TVA Power Cutbacks Will Have Local Impact . . .

The first step in a Tennessee Valley Authority plan for mandatory power cutbacks will probably have to be implemented the first or second week of March, TVA and local electric power system officials said Thursday afternoon.

Within two weeks of an ordered 30 percent power cutback - the first step in a five-step emergency plan - TVA would shut off all electricity to any industrial user that does not comply.

The proposed emergency plan for the forced curtailments was sent Thursday to distributors, state energy officials and large industrial customers in TVA's seven-state system. It still has to be approved by the agency's board of directors.

"Stockpiles of coal at all but two TVA's plants are critically low, totaling 1.96 million tons," Bill Barker, manager of the Murray Electric System said. "TVA expects those stockpiles to reach the emergency level of one million tons about March 1. TVA's plan calls for mandatory allocations of power when that happens and we are working with them now to finalize implementation of that plan for our customers if necessary."

John Ed Walker, manager of the West Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Cooperation, said TVA is also concerned about the delay in restarting coal deliveries once an agreement is reached in the strike.

"Ratification of the contract and starting production take time," he said.

Earlier this week, TVA asked its 2½ million customers to voluntarily cut their use of power 20 percent, a move which could reduce the drain on strike-depleted coal stockpiles by 100,000 tons per week.

The 30 percent mandatory reduction is the first of the plan's five-step program to go into effect when TVA's present 1.9 million ton, 25-day stockpile falls to one million tons.

TVA officials estimate the first step alone, affecting about 2,000 plants, will result in layoffs for 100,000 to 150,000 workers, roughly 20 percent of the region's industrial work force.

Locally, the first step will not have such a drastic impact, plant officials here say. Thomas Rice, general manager of the Tappan plant here, said the 30 percent cutback would not have a severe effect on the operation of the plant.

"We might have to go to a shortened work week," Rice said, adding that "the 50 percent power cutback would be a severe handicap and could possibly mean some layoffs."

Rice said that conservation measures had already been initiated in the plant in an effort to voluntarily cut power consumption as much as possible.

Jim Garrison, general manager of Ryan Milk Co., the only other industrial-class power user served by MES, said his plant, too, had already begun a voluntary power cutback.

"We hope to effect a 15 to 25 percent saving," Garrison said. Garrison said that the milk plant could continue to operate under the initial phase of the mandatory cutback but that the 50 percent step could create severe problems.

Paul Kiesow, manager of Fisher-Price Toys, said that his operation will be somewhat hampered by the 30 percent cutback and that the 50 percent cutback will have an even greater effect on the toy plant.

At Vanderbilt Chemical Co., Ed Shinnors, plant manager said that whatever cutback in power is mandated by TVA will mean an equal cutback in manpower at the plant.

"We have already initiated some changes in our production schedule that will help to conserve energy," Shinnors said.

John Van Mol, TVA spokesman, said the mandatory cutbacks could come much sooner than expected if cold weather moves into the region as predicted.

"Two or three days of 7-degree weather would just wipe us out," he said. When temperatures in the region fell into the teens and below last month, TVA's stockpiles were drained by as much as 1.1 million tons in one week.

Under the first step of the curtailment, industries will get 70 percent of the average weekly power they consumed during the four months of highest use between last July and December.

TVA will read the meters of its industrial customers after the first week of the curtailment. If they are using more than the 70 percent allowed, the agency will begin reading the meters each day.

Once an industry reaches the point where its power use exceeds the amount allowed for the two weeks, TVA will cut it off entirely for the duration of the emergency, Van Mol said.

TVA will ask all of its customers to cut consumption by 30 percent as the second step, to be implemented when the stockpiles fall to 750,000 tons. Officials said, however, they now have no effective way to enforce such a curtailment with homeowners and commercial firms.

"Our experience in the 1974 coal strike was that we got lots and lots of phone calls from residential customers who were making an effort to conserve," Van Mol said. "Nothing made them madder than seeing a brightly lighted store or garish advertising display."

The third step, to take effect when the stockpiles reach 500,000 tons — less and a week's supply — is cutting all power to industry by 50 percent. At 250,000 tons, TVA will cut off all power to industries except the amount needed to prevent damage to their equipment.

The fifth and final step would be rotating blackouts affecting all consumers except for emergency facilities such as hospitals.

TVA supplies electricity for an 80,000-square-mile area covering almost all of Tennessee and parts of Kentucky.

PLAN SHOW — Members of Murray Art Guild, TVA's Land Between the Lakes and others have already started planning for the 9th Annual Land Between the Lakes Arts and Crafts Festival in June. Here five people working with the show discuss plans. From left are Ann Wright, representing TVA, James Stickler, Murray State University Art Department, a festival advisor, Patricia Clark, chairman of publicity for the show, Marcella Rung, festival coordinator, and Opal Roberts, president of the art guild. The LBL show will be June 24 and 25.

Efforts At Ending Strike Continue

By DAVID ESPO
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts to end the 74-day-old national soft coal strike resumed today against the background of an informal Carter administration deadline to get a contract accord by the end of the day.

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall met with union officials this morning and planned a separate session with representatives of the Bituminous Coal Operators' Association before reconvening a joint session.

Marshall, taking the role of chief mediator, kept the parties around the bargaining table nearly continuously from Thursday morning until 2 a.m. today, when the bargainiers recessed for a rest.

Marshall said Thursday that his goal to get a settlement sometime today was not a hard-and-fast deadline. But he said: "We don't have long. This thing can't go on."

One administration official, amplifying on Marshall's remarks, said privately today that "we have to be relatively close or at a settlement" by day's end or "it's time to talk about options." He did not elaborate.

Hospital Board Okays Lease Bid; Looks To Warm Weather Ahead

By LOWELL ATCHLEY
Staff Reporter

Members of Murray-Calloway County Hospital Board may be looking for sunny days ahead because practically no work was accomplished on a physicians office building during the last month.

That's what city-county hospital administrator Stuart Poston told board members in a meeting Thursday night.

"Hopefully on Monday we can get some more people back on the (physician's office building) job," Poston said.

Hospital board members continued working out floor plans for the building. Board members Thursday evening okayed an apparent high lease bid from Begley Drugs to run a pharmacy in the building once it is completed. Next highest bidder was reported to be Scott Drugs in Murray.

The board also went into executive session at the end of the regular business session to discuss "pending litigation" against the hospital.

"The physicians office building has had almost no work done on it at all during the past two months due to the weather. It is a situation where it has been too cold to work on the steel. . . the ground is frozen. . . therefore no work has been done except on the days when it was at least 25 degrees with no ice on the building," Poston told board members.

"As soon as we can get this thing plumbed, welded in place, then they can start putting the metal decking on the floors which will allow for pouring of floor slabs. We hope the weather will get better in a week or two and let this thing take off again."

Poston told board members, "Since we started this project, we've lost at least two months. . . 26 days prior to the real bad weather that we had in January and first of February."

The administrator said work on the hospital portion of the building program has continued through most of the inclement weather.

