OLD PEOPLE

Do not always receive the sympathy and attention which they deserve. Their ailments are regarded as purely imaginary, or natural and unavoidable at their time of life. Disenfee and infirmity should not always be associated with old age. The eye of the gray haired grandchild may be as bright and the complexion as fair as any of his younger and more vigorous companions.

Good Blood is the secret of healthy old age and controls every part of the body, strengthens the muscles and keeps the system free from the effects of the elements. In old age, when the body is weakened and the system is poisoned and losing its nutritive elements, then there is a rapid decline of the vitality in premature old age and disease. Any derangement or shows itself in an ulcer, sore, wart, tumor or some growth upon the body, and rheumatic and neuralgic pain

NEGROES LYNCHED IN NORTH

(Special to New Era.)
PHILIPPI, V. Va., July 24.—
There was a double lynching at Womelsdorf, near here last night.

Two negroes, whose names are unknown, were lynched in a brutal manner by an angry mob numbering several hundred persons.

The first negro was shot and killed in the station house where he was under arrest; the other was taken to the park, hung and his body riddled by hundreds of bullets and then cut and hacked to pieces.

Whites and blacks are both up in arms and trouble is hourly expected.
The trouble grew out of the murder of the chief of police yesterday.
Other negroes have been arrested.

THE KING'S CONDITION

(Special to New Era.)
LONDON, July 23. The King makes progress in strength. British Medical Journal says: "We are glad to be able to say that the king is doing well in all respects. There is no truth in the statement that he has walked nor is there any foundation for the assertion that he is worse."

Take a look at my line of cakes and see if I can make cakes. Rau-bold's Bakery 9th street opposite Methodist church.

J. E. Mott of Huntington, Ind., Was Highest Bidder.

The telephone franchise advertised to be sold by the city council, at its meeting of July 10, was offered at public auction at 2 o'clock at city court room by Mayor Henry and J.
E. Mott, of Huntington, Ind., secured it for three dollars. There was only one other bid made, Henry Blumenstiel making a bid of two dollars which Mr. Mott raised to three. This sale, of course, will have to be approved by the city council before it will become legal.

Mr. Mott stated to a New Era representative that work of putting in the new system would be commenced
as soon as practicable.

AMERICANS IN THE PHILIPPINES.

(Special to New Era.)
WASHINGTON, July 24.—Major
James Parker, of the adjutant general's office, has compiled statistics showing that there were 2,561 engagements between the American troops and the Filipinos between February 4, 1899, and April 30, 1902.
The percentage of killed and wounded Americans to the strength of the army is 9.7. Disease carried off forty-seven officers and 2,535 enlisted men.

SEVERE ELECTRICAL STORM

DOES MUCH DAMAGE
NEAR INDIANAPOLIS.

TWO LIVES WERE LOST.

Barns, Church and Much
'Other Property Was Destroyed.

MOTHER JONES' CASES.

(Special to New Era.)
INDIANAPOLIS, July 24.—A severe electrical storm passed north of the city last night instantly killing one man, fatally injuring a boy, destroying a number of barns, a church and causing considerable other damage.

MOTHER JONES CASES

(Special to New Era.)
PARKERSBURG, W. Va., July 24.—Judge Jackson, of the federal court rendered his decision in the "Mother Jones" contempt cases this morning. The conclusion reached was that all the defendants had violated the injunction and were guilty of contempt of court. Sentence in the cases was postponed until this afternoon.

The injunction that these people disobeyed was most sweeping in its terms.

Making Improvements.

Considerable improvement is being made in the track and roadbed of the Elkton and Guthrie railroad.
Five thousand new cross-ties have recently been laid and that many more are to be put down in the next five or six months.

Highland Chapel Notes.

Mr. Dick Elliott, of St. Louis, is at home or a visit.

Miss Inez Bowles, is visiting Miss Mabel Stamps, of Fairview neighborhood.

Mr. Volney Lacy is quite ill.
Mr. Hugh Evans, of Mt. Pleasant,
Tenn., is visiting relatives here.

