8th DISTRICT of TENNESSEE

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

Congress recently gave final passage to the controversial tax bill that resulted from President Nixon's economic recommendations of last August. Many of the items in the bill are long overdue breaks for the taxpayer. Other points were added to give business more incentive and our economy a badly needed shot in the arm. Overall, the bill would reduce taxes by $15.8 billion over a three year period.

Of interest to middle income taxpayers is an increase in the personal income tax exemption, which is raised to $675.00 for this year and to $750 for 1972. Also the general standard deduction has been increased to 15 percent of adjusted gross income with a $2,000 ceiling. The minimum standard deduction has been increased by $250.00 making it 1300 dollars for next year. This feature reduces taxes for low income people by about one billion dollars.

New car buyers will be glad to hear that the 7 percent auto excise tax has been repealed retroactive to August 15th and that the 10 percent excise tax on light-duty trucks has been repealed retroactive to September 22nd.

The nation's businessmen will be glad to hear that a 7 percent investment tax credit for equipment purchase has been added. This feature is of particular importance in our area. I have advocated strongly the need for expanding industry in rural areas. By doing this we attack two major problems at once. First, we build a strong economic base for rural people by providing jobs in areas other than agriculture. By doing this we reduce the need for people to migrate to the cities. Many of our young people leave the rural areas not because of dissatisfaction, but because good paying jobs are not available.

This migration to the city has caused one of the major problems facing our country today. Cities have grown larger and larger and with this growth we have seen increasing crime and a marked decrease in the quality of life. City governments have not been able to provide the services necessary for a decent, well ordered existence. My hope is that this 7 percent investment tax credit will help alleviate this problem by providing jobs in rural areas and small towns across the Eighth District. The new tax credit will be available on equipment acquired since August 15th or on order since April 1st.

Industry will also benefit from the liberalized depreciation rules put into effect last summer and written into law by this legislation. Employers are also entitled to a tax credit for hiring workers through the government's work-incentive program.

Political contributions of up to 50 dollars per person are now deductible. Or the taxpayer would have the alternative of a tax credit amounting to half of his political contributions but with a maximum credit of $12.50. The controversial feature that would allow each taxpayer to voluntarily designate one dollar of his tax as a donation toward financing presidential elections was passed but will not be in effect for next year's race.

With Christmas approaching and our economy still in bad shape, I hope this bill will provide some relief and raise your Christmas spirits. Here in Washington Christmas spirit abounds. Downtown stores are dressed with decorations from bottom to top. However, this very special season turns our thoughts homeward. I am returning to the District for the holidays and plan to celebrate with my family and dear friends at home.

Volunteer Fire Department Being Organized At Dukedom

If plans go according to schedule, the Dukedom Community will be having its own Volunteer Fire Department, the News learned this week.

Last Sunday, December 19, a number of concerned citizens of the Dukedom area met at the N and H Grocery to form a volunteer organization and to seek ways and means of obtaining fire-fighting equipment, raising necessary funds, accepting memberships and finding answers to whatever legal questions the organization of a Volunteer Department might involve.

Sixteen were present at the initial meeting, each contributing an initial membership of ten dollars. Durrell McCall was elected president of the group;

Nick Matz, vice-president; Ray Wallace, secretary, and Alpha Cunningham, treasurer.

The unit will meet the third Thursday of each month; the next scheduled meeting will be at 7:00 p.m. January 20 at the N and H Grocery. "All interested persons are invited to attend," a spokesman told The News this week.

According to residents in the area, a Volunteer Fire Department has been needed in the Dukedom area "for a long time." The group plans to seek State and Federal assistance in obtaining a piece of surplus equipment that will serve their purpose. Land for a fire house has already been promised, if funds can either be raised or contributed for its construction. The News was advised.

Wyndall Smith, of Owensboro, was elected President of the Kentucky State Fair Board, Thursday, December 16, at the annual election held during the December Board meeting.

Stophor of Louisville was re-elected Vice-President during the monthly meeting held in the Governor's Conference Room at Frankfort.

The Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center's Executive Director, Donald L. Johnston, was re-elected Secretary to the Board. In addition to Blair, Smith and Stophor, the bi-partisan board is composed of: Ivan Jett of Georgetown; Dr. Charles E. Eastin, Lexington; Lucian Isbell, Hickman; and ex-officio members, Governor Wendell H. Ford; Commissioner of Agriculture Wendell Butler; and Dean of the University of Kentucky's College of Agriculture Charles E. Barnhart.

State Police Warn: "Drive With Care"

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The Department of Public Safety has issued a warning to Kentucky motorists to drive safely over the upcoming holiday season.

The alert was given after State Police reviewed highway statistics for deaths and injuries over the past three-year period during the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

In 1968, 11 persons were killed and 87 injured during the Christmas traveling period and one killed and 76 injured over the New Year's holiday.

The toll reached its peak in 1969 with 13 Kentucky highway fatalities and 223 injured. The New Year's statistics for 1969 show 13 persons killed and 184 injured—a total of 26 killed and 407 injured.

The rate decreased somewhat in 1970 with 14 persons killed and 295 injured during the Christmas and New Year's traveling periods.

Marker Set For Feliciana

FULTON, Ky. — A historical marker is planned for Feliciana, a Graves County town founded in the 1830s and once a commercial center in Western Kentucky.

The marker will be placed on Ky. 94, one and one-half miles from U.S. 45 at Water Valley.