"They did a very good job of working during the cold weather, even though for the sheet metal workers the temperatures were around eight and 10 degrees," Poston said.

Hospital board members Thursday evening authorized Poston and a committee to formalize a lease agreement with Begley Drugs on lease of a pharmacy for the physicians office building.

Harold Hurt, speaking for a screening committee set up to review bids on the pharmacy, recommended the Begley bid over a bid coming from Scott Drugs in Murray.

The hospital board opened and made public seven bids in a January meeting.

Hurt told the newspaper today that both Scott and Begley were given the option, in separate meetings with the committee, of modifying their bids, allowing the bid to stand unchanged or to withdraw it altogether.

Scott's bid is virtually unchanged from the January meeting. But, Begley's bid, as it was revealed in the Thursday night meeting, is changed.

As board members okayed it Thursday evening, Begley's bid calls for the apparent high bidder to pay the hospital 15 percent of gross revenue up to $500,000; 17½ percent on $500,000 to $600,000; anything in excess of $600,000, 20 percent. Begley's asked 1,000 feet of floor space. (That was an increase over a previous request. Doctors going into the building have agreed to give up 200 square feet to accommodate the pharmacy, according to Dr. Donald Hughes, chief of staff.) Begley's also asked for a seven year lease instead of a previous three. And a condition in the first bid that "at least five general-family practitioners or pediatricians in the building" is changed to "five doctors." Hurt said Begleys has agreed to build a proposed drive in window area for the pharmacy.

Hurt said the committee asked both Begley and Scott to meet with the committee. "All the bids had variations . . . we sat down and went over the bids, the lease," Hurt related.

Scott's original bid, which is unchanged from the January session, calls for 800 square feet of floor space; $9.25 per square foot plus three percent of the first $100,000; five percent of the next $50,000; eight percent of the next $50,000; 17 percent of the next $100,000; and 20.5 percent of all over $300,000.

(Begley's original bid called for 800 square feet minimum; $7.50 per square foot or sum equal to 15 percent of gross annual sales; whichever is higher; must have at least five general-family practitioners or pediatricians in the building. If not, deduct 20 percent of bid for each less.)

Hospital board members also Thursday evening agreed to pay an increase in fire insurance premiums to a company currently insuring the hospital, but under protest. The increase came after acceptance of competitive bidding rates, Poston said.

Board members recommended that a screening committee continue negotiations with a doctor of anesthesiology the hospital is currently talking to.

Abortion Again Key Issue In House; Senate Votes On Sites

By T.G. MOORE
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT

Ky. (AP) — Abortion again was at the forefront of legislative action Thursday as the House voted overwhelmingly to cut off state medical assistance payments for abortions except when the mother's life is threatened.

The 84-6 vote followed by one day a vote in the same chamber in favor of a resolution asking Congress to call a constitutional convention to consider an anti-abortion amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Rep. Raymond Overstreet, R-Liberty, tried unsuccessfully to amend the abortion funding bill to permit state funds to be used for abortions in pregnancies resulting from rape or incest.

Without the amendment, Overstreet said, the measure says to pregnant poor women, "because you're poor, suffer the consequences."

On a somewhat-related matter, the House voted 73-11 in favor of a bill to prohibit health insurance contracts from including coverage for an elective abortion. Such coverage would have to be added on a separate rider.

The Senate, meantime, voted Thursday to require legislative approval of any future nuclear waste burial sites in Kentucky.

The requirement, proposed by Sen. John Berry, D-New Castle, was attached as an amendment to a bill clarifying the responsibility of the Department for Human Resources to control radioactive materials.

Berry substituted the amendment for one which would have flatly banned any nuclear waste burial site except for the existing one at Maxey Flats near Morehead.

Employers would be required to pay women equally for the same work done by a man under a bill approved in the Senate.

Sen. Don Johnson, D-Ft. Thomas, an opponent of the Equal Rights Amendment, cosponsored the equal pay bill and said it was a chance for anti-ERA senators to show they were not against equal rights, just the ERA.

The House Thursday unanimously approved a measure to establish a legislative review panel to oversee agency expenditures.

House Majority Leader Bobby

Richardson, D-Glasgow, called it one of the most important pieces of legislation in the current session to put the legislative branch on a more equal footing with the executive branch.

Controversial Bonus Unit Cut To Go As Planned

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The controversial bonus unit for educational funding will be phased out over a four-year period instead of being eliminated all at once, Gov. Julian Carroll has decided.

Carroll announced Thursday he has come to the conclusion the immediate abolition of the units would place too much of a financial burden on some local school districts.

Carroll said he will flow an additional $29.5 million back to school districts over the biennium to replace the money lost through elimination of the bonus units.

"The bonus unit is a mistake that should never have been made in the first place," Carroll told a Kentucky Press Association gathering at the Frankfort Country Club. "But it does cause substantial financial loss to eliminate it all at one time."

However, Carroll admitted he has still not made a final decision on where the $29.5 million will come from, although it will be from the $275 million in increased funds he has requested for elementary and secondary education.

Carroll said he thought some of the money could come from the increased vocational and special education classroom units he has requested. He also hinted the 12 percent increase in current operating expense could also be cut.

However, he said the $144 million of new money for increased teacher salaries will not be touched.

Carroll said he is still opposed to bonus units, calling them discriminatory and illegal. Bonus units provide double funding for vocational and special education units funded prior to 1974.

Carroll said the $29.5 million will be spread evenly over all special and vocational classroom units, including those funded after 1974.

Carroll also revealed his educational package of legislation, to be introduced in the legislature later this week.

MSU Scholarship To Aid Students In Special Ed

Murray State University has been bequeathed $18,853.72 in stocks and cash from the estate of the late Manning Stewart with which to establish a scholarship program for students preparing for a career beneficial to the mentally handicapped.

A native of the Dexter area of Calloway County, Stewart worked most of his life as an attorney with the U.S. Postal Service in Washington, D. C., before retiring a number of years ago and returning to Murray, making his home in the old National Hotel. He died July 28, 1975.

In his will, Stewart directed that a portion of his estate, $7,791.80 in cash and 231 shares of stock in 17 companies, be used to assist young people pursuing careers in the allied health sciences or special education fields leading to services for the mentally retarded.

To be known as the "Manning Stewart Memorial Scholarship," the award will be made to native-born Kentuckians enrolled at Murray State University and preparing for careers of work with the mentally retarded.

According to Dr. Thomas B. Hogancamp, executive director of the Murray State University Foundation, which will administer the program, recipients will be selected each year by a committee composed of: The Calloway County judge; a member of the law firm of Hughes, Gregory and Haverstock and the chairman of the Department of Special Education at Murray State.

Only earnings generated through investment of the base gift will be used for the scholarships, Hogancamp specified. It also has been directed, he said, that 10 percent of the investment earnings be added to the principal each year in order that the fund may grow.

Also sharing in the estate were the Kossair Crippled Children's Hospital in Louisville; Stewart's alma mater, Cumberland College of Tennessee at Lebanon; the Stewart family cemetery near Dexter; and several members of the family.

