Lack Of Rain Called Worst In Years

Almost six inches of rain in Paducah Wednesday did little good for farmers in Calloway County who desperately need moisture for withering crops this year.

The 20,000 acres of corn are the worst hit in Calloway County. Most of the corn was planted in the first half of April.

The corn that is really beginning to hurt is that which was planted in the very early part of April — it is beginning to tassle, and water is needed to make the ears and silks develop normally, according to County Agent Ted Howard.

"This weather has helped us this week, Howard said, speaking of the overcast skies that have not been as hard as the hot, dry, windy weather of previous weeks.

"But we need some rain — and we need it bad," he added.

Corn may be hurt as much as 15 to 20 per cent right now, Howard said, and could be hurt as much as 50 per cent in just a matter of days if it doesn't rain soon.

Fifteen per cent would translate into approximately $600,000 lost locally at conservative estimates.

"It's as serious as we've seen it in the past 10-15 years," Howard said.

Popcorn is in a similar situation as field corn. "Popcorn doesn't look as good as field corn," Howard said. "But then it never does until harvest."

Soybeans, especially the double-crop beans, are really hurting for water. There are about 5,000 acres in the county that need planting, but the ground is too dry for either conventional planting or the no-till method.

Another 4,000 to 5,000 acres planted early, and another 8,000 to 10,000 planted later on need water badly, Howard said.

The beans won't be hurt as badly as corn, however. Soybeans and tobacco have good recovery characteristics, and if the rain situation straightened out now, these crops might not be hurt in yields. Soybeans have two or three weeks of blooming, where water at any time during that period will set the blooms, unlike corn, which must have water at a precise time or it will be damaged.

All things considered, Howard said, soybeans are probably damaged by about five or six per cent.

Tobacco crops in Calloway County are hurt more on stand than anything else from the dry weather. A 90 to 95 per cent stand is usually considered acceptable, where this year, farmers are talking about being satisfied with a 65 to 70 per cent stand.

Usually, farmers can reset plants that don't do well, the resetting being done right after a rain. But since there have been no rains, there has been no resetting, and the stands are poorer than usual.

Also, Howard explained, the hot dry weather has caused more plants to die than usual. "It's getting late in the year," Howard said, "and most farmers are just planning to weather it out, and not try to start all over with their tobacco crops."

Some tobacco fields in the county look as good as ever, but these are few and far between.

Rains have been spotted all spring, Howard noted. Some communities in the county have had more rain than others. The Van Cleave and New Concord areas received about a half-inch of rain Wednesday, while the rest of the county remained dry.

The half-inch rain will do more good with a cloudy, overcast sky, than it would with a hot, sunny day, because the rain will have time to soak into the ground, Howard said.

Pasturelands are "terrible," according to the county agent. However, pastures are like soybeans and tobacco, they have a good recovery, but still need water now.

"Pastures right now look like they usually do in July and August," Howard said. "They're short and dry, and in bad shape."

Across the nation, some cattle producers are already moving their cattle to market, depressing the prices even further.

Beef and dairy producers locally are going to suffer tremendously if rain doesn't come soon, Howard said. "We came out of one of the worst winters ever," he explained, "with the feed supply low, and the cattle in bad shape. And now the hot weather is hurting us even more."

As a result of the poor pastures, some beef cattle producers are talking about weaning calves as much as two months early.

In the city, gardens and lawns are also suffering from the lack of moisture. Some of the newer lawns will be severely damaged, and bluegrass lawns will be hurt more than fescue.

Older, established lawns will probably recover from the lack of rain, but Howard advised homeowners not to mow their grass as often or as short because this will damage the grass, too.

PRODUCTION OPENS TONIGHT—The Community Theatre's Production of "Curse You, Jack Dalton" will open tonight at the Old Freight Depot, on Railroad Avenue (First Street). Kentucky's Employment Picture Is Brightest In Almost Four Years

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state reports the brightest picture in employment in almost the past four

Planners To

Meet On Tuesday

The Murray Planning Commission will meet in regular session on Tuesday, June 21, at seven p. m., according to City Planner Steve Zea.

Included on the agenda will be: a vote on a rezoning request of the old Murray Moose Lodge; final approval of the Southside Manor residential planned development project; re-subdivision plat of Fairview Acres Subdivision; 12th Street rezoning proposal, and a public hearing date for that issue; review of the Community Flood Damage Abatement Program, a review of a traffic impact study of the university area; report on 701 funds; report on H. U. D. community development application; and a report on a new minor subdivision form.

The meeting is open to the public and will be held in the council chambers at city hall.

years. The jobless rolls last month dipped to 3.6 per cent, according to Robert MacDonald, chief labor analyst for the state Department of Human Resources. "This is the lowest level for the state since September of 1973 when it was 3 per cent," he said. "And it is 2.8 per cent below the national average of 6.4 per cent."

MacDonald attributed part of the trend to an improvement in the national economy.

Last month there were 52,600 persons unemployed in Kentucky or 1.20 below April — and 19,200 less than the corresponding period last year.

Employment last month reached a record high of more than 1.3 million, MacDonald said.

No breakdown was immediately available for state areas, but he said the Lexington area — with its "good balance and mix of industries" — had one of the lowest unemployment rates.

He said employment in the Louisville area kept pace with the surge elsewhere in the state and that even in eastern Kentucky, where the jobless rate always has been high, things are looking up.

"The good coal employment brings in related industries such as construction and trades," MacDonald said. "We expect that to remain high."

Traditionally the number of jobless in the mountains runs 1.5 per cent above the state's norm.

Although 10,000 workers in agriculture contributed to the unemployment decrease, the analyst said this is not a major factor because the category consists mainly of students working seasonally or persons holding dual jobs.

"The main reason for the drop in May has been an increase in non-agriculture wages and salaries," he said. "It went up from 1,129,000 in April to 1,390,000 in May."

In addition, unemployment insurance claims declined by 10,000 between those months.

"We expect unemployment to start rising again from this month to August," MacDonald said. "But this is strictly seasonal because of youngsters competing in the job market."

From September through the end of this year, he said, the jobless rate should be going down once more.

Flash Flooding Caused By Heavy Rains In Paducah Wednesday

By The Associated Press

An hour-long thunderstorm that dumped five inches of rain on the western Kentucky city of Paducah caused some flash flooding in the area and may have earned the town a niche in the National Weather Service record book.

A weather service spokesman said that a study of weather data would be completed later today, at which time it would be decided whether the reported 5.35-inch deluge is a record for a one-hour storm.

The existing NWS record for a one-hour storm in Kentucky is a 3.87 inch accumulation recorded at Berea, Ky., College on June 26, 1943.

The heavy thunderstorm emanated from a stationary frontal system that separated warm and humid air to the south from cooler, drier air to the north. The collision of those air masses caused the sudden downpour that trapped some persons in their automobiles, knocked out power and flooded some homes in low-lying areas.

The NWS issued a flash flood warning for Paducah and vicinity. Persons living near small streams or in low-lying areas prone to flash flooding were advised to be prepared to move to higher ground.

Jack Johnson, assistant chief of the state Division of Disaster and Emergency Services at Paducah, said his office was handling many calls to aid residents in removing automobiles from flooded areas.

Kathy Hodge Is

Elected To Office

A local woman has been elected to the office of secretary of the Kentucky Society for Hospital Public Relations for 1977-78.

Kathy Hodge, Murray-Calloway County Hospital public relations director, was named to that office at a recent meeting of the organization.

He said some persons were trapped in their automobiles for a short time when water rushed to the windshield level at two low-lying areas on the Beltline Highway, which circles Paducah.

He said those trapped inside were quickly removed by rescue workers. No injuries were reported.

Many homes were flooded, Johnson said, but there were no evacuations. He said some areas were flooded "gutter-to-gutter," but could not give a more precise estimate of the situation.

