Kentucky Windage

(By P. W.)

This is the time of the year that one digs back in the closet, or down in the basement, or up in the attic for those last year's Christmas decorations and wishes they had been packed with a little more tender, loving care when they were put away.

Someday, perhaps I would like to write a long string of columns about my many experiences working on nine various newspapers around the country, but this week a little chapter has closed on one of them that merits a special corner in memory.

In 1937 I accepted a job as advertising man (age 23) in Gallatin, Tennessee on the Examiner.

Gallatin, in those days, was a sleepy little Tennessee town where they actually locked the only hotel at 9: p. m. and everyone either went to bed or went to Nashville for the night. The hotel served family-style meals on its second floor; the two other little restaurants served the same austere menu seven days a week, 365 days a year. One month I ate 40 identical meals.

I had a private room upstairs in a big old house on East Main inhabited by three old ladies, and they locked the front door every night at 10: p. m., which usually didn't make any difference to me because I didn't have a car and couldn't go anywhere anyhow. But on nights when I did stay out beyond ten, I had to climb the front porch trellis to get up to my room, and go in via the window.

I was hired to sell advertising for the Examiner, and I hustled right along as best I could. One of my favorite people was a little old diminutive, sharp-eyed lady named Mrs. Blue, who ran Blue's Jewelry store on North Water Street. She used to sit and smilingly talk to me and find every excuse in the world for not advertising, but she was one of my "better" accounts. My fond recollections of nine months in Gallatin (and there are enough to fill a book) always fondly included little Mrs. Blue. I still have a

Name-dropping Is Sickening!

The name of the game, when merchants and other retailers get together is to analyze the reasons why so many local people shop out-of-town.

The reasons are many and varied, but there is a new and nauseating dilemma that seems to be driving a lot of good, everyday people up a wall, and out-of-town, because some sales people simply INSIST on name-dropping about their customers.

The game goes something like this:

You walk into a store and start looking around for a dress, or suit, or coat, or just anything for a special occasion, or every-day wear.

Along comes a sales person and attempts to give some assistance. When it looks like the prospective customer is about to make a choice, the sales person says:

"Oh, you'll love this, so-and-so bought the same thing in another color." Or, "Mr. So-and-so or Dr. So-and-so, brought one for (Blank, his wife) for Christmas."

A Big Surprise

Now, it's going to come as one traumatic moment to sales people and shop-keepers to learn that I don't care, the average citizen doesn't care, and nobody cares whether the new rich, or the old rich, or the social butterflies, or Rosie O'Grady or the Colonel's Lady wears white boots and a sable coat to church or to sleep in.

As a matter of fact it's the best reason in the world to just clear out of the store when a sales person tries to impress me or anybody else with what some allegedly social nit-wit is wearing.

Frankly, it's an injustice to everybody concerned to try to make a sale by name-dropping somebody's else's purchase. They surely don't care what others wear, and it is

HAVE A MURRAY STATE CHRISTMAS—Becky Newton, freshman at Murray State University and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Newton of Hickman, doubles as "Santa's Little Helper" during the last week of classes before Christmas holidays at Murray State. A graduate of Fulton County High School, Becky is five-feet-six inches tall and a brown-eyed brunette. She is majoring in special education.

Local Members Attend Flood Control Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hornsby, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanger, and Mr. and Mrs. James Amberg attended the Mississippi River Flood Control Association convention in New Orleans Thursday and Friday, December 10 and 11.

The men attended as representatives of the Fulton County Board of Levee Commissioners, which supervises the levee and drainage system between Hickman and Reelfoot Lake. Hornsby is chairman of the commission, Amberg secretary-treasurer, and Sanger a commissioner.

About 250 people attended the convention from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, and from levee boards between Cairo, Illinois and New Orleans.

P. N. Hirsch Employees Enjoy Party

P. N. Hirsch and Company held their Christmas party on Sunday afternoon, December 13, at the Park Terrace Restaurant.

A lovely dinner with turkey, dressing, ham and all the trimmings, was served to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hutchins, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Ruddle, Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Duke, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Corum and Mrs. Harry Sams. Mr. Sams was ill and unable to attend.

A Christmas bonus was given to each employee.

Ann Austin Is Top Winner In Essay Contest

Ann Austin, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Austin of Cayce, was the overall winner of the Louisville Courier-Journal's pollution essay contest at Fulton County High School.

Ann's essay, on the theme of littering and pollution problems in Cayce, was previously chosen freshman class winner. Other school winners were Jesse McNeill, sophomore class; Keith Meneses, junior class; and Teresa Lusk, senior class.

Awards will be made to individual class winners and to the county winner by the Courier-Journal and the Fulton County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Mike Allen Is Arrested For Illegal Drug Sales

A former Fulton County High School student was among five people arrested about 2 a. m. Wednesday, December 9 in Hickman and charged with the illegal sale of marijuana, LSD, and amphetamines.

Mike Allen, 21, was arrested by a Tennessee Bureau of Investigation undercover agent who had purchased an undetermined amount of drugs from him. Allen is believed to have attended FCHS during the 1967-68 academic year.

Allen gave no home address to arresting officers, nor did he give the names of any individuals who were next of kin.

Arrested with Allen were three students from the University of Tennessee at Martin: Judy Eichaly, 20; Joe Hunt, 20; and Fred Ivy, 21, all of Memphis; and Mickey Devine, Jr., of Murray. No age was given for Devine.

Fulton County Sheriff Nelson "Corky" Hill, Weakley County Sheriff Jerry Riggs, and FBI agents co-operated in the arrest. According to Sheriff Riggs, the five had been under investigation for several months for suspected drug sales in the Martin area. The investigation is expected to continue, Sheriff Riggs added.

Fulton County Judge James C. "Buck" Meneses issued a fugitive warrant for Allen in Meneses' home just before the arrests were made. Allen waived extradition to Tennessee and is being held in Weakley County Jail in Dresden after failing to post $2,500 bond. Asked if he thought the persons arrested were part of an organized ring, Sheriff Riggs said that he was unable to make this determination, but added that other arrests were made in the Martin area last August for similar charges.

Hunt, Ivy, and Miss Eichaly were released after they posted bond of $2,500 each. Devine was released after posting $4,000 bond. All five will be brought before General Sessions Court Judge Robert N. Glasgow, December 21 in a preliminary hearing at Dresden.

By Angella Muller
A Pennsylvania Dutch Christmas tradition has been brought to Hickman by the Rev. Jim Walizer, pastor of the First Christian Church in Hickman, who has re-created a Christmas world in the garage of his home.

The Christmas scene actually is divided into four sections: Santa Claus Land, a Swiss Village, a small town representing Rev. Walizer's home town of Williamsport, Pennsylvania, and a town which he calls "Any Town, U. S. A." Behind them rises "Reindeer Mountain," a range of hills covered with cotton "snow" and dotted with figures of red, white and brown deer.

"A lot of the Pennsylvania Dutch observe this custom," Rev. Walizer explained. "The fathers start it, and the elder sons take it up and add to it. 'I've been working on this one since I was in the seventh grade--23 years ago. My older brother had it, but he went into the service and I've had it ever since.'"

To the Walizers, almost every decorative item in the Christmas display has some special meaning. Rev. Walizer inherited several of the items, and others are mementoes of places where he has lived and preached.

In "Any Town," he placed two sets of cast-iron horses and carriages. One is an open carriage, the other a surrey with a fringed velvet canopy. They were given to Rev. Walizer by his father, who also made him two chalets and gave him a toy train set. His mother sold him deer statues which were made by members of the Amish sect in Pennsylvania.

Four large pine cones stand like trees at each corner of the display, which covers a five-foot by ten-foot table. Rev. Walizer found them in Mississippi when he attended a revival there.

Rev. Walizer saved a gum-drop tree, which he received as a gift when he attended Johnson Bible College in Knoxville, and placed it in his "little Williamsport." Mrs. Walizer contributed to Any Town a toy sailor which she found in

Certification Awarded To W. J. Walker

W. J. Walker, 41, South Fulton water superintendent, has recently been certified as a water treatment plant operator, according to the City Manager, Mike Blake.

Walker, who moved to South Fulton eighteen months ago, came here from Hutchins, Texas, where he operated the water system for six years. He and his wife, the former Grace Beaver, have three children: Dale Walker, 17, Joe Walker, 15, and Cheryl, 11. They live at 100 Circle Drive in South Fulton.

Mr. Walker is also pastor of the Primitive Baptist Church in Greenville, Tenn. He was ordained a minister in 1963 in Dallas, Texas.

Episcopal Service To Be Candlelight

A candlelight service will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal Church Thursday, December 24, at 9 p. m. The Rev. James Wilkinson, vicar of the church, will conduct the service. Coffee will be served in the parish home immediately afterward. Holy Communion services will be held at 5:30 p. m. on the following dates: Saturday, December 26; Monday, December 28; Tuesday, December 29, and Friday, January 1. Services on Sunday, December 27 will be at 11:15 a. m.

Rev. Walizer Displays Dutch Tradition Of Christmas

Norfolk, Virginia, before her marriage.

A tree in Santa Claus Land came from Bedford, Indiana, where Rev. Walizer first preached after he was graduated from college. A factory in his "Williamsport" is a souvenir of a visit to Cincinnati.

Before coming to Hickman in February, Rev. Walizer preached in Newbern, Tennessee, for four years. The tallest tree in "Any Town" was a money tree that the Newbern congregation gave the Walizers last Christmas. A teen-age girl in the congregation gave him an angel statue which forms part of a manger scene in "Williamsport."

Rev. Walizer placed another Newbern souvenir, a small uniformed baseball player, in the Williamsport scene because his home town is the site of the annual Little League World Series in August. "When I was in Newbern, the year before last I organized and sponsored a high-school baseball team. I got this doll to remind me of my two pitchers," he said.

Explaining the large number of pieces that make up his Christmas display, Rev. Walizer said, "I'm always saving things. I have boxes and boxes, and I have some things I haven't even used." Santa Claus Land is mounted on a box that used to hold marshmallows in a grocery display. The table is covered with cotton, colored gravel from fish tanks, and multicolored foil. Rev. Walizer said most of the foil came from potted plants his congregation gave him at Easter.

The newest item in his display is a music box which plays "Silent Night." He bought the music box last month in Union City. The stable in his manger scene, which was imported from Italy, is also a music box playing "Silent Night."

Rev. Walizer said he changes his display slightly every year. "Last year, for Williamsport I had tunnels to represent coal mines," he noted. He makes a rough sketch before beginning work.

