary's proclamation designating November 6, 1914, as Arbor day and calling on pupils as well as teachers to give more attention than ever before to the observance of the day, and followed by Mr. Hamlett's plea unselfishly to hand down to posterity the great benefits to be derived from forest, shade and fruit trees, there is a complete list of the native trees of the state, comprising twenty-nine different families and 124 varieties. The day was generally observed throughout the state.

A foot note explains that each of these trees is described minutely in the valuable book from which this list was taken, "Native Trees of Kentucky," by Mrs. Sarah Webb Maury. Of the history and origin of the custom of observing Arbor day and its significance and some of the excellent results of the custom, which has been generally observed in this country since 1872, when J. Sterling Morton instituted systematic tree planting in Trevelick Nebraska.

Must Pay For Courthouse.

Reversing the original appeal and affirming on the cross appeal, the appellate court decided that the fiscal court of Wolfe county must pay for the Falls City Construction Co. $5,000, but had no authority to pay an additional $17,750 for the construction of the courthouse. The first contract provided that the courthouse should be constructed to the first floor for $5,000, and the second contract provided that the courthouse should be completed for an additional $17,750.

After the first contract had been completed the court paid to the construction company $3,500, which was a part of the $5,000 insurance collected from the insurance company for the destruction of the old courthouse by fire. The court proposed to issue $22,775 in bonds to cover the additional cost of the construction of the courthouse. James I. Holland, a taxpayer of Wolfe county, filed a suit to restrain the fiscal court from issuing the bonds on the grounds that it would create an indebtedness greater than was allowed by law.

Coal Output Short.
J. W. Reed, assistant state inspector of mines, has returned from an eastern trip, on which he inspected several mines. Because of the present state of the coal market there is very little output of coal by any of the mining companies.

The lake trade, which takes a large per cent of the output of the mines of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland and part of the output of Kentucky, is rapidly falling off because of the season. The mining companies of this state are now relying mostly on the domestic trade, and have cut their output according to the demand which they are expecting. Even though there has been a considerable slump in the coal market, the output in Lexington county is now at between 70,000 and 90,000 tons a month, as compared with 50,000 to 110,000 tons a month last year. The total output of Lexington county is now at between 200,000 tons a month to 100,000 tons, until early spring when the coal market is expected to open up again.

Increase Railroad Assessment.
The total assessment of the taxable property of the railroad in this State is $70,610,812. The assessment is an increase over that of last year which was $69,241,000. The Red River Valley railroad was assessed last year at $8,300, and the Lick River Railroad Co. at $33,000. These two railroads have been torn up and were not assessed this year. The $100,000 worth of property of the Lexington & East Kentucky railroad has been disposed of and was not included in the total assessment. Taking these things into consideration the assessment this year is considerably over that of last year.

The Railroad Commission, in session here, set November 26 as the date for a rehearing in the case of the L. & N. railroad against the Greenbaum Dispersal Co. which is asking that the old rates on grain be restored. In 1910 the commission reduced the rates and the railroad is asking that the old rates be put into effect again.

CALOMEL IS MERCURY, IT SICKENS! STOP USING SALIVATING DRUG

Don't Lose a Day's Work! If Your Liver Is Sluggish or Bowels Constipated Take "Dodson's Liver Tone."—It's Fine!

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated; breath bad; stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel. It makes you sick, you may lose a day's work. Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crumbles into sour bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone. Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick. Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working; you'll be cheerful, full of vigor and ambition.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and cannot salivate. Give it to your children! Millions of people are using Dodson's Liver Tone instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of calomel is almost stopped entirely here.

Adams; and from old and bad cocktails under new and seductive names; and from gift chairs; and from those with loose hair—good Lord, deliver us!—Owen Hlaters in Smart Set.

Lepor Asylum.

The Kwangsi asylum, Korea, has grown from an old tile-ken where the first leper patient was housed five years ago. She had been found on the roadside, almost dead, with worn and bleeding feet, and was taken into the warm tile-ken and fed and taught. Then followed a little wooden building of three rooms which the missionaries paid for from their own pockets. This has been displaced now by a suitable asylum, the gift of the Mission to Lepers. It will care for 100 patients. Doctor Wilson writes: "I am taking them out of the snow every day now, and we shall soon reach the 100 limit."

DRESSING FOR SALADS

EXPERT DESCRIBES THREE OF THE BEST YET INVENTED.

What Is Known as French Dressing Is Perhaps the Most Popular—Economy in Preparing Quantity at a Time.

Tomatoes, lettuce and cucumbers, apples and celery, asparagus, string beans and radishes—all the range of fruits and vegetables—combine in salads in such endless variety that the only law of combination lies in individual taste. Dressings, too, vary, but in them rule must be more nearly followed. These three recipes for salad dressing are given by Miss Cora E. Binzel, instructor in home economics, University of Wisconsin extension division.

