Over Pest Controlled

dust or spray at rate of 1 1/2 to 2 pounds of actual DDT to the acre. As a spray, use 1 gallon of 25 percent DDT in 20 gallons of water per acre. Apply when sweetclover is in 2-leaf stage and when nearly 1/4 of leaf surface has been destroyed but not later, and be sure to spray the sweetclover plants. Earlier spraying may waste time and material and delay may result in destruction of crop.

The Indiana station recommends dusting a DDT-superphosphate mixture to the sweetclover in the very early seedling stage. Mix thoroughly 4 pounds of 50 percent or 20 pounds of 10 percent DDT with 200 to 400 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate per acre. Apply soon as possible after mixing. Best stands are obtained by this method because the DDT kills the weevils running along the ground and the fertilizer stimulates the plants so they are not so easily killed by the weevils.

Care should be taken not to apply DDT to foliage likely to be eaten by milk cows or animals being fed for slaughter. There should be no risk, however, in applying DDT to sweetclover seedlings as outlined above or to sweetclover to be plowed under as green manure.

Sweetclover is the cheapest soil-building legume in seed cost for 1952 planting. Its value in increasing yields of subsequent crops, such as corn, is well-established. News of control of its chief enemy will be most welcome in those sections where some curtailment of use has followed the spread of this pest.

Calloway County Quota For Youth Camp Set At $2,286

LEXINGTON, Ky., Calloway County has been set a quota of $2,286 in a fund raising drive to begin April 20 for the proposed 4-H Club Camp to be established by the University of Kentucky near Dawson Springs.

In making the announcement Mack Sisk, finance chairman for the western Kentucky area, said an estimated $70,000 would be needed to completely develop the 45-acre property, formerly the Dawson Springs State Park. The camp will serve over 500 Calloway County 4-H boys and girls along with some 15,000 4-H'ers in 30 western Kentucky counties. In addition to these boys and girls the camp will also be used by various farm groups such as homemakers, county farm bureaus and other farm interest groups.

A special county committee has been named by the 30-county finance committee to organize and direct the various 4-H Clubs; farm and home groups, civic and business interests in Calloway County in the effort to raise the $70,000. Calloway County's committee is composed of County Agent S. V. Fey and Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Rachel Rowland, Murray. Additional members are to be named at a later date.

The Calloway County Committee will work under the direction of a 30-county finance committee headed by Sisk and composed of C. W. Sparks, Princeton; Harper Gatton, Madisonville; Niles O. Dillingham, Dawson Springs and State Agriculture Commissioner Ben S. Adams, Hopkinsville. This committee was recently named by Dr. Frank J. Welch, dean and director of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Extension Services from a special advisory committee on the camp project.

The Advisory Committee is composed of five University Board of Trustees, five members in western Kentucky, and seven other citizens interested in the 4-H Club project.

About ten years ago Mr. Carl W. Sparks, Caldwell farmer, donated to the University of Kentucky a memorial to his father, the late William B. Sparks, a native of Union County, $15,000 toward the establishment of a 4-H Club Camp in western Kentucky. The sum was invested in Series F Bonds and the amount is now approximately $18,000. Acting upon recommendation of Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby, the State Property and Buildings Commission last December granted $25,000 to the project. These sums, with others, now makes approximately $50,000 available for construction at the proposed camp.

Through the efforts of the Dawson Springs Chamber of Commerce a site of 450 acres, formerly the Dawson Springs State Park, was transferred to the University from the Division of Parks. The land was originally purchased by the citizens of Dawson Springs and surrounding communities in 1919 in connection with the establishment of the U. S. Veterans Administration's Outward Hospital but the 450-acre site was never used by the Federal agency. In 1935, after being developed by the C.C.C. as a park and recreational area, the land was deeded to the Commonwealth of Kentucky for state park purposes. Last year the Federal Congress extended the use of the property to include the University of Kentucky for educational purposes.

Other Candidates Say They Will Remain In Presidential Race

By United Press
Taft and Kefauver are leading the parade in the latest presidential primaries.

In Wisconsin, Senator Robert Taft has won 24 of the 30 delegates to the GOP national convention and piled up 309,000 votes. Governor Earl Warren of California has captured six delegates and is running second in the popular vote with 256,000 ballots. Harold Stassen, who didn't win a single delegate—is third with 163,000 votes. And Grant Ritter—a stand-in for General Douglas MacArthur—has 25,000 votes.

However, both Warren and Stassen bid for the votes of backers of General Dwight Eisenhower—who was not on the Wisconsin ballot. And when taken together, they have a total of 189,000 votes.