Paducah television station WPSD-TV reported that 5½ inches of rain were recorded on its weather equipment during a 30-minute period early Wednesday evening.

HALL OF FAME—Bryan Tolley, left, recently installed in the Kentucky Lions Hall of Fame, was presented a plaque by District Governor Cordie L. Caldwell on behalf of the Murray Lions Club. Tolley, a charter member of the club, has maintained a perfect attendance record since the date of charter 37 years ago. He has held offices in the club and in the District Governors' Cabinet. The plaque is inscribed as follows: "Presented to Bryan Tolley, Murray Lions Club, Murray, Kentucky with sincere appreciation and gratitude for outstanding leadership and devoted service to Kentucky Lionism and is hereby installed in the Kentucky Lions Hall of Fame. Attested by the 1976-1977 Kentucky Lions Council of Governors." The Kentucky Lions Hall of Fame was established this year and is located in the Kentucky Lions Eye Foundation Building, Louisville. Tolley expressed gratitude for the privilege of service to the club and the community and for the physical condition to enable him to attend every meeting for 37 years.

LIONS CLUB OFFICERS—Yancey Watkins was installed as president of the Murray Lions Club for 1977-78 at the dinner meeting of the club held at the South Pleasant Grove United Methodist Church. Watkins is associate professor of education and director of the Division of Reading at Murray State University where he has served on the faculty since 1956. He will attend the Lions International Convention the latter part of June in New Orleans, La. Other officers installed at the meeting as pictured are, left to right, front row, Watkins, Harold J. Everett, lion tamer, David Walker, director, Paul Mansfield, tail twister, Gerald L. Kelly, Jr., director, Thomas E. Shirley, past president, back row, Jack Rose, first vice-president, Arvin D. Crafton, secretary, Groover A. Parker, third vice-president, G. T. Lilly, second vice-president, Johnny McDougal, director and Cordie L. Caldwell, governor of Lions District 43K who installed the officers. Not present were officers Richard Jones, director, and Joe D. Wark, treasurer. The buffet meal was served by the United Methodist Women in the church, an annual event for the Murray Lions Club.

Love and Marriage: No Experience Necessary

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 By The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: You never gave worse advice than when you told that 20-year-old theology student to go ahead and get married without getting any premarital sexual experience. You said the mating instinct was natural, and he didn't need any lessons.

Well, mating and lovemaking are two different things. Any animal can mate, but lovemaking is an art that requires instruction and practice to perfect.

For a man to jump into the marriage bed without previous experience (assuming his bride is as innocent as he is), could result in disaster! It could ruin their marriage and their relationship.

It is a crime that you, with your old-fashioned moral values, are giving advice to millions.

MODERN MAN

DEAR MODERN: Call it "mating" or "lovemaking" or whatever you wish, it's the same act. A truly kind, loving, unselfish man does not need to be taught tenderness and consideration. That will come as naturally as the mating instinct. Almost every church has premarital counseling, and there are some excellent manuals on the subject.

Read on for another point of view:

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for telling that young man that it wasn't necessary for him to rush out and get sexual experience before marrying.

When my wife and I were married, we were both virgins. Somehow we managed to learn together. We have been married for 22 years and have three children, and may I say that we have a fantastic sex life. There is something especially reassuring and sacred about our relationship, knowing that each has always been totally and exclusively committed to the other.

DUKE

And yet another:

DEAR ABBY: Talk about two dumb kids: My husband and I were about as inexperienced as two people could be. He was 20 and I was 17 when we married. That was 66 years ago, and now we can look back and smile, because we figured out exactly what had to be done and how to do it, and we may have invented a few new things, for all we know. And by the way, we may have slowed up a bit of late, but we haven't given up entirely.

R. AND J.

DEAR ABBY: In listing West Virginia's most distinguished natives you omitted probably the most distinguished of all: U.S. Senator Jennings Randolph, who has served in Congress (both the House and Senate) longer than any other elected official presently there.

JOHN D. MONTGOMERY

DEAR MR. M.: Thanks for reminding me of something I already knew.

Miss Jennifer Trotter Is Married To Mr. Hewlett

The wedding vows of Miss Jennifer Trotter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Herman Trotter of Murray, and William Wayne Hewlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bromley Hewlett of Raceland, were pledged at the First United Methodist Church on Saturday, May 14, at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Dr. James E. Fisher performed the double-ring ceremony before the altar decorated with candles and brass altar vases with Tropicanna and sweetheart roses, stephanotis and baby's breath, accenting the gold cross on the chancel.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Richard W. Farrell, organist, and Mrs. Margaret Porter, vocalist.

Bride's Dress

The bride was radiantly lovely in a formal gown of ivory silk georgette combined with re-embroidered Peau de l'Ange lace and English illusion. The slightly raised bodice featured a handmade insert of English Cameo lace, rising to create a Victorian neckline. Miniature pearls and rock crystal were used profusely to delicately trace the intricate lace pattern. Long and gossamer sleeves were full and fitted at the wrists with deep cuffs of Peau de l'Ange lace, also lavishly accented with the bead tracery.

A voluminous and elegantly designed skirt was unadorned, fashioned in deep panels to create a chapel length train, which flowed gracefully as she descended the aisle escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage.

Her headdress created expressly for her gown was an elbow length veil of imported illusion, which was richly bordered in the lace of her gown, attached to a lace Juliet crown, raised slightly and embellished with pearls and crystal miniature beads.

She carried a bridal bouquet of ivory butterfly roses, baker's fern, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Miss Victoria Ann Johnson of Louisville served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Johnston of Louisville and Miss Elizabeth Balhatch of Lexington. Miss Susan Elizabeth Uffelman of Clarksville, Tenn., cousin of the bride, served as junior bridesmaid.

The attendants wore formal gowns of deep coral silk maracaine, combined with matching chiffon. The decollete bodice featured self spaghetti straps, and was covered with chiffon capelet falling elbow length in front, extending to hip length to create back interest. Their headdress was a matching coral silk rose and baby's breath. They carried floral designs of Tropicanna roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

The junior bridesmaid wore a gown of identical maracaine and chiffon featuring a brief capelet, and she carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

James A. Hoskins of Lexington served as best man. Groomsmen were Dr. J. D. Rayburn II and James Baird Pickens of Lexington, Donald Cundiff of Somerset, and Larry Chrisman, cousin of the bride, of Hazel.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Trotter wore a formal gown of imported silk quiana in pale aqua. The fitted bodice featured a drape self cowl neckline, long slim sleeves, and the natural waistline was accented with a bias sash. A dirndle skirt was softly full. She wore her floral tribute of coral roses and baby's breath at her waistline, and used accessories of blending hue to complete her ensemble.

The groom's mother chose to wear a formal gown of pale yellow knit with fitted bodice and sleeves of lace. The skirt was softly pleated and her accessories were of matching color. At her shoulder she wore a cattleya orchid.

Mrs. Orville Manson Trotter of Southside, Tenn., grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Joseph McClanahan of Raceland, grandmother of the groom, were presented with cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. George E. Long II of Benton presided at the register.

Mrs. Wayne Bromley Hewlett

Today marks a banner day for The Murray Ledger & Times.

With today's edition, we are beginning our second thirty years as a daily newspaper serving Murray and Calloway County.

The Murray Ledger & Times was first published as a daily, Monday-Saturday, on Monday, June 16, 1947.

In the announcement that the newspaper would begin appearing six days per week, which ran in the last weekly edition of the paper on June 12, 1947, then-publisher W. Percy Williams said:

"It will be our purpose to work as hard to make it the best small daily newspaper in Kentucky as we have worked to make it the best all-round weekly in the state."

Thirty years later, that is still the pledge of the management and staff of this newspaper.

