Kentucky Windage

(By P. W.)

I am indebted to an old and good friend of ours, Mr. Charlie M. Browder of Duncan, Oklahoma, for the adjoining picture of Fulton's first passenger train. Charlie, a long-time subscriber and frequent commentator of some of the things we write about (particularly politics), wrote last September, sending along the old 1934 copy of The NEWS which he had found in a desk drawer, and which contained a very long story about the early days of railroading in Fulton.

Charlie mentioned in his letter that "my first recollection of Fulton was about 1900, when they were putting in the double track to Memphis, and I worked in the yards under L. O. Bradford."

Charlie dropped by the office for a quick hello a year or so ago, and has maintained a great interest in this area although he has been gone for around 70 years. He is a fine gentleman, and we wish him many more years of health and happiness out there in Duncan.

Wednesday I went up to the depot to get a farewell picture of the City of New Orleans for today's paper, and while waiting around for the train to arrive (it was late), got to talking back about the days when the News office was located down by the Lake Street viaduct. When I used to work late at night, I used to take a break, climb the bank, sit there and talk to Boots Shepherd at his little switchman's shack. From late evening on to early morning Boots had a pretty busy time operating all of those switches and I liked to watch the trains come and go.

So Wednesday I heard a good one about Boots, who was quite a character anyhow.

One night Boots spied office car No. 3 up on the siding above the depot and decided that he wanted to get some of those good cigars that were always carried on office car No. 3. He went to the car, but was unable to rouse anyone.

Undaunted, he went to the depot, called Chicago to get the phone number of car No. 3; called car No. 3 via the railroad phone lines, told the attendant he wanted a double handful of those good cigars, got an affirma-

The Morning Line

by ANGELA MUELLER

Come Saturday in Louisville, the tulips and the roses will be blooming, the mint juleps will be flowing, and exactly 100,000 voices will be singing "My Old Kentucky Home" beneath the twin spires of Churchill Downs. But for the 97th running of the Kentucky Derby, a part of the tradition will be missing. Not all the best three-year-olds will be running—only those that are left after most of the good ones, by choice or by chance, wound up on the sidelines.

The Derby lost much of its glamour when Hoist the Flag, touted as a super horse and maybe a Triple Crown winner, broke a hind leg in a workout March 31. Ironically, after the Flag had tow-roped his field by seven lengths in his last previous start, jockey Jean Cruguet said "No one will ever beat this colt unless he falls down." Cruguet was aboard for that ill-fated workout.

Earlier in March, Darby Dan Farm's promising His Majesty came out of the Flamingo Stakes lame, and was laid up for what may be a full year. Darby Dan has won Derbies with Chateaugay (1963) and Proud Clarion (1967); but two colts that might have been their best, Graustark (1966) and His Majesty were never able to try for the Derby because of injuries.

When Hoist the Flag broke down, Good Behaving took over as New York's top three-year-old. He convincingly won the Wood Memorial, beating Eastern Fleet, Executioner, and Jim French among others. But Good Behaving was not nominated to any of the Triple Crown races; his owner and trainer did not expect him to develop as fast as he FULTON'S FIRST PASSENGER TRAIN (above) made its maiden run in 1858 or 1859 when the first line to "Fulton Station" was completed southward from Paducah. The engine, "about the size of a threshing machine, burned wood and presented a thrilling spectacle as it roared along at 15 to 20 miles an hour, blowing forth smoke, fire, and steam." So states an account in The NEWS of June 29, 1934, just prior to the train's returning for a celebration marking the 80th anniversary of railroad transportation in Western Kentucky on July 4 of that year.

THE 1971 CITY OF NEW ORLEANS, one of the remaining three daily trains serving Fulton under the Illinois Central orange-and-brown colors, will make the last passenger run for the I. C. on Friday, ending an era of 97 years and 4 months of IC passenger operation. The new Amtrak corporation takes over Saturday.

County Vocational School Given Approval For State Funding

A long and arduous struggle to get a Vocational Training School in Fulton County ended in success on Tuesday when the Kentucky State Board of Education announced approval for the location of such a facility to serve the far western portion of the state.

Superintendent of Fulton County Schools Harold Garrison notified the Fulton News on Tuesday that approval was given to establish a $580,000.00 training school, which would be an extension of the Paducah Area Trade School.

The Fulton County Board of Education, which has ardently supported the project, was on hand to share the good news from the Board of Education. Lending invaluable influence to the local board's efforts were State Senator Carroll Hubbard and State Representative Ralph Graves.

Representing the Fulton County School Board with Garrison were: Mrs. Joe Ruffell, Earl Taylor, Neal Little, Tommy Jones and the board's attorney, J. C. Bondurant. The Tuesday meeting was considered a session for setting a priority schedule for construction of vocational schools. Fulton County is fifth on the priority list of six centers.

In order, the centers and the total cost of each center's facilities are: Newport, $600,000; Boone County, $700,000; Marshall County, $585,000; Mayfield, $740,000; Fulton County, $580,000; and Barren County,

Local districts will have to pay about half the costs of their respective centers.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell Butler was clearly in the Fulton County school board's corner when it came to seeking the vocational

Winston Heads Obion Athletic Association

K. M. Winston, South Fulton Elementary principal, has been elected to his second straight term as president of the Obion County Elementary Athletic Association, an organization of principals and coaches, at their meeting Monday night, April 26, at Blue Bank on Reelfoot Lake. Nine schools are members of the association. Each school plays an eight-game basketball schedule with a tournament in January, and a five-game football schedule.

Amtrak Begins Passenger Service Saturday; Fulton Has P. M. Stops

(By PW)

On December 24, 1873, the first passenger train ever operated between Chicago and New Orleans passed through Fulton. The train was operated over the tracks of the Illinois Central as far south as Fulton, over the Mississippi Central and New Orleans, Jackson and Great Northern into New Orleans.

Next Friday, April 30, 1971—some 97 years and four months later—The Illinois Central will operate its last passenger train over this route flying its own colors.

Saturday, May 1st begins a new era of passenger service on the Chicago-New Orleans line. Amtrak, a semi-public rail corporation, will operate trains Number 1 (southbound) and Number 2 (northbound) daily, on a daytime schedule that will closely parallel the City of New Orleans schedule, as follows:

EFFECTIVE SATURDAY:

Amtrak Fulton Schedule

No. 1, Southbound 3:31 pm.
No. 2, Northbound 4:50 pm.

Effective Friday night, the Chicago-New Orleans night train, will be discontinued; as will the City of Miami, the Chicago-Florida every-other-day train. Passenger service between Fulton and Birmingham ends with the cutoff of the City of Miami, unless it is renewed at a later date by Amtrak.

The initial passenger schedule announced by Railpax (subsequently changed to Amtrak) calls for a basic minimum network that can be added to at any time the new corporation sees enough traffic to justify it; thus, it is not unreasonable to expect Fulton-Birmingham passenger service restored by addition of a new Amtrak train if conditions warrant it.

That, of course, could be a while off.

While little has been released thus far about Amtrak, it is generally concluded that this new passenger rail service will have its trains painted a new and distinctive color scheme; that they will run on 100-mile-per-hour schedules when the roadbeds permit; that they will offer innovations such as movies and other luxuries enroute, and that every effort will be made to win back the public support that rail passenger service once enjoyed.

Rights Group Established In South Fulton

Mayor Dan Crocker announced Wednesday that the South Fulton City Commission has established by resolutions a South Fulton Human Relations Commission.

The organization is being established with guidance from the Tennessee Human Rights Commission and its executive secretary, Cornelius Jones. The HRC will act in an advisory capacity concerning racial problems, and will meet once a month with the South Fulton City Commission.

Jones has met previously with the city commission, Mayor Crocker, and a delegation of South Fulton ministers. He will return for another meeting to help direct the formation of the HRC.