Kefauver also has won a solid victory in Wisconsin. The Tennessee Democrat has piled up 186,000 votes to 17,000 for his nearest competitor—a stand-in candidate for President Truman.

In Washington, a spokesman for Senator Taft says the Ohio lawmaker is "very happy" with the returns giving him victory in Wisconsin.

In Sacramento, California, Governor Warren says he is "deeply grateful" to the people of Wisconsin for the 256,000 votes they gave him. "The California governor also says he will stay in the race for the GOP nomination."

In Paris today, General Eisenhower is closely following the election returns from both Wisconsin and Nebraska. However, he has refused to comment on the returns as yet.

Finally, a Democrat has been elected to congress in a special election in the 32nd congressional district in New York. Leo O'Brien defeated his Republican opponent by an almost three to one margin in a traditionally Democratic area.

Backers of General Dwight Eisenhower will fight for at least one of Tennessee's 20 delegates to the national Republican convention when the GOP state convention meets in Nashville today.

Senator Taft already holds pledges from 14 delegates. The state convention will elect four delegates at large. A fifth delegate at large will be chosen in May.

President Truman may decide between his two top investigators today—between Attorney General J. Howard McGrath or corruption hunter, Newbold Morris.

The President will meet with McGrath at the White House. He will discuss McGrath's testimony Monday before the House judiciary subcommittee. At that time, the attorney general said he may talk at filling out a financial questionnaire sent out by Morris.

Morris has threatened to go home if any federal official fails to put out the questionnaire and still keeps his job.

It's up to the president to decide between them.

Committee Named For Youth Camp

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Committee from thirty western Kentucky counties has been named to aid in the establishment of a youth and educational camp at Dawson Springs. The proposed camp to be located on the site of the former Dawson Springs State Park will be operated by the University of Kentucky, College of Agriculture and Extension Service.

The committee, from Calloway County is composed of S. V. Fey and Miss Rachel Rowland. Additional members will be named at a later date.

There is at present about $50,000 available for the establishment of the camp. The university received this amount from Carl Sparks, Caldwell County farmer, and a grant from the State Property and Buildings Commission recommended by Governor Lawrence Wetherby.

Mack Sisk, Dawson Springs, chairman of the project's finance committee said that additional funds will be needed to complete the camp. Meetings are being conducted by Sisk in Bowling Green, Henderson, Owensboro and Dawson Springs to discuss plans to raise the necessary funds.

The land for the camp was originally purchased by "the citizens of Dawson Springs and surrounding communities in 1919 in connection with the establishment of a Veterans Hospital but was later deeded to the state as a park site. The Federal Congress last year extended the use to include the University of Kentucky for educational purposes."

Ike Warns West Europe On Economics

By United Press
General Eisenhower has warned western Europe to try to stand on its own feet because there is a limit to the amount of economic support America can give it.

In a report on his first year as a commander of allied forces in Europe, he said the tide is now flowing to the west in the cold war. But said the time has come for Europe to forget its national barriers and pool its resources.

Eisenhower put it this way: "America cannot keep on being the main source of arms for the west. That would be unsound from a military standpoint. Also, America can't keep up for long its huge foreign aid payments without endangering its own economy, which he said is vitally important for the western world."

In spite of the warning, however, Eisenhower said the United States favors military and economic support because as he put it, "most American people" do.

The warning to Europe has received wholehearted support at home from Democrats and Republican lawmakers of all camps. But there is divided reaction to his report insofar as it is the report of a man who is an avowed candidate for the Republican nomination for president.

Pro-Eisenhower men are hailing it as a masterpiece of statesmanship. But at least one Democrat, House Leader John McCormack, says it "confirms" his belief that Eisenhower should take off his uniform and come home. Says McCormack: "Eisenhower's role as supreme commander and as an active candidate for political office are decidedly inconsistent."

Backers of Senator Robert Taft have a different reaction. They say Eisenhower could not have been fighting with rifle, bayonet and grenade. At last reports, the Reds were still retreating northward. The battle was fought as American Saboteur pilots rounded out 24 hours of air battle over North Korea by damaging three more Soviet-type MIGs. That makes 26 the Reds they will go on on a neutral truce inspection nation.

State Dental Convention Ends Today

LOUISVILLE.—The convention of the Kentucky State Dental Association ends in Louisville with Dr. Ollie M. Linn, of Morehead, as president-elect.