French Dressing.—One tablespoonful vinegar, one-quarter teaspoonful onion juice, three tablespoonfuls olive oil, one-eighth teaspoonful pepper, one-quarter teaspoonful salt. Add salt, pepper and onion juice to vinegar. Then add the olive oil, beating until thick and well blended. Use a cold bowl and cold ingredients. The ingredients may be put into a wide-mouthed bottle, corked and shaken until an emulsion is formed. The dressing may be mixed and set in the icebox until chilled; the oil and vinegar will separate on standing and require further beating. Following the correct proportions, French dressing may be made in large amounts, kept in a bottle in the icebox and shaken before using.

Sour Cream Dressing.—One-half pint sour cream, two tablespoonfuls lemon juice, one tablespoonful sugar, one teaspoonful salt, one-quarter teaspoonful mustard, one-quarter teaspoonful pepper. Beat the cream until it is light and thick; add the other ingredients. Sweet cream may be substituted.

Cream Salad Dressing.—Ten egg yolks, one-half cupful butter, one teaspoonful salt, one tablespoonful mustard, one-quarter teaspoonful pepper, one teaspoonful sugar, juice of two lemons or one-quarter cupful vinegar. Melt the butter, cool it, and when scum cream it. Add the beaten yolks mixed with seasonings. Cook over water until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, add lemon juice, and mix with whipped cream as it is used.

The housewife should plan to prepare a quantity of dressing at a time, keeping it in the icebox; and add sweet or sour cream as it is used. Preparing some foods in quantity is economy of time, fuel and energy.

Salmon, Cucumber Sauce.

One can salmon, one-half tablespoonful salt, one-half tablespoonful sugar, one-half tablespoonful flour, one teaspoonful mustard, few grains cayenne, yolks of two eggs, one and one-half tablespoonfuls melted butter, three-fourths cupful milk, one-fourth cupful vinegar, three-fourths tablespoonful granulated sugar, two tablespoonfuls cold water. Remove salmon from tin, rinse thoroughly with hot water and separate in flakes. Mix dry ingredients, add egg yolks, butter, milk and vinegar. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add gelatin soaked in cold water, strain and add to salmon. Stand until set. Serve in individual molds with following sauce: Beat one-half cupful heavy cream until stiff, add pinch salt, pinch pepper and two tablespoonfuls vinegar; then add cucumber, peeled and chopped.

Dark Cake for Thanksgiving.

One cupful molasses, one-half cupful sugar, one-half cupful butter, one cupful milk, three cupfuls flour, two eggs, one-half pound raisins, one-quarter pound citron. Teaspoonful each cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice, one-quarter teaspoonful cloves, three-quarter teaspoonful soda. Bake in a fruit cake tin (large deep tin) two hours with a slow fire.

Spanish Buns.

One and one-fourth pounds of flour, one pound of sugar, half pound of butter, four eggs, a teaspoonful of cream or milk, warmed sufficiently to melt the butter, a tablespoonful of rose water, two of wine, a grated nutmeg. Make into buns and bake.

Sugar Cookies.

To make sugar cookies take three-fourths of a cupful of fat, one cupful sugar, one egg, one-fourth cupful milk, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, two cupfuls flour, one teaspoonful flavoring or spice. Roll thin, sprinkle with sugar, cut out and bake.

Spanish Omelet.

Fry two chopped onions in two table-spoonfuls of butter. When light brown add two chopped green peppers. Next add one quart of tomatoes. Season to taste, and stew until it reaches a pasty consistency. This is sufficient to fry into a six-egg omelet.

Pumpkin Fritters.

One pint of pumpkin, boiled and sifted, one pint of milk, two eggs, one-half teaspoonful salt, pinch of ginger, one teaspoonful molasses, flour to make a batter stiff enough to drop or griddle as for buckwheat.

To Cut Cheese.

To cut cheese into slices for serving, use a stout bread knife instead of a butter knife, as there will be no crumbling or breaking of the slices.

Rev. Pigue Squealed.

Rev. R. H. Pigue, who was assigned to the pastorate of the Methodist church of this city at the Paris conference, has concluded that he had rather go elsewhere, and Rev. J. A. Hassell, who has been serving the church at Hall's, Tenn., and who was assigned by the Paris conference to Munford, Tenn., will come to Murray. Rev. Hassell will preach here next Sunday morning and night. He comes highly recommended as a Christian gentleman and as a splendid preacher and pastor.

After his assignment to Murray Rev. Pigue arrived here Monday night and Tuesday visited the parsonage and stated to church officials that he expected to return to Murray Saturday and would fill the pulpit at the regular Sunday appointment. He returned to his home in Fulton Tuesday at noon and late Tuesday afternoon church officials received information from Presiding Elder Hamilton that Rev. Pigue refused to come to Murray, stating that he would transfer from the Memphis conference before coming here. He never assigned any reason for the decision reached. Rev. Pigue will go to the appointment originally assigned to Rev. Hassell.

Took His Own Life.

