Kentucky Windage

(By P. W.)

Since Fulton County is the first County in the First District of Kentucky, we enjoy one distinct advantage that not many other counties can "rest easy" about, politically: we're not apt to be moved about from one district to another, as the State periodically gets carved up into new districts.

We're not apt to wake up next month and find ourselves put in someone else's district, even though we will probably find some new faces in ours. It's a nice, tranquil feeling.

The number of persons in Fulton County receiving food stamps in 1970 more than doubled over the previous year, according to figures released last week by the USDA office of food and nutrition service Atlanta office. In 1970, 1,168 Fulton Countians were receiving food stamps, compared to 492 in 1969, and that's an increase of some 230 percent.

In Hickman County, the increase was even higher. In 1970, 646 persons were receiving food stamps, compared to 261 in 1969. That's an increase of over 240 percent.

Graves County, which provides commodity foods instead of food stamps (according to the report), showed a decline of 20 percent instead of an increase. In 1970 their head count dropped to 780 from a high of 976 the year before.

It's hard to believe, in these days of inflation and unbelievable high prices, but the U. S. Government has never raised the price of tolls through the Panama Canal since the thing was built in 1914. That's almost like going to the picture show for a nickel.

So now they have a $25 million-dollar deficit down there, and are thinking of raising prices.

About time, I'd say. You can't get through the Suez canal for ANY amount of money.

Joe Treas and I have several times wondered about the possibility of returning some mail service to the rails (which would be a great boost for the Fulton postoffice and its patrons) and I detected a little glimmer of hope in that direction last week, in a story dealing with the forthcoming "Railpax" service.

The story says that the U. S. Transportation Department "has received more accurate estimates from the Postoffice on how much mail the passenger trains might be awarded, and believes Railpax might be able to generate $10 to $15 million annually in mail revenues if adequate service is provided."

So keep your fingers crossed, Joe. We're supposed to be hearing about this Railpax business before the month is over.

Somebody sent me a clipping last week from a Tennessee newspaper lamenting the problems of Vann Town, Tennessee—a Lincoln County community just north of the Alabama line.

It seems that Vann Town, this year, is besieged with millions of blackbirds and starlings, about four million of them come to roost for the winter.

The story reads exactly like Fulton's before the pests were routed out of here: They are trying to shoot 'em, but that doesn't do any good; they want to poison 'em, but authorities in the State won't permit it, etc, etc.

Said our unknown correspondent, "How about this? Could they be Fulton's?"

I hope not. I am sure Fulton doesn't want credit for wishing that mess on anybody. Anyhow, we didn't tag ours with any identification.

NOT EVERYONE WAS COMPLAINING ABOUT THE SNOW and bitterly-cold weather this week, as these nine youngsters demonstrated Tuesday afternoon. They were a part of the constantly-changing group in East Fulton who slid, skidded and tumbled down the slopes at Terry-Norman school and enjoyed every bit of it. (Above, from left): David Daugherty, Gay Graves, Eddie Greer, Kevin Hutchinson, Brian Welch, Greg Sams, Pat Fenwick, Scott Rickman and Keith Collier . . . and apologies to any of them if our youthful "identifier" spelled their names incorrectly.

Privately Owned Ambulance Service In County May End

Private ambulance service in Fulton County appeared doomed today as all three funeral homes of Fulton County announced discontinuance of ambulance service within three months.

The date of termination is expected to be around April 1st when Obion and Weakley Counties, Tenn. begin operation of their county-wide ambulance service but no exact date has been set.

Representatives of the three funeral homes appeared before the Fulton County Fiscal Court today to discuss possibilities for continuing ambulance service but no immediate action was taken.

The funeral homes abandoning their ambulance service are Hornbeak Funeral Chapel, Barrett Funeral Chapel, and Chaney Funeral Chapel.

Among others who will be discontinuing private service are Vanderford Funeral Home in South Fulton, and Hopkins and Brown in Clinton, Jackson Bros. in Duketown said they would "go along" with plans devised for the counties they serve.

Obion County has entered into a contract with a private individual to provide service for the county, the cost to be subsidized by the Obion County Court. Weakley County is establishing its own ambulance service to be operated and paid for by the county.

Phone Facilities At Record Growth Here, Company Says

Kentucky telephone facilities continued to grow in 1970 as South Central Bell spent a record high $51,340,000 to provide its Kentucky customers with new and improved services.

According to Ron Laird, South Central Bell's local manager, this represents an increase of more than five million dollars over the firm's 1969 construction expenditures.

Reflecting the record construction program was an increase of 40,674 in the total number of telephones serviced in the state. These added telephones brought the year-end total to 900,164, compared with 859,490 at the outset of 1970.