He started setting up his display Monday, December 7, and finished it the following Friday. He estimated that it took him 24 hours altogether. The Walizers held an open house Sunday, December 13, for friends and members of the congregation to come and view the display.

Lt.-Gov. Ford to Visit Fulton County Thursday Morning

Nine Are Arrested At VFW Club

An establishment doing business at the VFW Club near South Fulton was raided by Obion County officers about midnight Saturday, December 12, and nine men were arrested. Sheriff T. C. McCullough said he was accompanied on the raid by Deputies Jesse Meadows and Nathan Cunningham. The business is located about two and one-half miles south of South Fulton, the sheriff added.

The men jailed early Sunday morning, December 13, were: James Bugg, charged with operating a gambling house; Randall King, operating a gambling house; Tommy Clark, gambling and resisting arrest; Max Matheny, gambling and possession of a concealed weapon (pistol); and Kenneth Robertson, Bill Rogers, Max Wiggins, Harry Brinkley and Howard Wells, each charged with gambling.

The men pleaded guilty in General Sessions Court Monday morning, December 14, and Mr. Bugg and Mr. King each were fined $50 and costs for operating a gambling house. The other seven were fined $25 and costs each for gambling. Mr. Matheny was also fined $50 and costs on the concealed weapon charge, and Mr. Clark was fined an additional $25 and costs for resisting arrest.

Lt.-Gov. Wendell Ford will bring his gubernatorial campaign to Hickman on Thursday (December 17) when he will visit informally with his supporters and campaign organization at a coffee hour at the RECC building. Governor Ford will fly to the airport in Fulton and will be driven to Hickman in time to meet his friends beginning at 10:30 a. m.

Ford's campaign leaders in Fulton County are urging people to meet the candidate at the Fulton Airport and form a motorcade to Hickman.

"I know it's a busy time of the year," Lt.-Gov. Ford told the Courier by phone on Monday, "but I want my Fulton County friends to know that I deeply appreciate their early support and I especially want to visit with them before my campaign scheduling gets too crowded," the well-known Kentuckian said.

Band Parents To Produce "Oklahoma"

Rodgers and Hammerstein's immortal "OKLAHOMA" will again come to life in mid-April when the Fulton City Band Parents Club will produce the show with an amateur adult cast composed of people from the surrounding area. The production will be staged in Martin and Union City, Tenn., and in Fulton, Ky. on consecutive nights.

A full adult orchestra will provide the musical score and will be under the direction of Mr. Jack Sublette.

The purpose of the production is to offer organized, high-level entertainment to the people of the surrounding area and to help support the Fulton City High School Band. It is hoped that this type production will become an annual affair.

People from Martin, Union City, UTM and Fulton are urged to participate in this worthwhile production and interested persons should contact Mr. Jack Sublette between 8:00 a. m. and 3:00 p. m. at 472-3510 or 472-1741 prior to January 9th.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

"A Special Christmas," featuring a program of music by the Western Kentucky University choir and glee club, will be aired over 50 television outlets in Kentucky Thursday, Dec. 24 at 6:30 p. m. (CST).

National Junior Horticulture Group Formed At Fulton County

The local chapter of the National Junior Horticulture Association, a new club at Fulton County High School, was welcomed Thursday night, December 10, at a joint meeting of the NJHA and FFA.

A total of 121 students from both groups were present. Doug Goodman, FFA president, introduced the new officers: Dan Rice, vice president; Jim White, secretary - treasurer; and Johnny Rice, reporter.

During the business meeting, final plans were made for a dance which was held Saturday, December 5, at Hickman Elementary School to honor the NJHA.

Terry Barlow, community service committee, reported plans for a meeting on driver safety to be sponsored by the FFA in January. The committee is working with local law enforcement officials to present an informative meeting for the community.

A Kentucky governor is paid $30,000.00 each year, for a four-year term. He cannot succeed himself.

Panelists Agree: Educate, Don't Alienate Youth In Seeking Solution To Drug Problem

Law enforcement and government officials who took part in a panel discussion at the Drug Awareness Conference held in Louisville recently agreed with other panel members that an extensive preventive program, through education, is the best way to attack Kentucky's drug abuse problem.

The group, which also included a former addict, a minister and a mother whose daughter is an addict, warned that alienation of would-be youthful offenders may result if individual anxieties are ignored.

Public Safety Commissioner William O. Newman called for a cooperative effort by every governmental agency concerned with the drug problem.

He said Kentucky State Police, through its new Investigative Command, will deal mainly with the intrastate trafficking of narcotics.

Franklin County Circuit Judge Henry Meigs praised the 1970 General Assembly for shifting the emphasis of law enforcement agencies to medical treatment and rehabilitation of the user, while cracking down harder on sellers of dangerous drugs.

He said, "Stiffer legal sanctions alone cannot do the job in this area. If the pusher, however, cannot learn the lesson, it is certain the courts will be able to provide an educational experience he won't forget."

The drug problem, if not halted, will soon threaten every school in the state, according to Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell P. Butler.

He pointed to a stepped-up statewide campaign being directed jointly by Gov. Louie B. Nunn and the Department of Education to curb the trend among Kentucky's youth to use dangerous drugs. Dr. Don Herren, a Methodist minister, and Dr. Harold T. Conrad, the chief of the Clinical Research Center in Lexington, both stressed the importance of informing youth of the dangers of drugs.

Herren noted that ministers and teachers as well as family members must become attuned to today's young person, "his world, hangups and desires," if one is to help the person involved.

He added, "We cannot effectively work with anyone by expelling or alienating the person."

Conrad, a specialist in the treatment of addiction, said today's young people, "in addition to being sensitive to the world about them, are also intelligent."

He said once research has established the truth about various drugs, and once the truth has been clearly communicated to young people, they will be capable of making an informed choice.

Mrs. Rhea Carpenter, a teacher at Russellville High School, told of her daughter, Marti, who became involved with drugs while in college.

She urged parents to seek help quickly if a child becomes involved with drugs and not to become indignant and self-righteous.

"Keep your temper, but be willing to take whatever steps are necessary. And most important, don't think it will never happen to you—or refuse to believe it if it does."

A former drug addict, Art Cook, told the other panel members, "People who smoke grass think they will never wind up as a dope fiend, and it is very easy to say 'okay, I'll try it once!'"

He added, "Law enforcement alone is not going to stop the drug problem. Since you can't keep drugs from youth, youth will have to want to stay away from drugs."

BE THE BEST OF WHATEVER YOU ARE

If you can't be a pine on the top of the hill,
Be a scrub in the valley-but be
The best little scrub by the side of the rill;
Be a bush if you can't be a tree.

If you can't be a bush be a bit of the grass,
And some highway happier make;
If you can't be a muskie then just be a bass-
But the liveliest bass in the lake.

We can't all be captains we got to be crew,
There's something for all of us here,
There's big work to do, and there's lesser to do,
And the task you must do is near.

If you can't be a highway then just be a trail,
If you can't be the sun be a star;
It isn't by size that you win or you fail-
Be the best of whatever you are.

GREAT MILITARY BATTLES, by Cyril Falls, ed. There is a unique fascination in the study of great battles which surely derives from the sense that issues can be decided by trivial incidents and the margin between victory and defeat is often very small. ## Letters Of Interest

Benton, Kentucky

Dear Sir:

I read the Sun Democrat articles and heard the news release on the radio stating there was no plan for a VA hospital in Western Kentucky. This news does not alter the fact that there is still a great need for this hospital in this area.

We knew when we started this drive that the Veterans Administration would say "no." Dr. M. A. Musser stated that these are planned way ahead; however, a foreign country can come to the U. S. Government and get anything they want overnight, apparently.

Recently, Congress met in one day to stop the nationwide railroad strike that threatened. The recent earthquake in South America resulted in the United States sending millions of dollars in aid to these people; and there was recently a cyclone in another country, and the United States Government poured millions of our dollars into that country. Money is being thrown away in the black market and racketeering in Vietnam, according to a recent television documentary. A day or two ago, our President asked Congress for another $1 billion for foreign aid, and he got it.

Things like these, I suppose, would be called important; but when the American veterans, who fought for this country and lost limbs, eyes, and their health, ask for a hospital to get well or die in, our Government says "no," it's not needed. The veterans know better than this.

The American servicemen have always come home from the wars with the flags waving, and we were great heroes. Now this powerful army of veterans is forgotten -- we've done our job, so apparently the country is through with us. We've got news for them -- we've just begun the fight for this hospital, and we don't intend to give up. We know how the veterans are treated in the hospitals, available to them now.

A veteran can apply for a pension for wounds received in action fighting our enemies, and the Veterans Administration usually says "no," so they are well-versed in this word "no."

The veterans have joined hands with labor and together we're the strongest group in the world. We are chartering a bus before long and are going to Washington with 100,000 signatures on petitions circulating here in Western Kentucky, asking for this veterans hospital. Almost every organization in Western Kentucky has endorsed this movement, with the exception of a few we haven't heard from.

On Sunday, December 20, at 12:00 noon, in South Marshall High School at Benton, we are having a big free dinner and speaking, concerning this hospital. Everyone interested is invited, and we want everyone who possibly can to be there, veterans and non-veterans. There will be plenty of food, furnished by the good citizens of Western Kentucky.

We want to thank the veteran and labor leaders and other organizations who have proved they still appreciated the sacrifices of the veterans of this country.

We all know that all Congress has to do is raise their hands and say "build a hospital for these veterans in Western Kentucky," and it will be done, so please keep sending your letters concerning this to your Congressmen and Senators, or to W. H. Villines, Jr., Route 2, Benton, Kentucky, who is Chairman of this drive.

Musings From The Philosopher

A BRAND-NEW PASSING INSTITUTION

Recent news notices indicate that there are now fewer than a hundred one-roomed schools in the state. When the last one in western Kentucky, Decker, in Grayson County, was in its last months of service, three years ago, I had the good fortune to spend an afternoon in the school, interviewing on tape the teacher and the eighteen pupils. At that time there were still considerably more than 300 one-roomed schools, largely in the mountain counties.

If any of you want to know about the one-roomed school as it is now and much as it used to be, you had better arrange to find out where one is and take your tape-recorder and your camera, preferably a moving-picture camera, to record an ancient and valuable passing institution.

During the late fall of 1969 I reviewed the more than 300 commencement addresses I have given since I first became a commencement speaker, away back in 1919. Of the first 100 schools where I spoke not more than 15 are still in existence, for the small high school, like the small elementary school, is now almost a past institution. In fact very small high schools began to disappear while there were still a good many one-roomed elementary schools in existence.