Mr. Harry Elliott is improving.
Miss Willie Shepherd, entertained a number of her young friends Tuesday evening.

Miss Lucy May Wade is quite ill.
A number of pioneers spent Saturday at Fleming's Cave.

We regret exceedingly to know that some people wish their names
no longer published. Violet.

Exciting Experience.

Chas. Bailey, Jr., of Clarksville, was thrown from his buggy and dragged half a mile, by a runaway horse a couple of days ago, but fortunately escaped with only a few bruises and a dislocated thumb. His escape from serious injury was little short of marvelous.

Camp Meeting.

The Sebree camp meeting will begin on the Cascade grounds near Sebree, Aug. 7th and continue until the 17th. These meetings are looked forward to each year with much interest and the indications are that the meeting this year will be one of the largest ever held there.

NUNN IS THE NAME

OF THE DEMOCRATIC AP-PELLATE NOMINEE.

COMBINE WAS NAPPING

When White Unexpectedly
Threw Nunn Enough
Votes to Nominate

THE END HARMONIOUS

(Special to New Era.)

PADUCAH, Ky., July 24.—When the appellate convention met at two o'clock yesterday afternoon pursuant to the morning adjournment the balloting began and continued for some time as it had been in the morning—without any changes and was growing exceedingly monotonous when,
as the sixty-second ballot was being taken, Judge J. D. White, who was trying to succeed himself, suddenly and without a moment's warning sprung a big separation by withdrawing from the race and then transferring enough of his votes to Judge T. J. Nunn, of Hopkins county, to give that gentleman 106 votes,
the exact number necessary to nominate him. Just at that particular time, it is said, a greater surprise could not have been sprung upon the convention, and the friends of Judges Cook, Robbins and Dorsey had not an inkling of what was to happen when White transferred his vote to Nunn, and it is said that the Henderson county delegation, with twenty votes, was caught napping and did not realize what was being done until Nunn's nomination was announced.

It had been claimed that Judge White could not control his votes for anybody else, and that fact made the surprise at his action all the greater. It is said that realizing his own ability to win, Judge White decided to name his successor and decided upon Nunn because he was not in the combination that had organized the convention.

At 3:30 o'clock the balloting was going on slowly. The delegates were paying little attention to the voting.
Sixty-one ballots had been taken,
and the sixty-first was just the same as the first: Cook, 45; Nunn, 80; Robbins, 54, and White, 31. There were no indications that the deadlock would be broken, and the delegates made up their minds to "stick it out." Judge Dorsey's friends composing the Henderson county delegation had been voting fifteen votes for Nunn and five for White. Notwithstanding this fact, they had voted with the Robbins and Cook men to organize the convention, and it was known that they were not really "lying low" until an opportunity came when there might be a chance to nominate Dorsey. Mr.
Jake Corbett started the ball to rolling by changing Ballard county's vote for White to Nunn. This did not cause a surprise, however, for he had done that way several times before. When the county of Carlisle was called the White delegates asked that it be passed. Hickman, for White, was also passed. The Henderson county delegation, the same as before, voted fifteen votes for Nunn and five for White. When Carlisle county was called again it changed its votes from White to Nunn. Hickman, on the second calling, with nine original White votes, gave six for Nunn and three for Robbins. Some delegate who had been keeping tally suddenly arose and said "Nunn's got a big lead." "I believe he's nominated," shouted another. Almost instantly there were wild cries for the vote. Chairman Yeaman announced the vote, which was: Nunn, 106; Cook, 43; Robbins, 57; White, 2.

The final vote of counties was: For Nunn, Ballard, 9; Caldwell, 7; Carlisle, 8; Crittenden, 8; Henderson, 15; Hickman, 6; Hopkins, 17; Livingston, 8; Union, 16; Webster, 12; total, 106. For Cook, Calloway, 14; Christian, 16; Lyon, 5; Trigg, 48; total, 43.
For White, Henderson county, 5.
For Robbins, Fulton, 7; Graves, 24;
Hickman, 3; Marshall, 8; McCracken, 15; total, 57.

One hundred and six votes were necessary to nominate, and Judge
White arranged it so that Judge
Nunn would get just that many.