"The number of telephones in Fulton and South Fulton increased by 174, for a total of 5,055 at the end of this year," Laird reported. Total telephones in the Fulton calling area which includes Fulton, South Fulton, Duketown, Cayce, Water Valley and Hickman, came to 7,382, up from 7,123 a year ago.

The $51 million dollar outlay made possible the extension of service to new urban and rural areas throughout the state, the upgrading of party-line service, and increased availability of Direct Distance Dialing to Kentucky subscribers.

Major projects in the state included the completion of a $7,000,000 expansion and improvement program in Henderson.

son; the phasing in of a new computerized billing procedure; establishing 911 emergency service in three Kentucky communities; and a $3.8 million dollar building in Paintsville. Locally, two communities in the Fulton calling area, Cayce and Duketown, gained access to the DDD network, and are now able to dial their own long distance calls.

More telephones and improved services resulted in a high volume of long distance calls. Toll messages originating in South Central Bell's Kentucky operating area numbered 73,470,583, a 13 percent increase over 1969. Of this total, 60 percent of the calls were placed through Direct Distance Dialing.

To meet the increased calling volume while continuing to offer good service, an additional 108 employees joined the forces of South Central Bell, bringing the total to 5,657. Later this year, several hundred more employees will be added to the rolls as the AT & T Long Lines operation in Kentucky is assumed by South Central Bell.

If The Primary Leaves No Bitter After-Taste, We Can Elect A Democratic Gov. In November

It looks like this is going to be another hot-and-heavy political Spring in Kentucky. The primaries are several months away, but one doesn't have to go far nor stay long before the conversation gets around to the current topic of conversation: politics.

Depending on who you're talking to, it's Wendell Ford, or Bert Combs, or (in guarded tones) Tom Emberton. All three are running for Governor, and partisanship, even this early, has taken on all of the colorings of the three-party system. That's nothing new around here, its happened before, many times.

As a matter of fact seventy-five years ago, the editor of the Hickman Courier, reviewing a just-concluded State race in which the Democrats were defeated by the Republicans, lamented the fact that the "threeparty" system was the cause of the Republican victory. The two Democratic factions fought each other tooth and toenail and emerged from the primary so bitter that the losing side cheerfully adopted the Republican candidate and helped elect him Governor.

So what happened to the Purchase? Both sides lost.

Even in very recent years, friction over heated words has split the Democratic vote in the Purchase into two parts that did not publicly unite for the party candidate in the general election.

All of this is bad. In fact, it is stupid on the part of all of us. Let's dedicate ourselves to having a clean, hard fight for our choice in the primary — be it Bert Combs or Wendell Ford, and then BOTH sides support the winner in November and return a Democrat to Frankfort. We know both of these men, think a lot of both of them, and although we are going to support one over the other, we expect to do it in such a manner that we can happily join the "other side" in a determined effort to bring a Democratic victory in November.

We hope you will, too.

That means no mud-slinging, no punching below the belt; just a hard, clean fight that is aimed at getting out a big vote for whom-ever you favor.

Already, we have heard others voice their agreement to this tactic. We hope the idea spreads.

After all, the "big" one . . . as far as we in the Purchase are concerned . . . is November.

A Salute To The Boy Scouts And Their Fine Concepts, Founded 60 Years Ago

Every year the nation observes Boy Scout Week in observance of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America 60 years ago. This year, 4.5 million Boy Scouts and their 1.5 million adult leaders will observe the birthday of Scouting under a new banner. Instead of Boy Scout Week, there is now to be a Boy Scouts of America Anniversary Celebration during the entire month of February.

Presently, one out-of-four boys of Scout age is a member of the Boy Scouts of America, and through a new long-range development plan, called BOYPOWER '76, the Boy Scouts plan to involve a representative one third of all boys in the Scouting program. Parents are missing a bet when they overlook the good works of the Scouts. The age of Scouting begins at eight years and extends through 17. The eight-year-olds can enroll in the Cub Scouts. When a youngster reaches 11 years of age, he can become a full-fledged Boy Scout and participate in vigorous outdoor programs to teach boys concepts of honor; duty to God and country; service to others; and self-respect.

The Boy Scout organization had its inception on July 29, 1907, when a small group of boys and two men set up a camp in a sheltered bay on an island off England's southern coast. The group was led by Lord Baden-Powell, a British hero of the Boer War, and the boys were from the streets of England's cities—and from the most exclusive schools. Two years later, Boy Scouting came to the United States when Mr. William D. Boyce, a Chicago newspaper and magazine publisher, inspired by his acquaintanceship with Scouting in England, incorporated on February 8, 1910, the Boy Scouts of America in Washington, D. C. A Federal Charter from Congress was granted on June 15, 1916. Today we owe a debt of gratitude to the vision of Lord Baden-Powell and Mr. William D. Boyce. There is no better way of expressing that gratitude than by furthering the cause of the Scouts at every opportunity during the month of February.

