About 160 of them are invloved in a repeat of the popular program which enables elementary students to learn about things in a college environment they probably would not have in their own classroom.

The Mini-University program, which began April 3 and will continue through May 5, offers classes that meet twice weekly in a variety of subject matter areas. It is co-sponsored by the Career Education Project of the Center for Innovation and Development at Murray State and the Murray City school system.

Students are attending classes in dramatics, self-improvement of behavior, cooking, speed reading, basic economics, enhancing self-awareness, art appreciation, career education games, and several other special interest classes. Faculty and students are infusing career education into many of the class sessions.

A computerized needs assessment of all third and fourth grade students was conducted before the program began to determine what classes to offer and to place students in appropriate classes.

state has approved a 25 percent decrease in hospital liability coverage for a company which covers one-fifth of the hospitals in Kentucky.

The state Insurance Regulatory Board routinely granted the reduction Friday for St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co. which based its request on experience in the past year.

James , Lamb, assistant deputy insurance commissioner, said cautiously that the rate decreases might indicate a turnabout in the malpractice crisis which hit Kentucky and other states in and physicians and hospitals found it difficult to get any firm to write that type of insurance.

"Everyone has to be very guarded about this, but it seems to be the trend now," Lamb commented. But, he said, it also is possible an upward pattern in premium costs could

Lamb said several other companies which write malpractice insurance for hospitals in Kentucky have not asked for rate reductions.

He said the Insurance Service Organization, which represents many firms writing all types of insurance, plans to seek premium decreases of up

The policy on which St. Paul has decreased rates a total of 50 percent in two years is known as "claims made" as distinct from "occurrence" contract

The claims made type pays for losses reported in a given policy year whereas the occurrence type pays for losses which may have occurred years ago but have just been discovered.

Lamb said the claims made version "responds more quickly to the climate

St. Paul last year reduced liability rates for physicians by 25 percent and, Lamb said, may return with another rate decrease request if experience indicates it is feasible.

The Insurance Regulatory Board also got around to approving a 1.3 percent increase in benefits for injured workers under the Workmen's Compensation

The higher benefits stem from the rising average weekly wage of Kentucky employees, based on state Labor Department statistics.

Debate On Wet-Dry Issue Is Scheduled

A program entitled "Wet or Dry: The Community's Choice" will be presented Thursday, May 4 at the Calloway County Public Library.

Scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., the program will deal with ramifications of the legalized sale of alcoholic beverages in Calloway County. Richad J. Thomas of Murray, a senior at Murray State University, is director of the program as part of a grant provided by the Kentucky Humanities Council. Thomas said the program will be neutral in its presentation.

'We hope to provide a forum whereby all information regarding the issue may be explored." Thomas said. "In that way, citizens may vote more democratically, if the issue comes up

Dr. Buron W. Folsom, assistant rofessor in the Department of History at Murray State, will present historical background of the issue dealing primarily with the prohibition era.

Exploring the religious, social, moral, and philosophical implications of the wet-dry issue will be Dr. Terry Foreman, coordinator of religious studies at MSU.

Kenneth Hoover, local minister, and Marty Mattis, both of whom have researched the issue, will speak for the dry and wet proposals, respectively. Thomas added that once each speaker has made his presentation, questions will be accepted from the "We want to present the issue so that

Dialing 411 Will Cost Phone Users Under New Bell Policy

Beginning Monday it could cost local callers 20 cents when they call for directory assistance. The telephone company's plan to charge for excessive directory-assistance calling goes into effect May 1.

But the plan will help the vast majority of Kentuckians keep their phone bills down, according to Wafford Sautel, South Central Bell's local

"The plan will actually lower basic monthly phone bills, while providing for a number of directory assistance calls before any charging might begin," Sautel said.

-A monthly allowance of five directory-assistance calls per main telephone before charges would begin; -A 20-cent charge for each call to local directory assistance made after the allowance is used up; -The 20-cent charge for each call to long-distance directory assistance within Kentucky would be cancelled by

The plan includes:

each in-state long-distance call made from and billed to the phone during the same month, and

On each directory-assistance call. local or long distance, callers, may request two numbers. Sautel said monthly telephone bills are being cut 30 cents as the directoryassistance plan goes into effect. People who have visual or physical handicaps that prevent them from using a directory are exempt from directory assistance charges. To apply for an exemption, Sautel said to contact the telephone company business office. Calls by hospital patients, motel guests and by people calling from coin telephones are automatically exempt, Sautel said Bell proposed the charging plan because of the rapidly growing number of calls to directory assistance and the skyrocketing cost of providing directory-assistance service in recent years.

"Our operators were answering more than 200,000 directory-assistance calls every weekday. Providing the service cost Kentucky telephone users more than a half-million dollars a month," he

"Not only were we getting an enormous number of calls but eight out of 10 were for numbers already listed in the telephone directory. And just one-third our customers made 90 per cent of the calls. As it was, all telephones users were helping pay the bill for the few who made most of the directoryassistance calls," Sautel said.