At Jones' suggestion, the commission will include four white members and three black members all of whom must be residents of South Fulton. Appointments will be made later.

Mayor Crocker emphasized that the city commission decided on its own to form the HRC, and that it was not formed in answer to a request from the Concerned Black Citizens. "This Human Relations Commission idea has worked in other Tennessee towns to smooth race relations," he stated.

Jaycees Elect Bill Jackson New President

Bill Jackson defeated Jimmy Johnson in a special election Thursday night, April 22, to choose the new president of the Fulton Jaycees. The election was held at the Jaycee Cabin. Jackson, an employee of Ferry-Morse Seed Company, succeeds Norman Harwood, who was elected president a month ago but was unable to serve when he was transferred to Mayfield.

David Austin, an employee of Office Outfitters, was then elected to succeed Jackson as State Director.

The new officers were installed Friday night after a potluck dinner, attended by the Jaycees and their wives, at the community center. Dennis Woodall, state secretary, was the guest speaker.

At the Thursday night meeting, the Jaycees discussed their proposed Fourth of July picnic at the city park. Ideas for picnic activities included a barbecue supper, pony rides, bingo, a dunking machine, a greased pig chase, and a tractor pulling contest.

Obion County Plans May 6 Rabies Clinic

A rabies clinic will be offered by the Obion County Health Department Thursday, May 6, from 2 to 4 p.m. at South Fulton City Hall. Dr. Carlton Myers will administer the shots.

Two types of vaccination will be offered. A one-year vaccination will cost $1.50, and a three-year vaccination $3.

The News Would Like To Return Elisha's Tombstone

(By Paul Westpheling, Jr.)

Elisha Freeman has been dead since Sept. 5, 1859. That's 112 years ago. Yet, he has in a way been a constant and useful helper in the production of the Fulton County (Ky.) News right up to April 15, 1971.

Thereby hangs a most unusual tale. It's a mystery that the Fulton County News is going to try to unravel, with the help of any and all Freemans living within 50 miles of Fulton, any or all of whom may be descendants of Elisha Freeman. The Fulton County News would like to locate the grave of Elisha Freeman and return the top part of his tombstone. We discovered last week, in removing one of the page make-up stones that have been used ever since we bought the paper 23 years ago, that we have been using the backside of Elisha Freeman's grave headstone for all these years.

How it got here, how long it has been here, where it came from, how long it has been used in the local printing industry is anyone's guess. We would surmise, from the dried ink encrusted on it, that it has been used as a printer's makeup stone for many years. It could conceivably have been fished from the grave back when the first weekly newspaper began publication here in 1879 or 1880.

The 24 x 36-inch stone, when turned over, bore the faint name of Elisha Freeman; everything else was carefully and completely filled in with plaster of Paris in such a manner as to indicate that a successful attempt had been made to camouflage the identity of the stone through the years. The occasional sliding of the stone back and forth on its table had worn and polished the face and uncovered the name.

So we decided to begin to unravel the mystery. The stone was carefully carried outside, a chisel was used to chip out the plaster covering, and in about three hours a handsome and ornate bit of carving was uncovered.

No other dates or names were found; only an inscription across the draped carving reading, "There is Rest in Heaven."

The artwork in the stone was very clean and bears little sign of weathering, such as many old stones do. It is therefore concluded that the stone has not remained out in the weather for many years—we would guess not over 25. That would date its appropriation to the printing industry to the late 1870's, or about the time the first newspaper began publication in Fulton.

J. Paul Bushart, from whom we purchased the News in 1947, lives in Baton Rouge, La. We'll send him a copy of this story to see if he can throw any light on the matter, but we wouldn't be surprised if he knows nothing about it. On the area scene, our "detective" work has turned up this much, thus far:

Mrs. Mildred Freeman of Fulton could tell us only that her husband's family came here from Weakley County.

We thereupon went to Martin to talk to an old friend, Wade "Red" Freeman, who is motor pool superintendent at UTM. Mr. Freeman told us that an Elisha Freeman taught him in school in Gleason in 1924, and had subsequently taught in Martin and at various schools in Weakley County before moving to Martin, where he died at his residence on White Street in his 90th year. Red called Prof. Freeman's daughter, Mrs. Sue Gardner Crowe, at Sharon, about the matter. Mrs. Crowe stated that, besides her father, Elisha Lafayette Freeman, she knew of no ancestors in the family by the name of Elisha.

Red said, however, that there were about five Freeman families in and around Weakley County, none of which were closely related, and possibly one of these families could throw more light on the matter. Red, incidentally, was born in the Liberty neighborhood between Gleason and Sharon in 1909; his father, Claud, was a native Weakley County, born north of Dresden. Our search next led us to

THE CURIOSITY of News publisher Paul Westpheling now aroused, the stone was carried outside behind the News office and, after about three hours of carefully chipping away the plaster of Paris covering, the handsome artwork (above) was exposed. The stone was cut through the line that indicated date of death and, as nearly as can be made out, it reads "Sept. 5, 1859." The center figure in the carved work in the upper section is a clenched right fist, with the forefinger pointing up.

We Salute The Jaycees And Their Community Projects: Your Contributions Deserve Applause

The NEWS likes to offer a public salute to an organization whenever one is due, and that just about automatically includes the local Jaycees every year following their "Distinguished Awards banquet."

The annual awards banquet includes a report to the Club on the activity program just completed by the External Vice-President, and the list—all bona-fide, genuine projects of this comparatively small group—is so long as to be absolutely staggering.

Consider the fact that from April 1970 through March 1971 the Jaycees took on twenty-six outside major projects in the County, and in the community. Twenty six projects in addition to their own within-the-Club projects of leadership training, self improvement and other programs.

Consider that these projects all required a lot of manpower, time and energy. Consider also the fact that the community gained something from each one of them, be it charity, entertainment, or just a helping hand where needed.

For instance, during the past year the Jaycees sponsored and directed—

A July 4th barbecue and fireworks exhibition at the city park, plus a big outdoor dance; a series of teen-age dances; programs for selection of the "Outstanding Young Educator", the "Outstanding Young Farmer", the "Outstanding Fulton County Teenager"; an Easter egg hunt; a $3000

Christmas baskets for the needy program; a Christmas lighting contest; a New Year's eve supper; a community Christmas tree;

An airport improvement project; a highway welcome signs project; a "Big Brother" program to assist rehabilitation; sponsored a Boy Scout troop; a Halloween candy sale; a barbecue supper for the Fulton band parents; a "Honey Sunday" to benefit retarded children; a series of turkey shoots; a mental health fund drive;

Six projects during last year's International Banana Festival including the Amigo program; construction of the stage, wiring of the tent; the Battle of the Bands, operating a concession booth and running the adult dances and concessions.

The list might not have been complete, President Tommy Perry explained. The External Vice President, Barry Bondurant, had the complete list but was unable to make the dinner and deliver his report personally. Perry just jotted down those that he could remember!

All that we can say to the Jaycees is that "You are a good organization; you make many worthwhile contributions to your area and we are all the better for your being here. Congratulations to all of you."

The News understands that the local Jaycee chapter may be rated among the top three in the State. We'll endorse that!

After 100 Years Of Passenger Train Service, The IC Retires Its Colors On Saturday

This is undoubtedly the week to drag out all the nostalgic memories and hang them out on the line as the tears drip silently off of one's chin in fond recall of yesteryear.

But to participate in this emotional experience, you have to be old enough to qualify. We'd say you need to be at least 35 or up.

This, my friends, is that tragic moment when an era comes to an end in Fulton; yea, throughout most of the country. That is, it officially comes to an end this weekend. Unofficially, it began coming to an end years ago when we quit buying passenger train tickets and started buying airline tickets and gas for our auto instead.