And, as was the case in 1947, it still takes a capable, loyal staff to produce a daily newspaper. This, we have, in our 27 employees and at this time we'd like to publicly thank our staff for their many years of dedication to serving their fellow citizens in this community.

The Murray Ledger & Times had its origin in 1879 when a stock company with W. O. Wear as editor established the Calloway News. Wear was, at the time of his death, editor and publisher of the Calloway Times, which was merged with the Murray Ledger after his death. The Calloway Times and the Murray Ledger were succeeded by the Ledger & Times.

The Ledger & Times was purchased by W. P. Williams in 1941. In 1942 he bought the West Kentuckian, another weekly, and the two were merged in the same year.

Following World War II, James C. Williams was named general manager of the weekly newspaper, as well as the business's job printing department and office supply store.

Williams was named publisher of the newspaper after it became daily and remained in that position until the newspaper was purchased by Walter L. Apperson, the present publisher, in September of 1973.

From the above brief historical sketch it's easy to see that we have a tradition of solid "newspapering" in our background. That tradition is one which we promise to maintain in future years.

We have never considered our business as "the newspaper game." It is our life and our livelihood and we pledge to continue to devote ourselves to giving the people of Murray and Calloway County, who have supported this newspaper through these many years, the newspaper they desire and deserve.

Garrott's Galley
Some Take Their Family
Trees Kind Of Seriously

By M. C. Garrott

When you go climbing around in family trees, you had better be sure which limb is which. Some people take that kind of stuff seriously. I found this out the other day after writing about William Edward and Jeannette Rogers moving back to Murray. Jeannette's sister, Sandra, also is married to a Rogers — Glenn — and based on the information I had received, I had noted that the two fellows weren't related.

I had no more gotten home that evening before the phone rang. It was Gene Rogers, one of the security officers at Murray State and who lives on 94 near Lynn Grove. He wanted to know where I got my information that William Edward and Glenn weren't related. From one of their wives, I told him.

"Well, they are," he said, and proceeded to take me through the Rogers' family tree, limb by limb. It turned out that William Edward's grandfather and Glenn's grandfather were first cousins — William's grandfather was Delmus Rogers, one of 10 children of Hugh Stanton Rogers, Sr., who was born not long after George Washington died.

Glenn's grandfather, also named Glenn, was one of nine children of Cornelius Rogers, another son of Hugh Stanton, and he was known around here as "Uncle Neely." He lived near Gibb's Store, which was located near where Charles Hoke and Henry Warren now live in Kingswood.

Gene had it all down in writing. Also tied into the family is James Rogers, the director of auxiliary services at Murray State. James' father, Allen, also was a first cousin of William Edward and Glenn's grandfathers. He was one of eight children born to Hugh Stanton Rogers, Jr., and his wife.

Hugh Stanton Rogers, Sr., Gene tells me, was born in East Tennessee on Washington's birthday but 85 years behind the Father of Our Country. He was orphaned at the age of 14, and a story handed down about him concerns his love for a horse.

Soon after his parents died, the administrator of the estate had a sale of household goods, farming implements and livestock. The boy, Stan, as they called him, had a colt one or two years old. The sale had been in progress for a bit when someone led the colt around in front of everybody and the auctioneer cried out: "Here is a very fine colt! There is not a blemish on him! He is bridle-wise and has been broke to ride! What do I hear for this colt!"

Just then, there was a commotion in the midst of the bidders and young Stan came running to the colt. Throwing his arms around its neck, he cried, "No, siree! This colt belongs to me and he is not for sale!"

The auctioneer then had a little conference with the administrator and some of the kinsfolk. Soon it was announced that it was agreeable with all concerned that the young man could have the colt and then "henceforth it will be the private property of Stan Rogers."

Not long after this, so the story goes, young Stan got together what clothes he had, tied them in a bundle to his saddle, got on the colt and struck out across the hills and valleys toward West Tennessee to make his home with one of his brothers.

He later married a school teacher some three years older than he, and they built and settled in a log house about two miles northwest of Lynn Grove. All eight of their children, including William Edward and Glenn's grandfathers were born in this log house.

I wasn't too far off base a couple of weeks ago when I wrote about the big sassafras tree we saw recently down in Hickman County on the banks of the Mississippi.

Terry McGinnis, our design artist at Murray State, wrote to inform me that the "world's largest sassafras tree" is in Owensboro. It is located at the corner of Maple and Second Streets, and a historical marker, sanctioned by the National Geographic Society, proclaims it as the world's largest.

So, if Aunt Minnie writes and asks you where the world's largest sassafras tree is located, you can tell her it's in Owensboro, but the second largest has got to be the one in Hickman County on the banks of the Mississippi.

Letter To The Editor

Band Parents Thanked

Dear Editor: As retiring president of the Murray Band Booster Club, I wish to express my gratitude to the parents of band members, band members themselves, supportive citizens, band directors, school administrators, and our local mass media personnel for all the assistance and cooperation we have had during this unusually outstanding year for our Murray bands. Each of our bands has had their moments of glory.

The event that we as band boosters will not forget is that of the Murray High School band winning the grand championship of the National High School Marching Band Contest at Whitewater, Wisconsin on June 24. Also, their winning the drum major and marching awards of the contest. I hope the citizens of Murray fully realize that this was not a small state or regional contest but the "World Series" of high school marching bands.

Furthermore, if the band directors and school officials agree to accept the invitation to participate in the Orange Bowl parades next winter, I hope that the pride we now feel will result in private and commercial interests providing the dollars necessary to send the Number One high school marching band to the Miami festival. This band should not have to sell chocolate candy bars and fruit to finance the trip.

This ends fourteen years of service in the Murray Band Boosters Club for me. A club president could not have had better cooperation and work from his fellow officers and committee people than I had this year. I wish the best of luck to next year's president Ron Hampton and his fine cadre of officers. Truly the success of our local band program is a combination of supportive administrators, patient and well trained professional directors, well disciplined band members and unselfish, hard working band parents.

Respectfully yours,
Wayne M. Williams

And Samuel heard all the words of the people and he rehearsed them in the ears of the Lord. I Samuel 8:21.

A good Pastor, and a good government official, listens to the voice of the people — but he rehearses them in the presence of God, before he decides what is right.

Steve Golliher To Get Tough Test From Rugged Oaks Tourney Field

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor
Paducah got its five-inch rainfall Wednesday and of course, though it did cause some problems, people with green thumbs were happy.
The next question is: when is it going to rain in Murray?
The answer: Definitely, Saturday or Sunday. Why? Because that's when the Oaks Invitational Golf Tournament is scheduled to be played.

For some reason, it has rained on the last nine Oaks Invationals. The track record has been, since the tourney started in 1964, 11 of the 13.

"A rain certainly wouldn't hurt the course," said David Gallagher, the club pro at the Oaks.

"The fairways are really hard and the ball is getting a lot of roll. But the greens are in excellent condition."

"It should be tough to play, even though it will be shorter because of the hard fairways. The sandtraps are really well-positioned," Gallagher added.
Last year, it was a wild scramble on the back nine, so wild in fact, that after 16 holes, six golfers were two strokes apart.

But on the 17th hole, Steve Golliher of Paducah, a member of the Miami University golf team, rolled in a 40-foot putt and wrapped up the title.

Golliher, who had fired a 71 on the first day last year, finished his final round even par and had a one-under par 143 total to win the championship flight.

Second place last year went to Homer Branch who was a stroke back at 144 and the 1975 champion, Mayfield's Kem Allbritton, finished at 146 as did Russ Cochran of Paducah, Richard Smith of Paris and Sonny "Hoot" Gibson of Mayfield.

The best round turned in last year was on the first day and it was four-under par 68 from Nicky Ryan, who plays out of the Oaks Country Club.