"Under the charging plan, those who use the service the most will pay for the service they get," he said. "Of course, we know there are times when you need to call directory assistance," he said. "That's why the plan includes a monthly allowance of calls that can be made to directory assistance without any additional charge." And, according to Sautel, few r will have any additional directory assistance charges. "In Cincinnati, where a similar plan has been in use for three years, 94 percent of the telephone subscribers there have not had any extra charges in any given month since the plan began. We expect similar results in Kentucky," Sautel said. 'That means lower telephone bills for the vast majority of Kentuckians."

Why Didn't Prayer Help This Couple?

By Abigail Van Buren © 1978 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have long been faithful readers of your column; and as I have no one to turn to in my hour of despair; I must talk to someone.

How does one go on when his faith in prayer is shattered and the bottom has fallen out of everything? I feel as if my life is over and even my prayers are useless now.

We adopted a little boy when he was 8 days old. We loved that child more than our own flesh and blood. We prayed for him constantly. Yet, between the ages of 14 and 19 he went from skipping school to robbery and, now,

Our hearts are broken. Our son was raised in a good Christian home. We went to church every Sunday and always tried to set a good example. We never had tobacco or liquor in the house.

Where have our prayers gone? We cannot understand it.
We are numb, sick and brokenhearted. God bless you if you can help us.

HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: You speak of prayer as though it was the premium you paid for insurance against all ills and evils. It is not. Prayer is simply "a talk" with one's God. No amount of praying will protect another, in this case your adopted son, from the consequences of his own actions. Each man must do his own praying, just as each man must accept the consequences of his own

I don't know where your son went wrong. But your faith in prayer should not have been shattered because he did.

DEAR ABBY: I work and make a pretty good salary. The guy I go with also works, and his take-home is twice what mine is, but he never seems to have any money. He's always asking me for money for gas, eating out and

If he'd ask me for a regular "loan" and then pay me back, I wouldn't mind, but he always says he left his wallet in his other pants. He's a neat guy otherwise. What should I do?

DEAR DEBBIE: If you give him any more money, you left your brains in your other head. Lend him bus fare and tell him to go home and get his wallet.

DEAR ABBY: My mother hasn't been to see a doctor in years, but she's always complaining about headaches, backaches, dizziness or a feeling of weakness.

She buys every kind of painkiller she can get without a prescription, and if the directions say, "take two," she takes four. She has even taken pills that were prescribed for someone else. (I've heard her ask friends and relatives if they have any pills for pain, and could she have a few.) How can I get her to quit taking so many pills? She's not dumb. She's a college graduate. She's really a wonderful woman, and I'd like to have her around for a few more

- LOVING DAUGHER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Tell your mother that a pain is a.m., Dorothy Group with nature's way of telling her that something is wrong with Mrs. Hugh Noffsinger at 10:30 the equipment. To suppress the pain and ignore the stead of g g to a phy wrong, is foolish and dangerous.

Strengthen Industry Ties

in Kentucky in December, 1977. was 285,300, up from 267,100 in the same month of 1976.

While 54 new industries were announced in Kentucky communities in 1977, many of these plants were not in operation or not in full production, at the end of the year. So the employment gain for the year stemmed mainly from new industries of previous years that reached, or even exceeded, anticipated production and employment, and from a record number of expanding Kentucky firms.

A total of 352 manufacturing firms announced new plants or expansions of Kentucky operations in 1977. This industrial growth translates to over 12,000 new jobs and over $623 million investment in plant facilities.

In terms of coummunity growth, it means greater prosperity at every level of the economy, not only for the 114 communities directly affected, but for adjoining cities and counties which furnish some of the workers for the new and expanding plants. These payroll dollars injected into the local economies last year stimulated sales and services and helped Manufacturing employment to maintain economic stability throughout the state.

Only a small fraction of Kentucky's communities gained new industry last year. Not every community will attract new industries this year or the next. But every town where industry is now operating can work to strengthen its ties to that existing industry-to prove that it is a profit-productive location. A good business climate and a pleasant living climate will not only help assure the success of existing industry; it will assure other industries that there exists here a better than average chance to profit and grow.

If every community realizes that it has obligation to industry, if every community exerts full effort to meet the needs of that industry, then industrial growth in Kentucky can be perpetuated.

Cattlemen's Association, is cyclical. Prices decline as well as rise, and what we are heading into now, he explains, is the rising phase.

But almost certainly, he promises, price stability will follow, as cattlemen produce more heifers and steers, and as consumers cut back on consumption, now running about 126 pounds (carcass weight) per person.

Cattlemen, said McDougal, a Lovelock, Nevada, rancher, farmer and feedlot operator, have just come through their worst few years ever, losing close to $30 billion because of overproduction.