Imagine addressing a graduating class of one person! I did that on two occasions, once for a boy and once for a girl. Fortunately, the school put on as big and as good a program for the one as it could or would have set up for a big class.

It was my 87th commencement address, and a good many years after 1919, before I addressed a class of 25 high-school students. To get the whole idea of county high schools started, it was necessary to begin wherever people showed enough interest to establish a school. Some larger counties had as many as fourteen such schools, most of them small. But transportation had not developed, and getting to and from school was largely to be accomplished by walking. Then, as roads got better and cars more and more numerous, transportation as an idea grew. The small high school had done well in creating a desire to get a secondary education; many a community where I spoke in my earlier days I did not have, among the parents of the graduates, a single high school graduate; a good many parents confessed to me that they had barely learned how to read and write but that they determined to give their children all the education available.

Many of my best memories are of the pride that neighborhoods had in their small but effective schools. And in some of these very small places were often located some of the best-trained, most effective teachers. One such small high school, with three teachers and not too many pupils, had three honor graduates of my own college, in widely-varying fields. The few students who attended that small school had some of the best training that I knew of at that time. Another small high school, nearly every graduate of which went to college, had a period of eleven years in a row when not a single freshman from that school failed in my department; the one and only English teacher had herself been an honor student, of a long line of teachers, and she certainly made a name for herself and for her students.

The small high school is not merely on the way out; it is virtually extinct. When you decide to visit one of the remaining one-roomed schools, try to find a very small high school that is still running and take a farewell look at it. We live in times of great changes, and none of them seem more noticeable than in education. It has thrilled me as a teacher of teachers for my whole college-teaching experience to have been a part of this development of a consciousness of the need of education beyond the three R's, to have watched the way our rather slow-moving state has actually spanned centuries of growth in my own lifetime. All honor to the small school that did the best it could in an age that was so onto overtake and put it aside.

SOCIETY - WOMAN'S INTEREST

COFFEE CUP CHATTER

How much do you spend to clothe your family? In a recent study of clothing expenditures, the average family spent $394, or 9% of their total income, to clothe the family. The family with income under $1500, spent $104, or 6% of the income, and families with income of $8,000, or more spent $775, or 10% of their income. --Mrs. Catherine C. Thompson, Hickman, Ky. 42050 Phone: 236-2351

WALL OVENS IN THE KITCHEN--Points to keep in mind when planning a kitchen with a divided range are: the wall oven should not block counters between work centers; it should be located outside the working triangle (range to sink to refrigerator) but it should have work surface beside it for loading and unloading. Needed counter space should not be sacrificed for a wall oven. The adequate kitchen has ten linear feet of counter space. When this requirement cannot be met, it may be better to have a drop-in range with oven or a free-standing one. A wall oven at the end of a kitchen wall with cook top joining is a poorly arranged kitchen because it requires steps to move a hot dish from oven to counter. At least 18 inches is needed between wall oven and cook top. --Juanita Amonett, Courthouse, Paducah, Ky. 42050 Phone: 442-2718.

If the men in your life are ready to send white shirts to the Smithsonian, you'll be pleased by a new idea in men's fashion. ## Elks Members Enjoy Annual Christmas Party And Dinner

Fulton Lodge No. 1142 of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks held its annual Christmas party Wednesday night, December 9, at the Park-Terrace Restaurant in South Fulton.

About 60 Elks and members of their families from Hickman, Fulton, South Fulton and Martin attended the buffet supper. Proceeds from the dinner will be used to provide the Elks' annual Christmas benefit for poor children in the Fulton area. The date for the benefit has not been determined.

Pete Green, exalted ruler of the Elks, introduced the feature speaker, Dr. R. L. Brittain, an assistant professor of English at the University of Tennessee at Martin. Brittain, himself an Elk, affirmed his belief that young people want moral guidelines to follow. He said that the Elks' charitable work inspires young people and gives them the motivation to observe the traditional virtues.

Brittain said the Elks attempt to observe four cardinal principles: charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity. He said they should take pride in observing those principles through such means as the Christmas benefit.

Help Asked For Girls At Jewel Manor

Real happiness is assuring that unloved girl that someone does love her. Jewel Manor at Louisville, Kentucky is a Rehabilitation Center for girls between the ages of 10-15 years. This home is sponsored by the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs.

These unfortunate girls are not wanted by their parents and will be spending the Christmas holidays at Jewel Manor. They are planning to decorate the cottages and Administration Building and would like suggestions and Christmas decorations.

Fulton Woman's Club wants them to have a Merry Christmas, and are asking our members and any unselfish citizens of the Fulton-South Fulton communities to contribute to our project - gifts for the girls.

The gifts need not be expensive because the girls will be very appreciative of anything. Suggestions are: stretch panty-hose (fit-all), cosmetics, costume jewelry, underwear, scarfs, stationary, a small money bill in an envelope, outdoor games equipment (such as archery, badminton, tennis), decorator items for their cottages, books, records, plastic tablecloths (72" round or 54" square), etc.

We request that each gift be wrapped separately in gay Christmas paper. For your convenience, we have placed a box at Graham Furniture Company for your gifts. Make it a personal gift by putting your name and address inside the package.

Remember that this pleasure is not limited to the club members but to anyone who feels the true meaning of Christmas and would like to share with these unfortunate Jewel Manor girls. Let these unwanted girls know that someone really loves them.

The B. H. Lowrys To Observe Golden Wedding December 25

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Lowry will observe their Golden Wedding Anniversary with a celebration at their home in Pilot Oak on December 25th. All friends and relatives are invited to attend an open house from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowry were married December 25th 1920 by Squire McDade in South Fulton, Tennessee.

Mrs. Lowry, the former Onia

Jackson, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Owen Jackson of Clinton, Kentucky. Mr. Lowry, a retired farmer, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Lowry of Water Valley, Kentucky.

Children of the couple include Mrs. Mary Nell Gossum, Mrs. Mai Parrish, Richard Lowry of Tampa, Florida and B. G. Lowry of Pilot Oak. There are five grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Rock Music To Feature Dance Friday Night

"Wolf Man and His Pack" will furnish rock music at a young people's dance Friday night, December 18, at the Hickman Country Club, according to Mrs. Jo Grissom of the December Recreation Committee.

Party dress is required for the dance, which will begin at 8 p.m. and end at midnight. Refreshments are included in the price of $6 per couple.

Club members can purchase tickets from the Pro Shop, the Citizens Bank, and members of the December Recreation Committee.

Pap Tests At Health Center

Pap testing for cervical cancer will be given at the Health Centers in Fulton and Hickman on Monday, December 21st. The hours will be from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. This test will be given by appointment only. For an appointment, call either, Fulton's Health Center-(472-1982) or Hickman's Center -(236-2825).

ATTENDS PECAN BOWL

Stoney Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burke of 202 Frankie Lane in South Fulton, spent this past weekend in Arlington, Texas attending the Pecan Bowl game between Arkansas State and Central Missouri. Stoney is a freshman at Arkansas State and is a "red shirt" on the team. He is a 1970 South Fulton graduate.

FIRST BLUSH

Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs said that, "at first blush," it appeared to him that the garb and actions of go-go girls cannot be regulated, Meigs suspended kept, does not smell or attract pests. The trick to this is not to let any animal fats get mixed up with the vegetable wastes and to turn the pile regularly to keep it clean.

Most of us don't realize how much trash we are buying with the articles we purchase. The packaging industry has added so many frills to the product that are useless but add to the waste that is the major product of the United States today. And where, oh where, will we find the space to safely get rid of all this unnecessary trash? The big cities are struggling with this problem now and it's spreading to the smaller ones. If the packaging industry understands that the addition of cardboard and cellophane neither attracts or pleases us, the amount of waste could be reduced immediately and we would pay less for the product.

It seems incredible that our beautiful country can turn into a dump heap. Let's each of us do everything we can do to stop it.

TEEN-DANCE

The Fulton-South Fulton Jaycees will sponsor another dance for the young people of the two cities, Saturday night, December 19th at the American Legion building.

The Innovative Touch of Henry County, Tennessee will play from 8:00 until 12:00 p.m., and the admission will be $1.25 per person.

Letter

Washington

By Mrs. John Sherman Cooper

you are considered already dead.

Ross Perot felt an important way to make Hanoi understand the value we put on our people is to make a national effort for their release through the newspapers and by writing letters. All the Congressional wives and many other organizations have written the President of North Vietnam urging him to honor the Geneva Convention. If you would also like to write, address your letter to:

The President of North Vietnam, Ton Duc Thang Office of The President Democratic Republic of Vietnam Hanoi, North Vietnam

The amount of postage is 25 cents per half ounce. Through this effort, the North Vietnamese government must realize our concern for our soldiers.

Pollution, pollution, pollution -- Each one of us can help stop this growing blight by beginning in our own garden and house. Please stop using poison to kill weeds and insects. It isn't necessary and can be dangerous. For instance, lawn preparations containing 2,4-D or 2,4,5-T have been named by the U. S. Surgeon General as teratogenic which means they cause damage to unborn children of both men and beast. Nature provides the best balance and the most effective bug killers are birds. One Purple Martin can dispatch 2,000 mosquitoes in a single day. If you check with the University of Kentucky Agricultural Agent, you can find out what birds are the best with dealing with the main insect pests in your area and how to draw those birds back to your property by planting certain trees and bushes or putting up feeding stations to attract them. Don't forget that spiders and snakes are great natural pest controllers. Just one firefly black snake can keep the rodent population down to nothing and other non-poisonous snakes are bug killers as are the spiders.

It is easy to pull out weeds, particularly if the ground has been properly mulched and it is very good for your figure. For natural fertilizer, use a good old compost pile made from vegetable wastes that you are throwing away together with leaves, grass and plant cuttings. The compost pile is absolutely healthy and if properly

Ann Landers

-- Your Problems Bring Answers --

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing this for every member of the family. (There are six of us.) Mom has false teeth. There must be something wrong with them because she takes them out the minute she comes home. These teeth turn up all over the house--by the telephone, on top of the TV, inside a folded newspaper.

Whenever the doorbell rings Mom hollers, "Don't answer it until I find my teeth." She can never remember where she put them, and the hunt begins. Everybody has to run around looking. Sometimes she offers a small reward.

Please tell us what can and should be done about this annoying problem?--New York Bite

Dear N.Y.: Removing dentures is unhygienic, unappetizing and unhealthy. Your mother should take her teeth to a dentist and find out why they are uncomfortable. Obviously they are or she would not be removing them. Once her chop- pers are adjusted properly (or she gets a new pair she can keep in her head) she'll be much happier.