This is the weekend that the Illinois Central scrubs all of its passenger trains from its official running equipment, after over 100 years of service to Mid America. This is the first weekend one cannot catch a passenger train to Jackson, or to Birmingham, or to Florida, from Fulton.

This is the weekend to reminisce on the days when one used to come to work in Fulton from Water Valley via the 7:30 a. m. train every morning and back at 5:30 every evening. This is the week to reminisce about the days when one would make the Fulton-to-Union City trip by train, simply by catching the first train to Martin and then transferring via the NC & StL to Union City. Maybe a few hours wait, but nothing to

it. Back in those days, there were plenty of trains, going everywhere, serving everything.

But little by little they've been taking up the rails, cutting off the schedules, cutting down the connections. Little by little other ways of "getting there" have been creeping into the scene. After World War II and its hectic, frantic, wearying years of massive transportation headaches on the railroads, automobile production suddenly zoomed, good highway mileage suddenly zoomed, airline service suddenly zoomed; and rail passenger service as quietly became deflated.

Come Saturday, May 1st there will be no more City of New Orleans, no more City of Miami, no more Panama Limited, but at least there will be something. There will be Amtrak No. 1 and Amtrak No. 2, both of which can conceivably bring new excitement to the rails, and a brand new set of emotional experiences for you youngsters to tearfully reminisce about in another 50 years when another crisis will probably develop.

POET'S CORNER

OPTIMISM

Talk happiness. The world is sad enough
Without your woes. No path is wholly rough;
Look for the places that are smooth and clear,
And speak of those, to rest the weary ear
Of Earth, so hurt by one continuous strain
Of human discontent and grief and pain.

Talk faith. The world is better off without Your uttered ignorance and morbid doubt.
If you have faith in God, or man, or self,
Say so. If not, push back upon the shelf
Of silence all your thoughts, till faith shall come;
No one will grieve because your lips are dumb.

Talk health. The dreary, never-changing tale
Of mortal maladies is worn and stale.
You cannot charm, or interest, or please
By harping on that minor chord, disease.
Say you are well, or all is well with you,
And God shall hear your words and make them true.

FULTON'S

Library Corner

BY LUCY DANIEL

Several new books have been received from the Department of Libraries in Frankfurt and from ANCO Lease Collection, Inc., in Atlanta. Let's take a brief look at a few that will be of interest to many of our library patrons in Fulton County.

ALL THE BEST PEOPLE by Sloan Wilson. ALL THE BEST PEOPLE is the story of two families, the Campbells and the Stauffers, and of the effects that one generation has upon the next. Starting in 1920 and ending in the present, it tells of a way of life which used to be called comfortable and dignified but which contained within it the seeds of its own undoing and the seeds of a post-war world which may or may not be better. As the story gathers momentum, the seemingly serene summers of the 1920's give way to the turbulence of the thirties, the war, and a peace which was not peaceful. This is the finest and most ambitious novel the author has yet written. In it he returns to the top story-telling form that delighted and enthralled the hundreds of thousands of readers who made THE MAN IN THE GREY FLANNEL SUIT and A SUMMER PLACE national best sellers.

For those of our readers who like Elizabeth Seifert enough will be said to inform you that we now have a new book by her entitled DOCTOR IN JUDGEMENT.

THE MEXICANS by Harold Coy. Like THE AMERICANS by the same author, this book is a history of people—all the strange and terrible and wonderful people from whom modern Mexicans are descended. After a brief introduction to life in Mexico today and to the geography of the country, it goes back to prehistory, ten thousand years ago when Tepepan Man hunted in the Valley of Tehuacan. It describes the Olmec culture and the coming of the Aztecs, with many fascinating details about these early civilizations. Then came Cortes and the Spanish conquest. The rest of the story is that of the reconquest of their homeland by the Mexicans.

For our suspense readers we have WITCH MISS SEETON

by Heron Carvic. This is the story of a retired school teacher who is thought to be a witch. Miss Seeton is offered two jobs, one as a part-time school teacher and the other job is offered from Scotland Yard. It is most interesting to find out which job Miss Seeton accepts and to follow the active line of suspense that follows.

A JOYFUL NOISE by Janet Gillespie. This book is the biography of Robert Russell Wicks, Dean of the Princeton University Chapel. He appears here as the husband of a gay young wife and father of five irreverent children. We see him acting as the housemaid and emptying sloop jars; losing his clothes on speaking trips; revealing family secrets to the press; defending God against his young and their mother. But he is most appealing as the wise and tender father preparing his 5 children for life outside the home.

TEEN-AGE MEDICINE by Augusta Greenblatt. Why a book on medicine for the healthiest group of individuals in history—today's teenagers? Because young people are rarely given the information they need on the problems that bother them. Too often their ailments are brushed aside as temporary inconveniences or something they will learn about later. Here, then, are realistic, in-depth answers to many commonly asked questions.

FROM THE FILES:—

Turning Back The Clock

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
APRIL 20, 1951

Tommy Nall, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Nall, and one of the most outstanding students ever to graduate from Fulton High School, was named Thursday as valedictorian of the 1951 graduating class. Wendell Norman, son of Mrs. H. C. Hooker and the late Raymond Norman, was named salutatorian.

Some 400 persons, including Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, visited the farm of Weldon King north of here Wednesday afternoon when the motorcade of the Western Kentucky Green Pastures Tour made its sixth stop to look over pastureland in this section.

There was occasion for some real rejoicing and reminiscing around at City Motor Company on Lake Street Tuesday, April 10. A couple of "young fellows" by the name of John Earle and Earl Taylor celebrated the 26th anniversary of their new car sale.

The company, which is owned by Mr. Earle and Mr. Taylor, is the oldest automobile firm operating under the same name in Fulton County.

It was announced today by Fulton Baseball officials that Sam Lamitina, Newport, Ark., has been secured as manager of the local Railroaders. Lamitina will replace Elmer Gray, who is unable to accept the job because of illness.

Cadet James Hogan, 15 year old son of Happy Hogan, has been named to the saber drill team at Sewanee Military Academy. This is quite an honor, as James is one of the first sophomores ever to be selected on the team.

Mrs. J. M. Calvin has been appointed official observer for Hickman and vicinity by William Myers of the U. S. Weather Bureau.

One of the feature attractions being offered their customers, families, and friends by the Paul Nailling Implement Co. at the "Family Party Show" which will be held at the Fulton High School Science Hall on Friday, April 20th, will be Sir Edwards, assisted by Constance, who presents an act that was for years popular in vaudeville and is even now more popular in night clubs. His amazing demonstration of mental phenomena and magic is very impressive.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
APRIL 23, 1926

The Fulton High School baseball team lost to Obion Friday afternoon, making a great number of errors and facing superior pitching in big "Red" McCorkle, who struck out 15 and allowed only two scratch hits. Saturday the boys lost again, this time to Rives, Milton Exum pitched his first full game Saturday, allowing only 7 hits and striking out 17. However, three of Rives' home runs were in the creek that ran thru the outfield. The boys spent most of their time shooting for this creek.

A 50-year-old physician of Clinton was sentenced to two years in the Federal penitentiary for violating the narcotics act; another has been found guilty and will be sentenced in November. Federal Judge Charles Dawson, in commenting on the cases, stated "there seems to be a well-organized dope ring, and I am going to break it up."

A 19-year-old boy of Fowlkes, Tenn. fell beneath a circus train near the Usona Hotel Wednesday morning and was cut to pieces by the wheels.

The following students of Chestnut Glade are entering the high school contests at Fulton: Relma Reed and Valda Strong, piano; Mamie Milan, Valda Strong, and Annie Katherine Brown, girls' declamation; Howell Oliver, Jesse Moore, Beecher and Guy Finch, Malcolm Johns, Clay McConnell and Maynard Reed, boys' declamation.