Forced to trim their herds in order to survive, the 1.5 million full-time and part-time cattlemen now have less beef to offer. Because of this, and higher middlemen costs, prices already have McDougal reports the national average price of five beef cuts reached $1.78 a pound on April 13, up 15 cents from a month earlier. But still, he reminds you, no higher than prices were three years ago.

During this three-year period, he reminds you, many cattlemen had to borrow on the equity in their lands in order to survive. But they did so, he said, because they knew the market would correct itself.

'We have no power to manipulate prices," said McDougal. "We are 1.5 million people making 1.5 million individual decisions."

What can the shopper do? Reduce red meat consumption, of course.

As consumption drops, McDougal explained, those cattlemen who increased their herds in order to take advantage of higher prices will then find themselves with an excess, and prices again will drop.

That pattern has been repeated. nearly every decade this century, a reflection, cattlemen say, of the free market at work - and the biology of the County. Thus the town name was finally settled on as New Concord. One of the earliest settlers was Peter Hamlin, who had brought his wife Virginia Michaux from Virginia and built a large mansion overlooking Blood River, which is still standing today. Hamlin later succumbed to the gold fever which drew many early adventurers to California, but he returned to Kentucky without having made his fortune. One of the stories told around New unto Him

Concord concerned Hamlin and another resident, Alec Wesson. It seemed that their sons, both students at the New Concord Academy, had become involved in an argument, but, as boys will, they soon settled it between themselves and forgot about it. But the fathers, as fathers will, got in the act and decided, long after the boys had forgotten the original reason for the argument, to have a duel. In true dueling tradition, the met in a grove of trees in the early morning light and aimed their flintlock pistols. It wasn't a "due to the death," but Wesson did shoot Hamkin in the leg, after which Hamlin managed to remain standing long enough to put a shot through Wesson's shoulder. Although their honor was then satisfied, the two men pever did actually make up the quarrel; and a few years later, when the Civil War broke out, Wesson was killed at Corinth, when he fired on a trainload of

During the 1978 session of the Kentucky General Assembly legislation was introduced into the House of Representatives that would place additional state controls on Regional Boards and the mental health-mental retardation treatment centers for which they are responsible. The Western Kentucky Mental Health-Mental Retardation Board, Inc., means of demonstrating how the elected to oppose the passage and implementation of House Bill 686. This legislation came about because of problems incurred by Regional Mental Health-Mental Retardation Boards in other areas of Kentucky, yet it implemented sweeping state control of all Kentucky Boards:

It was generally felt that if passed, local Boards would lose their autonomy and perhaps thus restrict their ability to operate in a manner beneficial to local clients. After all was said and done, however, the bill passed both houses of the General Assembly and is destined to become law.

"damn Yankees." His gun was brought back to his son Ben by a fellow soldier, who said that he would have brought back both guns, but he was a little shy of turning over a dead man. Another story about New Concord was about the only man (supposedly) who was ever killed there. It seems that there was a man, Bill Hodge, who was far-known as a fighter, which reputation earned him many fights which he probably was not looking for. One of these was with a man named Hook Chumbler, who was convinced that he could beat Hodge, hands down. But Hodge lived up to his reputation and beat Chumbler, who then decided to drown his sorrows in drink. This turned out to be a mistake, because the liquor only worsened his disposition and someone decided to call Henry Turner, who was the Constable at that time. Chumbler, who was not about to be arrested, got into a scuffle with one of the deputies and was shot. There have been several business establishments at New Concord in earlier times. In 1848, a tobacco manufacturing plant was established there by P. M. Rowlett, and was later taken over by his son Jeff, who operated it until 1903, when he moved to Murray. There was also a wagon shop there, known as the Stilley-Wessor Wagon Company, employing some 20 men. This was in the post-Civil wars days, when the town population was about 150, There were two drug stores, two dry goods stores, a saloon, hotel, church, Masonic Lodge, two tobacco factories, and two doctors. One of these doctors, Dr. Lynch, was the man who gave the famous "dog dinner."

Today, New Concord is a sleepy settlement, without its school, since consolidation emptied it, and its grocery stores operating sporadically. It still has a post office, and one or two churches; and the cemetery is still active, being one of the largest in the county. But New Concord is now mainly a place that out-of-staters drive through on their way to the lake. One wonders how it might have been if, instead of Murray drawing the population, New Concord had been the place to grow. How different it might have been.

To the point ... (On the crossbow issue) By Rick Norsworthy

What Do You Do When Accousted With Prod And Bolt?