Golliher will be back this weekend to try and repeat his feat. Also on hand will be Mike Shelbourne of Paducah.

Shelbourne won the Murray Invitational Golf Tournament

last year.

Other top-notch golfers who will be trying to unseat Golliher include Russ Cochran, Paris' George Codgill, Jesse McNeill, who last weekend won the Hickman Invitational, Roy Cothran, Don Cothran, Tom Austin, Bobby Cronin, Jimmy Brown, Wally Young, Jerry Caldwell and Homer Branch.

Also playing will be three of the top young golfers in the area, Gary Sullivan, Lynn Sullivan and Kevin D'Angelo. All three went to the Kentucky State High School Golf Tournament earlier this spring.

There will be six flights in the tourney and for a hole-in-one during the competition, a golf cart and trailer furnished by Midway Motors will be given as the prize.

A field of approximately 150 golfers are expected to be on hand when the tourney kicks off Saturday morning.

The leaders of Saturday's first round will tee off Sunday afternoon at approximately 1 p. m.

The top eight golfers in the championship flight will be in the same two foursomes. The public is invited to attend and watch the tournament.

One Way Or Another, Carew Comes Through

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Say, who was that blur on the basepaths? That was no blur - that was Rod Carew.

Revered more as a hitter than a speedster, the veteran used both his legs and his head Wednesday night in leading the Minnesota Twins to a 3-2 victory over the California wangles.

Carew turned an ordinary double into a triple with a daring burst in the seventh inning, and that bit of highway robbery with one out eventually led to Craig Kusick's game-winning sacrifice fly.

"I don't think I would have tried to get three out of it if there had been two outs or another pitcher besides Frank Tanana," said Carew. "You don't score too many runs off him."

Dave Goltz blanked the Angels after giving up two runs in the first inning. The burly right-hander scattered nine hits, struck out eight and walked two while going the distance for the fourth time this season.

Tanana, 10-3, fanned just three, walked four and hit one batter. Jerry Remy tripled, doubled, and singled twice for the Angels, who fell 4½ games behind the frontrunning Twins in the American League West.

Mariners 6, A's 5

Juan Bernhardt's two-out single in the 11th inning capped a two-run rally as Seattle edged Oakland. Mike Kekich, 4-1, pitched four innings of relief and picked up the victory. Pablo Torrealba, 3-1, took the defeat.

Dave Collins opened the 11th for Seattle with an infield single, moved to second on Bill Stein's sacrifice and scored on Larry Milbourne's single, tying the score 5-5.

Dave Giusti then replaced Torrealba. Skip Jutze sacrificed Milbourne to second and Bernhardt then singled for the winning run.

Rangers 6, Indians 0

Mike Marshall, Adrian Devine and Darold Knowles combined on a four-hitter as Texas defeated Cleveland and handed the Indians their fourth straight loss.

Marshall allowed three hits before tiring in his third start of the year. Devine pitched the eighth and Knowles the ninth for Texas, which swept the three-game series.

Brewers 6, Orioles 2

Don Money capped Milwaukee's six-run second inning with a two-run homer, and the Brewers went on to defeat Baltimore behind the combined seven-hit pitching of Jim Slaton and Sam Hinds.

Money had two singles in addition to his homer, giving him 12 hits in his last eight games.

Tigers 9, Blue Jays 0

Fernando Arroyo fired a five-hitter for his first major league shutout as Detroit beat Toronto. Arroyo kept Toronto batters blasting the ball into the dirt most of the game, and Tigers first baseman Jason Thompson made 16 of the Tigers' 27 putouts.

Reds To Roll Out Red Carpet For Tom Seaver

By NORM CLARKE
AP Sports Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds have the red carpet out for Tom Seaver — with team captain Pete Rose heading the welcoming committee.

"I just hope Tom is as anxious to come here as we are to have him," said Rose Wednesday night after learning that the two-time world champions had just acquired the fire-balling righthander from the New York Mets.

"This gives us the premier pitcher in baseball. It will be like fielding an All-Star team," said Manager Sparky Anderson.

"We gave up a lot, but we got a lot," said Anderson. "Seaver may be the all-time all-timer before he is through."

"This," said Reds' pitching coach Larry Shepard, "takes the pressure off the other pitchers like Sandy Koufax did for the Dodgers."

The Reds gave up starting pitcher Pat Zachry, utility infielder Doug Flynn and promising minor league outfielders Steve Henderson and Dan Norman for the three-time Cy Young Award winner.

The trade ends the Reds' long search for a dominant pitcher to go with an awesome offense which has produced 108 and 102 regular season victories the past two years.

Seaver, 32, figures to offset the loss of relief ace Rawly Eastwick, who was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals for reliever Doug Capilla.

Eastwick, the National League's top fireman last year was the only unsigned Cincinnati player and had recently lashed out at management.

He was booed while warming up in the 10th inning of Wednesday's 8-7 victory over the Philadelphia Phils.

"They gave me away and I expected them to," said

Eastwick, who has led the league in saves the past two years.

"I hope these guys go to the playoffs and win three in a row again — but not for the front office, for the players," said the 26-year-old righthander.

Also traded was reliever Mike Caldwell, who was sent to Milwaukee for two minor leaguers.

Anderson said the Seaver deal was formulated Sunday, but not finalized until late Wednesday night.

Rose had a hunch something big was brewing. "I knew it was coming. Things you don't expect, that's how Howsam works," said Rose, speaking in subdued clubhouse as traded players said their goodbyes.

He sought out Eastwick and told him "you can still help us. Get out to the West Coast Friday and get Ron Cey out with the bases loaded."

Catcher Johnny Bench expressed worry over "so much turnover." "We've got four guys gone and we have to fill those spots. But it is nice to know we have Seaver going out there every four or five days."

Anderson, ecstatic that the Reds did not break up their powerful eight-man offensive lineup, said the Mets "filled their needs by getting an outfielder Henderson, an infielder Flynn and a rookie of the year pitcher."

He said Henderson did not figure to break into the Reds outfield for three or four more years and Flynn would have been relegated to reserve duty behind Joe Morgan and Dave Concepcion, a pair of All-Star performers.

Cards Might Have Best Relievers In Baseball

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "We had a good bullpen even before we got Rawly Eastwick," noted Clay Carroll after helping to prove the point.

"I think the key to the game might have been the job Carroll did," St. Louis Manager Vern Rapp said after the Cardinals' 9-5 victory over the San Francisco Giants Wednesday night.

Carroll, 36, is the senior member of what Rapp feels "is just one of the finest bullpens in the National League right now," with the talented but unsigned Eastwick coming from Cincinnati in exchange for minor league pitcher Doug Capilla.

The Giants, who got a two-run homer from Marc Hill in the second inning, stretched their lead to 4-0 in the third but it could have been even bigger. Carroll rescued Pete Falcone after the starter allowed three straight singles, getting out of the inning by facing four men and not allowing a hit.

A six-run fourth featuring Ted Simmons' two-run homer sent St. Louis ahead, but the Giants tied it with two quick runs off Butch Metzger in the fifth.

"That inning hurt the most — bases loaded with none out and we only mustered two runs," Giants Manager Joe Altobelli said.

Rookie reliever John Urrea, 2-3, pitched out of that jam with the help of a double play and stayed on until the end, allowing one hit in five innings.

That hit was Derrell Thomas' ninth inning single, the fourth hit of the game for the Giants player who raised his average to .271.

Jerry Mumphrey and Keith Hernandez belted doubles in the seventh as St. Louis scored three runs off Randy Moffitt, 1-4, to make Urrea a winner.

The Cardinals' team batting average rose to .288 with their 14-hit attack, but most of the postgame conversation was about the bullpen staff.