"Dook" Russell, one of the most widely known citizens of the east side and a merchant of Pottertown, killed himself Monday morning at about 4 o'clock by cutting his throat with a razor. Mr. Russell arose early Monday morning and stated to his wife that he was going over to the home of Mr. J. M. Thurman and would return in time for breakfast. Failing to return his wife telephoned to Mr. Thurman and being informed that Mr. Russell was not there a search was instituted. A party of searchers first went to the store where they found the lifeless body, with an ugly cut across the throat. Mr. Russell had been very despondent the past several weeks on account of business affairs and this can be the only reason assigned for the terrible deed.

He was about 45 years of age and is survived by a wife and several children, and many other relatives. Funeral services were held at the home Wednesday at 1 o'clock and was one of the most largely attended funerals ever held in the county. Judge Hanberry adjourned court Wednesday morning in order to permit court officials to attend. The burial was under the auspices of the Mason lodge, of which the deceased was a member. He was also a member of the W. O. W. order.

Card of Thanks.

We take this method of expressing our thanks to each of our relatives and friends for their many acts of kindness and words of sympathy during the brief illness and the death of our dear husband and father. May God's blessings rest upon each of you, is our prayer.—Mrs. J. F. Richardson and children.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until a few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by continually failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Best Cough Medicine for Children.

"Three years ago when I was living in Pittsburgh one of my children had a hard cold and coughed dreadfully. Upon the advice of a druggist I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it benefited him at once. I find it the best cough medicine for children because it is pleasant to take. They do not object to taking it," writes Mrs. Lafayette Tuck, Homer City, Pa. This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. Sold by all dealers.

Passing of the Indian.

A few months ago one of the most distinguished tribes of Indians passed out of existence. It merely indicates the fact that in a short while the native of America will be no more.

Under the auspices of the War Department moving pictures have been taken of the Indian as he is today and as nearly like he was in the early days of the pioneer as possible. These pictures will be preserved in order that future generations may have some idea of how the original inhabitants of the United States looked.

The American Indian may be said to no longer exist. A New man has taken his place. When James Fenimore Cooper penned his "Leather Stocking" stories he pictured the Indian in the original. He outlined his characteristics as he was before communications with the white man polluted his nature. It was the greed, the treachery and the firewater of the white man which ruined the Indian.

Inch by inch he was retreated before the advance of civilization, until now only a remnant of the noble race can be found.

The thirteenth census of the United States shows that of the 265,683 persons classed as Indians only 56.5 per cent are full bloods. This means that but few more than half of the so-called Indians in the United States are real Indians. It has been generally considered that many more Indians could be found in this country. Because of intermarriage and because of the increasing death rate among the red men, the race is gradually growing extinct. Some have moved to Mexico and South America. Others have tried to live according to the tribal traditions and have failed.

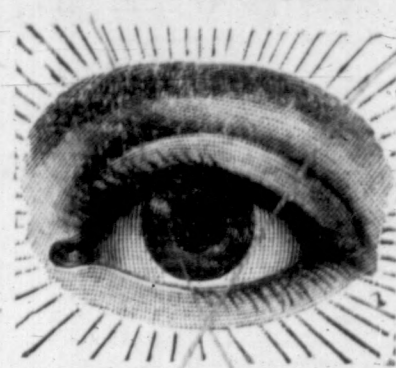

In his original state the Indian was a man of noble qualities. He represented a far truer and better type of manhood than we have today. He may have been a savage, but he was a savage with commendable qualities of honesty, of simplicity and truth. The original American must not be judged by the type of today.

The Indian Columbus found when he discovered America thrived under privation and occasional famines, yet with food and protection, education and other benefits of civilization he is gradually disappearing and will soon be absorbed entirely. The Anglo-Saxon race must Offers Aid to the Belgians.

New York, Nov. 2.—The Rockefeller Foundation has determined to employ its immense resources for the relief of the noncombatants in the countries afflicted by the war and stands ready to give millions of dollars, if necessary, for the purpose. This was announced last night by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., president of the foundation.

In pursuance of this philanthropy, the foundation will send a commission to Europe in a few days to report first hand as to how, when and where, aid can be rendered most effectively. At a cost of $275,000 it already has chartered a ship and loaded it with 4,000 tons of provisions for the relief of the starving Belgians.

"This action is taken," Mr. Rockefeller says, "as a natural step in fulfilling the chartered purpose of the foundation, namely, 'to promote the well-being of mankind throughout the world.' The ship is the Massapeque, the largest neutral vessel now in New York harbor, and it will sail tomorrow morning direct for Rotterdam, with a certification from the British consul at

New York that its cargo is destined for the use of Belgian non-combatants only, and should not be delayed in transit. The supplies are consigned to the American consul at Rotterdam and will be distributed by the Belgian relief commission.

The Ambition of Mark Truitt

By HENRY RUSSELL MILLER

Author of
"THE MAN WHO WENT TO POWER," Etc.

(Copyright, 1913, by The Bobbs-Merrill Company)

CHAPTER XXII—Continued.