Dear Ann Landers: So you and your claude of head shrinkers have decided that the inveterate pipe smoker has found a substitute for a nipple? This raises an interesting question: Why are so many males frustrated and unfulfilled these days? Why do they NEED a nipple substitute?

Is it perhaps because the average American husband must fill the roles of provider, butler, chauffeur, handmaiden, whipping post, errand runner and scapegoat for everything that goes wrong? Almost every husband I know is short on sex. His wife will do him a favor now and then if he behaves himself and performs well in other areas--provided, of course she isn't tired or preoccupied with the kids, or her mother, the laundry, ironing, committee work or a backache. This is one man's point of view. Print it if you dare. --G.A. Doormat K.C. Kan.

Dear Mat: Any guy who signs himself "Doormat!" is asking to be stepped on. The game you are playing is called "Kick Me," and I'm sure many females have obliged. Until you, and others like you, develop a better opinion of yourselves, nothing is going to change. I have no advice. Only sympathy.

Dear Ann Landers: What's the matter with people? For the zillionth time it happened again. I met a friend at a meeting. He was someone I hadn't seen in about five years, a former neighbor. Of course I asked about the kids. He immediately whipped out his billfold and started to hand out pictures. After going through a bunch of debris he handed me a ratty looking photograph of the family, with the following comments: "This is really an old picture, and not very good of the two youngest. Sorry it's torn. The oldest boy was on the end. He's a great kid, too bad he got ripped off."

Why do people carry pictures they need to apologize for? If a person wants to show off his family, or his new baby, or his wife--why doesn't he carry a decent photograph or forget it? You have a way of getting things across in a very frank way. Help! --Boca Raton

Dear Boca: So do you. You don't need any help from me. Thanks for writing.

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage--What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50¢ in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Governor Proposes Six-Point Program Against Drug Abuse

Gov. Louie B. Nunn has proposed a six-point program of assistance to local communities involved in the fight against drug abuse.

Addressing thousands of Kentuckians who attended the Drug Awareness Conference at Convention Center, the Governor warned that drug abuse is increasing in Kentucky.

There has been a six hundred percent increase in drug-related arrests in the first six months of 1970, with arrests for violations of federal drug laws having doubled in the last two years in Kentucky.

The Governor proposed a massive effort of help local communities fight the drug problem.

The six points were:

- (1) Creation of a special Narcotics Division within the Kentucky State Police which will concentrate on illegal drug traffic.
- (2) Establishment of an Organized Crime Division within the Kentucky State Police.
- (3) Grants from the Governor's contingency fund to match local efforts and help purchase educational materials on drug abuse.
- (4) Investigation toward development of an immunity law for drug users who are willing to provide information and submit to treatment.
- (5) Purchase of a series of television films depicting the dangers of drug abuse.
- (6) An appeal to the private sector for concentrated support of the campaign against drug abuse in Kentucky.

GOVERNOR GREETING YOUTH-Gov. Louie B. Nunn greets high school students at the Drug Awareness Conference. Nunn told the group that the rising tide of drug abuse in America could be stemmed only through understanding, communication, and education.

Working with the state Board of Health and the Departments of Health and Public Safety, as well as federal, state and local law enforcement organizations, we hope to discover more about the people who sell and promote the use of narcotics and dangerous drugs."

Farabee said Kentucky's 21 Community Comprehensive Care Centers will provide staff for coordinating drug education and treatment programs on the local level.

"Treatment must be for both emergency and long term. Consultation and group discussion therapy will be provided by Comprehensive Care Centers, but affiliated agencies are to be welcomed."

He also cited the success of the law passed by the 1970 General Assembly permitting early drug offenders to receive therapy from the Department of Health.

"In the first 90 days of operation, 103 juveniles and young adults have passed through this program of compulsory drug education," Farabee said. "To date, no one has been re-arrested."

The Care Centers and County Drug Education Committees will cooperate in the area of prevention by providing accurate information about drug abuse. Efforts are also underway to train every school teacher on the dangers of drug abuse through the Department of Education.

Cycle Enthusiasts Attend Dinner At Kenbar Inn

The West Kentucky Competition Riders Association held its first annual honors banquet on Saturday night, Dec. 12. The banquet was held at the beautiful Barkely Lodge. Happy Hours began at six o'clock with dinner at seven, and the band started playing at eight o'clock and played until one a.m.

The number one rider of the year was fifteen-year-old Chip Moss of Hopkinsville, Ky. The Trailblazers extended congratulations to Chip and wish him the best of luck in the coming year.

The Trailblazers attending the banquet were: Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kimbel, Mr. and Mrs. Butch Workman, Mr. and Mrs. Don Tabers, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Young, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Liech. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed a fine dinner and great entertainment for the duration of the evening.

On Sunday, December 13, the Trailblazers had a small Hare Scrambles behind the home of Butch Workman. This event was primarily for the pleasure of our own club members. Due to the rain on Friday night and Saturday the course was not as dry as it had been intended. By the end of the day everybody was pretty muddy.

The riders listed in the order which they finished were as follows. In the 100 cc class through 175 cc class the riders were: Tommy Taylor, first place; Adron Workman, second place; Buddy Mosley, third place; Larry Kimbel, Tony Grubbs, Bob Bowles, James Pierce, Don Tabers. In the 250 cc and Open class the riders in order of finish were: Deny Gattis, first place; Eddie Arnold, second place; Rhea Graves, third place; Clem Wright, Tommy Miller. Trophies were given through the first three places in each class. All the club members enjoyed the day whether they participated in the ride or not.

On behalf of every Trailblazer we wish to extend to everyone in the Fulton and surrounding areas a very Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Eagle Badge Awarded To Steve Walker

Stephen J. Walker, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Walker, was presented the highest award of the Boy Scouts of America Friday when he received the Eagle Scout Badge. Scoutmaster O. C. Walker presented the award at the Lions Club meeting at the Park Terrace. His mother pinned his Eagle Badge and Stephen presented a miniature Eagle Scout pin to his father and Scoutmaster.

Stephen is a senior honor student at South Fulton High School and is president of the 1971 graduating class. He is active in church work and serves as president of the Youth Fellowship of First United Methodist Church. He is president of the South Fulton DECA Club and is employed by the Fulton Daily Leader through the Distributive Education Co-op Program.

Stephen is the sixteenth member of his troop to earn the Eagle rank since its first charter was issued in 1959. The Lions Club is the sponsor of Boy Scout Troop 42.

The Famed "Trotters" Coming To UTM

The Harlem Globetrotters, merry madcaps of basketball, will bring their 45th edition of basketball thrills to the University of Tennessee at Martin January 5.

Tip-off is set for 7:30 p.m. in the UTM Field House. Advance tickets on sale throughout the area are $3.00. Admission price at the gate will be $3.50.

Sponsored by the Student Government Association, the world-traveling Globetrotters will face the New Jersey Reds in what promises to be a delightful evening of entertainment.

Heading the list of stars who will be seen in action are Meadowlark Lemon, known throughout the world as the "Clown Prince of Basketball," and Freddie "Curly" Neal, a deadly outside shooter and precision dribbler.

Tickets are on sale in Union City at Whitby's Music Store and Bennetts; in Paris at Tom Lonardo Music; and in Martin at the University Center and the Collegiate Shop.

DEATHS

Thos. Alfred Russell Ivan Meshach Jones

Thomas Alfred Russell died on Tuesday, December 8, in the Fulton Hospital, following an illness of one week.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon, December 10, in Hornbeak Funeral Home chapel and burial was in Johnson Grove Cemetery.

Mr. Russell, 65, was born in Obion County, the son of the late Thomas Jefferson and Myrtle Rucker Russell. He had been a resident of the Johnson Grove Community his entire life.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Mildred Lydick of Route 2, Fulton, and Mrs. Wilma Luther of Union City; two sons, Thomas Wayne Russell of Route 2, Fulton, and Bill Warren Russell of Detroit; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Louise Russell and Mrs. Edna Gill, both of Fulton, and eleven grandchildren.

Mrs. Hattie Blaylock

Mrs. Hattie Blaylock, 69, Water Valley, Route 2, died at 4 p.m. Sunday, December 13, at Lourdes Hospital in Paducah, following a week's illness.

Born August 10, 1901 in Graves County, Kentucky, she was the daughter of the late Ellis and Florence Medlin Wray.

She and her husband, Bryant Blaylock, would have been married 50 years on February 21, 1971.

Besides her husband, she leaves four sons, William E. Blaylock of Huntington Beach, Calif., Nelson Blaylock, St. Louis, Jimmy Blaylock, House Springs, Mo., and Jerry Blaylock, Water Valley, Route 2; two sisters, Mrs. Colie Aldridge of Clinton; Mrs. Viola Glidwell of Poplar Bluff, Mo., eight grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Services were held at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, December 15, at Jackson Funeral Home Chapel in Dukedom. Bro. Eugene Lindsey was the officiating minister. Interment was in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

Fred A. Fite

Fred A. Fite, a long-time resident of Hickman County, Kentucky, passed away suddenly at his home Friday, December 11th, in Rockingham, North Carolina.

Mr. Fite was born September 25, 1902 in Hickman County, Kentucky, son of Lee and Mary Hamlet Fite.

Prior to his retirement in 1965 he was employed by a conveyor aircraft corporation. Funeral services were held Monday, December 14, at the First Presbyterian Church in Rockingham, North Carolina at 10:00 a.m.

Survivors include his wife, the former Panzie Woodard, one son Charles W. Fite of Greensboro; two daughters, Mrs. Marcella Edwards of San Diego, California; Mrs. Cona Washburn of Rockingham, North Carolina; one brother, Harry Fite of Wingo; two sisters, Mrs. Jerald Jackson of Missouri; Mrs. Bill Lobb of Pontiac, Michigan and five grandchildren.

GOOD SPRINGS

Mrs. Hillman Westbrook

Mrs. Lewis Cole entered Chesmore Clinic at Paris last Monday and has been very sick. Her condition seemed improved on Saturday.

Malcolm Alford is at home and making gradual recovery from the burns received at the packing house several weeks ago.

Mrs. Jim Brown is a patient at Fulton Hospital since last Tuesday.

Edgar Reeves is in the hospital at Union City for tests and treatment.

Mrs. Evie Cashon called from Holt, Michigan, the first of the week to hear from everyone, said she was doing okay. She is spending the winter with her brother, Basil Gatewood.

Herbert Roberts was dismissed from Fulton Hospital Friday after being a patient there about a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin De Freese visited with her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. H. Carman and daughter in Union City, Sunday afternoon.