Shirley Alverson of New Orleans, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Alverson, is visiting in town this week. He has been making good in railroad circles, having been secretary to the late J. M. Egan, and recently secretary to J. W. Hevron, general Supt. of the Southern lines.

Miss Annie Percell and Mr. Hub Beard, young couple of the Crutchfield community, were married in Fulton Friday afternoon. They left for Detroit, where he has a good job.

Parents Know the Drug Threat

Today's Subject: Barbiturates — Depressants

Barbiturates, unlike Marijuana, Heroin and Hallucinogens, are legitimate drugs. However, although they can be and are prescribed legally by physicians, they can be extremely dangerous when misused because normally used they depress the central nervous system . . . the brain and spinal column. In this category are:

SECONAL, SECOBARBITAL: these are red capsules and referred to by drug misusers as "Red Devils" — NEMBUTAL, PENTOBARBITAL: these are yellow in color and in capsule form also. Slang term is "Yellow Jackets" — TUINAL, AMO-WITH SECO-BARBITAL: red and blue (half & half) and called "Rainbows" on the street market — AMYTAL, AMOBARBITAL: all blue capsules, called "Blue Heavens" by abusers.

These are all dangerous prescription drugs usually prescribed as sleeping pills. They are the most commonly found barbiturates on the illegal "street market". BARBITURATES ARE HIGHLY ADDICTIVE. Physical addiction or, as it is called, "physically hooked" users will:

Require increased doses regularly because the body builds a tolerance to these drugs.

Be depressed, drowsy and demonstrate marked slurred speech.

Become psychologically dependent, or mentally "hooked".

Suffer withdrawal pains if dose is not available and can experience nervousness, tremors, convulsions, delusions, hallucinations and delirium.

"Intoxication" on barbiturates can range from lethargy to deep coma, depending on how much is taken. The trouble is, after taking too much the misuser doesn't remember how much he has taken and often takes more and more until a coma results. In addition to these dangerous possibilities, drug users often drink alcoholic beverages in addition to taking drugs, at the same time they are "on" drugs. It has been proved that barbiturates, when combined with alcohol, can be deadly! Intended or accidental death can result. More people commit suicide with barbiturates than with guns!

It is best to keep well in mind the fact that some barbiturates are obtained by youth from home medicine chests, but the vast majority are obtained from "street markets." Most barbiturates are made legally in the U.S.A., sold legally to Mexican and other foreign firms, and reappear back in the U.S.A. on the illegal "street market" within 6 months. They cost about 25c each and are usually packaged in foil wrappers containing 4 to 6 for a dollar.

It is of some comfort to know that stimulants and barbiturates are regulated by the Food and Drug Administration under the drug abuse control amendments of 1965. These provide for a strict accounting of supplies of the drug by the manufacturer, distributor, and seller, and restrict the user to five refills of the prescription, at the discretion of his doctor. Therefore, these drugs can be had legally only through a physician. Illicit manufacturing and dispensing of barbiturates can bring fines of $1,000 to $10,000 and prison sentences of 1 to 3 years. Those convicted of selling the drugs to persons under 21 can receive up to $15,000 fines and 5 to 6 years in jail.

How to handle tell-tale signs of drug abuse in a child will be discussed in another article. Right now we are going over the facts so that we all have firmly in mind the nature of the "enemy" we are facing. Watch for next week's "letter", in this newspaper. I am sure you will find it informative and enlightening.

Ancient Maya Ruins Abound in Yucatan

By GORDON M. QUARNSTROM

UXMAL: Many visitors are content when they have seen the archeological zones of Chichen Itza and Uxmal, but there are other Maya ruins in Yucatan which are well worth exploring. Only a few miles from here is Kabah, reached over well-paved road. At Kabah is the Palace of the Masks with a facade of 250 masks of the rain god, Chac. Each mask is made of exactly 30 stones. Admission to Kabah is the same as at the other zones, two pesos or 16 cents, U.S., free on Sundays. From Kabah one also can go by jeep over rough roads to Sayil and Labna, 7 and 23 miles, respectively. Cost is about $16 per person. The trip is worthwhile for the serious student of the ancient Mayan culture who has an extra day to spend in the solitude of the Yucatan countryside, where visitors are few.

Yet another archeological site is Dzibchaltun, some 15 miles north of Merida on the road to Progreso, Yucatan's port city. Dzibchaltun flourished about 1000 B.C. It is much smaller in size than the other archeological zones but is easily reached and well worth a visit.

COSTS ARE UP: Check the rising costs of auto repairs and hospitalization and you get a clear reason why auto insurance rates have been rising, says the National Assn. of Auto Insurers, largest insurance trade group. The NAAI now is waging a hard battle to keep repair costs in line and bring construction changes in Detroit to prevent runaway repair bills.

Ann Landers

— Your Problems Bring Answers —

Dear Ann Landers: It is 10:00 p.m. My husband just walked out of the house and slammed the door. Hard. Where is he going? To a restaurant, he said. For a snack. Why? Because for years I have been a short-order cook and tonight I handed in my resignation.

I have two children and I put in a full day's work (at home). I am an adequate housekeeper and a good cook. We both need to watch our weight. Harold should lose at least 15 pounds. Tonight I left the dinner dishes and went to a Club Scout meeting. (I'm a den mother). When I returned I did the dishes and walked out of the kitchen at 9:45 — busted. At 10 Harold announced he'd like a pre-bedtime snack. I offered fruit — an orange, an apple, or half of a grapefruit. He said, "No." I then suggested a turkey sandwich, ice cream, rice pudding or graham crackers and milk. Harold announced he wanted French toast. I said, "Nothing doing." He got mad and stormed out of the house.

I must admit I have some guilt feelings. Should I have? —K. C. Tiff

Dear Tiff: The greatest treason is to do the right thing for the wrong reason. A man who is 15 pounds overweight does not need French toast at bedtime. You were right to refuse to fix it — not on the grounds that you were tired, but because you would not be a party to his gluttony. Stock up on low-cal taste-tempters and offer them cheerfully — but refuse to fix the fattening stuff at bedtime. And stop feeling guilty.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 16-year-old son has been smoking cigarettes on the sly for at least two years. Occasionally his father thinks he smells smoke on the boy's clothing and raises the roof. The boy denies it, but his father punishes him without proof.

I have tried to get my husband to say, "No smoking around us, but when you are away from the house you are on your own." I feel if we allow the boy to smoke when he is on his own he will stay with the popular brands and not go in for pot. Do you agree? —Los Angeles Readers

Dear L: ALL kids do what they want when they are "on their own." The trick is to raise them in such a way that they will want to do the right thing whether they are supervised or not.

Allowing a 16-year-old to smoke cigarettes in the hope that it will keep him away from pot is unrealistic. Most pot smokers started with the popular brands.

It is impossible to police a teen-ager 24 hours a day. If you've done a good job, you don't have to worry. If you haven't, it's pretty late in the game — and worrying won't help.

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter is planning a May wedding. She is marrying a man in the Service. They will be living overseas for the next three years. Possibly longer. They would prefer not to take too many personal belongings.

Rather than gifts of silver, china, linen and the standard wedding presents, they would prefer money. Would it be proper to enclose a card along with the invitations stating this preference? Please phrase the request so it doesn't sound too commercial. Thank you. —Mother Of The Bride

Dear Mother: Sorry but there ARE no words that could make this request sound non-commercial. A pitch for money is bad manners no matter how delicately phrased. Forget it.

How far should a teen-age couple go? Can necking be safe? When does it become too hot to handle? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking And Petting — What Are The Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50¢ in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

P-4 Fulton Co. News, Thursday, April 29, 1971

THE BACK SIDE OF THE TOMBSTONE had just been another table-top work surface in the News composing room as long as printing processes were done by the "hot metal" method. (Above), Joe Weeks, News printer, is shown working in the area; "The Tombstone", the ink-encrusted 2-inch-thick slab between the arrows, has been used for countless years.