FACT AND OPINION

According to Mr. John M. Budd, chairman of Burlington Northern, Incorporated, "A sounder transportation system could mean lower prices for the nation's consumers, for virtually everything we eat, wear or use is transported at least once, and often many times, on the journey between producer and consumer. We have departed, as a nation, so long and so far from a rational and balanced transportation policy, that it will take an all-out effort to restore the balance."

"Today oil and natural gas supply about 75 percent of U. S. energy needs, compared with less than 28 percent in 1927," noted the West Texas Utilities Company in their publication, "The Electric Times."

Did You Know? asks Commerce magazine, "Travel awards lead all other prizes in incentive programs for sales and other employee productivity, reports the Dartnell Institute. Following in order are: merchandise, trading stamps, bonuses, clothing and college scholarships. Hard cash, somehow, finishes way down in seventh place."

IF YOU'RE EVER GOING TO LOVE ME

If you're ever going to love me love me now, while I can know
All the sweet and tender feelings which from real affection flow.
Love me now, while I am living; do not wait until
I am gone
And then chisel it in marble-warm love words on ice-cold stone.
If you've dear, sweet thoughts about me, why not whisper them to me?
Don't you know 'twould make me happy and as glad as glad could be?
If you wait till I am sleeping, ne'er to waken here again,
There'll be walls of earth between us and I couldn't hear you then.
If you knew someone was thirsting for a drop of water sweet
Would you be so slow to bring it? Would you step with laggard feet?
There are tender hearts all around us who are thirsting for our love;
Why withhold from them what nature makes them crave all else above?
I won't need your kind caresses when the grass grows o'er my face;
So then, if you love me any, if it's but a little bit
Let me know it now while living: I can own and treasure it.

"TREATS"

Some of the institutions that have passed have left adequate successors, but no successor has yet been found for the old-time treat. Boys and girls of our time, who are used to having apples, oranges, and candy whenever they wish, can never know the rare and wonderful joy we experienced when the last day of school came and the teacher gave a treat.

There were a few indications, even in those remote days, that the institution was passing, for some teachers in districts adjoining ours were said to be failing in their duty toward their pupils. We of our school frankly suggested that such teachers should not be allowed to keep school any longer.

No matter how bad the weather, every child appeared on the last day of school and was fully able to eat, though he may have been kept at home for a week or two previously on account of illness. Sometimes the parents and the younger brothers and sisters appeared on the last day. Usually there was a sort of closing exercise, such as the saying of pieces, but nobody paid any attention to pieces, for the whole school was consumed with hunger.

While some of the Friday-afternoon classics were being given, the teacher gave a knowing wink to two of the larger boys, who forthwith disappeared out the door, while children and visitors craned their necks after them and left the poor little boy who was saying his piece to butcher Mary's little lamb or take some of the twinkling out of the equally famous little star. By the time the last piece was said, the boys returned with a candy bucket or a box or a sack or two. Wiggling youngsters could hardly wait until the packages were unwrapped.

As I remember it now, there were three time-honored things in a treat: stick candy, candy in small bits, and apples. Not all appeared at any one time, but one of these had to be present to keep up the tradition. The candy was passed around by two boys, who had previously been instructed how many sticks or pieces each pupil might have. Peppermint was the commonest flavor of the stick candy. The small bits were of many varieties: gumdrops, mint hearts with sayings and verses stamped in red on the peppermint chunks, caramels, and kisses wrapped up in oiled paper and containing a small slip of paper with a very exquisite verse on it.

Candy kisses deserve a whole essay or even a whole volume, for they were remembered long after the treat was eaten up: the little verses were kept in the front room and often helped in the Sunday-afternoon entertainment of Sister's beau. The sentiments were as sweet as the kisses themselves, the very best one being, of course:

"The rose is red,
The violet blue,
Sugar's sweet,
And so are you."

The apples, to come back once more to the treat, were small and knotty, judged by present standards, but no ambrosial food served on Mount Olympus to grace a gathering of Greek gods ever tasted as they did to us. My, how those gumdrops stuck to a fellow's teeth! And how easily the candy crunched! And how I wanted to murder the rowdy boys who took more than their share of the treat! The happiest faces present were those of small children who were not old enough to come to school.