The group paid tribute to the work of Dr. Robert Thomas, of Louisville, for running bogus dental schools out of business and for removing any taint of politics from dental examining boards.

Thomas is a former president of the Kentucky state board of dental examiners and served 16 years as secretary of the American association of dental examiners.

New officers named by the group are Dr. John Atkins of Pikeville, first vice-president; Dr. C. H. Jaeger of Princeton, second vice-president; and Dr. John Atkinson of Louisville, third vice-president. A Louisville man, Dr. A. B. Coxwell, has been elected secretary. President Truman is reported to have ordered the justice department and other officials to give him an early report on the legal questions involved in seizure and outlaw possible steps.

Meanwhile, other government officials and representatives of the steel industry and the CIO steelworkers are busy in an attempt to head off the strike scheduled for next Tuesday.

Industry spokesmen are talking to government price officials in Washington about their demand for a $12 a ton price increase. But the price officials say that $2 a ton is what the industry is entitled to, and price chief Ellis Arnall has expressed pessimism over the steel picture.

New York negotiations on the wage stabilization board proposal of 26 cents an hour package for the union have been delayed for ten days. CIO president Philip Murray has blasted industry representatives for what he calls "unwarranted delay." But he is standing by for the talks, possibly late today.

Reds Pushed Back After Strong Attack

By United Press
About 15-hundred bugle-blowing enemy troops hit UN lines in Korea today, shouting "kill kill!"

It was the biggest enemy ground attack in three months. And the first impact knocked allied troops off a hill west of Panmunjin, the site of the truce talks.

However the allies rallied and recaptured the height in bloody fighting with rifle, bayonet and grenade. At last reports, the Reds were still retreating northward. The battle was fought as American Saboteur pilots rounded out 24 hours of air battle over North Korea by damaging three more Soviet-type MIGs. That makes 26 the Reds they will go on on a neutral truce inspection nation.

In the truce talks, the allies have told the Reds they will go on negotiating to accept Russia as a neutral truce inspection nation.

Government May Take Over Steel

By United Press
The government may take over the steel industry unless the steel dispute is settled by next Tuesday.

President Truman is reported to have ordered the justice department and other officials to give him an early report on the legal questions involved in seizure and outlaw possible steps.

QUESTION:
Do you think there are more advantages or disadvantages to living in a college town?

ANSWERS:
Mrs. E. C. Broach: More advantages. I'd say definitely I prefer to live in a college town.

Mrs. Fred Jones: I think there are more advantages. I get the sports broadcasts and that's what I enjoy.

Mrs. Herbert Key: Oh, I think there's more. We have so many more ball games to go to.

Mrs. James Jones: There are more advantages. There are a lot of "to-dos" to see and watch the style of clothes they wear. There are a lot more to attend our churches and the clubs, which adds to the social side of life, and then we have more and better types of entertainment such as the plays the Stock and Buskin puts on.

Mrs. Robert Johnson: I think it is nice living in a college town, we have the advantage of going to all the ball games and keeping in closer with the cheering intruder.