Jackson & Hargrove Vows Read At The Club House

Miss Kathy Sue Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Jackson, and Bob Hargrove, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hargrove, were married in a winter wedding with Bro. Dennis Rogers of Boaz officiating at the candlelight ceremony read as the wedding party assembled around the fireplace of the Murray Woman's Club House.

The pianist, Mrs. Calvin Key, played several selections preceding the ceremony, and accompanied Mrs. Ray Broach and Miss Gale Broach as they sang a selection of songs including "If," "More," and "Sunrise, Sunset." Don Jackson, uncle of the bride, playing his guitar, sang "Annie's Song," and then "Love Me Tender" as the bride and groom lit the unity candle at the close of the ceremony.

The fireplace was flanked on either side by spiral and tree candelabra decorated with baskets of pink and white daisies and springerli. The mantle was centered with a large arrangement of white mums, pink carnations, and pink daisies. Candles surrounded by magnolia leaves lit each window. The family seats were marked by white satin bows.

Bride's Dress

The bride, escorted by her father, was lovely in her gown of peau de soie overlaid in chiffon. The sweetheart neckline, cuffs, and waistline were accented with lace appliques, and hand sewn pearls adorned the skirt above a wide ruffle sweeping to a chapel train. The gown was designed by the bride and fashioned by Mrs. George Holland.

Her headpiece featured lace appliques and pearls matching her gown with a bouffant fingertip veil. Her only jewelry was a cameo necklace, a gift from the groom. She carried a bouquet of Cara Mia burgundy roses, pink carnations, and baby's breath. As she entered the bride presented her mother with a rose, and after the ceremony she gave a rose to her new mother-in-law.

Serving as matron of honor was the bride's only sister, Mrs. Patricia Ward, who was attired in a dusty pink formal gown, accented by a caplet of floral print, sweeping nearly to the floor in the back. The bridesmaids were Miss Kathie Broach, Miss Sandra Stark, Miss Theresa Dover, and Miss Joan Fuqua, cousin of the bride. They were identically attired like Mrs. Ward.

Each of the attendants carried a nosegay of Cara Mia roses and pink carnations. Little Miss Tammie Jackson, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl and was identically attired like the other attendants. She carried a white wicker basket and dropped rose petals along the aisle.

The groom was attired in a burgundy full length tail coat with matching sash and trousers. His boutonniere was a Cara Mia rose centered within a pink carnation.

Larry Geib served as best man for the groom. Stanley Clayton, Ronnie, and Don Hargrove, brothers of the groom, served as groomsmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hargrove

Mark Jackson, brother of the bride, and Don Hargrove served as ushers and candlelighters. The men wore burgundy tuxedos with pink carnation boutonnieres.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Jackson, wore a formal gown of heather green quiana accented with lace insets in front and on the cuffs. Mrs. Hargrove, mother of the groom, was attired in a heather blue quiana formal gown. Both wore corsages of Cara Mia roses.

Mrs. Doris Jackson, paternal grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Alma Cooper, maternal grandmother of the groom, wore corsages of carnations and daisies.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. George Holland.

Reception

The reception was held immediately following the wedding in the downstairs room of the club house.

The bride's table was elegant with a center arrangement of bridal pink roses and pink and white carnations in a crystal cake stand with hurricane lamps containing pink candles on either side. The lamps were surrounded with pink and white daisies.

The four-tiered bride's cake, made by Mrs. J. B. Dover, had a square bottom layer and was separated twice with Grecian pillars. A dainty white fountain containing a cherub and surrounded by a white garden fence decorated one of the layers. The theme of hearts and cherubs was used in decorating each tier, and the cake was topped with a lace trimmed heart and cherubs. Fresh flowers of bridal pink and Cara Mia roses and daisies were used in decorating the cake.

Punch, nuts, and cake were served by Mrs. Clayton Hargrove, Mrs. Ronnie Hargrove, Mrs. Stanley Hargrove, Mrs. Jerry Fuqua, Julia Fuqua, and Mrs. Kenny Paschall. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

The groom's table was centered with two three branched candelabra decorated with pink and white carnations and pink candles. A carrot cake, a favorite of the groom, was made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Wade Holley, and was decorated with a rolling pin. This was served with coffee from a silver coffee service.

The feast table was centered with a lazy susan containing

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

Chivalry's Alive
At This Airport

DEAR ABBY: To all those cynics who say that everyone is out for himself, I would like to relate the following incident:

Over the Thanksgiving holiday I visited some out-of-state friends. At the airport for my flight home, the limousine driver dropped me off at the wrong airline entrance, which was a long walk from the right airline. I had three heavy suitcases and I was getting very, very tired. I paused for a moment to adjust my suitcases when a young man about my age (27 or 28) came along, took the two heaviest ones and asked, "Where to?"

I told him, but in my cynical heart, Abby, I kept praying that he didn't run off with my suitcases.

We chatted as we walked, and he told me that in his spare time he comes to the airport just to help people. I must admit that I became a bit suspicious. After all, how many people do you find today who do that kind of thing?

When we reached my gate, he set my suitcases down, and said cheerily, "Have a nice flight." Then he quickly walked off before I even had the time to say, "Thank you."

When it finally dawned on me that all this fellow wanted was to help people, I felt ashamed of myself for being suspicious.

Abby, I'm not so naive as to think that everyone who does something for others does it out of the goodness of his heart, but it's nice to know that there are still some people in the world who aren't out only for themselves.

MANCHESTER, N.H.

DEAR MANCHESTER: I don't want to discourage good deeds, but Good Samaritans who make a habit of hanging around airports to "help" people could find themselves in trouble.

For example, say some grateful traveler forces a dollar or two on Good Samaritan, he (Good Sam) is in violation of working at the airport without a license or union membership, for which skycaps pay a pretty penny. Also, whether a Good Samaritan helps people for fun or profit, in effect he's competing with those who "help" people for a living.

DEAR ABBY: Recently there have been letters in your column from tall people who resented having strangers mention their height.

I had a gentleman friend who was 6 feet 7, and when someone would ask him how tall he was, he'd say, "I'm 5 feet, 19 inches."

One woman who was told that said, "Good heavens, I could have sworn you were over six feet tall!"

A.B. IN ESTERO, FLA.

DEAR A.B.: Thanks for giving my tall readers a short course in how to handle that rude question.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MUST KNOW IN KENTUCKY: The only state that permits marriage at age 13 is New Hampshire. And five states—New York, South Carolina, Texas, Alabama and Utah—and the Virgin Islands permit marriage at age 14.

Mrs. W. P. Williams Is Honored 85th Birthday

Sunday, Feb. 12 was a very special day for Mrs. W. P. Williams of 112 Greenacres Drive, Paris, Tn., as she observed her 85th birthday and was honored throughout the day by her family, relatives and friends.

The day began with most of her family attending with her at the First Presbyterian Church, Paris, where she was recognized in various ways. The pastor, the Rev. Harry Flowers named some of her many church activities, places she had filled from time to time and J. H. DeBruce, clerk of the session, read a message to her from the session.