I sat in my stand and patiently waited as the young buck walked slowly down the trail that passed under me. Thirty-five yards; another fifteen and I'll have the twenty yard shot I have been waiting for all season. . . Spooorang! What the!!? The noise that startled me so suddenly, caused the deer to jump two feet into the air. Then I saw a wobbly eight inch projectile strike the buck in the upper rear, and penetrated slightly more than balf its length. As the deer raced away, I fixed by attention towards the sound. How could I have missed him? There he was, plain as day, some eighty yards away, easily spotted frantically stretching some sort of contraption between his hands and feet, obviously getting it ready for another launching. My hopes were shattered. Although I knew the buck wasn't hurt bad, it. might be days before I would get a chance like that again. . . This little anecdote is en-

Understand, I am not making a definite stand against the crossbow, although personally I feel it is an ineffective weapon. And I do not advocate huntrs against hunters, especially in a day when the anti-hunting faction is so strong. But I do believe we should do everything possible to police our ranks and keep our sport clean. And I do believe the person who chooses to use the prod has the right to hunt as much as anyone. And as such, should be provided a season especially for his equipment. Kentucky has had an acceptable answer in the past, and what I feel we should stay with in the future. The crossbow is considered a primitive weapon and was allowed, with the muzzleloader in a special season. The

Survey Statistics Released

After perusing the latest National Survey of Hunting, Associated Recreation, as recently released by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the folks at Daisy air guns find some interesting figures.

There are some 20.6 million recreational hunters in our nation. And of this total, 92 percent are male while 8 percent are female. Together they enjoyed a total of 478.6 million days of hunting in 1975, the last surveyed year.

And although statisticians estimate the dollars they spent in pursuit of hunting recreation at $5.8 billion, they placed a value of $84.9 billion on their sport. While such estimates always are subject to question, they are impressive economical and recreational statistics.

Also, non-game shooting such as skeet, trap, target, and plinking, has a total of 16.1 million participants. Of these a total of 52 percent said they also hunt wild game. Which means that 48 percent of those who shot guns were not hunters or huntresses. They just enjoy shooting, shooting. It is to this 16.1 million shooters who find fun, relaxation, competition, practice, and other values in shooting a gun that Daisy would say: "Think B.B. gun!" It is the lowest cost, safest shooting sport since greatgrandpa's boyhood discovery of it. A great introduction to a

Reports From The Ky. Dept. of Fish & Wildlife

Preparations Underway For Lake Barkley Cove Study

While that scheduled comprehensive cove study on Lake Barkely won't happen until September, preparations for the effort began in March. Biologist Jim Axon was in western Kentucky in late March to lcoate sites for fish attractors in the Crooked. Creek Embayment, where the study will take place. A survey of the cove area to determine its exact size and depth also began in Märch.

Summer Aides Selected Again this summer, college students with at least two years of school behind them will have a chance to get field experience as aides to the department's fisheries biologists. A total of 12 students have been selected for the program and notified of their selection. Final hiring is pending the approval of the Department of Personnel.

> Trout Stocking Begins, Now On Schedule

Fisheries aides from the fish transportation section were unable to stock trout in Laurel River and Wood's Creek lakes. in February as planned because the lakes were frozen, but the March thaw allowed the fish to be delivered last month. Laurel received 65,000 trout and Wood's Creek 5,000. The trout trucks then made the usual March delivery of 50,000 rainbow trout to lakes, streams and tailwaters.

Spring Teacher Workshops Set

Elementary school teachers and principals from schools where the department's "inschool" classes are conducted will be attending teacher workshops at the department's three summer camps in late April. The workshops are held to give the educators a chance to learn more about the department, get in some fishing and as a way of saying "thanks" to educators for giving up class time so students can receive monthly instruction on outdoor recreation and conservation. Biologists Encouraged

By Earl Farm Pond Picture

According to fisheries biologists, early reports indicate farm pond fish kills from winter's cold and snow may not be as numerous as last year. There are also fewer reports of fish kills on larger bodies of water, leading fisheries officials to hope this past winter will not be as damaging as the one preceding Early speculation attributes the apparent lack of severe damage to milder temperatures and some winter rains that could have oxygenated some ponds. Meanwhile, COs will be taking applications for farm pond stocking until October from pond owners who would like largemouth bass, bluegill and channel catfish fingerling for their ponds. The COs are urged to forward the applications to the fisheries offices in Frankfort as soon as they're received rather than wait for the deadline.

There have been a lot of great things happen to Cornell in Murray. But the first great thing was Tommie Turner.

Turner became eligible

Cornell's first year at Murray "I can thank Bill Furgerson for recruiting T-Bird. And we also had another great sprinter here at that time, Jim Freeman. He was Murray's first Division One track All-American and he shares the 1000 and 220 records of 9.3 and 20.8 with Bert Jacobs. "Tommie was a six-time, All-American. In my opinion, he's the best athlete to ever come out of Murray. Besides being a tremendous athlete, he's also a fantastic individual. We've had a very close relationship ever since

In addition, Turner also won a national championship with a victory in the 600-yard dash at Detroit.