Inscription on the marker will read as follows:

"FELICIANA—Site of a settlement established in 1830s. By 1838 it was most important trading point in the county. After a state road was built through Feliciana in 1845, it became one of the greatest commercial centers in Western Kentucky. This community remained prominent until bypassed by the railroad in 1854. Abandoned when business interests moved to other towns."

Application forms and information about the flotation requirements is available from TVA Reservoir Properties Offices at 202 W. Blythe Street (Box 380), Paris, Tennessee 38242.

O, little town of Bethlehem is in Kentucky

LIVING NATIVITY—A Christmas tradition in Bethlehem, Ky., will be observed this year when members of the Baptist, Methodist and Christian churches present a tableau of the manger scene, with recorded carols and scripture readings, Dec. 22-25 nightly from 6:30 to 9:30. Bethlehem is located on Ky-22 in Henry County, about 40 miles east of Louisville. There is no charge for viewing the Living Nativity. (Kalman Papp Photo)

Every Christmas season for 11 years, they have been gathered together to present a group. Members of this small troupe, in the keeping with the name of the town, December 22-25,

The little community is on highway Ky-22 in Henry County about 40 miles east of Louisville. It's on the map, most of the year the highway is not too heavily traveled, but during the holiday season, traffic increases considerably. Some travelers just pull off the highway, roll their windows down and listen to the recorded music and scripture verses, while others park and walk up to the scene.

There is no admission charge, and therefore no real way to determine how many visit the display, but it is agreed by the representatives of the three churches sponsoring the scene that upwards of 5,000 people each year have attended.

The animals are amazingly good in their roles, once they get to the stage. They do display one trait, however, that seems to be ingrained in all of God's creatures, and that is at round-up time when they object to being caught, tied with ropes and led to the stage. The same animals are used

The incidents date from around 1910 to the early 1920's, and while they are unrelated paragraphs, not necessarily in chronological order, each will recall many now-forgotten incidents in the early lives of other Fultonians who were living here during this period. We think they are interesting to all. This article is being published in three installments).

On the local business scene: Fred's Dollar Store is moving into the former Wade Furniture Company building on lower Lake Street, and plans are for opening probably in late January. The building is being completely renovated.

Bill Frese, recent manager of the Good-year Store here, has taken over Puckett's DX Station in Highlands and has re-located his smile and his hustle to that location. Bill is a fine fellow, and I wish him well in his new business.

Although it had originally planned to open in early December of this year, the new Farmers Exchange Bank in South Fulton has been delayed in construction, and now hopes to open in another couple of months. It's going to be quite a layout.

I'll tell you one thing, the Twin Cities have seldom seen such a fine Santa Claus as the one we have this year. Lou Biehslich has really hustled on this job, and, what's more, he is doing it because he is enjoying it. Last Saturday he popped in and out of the stores, handing out candy and bubble gum and bringing many a shining eye to the little ones that he happened to meet. Lou has spent his life in promotion work, and loves to see things go. He is certainly due the thanks of the community for what he has done this season.

Getting a good community Santa Claus is no easy job. I know; The News undertook to organize the task back 20 years ago. We picked up one fellow, and then another, and finally thought we had hit on a good one: a reformed alcoholic who had the figure, and was jolly, and had the time. He made all the rounds, and was doing fine until one day he got off the wagon and we had to get him off the street and hurriedly de-frock him before he apophized any youngsters with his breath.

I have two stories that I intend to follow through on after Christmas; both have been in the NEWS in recent months and seemingly both can be brought to happy conclusions.

The first one deals with one Elisha Freeman, whose 100-year-old tombstone was recently discovered here at our office, and about which we had a feature story. Mrs. J. O. Lewis had informed me that this gentleman was apparently a Fulton Countian, who died in Hickman, and whose will was probated there in 1860. I'll get that full information from the courthouse in Hickman.

The other deals with "how come" Madrid Bend is where it is, and "how come" it belongs to Kentucky. Following the visit of the New York Times reporters here for that story, I wrote Jennings Kearby to dig up what he could about it. Jennings, a former resident of Crutchfield and a former state representative from this county, is now a lawyer in Louisville who also does legal work for the Corps of Engineers.

In reply to my letter, Jennings said that when he comes home for a Christmas visit with his kinfolks he will bring along several old volumes that date back to the earliest surveys of the Kentucky boundary down in these parts, plus copies of some old court records that deal with boundary settlements along the Mississippi between France, Spain and England. It seems that the boundary of the Louisiana Purchase was fixed on the basis of this earlier treaty. In other words, Madrid Bend has always been there, apparently. We shall see.

If anyone else is inquisitive about these matters, give me a phone call and I'll invite you in on the examination of the records.

A book, like grape-vine, should have good fruit among its leaves.

ROOTS OF INVOLVEMENT, by Marvin Kalb. How did the United States become bogged down in a seemingly endless Asian conflict? This authoritative book is the first to place the Vietnam war in the perspective of two hundred years of history, and it enables concerned Americans to reach a fresh understanding of our past, and present involvement in the Far East.

TALKING YOUR WAY AROUND THE WORLD, by Mario Pei. Here are lively profiles of the world's great languages, done by one of our leading philologists, which form a world guide for the principal languages of Europe (British, English, German, French, Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, Russian, Latin, Esperanto), of Africa (Swahili), of Asia (Chinese and Japanese), and of the Middle East (Arabic and Hebrew). Each language is described and delineated, with phrases of the type the tourist finds useful.