Mr. Weeks holds the ink-encrusted stone, filled with plaster of Paris, bearing the name Elisha Freeman.

An inspection of Fulton's oldest cemetery, located on Carr Street across from the Methodist church. While there are graves there bearing dates before 1860, we found no Freemans or any pieces of headstones that would suggest they might be the lower portion of the stone we have. A search at pleasant Hill cemetery, east of Water Valley, produced the same results.

A call to Mrs. Claud Freeman in Fulton disclosed that her late husband's family were Graves Countyans, and that her husband's father was buried in the cemetery at Wingo. Mrs. Freeman advised that there are two Freeman families in Graves County, but that she knows no family history beyond the grandfather.

So we took a trip to Wingo and found, in the cemetery next to the high school, the grave of Mose C. Freeman (1865-1956). He could have been Elisha's grandson, but there was no evidence of any Freemans older than he in the cemetery.

It might be interesting here to note a singular characteristic of our stone: the clenched right fist with the forefinger pointing up. We found this symbol repeated on a number of smaller stones in both the cemeteries at Wingo and in Camp Beauregard Cemetery at Water Valley, but found no stone anywhere that approximated the grandeur of the carving.

Our search next led us to Mrs. J.O. Lewis of Fulton, who possesses many area cemetery records and has promised to search her list in quest of an Elisha Freeman. That's about as far as we know to go, at this time; what we need now is the interest of many people from throughout this area. Anyone who can provide any information, however sketchy, please write or call the Fulton County News, 209 Commercial Avenue, Fulton. Let's see if we can assemble the jigsaw puzzle.

We will never know who pilloined the headstone, but we would like to return it to its owner, if such a thing is possible after 112 years!

If the grave of Elisha Freeman is not located, we will donate the stone— together with this account—to the old printing museum at the Union City Fairgrounds. We'll be willing to bet that not many museums could exhibit such an unusual bit of equipment.

Elementary Registration Is April 30

Parents of pre-school age children that will start to school next year are requested to register the children at Hickman #1, Western, and Cayce Elementary Friday, April 30, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

If it is impossible for parents to do this, they are asked to send the principal of the school their child to attend all information on the children such as birthday, parents, address, sex, race, etc.

The Kentucky law states that any child who is 6 years of age by December 31 may enter, and that any child who is 6 years old after this date shall not enter.

An immunization certificate is required to enroll. These may be obtained at the time of registration. There will be a pre-school immunization clinic for the Cayce area in Fulton at the health office at a date in May to be announced later.

Children of the Hickman, Western area may obtain their immunization from Dr. White or their family physician. KRS 158.025 is the law that states that this certificate is required to enroll in any private or public school in Kentucky. Parents need to bring birth certificates or proof of age before attempting to register the child.

did. The Preakness and Belmont Stakes accepted supplementary nominations, and my guess is that Good Behaving just might embarrass the Derby winner, whoever he is, if they meet.

Executioner, winner of the Flamingo, second in the Florida Derby, and third in the Wood Memorial, has at least as good a chance as any of the colts at Churchill Downs now. But owner Peter Kissel decided not to try for the Derby. Scuttlebutt has it that he wants to avoid a possible repetition of 1968, when he sent the highly-regarded Iron Ruler to Louisville, and he finished twelfth.

Some other colts were considered Derby candidates earlier this winter, but never could get cranked up: Run the Gantlet, Limit to Reason, Gleaming, and Son Ange. All of them could be good ones later, but they just aren't ready for the Derby.

All right, so who does that leave?

Plenty. As this goes to press, official entries have not yet been made. But sports-writers and Downs officials have been talking about 23 or more entries, and worrying about whether or not the race should be run in two divisions. Once Hoist the Flag was out, an awful lot of plowhorses suddenly looked like Derby material in their owners' eyes.

Calumet Farm has a strong entry in Eastern Fleet, the Florida Derby winner, and Bold and Able, winner of the Stepping Stone Purse. Eastern Fleet threw in a shocker in the Stepping Stone by finishing sixth, but I'm inclined to forgive him on the ground that he'd been running in one-mile-and-an-eighth races, and probably couldn't get rolling for just seven furlongs. Trainer Reggie Cornell says Bold and Able is peaking for the Derby, but he comes from a family that's not known for going a distance.

Although his previous record was unimpressive, Impetuosity earned consideration when he won the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland. Eight of the last twelve Derby winners have run in the Blue Grass, even if they didn't win.

Unconscious appeared to be the best in California, until Jim French beat him in the Santa Anita Derby. Unconscious later won the California Derby in record time, convincing his owner that he should try Jim French again.

If Bold Reason or Tribal Line wins the Derby, the race's history will add yet another ironic twist. Bold Reason's rider is Jean Cruguet, who would have ridden Hoist the Flag. And Tribal Line will carry the colors of J. E. and Alie Grissom, who tried to sell him just a few weeks ago but couldn't find a buyer.

If it's Jim French—and he has been there or thereabouts in several Derby preps, so he has to be considered a strong candidate—the Churchill Downs stewards will be holding their breath until the post-race tests are completed. Jim is being treated with Butazolidin, the medication that was the cause of the still-unresolved Dancer's Image hassle.

I'm actually going to go out on a limb and try to pick the finish 1-2-3: Eastern Fleet, Jim French, and Impetuosity. I favor Eastern Fleet both because he's done well in the preps, and because of sentiment: I think Calumet's had a raw deal in the Dancer's Image case, and I'd like to see them win one.

Since somebody might actually consider placing a bet on my choices, I suppose it's only fair to list my own past performances. The last Derby winner I picked was Majestic Prince in 1969. Before that, I had Kauai King in 1966 and Northern Dancer in 1964.

So, good luck and I'll see you at the races Saturday.

Introducing Our Churches - God's Agency For Spreading His Love

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

HICKMAN, KENTUCKY

Rev. Edgar Sires
Pastor

The history of the Methodist Church of Hickman goes back over one hundred years to the year 1840 when Mills Point, the name of the town at that time, was a circuit in what is now the Paducah District. The first church was built on the lot where the F. T. Randle home now stands. This building served as a school-house and as a meeting place for other denominations. The Presiding Bishop was James O. Andrews. In 1846 the Methodist Episcopal Church South was organized and in 1848 a frame building was erected on the present site at a cost of $2,800.

In 1851 C. Lee was assigned as the first appointed pastor to the church which was a part of the Hickman Circuit.

In 1855 it became a station, with H. D. Howell as its first station preacher, but no record is given of the number of charter members. In 1882 a brick church was built on this same lot. The salary at this time was $300 per year. These pastors lived in a small room built on the church lot, but they took their meals with the church members, staying a month at each place.

In 1907, twenty-five years later, the church was remodeled while H. C. Johnson was the pastor and two Sunday School rooms and a pastor's study were added. In 1916 a fund was received from the Carnegie Foundation to purchase and install the first pipe organ. The church was completely destroyed by fire in February 1964 and the same year, under the leadership of V. A. DeShazo, the pastor, it was rebuilt into the beautiful structure which now stands.

Since 1851, the church has had 54 ministers assigned as its pastor. Four of these have been returned to serve a second time.

Mysterious Harris Deaths Still Being Investigated

Two men whose partially decomposed bodies were found in their home near Harris Station Sunday, April 30, died of gunshot wounds in the head, according to autopsy reports which were released Tuesday night.

Obion County Sheriff T. C. McCullough said that James Odom, 54, was shot through the head with a .25-caliber automatic pistol. Haywood Nailling Jonakin, 68, was also shot in the head with a .25, but the bullet lodged in a metal plate in Jonakin's head, according to McCullough.