"You see," he concluded, "it is critical. I can not understand, he exclaimed strongly, "the present attitude of labor. It is utterly lacking in sense of gratitude, of loyalty. I like to think of the mills as the means to life for thousands of men. And it pains me to see them become hostile and grasping. What have they to complain of?"

"Probably they feel entitled to a little more than a bare existence."

"Didn't we grant the sliding scale three years ago?"

"Perhaps," Mark returned dryly. "They guess from the number of temples to philanthropy in prospect that the scale could fairly be raised. It could."

"I don't hold with you."

"What would Henley say?"

"What would Henley say but, 'Fight! He is mad—utterly mad in his hatred of unions.'"

"Quite mad."

"In this case he is right. I have not deserved to be compelled to stand and deliver. I have always been fair to labor. I have been willing to compromise our differences, to make concessions. I have felt toward them as a father to his children. They have seen me just cause to organize to fight me. And my plans for the future do not admit of a shrinkage in income from raised scales or costly strikes. Oh! Quinby's hands clenched in the stress of emotion. "If I were but as rich as Macgregor! He has been well served by the men he has made."

"Who made him," Mark corrected.

"No," contradicted Quinby sternly. "You have given me the opportunity. As I have given it to my partners. And never have I been so ill served as in the handling of this dispute."

"That is where I need you. Henley is the last man in the world for such a matter. It is not a bully's task. Truitt, I want you to take charge of the situation, stand between Henley and the men, and settle it."

"Humph! Either ordered than done. I don't hanker for the job, Mr. Quinby."

"You are the only one of the lot who can meet labor in a human plausible manner. It was you, I believe, who saved us from a strike three years ago."

"I have never voiced my appreciation of that, but I do so now. You can do it. And you owe it to me to try. Be tactful, be firm but gentle. Save your face and your position. Make some-inal concessions. Even go a little farther than that. But, Truitt, above all things there must be no strike."

"Truitt, a strike would place me in a false position. I am known to have uttered publicly certain views on labor's rights. I still hold firmly to those views—in the abstract. I also hold that they do not apply to this case. But the world would not understand that. It would say—'He paused again, leaving Mark to imagine what the cruel cynical world would say. Mark thought he could imagine it."

"Truitt," Quinby brought his hands in a slow splendid gesture down on Mark's shoulders. "I place myself in your hands. My reputation is dear to me. Not for my own sake, but because of the work to which I have pledged my life."

Mark turned a frowning gaze out of the window. Ten miles or more sped by before he looked at the waiting Quinby.

"I'll try it."

"I knew you would," Quinby smiled once more. "Succeed and you will find me not ungrateful. Henley, I believe, is thinking of retiring." Their eyes met.

"Does Henley know it?"

"Quinby ignored the question. "He himself has said you are the only man at the board vision and—"

"It isn't done yet," Mark interrupted. "But if I pull it through, I'd rather you'd let me build that new city."

"He laughed quietly. "Strange as it may seem, the notion appeals."

"But that, I fear, is out of the question," Quinby shook his head sadly. "A beautiful dream but—philanthropy has claimed me."

"They left the matter of reward for future determination."

At Buffalo they left Quinby, whose car was attached to a New York train.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Philanthropy.

The Quinby strike is now history. It is, however, no part of recorded history that during the anxious months preceding one man was toiling, planning, spending himself to avert the fragile outcome he foresaw. It was quite hidden work. Even had it succeeded it would have been no more widely heralded than in failure.

He did foresee the outcome as tragic, but not because a philanthropist's reputation hung in the balance.

There was one man who saw and understood his efforts. He was Henley.

They were together one day, Mark arguing earnestly for a compromise. Henley listened, not because he was impressed by the arguments, but because he was studying the pleader.

"Are you for us," he interrupted a long period to demand sharply, "or for the men?"

"I'm for both."

"You can't be for both. Are you?"

"No. I'm trying to obtain a little justice and to save the Quinby company from idle mills."

"But," she insisted quietly, "I'd have to live at the hospital. I'd have no excuse for keeping this apartment."

"I'll give it up. I need you, Kazia—these hours!"

"Alarm had driven all but love—he still called it love—from his heart for the moment. He leaned over and caught her to him."

"Not at once, perhaps," she murmured wearily. "I could come here sometimes—until the lease expires."

He laughed. "Do you think love is determined by a landlord's contract?"

"Not by that?" With a little gasping cry she reached up and clung to him.

During the last days of the negotiations, Mark almost hoped the strike could be averted. Then, men, listening to his persuasions, agreed to accept a merely nominal increase in the wage scale. But the agreement must be signed, not by the men as individuals, but by the union for them; from that stand the young organization, its very life at stake, would not be moved.

Three men began in Henley's office that last night before the decision was announced. One had just made his final plea for the compromise.

Henley shook his head firmly. "I will not recognize the union."

"But they ask so little."

Both glanced at the other man, a tall, stately figure, pacing, hands clasped behind his back, up and down the room. A troubled despairing frown roughened the lofty brow.