"The main thing emember about T-Bird's national championship was that both he and I were so exhiliarated with the victory, he ran up in the stands and hugged me. A lot of coaches were impressed to see an athlete and a coach with such a close relationship."

But Cornell enjoys a closeness with his athletes no other coach can claim. Bill Cornell's athletes live and die for him, he does the same for

He is a father, a brother, a coach, but more than anything else, a friend.

"I've always tried to stay as close to my athletes as I can. I want to try being as close to being one of them as I can and yet, with them still having respect for me.

"I find that it gets tougher as the years go on. I don't know if kids today are different or if it's a generation gap. But I still have a close relationship with all my kids.

"They can come to my office any time and they're always welcome to come to my house anytime. A lot of them are a long way from home and some of them view me as a father away from home."

About the closest example of that happened last year.

One of Cornell's former relay teams and individuals athletes who quit school lost ne crash.

The young man's widowed mother called Cornell. And though Cornell had not seen the young man in a couple of years and didn't really think he had that close of relationship, indeed, the young man viewed Bill Cornell as a father away from home.

and stayed with the family for several days, the entire time he was by the young man's side. Bill Cornell took of his time to offer himself to someone else.

That's the kind of man Bill Cornell is.

Not only his track athletes love him but everyone who has ever known him holds a special respect and love for the man. He's honest, he's open, he's funny, he's serious. But most of all, he's just Bill Cornell.

"The number one priority of my kids is academic. I'm interested in them getting a degree and of course, then I'm interested in their best performance on the track.

"I'm also not nieve enough to relaize they also need a social life. With the tensions of acadmeics and athletics, there has to be a time when they can let their hair down and relax and enjoy themselves. They just have to know when there are times to be serious and times to play."

Almost daily, Bill Cornell gets phone calls from his former athletes. Bert Jacobs. Fred Sowerby, Ed Postel, Jim Krejci, Lester Flax. . . and others. They call just to ask how are things going. . . and to thank Bill Cornell for helping make their lives what they are

"I started a Murray State track alumni fund where I write to all my former athletes on a regular basis and keep them informed on how we're doing. And quite often, I'm pleasantly surprised by having them come to visit physical shape. He runs with his athletes and also plays racquetball and tennis. He's also active in other areas. He's the advisor of the TKE's and Rose serves as the advisor to the ADP's.

Cornell is also known for his sense of humor.

Once at the Dogwood Relays in Knoxville, East Tennessee coach Dave Walker accompanied Bill and Rose into a restaurant. Bill asked the waitess for basted eggs.

She didn't know what basted eggs were. So Bill Cornell got up, went into the kitchen and fixed some basted eggs.

He walked out, placed them on the counter and was getting ready to pay for them.

Suddenly, someone walked up to the counter, looked at the waitress and said: "Oh, I see you serve basted eggs here." Cornell broke out laughing, the waitress did too and of course, Bill headed back to the kitchen to fling up some more. Some of the best practical jokes in the world have taken place in the game room of his

INTRODUCING: THE CAR OF THE YEAR!

Consider the new Omin, It's the first American-built car in its class to offer the advantages of front-wheel drive. It's powered by a rugged 104.7 cubic-inch (1.7 litre) overhead cam engine. There's also full coil suspension for all four wheels. And rackand-pinion steering. Omni also features the convenience of four doors, plus a liftgate and fold-down rear seat that will accommodate 35.8 cubic feet of cargo. Bucket seats are standard as well. So are such pleasant touches as an AM radio, vinyl body-side molding, and white sidewall tires. The long and the short of it is this: Omni does it all. And at a very reasonable

'Homecoming' Big Success For Mel

By MIKE BRANDON

Ledger & Times Sports Editor Keep the hook sitting in the same place all the time and the wise fish will eventually swim away.

And that was just about what happened Friday afternoon at the Murray State Tennis Complex as Mel Purcell eluded the hook and won his first singles match of a weekend quadrangular.

Purcell, a native of Murray and the defending state high school singles champion, is playing number one singles for Memphis State. Friday, he went up against Eastern Kentucky's Steve Alger, one of the toughest singles players in the Qhio Valley Conference.

Alger led 6-5 in the opening set and had the serve only to have Purcell break service and force a tiebreaker. That turned the match. Purcell Alger, easily taking the tiebreaker then winning 6-0 in the second set.

"I was really shaky in the first set because Alger is a lefty and I have a lot of problems with leftys. The backhand return of a serve has been the weakest part of

"He got into a groove and started putting the serve in the same spot every time. I finally got his serve down and he never did try to change it or ace me with his forehand," Purcell said.

Alger broke Purcell's service in the ninth game to assume a 54 lead. Just after the eight game, Alger headedfor the water. And minutes later, after breaking Purcell's service to win the ninth game, he went to the water again.

That seemed to be the telltale sign. Alger was huffing and puffing while Purcell was hardly even sweating.