Her son Dr. Ernest Williams of Cincinnati, gave the sermon of the day and her great-grandson, David Williams of Jackson, Tn., played the organ. Three other family members Bill, Cindy and Julie Williams were in the choir that for this day sang Mrs. Williams' favorite hymns.

Another son Bryant Williams was ushering and Mrs. Bill Williams assisted with announcements. The group, numbering 50, went to the Avalon for a buffet dinner. The U-shaped table was centered with a low arrangement of spring flowers, Dutch iris, daffodils, daisy mums and fern.

Bryant Williams was master of ceremonies and read some high points in the life of the honored guest and later humorous childhood memories were exchanged. Her children present were Percy and Bryant Williams of Paris, Tn., Mrs. Erwin Herrmann of Chicago, Ill., Mrs. Vyron Mitchell Sr. of Fulton, James C. Williams of Murray and Dr. Williams. Lee Williams of Memphis, Tn., was ill and unable to attend. She has 23 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

Each family present received a book of poems written by Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Williams writes the column, "Down The Garden Path" which appears in Murray Ledger & Times.

National Secretaries
Chapter Changes Meet

The regular February meeting of The National Secretaries Association (International) has been rescheduled for Monday, Feb. 27, at 7:00 p.m. in the court room of the Calloway County Courthouse, says a NSA spokesman. Members should note the change of date and place for this meeting. The program entitled "CPS on Trial" will include a simulated court room trial with NSA members assuming the roles of legal counsels and using court room procedures, thus making the presentation a realistic trial on the Certified Professional Secretary (CPS) Program which is sponsored by NSA. It should be an interesting presentation, said Mrs. Anita Thomas, CPS, chapter president, because both non-CPSs and CPSs will be involved and will express their feelings for and against the program. Members are encouraged to bring guests to the meeting, especially secretaries who may be interested in the CPS program, but not necessarily interested in joining NSA, a spokesman said.

End The Coal Strike

Lights are being dimmed. Factories throughout the Midwest are in danger of being closed down. In Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania, thousands of workers are on the verge of being sent home.

Why? Because the nation's unionized coal miners have been on strike for 10 weeks and are apparently willing to stay out until spring if they don't get the contract they want from the mine operators.

It is, in short, a hellish situation. It threatens to cripple the economy, the state of Kentucky and the entire Middle West, the industrial hub of America. As a result, the nation may be dragged into a general recession unless some way is found to get the 165,000 striking members of the United Mine Workers back to their jobs.

What's more, the strike may soon work even greater hardships by threatening the source of energy, to heat homes, cook food and run households.

At this point, it's clear that extraordinary measures must be taken by the states and federal government to give immediate relief to power-short areas. Indiana Gov. Otis Bowen, for example, acted wisely in mustering that state's National Guard Tuesday to escort trucks hauling non-union coal in order to assure their safe arrival at electric generating plants. Gov. Julian Carroll should do likewise, if necessary, to protect the million tons of coal that can't be shipped in this state due to roving pickets. The federal government must exercise similar urgency in seeing to it that supplies of electricity are diverted from other parts of the country.

Even at best, however, these steps are only stopgap measures and do not solve the basic problem. The bargaining dead-lock must be broken and the miners must get back to work.

But how? As the pressure grows, more and more voices are being raised urging President Carter to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act and even to use federal troops to force the miners' return.

We are not convinced this is a wise course, at least at this point. Miners have a history of ignoring back-to-work decrees. Who else can dig coal?

Nevertheless, the President hinted at the possibility of invoking Taft-Hartley if a settlement isn't reached in the "final chance" talks at the White House which he requested between the warring parties Tuesday.

Certainly the miners and the families are suffering. Their pay, pensions and health benefits have been cut off. More than any of us, they have a personal stake in opening the mines again.

The union leadership did, in fact, negotiate a new contract that called for a more-than-ample 37 percent increase in pay and benefits over the next three years in return for tough and much-needed penalties against illegal wildcat strikes. But the union's 39-member bargaining council defied the leadership and rejected the offer, claiming the strike

Bible Thought

"Verily I say unto you, Among them that are born of women there hath not risen a greater than John the Baptist." Matthew 11:11

John's greatness consisted of his willingness to use every opportunity to point others to the Lord Jesus as the Savior of the world.

penalties were excessive and the proposed health-care plan wasn't generous enough.

Labor contracts can't be negotiated in newspaper editorials. But it's obviously critical to the needs of all concerned for the union to mend its internal splits, sit down with the mine owners at President Carter's invitation and hammer out a new contract.

An emergency now exists in the Midwest. Before it gets any worse, the strike must end.

Sitting In The Mayor's Office

Our Community

By Mayor Melvin B. Henley

After having attended the funeral of Rex Billington, a city employee of 31 years, I attempt to collect my thoughts about the death of a man of 51 years of age from a heart attack. The very act of serving in the pressure-cooker of city government for 31 years most certainly contributed to Rex's early demise, and there must be a moral here for all of us who are citizens of this great community.

This man served as a member of the work force who make their living by the sweat of the brow and the calloused palm. All of us who shuffle paper and run off at the mouth all day should pause to pay our respects, not only to this man, but to all in this community who do the mundane, everyday, work that makes it possible for all of us to enjoy the highest standard of life that has occurred in the history of mankind, for highest standard of life you might just as well read easy living, for that is what it amounts to for most of us.

Too often we forget that our goods and services are delivered and furnished by individuals who oftentimes shorten their own life span by trying to do a good job for all. This is particularly true of most city employees. Working for the city is a little different than working for private business, because the worker is always on display and everyone who pays five cents in taxes feels the right to criticize. Sometimes this criticism is deserved, but sometimes all of the facts are not known, or the criticism goes beyond what the situation calls for. Most city employees try to do the best job they can, and they very seldom get a pat on the back or a kind word; mostly, what the city employee hears is negative.

I believe the moral for all of us, and I certainly do not exclude myself, is that we should be kind and courteous whenever possible; when someone does a good job, tell them so and pass out compliments as frequently as criticism. After all, we all have to live in this community, and with a little effort we could make it a nicer place to live, not only in appearance but in our relationship with each other. We already have the best community and county in the United States but we are always open for improvement.

Let's all chip in and make Murray and Calloway County the best of all possible worlds.

Meeting God In Public Worship

Psalm 84:1-12
The writer of this psalm had a passionate zeal and eager longing to return to Jerusalem, and to the sanctuary of the Lord, where the name of Jehovah had been exalted, where His glory had been manifested, and where He had been worshipped by the Israelites. It is refreshing and encouraging to have fellowship with people who delight in worshipping God in His house with regularity.

Satisfaction Through The Worship Of God Psalm 84:1-4

The Psalmist had an inexpressible longing to return to the Temple in Jerusalem to worship God from Whom he had received so many blessings. For the spiritual blessings and precious memories associated with the hallowed place he was grateful beyond expression. Recalling our own experiences, we remember those churches whose services we attended years ago, whose members introduced us to the Saviour, into whose membership we were baptized, and whose leaders proclaimed to us the Word of God and nurtured us in the Christian faith. Frequently we long to return to those scenes of former years and worship our God again with those whose Christian love and encouragement have meant so much to us through the intervening years.