The sheriff, Tennessee Bureau of Investigation agents, and a representative from the district attorney general's office in Dyersburg are continuing to investigate the mysterious slayings.

The bodies of Jonakin and Odom were discovered Sunday afternoon. McCullough said then that blood was all over the kitchen, and both men had apparently been shot, but that their bodies were in such a decomposed state that an autopsy would be necessary. The autopsies were performed at the University of Tennessee Medical Unit at Memphis.

Jonakin and Odom had lived alone in the old two-story house for many years. Jonakin adopted Odom as his son in 1943.

Sheriff McCullough said the body of Mr. Odom was found on the floor of the kitchen, beside an overturned chair. The body of Mr. Jonakin was found lying on a bed in a room on the southwest corner of the house. A .25 caliber automatic pistol also was found on the blood-stained bed.

The grisly discovery was made about 4 p.m. Sunday when two young brothers, Warren Collins and Allen Collins, knocked on the door of the house.

"They wanted to ask permission to fish in the pond on the place," Sheriff McCullough said. "They didn't get any answer, of course, but they said there was a strange odor. They looked in a window and saw Mr. Odom's body on the kitchen floor."

The sheriff said his office was notified and he and other officers reached the scene about 5 p.m.

"All the doors and windows were locked and we had to break in a side door to the kitchen," Sheriff McCullough said. Two television sets were still playing, the sheriff said, and a window air conditioner was turned on.

An examination of the mail box showed that mail delivered on April 10th had been taken in but that the following day's mail and subsequent deliveries had not been touched.

Sheriff McCullough revealed one odd circumstance discovered at the scene.

"A dog owned by the men was found in a well house that was tied shut with a rope," he explained. "When the dog was let out, he seemed to be all right, not hungry and not thirsty. He certainly hadn't been locked in that well house all that time."

Sheriff McCullough said efforts to locate the medical examiner or a doctor failed. "We stayed there until about 10 p.m. and finally the attorney general (Fleming Hodges) told us we could move the bodies."

Mr. Jonakin was born May 21, 1902 in Obion County, son of the late Beauford and Mrs. Mattie Jones Jonakin. He was a bachelor and had spent his life in the Chapel Hill community near Harris Station. He was a farmer and landowner and, except for service in the Army Medical Corps during World War II, spent his life in this county.

He adopted Mr. Odom in 1943. Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. A.G. Baldridge of Fulton and Mrs. Myrtle Matthews of Jackson; one brother, B.D. Jonakin of Chapel Hill, and several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Odom was born June 30, 1916 in Hohenwald, Tenn., and spent most of his life in the Chapel Hill and Harris communities. He also was a bachelor farmer and served in the Army Infantry during World War II.

He leaves a half-sister, Mrs. Sarah Agnes White of Orlando, Fla.; two half-brothers, Walter Jones of Jackson, Tenn., and D.G. Jones of near Union City, and a pumber of nieces and nephews.

Graveside services for the two men were held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday in Obion County Memorial Gardens. The Rev. Paul Wright of Hickman officiated.

White-Ransom Funeral Home in Union City was in charge of arrangements.

Fulton High School's 1971 yearbook, the Gr-r-rowl, has been dedicated to coach Larry Shanks. Deborah Hutchins (left) and Louella Puckett, members of the yearbook staff, read the dedication Monday, April 26 at an assembly program.

training school here. Butler gave the full support and influence of his office in presenting the Fulton County School Board's case as to the dire need for a training center in the area, a facility long-hoped for by many area business and civic leaders who consider such a school a great asset in the procurement of new industry for the area.

According to information from Garrison, an immediate application will be made to the Economic Development Agency for a $290,000.00 grant with which to establish the training center. If the EDA grant is denied an alternate appeal will be made to the Vocational Trust and Agency account.

"We do not foresee any problem in getting State and Federal aid," Garrison said. "The important step is to proceed immediately with applications for funds to the proper agencies," he added.

The question of where the school would be located was discussed by the State Board. It is not likely that this aspect will be any problem in establishing the facility. State law requires that a school district initiate the move to acquire a training school.

The Fulton County Board has spent almost five years in surmounting the many obstacles that would acquire State approval of the training center. Land is available adjacent to the present Fulton County High School and such availability has been a primary factor in the approval that came on Tuesday.

In discussing the approval with the News, Garrison said that many, many individuals and governmental leaders have worked closely with the local board in its long search to establish the vocational training center here.

Since statistics indicate that 88% of the people who subscribe to a weekly paper read everything in it, classified ads and all, I take it you'll read the "tombstone" story that starts at the bottom of page one. Please do. We really would like to find the grave that this stone came from, and return it to the owner.

To assist us in this respect, the story this week is being published by the Union City Messenger, the Weakley County Press at Martin, the Tri City Observer at Greenfield, the Herald Gazette at Trenton and the Milan Mirror. And any other paper that wants to use it is welcome to it. The story, that is; not the stone.

Stone age man used knives. Forks were popular in 800 A.D. then lost their popularity and disappeared from use.

Finally near the end of the 18th century the fork became popular with the lower class.

Placing the knife and fork side by side on the plate tells the person serving you that you have finished and the plate may be removed.

South Fulton Elementary Lists Registration Rules

K. M. Winston, South Fulton Elementary School principal, has announced the requirements for children entering first grade in the fall of 1971. Registration is normally held around August 20, just prior to the beginning of the school year. Winston said the requirements are being announced well in advance so that parents can begin making preparations for their children's enrollment.

The child must be a resident of Tennessee, be six years old on or before October 31, and have proof of immunization against rubella (German measles), diphtheria, polio, smallpox, tetanus, and whooping cough.

Shots may be obtained at the Obion County Health Department until May 31, or from the child's own physician. Parents will be required to produce a birth certificate to prove their child's age. Birth certificates may be obtained from the state Bureau of Vital Statistics.

Obion County principals and the county school superintendent met Wednesday, April 28 at Boyette's on Reelfoot Lake to plan the 1971-72 school calendar. However, final plans will be made by the Obion County Board of Education from the principals' recommendations.

Wheelchair Basketball Set At UTM

Area residents are in for an evening of fun when the Radio City Wheelers from Nashville, and the Rollin' Rebels from Memphis roll into Martin to play an exhibition wheelchair game.

The game sponsored by the Phi Epsilon Mu, physical education club at University of Tennessee at Martin, will be played at the UTM fieldhouse at 8 p.m. Saturday, May 1.

The Wheelers have just returned from NWBA (National Wheelchairs Basketball Association) tournaments held at the University of Illinois in Champaign, where they represented Tennessee wheelchair teams.

The Rebels and Wheelers are coming from Memphis and Nashville on behalf of the many handicapped of the area, with proceeds from the game being given to the Easter Seals for Crippled Children and Adults.

Explosion Is Fatal

South Fulton Youth Succumbs Saturday

Robert Earl "Bobby" Powell, South Fulton High School Junior who apparently was on the road to recovery following an explosion near his home on April 14, died of his injuries Saturday night at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis.

According to reports, the youth suddenly began hemorrhaging and was rushed to surgery.

Services for young Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. "Pete" Powell, were held this afternoon at 3 at the Hornbeak Funeral home with the Rev. William G. Adams, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Fulton officiating. Burial was in Obion County Memorial Gardens.

Young Powell was rushed to Memphis on April 14 after a home-made bomb he had constructed exploded, blowing off his left hand and injuring some fingers on his right. His left leg also was injured but doctors felt they could save it. However, within the past few days he had improved and his death came as a shock.

According to reports, Powell was a science buff and often worked with explosives. He was born June 23, 1954 in Fulton County.

The president of his junior class at South Fulton High School, he participated in both junior high and varsity football.