After Purcell broke Alger's service to tie the set at 6-6. Purcell quickly took a 2-0 lead in the tiebreaker, scoring on forehand smashes, the second one just getting past Alger who was charging to the net.

Alger got the third point then Purcell won the next three to take the match.

Purcell Smashes Shot

The second set went quicker than a federal income tax refund.

Purcell, now 23-4 at number one this season, has lost singles matches to LSU, Arkansas, Miami and Van-

"I don't think I really played that well today. I wasn't that tired at all," he added.

Memphis State won the match over Eastern Kentucky 9-0. Purcell and doubles partner Chip Hooper easily won the match and Hooper had an easy win in the number two singles

Otherwise, it was a bad day for another member of the Purcell family. Murray State lost a 7-2 match to Middle

"I was a little disappointed with the loss because I felt we

said MSU coach Bennie

"We had a chance to beat them but lost some matches we weren't supposed to lose. But hopefully, we can turn it around next week in the OVC Championships ...

"People saw some fine tennis today and they'll see some more Saturday. All in all, we won eight of our 10 conference mathces, with both losses coming to Middle," Purcell added.

MSU lost all the singles matches. The results were as follows: At number one, Ragnar Felix lost 7-6, 5-7 and 2-6 to Dale Short; Jan Soegaard lost 6-7, 3-6 at number two to Peter Heffernen; Chris Leonard fell 5-7. 3-6 at three to Peter Roberts; Roger Berthiuame lost 2-6, 2-6 at four to Stewart Thompson; Jeff Leeper fell 4-6, 5-7 at five to Tony Fernandez; and at six, Tom Lie lost 3-6, 2-6 to Danny Wallace. Felix-Lie lost number one doubles match 3-6 and 6-7 to Short-Roberts but the Racers did salvage the final two matches. Soegaard-Berthiaume won 2-6, 6-3 and 6-4 at two over Heffernen-Thompson while at three. Leonard-Leeper won 4-6, 7-6 and 6-3 over Fernandez-Wallace.

The Racers now stand at 22-7 on the season and will play Eastern Kentucky and Memphis State today.

There have been a lot of great things happen to Cornell in Murray. But the first great thing was Tommie Turner.

Turner became eligible

and 20.8 with Bert Jacobs. "Tommie was a six-time, All-American. In my opinion, he's the best athlete to ever come out of Murray. Besides being a tremendous athlete, he's also a fantastic individual. We've had a very close relationship ever since he left," Cornell added.

Since coming to Murray, Cornell has produced 12 NCAA Division One All-Americans, two USTFF Att-Americans and four Olympians.

In addition, Turner also won a national championship with a victory in the 600-yard dash at Detroit.

'The main thing. remember about T-Bird's national championship was that both he and I were so exhiliarated with the victory. he ran up in the stands and hugged me. A lot of coaches were impressed to see an athlete and a coach with such a close relationship."

But Cornell enjoys a closeness with his athletes no other coach can claim. Bill Cornell's athletes live and die for him, he does the same for

He is a father, a brother, a coach, but more than anything else, a friend.

"I've always tried to stay as close to my athletes as I can. I want to try being as close to being one of them as I can and yet, with them still having respect for me.

"I find that it gets tougher as the years go on. I don't know if kids today are different or if it's a generation gap. But I still have a close relationship with all my kids.

"They can come to my office any time and they're always welcome to come to my house anytime. A lot of them are a long way from home and some of them view me as a father away from Cornell flew to New York and stayed with the family for several days, the entire time he was by the young man's side. Bill Cornell took of his time to offer himself to someone else.

That's the kind of man Bill

physical shape. He runs with his athletes and also plays racquetball and tennis. He's also active in other areas. He's the advisor of the TKE's and Rose serves as the advisor to the ADP's.

Cornell is also known for his sense of humor.

Once at the Dogwood Relays in Knoxville, East Tennessee coach Dave Walker accompanied Bill and Rose into a restaurant. Bill asked the waitess for basted eggs.

She didn't know what basted eggs were. So Bill Cornell got up, went into the kitchen and fixed some basted eggs.

He walked out, placed them on the counter and was getting ready to pay for them. Suddenly, someone walked up to the counter, looked at the waitress and said: "Oh, I see you serve basted eggs here." Cornell broke out laughing, the waitress did too and of course, Bill headed back to the kitchen to fling up some more. Some of the best practical jokes in the world have taken place in the game room of his beautiful home in Panorama

Bill Cornell knows how to have a good time. He also knows how to win.

England has been famous for its queens and kings. And Murray State is known in Murray, Bill and Rose across the nation as being in Cornell reign. They are two of track what UK or Kansas is in Murray's most respected and most loved citizens.

INTRODUCING: THE CAR OF THE YEAR!