A delicious dinner was spread at the home of J. T. Moore, honoring his birthday on Sunday. Those present and enjoying the day were Mr. and Mrs. Joey Fagan and family, Bill Potts and four girls, Mrs. Byrdie Potts, Donna Pickard, Mrs. Lillie Hodges, Eunice Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Windsor have bought a new trailer home and setting it down on their farm near J. W. Bynum's home.

COMPENSATION

Gov. Louie B. Nunn appointed Bennett F. Bratcher of Morgantown as a member of the State Workmen's Compensation Board.

CONGRATULATIONS

The second-grade poster winners of the Fulton-South Fulton Art Guild contest are: Cindy Rice, Betsy Whitesell, Tammy Pennell, Bobby Joe Hobbs, and Timothy Wilson.

Chestnut Glade

By Mrs. Harvey Vaughan

The fast approaching holiday season is taking much time and attention of many in this as well as other communities with the happy anticipation of visits and other pleasant activities. We are daily reminded of how thankful each should be that are able to engage in such activities as we learn of those that are hospitalized or are in deep sorrow at this time. Seems that there are unusual numbers of such news items.

Several relatives and friends in this community received greetings from Jessie and Earnest Nanney who live in St. Louis last Saturday. It was a great shock when they received word that Mrs. Nanney had passed away in her sleep Friday night after she had prepared a large number of greetings for mailing. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved family. Funeral and a long illness. He had made his home in Waverly, Tenn., for the past several years. Funeral tin, Tenn., for several days. Late reports are that she is doing nicely, of which all friends will be glad to know.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Fields and son, Kerry, were visitors here over the weekend. They were dinner guests of your writer Saturday, and on to Hickman, Ky., as house guests of children, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Argo on 9th Street. All of us had a good time, and they left for home Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Seda McGuire is making satisfactory recovery at Community Hospital, Mayfield. She received a broken hip and wrist in a fall two weeks ago, at the home of her son, Hubert Puckett, this District No. 1. Get-Well wished are sent to her by all friends in this area.

Mr. Dave Mathis was removed from the Volunteer Hospital, Martin, Sunday, back to Weakley County Rest Home in Dresden. He has improved the past several days, and everyone hopes he will continue so.

We extend our sympathy to the family of Arnie Cashon 81, veteran of World War I, who proving at the Volunteer Hospital where she has been a patient for the past week.

Mrs. Laverne Owensby is a patient at the Fulton Hospital. Best wishes are extended to her for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Jeter Wheat, Mrs. Ellen Brown, Mrs. Jim Burke, Mrs. Danny Wheat, Mrs. Laverne Owensby and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan represented the Chestnut Glade Club at the Home Demonstration Club Christmas Luncheon at the U.T.M.B. Student Center December 4.

Needless to say that this is the beginning of the holiday season for many of the club members.

Mrs. Evelyn Vaughan and son Julius have returned to their home in Warrenburg, Missouri after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan and other relatives and friends here and at Paris and Union City and Mayfield.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Arnie Cashon who passed away last Friday after a long illness. He had made his home in Waverly, Tenn., for the past several years. Funeral was at the Jackson Funeral Home with burial at the Dukedom Methodist Church Cemetery.

The Chestnut Glade Club will meet in the home of Mrs. Jeter Wheat for the Christmas meeting, December 17, at 12 o'clock, and visitors are cordially invited.

Mrs. Harry Whitver has returned to her home in Nashville after spending a few days here due to her mother Mrs. Eula Rogers illness.

Introducing Our Churches - God's Agency For Spreading His Love

SMITH STREET CHURCH OF CHRIST

W. W. Gould, Minister

We are living in an age when doubt, fear and skepticism are prevalent on every hand. Our contemporary world is in SERIOUS TROUBLE. One has only to survey the rapidly rising crime rate, alcoholism, drug addiction, sexual promiscuity and the disintegrating family structure to realize this is FACT and not FANTASY. Prominent theologians, in denying the Bible, contribute to these terrible facts. "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it." (Psalms 127:1)

The Bible contains the mind of the living God, the state of man, the plan of salvation, the warning of eternal destruction of sinners and joy of the redeemed. Its precepts are binding and its decisions immutable. It contains light to direct you, food to sustain you, and comfort to cheer you.

The Bible is the Christian's charter. It should fill the heart and guide the feet. It should frequently and prayerfully be meditated upon. Man may carry the Bible now, but one day the Bible will carry man. It involves the highest responsibility, rewards the greatest labor, and condemns all who mutilate and trifle with its holy contents. Contemporary man needs to live with the Bible until he comes under the influence of the power of its teachings.

THE BIBLE IS GOD'S WORD: We believe it. We preach it. You, in this fine community, are invited to hear it. The services of Smith Street Church of Christ are as follows:

Lord's Day: Bible Study ..... 10:00 A. M.
Sermon ..... 10:50 A. M.
Sermon ..... 6:00 P. M.
Wednesday afternoon ..... 1:30 ..... Ladies Bible Class
Wednesday: Bible Study ..... 7:30 P. M.

a lead pipe cinch others couldn't care less whether the rich wear rags or raccoon.

Some people, whose lives are as empty as their heads, make a career of poking around in the clothing stores and shoe salons. Good on them. Others dress to be comfortable, to be discreetly fashionable, or just to show off.

So to each his own.

But heavens, let's stop this business of trying to glamorize one's life by suggesting they wear what somebody else wears.

The Governor's Race

Having been a close observer of the political scene in Kentucky for nearly a quarter of a century, I know full well that at this stage of the game candidates begin issuing all kinds of lofty statements just to make the headlines.

However, I think that former Governor Bert T. Combs, a candidate for a second term as governor has gone beyond the pale in making headlines when he challenged Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford to re-hire all of the 6000 employees Governor Nunn has allegedly fired, while the Governor is attending a National Governors Conference in Sun Valley, Idaho.

Think of it! Here is a Democratic lieutenant-governor, calling up a Nunn-appointed Republican Commissioner of Highways giving him orders to hire hordes of dismissed employees in a period of not more than a week. In the first place it takes longer than that to get an individual on the payroll, meanwhile the Governor returns to the State, and bingo, they're fired again, even before they're re-hired.

The horror of it all! And the awesome stupidity of such a suggestion. It is silly, down-right silly, just as Lt.-Gov. Ford said it was.

If memory serves, former Governor Edward T. Breathitt, now closely aligned with Combs, ought to tell the now-candidate Combs what a nightmare he (Breathitt) endured while he was a captive in his own State because Breathitt's lieutenant-governor was something less than cooperative during that recent four-year term.

Bravo to Wendell Ford for appraising the challenge for just what it was, a publicity stunt. And other kudos to Ford for conducting himself as a man of honor in his cooperative role as a Democratic lieutenant-governor serving with a Republican governor.

If this kind of "coalition government," as Combs calls it, is a crime, then just call all Kentuckians "The Defenders" of this kind of coalition.

pretty watch chain that I bought at her store, 33 years ago.

So, lo and behold, eventually I settle in Fulton. A time or two in the past twenty years here our orchestra drove all the way to Gallatin to play at the Country Club there. We were invited by a Mr. Koehn, who was a long-time friend and former watchmaker at Charley Andrews' jewelry store here in Fulton.

Mr. Koehn died back in October, and only this very week did I know that for the past 29 years he had owned and operated the jewelry store that little Mrs. Blue used to be so fiercely proud of. So proud, in fact, that whenever I could manage to arouse her competitive fight, and righteous indignation at any comparison, the advertising flowed to the columns of the Gallatin Examiner in a weekly flood.

Telephone Rate Hike Studied

FRANKFORT, Ky. Final written arguments on a proposed rate increase of $14.8 million annually being sought by South Central Bell Telephone Co. will be received no later than Dec. 18 by the state Public Service Commission.

PSC Chairman Harold Kelley said following a hearing Friday that a final decision might not be reached by Jan. 1, thus allowing the firm to put its controversial increase into effect on that date.

However, he said the action would be subject to a later refund by the company if the commission determines the increase isn't warranted.

The deadline for final written arguments came Friday after state Asst. Atty. Gen. Laura Murrel asked for more time in the case.

The higher local service rates requested by South Central would affect some 531,000 customers. The proposal is being objected to by several groups, including the attorney general's office.

Teachers Told Public Will Expect More

LOUISVILLE, Ky. State Supt. of Public Instruction Wendell Butler has told Kentucky's local school superintendents they can expect "sharply increased demands for accountability" in the future, especially from parents of depressed minority groups and from students.

Butler told the school officials meeting here Monday that "administrators, school boards and departments of education are in for more trying times than they have yet seen."

"The time has come for educational leadership to take the initiative in answering questions being asked by critics in light of the demands for accountability," Butler asserted.

"If educational leadership plays its cards right, it can turn this storm of criticism from a negative basis to a positive basis of public support."

Another speaker was James Melton, assistant state superintendent for administration and finance. He said Kennedy should consider the possibility of assuming the responsibility of "fully financing" elementary and secondary education.

Wood Bridge Destroyed In Thursday Fire

A fire destroyed a 147 foot wooden bridge one mile off Highway 94 on the Union CP Church road early Thursday morning, December 10.

The Fulton Fire Department received the call at 6:30 a.m. and they were at the scene until 1:30 p.m. Fire Chief, Billy Meacham said that the bridge structure was made of crosote timbers and had an asphalt covering. Lack of water hampered the fire fighting truck.

The bridge was an old one, but it had been renovated with black-topping, and guard rails, and was in good condition.

Annual Christmas Bird Count Scheduled Dec. 22 In LBL

MURRAY, Ky. In the LBL was 85 in 1966, the result of an unusually large and able group of observers. The average number of species reported in the count over the years has been about 60.

Begun informally in 1900 by Dr. Frank Chapman, the Christmas Counts have become the event of the year for most bird-watchers. Peterson said it offers an opportunity for observers of son added.

Sponsored by the National Audubon Society, the bird count includes three dates and locations in West Kentucky: Dec. 22, Land Between the Lakes; Dec. 28, Reelfoot Lake; and Dec. 28, Murphy's Pond.

Dr. Clell Peterson, professor of English at Murray State University, has been the director of the count in the Land Between the Lakes since 1963. He says it has been one of the most popular of nine Kentucky counts because of the variety of waterfowl and the presence of both the bald and golden eagles.

West Kentucky observers will be joining groups in almost 900 areas scattered over all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and all provinces of Canada for bird counts, according to Peterson, "to see what's where in the world of birds."

Conducted yearly for almost 20 years, the count in the LBL was begun when the area was known as The Kentucky Woodlands National Wildlife Refuge. It has usually had a director from Murray State since its beginning.