Eisenhower Will Be Central Figure In Primary

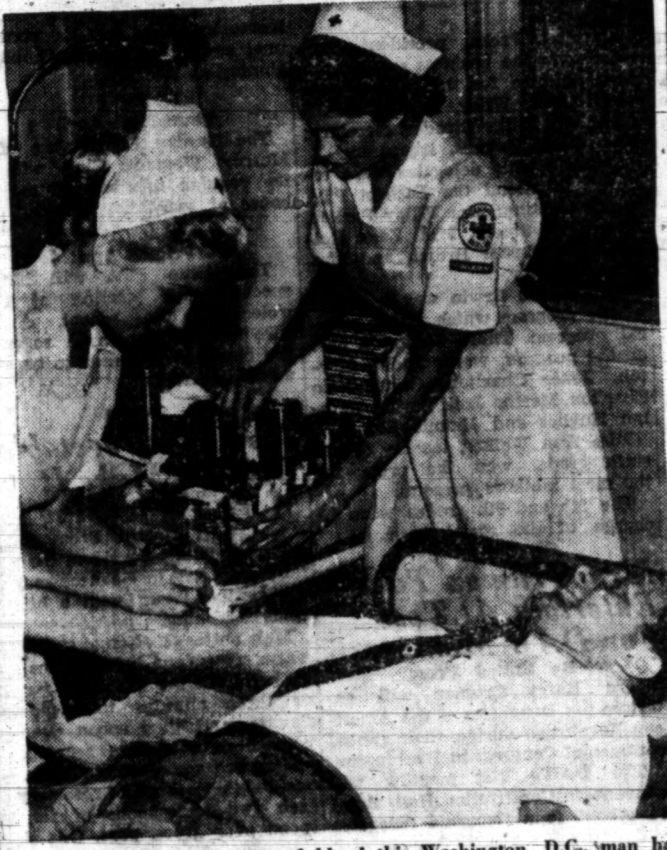

By United Press
General Eisenhower, of course, would be coming home in response to that "clear cut call to political duty" he once mentioned—to campaign for the Republican nomination for president.
Other candidates for the Republican presidential nomination are fighting it out for votes in the Wisconsin primary Tuesday—but the general, whose name isn't entered, is a central figure in that campaign. Two of the three official candidates—Harold Stassen and California Governor Earl Warren—have openly bid for votes from Eisenhower backers.
For that reason, Senator Taft, the third candidate, has denounced both of them as "hybrid" candidates.
On the Democratic side in Wisconsin, two candidates are running as stand-ins for President Truman and Tennessee Senator Estes Kefauver is running for himself. Kefauver already has ended his campaign and left the state. Observers say his chances of winning are pretty good—that the Truman strength may be split between the two rival camps.
A man who says he won't back the Democratic nomination may stand some chance of getting it by draft. He's Illinois' Governor Adlai Stevenson, who insists that all he's interested in is re-election as governor. However, several reports have indicated recently that President Truman wants Stevenson to succeed him—that he has offered him the nomination.
Stevenson won't comment, says he has no idea how the stories got started.

Piper and Tift varieties of sudan grass did best in tests at the Uni-

Each variety was seeded in 7-inch rows at 27 pounds an acre the latter part of May. The varieties were not fertilized in 1950.
In 1951 all varieties were fertilized with 550 pounds an acre of 9-8-6 fertilizer before seeding and top-dressed with 100 pounds of an-timonium nitrate an acre after each cutting. They were cut three times each season.

When a certain organ or part of your body is not receiving 100% life, you cannot expect it to function 100%.
This flow of life force can be inter-ferred with by pressure on the nerves that transmit it.
This is usually found at some point in the region of the spine which contains the movable bones, any of which, when a little out of alignment, can be pressing on the main nerves which emit between them, therefore cutting off or reducing the normal amount of life energy which is supposed to be going to a particular part or organ of the body.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN HELOISE'S footstep sounded on the stairs, and Henri went in to give her the paper. He told her the worst before she could inquire. It seemed less humiliating.
—Not a single rat, he said dole-fully.
"No?" Heloise replied. "Well, try again. We mustn't forget that these are Charleston rats. You've got to give them a little time before they try anything new."
"All right, make a joke of everything," Henri said, "but it's very discouraging."
"Never mind. As long as we're not bitten in our beds we ought to be thankful."
"Isn't Leonie coming to breakfast?"
"Oh, let the child sleep. She hasn't got a thing to do and the day is long. Besides, I've heard her say she got used to very light breakfasts up North in Baltimore and she doesn't like hominy any more."
"She doesn't like hominy?" Henri was agast.
"No. She says it's all starch and there's no real nutrition in it."
"Nonsense," Henri said. "Our old parrot lived for years on hominy dipped in coffee."
"Leonie is not a parrot," Heloise said, "and she doesn't like sunflower seeds either." She smiled at Henri, saying about that Letchie, Brother. She can take care of herself. Now tell me what's in the paper."
Henri pointed out the item about Lincoln Calvert.
"Hm," Heloise said.
"I wonder where he got the money."
"No doubt he'll tell us."
"It can't possibly concern us," Henri said seriously, "but it would be interesting to know."
"Everybody will know before long," Heloise said. "Do you suppose a young man can buy a farm around Charleston without everybody Tom, Dick and Harry knowing all about it?"
Toward the middle of the morning Henri brought up the matter in conversation with Mrs. Em-mons. He hinted that it would be interesting to know the source of young Calvert's money. Rat apparently Colonel Calvert had not enlightened Mrs. Emmons.
"Oh, that handsome young man," she exclaimed. "I do hope he's gone to have good luck."
Henri grunted.

Murrayans Invited To Quilt Show At Mayfield Friday

Plans are being completed for the Quilt Show which the Home and Garden Department of the Woman's Club of Mayfield will have at Mayfield on Friday, April 4.

Guest speaker for the Show will be Mrs. Edwin Richardson, of Hopkinsville, who is a nationally-known authority on old quilts. She will bring with her a collection of quilts which has been shown to many groups throughout the country.