Cook, Robbins and White then congratulated Nunn, shook his hand and promised their aid to make his majority in November the largest ever given in the district.

M'KENZIE MOSS WILL RUN AGAIN.

(Special to New Era.)

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., July 24.—Chairman Wilkins, of the Third district congressional committee, has called the committee to meet here on the 29th inst., to select time, manner and place for nominating a candidate for congress. It is now said by the leading Republicans of this city that McKenzie Moss, who was given Hon. John S. Rhea's seat in the last congress will be re-nominated without opposition. At least he has no opposition at present and none in prospect. Hon. John S.
Rhea is now actively engaged in a cavass for the Democratic nomination.

THE NEWCOMER AT PICKVILLE

(Original.)

There is a flutter among the men of the mining town facetiously dubbed Pickville. Since the place has emerged from the grub (range into the butterfly town) there have been but three women within its corporate limits, and they all married. Now comes a young woman styling herself Molly Griffon and sets up a small store. Mining supply dealers and gamblers are among the eligible men in Pickville, besides a young man, Arthur Higgins, in consumption, who came to save his life and to save souls, though he has no other church nor salary. The day after Molly Griffon's appearance every bachelor in the town was sure as to who would draw the prize, for it was not for a moment supposed that any good looking young woman would remain long in such a community without being appropriated. The question was sifted like an algebraic problem. The person was not considered at all; the mine owners had wives in the east; the merchants were none of them proud with the gun; the miners were too busy to look after their interests. This left the gamblers to fight it out among themselves.

The most drowsy among the gamblers was Fox Armstrong, and when he was observed to stop at Molly Griffon's store and buy up the first edition of the stock, cleaning out the shelves entirely, the rest of the profession concluded to keep at a safe distance. But one man in Pickville had the audacity to look against Fox Armstrong, and he was a young prospector named Stephen Bartlett. Stephen was the only man in town who seemed to find favor with the lady, and though he had not the means of wooing by trade, as in the case of Armstrong, the scale was turned in his favor by his manly and honest bearing, his cheerful disposition and certain ingenious traits which rendered him attractive to women. He was warned by his friends that as he valued his life he should refrain from any attention to Miss Molly.

As a firecracker has been known to kindle a city, so a meek and lowly man started the shooting that was bound in time to take place on account of Molly Griffon. Fox Armstrong one night ceased dealing faro at 11:30 o'clock on account of an indisposition, concluding that he would go to his room and turn in for the night after passing Molly Griffon's store, he was surprised, though all was dark within, to see the door standing ajar. Thinking that some one might be appropriating Molly's belongings and that he might win credit with her by capturing the thief, he sidled up to the door and listened. Low voices were heard from the room behind the store where Molly lived, the one a woman's, the other a man's. Armstrong at once assumed that his rival Bartlett was stealing a march upon him and got his revolver in position to handle readily at the exit of the intruder upon whom he considered or wished to consider his own domain. Presently the two inside advanced to the door.

"Come," said the girl, "it is you are paying me by refusing."

"Do you suppose I could live a moment among these men if they knew you were furnishing me with money?"

"But they don't know it."

"Very well, I will take this. Next week I am going to work with a pick and shovel."

"You will do no such thing."

There was the sound of a kiss, and the man stepped into the street.

"Great heavens! It was the person!"

Unconscious of being observed for Armstrong occupied a position where he could not be seen—Arthur Higgins wound his way toward his room. Armstrong followed him and when in the center of a bridge across the gulch accosted him.

"You white livered hypocrite!" he was beginning, but paused. A step was heard on the far end of the bridge, and in a few moments Stephen Bartlett came up and was recognized under the starlight.

"Pardon Higgins and Fox Armstrong together here at this time of night? What does it mean?"

"That he has been skimming with Molly Griffon, which I don't permit."

"He has as good a right as you any way," said Stephen.

"You give me great joy in taking his part," sneered Armstrong. "I can't kill a man with a woman's soul in him, but I can take care of it."