"I'm looking ahead," Henley replied. "Labor organizations never go back, unless you catch 'em young and kill 'em off. Recognize them now and three years hence they'll demand a raised scale. Next, it will be the closed shop. Then a nominal increase in the wage scale. We'll be running our mills for the benefit of men who have no stake in them, never knowing when they'll be after us with new outrageous demands. I will not have it." Henley spoke with feeling.

The racing figure stopped, looking at Mark. "What have you to say to that?"

"I say, the men are desperate. They'll stop at nothing to win the strike. It will cost us millions."

"Cheaper now than ever," Henley interrupted.

"I say," Mark went on, "this industry, this company, can afford to grant any demands labor will ever make. And there's such a thing as humanity. If that isn't enough," He paused, looking steadily at Quinby. "If that isn't enough, I say the public is on the men's side and it hasn't forgotten the Siamese twins of production and other beautiful—sometimes publicly uttered by a certain famous philanthropist."

Quinby groaned and resumed his anxious pacing. But he was halted by Henley's next words.

"You had a visit from some men in New York last week?"

"How do you know?" Quinby was visibly startled.

"I advised them to see you," Henley rejoined. "They're men of power. They own newspapers. They can make and unmake men and reputations. They can destroy you as easily as they could a corner grocery. They're interested in the future of steel. They're more interested, as every controller of property must be, in the right to strike and shut down the means of production. I remind you, it isn't safe to disregard their advice."

"What interest have they in my reputation?"

"Have you forgotten? I think it comes through Mr. Quinby."

"Take it anyhow," he answered promptly. "Since you won't let me help you."

"I don't like to be under obligations to him."

"Take it. If he meant mischief, I think we'd have heard from him before now. And it's only fair for some body to get something out of him. God knows I'm doing enough for him."

"You mean with the men?"

"Yes. Though, if he only knew it, I'm not doing it for his sake. I believe it was for the men I undertook the job."

"But the worst of it is, I'm almost certain to fail."

"Oh, I hope not."

"Yes. Sometimes I think I'm the only sane man left on earth. Each side thinks it's bound to win. One side is—and it isn't the men. But they won't listen to me. It makes me sick to think what they'll have to pay if they go into this hopeless contest. You don't know how the thing is taking hold on me. You think this queer talk from me?"

"I don't find it queer."

"It is queer. However, come to the why yet. Do you believe," he asked abruptly, "that love can awaken all the sympathies?"

"I believe that it can."

"Wouldn't it be strange," he went on musingly, "if through Quinby—the philanthropist—I've found my big idea?"

"Your big idea?"

"Yes. He forgot that no Richard Courtney had ever defined it for her. I'll probably fail in this attempt. But after that, why not? The happy city, and in Bethel. The thing's getting into my blood. Or am I, after all, the one who is mad?"

If she was white, he laid it to weariness. "If you are, I love your madness."

A silence. When she broke it, he absorbed in the train of thoughts set in motion by mention of the unbuild city, did not catch the odd strained note in her words.

"Then you think I'd better take the position?"

"Ah!" He came back remorsefully to the subject. "Of course, you must take it."

"From Quinby?"

"However it comes, you're fitted for it. You've earned it."

"But," she insisted quietly, "I'd have to live at the hospital. I'd have no excuse for keeping this apartment."

"I'll give it up. I need you, Kazia—these hours!"

Alarm had driven all but love—he still called it love—from his heart for the moment. He leaned over and caught her to him."

"Not at once, perhaps," she murmured wearily. "I could come here sometimes—until the lease expires."

He laughed. "Do you think love is determined by a landlord's contract?"

I remind you, it isn't safe to disregard their advice."

"What interest have they in my reputation?"

"Humph! They think as I do—damn your reputation!"

Quinby started, glared. His tongue fumbled vainly for words to answer this astounding least-majesty. He took a step toward Henley, menacingly.

"Humph!" Henley greeted again. "You can save your wind. I'm not afraid of you just now. And I won't let this company be crippled by giving in to the union. The men who saw you won't permit it either—without punishing."

"I suppose you think they can keep you in this company, too?"

"No," Henley answered steadily. "Between you and me they won't interfere. But between you and them—between your expensive reputation and their interest, they will interfere. The labor unions are your common enemy."

There was a perceptible pause before Henley answered. "Yes. A small changing crowd had gathered around a man who from his soap box harangued them. He preached a gospel that, beginning with a germ of love, had grown in him into a creed of hate. It was a rambling incoherent and vague generalities that never came to a point—the grotesque but pitiful pouring of a feeble mind obsessed by a sense of injury real or fancied and cracking under the effort to incoherently with its venom. Mark listened a moment."

"The man must be mad," he thought pitifully.

Prior in his ramblings came to the labor strike. He began a roll call of the masters of the Quinby company—Quinby himself, Henley, Higbee, Hare—

"And Truitt!" The hoarse voice became, if that were possible, even more bitter. He fairly wailed as he shrieked out his charges. "Truitt the wife-beater! The pander! With his women—!" For several minutes he raved on, regaling his audience with an array of disgusting but apocryphal details of Truitt's life that to his diseased fancy must have become proved facts.