Eager to be in the Temple of Jerusalem again, the Psalmist thought of how fortunate the priests were in having committed to them a work that enabled them to spend so much time in those sacred precincts, and he truly wished that he might share with them the privilege of having communion with God there again as he had in the days of yore.

Strength Through The Worship Of God Psalm 84:5-8

The psalmist was sustained and enabled to endure his hardships by the joyful anticipation of getting to worship God again in the Temple. He learned from experience that many difficulties lie in the way of all who try to live in a godly manner. As we journey through life we, too, encounter many dangers and trails, and find ourselves in need of so much strength which we do not have.

It is so encouraging to learn that through true spiritual worship of God adequate strength will come to us for every experience and exigency of life - including temptations, toils, trials, and tribulations. Failure to worship God will deprive any Christian of much-needed strength, but, if you will yield your self and substance to God, He will give you just the amount of strength that you will need for the task that is at hand.

Sufficiency Through The Worship Of God Psalm 84:9-12

God never forgets His people. He is a far better shield than any armor that men can provide. He protects and defends His children. "Thine anointed" in verse nine seems to refer to the King of Israel, whose leadership was closely related to the welfare of the nation. His failure to worship God would have an adverse effect upon his people, for no man is sufficient in and of his own strength for such a major task as had been committed to him as king.

One day in the presence of God in His house, in personal communion with Him, is far better than a thousand days spent elsewhere in fellowship with sinful men. Time cannot be spent in any other pursuit comparable in benefit to that spent in the genuine worship of God. Time spent in worshipping God elevates one's thoughts, enriches his life, and promotes his spiritual growth.

To his people God is a sun and a shield. In nature the sun dispenses light, imparts life, radiates warmth, gives beauty, and fruit. As the sun radiates light to show us the way, a shield is to ward off enemies, protect us from evil, and give us security. God does not bargain or sell, but He gives grace and glory. Without God's gift or grace - kindness to the underserving, favor to the guilty, love to those who deserve wrath, and mercy to the lost - there is neither help nor hope for men. Only through grace can glory be reached. God will not withhold from His faithful worshippers anything that will really contribute to their wellbeing.

Appearing in God's presence and praising Him for what He has done, in periods of genuine, spiritual, and public worship, always results in the impartation of strength and the begetting of high purposes.

A Movie Review

What should be the greatest fantasy film of all times, surpassing both "Star Wars" and "Close Encounters of the Third Kind" in its imagination came out not long ago.

Producers let the press in on a sneak preview of the film recently and when it was over and we walked out into the theater lobby we were so amazed and dumbfounded that we had to stand and gaze at the sky to adjust ourselves back to reality.

The film is called "1040!" and is set in a small midwestern town not unlike Muncie, Ind., the setting for "Close Encounters." The plot of "1040!" is similar to a mish-mash of "Star Wars" and "Close Encounters" with a little "2001 - A Space Odyssey" thrown in.

It begins with the camera focused high above the earth peering down at the lights of a city. As an eerie background music begins, the camera zooms in closer to the city, and finally takes its viewers down a street to a neat, frame house at the corner of 12th and Vine.

The movie then switches to the inside of the house where a family of three sits, watching "Star Trek" on television.

The husband turns to his wife and says, "Honey, what did we get in the mail today?"

She pauses, gulps, and turns to their young son, "Johnny, go in the kitchen and bring the mail to Daddy."

Johnny runs into the kitchen and finds a hand full of letters on the table. He begins opening one of the letters, an 8 x 10 white, legal-looking document. "Look, Daddy, it says 1040," he says, waving the paper in the air. The dog spots the title of the paper and immediately lapses into a mad frenzy, slobbering at the mouth.

All three members of the family are dumbfounded at what they see on the paper. With a far-out look in their eyes, they begin walking slowly in the general direction toward Washington. The same occurrence as the one described is repeated in houses throughout the city. Hundreds, thousands, begin walking slowly, dazed, toward Washington.

The movie switches to an underground military center where we pick up the conversation of a major and his subordinates. "We know they're here. Our radar indicated strange tiny flying objects throughout the country," a subordinate tells the major. "What do you suggest we do?"

"Make it top secret. We must not let the public find out."

But the strange phenomena doesn't remain quiet. The movie takes us from one encounter to another. People across the nation are being zapped by the strange 1040 spectre. Mental hospitals report an increase in occupancies. Police are puzzled over a bizarre increase in suicides.

Millions of people begin trekking toward Washington.

The hero of the movie is a part time janitor who works nights cleaning up an underground level of the Internal Revenue Service in Washington. Through a series of intricate plots, he discovers the culprit in the madness that has gripped the nation is a computer in the IRS building.

The movie reaches its climax when the janitor discovers the computer made an error in computing tax payment charts on the 1040 form and left everyone across the nation with the impression they would have to pay more taxes.

It all comes to a halt when millions of people surround the building and demand to see the culprit. Wheeled out onto the street, the computer apologizes, and not unlike the space men in "Close Encounters," the computer appears very friendly.

It seems the movie will end on a sweet note. No way. One of the hotheads in the crowd whips out a pistol and shoots the computer.

The dying computer in a last shallow breath vows vengeance next year.

The movie left me speechless. On the way out I chanced to meet one of the producers. I asked, "It is a tremendous movie. But I was sort of left hanging at the end. It almost seemed like the beginning of 'Star Wars.'"

"That's right," he chuckled. "That was the connection for our sequel. We hope it will be ready to show about this time next year."

Humanely Speaking

Orphans Of The Storm

Snow, ice, and cold weather may stop school buses and businesses may shut down, but one activity unfortunately continues through it all - the abandonment of animals. During one of the coldest nights last week, three small, part-German Shepherd puppies were dumped in a ditch at Hazel, and a tiny kitten appeared on a frozen porch near Murray. The kitten had apparently been there all night, and did not survive its ordeal.

Summer heat does not deter the heartless individuals who push unwanted puppies and kittens from their cars on the streets and highways of Calloway County. Last June, nine kittens - some of them only two weeks old - were left on a golf course without food or water.

The abandonment of animals, next to trapping, is one of the most cruel and callous practices one could imagine. Even if severe cold or heat do not add to their misery, animals frequently wander into the paths of passing autos and trucks, are killed and maimed by other animals, step into leg-hold traps, or die slowly and agonizingly from hunger, thirst, and disease.

Kentucky law requires that owners take responsibility for the welfare of their animals, from horses down to hamsters. Moral decency requires that they care for them and see that their offspring find good homes. Since the avalanche of unwanted young makes the finding of homes almost impossible, the logical solution to the problem is to have the female animal spayed so that they are never born the first place. It is the kind and responsible thing to do.

Betsy is a bright-eyed black and white puppy who was abandoned by her owner before Christmas. She is quiet and affectionate, and will be a small to medium size dog when she is grown. Anyone wanting to adopt her as a pet and companion may do so by calling 753-5923 or 753-3994.