After the treat had been served, and while belated ones were munching their last apple cores, it was the conventional thing for the teacher to make a brief speech of goodbye, telling how much she hated to give up the children, how good they were, and how it was high-league was that Ted Williams was shipping a little . . . The 1957 baseball season was reaching a climax. It was Williams head to head against Mickey Mantle for the big battle title. Throughout the American League, record-breaking crowds turned out to watch the "ageless wonder" fight his way to victory. With strong determination and unusual skill Ted Williams finished the season with .388 defeating his junior rival by 23 points. At thirty-nine he was the oldest man ever to win the batting championship.

Since those days I have tasted all sorts of candy: homemade, store-bought, and other sorts, but nothing has ever had the flavor of stick candy, and kisses, and gumdrops. Other candy melts in the mouth; good old gumdrops, or "tooth-pullers," as we called them, had a way of staying put for a long time. And I have eaten bushels of Grimes's Golden and Stark's Delicious apples, but apples of all sorts are tasteless besides those knotty ones we used to get on the last day of school.

Sister Vincent Would Like To Be State's "Flying Nun"

By Lewis Sharpley
State News Bureau

FRANKFORT, Ky.--An employee of the state Finance Department would like to become a flying nun.

That would simplify the travel problems of Sister Vincent, who daily drives a 112-mile round trip to and from her job as a computer programmer in the Division of Data Processing.

She lives in the motherhouse of the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth, three miles north of Bardonia. She works in the New Capitol Annex in Frankfort.

COPTER WOULD BENEFIT
Piloting a helicopter or a small plane from Nazareth, Ky., to Frankfort would be a lot easier than terrestrial travel. Sister Vincent's present route takes her on U. S. 31-E to Bardonia, then via Ky. 62, the Blue Grass Parkway to Lawrenceburg and U. S. 127 to Frankfort.

This one-way trip is 56 miles and requires an average of about one hour. Commuting by air would be a lot quicker. A helicopter could easily be operated from a pasture on the large dairy farm owned by the religious order.

RODE HORSES AT DOWNS
However, there are problems. The Mother General is opposed to air travel (angels excepted).

For many years she forbade swimming, but finally gave permission for the nuns to swim--so Sister Vincent hopes that eventually permission to fly will be forthcoming.

After graduation from Presentation Academy in Louisville in 1943, the future nun joined the wartime Civil Air Patrol and took flying lessons--interrupted when she joined the Sisters of Charity.

From girlhood, her life has been interesting and varied. The family lived near Churchill Downs. The then Marie Tehan, fascinated by the race horses, learned to ride and many times served as a volunteer "exercise boy."

In college she concentrated on mathematics and took a bachelor's degree at Nazareth College (now Catherine Spalding) and a master's degree at Xavier University, Cincinnati. A number of members of the religious order have taken outside jobs to help support sisters no longer able to work and to help finance the Sisters of Charity missionary program in India.

An opportunity to work in Data Processing attracted Sister Vincent. She soon was on good terms with the computer system which the state uses to expedite the accurate handling of thousands of employees' expense-account warrants--such as for travel-mileage, etc.

EFFICIENCY EXPLAINED
"A computer can put out tape in about five minutes the information from a trayful of cards (perhaps 10,000), while at the same time printing the necessary record," Sister Vincent explained.

Where does a nun-mathematician head on a vacation trip? What would be more natural than to choose a place where there are many computers? Sister Vincent, armed with a letter of introduction from David R. DeMarcus, division director, visited the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's center at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

On her way home she stopped in Charleston, S. C., and visited her brother, William Tehan, a laboratory technician in the physics department of The Citadel.

COMMUNICATION IN THE FAMILY - Have you ever wished that you could get "the message" across to those you love? One of the most basic causes of frustration, confusion and unhappiness in human relationships is the breakdown in communication. Here are some suggestions for improving communication: (1) Respect the personality of each person as an individual; (2) Answer the simple and direct questions that children ask; (3) Listen to hear what the other person is saying, both in spoken and in unspoken words; (4) Try to prevent outbursts of anger and thoughtless remarks. Follow them with a sincere apology if they do occur; (5) When disagreements come, and they do come sooner or later, talk it out before the molehill of bickering becomes a mountain of stony silence or an erupting volcano; (6) Each husband and wife, each mother and father, needs to discipline himself and herself in the early stages of anger to avoid any ridiculing or nagging; (7) Thoughtfulness, appreciation, courtesy and gratitude--all these are like showers on parched land; (8) Try to see things from the other person's viewpoint; (9) Don't put off until tomorrow the thoughtful word you can say today; (10) Be as courteous to the members of your family as you are to casual acquaintances.--Miss Sue Heltzley, Bardwell, Kentucky 42923 Phone: 628-5447