"Wow. Carroll, Eastwick, Al Hrabosky, Butch Metzger, Buddy Schultz. I don't know who they'll send down," said Hernandez who is batting .317. "I suppose it might have been Urrea, but look at the job he just did."

Rapp said, "John is just 22 and pitched Double A ball last year. But he had such a good spring training that he stayed with us. He's done quite a job for a young fellow."

While the Cardinals participated in baseball's busy trading night, Giants General Manager Spec Richardson struck out in efforts to acquire much-needed pitching help.

Starting pitchers John Montefusco and Lynn McGlothen are out with injuries, and when Altobelli looked ahead to a Sunday doubleheader here against Pittsburgh he said, "We'll pitch Bob Knepper and somebody."

Mets Lose Kingman And Seaver But Pick Up Win

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

The New York Mets lost Tom Seaver, Dave Kingman and Mike Phillips Wednesday night. The Mets also won a game Wednesday night.

While the team's front office was busy wheeling and dealing before the major league trading deadline, the Mets blew a 4-0 lead before rallying for a 6-5 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Bruce Boischla hit a two-run homer and John Milner collected a single, triple and three RBI in the triumph. For Milner, it was a happy homecoming.

Boischla said he knew he was about to hit a home run as soon as he saw Atlanta starter Joey McLaughlin's delivery in the third inning.

Reds 8, Phillies 7 10 Innings

George Foster's 5th homer of the season with two out in the ninth tied the score and Pete Rose singled home pinch runner Champ Summers in the 10th with the winner for the Reds. Home runs by Mike Schmidt, Greg Luzinski and Richie Hebner helped the Phillies build their early lead before the Reds scored four runs in the seventh to close in.

Expos 2, Astros 0

Brown won his third consecutive game for the Expos, who gained their eighth triumph in the last 12 games. "I established my curve ball early and fooled the hitters in the late innings," said Brown. "I made a few bad pitches on occasions but the hitters got themselves out."

Dodgers 10, Pirates 1

Steve Garvey homered for the fourth consecutive game and Dusty Baker celebrated the signing of a new four-year contract with a homer and three runs batted in for Los Angeles. Rick Rhoden coasted to his ninth victory in 12 decisions with late relief from Mike Garman.

The Dodgers broke open the game with a seven-run sixth inning in which they sent 12 batters to the plate.

Cubs 2, Padres 0

Reuschel won his third straight game with a four-hitter as the surprising Cubs posted their sixth straight victory. Reuschel, who struck out nine, has not allowed an earned run in his last 26 innings.

Manny Trillo, the leading hitter in the National League with a .375 average, had three singles for the Cubs.

Seaver To Reds, Cards Pick Up Rawly Eastwick

By The Associated Press

The top names bartered away before baseball's trading deadline also were the biggest name-callers in recent weeks.

—Tom Seaver once called his boss "a lunatic."

—Dave Kingman said his employers were living in the dark ages.

—And Rawly Eastwick said his chiefs were good at backstabbing.

These players today work for different organizations, although it was ironic that Seaver now plays for the team Eastwick could not stand.

Seaver, perhaps the top pitcher in baseball the past 10 years, and Kingman, a boom-or-bust slugger, were traded by the New York Mets Wednesday night.

The right-handed Seaver went to the Cincinnati Reds for right-handed pitcher Pat Zachry, the National League's rookie of the year in 1976, infielder Doug Flynn and minor league outfielders Steve Henderson and Dan Norman. Henderson, who swings a big bat, and Flynn, a versatile infielder, were unable to crack the Reds' talent-rich lineup.

Seaver's main complaint with his boss, M. Donald Grant, was that he was cheap. He would not lay out millions for last year's talented free agents and he would not renegotiate Seaver's three-year, $675,000 contract.

Bob Howsam, the Reds' president, said Seaver's contract would not be renegotiated this year.

Kingman takes his all-or-nothing bat to San Diego, where he will be toiling for the Padres, who did spend millions on a couple of free agents last year. Kingman, who is unsigned, also thought Grant was tight with money. It was not known whether Kingman would sign with the Padres, who sent reserve infielder Bobby Valentine and left-handed pitcher Paul Siebert to the Mets.

Eastwick also was unsigned and he said that he does not intend to put his name on a St. Louis contract. The Cardinals, who now pack a potent one-two punch in Eastwick and Al Hrabosky out of the bullpen, sent minor league pitcher Doug Capilla to the Reds in the deal.

In other transactions involving the Reds, Cincinnati dealt left-handed pitcher Mike Caldwell to the Milwaukee Brewers for a pair of minor leaguers, Richard O'Keeffe, a left-handed pitcher, and shortstop Garry Pyka, and acquired the contract of utility infielder Rick Auerbach from the Texas Rangers.

The Mets did not stop when they had unloaded their stars. They traded infielder Mike Phillips to St. Louis for outfielder Joel Youngblood.

In other deals, the Pittsburgh Pirates sent pinch-hitter Ed Kirkpatrick to Texas for infielder Jim Fregosi. Oakland acquired outfielder Willie Crawford from Houston for outfielder Dennis Walling, and the New York Yankees got catcher Cliff Johnson for a pair of minor leaguers and a player to be named later.

TAX CREDITS

Now there's a new way to insulate your home — foam your home with Rapco-Foam Insulation. Instead of fiber that can leave un-insulated pockets, Rapco-Foam is pumped into walls and ceiling spaces as a liquid foam that looks a lot like shaving cream.

It gets into every crevice of your walls, completely filling the un-insulated spaces. In a short time it becomes firm, creating a highly efficient thermal barrier that can save you hundreds of dollars in heating and cooling bills. Rapco-Foam is non-combustible, it eliminates living space for mice and insects within the walls, and it can be pumped in with existing insulation.

We can foam most homes in a day without disrupting your routine — and the only sign we've been there is your lower fuel bills.

Pate Wants His Rivals To Feel Sorry For Him

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
TULSA, Okla. (AP) —
Defending champion Jerry
Pate had the rest of the U. S.
Open field just where he wanted them today — "feeling sorry for me."

"I'm going to give everybody something to write about...there's no reason why I can't win," said the 23-year-old former University of Alabama star who has been plagued with a shoulder injury
since he won the Phoenix Open, the first tournament of the year.

Purcell Wins Two In State Closed Play

Unseeded Mel Purcell of Murray picked up two wins
Wednesday in the Kentucky
Closed Tennis Championships
at Louisville.

Purcell, the reigning state high school singles champion and the newest recruit at Memphis State, won two shutout matches.

In the first round, he defeated John Roth of Frankfort 6-0 and 6-0 then in the second round, won 6-0, 6-0 over Craig Sacra of Louisville.

Gary Plock, an All-American who will be a senior at the University of Texas next fall, is the top-seeded player in the tourney. J.T.
Sims, a Lexington teaching pro, is seeded second while Jamie Howell is third and Dale Cochran fourth.

Purcell passed up the Joe Creason Tournament, which served as a qualifying round for the Southern Closed Tournament.

Three Murray girls, Jill Austin, Kathy Outland and Candy Jackson qualified for the Southern Closed on Tuesday.

Austin will play at Nashville in the Southern Closed for 16-year-olds while Jackson and Outland are in the 14-year-old division at Mobile, Ala.

Also playing at Nashville in the 18-year-old division will be Brent Austin, who qualified for the Southern Closed by reaching the semifinal play at the Joe Creason Tournament.

With a field of 152 other players chasing Pate on the opening round of the 77th National Championship, the confident Georgian said: "I'm pain-free, both physically and mentally. I was on the practice tee Wednesday and my shoulder and arms no longer hurt. I wasn't even thinking about it until somebody mentioned it."

Pate has abandoned the use of the drug butazolin which had helped ease the inflammation in his shoulder.