Until her death in 1963, it was led by Grace Wyatt, professor of biology. Dr. Hunter Hancock, now chairman of the biology department, directed the project from 1966 until Peterson took over.

"The director really is the compiler," Peterson explains, "the one who assumes the responsibility for validating and reporting the observations of the other members of the group."

He said the largest number of species reported in what is now they are sometimes referred to as "bird golf"—the data accumulated is of considerable value as evidence of numbers and distribution of various species.

"The information should become more and more useful as the world moves toward the semi-tropics of the Gulf Coast and the permafrost of Alaska. The numbers of observers will vary greatly. In 1969, 83 persons only recently learned to distinguish blue jays from bluebirds," he noted.

Observers will be up well before dawn on the chosen day, regardless of the weather. Judging from 1969 and depending on local conditions, according to Peterson, they will use virtually every means of transport conceivable, including marsh bugles, snowmobiles, snowshoes, and New York tie for second, helicopters, horses, bicycles and even dogteams.

According to ground rules established by the National Audubon Society, each count must cover an area the size of a circle with a 15-mile diameter and each count must run at least from dawn to dusk, a minimum of eight hours.

Although no one regards the Christmas Counts as "science," Peterson said the number of counts is about average with its nine counts.

Noting that some unusually enthusiastic birdwatchers take part in several bird counts, Peterson said anyone who is interested in joining a group or groups may get further information by writing: Dr. Clell T. Peterson, Box 364, University Station, Murray, Ky. 42071.

5 Co-Chairmen Named For Combs And Carroll

MAYFIELD, Ky. Five co-chairmen for the Combs-Carroll campaign have been named for Graves County.

The chairmen are Gerald McClain, Kenneth Mathis, James Ralph Lyles, Clarence Bishop and Gerald Nance. They will lead the campaign of Bert T. Combs for the Democratic nomination for governor and that of Julian Carroll for lieutenant governor.

McClain, 27, is the sales manager for an automobile sales firm here and in 1969 was named "Outstanding Lion of the Year."

Bishop, 41, who lives near Lowes, is active in the affairs of the Fancy Farm community. He works for a Paducah shirt company.

Nancy Brown Honored With Bridal Parties

FULTON, Ky. Miss Nancy Brown, bride-elect of Kenneth Gossum, was honored with a household shower Saturday at Harmony United Methodist Church.

Hostesses for the occasion were the women of the church. A decorating theme pertaining to the Christmas season was carried out.

The bride-elect was attired in a navy knit with a red corsage of holly and carnations pinned at her shoulder.

After games were played and gifts opened, refreshments were served from a table decorated with poinsettias and greenery.

Approximately 60 guests attended or sent gifts.

Also on Saturday a coffee was given at the home of Mrs. Carl Pirtle in Water Valley for Miss Brown. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Pirtle, Mrs. Arthur Rose, Mrs. Hal Kizer and Mrs. Ethel Williams.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Pirtle, the guest of honor, her mother, Mrs. Arthur H. Brown Jr., and Mrs. Nathan Gossum, mother of the groom-elect.

Approximately 35 guests called between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon.

State Out Of Money, Withholds Awards On Toll Road Projects

FRANKFORT, Ky. The state is withholding awards on all toll road projects because it has run out of bond money to finance them.

Highway Commissioner B. E. King confirmed the situation Monday, estimating about $27 million in work has been let recently, but not awarded to various contractors.

The delay is expected to remain in effect through January. The next sale of turnpike bonds is scheduled tentatively that month.

Affected is all grade and drain work on new toll roads connecting Henderson and Owensboro, Bowling Green and Owensboro, Somerset and Bowling Green and London and Hazard.

The total cost of the turnpike network will be more than $400 million. Toll road bond sales so far amount to $127 million.

The last issue of $60 million was sold in August at a record 7.4 per cent interest rate.

"I think we made a wise move in waiting for the next one," King said. "You'll find the bond market is much more favorable and the interest will be way down."

He acknowledged that some contractors are a little apprehensive about when new bond money will be raised, "but all have accepted things on this basis."

Kentucky operates on an encumbrance system in highway work — there must be money on hand to cover all project awards.

Instead of receiving contracts, low bidders have been getting letters of intent which will take effect when new bonds are sold, King indicated.

One project slipped through the Highway Department's roadblock.

Adams Construction Co. of Pikeville was awarded a $1,140,015 job for a 5.4-mile extension of the Daniel Boone Parkway west from the Manchester interchange in Clay County.

King said the award resulted from a clerical error and was rescinded by him personally in an order dated Nov. 20.

The commissioner estimated the next bond sale would range from $70 to $100 million. The Finance Department has not arrived at a definite figure yet.

King said he anticipates "no appreciable delay" in the overall timetable of the toll road network.

"At this time of the year, the contractors can't get much accomplished anyway," he said. The state has legalized its delay by specifying the last two bid lettings that it reserves the right to wait 90 days to make an award after bids are submitted. The usual waiting time is 30 days.

Another letting is scheduled Friday, and King estimated $20 million more in toll road work will be taken under bids.

The Kentucky Turnpike Authority indicated originally it planned to sell a new bond issue before the end of this year. It reportedly hopes now the bond interest rate will drop even more by early next year.

Burress Posts Bond In Fulton

Herman Burress Jr. of the Shady Grove Road was released Tuesday after posting $1,500 bond in Fulton City Court on three separate counts of breaking and entering, according to Fulton City Judge Don Hill.

A preliminary hearing for Burress will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday, Judge Hill added.

According to Fulton officers, one of the cases involves breaking into an automobile parked at the Fulton Holiday Inn last Friday night. Two women's coats were stolen.

Burress was arrested by Obion County officers at his trailer home a short time after the auto burglary. After a search warrant was obtained early Saturday morning, officers entered his trailer and confiscated many items believed to be stolen property.

Burress was charged on Obion County charges and was bound over to the January grand jury.

Burress waived extradition Tuesday before being taken to Fulton to post bond.

Riders Deemed Threat To Social Security Bill

WASHINGTON A bill which would increase Social Security benefits $9 billion a year cleared the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday, but controversial provisions for import quotas and family assistance threatened to block Senate passage.

Floor debate was tentatively set to begin next Tuesday, but argument over the extraneous riders cast doubt on the measure's fate. Several senators have said that even if the committee bill dies, some scheme will be sought to rescue the Social Security increases for 26 million Americans.

Under the Finance Committee's version, all of the beneficiaries would get at least a 10 per cent increase effective Jan. 1. The monthly $64 minimum payment would be raised to $100.

The House voted for a 5 per cent increase and a $67.20 minimum.

The average retired individual now gets $118 a month and a couple $198. These would be boosted to $129 and $218 respectively by the House measure, $136 and $223 by the Senate Committee's version.

The increases in averages exceed the 5 and 10 per cent general increases because of the higher minimums and other factors.

The most controversial rider added to the bill, and the one likely to touch off the bitterest floor fight, would set import quotas on textiles and shoes and restrict foreign trade in other ways.

It contains most of the provisions of the trade bill passed by the House last month. Its Senate backers decided to try to get it enacted as an amendment to the Social Security bill to improve its chances.

But a group of about 25 senators has pledged to use every weapon to defeat this rider.

Another floor fight will come over President Nixon's welfare reform proposal—the Family Assistance Plan—which passed the House in April but which the Finance Committee rejected.

Finance did agree, however, to add an amendment to the Social Security bill providing for a two-year test of FAP and two alternatives to it.

Feed Heifers Properly

If a heifer is not in good flesh or condition to conceive early in the breeding season, her chances of being a productive animal are much lessened.

This is the opinion of W.P. Tyrrell, a University of Tennessee Extension livestock specialist. He says that, on the other hand, heifers that are too fat may have severe calving problems.

"In some areas of Tennessee where grass has been plentiful, bred heifers may already be too fat for safe calving," says the animal husbandry professor. "Heifers bred to calve in late winter and spring need plenty of exercise on permanent pasture early."

Tyrrell says that the problem on most farms is to provide adequate, balanced nutrition without overfeeding.

The specialist cites research work done at Miles City, Montana, which indicates that the first winter after a heifer is weaned may be the most important season in her life. He says that poor winter feeding is false economy. A heifer will not conceive early in the breeding season unless she is in a strong, healthy nutritive stage of growth. Proper feeding of replacement heifers, Tyrrell concludes, can greatly affect your 1971 beef cattle income.

Wholesale Prices Declined

WASHINGTON The wholesale price index for November fell one-tenth of 1 per cent, a bit less than earlier predicted, but still an encouraging note against the slow national economy.

The Wholesale Price Index was 177.7 for the month with the one-tenth loss, which was only the second drop in two years. For every $100 worth of food, materials and services in the 1957-59 base period, it now costs $177.70.

The index was 2.6 per cent above the November 1969 level, the smallest annual increase in 27 months. Average industrial prices did not go up for the first time in 17 months.

Despite the wholesale cost decrease, living costs in October were 6 per cent above the 1969 figure. The cost of living indicator was at 137.4, meaning it cost the average family $13.74 for every $10 worth of goods and services they bought in 1957-59.

Tuesday's November wholesale price list showed farm prices down seven-tenths of 1 per cent, against the earlier estimate of nine-tenths.

South Fulton Girls Win, Boys Lose

SOUTH FULTON, Tenn. — South Fulton's Red Devils divided high school basketball games here Saturday night, winning the girls' game over Union City 48-31 and losing the boys' battle 69-53.

Jimette Gilbert paced the Red Devilettes to their fifth win in seven outings in the opening clash, But trouble started for the South Fulton school in the nightcap.

Union City's boys rolled to a 42-29 halftime lead and never looked back. Greg Davis paced the winning attack with 27 points, Walt Williams followed closely at 18 and Bruce Moss cashed 14.

The cold-shooting Devils hit only 14 of 59 from the field, just 23 per cent, and committed numerous errors. Coach Terry Beadles' quint stayed in the game by hitting 23 of 29 from the free throw line.

Multi-Million Dollar Expansion Mayfield General Tire Plant

Additional 242,000 Square Feet Planned; With 220 More Employees

A multi-million dollar expansion program already started at The General Tire & Rubber Company's plant on the Paducah Highway Route 45 will put an additional 242,000 square feet under roof and, ultimately, provide employment for 220 more people, Plant Manager Robert E. Rehm announced today.

WILL MAKE MAYFIELD GENERAL TIRE'S LARGEST TIRE PLANT

The new construction, expected to reach completion in January, 1972, will make Mayfield, General Tire's largest tire manufacturing operation, Rehm said.