Consider the new Omin, It's the first American-built car in its class to offer the advantages of front-wheel drive. It's powered by a rugged 104.7 cubic-inch (1.7 litre) overhead cam engine. There's also full coil suspension for all four wheels. And rackand-pinion steering. Omni also features the convenience of four doors, plus a liftgate and fold-down rear seat that will accommodate 35.8 cubic feet of cargo. Bucket seats are standard as well. So are such pleasant touches as an AM radio, vinyl body-side molding, and white sidewall tires. The long and the short of it is this: Omni does it all. And at a very reasonable

'Homecoming' Big Success For Mel

Ledger & Times Sports Editor Keep the hook sitting in the same place all the time and the wise fish will eventually swim away.

And that was just about what happened Friday afternoon at the Murray State Tennis Complex as Mel Purcell eluded the hook and won his first singles match of a weekend quadrangular.

Purcell, a native of Murray and the defending state high school singles champion, is playing number one singles for Memphis State. Friday, he went up against Eastern Kentucky's Steve Alger, one of the toughest singles players in the Ohio Valley Conference. Alger led 6-5 in the opening set and had the serve only to have Purcell break service and force a tiebreaker. That turned the match. Purcell

Alger, easily taking the tiebreaker then winning 6-0 in the second set.

"I was using a new racquet. It gives me more power on my serves," said Purcell, who won the first game of the first set by serving up an ace.

"I was really shaky in the first set because Alger is a lefty and I have a lot of problems with leftys. The backhand return of a serve has been the weakest part of my game.

"He got into a groove and started putting the serve in the same spot every time. I finally got his serve down and he never did try to change it or ace me with his forehand," Purcell said.

Alger broke Purcell's service in the ninth game to assume a 5-4 lead. Just after the eight game, Alger headed for the water. And minutes later, after breaking Purcell's service to win the ninth game, he went to the water again.

That seemed to be the telltale sign. Alger was huffing and puffing while Purcell was hardly even sweating.

After Purcell broke Alger's service to tie the set at 6-6, Purcell quickly took a 2-0 lead in the tiebreaker, scoring on forehand smashes, the second one just getting past Alger who was charging to the net.

Alger got the third point then Purcell won the next three to take the match.

Purcell Smashes Shot

The second set went quicker than a federal income tax refund.

Purcell, now 23-4 at number one this season, has lost singles matches to LSU. Arkansas, Miami and Vanderbilt.

"I don't think I really played that well today. I wasn't that tired at all," he added.

Memphis State won the match over Eastern Kentucky 9-0. Purcell and doubles partner Chip Hooper easily won the match and Hooper had an easy win in the number two singles.

Otherwise, it was a bad day for another member of the Purcell family. Murray State lost a 7-2 match to Middle Tennessee.

"I was a little disappointed with the loss because I felt we

MSU lost all the singles matches. The results were as follows: At number one, Ragnar Felix lost 7-6, 5-7 and 2-6 to Dale Short; Jan Soegaard lost 6-7, 3-6 at number two to Peter Heffernen; Chris Leonard fell 5-7, 3-6 at three to Peter Roberts; Roger Berthiuame lost 2-6, 2-6 at four to Stewart Thompson; Jeff Leeper fell 4-6, 5-7 at five to Tony Fernandez; and at six, Tom Lie lost 3-6, 2-6 to Danny

Murray High Students Win In Math Contest

Kenneth Lown, a senior at Paducah Tilghman High School, captured the $500 scholarship top award Tuesday in the 17th annual Mathematics Contest held at Murray State University.

Lown, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lown, 2737 Broadway, won first place in the comprehensive competition, one of four categories of the contest in which more than 300 junior and senior high school students from 22 schools across West Kentucky participated.

Randy Thompson, a senior at Marshall County High School, won the $300 scholarship second-place award in the comprehensive contest, while Beth Boston, a University Church senior at Murray High School was third, winning a $200. scholarship, and Paul Tichenor, a senior at Caldwell County High School, finishign fourth and winning a $100 scholarship.

petition, Lewis Bossing, Murray High School, was the winner. Kayne Beasley, also of Murray High, finished second; Greg Filbeck, Benton Junior High, third; Kevin Weitlaur, St. Mary High School, Paducah, fourth.

David Harvey, Webster County High School, was the winner in the geometry competition. Second place went to Brent Boston, Murray High; third to Lisa Cannon, Lyon County High School; and fourth to Laura Mills, Hickman County High School.

In the Algebra II competition, Jerry Kelly, Murray High School, was the winner, and Terry Smith, also of Murray High, second. Stan Conn, Webster County High School, was third, and Robin James, Marshall County High, fourth.

won by the Marshall County High School team, while Lyon County High was third.

Sponsored by the Kenlake Council of Teachers of Mathematics and Murray State University, the contest originated in 1961 in Lone Oak. For the last four years, the university has been a cosponsor, and the examinations. are constructed by faculty members in its Department of Mathematics.