The words were never finished. Had he not had something of the contempt for Bartlett that he had for the person he would have fired first and talked afterward. Stephen knew full well that firing and quick firing was essential or he would be a dead man. Armstrong dropped.

Molly Griffon heard the shot and fearing that Higgins might have been waylaid, rushed upon the bridge.

"Stephen! Arthur! What does it mean?"

"That doc," said Stephen, "assumes sole right to you. I have maintained that Person Higgins or any man you choose has an equal right."

"This is all my fault," cried Higgins, "for as Molly bent over the wounded gambler to assist him, 'Molly is my sister. I came here to recover my health. Having no means, I was at a loss to return when she came out to help me. Knowing that this community would not protect me for being helped by a woman, she took another name and concealed our relationship.'"

The next day the town of Pickville was startled with the news that Stephen Bartlett had downed Fox Armstrong and was going to marry Molly. The rest of the story was not divulged. SARAH PARKE TRIMMINGHAM.

PROF. TAYLOR

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE NEW SUPERINTENDENT.

Led His Class at College—His Success and Popularity at Middlesboro.

Superintendent J. B. Taylor, who succeeds Supt. L. M. McPartney as superintendent of the Hopkinsville public schools, is a native of Kentucky. He is a grandson of Blackstone Taylor, one of the most substantial and forceful men of western Kentucky in his time.

Superintendent Taylor graduated from the Southern Indiana Normal college in 1895, and was the strongest member of the class that year.

For a period of five years immediately succeeding he was vice president of West Kentucky Seminary at Beaver Dam, Ky., where his efficient services played an important part in bringing that institution to its high standing. He resigned this position to accept the superintendency of the Middlesboro public schools, from which place he comes to Hopkinsville. His work at Middlesboro was an unbroken success.

PROF. J. B. TAYLOR.

He is a man of fine attitudes, splendid personal presence, and has exhibited unusual tact in dealing with men. His friends predict for him an eminent success in the administration of the Hopkinsville schools.

Since reaching this city Prof. Taylor has made many warm friends by his affable but dignified bearing. He impresses one with the fact that he is a man who knows his business and intends to make it a success notwithstanding the obstacles in the way.

It was with many deep and sincere regrets that the people of Middlesboro consented for Prof. Taylor to leave their city.

PEMBROKE ITEMS

Dr. J. R. Paine and Mrs. Maggie T. Garnett were quietly married in the presence of only a few intimate friends and relatives at Pembroke Wednesday night at nine o'clock. The ceremony was pronounced by Rev. A. R. Bond, and as the affair was very quiet there were no attendants. Immediately after the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Paine left for points in the west via Chicago, and will be at home August 15th.

Dr. Paine is one of the leading physicians of Pembroke as well as one of its most prominent citizens. The bride is a lady possessing many admirable traits of character and is very popular with all who know her.

The many friends of Mr. W. H. Jernigan will be glad to learn that his condition has taken a turn for the better this morning.

Hon. John B. Brashear, of Hopkins county, spoke in the interest of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for congress. He spoke in the opera house, which was crowded with a very enthusiastic audience.

The construction work of the Cumberland Telephone company is nearing completion, and the exchange will then have over two hundred subscribers, making it one of the best according to size of the town in the territory of the company.

WERE RELEASED

Proof Not Sufficient To Hold Federal Prisoners.

Dr. J. W. Aldridge and Clarence Blackwell, of Clay, Webster county, were brought before U. S. Commissioner Harry Ferguson, Wednesday, by Deputy Marshal M. C. James, on the charge of being "retail liquor dealers" without having paid the special tax required by law. The evidence was not sufficient for their detention and they were released. The evidence showed that they were druggists and sold only a patent medicine called Wheatan Bitters.

To The Asylum.

The Paducah Register of yesterday said: "A young man named Cisco, from Livingston county, who had been ordered to the asylum at Hopkinsville, was brought here last evening by the Evansville packet. He will be taken to Hopkinsville today."

Jack Russell's Body.

Dr. E. P. Russell has directed the war department to ship the body of his son, the late Jack Russell, home as soon as possible.