Have you ever baked a cake that fell in the center? Wonder why? If so--try different fats or oils in your cake recipes. Too little fat in cake batter, for instance makes a dry cake. Too much fat makes a crumbly, heavy cake which may fall in the center.--Patricia Cursinger, Courthouse, Mayfield, Ky., 42025 Phone: 527-6601

At last, an anti-static sock for men. Doesn't sound very revolutionary, until you consider what it means in terms of comfort and easy care. Anti-static means no clinging trouser legs, and no lint after machine washing and drying. Soil stays on the surface and foot comfort is increased because perspiration is absorbed. Of course, all hosiery should be washed after each wearing.--Dean Roy, Courthouse, Mayfield, Ky., 42066 Phone: 247-2334

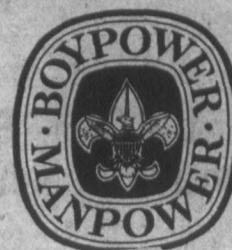

A printed tablecloth to match your pattern of dishes just may be available if you shop carefully. Some popular dish patterns can now be matched with a linen cloth. Wouldn't this give your table that new look and add interest at mealtime? Or what about a gift for the bride. Linens and china to match for her new home--a real treat.--Mrs. Mildred Potts, La Center, Ky. 42056

The crushed patent vinyl with their wrinkled surface and waterproof quality add something new in rainwear, separates and accessories. Crushed patent is lighter in weight than the previous leather likes and is easier to handle on the machine. It should be cut on the lengthwise grain with the crinkles going across the garment. Pin in the seam allowance to prevent holes. Inside seams are usually easy; however, top stitching may be another thing. Try using gummed tape paper over the plate to prevent sticking. Be sure to cut a hole in the paper around the feed dog area. Rubbing the surface to be stitched with machine oil may help. Use regular mercerized thread, a sharp size

Introducing Our Churches - God's Agency For Spreading His Love

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH — HICKMAN, KENTUCKY

The First Baptist Church, Hickman, Ky. was organized in 1846 and is the second oldest Baptist Church in Fulton Baptist Association. This Church not only shares in the work of the Association, but in the work of Kentucky Baptists, the Southern Baptist Convention and World Missions. First Church is evangelistic in fervor, missionary in spirit, and alert to the spiritual needs of the congregation, community and the world. The present auditorium is modern in design and is only five years old. A new educational building is now under construction.

Rev. Robert H. Dills is the present pastor of First Church, having come to Hickman the first of October in 1965 from the Hillcrest Baptist Church, Dyersburg, Tennessee, where he had served for nearly sixteen years. Mr. Dills holds the A. B. degree from Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, Okla. and the ThM degree from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Dills is an accomplished musician, having taught piano and organ for many years, and is active in every phase of the church's life. Rev. Dills believes in the old time gospel and preaches it from a heart of compassion.

The First church has all of the regular organizations of the Convention. Mrs. George Helm, is president of the W. M. U. J. C. Lawson heads the Brotherhood work of the church. Sunday School superintendent is James Cooley. Charles McMullin leads and directs the Training Union of the Church. Worship services are held each Lord's Day at 11:00 A. M. and 7:15 P. M. The Mid-week services are held each Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock. Sunday School is at 9:45 A. M. and Training Union is at 6:30 P. M. each Sunday.

Chestnut Glade

By Mrs. Harvey Vaughan

The weather is no doubt the most talked about topic today with the most winter like day of the season which necessitated the closing of all the schools due to the covering of snow and ice on the roads. Glad to report that Mrs. Brooks Oliver was able to be dismissed from the Obion County Hospital where she had been taking treatments for several days. She will continue treatment for some time.

Henson Jones who has been in the Baptist Hospital in Memphis for the past several days for examination is expected to be there for treatment for several more days.

Mrs. Dewey Nelson received a painful injury to her hand when a car door closed on it last Saturday. Several stitches were required, and a finger was fractured.

Mrs. Lon Watts is recovering slowly from the injury she suffered in a fall several weeks ago.

Best wishes for improvement are extended to Mrs. Charles Houser who is a patient in the Obion County Hospital.

Mrs. Milburn Conner had the misfortune of breaking her right arm in a fall on the ice last week.

The Vaughans received a most interesting letter from Mrs. Shellie Baird who is a resident of a Retirement Home in Nashville last week. Mrs. Baird is in some better health now than recently, although she is confined to her room and wheel chair.