This year's contest was coordinated by Dr. Harold Robertson, a professor of mathematics, and the participants competed as individuals and in teams in the four categories.

New mothers everywhere know toys they can trust

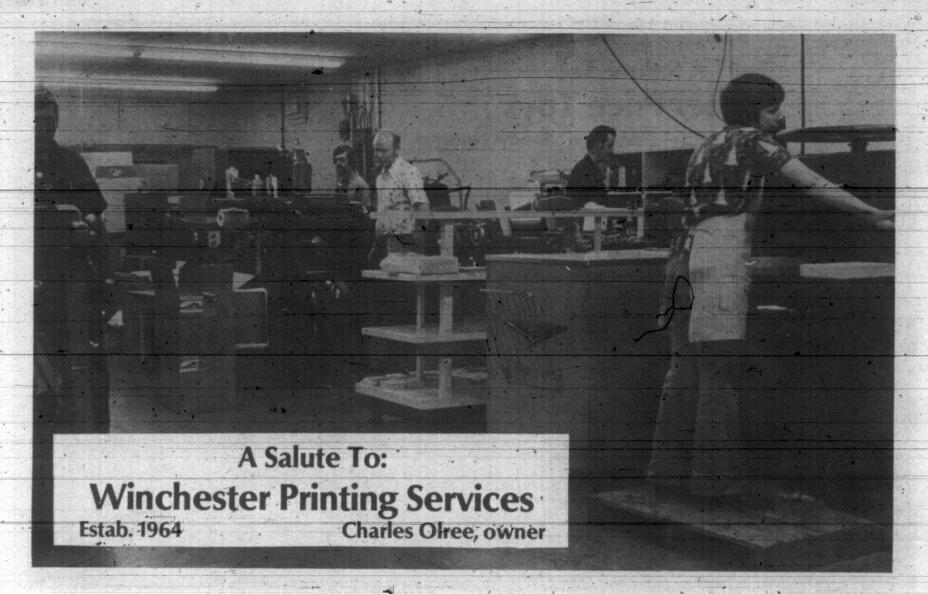

Crib & Playpen toys made in the Murray Plant of Fisher-Price found their way into nearly every nursery in the United States and in nurseries the world over. In fact, about three Fisher-Price toys were purchased for every baby born in America last year, or over thirteen million total.

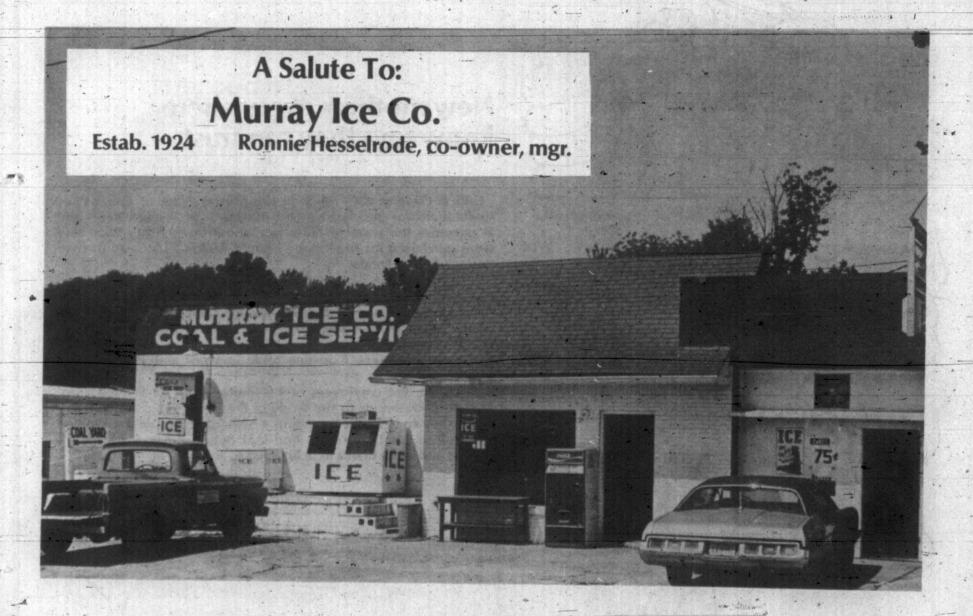

Because mothers want toys they can trust with a baby, they paid a grown-up compliment to the men and women of the Murray plant, who have earned a reputation for caring about quality and safety. To Fisher-Price and parents everywhere, Crib & Playpen toys which are made in Murray means made with skill and dedication and resourcefulness. It means pride in work and a respect for timeless values.

Of course, the employees of the Murray plant have done more than contribute toys to the world of the very young. In the past 5 years, they've helped to re-affirm a belief that people are entitled to value in what they buy. And that babies deserve special attention and more than a little bit of love.