AMBUSH AT TORTURE CANYON, by Max Brand. Three times Silas Durfee, once a Texas Ranger, and Henry Vincent, the nephew and ward of the rich rancher Thomas Bunce, came to grips with the dreaded Spot Lester. In spite of the huge price on his head, the outlaw had never been captured. Bunce had hired Durfee to guard his nephew and had offered him ten thousand dollars in cash if he would kill the outlaw, but he refused to tell the ex-Ranger what motive Lester had to murder the boy.

YOUR DATING DAYS, by Paul H. Landis. Patterns of dating can and do change, but interest in boy-girl relationships is constant. In this book Dr. Landis shows how information can help unravel some problems which young people face as they begin dating or seriously considering marriage. It also contains a wealth of facts and practical insights which will increase self-understanding and a understanding of the opposite sex.

A disastrously bad marriage has left him with a seven-year-old daughter who is the light of his eyes but something of an impediment to his career as a second-story man. An arrest that almost resulted in conviction has shaken his nerve. With Sophie to look after, he dares not risk a prison sentence by practicing the only profession he knows. CREATING WITH BURLAP, by M. J. Fressard. Until recently, burlap was used principally in the manufacture of sacks and bags for the storing and transporting of grains and root vegetables, or else it was hidden from sight as a backing material for carpets and rugs. Now, at last, it has emerged and taken its rightful place among other fabrics as a pleasing, versatile cloth for use in original creations as well as a background for painting, embroidery, or tapestries. In this book you will find some of the characteristics of this exciting, fun-to-work-with fabric.

Just For Today

A COLUMN BY WIN WHITNEL

As a program, blueprint or recipe for happiness and cheerfulness in this holiday season and for the New Year, I pass along the ideas contained in this article, "Just For Today!"

Students in a course of human relations, taught by this columnist many years ago, found these suggestions interesting and helpful. I hope you will agree with them.

Too many people try to live in the past and contemplate the future with disturbing fears and tensions. In reality the only time we have is the eternal Now, this minute, this hour, and this day. Our task is to make the most of today.

I acknowledge my debt of gratitude to Sibye Partridge for this collection of ideas.

Just for today I will be happy. This assumes that what Abraham Lincoln said is true, that "most folks are about as happy as they make up their minds to be." Happiness is from within, it is not a matter of externals.

Just for today I will try to adjust myself to what is, and not try to adjust everything to my own desires. I will take my family, my business, and my luck as they come and fit myself to them.

Just for today I will take care of my body. I will exercise it, care for it, not abuse it nor neglect it, so that it will be a perfect machine for my bidding.

Just for today I will try to strengthen my mind. I will learn something useful, I will not be a mental loafer. I will read something that requires effort, thought and concentration.

Just for today I will exercise my soul in three ways; I will do somebody a good turn and not get found out. I will do at least two things that I don't want to do, as William James suggests, just for exercise.

Just for today I will be agreeable. I will look as well as I can, dress as becomingly as possible, talk low, act courteously, be liberal with praise, criticize not at all, nor find fault with anything and not try to regulate nor improve anyone.

Just for today I will try to live through this day only, not to tackle my whole life problem at once. I can do things for twelve hours that would appall me if I had to keep them up for a lifetime.

Just for today I will have a program. I will write down what I expect to do every hour. I may not follow it exactly, but I will have it. It will eliminate two pests, hurry and indecision.

Just for today I will have a quiet half-hour all by myself and relax. In this half-hour sometimes I will think of God, so as to get a little more perspective into my life.

Just for today I will be unafraid, especially I will not be afraid to be happy, to enjoy what is beautiful, to love, and to believe that those I love, love me.

As a concluding thought: A Merry Holiday Season and a Happy New Year!

DUBLIN: There is a quickened pace to Ireland's capital city, where emphasis has been on new industry and new job opportunities, and where construction of business buildings and housing have been brisk since my last visit here two years ago. And yet the serene countenance, the pleasant way of life and the thoughtful regard for the visitor remain unchanged. So all is well along the Liffey!

Ireland's population has increased, according to the recent census, reversing a trend that was generations' old. New business and new jobs have combined to keep more of Ireland's bright young men and women at home. The growing numbers of younger people have brought new pressures for social change.

Just as wage rates are lower than in the U.S., so are hotel, meal and entertainment costs, however. And Ireland remains a travel bargain for American tourists.

One thing that surprises people here in Dublin is the fact that many visitors from the U.S. seem to have the situation in North Ireland confused with that prevailing in the Republic of Ireland.

Indeed, all is peaceful here in Dublin, with none of the turmoil that has disrupted the life of Belfast in North Ireland.

I have been pleased that my visit allowed time to permit some leisurely browsing through the fine Dublin stores and shops along Grafton and O'Connell Sts., and side streets, too. The selections would please any shopper. I am intrigued by the splendid crystal, excellent pottery, fine tweeds and other wooten goods and exciting new fashions in the designer shops and boutiques. Prices remain reasonable.

"I'm so grateful for my first-aid training," exclaimed the girl. "Last night there was an accident right in front of my house. An old man was knocked down by a car and was bleeding all over. He was moaning something awful. That's when my first-aid training came in handy. I remembered to put my head between my knees to keep from fainting."