Exactly when the body will be forwarded is not yet known, as the war department usually keeps the bodies of the dead heroes until there are enough to fill some returning transport ship to San Francisco.

MODEST DEMANDS

Chas. Cox Just Wanted Clothes and Gold Watch.

An Earlington press dispatch has the following to say in regard to a young man who was brought to the asylum here Tuesday:

"Charles Cox, who claims Cadiz, Ky., as his home, came to Earlington a few days ago and secured work with the St. Bernard Mining company. He had been working three or four days when his collaborators noticed him acting strangely. Monday morning he went to the St. Bernard office and asked for a set of clothes and a gold watch. Bookkeeper Paul Price saw there was something wrong with the man and humored him by saying 'the world fix him up as soon as he had time.' Cox then went down stairs and started up the Barnyard road on a dead run and ran all the way to Barnyard, where he fell exhausted. The city marshal of that place brought him over to Earlington and turned him over to Marshal Smith, who carried him over to Madisonville to be tried for lunacy. He was tried this morning, declared insane and sent to Hopkinsville on the afternoon train. His father, who was present at the trial, wished to take the boy home, but the court would not permit him."

LIKED ICE CREAM

Louisville Negro Crazy By Eating Only a Callon.

The Louisville Times says: "Amos Bridgewater, colored, aged sixteen, ate a gallon of ice cream Friday and he was sent in from the asylum. He developed violent symptoms immediately after eating the cream. Bridgewater was a freshman at the colored high school, and was quite bright. He was in the county court during the inquest. He is quite wild, imagining he is the mayor, the governor, Jesus Christ, the police, Theodore Roosevelt and a monkey."

The jump from the Roosevelt to the monkey idea is not so great as the others.

Former Resident Dead

Mrs. Sudie Carman died at Clifton Springs, Tenn., Saturday, where she had gone for her health, after an illness of only a few days. She was formerly Mrs. Henry Beazley of Lafayette, and was universally popular in that neighborhood.

THE ENCAMPMENT

WILL BEGIN AT MAMMOTH CAVE JULY 30.

The Hopkinsville Boys Will Go There Aug. 9th For Ten Days.

The annual State Guard encampment will be held at Mammoth Cave, one of the world's wonders, beginning July 30 and ending August 19, 1902. It is desired to make this the most attractive and entertaining encampment yet held, and to this end, the social features during the encampment, will be quite extensive. Three "grand balls" will be given during each regiment's encampment, aside from the "hops" that will occur nightly, in honor of the governor, one in honor of the adjutant general, and one in honor of the officers of each regiment.

The satisfaction of viewing Mammoth Cave, an education within itself, the pleasure of boating, fishing and bathing in historic Green river, together with the numerous social festivities, will make this an exceptional time for making the trip.

The lowest rates ever given by the railroads of the state, will prevail during the entire encampment, while equally as low rates will be given at the hotel, and for cave fees.

The Third regiment—of which the Hopkinsville company is a member—will go into camp on the 30th day of August and remain ten days during the encampment many Hopkinsville people will kill two birds with one stone—visit the boys and see the cave at the same time.

The state militia will be under obligations to the L. & N. for the many comforts they will enjoy, for the L. & N. has taken upon itself the task of arranging everything at the cave before their arrival.

The Second regiment goes to the cave on July 30 to stay ten days. People from all over the state should and doubtless will take advantage of the low rate and visit this great natural wonder between July 30 and Aug. 19.

Personal Notes

From Thursday's daily

Fraser Williams, Tom Terry, Irving Frasier, and Tom Fisher, of Christian county, came down to the dance at the cave last night and spent the night in the city.

Mrs. Wolfe and daughter, Miss Emma, of Main street, left today for a visit to Mrs. Irving Davis, in Kentucky.

Miss Adella Clifton, who has been visiting Mrs. J. J. Hamlett, left this morning to attend the teachers' association at Monticello, Clarksville Times-Journal.

Mrs. Elizabeth Keegan has gone to Winchester, Ill., to visit relatives.

Mrs. Geo. W. Phelps has returned from a visit to her parents in Owensboro.