"Get tell me to come here," Mark ordered the cabman. "Tell him his father is dying."

"Ah, hell!" growled a big Irishman in the crowd, audible even to the cab. "Shut up! Truitt's the only man in the lot who bowls 't him."

"Fool!" Truitt shook clenched fists at the Irishman. "Are you taken in because he tried to stop the strike? Who was he working for then, you or Quinby? Where was he when Henley's strike breakers came to steal your jobs and shoot down your women? Where was his money when your children were starving for bread? Where?"

But the cabman had reached him with Mark's message. For a moment Truitt stared stupidly, trying to take in its meaning. Then he uttered a wild piercing cry.

"Dying!" He leaned toward the crowd, hands and face twitching in his frenzy. "My father's dying, but he can wait while I tell you about this Truitt. When he was starting out he came to our house, because my father took pity on him. My father loved him, better than he did his own son. He watched over him, cared for him, taught him all he knew of his trade. Then the old man broke. He wouldn't have been old anywhere else, but he had burned himself up trying to make Quinby's furnace holla pay. They threw him out of, of course, and Truitt took his job. Truitt—partner of Quinby! The old man's heart broke. Then his mind gave way. And now he's dying—do you know where? In a Rose alley!"

The crowd had become very still. To them, too, the tragedy that tortured the madman was clear; infinite repetition could not take away its bitterness.

"And that isn't all!" The emotional delirium reached its climax. "In that house was a girl—just an ignorant hunky girl but the kind men love. And Truitt made love to her. But when he left us, he left her, too—another broken heart! To forget him she married a worthless rummy she had to leave. Then she went out into the city to make her own living. Only Truitt and the Irishman recognized him. Mark caught Truitt by the arm and jerked him roughly from the box."

The Irishman's heavy hand fell on Mark's shoulder. "Let be, son. Then he fell back before the livid countenance Mark turned on him."

"Keep out. I'll do him no harm. I'm only taking him to his father, where his place is instead of here black-guarding women he isn't fit to touch."

Truitt jerked his arm free. "I won't go with you!"

But the Irishman caught him. "Ye'll go as, Mither Truitt tells you. I've thinkin' he's just loony, sor."

CHAPTER XXIV.

The Pressure of Truth.

The strike was broken. Engines crunched and furnaces glowed again. The men, started out, had crept back to their work, leaving for Mark a group of men, haggard, weary, and disillusioned, at least in Quinby's mills, never asked its head again.

But at what a cost!

Jeremiah Quinby returned—not however, with a bare of triumph. In fact, he came almost secretly, though not wholly out of modesty; no reporter so bold or so shrewd as to win to his well-guarded presence. The public had lately become deeply interested in the Siamese twins of production and upon the devoted head of their author had heaped its cruel satire.

But Quinby's return was not without its objects. One of them was to unseat the arrogant Henley, and to this Quinby, without concealment or delay, bent his energies. In the other, which seems to prove that in matters of sex are neither prince and priest nor peasant, but only man and woman, more Henley was employed. Only one person had an inkling of this project and she kept well the secret.

There was heard a merry cracking of whips, stockholders over to his primary object and approached the point where he could deal the blow. Henley grimly waited. Mark was not approached on the matter, for the sufficient reason that he, too, had been singled out for vengeance.

"Quinby is back," he told Kazia once.

There was a perceptible pause before Henley answered. "Yes. A small changing crowd had gathered around a man who from his soap box harangued them. He preached a gospel that, beginning with a germ of love, had grown in him into a creed of hate. It was a rambling incoherent and vague generalities that never came to a point—the grotesque but pitiful pouring of a feeble mind obsessed by a sense of injury real or fancied and cracking under the effort to incoherently with its venom. Mark listened a moment."

"The man must be mad," he thought pitifully.

Prior in his ramblings came to the labor strike. He began a roll call of the masters of the Quinby company—Quinby himself, Henley, Higbee, Hare—

"And Truitt!" The hoarse voice became, if that were possible, even more bitter. He fairly wailed as he shrieked out his charges. "Truitt the wife-beater! The pander! With his women—!" For several minutes he raved on, regaling his audience with an array of disgusting but apocryphal details of Truitt's life that to his diseased fancy must have become proved facts.

"Get tell me to come here," Mark ordered the cabman. "Tell him his father is dying."

"Ah, hell!" growled a big Irishman in the crowd, audible even to the cab. "Shut up! Truitt's the only man in the lot who bowls 't him."

"Fool!" Truitt shook clenched fists at the Irishman. "Are you taken in because he tried to stop the strike? Who was he working for then, you or Quinby? Where was he when Henley's strike breakers came to steal your jobs and shoot down your women? Where was his money when your children were starving for bread? Where?"

But the cabman had reached him with Mark's message. For a moment Truitt stared stupidly, trying to take in its meaning. Then he uttered a wild piercing cry.