BERLIN VIGNETTE

My visit to East Berlin reminded me of the story told by a fellow passenger aboard the British European Airways plane which hurried us here from Frankfurt. He was having coffee in an East Berlin coffeehouse and struck up a conversation with a young man from East Berlin. He was very cautious in his comments but in a few minutes asked the man to meet him in the restroom. When they were alone, he asked to see the man's passport, which proved he was a West German. "I wanted to make sure you weren't an East German trying to entrap me," the young man said. And then, reassured, he went on to say: "Here we have no freedom, no liberty. Every person longs for the right to go and come when he wants, to leave or move if he desires. The government keeps us in a cage so we won't escape. It's sad, so sad." —Lenore Lee.

Marriage Might Be Longest

MANCHESTER, Ky. — Edd and Margaret Hollen have been married 82 years, seven months and 10 days.

The Bear Branch, Ky. residents of Clay County may have set a world's record for the longest marriage.

Edd, 105, and Margaret Gray, 99, were married in the Kentucky mountains on May 7, 1889.

According to the "Guinness Book of World Records," the previous record for "normal" marriages was 82 years and one day held by Frederick Burgess and Sarah Ann Gregory of London, England. She died June 2, 1965.

Another couple was married 86 years, but became husband and wife when both were five under a family arrangement.

"I think the Lord has blessed us mightily well," said Mrs. Hollen. The couple's health is relatively good, according to their 67-year-old son Carlo Hollen, with whom they live. Edd has hearing trouble.

Both have lived most of their lives in Clay County except during World War I when Edd worked in an Ohio factory. He didn't remember where.

"I'm proudest of my children," she said. Six of nine children are still alive giving them 38 grandchildren and 60 great-grandchildren.

Said Edd of his wife of 82 years, "Yes sir, she's been a good wife . . . she's been all right."

"If you serve the Lord, brother, and serve Him with all your heart, He'll lead the way for you," said Mrs. Hollen as the formula for long life and a long, happy marriage.

Notes and News From—

Haws Memorial

We at Haws wish you a joyful Christmas. Warmest wishes during the holiday season to the various churches and homegroup groups, ministers and individual volunteers who have been so faithful to us throughout the year.

Last week we had Wednesday night at the movies, a double feature headlining Gloria Swanson, Charlie Chaplin and Teddy at the Throttle. These films belong to Mr. Leonard Bailey of Clinton.

The personnel at Haws had their Christmas pot-luck in the dining room and exchanged gifts last Friday night. We not only have a competent and congenial group but superb cooks as well.

Sunday night Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Miller were hosts to a buffet at the Holiday Inn. The personnel and their husbands, the physicians and their wives were guests.

Ole Santa arrived Monday morning with his pack bearing gifts for all. Elizabeth Jobe played Christmas carols and Gigi Brock led our singing. Eggnog and cookies were served to top off our Christmas party.

A special thanks to The Nancy McConnell Circle of the First United Methodist Church for providing gifts. Also to the Town and Country Mothers Club of Hickman for the individual Santa jars they made. The club has eighteen members with Mrs. Don Livingston, president, and Mrs. Arnel Cox, vice president. The Nurses Auxiliary made and delivered Christmas cards to each patient.

At 5 p.m. Monday afternoon, the Youth Division No. 1 of South Fulton Baptist Church, under the leadership of Mrs. Greg St. John, brought Christmas cards they made and a large attractive basket of fruit to be shared.

Merry Christmas.

Lum McClellan Has "Relaxed" His Way Into Furniture Artistry

What began 15 years ago for J. C. "Lum" McClellan of Hickman as a "rest and relaxation" cure for a serious illness has evolved into what can be described only as a masterpiece of artistry: custom made, superbly designed, perfect furniture of every type.

"I'd always been good at doing things with my hands—you know, little things like cabinets and picture frames and such," the tall, University of Kentucky graduate said. "It wasn't until 1955, after the doctor told me I had to take up some hobby for relaxation, that I began actually making the furniture."

Mrs. McClellan laughingly reminded her husband of one of his first efforts, a bookcase that he had built "practically with a saw and screwdriver."

Defying his humble beginnings, though, McClellan became progressively better and added more and more tools to his collection. "A lot of the tools I had to make myself because I just couldn't buy what I wanted," he said.

Today he has a fully-equipped workshop in the basement of his home, complete with tools enough to build about anything he wants.

Walking into his home is like walking through the doors of an expensive furniture shop. Each piece of furniture—including bedroom suites, dining room table and chairs, desks, even a grandfather clock—was hand-crafted by McClellan to add beauty to the house.

The living room is furnished completely by his creations except for one chair. That chair is matched by one that McClellan did make, and is perfectly matched right down to the upholstery and the tiny designs on the legs.

Go on into the den and find a room of all "McClellan originals": sofa, Hepplewhite desk, end tables; even the lamps on those tables were made by him.

A tour of the remainder of the house reveals the same beauty of furniture of which, he said with a smile in his eyes, "my wife had a little influence in having me make."

One of the more amazing aspects of his talent is that McClellan, known simply as "the furniture man" by many local residents, never uses a blueprint or any more formal pattern than a picture or a simply-sketched design.

"I have to have a picture or something to look at. But for blueprints, I don't think I'd now how to read them if I had them!"

The advantage of this special ability to "eyeball and then do," gives him the chance to copy some magnificent antiques.

A corner china cupboard he built, for example, was copied from a magazine displaying furniture in the Metropolitan Museum.

Mrs. McClellan added that "people could just about tell Lum what they wanted and he could design it for them. For instance, a lot of people just come in and say they want this or that—usually something that needs a special design or size—and Lum is able to sit down, sketch out a rough picture, and have it for them a few months later."