In her collection are two very important quilts of museum caliber, which are on loan to her for exhibit. Another quilt she is displaying was designed by an outstanding designer from Chicago, Bertha Stange. Another of her quilts was designed and made by a man.

Mrs. Richardson, wife of the President of Bethel College, has done research on quilts for more than 18 years, and counts among her acquaintances the country's most eminent collectors and authorities on quilts.

The lecture and display will be in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church at 3:30 o'clock. Following the lecture, tea will be served and there will be an opportunity to view the quilts in Mrs. Richardson's collection. Invitations have been extended to women of surrounding cities, and a large group of out-of-town visitors are expected.

Gil Harrison of Metcalfe county plans to start 5,000 broilers in his new 40-by-100-foot building, the largest broiler venture in the county.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Giles Buchanan spent the weekend with their son, Robert Buchanan, and family of Chicago, Ill.

Hunter Love attended the Kentucky Photographers Convention in Louisville Sunday and Monday. He received two blue ribbons on photographs displayed at the convention.

A. C. Walton and family spent Sunday in Nashville, Tenn., at the bedside of Mrs. Walton who is a patient at the Vanderbilt Hospital in that city.

Hostess For Penny Homemakers' Meet

Since buoyant health is the focal point of all well prepared meals, canned fruits and vegetables stole the limelight on March 17 as the leaders, Mrs. Raymond Workman and Mrs. Everett Norwood, presented the lesson to the members of the Penny Homemakers' Club and one visitor, Mrs. Harbard Jetton, in the home of Mrs. J. E. Waldrop.

The homemaker who has storage shelves well filled with a variety of canned products will have little difficulty in planning and preparing meals, the leaders indicated.

Mrs. Virgil Gibbs, president, presided over a brief business session. Mrs. Ollie Workman gave the landscape and gardening notes. Mrs. Paul Cunningham directed the recreational period.

For the devotion, Mrs. Chester Chambers read I Corinthians 13 and Mrs. Elmo Boyd led in prayer.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Earnest Madix. The lesson will be "Using Canned Meats."

Mrs. Wiley Parker Elected President Of The Hazel PTA

The Parent-Teacher Association of Hazel High School met Thursday afternoon in the main auditorium.

Carmon Parks, president, presided over the business session. Officers elected for the coming year were: Mrs. Wiley Parker, president; Mrs. Billie Strader, secretary; Mrs. Zack Holmes, treasurer.

The following delegates were selected to attend the District PTA meeting: Mrs. Wiley Parker, Mrs. Alice Stealy, Mrs. Zack Holmes, Mrs. Hester Brown and Mrs. Robert Taylor.

Mrs. Oliver Erwin was in charge of the program which was a musical program. Those having a part on the program were: Judith Morton, Janie Charlton, Carmelita Charlton, Martha Jack Taylor, Carolyn Hughes and Jimmie Story.

Miss Ann Walker, teacher of the sixth grade, won the prize for the most mothers present.

Jazz Up Vegetable Dish To Make It More Appetizing

By United Press

If your family considers the vegetable side dish just a necessary evil, jazz it up with a herb or spice seasoning.

Melt butter or oleomargarine, over warm water and blend in the spice or herb. Let the fat stand for two or three minutes to blend the flavors, and then spoon over the vegetable just before serving.

Here are some combinations. Use one-eighth teaspoon of rosemary for each two tablespoons of fat, and spoon over green peas. One-eighth teaspoon of powdered thyme and two tablespoons of butter or margarine are suggested for string beans. Try a combination of butter, lemon juice, about one teaspoon of powdered thyme and one-eighth teaspoon of paprika. Powdered savory and butter combined are suggested for carrots.

Negro Students Have Debate With White Students

FRANKFORT, April 2 (UP)—Negro students of Kentucky State College have met white students of the University of Kentucky in a no-decision debate at Kentucky State College in Frankfort.

It is the first time that Kentucky State students have camped against students of the University. The event was held in Hume Hall at Kentucky State as part of chapel exercises.

H. E. Chesney, an assistant professor of history and government at Kentucky State and who presided over the debate, has called it a historical occasion.

"This is type of relationship between colleges, which promises good health for the state of Kentucky," Chesney said.

Dr. R. B. Atwood, the president of Kentucky State College, says that, not only was it the first time that students had competed with U of K students but, he says, it was the first time Kentucky State students had competed in a debate with students of any white college.

The debate topic was "Whether the federal government should adopt a permanent program of wage and price control."