Tiger Girls Rally For Upset Win Over Lakers

ANYTHING FOR A REBOUND — Stephanie Wyatt of the Lakers is down on one knee along with a Tiger who is blocked out in a battle for a loose ball which is being grabbed in the corner by the outstretched hands of Felicia Pinner. Also watching are Tonya Alexander (30) and Dawn Redden (24).

Ledger & Times Sports Editor

If Randy Newman ever comes to Murray for a concert, Rick Fisher wants to make sure Newman comes early enough to see a basketball game.

Using what he called his "short-people lineup," Fisher watched his Murray High girls' basketball team come up with an amazing last quarter comeback to stun visiting Calloway County 42-40 Thursday night.

"They had us beaten for three quarters. It was their game all the way. We couldn't play with them and we were completely out of their league. Our girls had worked themselves up so much before the game they were just too excited to play," said Fisher.

After three quarters, Calloway County led 34-19 and appeared on the verge of winning with the same ease they did when the teams first met last month and the Lakers romped to a 58-30 victory at the MSU Sports Arena.

But just four seconds into the fourth quarter, the game changed. Laker forward Dawn Redden was injured and had to be carried from the gymnasium on a stretcher after she received a knee injury. There was a break in action for about 20 minutes and just when the Lakers seemingly had all the momentum going, they lost it.

"It was a very unfortunate thing she was injured but it gave us time to regroup," Fisher said.

"That gave me time to settle our girls down. As soon as I started talking to them, I could see the tenseness wearing away. We went over all the things we were supposed to do and I told them to relax and go out and have fun. I told them if they could get within two points, we'd be able to pull it off."

But what pulled off the win was one little freshman girl named Natalie Garfield. The shortest player on the floor, Garfield not only played superbly on defense but she also looked like a seasoned veteran with her leadership out front on offense.

Several times, she even went to the inside on the defensive boards and with her quick hands, forced jump ball situations, adding to the Lakers' frustration.

And on the full-court press, she was absolutely sensational as she came up with numerous steals. And besides Garfield, there was little Candy Jackson, another freshman whose steal and layup sealed a win Tuesday at Mayfield. Little did she know but she'd do the same thing again for the second time in 48 hours.

After Redden was carried from the floor, play resumed with freshman Tonya Alexander, not one of the short people, hitting from inside then little Garfield stole the ball and scored on a drive. That made it a 34-23 Laker lead before Felicia Pinner scored for Calloway County for a seemingly safe 36-23 cushion.

Then the frosh bomb squad unleashed its attack. Garfield made a free throw then Alexander hit four consecutive free throws before junior guard Jaina Washer made two free throws with 4:10 left to make it a 36-32 game.

With 3:43 left, Susie Imes became the second Laker guard to foul out in the period (Rose Ross exited with 6:14 left) and Garfield made two more free throws and it was 36-34.

Murray tied the game with 3:25 left when Marlene Farrell stole the ball and made a long crosscourt pass to Jackson who scored.

Calloway finally broke its drought with a bucket by Stephanie Wyatt with 1:56 left to go ahead 38-36 but the Tigers tied it with 1:32 showing as Washer again made two free throws.

Murray took its first lead since a 7-6 second period edge as Farrell hit one of two from the line before Jackson came up with a steal and a drive for two points to make it 41-38 with 1:08 left.

Calloway refused to fold and Kim Willie cut the Tiger lead to one point with 56 seconds left by scoring from inside. Murray then went into a delay game but with 13 seconds left, Catherine Simmons walked. But just five seconds later, she redeemed herself by intercepting a pass.

Simmons was fouled on the play and made her first free throw. She missed the second and Calloway rebounded. Mimi Winchester got off a 23-footer at the horn but the shot fell far short of the mark and the Tigers had the win, their third consecutive triumph this week.

"Due to the extreme amount of injuries we've had over the year, our girls got gun shy and lost their aggressiveness in the last quarter. With Mina Todd out and Renee Overbey just having had surgery last week, when Redden got hurt, it really flattened us," Laker coach Marianne Davis said.

"It sort of caused the entire team to have a panic-type reaction then with Imes and Ross out of the game and Pinner fouling out in the final minute, it just took too much out of us," Davis added.

For Calloway County, it was the same old story. The Lakers won the game 36-20 from the field but from the free throw line, Calloway made just four of 14 while Murray High was making 22 of 32.

It was an error-filled game that found it fairly close for most of the first half as the Lakers led 19-11 at intermission. But Calloway came out and scored nine of the third quarter's first 11 points to race to a 28-13 lead and the Lakers held the 15-point lead until the injury to Redden.

Murray High outrebounded the Lakers 46-38, with Alexander pulling down 16 and Simmons 12. For the Lakers, Wyatt had 11 rebounds.

It was an extremely balanced scoring attack for both teams and oddly enough, neither team had a player in double figures.

"I really think the whole difference was Garfield," Fisher said. "When she came in, she really got after them and made a couple of big steals. We had a four-guard offense and had only Alexander back inside to rebound and she certainly did a super job of that."

"Then when Garfield fouled out in the final minute, we brought Simmons in and of course she played a key role in the win. Our freshmen players were just outstanding and of course, Washer and Farrell really gave us the leadership down the stretch," Fisher added.

Calloway's girls are now 12-5 for the season and will get a terribly tough test when they host high-scoring Donna Sledge and Fulton County tonight at 6:30 p.m. in the first game of a twinbill. Sledge scored 34 points Tuesday as the Pilots upset Lowes 57-55.

The Tiger girls better their season mark to 6-7 and will be at St. Mary Monday.

Leitmayr Shatters Mark With 7-2 In High Jump

Axel Leitmayr: A New Mark

By MIKE BRANDON
Leder & Times Sports Editor

When Bill Cornell has someone on a full scholarship, you can bet the athlete has plenty of talent. And such was the case when Axel Leitmayr came to Murray State's track team last year as a freshman. With only a limited number of scholarships to give, Cornell handed out a full ride to the fresh high jumper from Wdfield, Colo. But Leitmayr had little success last year and thus, lost half his scholarship. He made a giant stride toward not only regaining his full ride but also toward gaining some national outdoor exposure as he set a new indoor record Thursday night. Competing in the Ohio Valley Conference Indoor Track and Field Championships at East Tennessee, Leitmayr set a new stadium record, a new school record and a new OVC record as he cleared 7-2.

Needless to say, Leitmayr won first place in the event and that helped vault Murray State into third place in the standings after the first night of competition.

Host East Tennessee has the lead as they ran up 42 points while Middle Tennessee is second with 28½ and Murray State third with 24 points. Other scores include Austin Peay 20, Western Kentucky 18½, Eastern Kentucky 14, Tennessee Tech 5 and Morehead 3.

Oddly enough, it's the first year for an indoor track facility at East Tennessee and it appears the Bucs are on their way to winning the indoor meet this year. Last year, Morehead moved into its new indoor facility and they hosted and won the OVC Championships. Incidentally, East Tennessee finished last in the outdoor championships at Bowling Green last May. Leitmayr came to MSU last year and jumped 6-8 in his first indoor meet. He never again reached that height. He did no better than 6-6 the rest of the year, indoor or outdoor. He had his scholarship reduced to a half ride.