Although the summer months are slow ones for his furniture work (fishing and golf seem awfully attractive on those long summer days), Mc-

Beauty and grace in a Hepplewhite desk

Clellan has a set routine for the winter days: he gets home from his job as school supervisor around 4 o'clock, works in his shop until 6, then eats and rests and returns to his work later.

It was on that schedule that he has been able to furnish not only his home but the home of his son and one of his daughters.

McClellan tells the story of a trip he made to his son's home in Oklahoma City a few years ago.

"I'd never seen all the furniture I'd made for him over the years together—I made it here and he picked it up in the summer to take it home with him. As I went through his home, I kept noticing really attractive pieces of furniture. Finally, in one room, I made the remark that he had matched the bureau very well with the bed I'd made him. He gave me a funny look, then burst out laughing as he said, 'Dad, you made all that furniture!'"

He acknowledges, however, that his Early American tastes may not please everyone. "One of my daughters prefers all modern things, so I've made very few pieces of furniture for her," McClellan admitted.

The talent McClellan displays almost seems to run in the family. It first showed up in a great-grandfather who whittled a baby rocker with his knife.

The McClellans have the rocker, which is now about 100 years old, and like to imagine the ancestor sitting patiently, whittling with a pocket knife.

The ability then seemed to skip a few generations but came out full-scale in McClellan. Now, his son enjoys working with wood and a daughter seems to have the creative ability, too, although with a little different slant. She and her husband recently converted a garage into a study and are awaiting furniture from McClellan's workshop to finish the decoration. McClellan works with only top-grade woods, usually cherry, walnut, or oak. However, one "off-breed" that worked up beautifully was mulberry. McClellan designed a bedroom suite from the wood, and as the years passed, the wood "seemed to age with beauty," in the words of the furniture man.

"It was mustard yellow when he first finished the pieces, but now it's darkened to a mellow brown with a beautiful grained look," Mrs. McClellan noted. Another piece of furniture that he claims is one of his favorites is the Hepplewhite desk that reigns with beguiling grace over the den. The desk is intricately carved and is designed so that there is not a single nail in it.

As a matter of fact, McClellan spoke with authority when

Ann Landers

— Your Problems Bring Answers —

Dear Ann Landers: I read in the papers about the young South African fellow who sexually assaulted two women nine times in rapid succession. At his trial he said he lost control of himself after eating several pieces of fruit from the marula tree. According to the defense lawyer, marulapips have been used as an aphrodisiac for centuries.

Will you tell me where marula fruit can be purchased in the United States? If a person has to send away for it, who would he write to? Also, please tell me how come Americans have not been let in on this secret? I thought we were an advanced civilization. Thank you,---Still Hoping

Dear Still: Marula pips are not available in the United States. According to my consultants on aphrodisiacs, this "passion fruit" falls into the same category as powdered reindeer horns and monkey glands. There is no scientific evidence to support the claims of sexual rejuvenation, in plain English---forget it.

Dear Ann Landers: My mother used to say, "Fools have parties and wise people enjoy them." I am beginning to realize how right she was. I've spent 30 years entertaining clods who never returned an invitation or sent a thank you note.

I was always the one who gave the going-away party or the "Welcome to Houston" party. I was the one who made social contacts for the newly divorced and the widowed. I was the nut who had a dinner so "old acquaintances" could renew their friendship and I never heard from a single one of them until the next year when they started calling to ask if I was going to give another one. I don't know how many times I've introduced interesting couples in my home and the next thing I knew they were entertaining each other and leaving us out.

Here is my problem: My husband loves to have people around. He is happiest when we are entertaining. For example, if I call him at his office and ask if he'd like to have dinner in town and go to the theatre, he always inquires, "Did you invite anyone else?" When I say to him, "No---just us..." he loses interest and says, "Let's skip it."

What should I do, Ann Landers? Please rush your advice. It's time for another party.---Chump

Dear Chump: The first thing you ought to do is examine your motives. Why do you give parties? If it's so you'll be invited back, quit, because it's not working. If, on the other hand, you entertain because your husband is happiest when people are around, I say that's a good enough reason. So, continue to be the hostess with the mostest and stop thinking of yourself as a chump.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell newlyweds not to have children unless they really want them. My husband and I have been married 16 years. We have three sons. We didn't want any of them. His parents kept bribing us and we were foolish enough to go for it.

Every argument we have is over the boys. Our marriage would be perfect if it weren't for these monsters. They have ruined our relationship. If we weren't afraid of what people would say we'd put them all up for adoption. We've discussed it many times but we don't have the nerve.

I am not completely sober as I write this letter, but so help, every word of it is true. I hope you will print it for the benefit of young people who are very much in love---as we were, once. I'd give anything to turn back the clock.---Thrice Erred

Dear Thrice: I feel sorry for you---but sorrier for your children. I hope you will consider counseling. You need it desperately. You said you weren't sober when you wrote to me. I hope you are sober when you read my advice.

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage: What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing $0.05 in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dr. Harston Resigns Post Here

Dr. Marlow Harston has resigned his post as executive director of the Western Kentucky Regional Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center here, according to James L. Shumaker, chairman of the regional mental health organization's advisory board.

Dr. Harston came to Paducah

LOVE CAME DOWN AT CHRISTMAS,

LOVE ALL LOVELY, LOVE DIVINE;

LOVE WAS BORN AT CHRISTMAS;

STAR AND ANGELS GAVE THE SIGN.