Negro students upholding the affirmative were Edward Taylor, a sophomore from Nicholasville, and James Harding, a senior from Campbellsville.

White students arguing the negative were Miss Mary Marsten, a Nicholasville sophomore, and Jack Mayer, a junior student at the University from Louisville.

Good Humor Along With Dignity In The Easter Parade

By United Press

There's good humor along with dignity in this year's Easter egg parade.

The National Association of Green Card publishers says the bulk of the greetings is informal and friendly illustrated with symbols of Easter, the egg, the bunny, flowers, or the new spring bonnet, or the new spring outfit.

One card with the bonnet theme reads like this:

"However you tilt it, however it's made, you'll be hit number one in the Easter Parade."

Some of the cards are designed especially for servicemen overseas. One, to send a brother, has this light verse:

"Even a dumb bunny like me knows enough to wish a good egg like you 'Happy Easter'."

More than half of the new cards are illustrated with spring flowers, lilies and tulips, and occasionally an orchid. Some of the expensive ones actually have artificial cut-glass, which can be removed and worn with a new spring outfit.

Murray Man Marooned For Four Days

POINT BARROW, Alaska, April 1 (UP)—A navy flier from Murray, Kentucky, has told how he and eight other men were marooned on an arctic ice floe, a few hundred miles from the North Pole, for four days.

The men were stranded when their plane broke a landing gear from a polar weather station more than 700 miles north of Point Barrow. They were picked up Sunday and flown back to Point Barrow.

Lieutenant R. B. Morgan of Murray, co-pilot of the plane, says that "I sure looked for a minute as if we would either burn or freeze to death. When the landing gear collapsed, one wing-tip buried itself in the snow."

Morgan recalls that "the after door hatch was knocked off, and we had to get through the escape hatch to get out. I thought the plane would catch fire but Commander Ward cut off the ignition, which probably prevented it."

"We got a kick out of drinking coffee and listening to state-side broadcasts telling about us," he says.

Commander Ward says the men never were cold or discouraged despite their predicament. There was food and fuel for at least two weeks, and they had steak and eggs for breakfast the day before their rescue.

Lavish Male Tipper Is Disappearing According To Survey

By United Press

Women have the reputation for being the tipping tightwads. But a United Press check shows the men hardly deserve applause for their generosity.

Several sources report that the lavish male tipper—the guy who slipped the head waiter a 20 dollar bill for a table—has about disappeared. But women have been getting more doting about parting with a tip equal to 15 per cent of the check.

The girls even cut-tip the mba in one phase of the billion dollar business tipping has become in America. At New York beauty shops the average tip is 50 cents. But the barbers say the average man gives a quarter tip—even when he gets a shampoo.

Crucifixion and Resurrection Dramatized on "Greatest Story"

The two traditional Easter season programs, "The Crucifixion" and "The Resurrection," will again be dramatized on "The Greatest Story, Ever Told," radio's most honored program, on Palm Sunday, April 6, and Easter Sunday, April 13. The program will be heard over the entire ABC radio network at 5:30 p.m. (EST). This is the sixth Easter and these programs are offered to the public, and each year these presentations, as well as the regular weekly broadcasts, gain increased listeners and appreciation.

Most unusual among radio programs in many respects, there is no commercial announcement at any time on this program, except for sponsor identification required by law. Neither are actor, director, writer, or music credits ever given, as the program is entirely in the spirit of a sincere public service. It is not surprising, therefore, that this sincerity in presenting a radio program has brought it more honors than any other radio offering.

Nation's Designers Say Anything Goes In Easter Parade

By United Press

Page some of the nation's top designers and you'll find that almost anything goes in this year's Easter Parade.

Your skirt can be slim or full—your feet can be covered or near-naked—and your head can carry a big or little hat.

The designer Adrian says this Easter calls for individuality of outfit—a time for forgetting some of the dictates of fashion and just choosing whatever clothes you like best.

Designer Anthony Blotta says if you want to make sure this year's Easter outfit will be fashionable next Easter also, choose a dress or suit cut on slim lines—not full.

Jane Derby says the best-dressed woman will be wearing white Easter Sunday—white coats, white suits and white accessories.

Mollie Parnis forecasts more silks than wools this spring—ladies of coats over print dresses, also of silk. Designer Coil Chaumant agrees, saying that the Easter silks will be the sheer organdies and chiffons which can go right into summer.

Furs, if you can afford them for spring also, will be small ones—jackets or stoles of broadtail, mink or blonde nutria.