Mrs. Harvey Vaughan attended the meeting for the Reading Project Leaders of the Weakley County Home Demonstration Clubs in Dresden last Tuesday. Mrs. Melba Wash, Mrs. Dorothy Covington and Mrs. Prince presented a most inspiring program for all who read. Mrs. Wash spoke from the poem—Books are keys to wisdom's treasures. Books are gates to lands of pleasures. Books are paths that upward lead. Books are friends. Come let us read. Information was given and reading lists were given for each reader in the Home Demonstration Clubs for 1971.

The Chestnut Glade club will meet in the home of Mrs. Jim Burke the third Thursday in February at 1 p.m. Visitors are cordially invited.

Bill Powell's Notebook

(Guest Columnist)

I was on the road between Georgetown and Frankfort when I heard on the radio that the Democratic House leadership had tackled Gov. Louie B. Nunn on the ticklish redistricting subject.

Led by Paducah's Julian Carroll, who is running for lieutenant governor, the leadership had challenged Nunn to offer a reapportionment plan of its own.

This sounded good enough—even though Republicans and many Democrats simply regarded it as a move to put the slippery Nunn on the spot in a sensitive matter, on which he tossed into the unwilling hands of the General Assembly (Democratic controlled) at the midwinter Kentucky Press Association meeting.

But political veterans also knew that the leadership, by asking Nunn for a plan, was leaving the door open to a master political professor who could say that the Democrats, in a tight spot, were turning to him after roughing him up many times for interfering with the legislature.

I went straight to Gov. Nunn's office and, as always, jokingly asked to see the governor. I told him I wanted his plan for redistricting—that he had had more than an hour to draw it up.

About that time Jim Watson, the governor's chief deputy, came through the office and he, too, was asked for the "plan."

He responded with a blank sheet of paper and a knowing wink.

Larry Van Hoose, the governor's expert press secretary, strolled through next. He also winked and said that a big sheaf of papers under one arm contained the "plan."

I figured the fun was over and started out.

The governor's door opened and Nunn hustled out, in his shirt-sleeves.

He had a Bible in his hands—one big index finger marking a page.

He was composing his answer to Carroll and the others and with great relief, Nunn seized the opportunity the way a dog would grab a cat by the neck; he was like a prizefighter seeing an opening.

Nunn revealed a little of his answer but wasn't ready to give all of it so I left him sitting in a chair in the outer office studying the Bible intently.

Later I found that he was looking for a passage that would illustrate his belief that Carroll's voice came to him but that the words were those of Bert T. Combs.

I don't believe he used it in his final statement—but he didn't really need to. The statement was classical in that it ripped, whipped and exaggerated the Democrat's move.

But don't feel sorry for Carroll; it could be that he made hay with the letter in his fight for lieutenant governor. After all, what the letter to Nunn said was the Democrats wanted to know what Nunn desired in the knotty redistricting so they wouldn't run the risk of a Nunn veto of a Democratically-controlled bill in the special session beginning Feb. 25.

One part of Nunn's statement ended in an obvious stalemate. He indicated that Carroll and Combs wanted to consolidate or do away with counties in the reapportionment.

Carroll replied the next day that he had never proposed such a thing and neither had Combs. Everybody close to the fracas knew this was so—only a feeble minded politician running for a state office would propose a move like that.

Carroll said the only source he had heard speak of merging counties was the governor himself.

President Nixon may give the Democrats an issue that would kill the hopeful Republican bid for the governorship in 1972. In proposing that the government discontinue the Appalachian Regional Commission in 1972, the President has opened a sore spot in 42 counties of Eastern Kentucky.

Nunn was sorely disappointed when he heard this. Only last summer, when Nunn drummed up a gigantic crowd for Nixon's visit to Louisville, the President had talked of expanding Appalachia's federal aid program.

Now he is talking of withdrawing millions from the suffering economy of the mountains and scattering it over the nation in formal grants covering six categories.

The killing of the model Appalachian program which is not all handout by any means would give the Democratic campaigners in the fall of this year a perfect springboard against the Republicans Tom Emberton and James Host.

Forty-two counties covers a lot of Kentucky.

I received a cheerful report about the former congressman Noble J. Gregory of Mayfield, who underwent an operation of the throat at the University of Kentucky Medical Center not long ago.

Although a malignancy was discovered, Gregory, who was the First District Congressman for 22 years, is given a good chance to recover. The operation didn't take away his voice and doctors believe that it was a success in every way.

Gregory and his wife both are in Lexington temporarily. Their daughter, Mrs. Foster Pettit, live there. Mrs. Gregory is an invalid (she came a long way from a severe stroke a decade ago but again lost ground) but is doing quite well.

Gregory went to Congress, succeeding his brother Boris, in 1938. He was defeated after 11 terms by Frank Albert Stubblefield of Murray.