DEEP IN EVERY HUMAN HEART IS THE DESIRE TO LOVE AND BE LOVED.

AND THAT IS WHAT CHRISTMAS IS ALL ABOUT!

THE STORY IS TOLD OF A LITTLE GIRL WHO LIVED IN AN ORPHANAGE.

ONE DAY, WHEN NO ONE WAS LOOKING, SHE SLIPPED OUT OF THE HOUSE

AND WALKED ACROSS THE LAWN WHERE SHE FOUND A ROCK. LIFTING THE ROCK, SHE PLACED SOMETHING UNDER IT AND HURRIED BACK TO THE HOUSE.

ACROSS THE WAY A STRANGER, UNOBSERVED BY THE CHILD, HAD BEEN

WATCHING HER. WHEN SHE DISAPPEARED HE WENT OVER TO THE PLACE

WHERE SHE HAD BEEN AND, LIFTING THE ROCK, FOUND A SMALL PIECE

OF PAPER WHICH CARRIED THIS MESSAGE, "WHOEVER YOU ARE, I LOVE YOU."

IT IS POSSIBLE TO GIVE WITHOUT LOVE BUT ONE CANNOT LOVE WITHOUT

GIVING. SO, LOVE DID COME DOWN AT CHRISTMAS - GOD TOOK HIS GREAT

GIFT OF LOVE AND WRAPPED IT IN THE PERSON OF HIS SON - "FOR GOD

SO LOVED THE WORLD THAT HE GAVE HIS ONLY BEGOTTEN SON, THAT WHO-

SOEVER BELIEVETH IN HIM SHOULD NOT PERISH BUT HAVE EVERLASTING

LIFE." (John 3:16)

"WHOEVER YOU ARE, HE LOVES YOU!" AND THAT LOVE IS THE GREATEST

OF ALL GIFTS. IT IS OURS TO RECEIVE AND TO SHARE WITH ALL

PEOPLE. "FOR UNTO YOU IS BORN THIS DAY ... A SAVIOUR, WHICH IS

 he assured that "good furniture doesn't have nails in it. It's all put together with pegs and glue."
 Mrs. McClellan not only backed up his statement but added a testimony to his excellence when she said that "Lum is a perfectionist. Although he'd never tell you himself, each piece fits perfectly into the other with no cracks or holes — and no nails."
 Although the years have brought changes to McClellan's life, his talent seems only to have increased. And the appreciation of those who have seen his work has followed that upward trend.
 Today, the McClellans acknowledge modestly that people "from all over the area drop by" to admire their furniture. "And we always enjoy having people in to see it," Mrs. McClellan said.
 Perhaps, though, the appreciation should be on the part of people lucky enough to view such fine, exquisite furniture in the home of people who have added beauty to their own small part of the world.

Bids Seen On Fulton Fire Truck

FULTON, Ky. — The Fulton City Commission this week:

Opened bids on a new fire truck;

Approved a motion calling for a monthly report from the police department on the number of arrests made by each officer;

Heard plans for the park board to erect a gymnasium-type recreational facility at the city park;

Heard a report from Texas Gas Transmission Company on increases in wholesale natural gas rates.

In other business, Mrs. Dorothy McKnight was named tax assessor for the 1972 tax year at the established salary of $700, and approval was given to the installation of two street lights near the entrance to Haws Memorial Nursing Home.

Payments on the new high school were approved in the amounts of $51,672.70 to McAdoo Contractors, Inc., and $620.07 to Peck Associates. In addition, the commission accepted a $500 trust fund for perpetual upkeep of the grave of the late Mrs. Dola Bard, in accordance with terms of her will.

It was voted by the commission to take all bids on the new fire truck under advisement for further analysis. Jim Huff, city manager, was present at the meeting, and stated he and Fire Chief Billy Meacham would study the bids and make a recommendation to the commission at a later date.

Five companies submitted bids.

Several members of the park board appeared before the commission, as did representatives of the Urban Renewal Board, requesting an allotment of $500 with which to prepare and submit an application for federal funds to construct a neighborhood facility at the city park.

The commission voted in favor of granting the necessary $500 for initial planning.

when herds with 14,000 pounds of milk average were fed an average feed program per cow of 16,300 pounds silage, 1800 pounds of hay and 5200 pounds of grain. Compare the above with herds of 10,000 pounds milk average that were fed 13,000 pounds of silage, 1600 pounds of hay and 4400 pounds of grain. The return above feed cost per cow for the 14000 pounds of milk per cow was $583 while the return above feed cost for the 10,000 pound cows was $427. This might also be illustrated another way. It would take 26 cows milking 14,000 pounds of milk each to return $10,000 for labor and management while it would take 40 cows milking 10830 pounds of milk each to return a similar amount to labor and management.

SOYBEAN YIELDS
With most of the 1971 soybean crop harvested we have received reports of a number of high yields on local farmers. Sonny Fox at Obion has entered a soybean yield contest for the soybeans on one farm that he operates. With 143 acres of Hood and York Soybeans on the farm he had an average yield of 41.1 bushels per acre. The beans were fertilized with 200 pounds of 0-20-20 fertilizer and preemergence with the full application rate of Treflan and Lorox. The field had previously been in corn for several years.