Aside from his parents he leaves his sister, Miss Margaret Powell of Fulton, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Charles C. Hill of Fulton.

Pallbearers were Charles Hubert Bolton, Mike Easterwood, Johnny Roberts, Dave Gilbert, Robert Johnson, Larry Jamison, John David Netherland and Paul Johnson. Members of the junior class were honorary pallbearers.

2. The job requires absolute dependability; hours are from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Tuesdays and Wednesday; extra time may be available if wanted. Job begins in about two weeks and will last until September 1st.

3. Salary open.

Our machines are nearly brand-new, and are well maintained in an air-conditioned work area. We would like to invite applicants who are especially seeking part-time summer work, although work might continue available on a part-time after-school or occasional evening basis beginning in the fall months when our regular operator returns to her daytime work.

Soil Erosion Is Pollution Source

The sediments eroded from soils are one of this country's most widespread and troublesome pollutants. These erosional sediments cause serious damage to the places from which they came and to the places in which they eventually come to rest. Soil erosion is a despoiler of environmental quality.

Fortunately however, the technical information and know-how needed to prevent serious soil erosion is available. For example, quantitative soil loss estimates based on experimental data now can be made for most land conditions in Tennessee. Through the use of these soil-loss estimates it is possible to predict the probable soil losses for any individual field under alternative systems of land use and cropping management, with or without special conservation practices.

The quantitative soil loss estimates, obtained using these soil-loss predicting methods, provide a sound guide for making changes in land use and for selecting alternative combinations of crops and conservation practices that will keep soil losses within acceptable limits for any soil.

Dry Forces Are Victorious In Murray, Morehead, Earlington

Voters in Murray and two other Kentucky cities Tuesday rejected local legalization of alcoholic beverages, in two instances by margins of about two-to-one.

Decisive victories for dry forces were claimed in Murray and Earlington, while a closer vote was recorded at Morehead.

In Murray and Morehead both university towns, wet and dry forces had waged spirited campaigns. Students attempted to organize classmates into voting blocs supporting alcoholic sales, but were hindered when local officials refused to allow many students to register for the elections.

The vote at Murray, according to the tally of County Clerk Marvin Harris, was 2,649 against legalization and 1,410 for it. Approximately 65 per cent of the city's eligible voters turned out for the election, the first wet-dry vote there in 33 years.

In each city, three years must pass before another vote on the issue can be taken.

The local option election was ordered at Murray by County Judge Robert O. Miller after a legal petition was filed by Murray residents.

A Murray State University graduate student, John Cole, led a drive to obtain signatures on a petition requesting the local option election.

The Murray-Calloway County Dry League waged a vigorous campaign against legalization of liquor sales, and members had predicted a 10-1 victory for the dries.

Hoyt Roberts, co-chairman of the league, called Cole's efforts a "one man campaign."

Young Shoplifter, Permitted To Roam

(Editor's Note: Debbie Absher is managing editor of the Fulton. She wrote a page of stories concerning juvenile shoplifting. To gather material for some of the stories, Miss Absher made arrangements with the manager of a Paducah store and actually did some shoplifting.

Store clerks were not alerted. The name of the store was withheld. Two of her stories, combined into one, follow.)

behind me, eyeing my oversized bag.

Startled, I whirled around. "Uh, no, uh, yes do you have bath sets?" I choked.

After regaining my composure, I eased over to the picture and lamp corner. Smoothly, I dropped a frame into the bag. A bored salesclerk routinely barked, "May I help you?" I flashed a friendly grin and gushed, "Oh, no thank you ma'am. I'm just looking." She nodded and approached another customer.

Attempting to locate some other items for my cache, I crossed to another section. At the record rack I joined in the search to locate my favorite hit songs. With a look of intense concentration, I selected several, and stepped over to the card counter. I leafed through greeting cards, chuckling appreciatively at the inscribed witticisms.

Upon spilling contents from my purse, which I had purposely left unclasped, I groaned and bent down to retrieve my belongings. As sympathetic onlookers turned away, I surreptitiously slid records and cards into my shopping bag.

Becoming quite bold by now, I lugged my bag around the counters, nonchalantly dropping anything into it, and making no attempt to conceal my actions. Several times I reached into the bag and punched down the contents to make room for more merchandise.

Now I was going to attempt leaving the store with my overloaded shopping bag. Coolly, I swaggered past the checkout counter and out the doors.

I made it.

Without being stopped or questioned I shoplifted $21.54 worth of merchandise from a Paducah business. A list of what I picked up follows: 25 paperback coin books, 3 astrology booklets, 2 cans of flower treatment, 4 packets clover seed, 4 cans plant food, 5 pieces artificial fruit, a thermos jug, 3 records, game disks, a bug toy, a deck of cards, a bottle of bubbles, a picture frame, 2 cans shoe polish, a book on trees, 4 batteries, a glass vase, 2 cards of buttons, 2 spools thread, a plastic army man, a glass picture frame, a rubber ball, a plastic comb, a purse mirror, a greeting card, and packages of bunion pads.

As a result of my first shoplifting experiment, the manager of the anonymous store was able to exemplify to his employees what was occurring while some chattered instead of being alertly on guard for shoplifters.

He asked if I would be willing to return another day and conduct the same experiment, only in this instance all employees were to be forewarned that someone, no sex or age mentioned, would return to repeat the incident.

Upon beginning my shoplifting again, I immediately noticed that all clerks carefully watched and waited on each shopper. I found it extremely difficult to stash even the smallest item into my regular-sized paper bag.

The only chances I had to obtain merchandise were when all salesclerks of the area were occupied. Even then they took a moment to inquire as to what I needed.

Suddenly I found myself being followed by three clerks who had become suspicious of my actions. I tried to dodge them but to no avail, and began to panic even though I was protected.

While promising myself that a pair of socks would be my final item, a clerk silently approached from behind, grasped my arm firmly, and ordered grimly, "I saw you that time. Come with me." Whereupon she led me to the manager's office.

Because of this experiment and because of a crackdown on shoplifters, this Paducah store will, hopefully experience a reduction in annual losses due to shoplifting.

Quakes Regarded As Punishment

LONDON — Until the 18th century, few factual descriptions of earthquakes were recorded, and natural causes were little understood. Many people believed that a quake was a massive punishment and a warning to the unrepentant. One popular theory was that quakes were caused by air rushing out of caverns deep in the earth's interior.

Bureau Of Rehabilitation At MSU Is Open To All

MURRAY, Ky. — The recently-opened Bureau of Rehabilitation at Murray State University is available not only to physically disabled persons but to anyone who is unable to work, according to Howard V. Reid, office counselor.

Located on the first floor of Wilson Hall, a classroom and office building, the bureau, an agency of the state Department of Education, was established on the campus to provide increased services to the people of Calloway and Fulton counties.

Reid explained, "Murray and Calloway County are growing at such a rate that we were not able to serve our clients adequately from Paducah. We also have access to good medical facilities here."

"President Harry Sparks was instrumental in establishing the office at the university. Having been state superintendent of public instruction, he worked closely with the department, and was aware of the need for an expanded program."

Reid hopes that courses in rehabilitation will soon be included in the academic curriculum, utilizing his office as a teaching aid.

Murray State is the only state university except the University of Kentucky that has a rehabilitation office on its campus.

The purpose of the bureau is to encourage disabled persons to reach their highest potential. There are now about 60 clients just on the university campus, Reid said.

"To be able to get these people to work is one of the greatest parts of our job, making guidance and counseling our biggest problem. It is a tremendous task to get a disabled person to overcome his bitterness," Reid added.

He emphasized that the office also attempts to help drug addicts, alcoholics, high school dropouts, and other persons of what he termed "deviant behavior."