Gregory had an interesting career, with the bluish of it coming during the colorful and exciting years of the New Deal in the hands of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

He walked and worked with other giants such as Alben Barkley and Sam Rayburn, and came away from Washington with a terrific storehouse of memories.

ROTC To Be Voluntary At UTM In Fall

Two major modifications in the requirements for the bachelor's degree and a non-thesis option for the master's degree were approved by the University of Tennessee at Martin Faculty Senate at its winter quarter meeting conducted January 26.

Dr. Norman Campbell, vice chancellor for academic affairs, announced that freshman and sophomore military science will become voluntary in the fall of 1971. Students who desire to enroll in ROTC may satisfy basic lower division by taking the two years of military science.

However, students may take both military science and physical education and receive full credit toward the bachelor's degree for each. Dr. Campbell said. The action was taken upon recommendation of the UTM Committee on Curricula.

In other action taken, the Faculty Senate was presented a report from the Graduate Council approving a non-thesis option for the Graduate School of Education that would allow a student to take 15 hours of selected courses in lieu of writing a nine-hour thesis for the master's degree. Students also have the option of completing three three-hour problems instead of writing a thesis.

I often wish he had time and the inclination to put them down in a book. It would, I think, be one of the best and most human histories of the long era of FDR.

Mrs. Harry Lee Waterfield, had some bad luck last week during the snow and bad weather. She fell in Frankfort and suffered some badly bruised ribs.

But she was doing all right a few days ago. The Waterfields maintain a keen interest in Western Kentucky. He owns the Hickman Gazette, a good weekly at Clinton.

He is looking for an editor; Erl Sensing, the former Murray publicity director and native of Mississippi, has given up the reins of the Gazette for a newspaper job in his hometown. Waterfield bought the Gazette in the mid-1930's and has no intention of giving it up, although he is deeply involved in what seems to be a booming insurance business.

Waterfield is neutral so far in the gubernatorial campaign. My guess is that if he goes anywhere, it will be to the Combs-Carroll corner.

Floyd County reflects the agony of the redistricting of Kentucky.

The home county of Gov. Combs now has two representatives but must give up one.

But when it does, in order to move towards the required population, it will have 4,000 left over. They must go to neighboring Pike or some other county and vote there in the House races.

In all other elections they would vote at home.

But being tacked onto Pike, the 4,000 people easily could become political orphans—never really having a hand in electing a representative of their own; I mean one living among them.

Rep. Bill Reynolds and a relative, Rep. Tim Reynolds, are the Floyd representatives now. The word is that Tim will step down and let Bill return to Frankfort unopposed by any major figure at least.

Bill Reynolds faces the redistricting with both political and personal anguish. He can't bear to think of 4,000 people of Floyd—many of whom he knows by their first name—voting in Pike or some other county.

This picture holds good for most of Kentucky, and this is why the special session is apt to be a tough one.

VFW Opens Spring Drive For Members

The Ken-Tenn Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 9687 held its February meeting, Thursday evening, February 4. A free supper was served to all members and prospective members.

This was a very important meeting, as it was the first one to be held at the new post home. The VFW club is located two miles from South Fulton, one-fourth mile off the Martin Highway. Some of the members completely remodeled an old log house with modern paneling and carpets.

This local VFW Post was chartered by the State of Tennessee, County of Obion, in August 1968, with 27 members on the charter. The first year the post was located at McConnell, five miles south of Fulton on Highway 45E. Curtis Murphy was the first Commander. The second year, the Post leased a building adjacent to the Little Breezy Cafe on the Union City Highway, with James S. Bugg as commander.

Presently there are 41 veterans from this area that are members. There are also approximately 15 honorary members.

A spring membership drive is now going on. Anyone wishing to join or gain information about Veterans rights may call 479-2780 (VFW CLUB) or contact the quartermaster, Randall King.

Nationally the VFW has a very important project underway. They are sponsoring a drive to get letters from the American public showing their interest in our prisoners of war in Vietnam. All letters are to be sent to VFW Commander Herbert Rainwater, who is located in the National Headquarters at Kansas City. Anyone who writes showing their concern on our POW's, address the letters to PO Box 15, Fulton, Ky. 42041.

Some of the local projects of the Ken-Tenn Post 9687 include sponsoring a bowling team, which won its league championship last year; make a sizeable donation to the Paducah Lions Club Telethon; Make donations in helping Fulton Jaycees with Christmas projects; Donations to Operation Santa Claus; Present Sportsmanship Awards to the Twin Cities Youth, Inc., baseball program the past two years; sponsor a safety program for the local youngsters called "Lite A Bike" (providing a Scotch tape that lights at night).