Miss Gabriella Banks, who has been the guest of Miss Rosalie Green, has returned to her home in Henderson.

Mrs. Ira L. Smith has returned from a visit to Humboldt, Tenn.

Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Peyton have returned from a three weeks visit to Providence, R. I.

Mrs. Polk Cansler is visiting in Paducah.

Mr. Charles O. Prowse is visiting friends in Nashville.

Mrs. Wooten, of Texas, is the guest of Mrs. Barbee near town.

Mr. Elton Zimmer, of St. Louis, representing the Holwood Cash Register Co., is here for a few days visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Zimmer. His wife accompanied him.

A. M. Henry and two children left today for Dawson.

Mrs. Philip Wallace of Paducah is visiting Mrs. Matilda Wallace, on 16th street.

Miss Minnie Mallory Chambliss, of Virginia, is visiting Miss Evie Nash on S. Virginia St.

SICK MADE WELL; WEAK MADE STRONG

MARVELOUS ELIXIR OF LIFE DISCOVERED BY FAMOUS DOCTOR—SCIENTIST THAT CURES EVERY KNOWN AILMENT

Wonderful Cures Are Affected That Seem Like Miracles Performed—The Secret Of Long Life Of Olden Times Revealed

The Remedy Is Free To All Who Send Name And Address

After years of patient study and delving into the dusty record of the past, as well as following modern experiments in the realm of medical science, Dr. James W. Kidd, 2020 Bates Building, Fort Wayne, Indiana, makes the startling announcement that he has surely discovered the elixir of life. That he is able with the aid of a mysterious compound known only to himself produced as a result of the years he has spent in searching for this

DR. JAMES WILLIAM KIDD, precious life-giving boon, to cure any and every disease that is known to the human body. There is no doubt of the doctor's earnestness in making his claim and the remarkable cures that he is daily effecting seems to bear him out strongly. His theory which he advances is one of reason and based on sound experience in a medical practice of many years. It costs nothing to try his remarkable "Elixir of Life," as he calls it, for he sends it free to anyone who is a sufferer, in sufficient quantities to convince of its ability to cure so there is absolutely no risk to run. Some of the cures cited are very remarkable, and but for reliable witnesses would hardly be credited. The lame have thrown away crutches and walked after two or three trials of the remedy. The sick given up by home doctors have been restored to their families and friends in perfect health. Rheumatism, neuritis, stomach, heart, liver, kidney, blood and skin diseases disappear as if by magic. Headaches, backaches, nervousness, fevers, "consumption," coughs, colds, asthma, catarrhs, bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs and vital organs are easily overcome in a space of time that is simply marvelous.

Partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, dropsy, gout, scrofula and piles are quickly and permanently removed. It purifies the entire system, blood and tissues, restores normal nerve force, circulation and a state of perfect health is produced at once. To the doctor all systems are alike and equally affected by this great "Elixir of Life." Send for the remedy today. It is free to every sufferer. State what you want to be cured of and the sure remedy for it will be sent you free by return mail. 4thrd-4thw-ly

Uncle Sam Wants $4,000.

About eighteen months ago, while E. U. Fordyce was postmaster at Bowling Green, burglars entered the postoffice there, cracked the safe and secured about $4,000 in stamps and money. A postoffice inspector investigated and reported on the matter, and as nothing else was heard of it until Mr. Fordyce had retired from office, it was supposed the matter was settled, but it seems that it was not. The department at Washington has demanded of Mr. Fordyce, who now lives at Tusculoo, Ala., that he make good to the government the $4,000, and he refusing to pay, demand has been made on his bondsmen for the amount. They are Capt. C. G. Smallhouse, Dr. A. C. Wright and Thomas N. Fordyce, of Bowling Green. It is said the bondsmen will also resist the payment on the ground that they are not responsible because the money was lost through burglary.