"I can't say how successful we are, but we do try to help in these cases. Anytime we can help a person to overcome a physical or psychological problem and enable him to engage in a remunerative occupation, we consider him completely rehabilitated," explained Reid. "Our ultimate goal is to get people involved in work."

The Bureau of Rehabilitation is now engaged in placing counselors in school systems throughout the state. According to Reid, McCracken County and Paducah will probably have a counselor in the fall.

He explained that West Kentucky has not kept pace with the rest of the state, which ranks about fifth in the nation in this area, but it is now beginning to catch up. Until recently, he said, there was only one counselor for the entire Jackson Purchase, but there are now four.

The newly-renovated office on the campus is located at Reid's request on the first floor, so steps will not make accessibility difficult.

He emphasized that every client is different, and each is provided with whatever individual help may be needed.

"Not everyone who has a disability will be eligible for our aid, but anyone who thinks he needs help is welcome to come in and discuss it. We have adequate funds, and there may be people who could profit by our services."

Reid emphasized that "about 10 per cent of the population would be eligible for our services if we could find them."

Organization Formed To Care For Pleasant Hill Cemetery

FULTON, Ky. —Persons interested in Pleasant Hill Cemetery, an historic site of the Jackson Purchase located between Fulton and Water Valley, have formed a permanent organization aimed at perpetual care of the cemetery.

Officers were elected, committees were appointed, and dates set for an annual meeting and decoration day during a recent meeting here.

Mrs. Glynn Bushart was elected chairman; Mrs. J. C. Olive, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Hal Kizer, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Kenneth Wells, researcher. Other members of the Board of Directors include Mrs. Joe Bennett, Parks Weeks, Abe Thompson, Mrs. Joe Mac Reed, and Mrs. Felix Gossum Jr.

Mrs. Wells and her son, William L. Wells, both of Mayfield, and Weeks of Fulton were named to a committee to seek placement of a historical marker on Highway 45 designating the site. Mrs. Wells also was appointed as a representative of the group to contact the Graves County Highway Department regarding the placing of a culvert in the driveway to the cemetery.

T. D. Morris, who has cleared the cemetery of saplings and undergrowth, attended the meeting and reported that his work had been completed. It was reported that other details of restoration remain, such as the filling-in of sunken graves and repair of grave markers.

Pleasant Hill Cemetery is thought to be the oldest in the Purchase area, and is the burial place of at least one Revolutionary War soldier, Capt. David Dobbins. It is located three miles north of Fulton, about a mile east of U.S. 45. It can also be reached from Ky. 129 on a state road which turns off to the north across from the One and All Club. A number of descendants of those buried there still live in this area.

An annual meeting of interested participants in the protection and maintenance of the cemetery was set for the first Tuesday in May of each year. Decoration Day will be held this year on May 31, the national official date of Memorial Day.

Cage Camp For Girls Is Planned

A basketball camp for lasses of the hardwood will be held this summer at Obion County Central High School.

In addition to Rebelette Johnson Jr., girls basketball coach at Maryville Porter High School in East Tennessee, and Richard Welch, coach of Trevaunt's Lady Blue Devils, will conduct the week of instruction, scheduled for June 7-11. The instruction will begin at 9 each morning and last until 3:30 in the afternoon. Lunches will be available in the school cafeteria or at a nearby restaurant. Girls will be coached individually and scrimmage games also will be held. "I would personally like to encourage all girls who are really interested in basketball to try and make the camp," commented Coach Hatch. "We will have insurance on every girl who participates and the camp should be very beneficial to upcoming athletes."

In 19 years of coaching, Coach Galen Johnson has won 152 games while dropping 114. His teams have won three state championships, one runner-up title and two third place trophies. His teams have participated in 12 state tournaments in the past 13 years and he has developed 14 All-State players, two All-Americans and one member of the Helms Basketball Hall of Fame.

Coach Richard Welch has taken the Region 12 championship for the past four years and has gone to the state tournament three of those years. He also has been voted Coach of the Year in Region 12 for the last four seasons.

Coach Hatch said the cost of the camp is $17.50. Girls who wish to attend should send a deposit of $7.50 with a letter telling of their basketball participation, age, school and coach.

Medical Self-Help Course Is Offered By State Health Dept.

To interest more adults in a program that has already been widely successful with students is the aim of Charles Brooks, director of the Medical Self-Help Program sponsored by the Office of Health Mobilization, State Department of Health.

The 16-hour course is currently being taught to a virtual army of Kentucky students of all ages in connection with home economics, health and recreation courses or teacher training programs.

It is designed to equip each participant with first aid knowledge and skills for use in emergency situations, emphasizing the use of items readily available in the home.

Students learn, among other things, that an ironing board or a door can be used as an emergency stretcher; that neckties, rolled newspapers, shingles and pieces of orange crate might help make splints.

Including 11 self-help films, the course covers many medical emergencies with explicit directions for meeting them. The situations range from severe burns and shock to emergency childbirth.

Although Brooks has always supposed that many lives have been saved and much suffering prevented by the actions of the course's graduates, the students of Coach Roland Wierwille of Transylvania College offer concrete examples.

From Coach Wierwille's files come the following cases: * One student, while working as counselor in a summer camp for boys administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation when a 12-year-old camper stopped breathing.

* Another student, having lunch in a restaurant, saved a customer from choking with the same technique.

* One female student, who was the first to arrive at the scene of an automobile accident, treated a University of Kentucky student for shock.

* A coed who had learned emergency measures for stopping bleeding, treated her neighbor for scalp wounds and ankle injuries until the family physician arrived.

"If we're consistently getting results like these with our students," Mr. Brooks said, "the program's cost has been justified many times over."

When the program was initiated in 1962 a goal was set to train at least one member of every Kentucky family, or 753,000 individuals, in medical self-help.

I will appreciate your vote and influence in my race for

Fulton County Jailer.

I am a resident of Hickman and have lived in Fulton County all of my life. Knowing of the many responsibilities attached to the office of Jailer I feel sure that I am qualified to serve you and to give fair and equal treatment, with no favoritism, to any and all law offenders placed in my custody.

I have declined to serve out the unexpired term of the late Baker Minton to make this race for I did not want to use the office during the interim period for political purposes.

I shall make every attempt to visit each of you between now and the date of the election on May 25, 1971 to personally solicit your vote and influence.

KEA Advised To 'Vote The Education Party'

Political involvement was the recurring theme brought home to teachers Friday as the Kentucky Education Association concluded its annual convention.

Dr. Sam Lambert, executive secretary of the National Education Association, set the tone and also acknowledged one of the candidates in this year's Kentucky race for governor.

"Be a Democrat or a Republican," he said, "but vote the education party."

Lambert told teachers to watch the candidate's records on education and added:

"I understand Bert Combs is coming back on the scene. In my opinion he was one of the best education governors any state ever had."

Combs, who was governor from 1959 to 1963, is running again for the Democratic nomination to that office in the May 25th primary.

"The NEA's legislative record has been dramatic in the last few years," Lambert said. "But the real job is done by teachers who support with their time, help and money the educationminded members of Congress."

Lambert also praised a fellow platform guest, 7th District
Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., as a "stalwart member of Congress

Fulton, Ky. Thursday, April 29, 1971 Page 8

and a tried and true friend of education."

Perkins earlier spoke briefly about the need for more money for education and about President Nixon's proposed federal revenue-sharing plan.

He said funds from revenue-sharing should come on top of present programs, not in place of them.

Claude Purvis, installed as president of KEA for the coming year, told teachers, "This year will be a crucial year, politically, for education in Kentucky."

It offers the voters an opportunity to say whether we should continue neglecting the education of over 700,000 school children, or give it top priority."

Purvis said he welcomes criticism which "causes us to evaluate and do a better job."

However, he said, "there are some critics...who are willing to subvert the needs of Kentucky children to get a decent education to their own special interests."