Other projects are being planned and with the help of a good membership, they can be accomplished.

'Jobless' Fathers To Be Purged From Rolls

WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration proposed Friday to purge welfare rolls of men who, although they work full time, can now legally claim to be jobless fathers eligible for aid given to needy families.

The Department of Welfare called for a redefinition of an unemployed father, and said the change could have an impact on about 5 per cent of the case-loads in the 23 states, the District of Columbia and Guam which participate in the program.

California and New York have over half the total caseload, said John D. Twinn, the department's social and rehabilitation administrator.

Currently, an unemployed father is held to be one who works less than 30 hours per week—or, at the state's option, 35 hours a week. The new proposal would define a jobless father as one who works less than 100 hours a month, or if his work is intermittent and exceeds that for a particular month, who has worked less than the 100-hour level for two previous months and is expected to be under it for the coming month.

In addition to helping cut out men who really work full time, the change would allow aid to go to needy men who work intensively for a short time, but are not employed full time, such as farm hands who work only during the harvest.

A 1961 amendment to the Social Security law added the unemployed father provisions to federal-state public assistance programs. Currently, about 100,000 families participate.

The department said the program is aimed at helping intact families which have a low income level.

Meat Inspection Takeover Is Postponed

FRANKFORT, Ky. State Agriculture Commissioner J. R. Miller says Kentucky can still avoid a federal take-over of its meat-inspection program if it acts within the next two or three months.

Miller said he has been informed by federal officials Friday that Kentucky must give stronger enforcement to its program to bring it up to federal requirements, thereby assuring state control of the inspection program.

Carbon Monoxide Kills 1,500 A Year

CHICAGO — Carbon monoxide is the recognized killer of about 1,500 persons a year in the United States, 90 of them in homes. And an additional 10,000 a year are poisoned but not killed by the gas, which leaks from defective appliances and heating units.

Club Asked To Fight Pornographic Movies

City Manager David Frizzell, speaking as an individual and as a citizen of Union City, urged Rotarians Friday noon to inflict an economic boycott on movie theaters which persist in the showing of pornography.

Mincing no words Mr. Frizzell, in a rare display of emotion, said: "It is time for you Rotarians to get up off your fat, contented fannies and do something about the pornography being shown in your local theater."

"I see Rotarians here who advertise in this theater and I am asking you to discontinue this practice until our movies are cleaned up."

"The city will take any means possible to find a loop-hole in the law which will prevent the showing of this filth."

"We as citizens, if we band together, can stop the showing of pornographic films in our community before the next showing," Mr. Frizzell said.

Two Candidates Support Teacher Pay Increases

LEXINGTON, Ky. — The two major candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination announced their support of salary raises for teachers Saturday.

Former Gov. Bert Combs said a cost of living formula was the "best yardstick" for determining how much salaries should be raised.

Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford also endorsed cost of living as a means of gauging pay hikes along with "the needs and development of the teacher, the willingness of the citizenry to pay for educational services and the availability of financial resources."

The two candidates also agreed on the following needs: a statewide kindergarten program, re-evaluation of the Minimum Foundation Program

Nunn Gives Qualified Nod To Emberton

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, Gov. Louis B. Nunn has given a qualified endorsement to the Republican gubernatorial campaign of Tom Emberton, the only announced GOP contender for that office.

Nunn said before leaving a meeting of Appalachian governors here Friday that his statements did not constitute a formal endorsement, thus leaving the door open for any other Republican to enter the race.

However, he said, "We feel that Tom Emberton will try to carry out the policies of our administration, and as things now stand, we plan to support his candidacy. I can endorse him without any reservations whatsoever."

Nunn previously has indicated support for Emberton's candidacy, but his statements here represented his first comments since Emberton formally entered the race last week.

Nunn indicated no other GOP candidates were expected to challenge Emberton for the Republican bid. "Unless someone comes in out of the blue, my administration will be supporting his (Emberton's) candidacy," Nunn maintained.

The governor also said Emberton was the strongest candidate of any party in the race so far.

"I feel he can take the measure of either of them," Nunn said, referring to Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford and former Gov. Bert Combs, the two main Democratic gubernatorial contenders.

Indoor Pools Added

WASHINGTON — The cost of designing, developing, making and testing U.S. nuclear weapons was $396 million in fiscal 1970, compared with $397 million in fiscal 1969.

Submarine Mail

BERLIN—The Germans inaugurated submarine mail during World War I, using U-boats to carry letters between the United States and Germany in 1916, until America entered the war.

Snakes 38 Feet Long

BRASILIA — Sometimes anacondas, the world's longest snakes, grow to 38 feet and weigh up to 500 pounds.