"It's been a fantastic change in Ax," Cornell said.

"Rather than take a defeatist attitude after having half of his scholarship taken, he's knuckled down and really worked hard. I'd say he's well on his way to regaining the full ride," Cornell said.

Leitmayr passed at 6-6 and when the bar was raised to 6-8, he cleared on his first try. When the bar was upped to 6-10, again Leitmayr made it on the first try.

Then came the magic 7-0 mark, which is like a four-minute mile on the collegiate level. Leitmayr again cleared the height the first time.

On the next height, the bar was moved up only an inch. On the first two tries, he missed. But the third time proved to be the charm as he easily cleared the bar.

Again, the bar was raised by an inch to 7-2. Leitmayr missed on the first try but made it on the second try. He made only one attempt at 7-3 and barely brushed the bar.

In the meantime, all of his teammates were gathered around the pole vault pit and adding encouragement. When Leitmayr cleared 7-2, the people in the Minidome and all the Racer track team members gave him a huge ovation.

The 7-2 height qualified Leitmayr for the National Indoor Championships which will be held next month in Cobo Hall at Detroit.

While Leitmayr was winning, the Racers' distance medley relay team was upset. East Tennessee won the event with a 9:49.3 with Austin Peay second in 9:50.7 and Murray third in 9:51.5.

Legs for the distance medley relay included Dave Warren with a 1:54.5 in the 800, Mitch Johnston with a 50.2 in the quarter, Martyn Brewer with a 2:58.8 in the three-quarters and Jerry Odlin with an anchor mile of 4:07.

"It was not our strongest distance medley team," Cornell said. "We had some other people we wanted to try and qualify in other events and felt we could possibly gain some extra points. So I wasn't really too displeased with the effort," Cornell added.

All the finals in the field events were concluded last night. Freshman Everton Cornelius finished sixth in the long jump with a new school record of 24-1½ which beats the old mark of 24-½ held by Patmore Chatham.

Sophomore Stan Simmons took fourth in the shot put with a new school mark of 53-3½ which betters his school record of last week, a 52-11. Also in the shot, freshman Andy Vince had a new personal best of 51-0½ and took sixth.

In the only other track final held, besides the distance medley relay, the three-mile run found Murray's Brian Rutter finishing fifth in 14:04.7.

The Racers qualified six people in three of the qualification events. A mild surprise came in the 600 where Marshall Crawley qualified.

Crawley, who came to the team as a walk-on last year, finished with a 1:13.96 and became one of the six finalists in the event.

Murray State qualified two in the 800 with Pat Chimes winning one of the qualification heats in 1:54.24 and Mitch Johnston winning the other in 1:54.7.

Murray qualified three in the 1,000-yard run. Dave Warren recorded a 2:13.65 to win his heat while Dave Rafferty was second in the same heat with a 2:14.1. Also, Martyn Brewer qualified by winning his heat in 2:13.4.

Besides the qualifying events, there will be other events held tonight in which the Racers are entered.

Jerry Odlin will be running the two-mile, Brewer and Rafferty will run the mile and of course the mile-relay team will be in action.

"We couldn't have hoped for a much better performance," Cornell said, in summing up the meet.

Racer Women Lose 79-58 Contest To Lady 'Cats

Playing without leading scorer Jackie Mounts, the Murray State Lady Racers made a respectable showing in dropping a 79-58 home contest Thursday night to Kentucky.

When the teams had played in Lexington, the Racers were at full strength and lost by 37 points. Mounts was out with the flu while Barbara Herndon and Cindy Barrix both played, despite not being in top-notch shape as both had the flu too.

For the first half, it was nip and tuck. The Lady Wildcats led 8-0 at the outset and led by as much as 10 points before Murray tied the game midway through the half.

By intermission, Kentucky held a slim 46-40 edge. But in the last half, Kentucky outscored Murray State 33-18 to run up the final margin.

Kentucky shot 35 of 77 for 47 per cent while the Lady Racers were 24 of 68 for 35 per cent. UK won the battle of the boards 52-42 with Mary Jane Gates leading the Racers in retrieves with nine. Murray had 24 turnovers, UK 20.

Both teams shot well from the line, Murray making 10 of 12 and the 'Cats connecting on nine of 15.

Bev Parrish and Laura Lynn each had 15 points to lead the Racers while Gates added 12. For the Lady 'Cats, Pam Browning scored 20.

Murray drops to 8-15 with the loss, which was the Racers' eighth in succession. The Lady Racers play at Middle Tennessee with the boys Saturday then will have four home games next week, the first coming on Monday against Western Kentucky. Kentucky 46 33-59 Murray 40 18-58

Kentucky (79) — Grigsby 5, Fooman 6, Oden 16, Timperman 10, Boyd 6, Don Hoff 8, Upton 8 and Browning 20.

Murray (58) — Gates 12, Lynn 15, Barrix 6, Parrish 15, Herndon 8 and Maddix 2.

Let's Stay Well

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Preventing Falls At Home

Q: Mrs. K. B. cautions our readers against household falls. Three have occurred in her home during the last year...

ramps and landings and from climbing on furniture and ladders.

When steps and stairs are constructed, each step up should be of equal height. If it varies, the difference may cause a stumble or a fall.

A bannister or railing should be available to be grasped by the hand to guard against a fall. Such added protection is particularly helpful for older persons or one who may be handicapped, such as with poor vision.

The steps should be well lighted so the user may have the benefit of seeing each step clearly.

Carpeting and rugs must be firmly fixed to prevent slipping. They should not contain holes or irregularities to catch the toe or heel of the shoe.

The stairway or steps should be kept free of toys or other objects which can cause a slip of the foot and the start of a fall. It is a dangerous practice to leave boxes or bundles near the top or bottom of the stairway with the intention of carrying them down or up on a later trip. They may cause a person to fall.

Discourage children from playing or scuffling on a stairway.

Encourage each member of the family to take his time in climbing up or down the steps or stairs. Speed increases the chance of a damaging fall which can lead to a fractured limb, a head injury, or a bad bruise or laceration.

Take time to hold the handrail securely when climbing or descending stairs. Avoid carrying loads up or down which require the use of both hands and which may obscure your vision of the steps. If you must carry loads, be deliberate and cautious. Take special care when you are alone at home. You may need prompt help if you have a damaging fall.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1978

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Excessive spending could be disastrous now. Don't speculate or indulge in extravagant whims, and watch the budget even when making minor purchases.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21) Be cautious now - ready for an unexpected barrier, a sharp curve one way or the other. Thus you can prevent errors, keep to your path in spite of little stellar backing.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21) Make necessary comparisons when others voice opinions, but stop there: Do not inject a personal note or make arbitrary inferences. Just watch for discrepancies.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23) Neither listen to pessimists nor brood over the past - temptations now. Your advantages lie in inner strength, composure in trying situations.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23) A day in which the unexpected may happen. Stay loose so that you won't be caught unaware by sudden changes in plans or circumstances. But don't try to solve problems in haste.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) False impressions, unpleasant alterations may crop up in your vicinity. Be ready, eager to quell them. There's always a way to get around undesirable situations. Find it!