The company has other tire plants in Akron, Waco, Texas; and Charlotte, N.C.

"The program will increase our passenger tire production capacity by 3,500 units a day," Rehm said, "and our daily truck tire capacity by 350 units."

The tire executive pointed out that this is the fifth major expansion program the plant has undergone since operations first started in September of 1960.

Employment at the plant now stands at 1,141 employees with approximately 900 production workers," Rehm said.

A similar project - "although not as large scale" - has been launched at General's plant in Charlotte.

Contractor Charles E. Story of Wickliffe, Kentucky, is handling the project here.

The last major expansion at the plant was in 1966, at which time 250,000 square feet was added to the Mayfield plant at a cost of $6 million. The last expansion was designed to increase the plant's output of passenger and truck tires. A $3 million dollar expansion took place at the plant in 1964, and there were two other expansions in the early phase of the plant operation here. Mayfield's plant, designed at the time as the world's most modern tire factory, went on-stream in 1961.

Cecil Anderson, president of the Mayfield-Graves County Industrial Board said that this expansion represents the equivalent of a large new industry, and is indicative of the quality of our workers in Mayfield and Graves county.

ROBERT E. REHM
Plant Manager

"This expansion, the completion of Ingersoll-Rand next summer, and the unusually sound economic posture of our other local industries, make the outlook for a very good 1971 for the people of this area.

The acquisition of a new industrial park will provide impetus toward additional growth in the near future as our Board works closely with all the people to assure maximum employment for the people of this city and county," he concluded.

1,000 Can't Use Canal

BALBOA, Canal Zone—Nearly 1,000 ships afloat or under construction are too wide for the Panama Canal's locks. An additional 1,200 squeeze through partially loaded; they can't navigate the channel with a full cargo.

Body Needs 20 Minerals

BOSTON—Minerals are present in all living things, and at least 20 have proved essential to man. Chromium, copper, iodine, iron and zinc, among others, are indispensable to the human body.

ENGINEER— Will King Dickerson Jr., son of the Rev. and Mrs. Will King Dickerson Sr. of Hickman, Ky., has successfully met the requirements of the Board of Architectural and Engineering Examiners of the State of Tennessee for licensure as a professional engineer. He is employed by the University of Tennessee at Martin as director of the physical plant. Mr. Dickerson is married to the former Billie Thweatt.

GENERAL EXPANSION — January, 1972, has been set as the expected completion date for the multi-million dollar expansion program underway at The General Tire & Rubber Company's plant in Mayfield. The expansion will place approximately 242,000 square feet under roof, and will provide employment for 220 more persons. The plant now employs a total of 1141 persons. The last major expansion at the plant was in 1966 which added 250,000 square feet to the plant at a cost of $6 million. Contractor Charles E. Story of Wickliffe, Kentucky, is handling the project.

Jobless Rate In Tennessee Up 1 Percent

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Unemployment in Tennessee during October was one per cent above the rate for the same period in 1969 but compared to September it was an improvement, the state department of employment security reports.

A total of 69,700 persons, or 4 per cent of the state's population, was reported out of work in figures released Wednesday by Dr. E. J. Eberling of the employment security department's statistical research branch.

The total compares with 50,900 persons for the same period, Eberling's figures showed. The figures showed the percentage of jobless persons in Tennessee dropped from the rate in September, which was 4.2 per cent or 72,800 persons.

Last week, the federal government reported that during November the national unemployment figure was 4.6 million or 5.8 per cent.

The Tennessee figures showed unemployment in Nashville during October rose nearly a percentage point from October 1969.

Memphis figures for the same period also reflected an increase— from 2.6 per cent in 1969 to 3.3 per cent in October of this year. This represents a gain of 3,500 persons.

Three Students At UTM Nabbed

Three University of Tennessee at Martin students, all from Memphis, were apprehended Tuesday night by UTM Safety and Security officers for the alleged sale of amphetamines, H.B. Smith, dean of students, reported today.

Two of the students were arrested in residence halls on the campus and one at a Martin address. Purchases of amphetamines had been previously made from these students, he said, and the arrests were routine.

The students are: Judith Anne Eicholz, 20-year-old junior; Joe Howard Hunt, 20-year-old senior, and Fred E. Ivy, 18-year-old freshman. Disciplinary action was expected to be taken against the three Memphians by university officials today.

Sees No Reason To Change Programs

New OEO Head To Continue Policies

WASHINGTON — Frank director of the antipoverty agency, Donald Rumsfeld, in an interview with The Associated Press, the 40-year-old said he thinks two of the agency's most controversial programs, Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA) and Legal Services, are functioning effectively and sees no reason to change current administrative policy.

program are well and healthy, functioning effectively, and I've given you my view and people can differ with it.

Q: Rumsfeld had a policy that VISTA volunteers were not permitted to engage in confrontation with local governments. What are your views on this subject?

A: Well, I don't know what you mean by confrontation. Everybody I talk to defines it in a different way. Is a Legal Services lawyer taking somebody to court, is that confrontation? I don't know. Talking about physical violence. Obviously, this program is not designed for physical violence. I think what Don Rumsfeld has been saying, at least my interpretation, is that our programs ought to be result-oriented. And you have to have a strategy and proceed to carry out that strategy in a way which is designed to mobilize the resources of the entire community to help the poor help themselves. In most cases, it seems to me, the way you go about getting other resources is to get people on your team and have a dialogue with them. And I think most of our programs are functioning that way.

Q: Do you plan to carry out the decentralization guidelines for the legal services program that Rumsfeld issued on Nov. 14 which have been criticized by many poverty lawyers?

A: I'd rather not comment on something which is really being handled by the director. Don Rumsfeld is still director of the agency. This is all a matter of conversation between various persons that were concerned. The bar has been asked to com-

State's 'Rollback Law' Struck Down

LOUISVILLE, Ky. Jefferson Circuit Judge Lyndon Schmid struck down the state's 1965 "rollback law" Wednesday, declaring that it is unconstitutional to freeze local property taxes.

He also enjoined the Louisville Board of Aldermen to adopt a school property tax rate of 73.4 cents per $100 assessed valuation, or 10 cents higher than permitted by the constitutional statute.

Under the law, Schmid explained, school taxes within the state "are not levied and collected uniformly and by a general law as required by the state's Constitution."

The suit was filed by the Louisville Board of Education which contended that disparities between local tax rates prevented all school systems from being equal under the law.

If the decision goes to the Court of Appeals and is rejected, there is a possibility the matter might be appealed in federal courts.

The rollback statute was passed during a special legislative session amid fears that an earlier 1965 appellate court ruling, requiring property to be assessed at full cash value, would send tax bills soaring.

The law provided for two 10 per cent increases in total revenue, one in 1966 and the other in 1967.

"Equality and uniformity do not exist between the respective counties, cities and school districts within the commonwealth," Schmid said.

Bus Station Robbed By Man With Pistol

A lone bandit armed with a pistol walked into the Union City Bus Terminal Monday night, forced the ticket agent to lie on the floor, tied his hands behind his back and rifled the cash drawer of an estimated $200 in cash.

Union City Police Chief Cleatis Haley said the ticket agent, Leonard Hilliard, 43, of 301 North Drive, was not injured.

"The robber just tied Mr. Hilliard's hands with some rawhide bootstraps and left him on the floor," Chief Haley said. "Mr. Hilliard worked himself loose in a couple of minutes and called us. We got there in a moment or two but by that time, the robber had gone. We found no trace of him."

The police chief added that officers "are looking for a man we want to question" in connection with the case.

Mr. Hilliard said he was reading the paper with his back to the door when the bandit walked in about 7:45.

"He said, 'This is a stickup - give me your money,'" Mr. Hilliard said.

"I told him I didn't have any money but he told me to move over and to throw my keys to the cash drawer on the floor. I heard him cock the pistol and he told me, 'I'd just as soon drop you as not.' So I did what I was told," said Mr. Hilliard.

Mr. Hilliard said he was ordered to lie face down on the floor and the bandit tied his hands behind his back. Then the gunman rifled the cash drawer and fled.

Mr. Hilliard, who has been ticket agent since March 16, 1969, said he managed to get his hands free in about 15 minutes and immediately called police.

The ticket agent described the bandit as white, about 35 years of age, about five feet, eight inches tall with a medium complexion. There was nothing unusual about his accent. Mr. Hilliard said the gunman made no attempt to hide his features.

There is rarely more than a day's receipts in the bus terminal, Mr. Hilliard said. He added that a check would have to be made before it could be determined exactly how much money was taken.

Mr. Hilliard said he had about $15 in his billfold but the bandit made no attempt to take it.

SHERRELL OLIVE
Olive Elected
Chamber Chief

CLINTON, Ky. — Sherrell Olive, manager of Johnson Supply Co. here, is the newly-elected president of the Clinton Chamber of Commerce succeeding Robert Black, Clinton Bank cashier.

Olive was selected president from seven directors named earlier in balloting by the members. He will serve in 1971.

The other six directors named are Bill Hinkle, Kentucky Utilities employee; Ed Thomas of Thomas Jewelry; Gentry Harris, assistant cashier at First National Bank; Wilson Cannon, Farm Bureau Insurance agent; Earl Warren, vice president of the Clinton Bank; and C. C. Young, owner and manager of the Ben Franklin Store.

Cannon was named as the new vice president and Harris was reelected secretary-treasurer.

Male Editor Poses Problem

CINCINNATI — Members of the Ohio Newspaper Women's Association will have a man as a main item of business when they meet Feb. 20.

Harry West, women's editor of The Cleveland Plain Dealer, has applied for membership.

"I think we have the best women's pages and I can't enter," West said, referring to annual awards the organization makes. "It's a professional thing. The Plain Dealer should be recognized."

Yager Will Seek Governor's Post

James Bell Yager, now an inmate at Tennessee State Penitentiary at Nashville, has announced his candidacy for governor of Kentucky on the "Independent ticket."

Yager, in a communication directed to the Sun-Democrat, said he expects to be released soon from the Nashville prison. He said a motion for a new trial is pending and, if overruled, he will appeal his conviction and expects to be released meanwhile on an appeal bond. He presently is serving a 3-to-10 year sentence on a charge of fraudulent breach of trust.

Yager said he acknowledged that he will be making a "constitutional challenge" in regard to his right to run for the office but he is prepared to go to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary, to do so.

Yager said he had been disturbed by what has been written about him in the Sun-Democrat. "It bothers me so much that I have elected to run for governor of Kentucky."

Yager's campaign material reported he holds a LLB degree, a doctor of divinity degree and is an ordained minister.