THE MAN WHO WOULD BE A KING

CHAPTER I

"Not a bit like New York," Darrell continued, "and always new to me. Those young fellows, they are going home. Would you see how light hearted on Broadway? Why, every mother's son of them would be giving his mistake with nerve de-termination, and if an honest answer could be had you might find a nation of fifty of them in succession and get the same answer every time. 'What are you thinking about?' 'I'm thinking about a scheme to get out of some money. And if two were talking it would be business of five, perhaps, since it is a little more than nine times in ten. Look at the people sitting around these tables—'

"Darrell shifted his gaze over the last row, and he saw a pause before he added in an altered and much lower tone:

"Now, that's a little more like what we're accustomed to see at home."

Gordon turned a cautious eye toward a table upon their left.

"You mean," he said, "your Russian friend and the black-whiskered pirate who is talking to him?"

Darrell nodded.

"From a snatch of their conversation which I overheard," said Gordon, "I judge that your friend, who is a Russian, is in a gambling club and is anxious to return and lose some more. The other is dissembling him."

"Then I bet the pirate's garden," replied Darrell. "I thought he was trying to sell Getchikoff a gold brick. That's what remained me of New York."

"What's his name?" asked Gordon. "Didn't catch it."

"Yan Getchikoff," was the reply. "He's the son of the governor general of the Caucasus, in the Caucasus, and in the Caucasus, I mean, and he is a Russian."

"He seems to be a gentleman, but he's not a friend of mine. His society is a little too thrilling for me in my present state of nerves."

"Wanting you to assist at some sort of a duel, didn't he?"

"Yes, but I succeeded in dodging it," said Darrell, "without getting into one myself, so usually I am content with a fellow attempt to evade those little social obligations. No more of that sort of thing for me. Bob, there's nothing in it, and nobody knows that better than I do."

Gordon nodded several times slowly and with a glance that may have betrayed a trace of awe.

"You've had adventures in all quarters of the globe," he asked, "while I, well, I married early and settled down, and I've been thoroughly happy."

"I don't really settle down," said Darrell. "I shall certainly settle down. In fact, I have. I've seen a good deal of life in the last few years, and now you understand, or as little as a man can get along with. And really it was all luck. Wherever I went I was successful."

"And if it didn't," rejoined Gordon, "you made it. I know you, Jack. I know you were born to it. Add venture is your natural food. Was it luck that got you into that last awful fix in Wall street?"

"No, but it was luck that got me out of it," said Darrell, with a laugh. "Up on my son, Bob, I was near losing my head. I had the world, and then—well, I think it was the winning that broke me down. At any rate, I was a wreck when the thing was all cleaned up. I have the doctor's word for it, and if my mother bribed the doctor to say it, why, so much the better for the doctor. I'll take his advice. 'Absolute rest,' he said, and he was right. If a fire engine goes by in ten days, turn my back to it, nothing nervous in the turn of a Paris evening. He's getting along. But this man Getchikoff is another proposition. He's a fellow who's got his cheekbook! I knew it was a good brick game. Wait."

He took a passing servant by the sleeve and whispered to him:

"If that Russian gentleman asks you for a pen and ink, does get them. Do you comprehend? This for yourself."

And he put some money into the fellow's hand.

Ten seconds later Getchikoff was asking for writing tools, and the obliging servant was promising to fetch them instantly. But he did not do it.

Getchikoff had been drinking more wine than was good for him and had passed into a condition where a friend might prevent him from spending his money foolishly by any device that seemed adequate. He swore at the waiter for neglecting to bring the pen and ink and was while relieving his feelings in this way that he first saw Darrell.

When his hand was turned toward the man who had just seen him, he seemed a person of leisurely and easy conversation and one who took a very serious view of all things great or small. In reality, he was a man of a mask and the man behind it a horse. He was enjoying at that moment the color of a horse, a dour, yellow-headed Russian, copying it mentally for use in some story that should set a dinner party of good fellows roaring. But no man could have guessed it.

He greeted Getchikoff with gravity and introduced Gordon, with the result that the swarthy and formidable individual before him called the two men summoned and presented. It appeared that he was a captain and that his name was Getchikoff. He spoke French like one long conversant with it, and the conversation followed in that language. It had, indeed, scarcely begun when Getchikoff suddenly spoke a string of words in Darrell's waistcoat coat and requested permission to use it. The pen was a very large one, and a good three inches of it protruded from the pocket, so that it was quite conspicuous as Darrell sat there with his coat thrown open.