One of the best fields of no-till soybeans I observed this year were grown by Jamie Wade on the Robert Glasgow farm between Union City and Fulton. The field produced 65 bushels of wheat per acre and after wheat harvest was planted in York Beans. An application of Paraquat and Lorox Herbicides was applied broadcast. This field was as free of grass and weeds as any soybean field I have ever observed and made a yield per acre of slightly over 41 bushels of soybeans.

One of the secrets of high soybean production on the Robert Glasgow farm is the rotation of fields from corn to pasture to soybeans.

No wonder we find lots of weeds in a lot of fields in Obion County, because we recently were informed that some fields may contain as much as one and one-half tons of weed seed per acre. Weed seed can accumulate in the soil with some common weed seed germinating after being covered with 18 inches of soil for 40 years. If 1971 was any indication we have had an increase of weed seed per acre.

The new 1972 Farmers Income Tax Guide is now available to Farmers at our office and if you would like a copy we will be glad to give you one. If you cannot visit our office to get your Farmers Tax Guide call us and we'll mail you a Farmers Tax Guide.

The Farmers Tax Guide is provided to help farmers prepare 1971 Federal Income Tax returns. Tax rules of importance to farmers are explained and examples are used to show how they apply to actual situations.

This year's edition covers the new Asset Depreciation Range System and new rules for voluntary withholding of income tax on agriculture labor, and for depositing income and social security taxes. Also included is a reminder to farmers of their possible liability for Federal Use Tax on Highway Motor Vehicles. Filled-in samples of the Federal Income Tax return, Form 1040, Schedule agent for the famous "Indian" make. His Main Street shop keeps busy with the local swain in for repairs.

Morning chore: Carrying music roll for latest 'girl of the day' crush' to Miss Mayme Burrows' studio, on grounds of Carr Institute.

Mr. Parker always looking so astonishing neat and clean with his flour covered clothes at Browder Mill.

Continued progress: Widening and deepening Harris Fork Creek by dredge crew and erecting a new bridge on Commercial Avenue.

Mr. Will Whitel has accepted the duties as head coach for Carr Institute football squad. He is former manager of the Vanderbilt "Commodores."

Seeing Miss Maude Paschall coming home from work at Weak's Store to her mother's home on Second Street, also noting a good looking young lady natively attired, homeward bound from duties at Division Office. (Could it be Miss Hor-tense Johnson?)

James W. Gordon and James Snow opened the modern Owl Drugstore on 'The Hill'. One caged owl hanging on the outside. Down the street on the opposite corner was the world's greatest department store, "The Globe" owned by J. Kelly Wood, who married the beautiful Miss Hattie Anderson.

Mr. Billy Carr about with his Setter hunting bird dogs and Miss Kate busy with her chores. Across the street lives Dr. W. W. Courley in the old original Carr home with George, Josephine, Mary, Louise, Harry and Frank with Mrs. Courley.

Mr. Reed visiting in town with his wife; the latter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. 'Doc' Farmer. Mr. Reed was injured when the Meadows Hotel caught fire. Mr. Sam McCall with his ever present poka dot bow tie with wing collar, jauntily on way to office of Fall and McCall Insurance. Mr. John F. Fall, Fulton mayor, the latter's name on brass plate of the newly purchased American LaFrance fire truck.

Rucker Bros. Grocery store on Walnut Street employed Ral-ford Knighton to deliver groceries with team of ponies, who ran away frequently when train whistle blows.

Familiar daily faces: Mr. and Mrs. George Kirkland who run a grocery store in same building occupied by the New Century Hotel on Lake Street.

The popular tonsorial parlor, run by Mr. Ed Hanneph on Lake Street with wall racks of shaving mugs, with individual names of customers on each. Dr. Nolem Hughes announces the opening of his office for the practice of osteopathy in brick building in corner of yard of Squire Adrian McDade on State Line Street across from Methodist Church.

Mr. Theodore Dreiser, N.Y. author, remarked to a friend that he felt as though should be ever come to Fulton, that he would feel well acquainted with many people, as Dr. Arthur Freeman had so vividly described many, many to him. He said that the community was most fortunate to have such individual citizens of character.

Dr. Marshal Alexander and brother, Mr. Charley, of Jordan busy with breeding their thoroughbred horses for the show ring and to 'better the breed'.

Mr. Walter Ridgeway with wife and daughter, Hazel, sitting in buggy viewing an airplane exhibition over Fulton one Sunday afternoon. The plane crashed into Walnut Street killing the horse to their buggy without injury to them.

The old 'Five Points' on Tennessee side now has become apartments. It was the former dry goods store of Mr. Will Meadows who occupied it for years.

Interest is being shown in the first Boy Scouts of America to be organized here. A troop has been formed by the first Scoutmaster, Mr. Stackhouse, who is an associate of Mr. Fred Alcott. The headquarters are located upstairs in an old tobacco warehouse at Second and Carr Streets.

Signs of Spring: Mr. George Creddie sitting in his easy chair at his coalyard office Tenn. side of West State Line Street. Mr. Creddie is of tremendous size, about 350 pounds.

Add sad note: Mr. Charley Rice lost his life by a street-car, when visiting his daughter, Miss Pearl, at Chevy Chase, Washington, D.C. Emancipation Day, August 8th being celebrated by the people who go North via I.C. RR excursion trains from Mississippi, Memphis through Fulton to Cairo and Chicago. All seem to enjoy it all while aboard, even in the summer heat.