His goal as governor would be to lower the sales tax to 3 per cent, revamp the state's correctional system, and to enact legislation that would prohibit the news media "from probing into the personal and private relationship of others," Yager reported.

Yager said he has applied for his declaration papers and they will be signed by "good honorable citizens." In addition, one of his campaign aides is a former Kentucky state senator, Yager said. The person was not identified.

Yager has been in custody since July 10. But until Nov. 16, in the absence of any report from authorities, the public believed he still was free following parole from Eddyville prison. On May 26 at Clarksville, Ind., Yager allegedly received $750 for a vehicle with promise to deliver the bill of sale at a later date. Yager reportedly, then disappeared in another car also owned by a car lot where he was employed.

Yager failed to appear in Lyon County on June 23 for an extradition hearing to determine if he would be returned to Tennessee. The Tennessee matter involved the alleged sale of several thousand dollars worth of jewelry on a consignment basis.

Yager was paroled from Eddyville prison a few days prior to the June 23 hearing at Eddyville which he did not attend.

Yager reported he committed no violations in Kentucky last summer during the time he was on bond and awaiting extradition to Tennessee. He charged he was being held "incommunicado" when his appearance was scheduled in Lyon County Court on June 23.

As for the Clarksville case, Yager said it was the responsibility of the used car lot management—not him—to have produced a bill of sale to the customer.

Live Nativity Scene Planned

A live nativity pageant, which will include two complete casts of 17 actors each, along with a number of farm animals, will be presented for five nights during the Christmas season on the South Second Street lawn of the First Christian Church.

The pageant will be performed in pantomime, with background narrations from the Bible and Christmas music, from Dec. 20 through Dec. 24 from 7 until 9 each night with performances beginning at 30-minute intervals.

According to the Rev. A.M. Von Almen, pastor of the First Christian Church, the cast includes about 50 people.

"We have two complete 17-member casts with extras, just in case it's cold. One cast will be used at 7 and 8 p.m. while the other will be used at 7:30 and 8:30 p.m.," he said.

Work was going forward at the church today where a manger scene was being constructed. The Rev. Mr. Von Almen said the church had discussed the live narrative pageant for some months now and hopes to establish it as a tradition.

"We feel it is something our church can do as a community service during the Christmas season," he said.

Visitors who arrive at the scene on the half-hour will be confronted with darkness.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

Back in the 1950's there was as great deal of concern in this country about the possible ill effects of automation on our economy. Many people expressed fear that machines would displace so many workers that large portions of our population would become unemployed.

No one will deny that many of the jobs once performed by workers are now done by machines. However, something has happened to divert the projected ill effects of automation. That something is the enormous growth of industries which provide services as apposed to those industries which produce goods for the marketplace.

A recent issue of U.S. News and World Report included an article on this very subject. This article pointed out that, at the turn of the century, seven out of every ten American workers were engaged in producing goods. At present, over half of our working people are engaged in providing services, and by 1980, seven out of ten will be providing services, while only three out of ten will be producing goods.

In earlier days, most of our people were employed in the raising of crops and in the manufacture of shoes, textiles, automobiles or other goods. Today, however, more and more of our people have jobs cleaning clothes, repairing television sets, working in government offices, or providing other professional services such as entertainment, medical care, legal advice, or teaching.

Already Americans are spending more money for services than for all of their non-durable goods such as food, clothing, and fuel. Today these services take 44 cents of every dollar. Soon it is anticipated that we will be spending more for services than for all tangible goods, including cars and houses.

What effect has this shift had on our economy? First of all, it has made us less susceptible to the threats of recession. Through the years, those industries most affected by economic slumps have been those which manufacture goods. Layoffs by such industries now hit fewer people and the chances of a snowballing effect are diminished.

Another effect is that inflation has become almost inevitable. It is much harder to control because the "key industries" are no longer as vital to the whole economy as they once were. Thus any government action which is taken to combat inflation will affect a smaller percentage of the population than it would have earlier.

Another effect is that governmental regulation will probably increase. Too much of our lives are already regulated by governmental bureaucracies, but with so many new services industries emerging, and with so many of our dollars going into them, more regulation seems to be inevitable. More and more areas will require licenses, and qualifying for these licenses will call for meeting and maintaining certain standards.

Until machines can be developed to give us legal advice, to give us medical care, to repair our appliances, to teach our young people, and to provide our entertainment, we as a nation seem now to be relatively safe from the threats of automation. But perhaps we should not become too smug.

American science and technology have succeeded in producing many devices which were unheard of just a few years ago. Who knows—in a few years we may have a machine to produce all the goods and provide all the services we need and want. When that day comes, we can all retire to the easy chair and be waited on hand and foot.

Last week the Senate refused to appropriate funds for the continued development of the controversial SST, the Super-sonic Transport plane. Since the House of Representatives had previously approved the appropriation, the disagreement will now have to be settled by a Senate-House conference committee.

The U.S. Government has already put 600 million dollars into the development of this aircraft. It is not a military airplane. Instead, it will be a civilian jet to be used by the nation's airlines.

The plans are to have the two prototypes ready by 1978. These planes will be capable of carrying 300 passengers at speeds up to 1800 miles per hour.

With this plane, it would be possible for an American businessman to leave New York at six o'clock in the morning, arrive in Paris by three o'clock in the afternoon (their time), attend a business conference and be back in New York by nine o'clock the same night. This would be easier than driving between certain parts of Tennessee to do business in a single day.

The question always arises as to whether this added convenience to international businessmen will be worth the tremendous expense to the taxpayers. I say international businessmen because a few hours of flight time certainly is not this valuable to vacationers and sightseers.

However, there are other factors involved. Supporters of the SST point out that American leadership in the aircraft industry is at stake, along with thousands of jobs for American aircraft workers. Right now, America is the world's major supplier of aircraft. But the British and French are working on the development of an SST of their own, called the Concorde. And the Russians are working on their version called the TU-144.

Neither of these foreign planes would have the capabilities of the American version, but if we stop working on ours, they would get all the SST business (and the jobs that go with it).

Also, if we do not proceed with ours, then the airlines in this country would be forced to pay their SST's abroad. Needless to say, this would further hinder our position in the balance of payments, which is already unfavorable to us.

On the other side of the question are those who feel that the SST would be detrimental to our environment. These crafts would create many times as much noise during the take-offs and landings than do our present loudest jets.

Also, when an SST breaks the sound barrier, a terrific sonic boom (capable of cracking windows) is created. Yet everyone agrees that these planes would not break the sound barrier while flying over land.

Aside from the noise problem, some scientists feel that the vapor trails from such planes would eventually cover the earth with a thin layer of cloud, thus causing a permanent effect on the climate. Others say that there is a chance that the SST would destroy the ozone layer which shields the earth from dangerous ultra-violet radiation.

However, there is a great deal of uncertainty and disagreement among scientists as to what the effects would be. Some claim that the cloud and ozone effects are very remote possibilities which were raised only as scare tactics.

The Senate-House conference committee must decide whether to provide the $290 million which is being sought. The total cost is projected to be approximately $1.3 billion. How the committee will balance the advantages against disadvantages, no one can tell, but whatever their decision, the consequences will be felt in our economy or in our environment.

Historians Asking Help

The Tennessee State Library and Archives is seeking information on a number of Obion Countians who served in the state legislature between 1823 and 1861 and has called on Obion County Historian Rebel C. Forrester for help.

Mr. Forrester in turn has asked 'The Messenger' to publish the names of these Obion Countians with the hope that some of the relatives still live here and can furnish the information needed.

The information is being gathered on all of the members of the Tennessee Legislature from 1796 up to the Civil War, and will be used in the first volume of the Biographical Directory of the Tennessee General Assembly which will be published at a later date.

Information is needed on the following Obion Countians: Robert Porter Caldwell, who served in the House in 1847 and in the Senate from Gibson County in 1855.

James R. Gardner, who served in the House in 1861.

George Washington L. Marr, who served in the House 1843-45.

Robert C. Nail, who served in the House in 1859.

Thomas A. Polk, who served in the House in 1841.

Osborne Purcell, who served in the House in 1839.

B. L. Stovall, who served in the House 1853-59.

William M. Wilson, who served in the House in 1835.

William S. S. Harris, who served in the Senate in 1849.

Samuel C. Henry, who served in the House in 1849.

Meningitis Cases Not Confirmed

MAYFIELD, Ky., A spokesman for the Graves County Health Department said today that no definite diagnosis of spinal meningitis has been made in two suspected cases of the disease in Mayfield and Graves County.

Rumors have circulated here for the past few days that a Wingo High School student is suffering from the disease. Then on Tuesday, a Mayfield High School student reportedly was sick of symptoms resembling spinal meningitis.

A spokesman for the health department said the diagnosis of the Wingo student's disease was never confirmed as spinal meningitis. The boy is reported as much improved in condition at a local hospital.

The spokesman said the second case of the disease has not been definitely diagnosed.

An outbreak of the disease occurred in Mayfield and Graves County during late fall and early winter of last year.

Fulton Wants On 'Railpax'

FULTON—A concerted effort to have Fulton included as a stop on the planned Illinois Central Railroad "Railpax" service tentatively scheduled to begin next May was outlined Monday at a luncheon meeting of the Fulton-South Fulton Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

The new passenger service plan, announced Nov. 30 by Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, calls for rapid rail transit between major American cities with intermediate stops. An initial map of routes to be covered included Fulton, but final decisions on the whole system have yet to be made. "We've got a good industry here," Joe Treas said of the Illinois Central at Monday's meeting. "We need to exert every effort to let them know we are vitally interested in having Fulton included in final plans for Railpax."

Four means of promoting Fulton's cause with the new system were outlined as follows:

Have as many people in this area as possible contact congressmen and senators from both Tennessee and Kentucky urging their assistance.

Circulate pledges expressing interest and support of the system, with copies of the signatures to be sent to both Illinois Central and government agencies.

Seek letters of endorsement from Chambers of Commerce in surrounding towns.

Have a local delegation make a personal call to IC officials in Chicago.

In the only other business at Monday's meeting, chamber president Kenneth Crews reported on his recent trip to Chicago calling on industrial prospects with a team from the State Department of Commerce.

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of the planned new railway system, to be operated by the National Railroad Passenger Corporation with the federal government and existing railroads co-operating.

Secretary Volpe said in announcing the plan that it would promise travelers "fast, clean, efficient service" through the reduction of duplicating routes and concentration of good equipment on fewer runs.

The National Railroad Passenger Corporation was established by Congress Oct. 14 and given a grant of $40 million and authority to borrow up to $100 million to improve roads and buy new equipment.