"Dying!" He leaned toward the crowd, hands and face twitching in his frenzy. "My father's dying, but he can wait while I tell you about this Truitt. When he was starting out he came to our house, because my father took pity on him. My father loved him, better than he did his own son. ## GOOD APPLE RECIPES

APPETIZING AND HEALTHFUL DISHES FOR THE FAMILY.

Apricot Sherbet Served in Apple Shells is Excellent—Apples in Bloom—Two Methods of Preparing Brown Betty.

Afterthought.—One pint of nice apple sauce sweetened to taste, stir in the yolks of two eggs well beaten. Bake for fifteen minutes. Cover with a meringue made of two well beaten whites and one-half cup of powdered sugar. Return to the oven and brown.

Apricot Sherbet Served in Apple Shells.—Select bright red apples of uniform size, rub until they have a high polish. Cut off the blossom end and scoop out the pulp, carefully notch the edge. Fill with apricot sherbet and serve upon apple leaves.

Apple Balls With a Mixture of Fruit.—Peel large apples, with a potato scoop cut out small balls, dropping them into water with a little vinegar added to keep them white. Prepare a mixture of grapefruit pulp, pineapple and banana and put into glasses; add a few of the apple balls; pour over all the juice left from the fruit which has been boiled down with sugar; cool and serve at once or the apples may turn brown.

Apples in Bloom.—Cook red apples in boiling water until soft. Have the water half surround the apples and turn often. Remove skins carefully that the red color may remain, and arrange on serving dish. To the water add one cup of sugar, grated rind of one lemon and juice of one orange; simmer until reduced to one cup. Cool and pour over the apples. Serve with cream sauce as follows:

Cream Sauce.—Beat the white of one egg stiff; add the well beaten yolks of one egg and gradually add one-cupful of powdered sugar. Beat one-half cupful of thick cream and one-fourth cupful of milk until stiff, combine the mixture and add one-half teaspoonful of vanilla.

Brown Betty.—One cupful of bread crumbs, eight sliced apples, one-half cupful of molasses, one-half cupful of cold water; butter a baking dish, put a layer of crumbs, then a layer of apples, sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar and dot with bits of butter; repeat until the dish is full; insert a knife in several places and pour in the water and molasses. Set in a pan of hot water and bake for 45 minutes. Serve hot with cream or hard-sauce.

Brown Betty.—2.—Pare and chop six apples. Place a layer of apple in a well buttered pudding dish, then a layer of bread crumbs, sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon, repeat until the dish is full; add several generous lumps of butter and pour sweet milk or hot water on until it comes within an inch of the top of the pan. Bake in a moderate oven until brown, and serve with plain or whipped cream.

Canned Boiled Cider. I can my cider for fruit cake and mince-cake, shortly after it is made and before fermentation takes place, says a correspondent of the Cleveland Leader. Place five quarts of sweet cider in a kettle, boil slowly until reduced to one quart, carefully watching it that it does not burn. Can the same as fruit. One gill of this added to a fruit cake makes it more moist and is far superior to cake made without it.

You can have sweet cider to drink from one season to another by placing cider in a bottle, letting it come to a boil. Have jars sterilized and can.

Rusty Needles. If you are bothered by your sewing needles becoming rusty, you will find very probably that your needle-book and not the needles is the cause. It is a mistake to use flannel leaves, as the sulphur in the flannel rusts the steel. Therefore, make needle-books of linen or chambray skin and the needles will stay bright.

Delicious Spaghetti. Roll a ten-cent box of spaghetti until tender. Grease casserole with butter. Into the latter dish first drop the spaghetti; then mix one can of tomato soup thoroughly and then cut up one-half pound of yolk cheese into same and a layer on top. Bake until brown on top.

Eggs Tivoli. Take out the inside of half a loaf of bread. Toast the crust and fill cavity with chicken or corned beef hash. Over this break a fresh egg and then cover with white sauce and grated bread crumbs. Brown in the oven.

Refining Lard. Put the lard into a basin and pour boiling water over it. Allow to get cold, then pour off the water and repeat the process three times. The lard can then be used for making cold cream.

Baking Hint. If a pan of water is placed in the oven when cakes, meats, etc., are being baked, it prevents their burning.

DEFENDS POPULAR REMEDIES

Speaker Says Newspapers Should Investigate Merits of Medicines Before Barring Advertisements.

That an organized attempt has been made to blacken the reputation of the popular family remedies of this country, and to mislead the newspaper publishers into rejecting the advertising of such medicines, was the charge made by Carl J. Balliett, of Buffalo, N. Y., at the convention of the Advertising Affiliation at Detroit.

Mr. Balliett is a director of the Proprietary Association of America, which includes in its membership two hundred firms which make the popular prepared medicines of America.

Mr. Balliett pointed out that it is the duty of the newspaper publisher to refuse the advertising of any fake or fraudulent medicine, just as it is his duty to refuse any fake or fraudulent advertising, but it is not right to shut down all medical advertising because there have been some fakers, any more than it would be right to refuse to publish all department store advertising because certain stores have made a practice of lying about bargain sales.