Chi Chi Rodriguez, whose suddenly revamped game has made him one of the favorites
over Southern Hills Country Club's 6,873 yards of treachery, said "Jerry is playing so well I wish he had taken another month off. He's really putting."

Pate, one of the PGA's young turks with the nerveless putting touch, is aware that repeaters have seldom been successful in the Open. Since 1920 only Bobby Jones (1929-
1930), Ralph Guldahl (1937-
1938) and Ben Hogan (1950-1951), have repeated in America's most prestigious tournament.

Pate said he felt "somebody is going to shoot this thing under par if the weather stays like it has. The greens are super slick but fair. The rough is tough and is going to get tougher. But the weather is the main thing."

Arnold Palmer, the golfing giant who has joined the over-40 crowd and had to qualify, was on the scene but not expected to be a threat, as was the legendary 65-year-old Sam
Snead, still seeking that first Open.

Practice And Prescriptions Sum Up Field For U.S. Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus hobbled into the locker room, limping on his right foot.

"Stepped into a hole back home at Muirfield last week," he said. "Not serious, I hope.
But, see, I've had to cut out my shoe to ease the pressure."

Across the room, young Ben Crenshaw wheezed and sneezed. "This chest cold; can't shake it," he said. "Been bothering me for weeks. I had to skip Memphis last week."

Elsewhere, Jerry Pate held a virtual clinic in trying to explain the pinched nerve in his shoulder that has erased him from all but one tournament since the Masters. And Lee Trevino continues to wince from the back operation that has dulled his magnificent game.

"Nicklaus, Crenshaw, Pate, and Trevino — take your choice," mused Fred Corcoran, the graying Bostonian whose life has been inextricably woven into one-half century of American golf.
"One of them is certain to win."

Joseph C. Dey Jr., who as a reporter chronicled Bob Jones' 1930 Grand Slam and later became the virtual czar of both amateur and pro golf, nodded agreement.

Practice, practice, practice
— that's one prescription for attaining golf success.
Another is to come down with pneumonia or break a leg just before teeing up the ball in a big event, such as the 77th U.
S. Open, starting today at the Southern Hills Country Club.

One of the most notable cases involved Craig Wood at Colonial in Fort Worth in 1941.
Playing in a tournament in the East, Wood dropped a razor
while shaving one morning and wrenched his back when he bent to retrieve it.

The pain was excruciating.
He had to pull out of the tournament. He took off for Texas with a corset around his waist and a board to sleep on.

He started the tournament with a seven. On the second hole, he flubbed his drive, dead-topped his second and sent his third scurrying 40 feet past the pin.

"Picking it up — I'm quitting," Wood told his caddie. Tommy Armour and Mike Turnesa prevailed upon him to continue. Wood sank the putt and when, cringing every time he swung his club and suffering sleepless nights, went on to win the championship.

BOWLING

SEATTLE — Jay Robinson of Los Angeles held a 35-pin advantage over Mark Roth of New York after the third round of the $95,000 Columbia
PBA National Championship
tournament.

LUBE JOE—Sam Outland finishes a lube job on portions of the city's street sweeper which he estimates cost the city as much as $21,000.

Staff Photos by Pete Wyro

Sam Outland Does Not Worry About Traffic While On Job

By PETE WYRO
Murray Ledger & Times Staff Writer

By the time that Sam Outland drives to his business in Murray, he need never fear a traffic jam or slow moving traffic.

But, then, by the time Sam Outland gets to work, most folks in Murray have already settled themselves down to an evening of late night television or have already gone to bed. Why? That's simple Sam Outland is the nightly street cleaning arm of the Murray Street Department, and for the past eleven years he has swept-up, cleaned-up, painted, and fixed up Murray streets and street signs as a one man 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. shift.

But mostly, he has been the man behind the wheel of the grinding, silence-breaking, street sweeper that breaks through the stillness of the night with its trudging and rubbing along the city's forays, its yellow beacon flickering atop the cab.

For Outland, who actually runs all the night equipment of the department, the evening gets off to a quiet start as he routinely checks the Street Department offices and work buildings near the railroad tracks.

Then he methodically looks over the large, odd-shaped, white, vehicle which he will drive through most of the city thoroughfares that evening and into the dawn.

Satisfied that all is well with the machinery, Outland climbs into the cab, cranks over the engine and off he goes for his 5½ to 6 hours of nightly sweeping.

He experiences few distractions, and as he put it, "Nobody bothers me, although a lot of youngsters like to come and watch me."

Indeed he gets few distractions and except for special jobs called for by his supervisor in the form of a note left for him, Outland has the night's work pretty much as he would have it himself.

Once when a supervisor was contemplating running the sweeper in the daytime, it was Outland who pointed out that it would inevitably cause traffic tie ups brought on by the slow moving sweeper and the countless parked cars during the day, and in his word, "It just plain won't work."

If he isn't driving the almost four year old sweeper, he busies himself with other department work and has been known to flush the streets with almost 1200 gallons of water in one night to get the trash off to the side of the streets for the sweeper, and he has hauled as many as 12 loads of trash in one night from the city pavement.

Otherwise he might be seen painting the streets' "parking" and "no parking" zones, or back at the department shop fixing other pieces of equipment for the day crews.

During the past winter, Outland admits that he learned a lesson when he considered what could have happened to him had something gone wrong while he was single-handedly driving and pitching cinder compounds on the city's hills after the streets had frozen.

So far as he is concerned though, the nights of single-handed cinder spreading are out.

But Sam Outland still holds to his independent, one-man show with the street sweeper during the warm months, and in his own way is doing something many public figures promise in another way, namely to "Clean up that town."

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 17, 1977

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)
Direct your innate enthusiasm into progressive channels. You can accomplish more than many others during this period. Especially favored: business transactions, real estate interests.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)
Be patient if things don't go quite according to plan. An unforeseen, but necessary, alteration in your program could prove quite beneficial in the long run.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
Stellar influences indicate new activities, intriguing experiences and the imaginative revitalization of all interests. Enjoy your day!

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
A better day for completing pending projects than for beginning new ones. Make plans for the latter, but don't launch until early next week.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Watch finances, but don't become overly anxious about them. Just make up your mind to pursue a conservative and realistic course.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Stars promise interesting developments and growth in areas that should stimulate your ambitions — and your ever-active mind.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Venus, benefic, invites you to bring forth your finest now. The only way in which you could possibly stymie good results is through hasty action — not normal with you.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Don't put off tiresome tasks or you'll regret it later. They'll be twice as difficult to handle. Find ways to advance not noted before.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Good Jupiter influences! Trigger all action to blend with the top offerings of the day and add finesse to make matters run as smoothly as possible.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Certain limitations to your progress can be overcome if you take time to reevaluate your aims and expand your program so as to make better use of your talents.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Don't mix business and pleasure to the detriment of either — which usually means both. In conferences, listen BEFORE you speak. A day for caution.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
Greater recognition for your efforts indicated. Shake off a current tendency toward self-doubt. You are a bundle of talents. Use them!

YOU BORN TODAY have the mind, and usually the inclination, for intellectual pursuits. You also have a great love of beauty but, unlike many other Geminians, may prefer a business career to an artistic one. If so, you could best succeed at banking, manufacturing or commerce. Those of this date are also scientifically inclined and could especially excel in chemistry, physics or medicine.

Let's Stay Well

Bladder Infections

By F.J.L. BLASINGAME, M.D.

Q: Mrs. E.A., 50 years old, complains that she has recurrent bouts of bladder trouble. It causes a burning sensation when she urinates. Occasionally she may have passed small amounts of blood. When these attacks occur, she takes baking soda and sometimes pills that helped a friend with a similar complaint.

A: You are apparently having recurrent attacks of inflammation of your bladder (cystitis) and your urethra (urethritis), the tube that carries urine out of your bladder.