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Ideas, and plans for travel, may be running into some difficulty - especially if you have planned too much activity or have been too optimistic about costs. There's still time to revise, however.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) Someone in authority will now take action to aid your cause - widening your horizons considerably. You have good reason for optimism.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) Your judgment somewhat "cloudy" now. Take nothing for granted, even if all seems well. And, above all, make no hasty decisions.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Focus ambitions on an attainable plateau. Don't strive for the unreasonable. If not well counseled, new ventures could pose a problem.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A domestic situation may tax your ingenuity but cast aside any doubts of your ability to handle. By midday, you'll have the answers you need.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) This could be a somewhat erratic day unless you steer a steady course. Above all, avoid discussions which could upset associates.

YOU BORN TODAY are a highly enthusiastic individual and, though swift in action, always use your fine intellect and work hard at being accurate. In fact, it's a blessing to have you around in emergencies, since you always "come through" - practically as well as imaginatively.

You are unusually devoted to family and friends, and are a generous host. Children take to you and you would make an outstanding teacher if you can curb a tendency toward impatience when youthful charges fail to live up to your expectations.

Your integrity is unquestionable and your memory remarkable. Fields in which you could make a notable success: journalism, the stage, politics, science, literature and art. Birthdate of: Andre Segovia, guitarist; Helen Gurley Brown, writer; Yoko Ono, artist.

George Atkins Asks For Current Office Funds

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) - State Auditor George Atkins has asked a legislative committee to finance his office at previous levels, but also has vowed to continue his duties regardless.

"I'm going to audit, if we have to enlist volunteers," he told the Joint Appropriations and Revenue Committee Thursday.

Atkins said he feels that Gov. Julian Carroll's proposed budget would "subvert" his office rather than save money and make it more independent as Carroll contends.

The proposed budget would cut the customary appropriation by more than 90 percent and make the auditor's office dependent on fees from agencies it audits.

That, Atkins said, would be the equivalent of strip mine inspectors depending on coal operators for their funding or bank examiners on the banks they check for their budget.

"Why not appropriate funds directly to the auditor, unless the motive is control of the money?" he said.

"Why would a single agency whose budget represents only five 10,000ths of the entire executive budget be singled out for such a radical change?"

Atkins said the issue is simple: "for independence, a governmental audit agency cannot be dependent on those it audits for its revenue."

Several committee members asked if Atkins would be satisfied with various hypothetical arrangements, and Atkins indicated that in most cases he would not be.

Rep. Joe Clarke, D-Danville, the committee chairman, said he wondered whether the state Finance Department could assume responsibility for paying the auditor's office for all audits it conducts. There is no state law requiring agencies to pay the auditor's offices.

"I'm only going to be in office another year and a half," Atkins said. "The principle goes beyond that."

The auditor also said that the amount of money he saved the taxpayers from one audit - involving the Pepper warehouse lease controversy - would have been enough to pay for the operation of his agency for the next two years.

"You were first told this proposal would save the general fund $3 million," he said. "This position was later abandoned. "You have been told that all the money we requested is actually in the budget, but the governor's recommendation is only $50,000 a year," he said.

Atkins said he has been criticized as "being political when I audit, but what would I be called if I had to further sue Finance Secretary Russell McClure for payment of a bill for auditing a pepper warehouse or a library lease or a Roberts' road or personal service contracts?"

The references were to his audits that were critical of administration policies or procedures.

save energy

...to keep it flowing through every switch and valve... in home, business, industry...

Customers of The Murray Electric System are urged to drastically cut back their electrical use until further notice. The United Mine Workers' strike is shrinking TVA's coal stockpiles and is threatening the region's power supply in coming weeks.

The Murray Electric System is asking for full cooperation from all of its customers — residential, commercial and industrial. The guidelines below will help customers to conserve electric power.

The Murray Electric System will keep you informed of further developments in the situation. We appreciate your cooperation in this effort.

EMERGENCY ENERGY REDUCTION PROGRAM SUGGESTED BROAD GUIDELINES FOR BUSINESS AND COMMERCIAL CUSTOMER ACTIONS TO REDUCE USE OF ELECTRICITY

- Provide bulletins and memorandums to employees to emphasize conservation of energy sources and the urgency of the situation.
- Appoint employees by work areas to be responsible for continuing conservation effort.
- Lower heating thermostats to 65 deg. F or lower.
- Raise cooling thermostats to 80 deg. F or higher.
- Encourage employees to wear appropriate clothing for the adjusted temperatures.
- Reduce use of lighting — patterned disconnection of indoor area lighting — use lower wattage lamps where possible — turn off decorative lighting and large signs — reduce outdoor flood or area lighting.
- Disconnect (electrically) drinking water coolers.
- Disconnect (electrically) or lower thermostats on water heaters where high water temperature is not needed for special sanitary needs.
- Install adequate insulation, weather stripping, double-glass windows, double-glass doors, outdoor door closers, etc.
- Investigate use of heat recovery systems.
- Consider reduced hours of operation.
- Turn off idling electrical machinery and equipment where possible.
- Security and night watchman lights needed for security and safety may be left in service (where several are used by the same customer, consideration may be given to disconnection of lower priority units).
- Ask power distributor for special conservation assistance as needed.

EMERGENCY ENERGY REDUCTION PROGRAM SUGGESTED BROAD GUIDELINES FOR RESIDENTIAL CUSTOMER ACTIONS TO REDUCE USE OF ELECTRICITY

- Families should discuss importance of conservation of energy and read literature on the subject.
- Lower heating thermostats of 65 deg. F or lower
- Wear light outer garments indoors during the winter — use more bed covering.
- Raise cooling thermostats to 80 deg. F or higher.
- Reduce use of lighting — use lower wattage lamps where possible — do not use decorative lighting.
- Conserve use of hot water — larger and fewer loads of clothing in the washer — larger and fewer loads of dishes in the dishwasher — brief showers instead of baths — repair any water faucet leaks.
- Cook fewer hot meals — cook several foods at same time when using the oven.
- Dry larger loads of clothes in the dryer but less often — air-dry small amounts instead of using the dryer.
- Use window drapes effectively for added insulation.
- Install adequate insulation, weather stripping, storm doors and storm windows.
- Avoid staying up late which requires use of lighting and appliances — form the habit of longer hours of rest at night.
- Select any new appliances on the basis of their efficiency as well as cost.
- Consider installation of the heat pump if other forms of heating are to be changed or replaced.
- Security and night watchman lights needed for security and safety may be left in service (where several are used by the same customer, consideration may be given to disconnection of lower priority units).
- NOTE: Postponing heavy use of electricity until after 7 p. m. also helps reduce the daytime load on the electric system — clothes washing, clothes drying, baths, special cooking, and dishwashing. During daytime air-conditioning periods, these postponements also reduce the burden on air-conditioners.