"Pen?" cried Darrell, annoyed by the incident and determined to see Getchikoff from a fairly possible or at least to avoid assisting him in the least. The man bowed and said: "It is a musical instrument."

And he put it to his lips as one holds a flute. Getchikoff, who had been looking by no means clear, seemed to credit this fiction without question. Indeed, as Darrell knew, he was a man who would believe anything of an American, even to the eccentricity of carrying a little flute in a waistcoat pocket.

"It is much used in my country," said Darrell politely. "You might almost call it the national instrument."

"I never saw one before," replied Getchikoff, with perfect seriousness, and the joke was in a fair way to pass successfully when Darrell, leaning upon the table and looking keenly at Darrell, said:

"Gordon glanced at Ladiolov in surprise, being surprised to find the man who was making Getchikoff from despairing. In fact, he had

PROPERTY ABANDONED WHEN DROP IN SILVER CAUSE.

Found Now to be Rich in Gold, It Has Been Secured For Development by Local Parties.—Big Thing for Evansville.

The final consummation of the mining deal promoted by Evansville people took place Wednesday, Feb. 20, 1902, when about twenty-five live lode mining claims on the Alpa mountain adjoining the celebrated and famous Lamartine mine, passed into the control of prominent men of Evansville, Ind. Few people realize what this will mean for Evansville and the surrounding country. Most people think it will benefit Colorado and the Houseman mine, but such is not the case. It is the control of this vast property is vested in Evansville parties, and when it comes to the distribution of from $50,000 to $75,000 annually in dividends, ninety per cent of which is paid to citizens of Evansville and the surrounding territory, one begins to realize what it means to the fortunate holders of stock in the Consolidated Alpine.

The consummation of this financial and mining deal has turned the eyes of the investing and moneyed world upon this section of the country. All the great journals over the country have commented upon it and prophesied that another producer has been added to the world's gold and silver production, thereby increasing the wealth of the world by from $50,000 to $100,000 a year.

Negotiations have been pending for a year to buy this property in a quiet and unostentatious way. In the '90s when silver was commanding a high price and twenty-nine cents an ounce, this property was worked for its silver values alone. Mining methods were very crude in those days. The owners never knew that the ore carried gold values almost equal to its silver, and as a consequence much of its value was thrown away, and when the panic came and silver sank to twenty cents an ounce, the shaft and property was abandoned. For years it lay idle. Its original owners had traveled to the eternal city and the ownership passed into the hands of so many people who were heirs, some of whom lived in the east and south, and hardly knew where the claims were located. As a result this valuable property has been neglected for many years, its levels filled with water which gradually crept higher and higher in the shaft until it reached its mouth. It seemed as if the mine itself were over being neglected and forgotten.

Twelve months ago a lease was secured upon two of the claims, the ones upon which the shaft was begun, and when the shaft was driven down to the dangerous task of unwatering the mine. It took three months of constant work before the last drop of water was out of the bottom of the shaft, and it was safe to send men down, and when they did go down it was found that the veins of rock had been in and obstructed the levels. Nothing daunted, the parties who took the lease set to work and cleared it out, and soon their efforts were rewarded by beginning to make shipments of ore that yielded from twenty to one hundred and fifty dollars to the ton clear profit after all expenses were paid. And there is today on the dump, from our new vein, a ton of ore ready to be shipped to the smelter.

Knowing that with their limited capital the property would be sold, they decided it should and would do it if it was extensively developed, they decided to buy the claims outright and also to secure as much of the land on the vein as possible. Without much talk or noise, orders were secured on twenty-one levels of the mine, and a short time later the property was secured, and the tunnel site was located at the foot of the mountain which gives them over two miles of the famous old Alpine vein.

The next thing was to interest enough capital to buy the properties and consolidate the whole into a big proposition, and to keep the control in the hands of the local parties. It took a short time to get the right parties together, and the entire property of twenty-five claims or one hundred and thirty acres, embracing over two miles of the vein, was bought.