Disease and death are mysteries. People who are perfectly well are skeptical. They laugh at the time-worn patent medicine joke, just as they laugh again and again over the many variations of the operation joke.

"The operation was a success but the patient died." This so-called humor has perhaps hurt the medicine business with well people, but when the hitherto healthy man feels a severe pain or illness, he immediately wants medicine, and will take the cure whether he be at the hands of a regular doctor, a homeopath, an osteopath, a Christian Scientist or patent medicine. There is nothing more deadly than disease; nothing more honorable than to cure it.

Mr. Balliett refuted the idea sought to be spread about that patent medicines are unpopular by showing that from 1900 to 1912 the amount of prepared medicines consumed in America increased from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 annually. He showed that, although the American Medical Association is trying as an organization to exterminate so-called patent medicines, the family doctor, individually, is not fighting them but prescribing them. He estimated that 40% of the prescriptions written by doctors today include proprietary medicines.

The writings of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, he said, have also aimed to destroy confidence in proprietary medicines; but that Dr. Wiley's ideas are not infallible is shown by cases where his analyses were entirely wrong. Mr. Balliett mentioned a case where, with all the power of the Government, he fought a preparing being dangerous, sell tons of it and win sudden wealth; whereas, as a matter of fact, the medicine business is notoriously difficult, and, where there has been one success at it, there have been a hundred failures. Any medicine which has no merit cannot live, because persons who are duped into buying it once will not buy it again, and the profit from advertising a medicine can only come from repeat sales to the same, satisfied people. Therefore, any medicine which has been on the market for a number of years, and is still advertised, must have merit behind it to account for its success.

In conclusion Mr. Balliett declared that no newspaper is doing justice to its readers in the matter of medical or other advertising, unless it investigates, not only the wording of the advertisement offered for publication, but the merits of the article advertised. He pointed out that the few newspapers who have been deluded into the policy of barring out medical advertising have adopted this general policy, rather than to form an investigation bureau of this kind which could, in a constructive and useful effort, investigate and decide what is a good product and what is a fraud, in not only the medicine business, but in every other business which advertises its wares to the public.

The audience seemed to agree with Mr. Balliett's ideas on the subject and the chairman decided the question at issue in his favor.

Put That Pain to Use

The network of nerves in your body, like the network of wires in a burglar alarm system, gives quick warning when anything is going wrong inside. Looking at it in this way a pain is a useful alarm. Now, kidney weakness is a dangerous thing—a condition not to be neglected—and it is wise to know and pay attention to the early alarm signals of sick kidneys.

Backache is a common warning of congestion or inflammation in the kidneys. It may be dull, nagging pain, or a sharp twinge when stooping or lifting. There are likely to be disorders of urination, dizziness, headaches, and drowsy, despondent, tired feelings.

It is very hard to strengthen weak kidneys at first, but neglect invites rheumatic or neuritic attacks, gravel, dropsy, and fatal Bright's disease.

As a special medicine for weak kidneys Doan's Kidney Pills have been used for years all over the civilized world, and surely are considered reliable. The patient can always help the medicine immensely, however, by dieting lightly, using little or no liquor, tea or coffee, keeping regular hours and drinking lots of pure water.

"I can hardly straighten up."

As to Doan's Kidney Pills, read the following enthusiastic endorsement by one who has tested them.

IN BED SIX WEEKS

An Awful Siege of Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble

R. H. Lunn, Main St., Franklin, Tenn., says: "For years I was in bad shape from rheumatism. Rheumatism followed and often the attacks of pain were so bad I couldn't work. The kidney secretions contained sediment and looked like brick-dust, and my kidneys acted too freely, though the secretions were scanty. The passages were attended with stinging pain. I had to get up often at night on account of this weakness and as the result of long sleep I felt all worn out. My back ached almost constantly and I couldn't stoop or lift without pain. I tried everything I knew of, but steadily got worse until I had to give up. I was in bed for six weeks and couldn't move without suffering. When I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, I tried them and the first box made me feel so much better that I kept on. The pain soon left, my kidneys became normal and I gained over twenty-five pounds in weight. The rheumatic pains left me, too, and best of all, the cure has been permanent. I use Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile as a kidney tonic."

Mayfield Man Held Up.

Dunbar Norman, a prominent young man of the city and soda water dispenser in the Hale & Gilliam drug store, reports that he was held up Sunday night by two strange white men in the south part of the city. Dunbar was enroute home about ten o'clock from paying a social call to a young lady living at the edge of the city and was accosted by the men, who commanded him to give up all his valuables that he had on his person. Dunbar, on first seeing the men acting in a suspicious manner, concealed his watch in his cap and by this manner he still has the watch.

After one man held Dunbar and the other went through his pockets, and when nothing was found each gave him a kick and told him to move on rapidly. It is unnecessary to say that Dunbar complied with the request, for he got away from there quicker, he says, than he ever left any scene before.---Mayfield Messenger.