You should be examined by a physician to find the cause of your recurrent trouble.

Your urine needs to be studied and cultured to determine the exact kind of infection you have. An appropriate medicine can be selected to kill the particular germs that are irritating your bladder. This approach is much wiser than taking medicine prescribed for another person.

Take care in cleaning yourself after going to the toilet. Contamination from the rectum forward into the vagina and urethra can readily take place in women. Wipe downward from your urethra after urination and backward in cleaning yourself after bowel movements.

Showers are preferable to tub baths.

Sexual intercourse has been blamed as a cause of such recurrent infections, but many authorities view it as an irritating factor only. Intercourse should be avoided when you are having a flare-up of trouble.

Occasionally, it is necessary to have one's bladder and urethra examined through a cystoscope to rule out the possibility of a stone or growth and to see that no obstruction exists to the free passage of urine.

I advise you to seek help rather than try to treat yourself for the symptoms you describe. Most cases such as yours can be readily and successfully managed by an experienced physician.

FATHER

Shirley Florist
& GARDEN CENTER

by Jean McClure

There are some simple steps you can take to keep your flower arrangements fresh. Whether you prepare a bouquet of garden flowers for your own enjoyment or receive a formal centerpiece for an occasion, you will want to enjoy your flowers as long as possible. To do this, keep them away from direct sunlight, heat and drafts. Add fresh tepid water each day or change the water completely using the correct amount of floral preservative. Spray with a fine mist daily and store in the refrigerator overnight if you have room. When the droops appear, remove wilted leaves and flowers, change the design or make a new, more simple arrangement.

Our floral designers at SHIRLEY FLORIST & GARDEN CENTER, 502 North Fourth Street, 753-3251 will create an original flower arrangement that will not only be spectacular looking but will last longer. We invite you to stop by and say hello to Maxine McEmore, Pauline Jones, Frankie Herndon and Mickey Lents who will gladly give you floral needs their personal attention. Member of FTD, Teleflora and AFS. "Flowers and Plants for all Occasions" We are open Mon.-Sat. from 8 to 5.

FLOWER TIP: A plastic cover over a floral arrangement at night will keep moisture in.

Education Official Going To KSBA Post

FRANKFORT — A top Kentucky education official will leave the Department of Education soon to become the executive director of the Kentucky School Boards Association (KSBA). James P. Melton, associate superintendent of public instruction, will leave that post June 30 to replace the present KSBA executive director Maurice Bement, who is retiring.

Melton was appointed associate superintendent in January 1976 after having headed the Bureau of Administration and Finance for Local School Districts since 1964.

In addition to his extensive background in school administration and finance, Melton has served as a classroom teacher, principal, general supervisor and superintendent in public school systems.

Melton has served as a public school finance consultant to the U. S. Office of Education, National Educational Finance Project, Governor's Task Force on Educational Finance, and the state education departments in Alabama, Ohio, Tennessee and Mississippi.

After earning his bachelor's degree in education from Union College and his master's degree at Eastern Kentucky University, Melton taught business administration in a North Carolina school system for two years before returning to Kentucky.

He served as an elementary and secondary principal in Lincoln County from 1952 until 1955. He then moved to Bourbon County where he served as an elementary principal, supervisor, assistant superintendent and later as superintendent.

Mrs. Ivan Futrell's yard at 1001 Poplar Street, Murray, has been selected by the Garden Department of the Murray Woman's Club as the residential yard of the month. Plantings of euonymus, japonica, crepe myrtle, hydrangea, weigela, beauty-bush nandina, and azaleas have been used around the house and yard. Mrs. Futrell is particularly fond of the oak-leaf hydrangea, bamboo and blue lilies. The flower beds in front of the house are especially lovely. A variegated ground cover has been used to border the beds. Blooming now are roses, petunias, asbes and marigolds. A Boston fern and red geraniums carefully placed on the porch along with a variety of other plants add to the overall beauty of the house and yard.

The Garden Department of the Murray Woman's Club has selected the North Branch of the Peoples Bank as the non-residential yard of the month. The Chestnut Street entrance to the bank is planted with Pigmy Barberry. Highlighting the east end of the lot are Dwarf Pyracantha and a variety of hollies. Shademaster Locust Trees, Helleri Holly and monkey grass have been used on the island in the parking lot. Magnolia, Euonymus Manhattan, and various species of holly can be seen around the building. Special treatment was given to the southeast corner of the building when a cluster of shrubs, known as the burning bush, was planted. Watch for flowers in season in the planters at the drive-up window. The back of the lot will be its loveliest during the spring when the forsythia, sand cherry, plum, dogwood, and French lilacs are in bloom.

Kentucky Teachers Discover Great Outdoors As Classroom

FRANKFORT — With a little imagination and some help from a mobile environmental education lab, Kentucky teachers are discovering that the great outdoors can be the most versatile and attention-holding classroom around.

When the environmental van rolls into a schoolyard, it's a sign that teachers have planned anything from planting trees or testing water pollution to writing poetry or thinking of adjectives that begin with "m."

"Teachers are often hesitant about taking children out of the confines of the classroom," said Nancy Sterns, who operates the environmental education van from Murray State University.

She explained that as teachers become more aware of possible outdoor learning activities, they feel more at ease about teaching outside the classroom.

"Opportunities for learning out of doors are limitless," Nancy said. She explained that classrooms don't fill a child's needs. "We need to make learning fun for kids. Teachers become frustrated because they are competing with so many other media," she said.

Outdoor studies can relate to every grade level and every subject area. "Out in the environment, we are teaching the basics," Nancy said.

Math can be taught while surveying a field or determining the height of a tree by measuring the angle and shadow.

Social studies classes boil walnut hulls to discover how their ancestors made dyes.

Charcoal rubbings of tree bark, rock faces or other natural objects teach students the beauty of nature.

Opportunities for language arts activities vary from having students describe what they see outdoors, to having them write a story using their surroundings as a setting, to having youngsters find eight objects outdoors that begin with the letter "a."

"Most activities are right on the school grounds," Nancy said. "Teachers learn to use their own back yards as teaching tools."

The environmental education van Nancy drives was donated by the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), located in Norris, Tennessee.

Using Murray State University as a headquarters, Nancy uses the van to work with teachers in the schools, to conduct in-service programs showing teachers how to use the outdoors as a learning experience and to deliver materials to teachers for their use in teaching.

The van presently serves the 11 school districts which make up the Western Kentucky Environmental Education Consortium (WKEEC). Initial funding for the consortium has been provided by Murray and TVA. Within five years WKEEC will be self-sustaining, obtaining the majority of its financial assistance from the participating school systems and special grants.

Shaw Blankenship, director of the consortium, said, "The consortium is a cooperative effort. The schools are voluntarily putting money into the program to support environmental education in their districts."

Nancy mentioned one school which is planning a fishing outing for students. The youngsters will dry cane and make their own poles. They will make fish "art prints" with some of their catch and dissect others in an impromptu biology lesson. And, if they catch enough fish, they may even have a fish fry.

Another school plans to decorate a tree for the birds with strung popcorn at Christmas.

"Many of the activities are awareness-oriented," Nancy said. Teachers are working to make their students more aware of the environment and their place in it.

Area Nazarene Church Leaders Plan Meetings

Local Nazarenes will attend the annual assembly and auxiliary conventions June 20-24, 1977.

The assembly of the Kentucky District, which includes 80 churches, convenes at 9:00 a. m., June 21, and concludes after an ordination service on Wednesday evening, June 22. A special pre-assembly rally will be held Monday, 7:30 p. m., June 20.

The district missionary convention will be all day Thursday, June 23, with a special missionary rally at 7:30 p. m. featuring Rev. Harmon Schmelenbach, missionary to Africa. The church schools and youth conventions will both be held on Friday, June 24, and will close with a combined rally at 7:30 p. m.

All of the sessions are slated to be held in the Farmdale Church of the Nazarene, 6501 Vandave Ave., Louisville. Rev. Oliver Huff is the host pastor.

The business of the assembly includes reports, elections, and planning for the 1977-78 church year. Each of the churches will be recognized and its statistics compiled. Rev. Aleck G. Ulmet, district superintendent, will read his fourth report.

Dr. Eugene L. Stowe, general superintendent, will preside and speak at the opening of each morning session. He is one of a six-man board of general superintendents, elected at the quadrennial general assemblies, who direct the affairs of the church through the 165 districts in 66 nations of the world.

The Church of the Nazarene is making many changes required by its rapid internationalization. Of the total 605,185 members, 25 per cent are outside the United States and Canada. A growth percentage of 3.18 was reported in 1976. Sunday school attendance has continued to show increase at a record pace with more than a million and a quarter people enrolled in its local schools. The church now broadcasts around the world in nine languages.

Brooks Chapel To Hold Bible School

The annual Vacation Bible School will be held at the Brooks Chapel United Methodist Church starting Monday, June 20.

Classes for nursery through the youth group will be held from seven to nine p. m. through Friday, June 24. The Rev. Johnson Easley is pastor of the church and invites all children and youth in the area to attend.

4. In Memory
JUST A YEAR ago today our loved one Harry P. Key went to his eternal home - This poem was written by his niece Betty Palmer.

An Uninvited Guest
Death's angel came to our house,
Was an uninvited guest,
Took our loved one home to glory
Where all is content and rest.

Came right in without knocking,
Did not even use the door,
Took life from our dear loved one - Transplanted it on Heaven's shore.

This earth was, just, a garden
Where he planted it with love,
Now, he's reaping the harvest
With the Reaper up above.

We miss you Dad with all our love, Jessie, Gary, Jerry, Julia Ann, Faye, Joyce, Danny, Deana, Dana Denese, Debbie and Lee Ann.

43 Drownings Reported On TVA Lakes in 1976

Forty-three people drowned in 1976 while participating in water recreation on TVA lakes, according to figures compiled by TVA's Division of Environmental Planning.

"These figures represent a tragic waste of human life," said Dr. Peter A. Krenkel, division director. "However, it is a significant reduction when compared to 1975, when 63 people drowned in TVA lakes."

Krenkel said the number of drownings varies from year to year, but the general trend has been a decline in the frequency rate of drownings when related to the amount of recreation activity.

"Although recreational visits to TVA lakes have increased steadily over the years, the number of drownings has not increased proportionately," he said.

"I believe greater public awareness of the need for water safety is one of the most important factors in bringing about this improvement," Krenkel said. "However, not only do people need to learn about water safety, they need to practice it at all times. Most drownings could be prevented if people would follow a few basic water safety precautions."

Krenkel said boaters can cut the death rate by avoiding unsafe practices such as standing in small boats, overloading or overpowering boats, or anchoring or tying boats near dams and locks where sudden discharges of water may occur. He said boaters and skiers should always wear an approved lifejacket while on the water.

"We estimate that more than half of last year's 43 drownings could have been prevented if the victims had been wearing one of the personal flotation devices approved by the U. S. Coast Guard," Krenkel said.

Everyone who uses the water should learn to swim correctly and also know how to aid others who may be in trouble, Krenkel said. He noted that last year at least four swimmers were rescued and revived.

"If someone nearby had not known rescue techniques and how to administer artificial resuscitation properly, these young people would likely have become four more drowning statistics," Krenkel said.

Each year TVA publishes a leaflet entitled "Some Facts on Drownings in TVA Lakes" which summarizes the number of drownings in each TVA lake, gives the circumstances involved, and also provides valuable safety tips for water recreation. Free copies are available from the Division of Environmental Planning, 401 Building, Chattanooga, Tennessee 37401, or from any district office of TVA's Division of Property and Services.

The Division of Environmental Planning also loans without charge a water safety film entitled "Not By A Dam Site" which illustrates the hazards of boating close to dams, locks, and hydroelectric generating plants.

Green Plain Plans Gospel Meet Sunday

The Green Plain Church of Christ will be engaged in a gospel meeting scheduled to begin on Sunday, June 19, and continue through Friday, June 24. Services on Sunday will be at 10:45 a. m. and 6:00 p. m. Each weekday, the services will be at 7:30 in the evening.

Speaker for this series of services will be Jay Lockhart of Sugarland, Texas. Mr. Lockhart is well known in Calloway County having preached for the New Providence, Green Plain, and Seventh and Poplar Churches of Christ in the past. He has also preached in numerous gospel meetings in the county since moving to Texas.

Congregational singing at every service will be directed by Charles Enoch, Danny Herndon, Frank Pool, and Walter Lee Stealy; song leaders for the church.

The church building is located south of Murray, on the Old Murray-Paris Road. Anyone desiring transportation to any of the services may ride the church buses by phoning 492-8206, a spokesman said.

KET's GED Reaches Out Far And Near

After just two years, the General Educational Development (GED) series on KET has reached a number of people and places that few expected when the program began.

The GED series was designed to help people get the basics in reading, math, science and social studies so they can pass the GED or high school equivalency exam. It is not intended as a shortcut or substitute for high school, or as a replacement for adult education centers.

"The GED is not better than high school, but it may be some people's only opportunity for a high school education," says Bill Wilson, assistant director of the project. Out of Kentucky's population of 3.2 million, research indicates there are over a million without a high school education, he says.

The series consists of 34 half-hour programs, first nationally distributed in 1975 when the Cambridge Publishing Company published accompanying books and teacher's guides.

The Roanoke Adult Education Center in White Plains, N. Y., was the first school to use KET's GED series in an adult education program, and according to a newsletter, "has produced excellent results with GED students."

Roanoke research indicates that after over 19 months of using the KET system, over 10 per cent more of the students enrolled attend the adult education classes and about 10 fewer students drop out of these classes each month.

Presently the series is being used in 40 states and in the second largest community college system in the country, in Illinois. The GED series is used in over 300 learning centers across the U. S. and in national, state and local correctional facilities in addition to some Indian reservations in Oklahoma.

The programs are now being piloted by the U. S. Armed Services, and will be shown on over 200 ships for the Marines, Army and Navy. Some men on aircraft carriers have already taken the test in Italy and Spain, Wilson says.

About 4100 people have enrolled in KET's GED program in Kentucky, both with and without teacher supervision. "We have no way of knowing all the people who are watching," says Patty Jones, KET's head of research.

According to an Arbitron survey, about 1,000 households are watching KET's GED series on an average Thursday. "That's not bad, since it's a specific target audience," Ms. Jones says. "We're not trying to attract everyone."

Although KET may not be trying to reach everyone with the GED program, it tries to meet the needs of everyone who's interested. Two years ago, through special funds from the state department of education, as a demonstration project, KET was able to put GED on video cassettes as a tool for individualized instruction, in 13 Kentucky adult learning centers, says Christie Arnold, KET's adult education specialist.

Project findings concluded that "television would lend a powerful visual reinforcement to studies in learning centers, and that the programs would speed the learners' studies and thereby decrease instructional hours."

Research by the Appalachian Adult Education Center (AAEC) found that people who studied with the TV series alone or in conjunction with additional instruction learn just as effectively as those studying with other methods, such as traditional classes and learning centers.

The AAEC research also found that 91 per cent of the KET-GED students who take the high school equivalency test pass it.

For over a year, there has been no "aggressive outreach," or hearty promotion as when GED first started, Ms. Arnold says. Evidently, it isn't needed as much now, for enrollment continues to climb about 50 students each month.