Lions Hold Annual Tourney

The seventh annual Martin Lions Invitational Basketball Tournament will be staged in the U-T Martin Field House on December 27, 28, and 29, Paul Kelley, Tournament Director, announced today.

Host team Westview and five area high school teams including Kenton, Trenton, Dresden, Trezevant, and Union City will participate in the holiday tournament. Lexington won the 1970 event defeating Westview for the crown.

Two games will be played on Monday, December 27, and Tuesday, December 28, with the championship and consolation games being played on Wednesday, December 29. Game times each night are 7:00 and 8:30 p.m.

Tickets are $1.00 a person for each session. Children of pre-school age will be admitted free of charge. Only TSSAA passes will be honored.

"The tournament will match six fine teams," Kelley commented. "With the caliber of teams participating, every game should be a thriller."

According to James Green, president of the Martin Lions, the annual tournament is the organization's big fund-raising program of the year.

"The proceeds will be used in Lions Club projects during the next year, and participating teams will share in the gate receipts," Green stated.

ROUTE THREE Mrs. Aline Williams

The following is written about our good friends, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Dalton at Dalton's Store, "Where Friends Gather."

There is a little store at the end of this road.

We all gather there when we're tired of our load.

As we go in the door there is N.C. sweeping the floor.

There is Ruby over by the shelf cleaning out what he left.

We see them putting groceries in a sack.

Ring up change and saying come back.

On near the back there is a long bench.

Unless you talk loud and fast you haven't a chance.

You look over the chairs about the same old bunch are sitting there.

We laugh and talk and at the end of the day.

You see them leaving and going their own way.

N.C. says what a day this has been.

Ruby replies, I thought it would never end.

Then they frown with a thought of horror,

Knowing they will all be back tomorrow.

They go out and the door lock giving it a shake and farewell knock.

Look at each other with shy little grins,

And say what would we do without our friends.

May the Blessings of Christmas be with you this Season

The committee has the power to suspend, expel, or place the students on probation.

Prof. William Cherry, chairman of the committee, said that in compliance with university regulations, the committee will make no public announcement of the proceedings or the decision. He said the students will be notified of the committee's decision by certified mail.

Murray State President Harry M. Sparks said that the Nov. 6 demonstration was a protest of the rejection by the University Student Council and Board of Regents of the Black Student Union's request for $2,000 from the school for its student activities.

The four students involved in the hearing were among more than a dozen BSU members who entered the luncheon hall

Four Jobs Eliminated

The jobs of three men at the Reidland District-Highway Department office will be affected by the new Democratic state administration's cutback in jobs in the public information and highway departments.

The position of equipment inspector in the highway department has been abolished by the new administration, and three men now are employed at the Reidland office in that position. They are Gerald Sulter of Murray, Joe House of Clinton, and J. L. Perry of Marion. All the men have been with the office less than four years, according to Highway Engineer Jack Gray.

A fourth opening for equipment inspector at the office is vacant, Gray said. The job cuts were announced

Youths Held In Fulton Auto Theft

FULTON, Ky. — Three juveniles from the Paducah area are being held by authorities in Okolona, Miss., in connection with the theft of an automobile in Fulton and illegal entry into an Okolona service station.

Fulton Police Chief Richard Myatt said the three have been identified as escapees from the Louisville Rehabilitation Center. Myatt said the youths stole a car in Paducah, drove it here and abandoned it at Fulton Plaza Motel. He said they then took a car belonging to Ralph Dale Hardy of Fulton, which was parked in front of Haws Nursing Home. The three will be returned to Paducah by juvenile officer Howard Moss, according to Myatt.

OIL FLOWS IN OKLAHOMA

Mrs. Irvine Honored By Fulton Club

FULTON, Ky. — The Fulton Jaycettes held their annual Christmas dinner at the home of Mrs. Barry Bondurant Dec. 14, with 11 members and two guests, Mrs. Steve Fryrear and Mrs. Tommy Searce present.

After a pot-luck dinner, the Jaycettes pledged $150 to the Jaycees Christmas Basket project.

The climax of the evening came when Mrs. Don Irvine was presented the "Jaycette of the Year" award. She was presented a gift by the president, Mrs. Barry Bondurant. This award is presented to the member of the club who has done an outstanding job in the club for the past year.

O, LITTLE TOWN—

from year to year. Once the burrows ran away and it took eight men several hours, running in different directions up and down the highway, to retrieve them. Several years ago, on Christmas Eve the ewe had a baby lamb. The new baby was welcomed by thousands, since a television crew from Louisville was there, taping a show.

It takes 400 man-hours to put the nativity together and continue it for three days. Members of Bethlehem's Baptist, Methodist and Christian churches donate their time to these tasks. The stable is a rustic building with plywood walls, rough pole rafters and a tarpaulin roof. Stalls are made of poles lashed together, the front left open. Floodlights are directed tightly on the scene and a hi-fi system plays recorded carols and scripture readings by church members. Bad weather is no deterrent. The actors have been on stage in rain, snow and howling winds. Three shifts are necessary every evening, with 12 people in each scene.

The costumes of Mary, Joseph, the wise men, four shepherds and three angels were carefully researched and were handmade in various materials, from velvet to burlap. Actors dress at a church across the highway. Comes time for a new shift, all traffic is halted to get the entourage to the stable. The animals are left at the scene during the three-day presentation.

Within view of the nativity scene is the post office where thousands of Yuletide greetings are mailed each year. People all over the United States send their Christmas cards to be postmarked with the word "Bethlehem" and a depiction of the three wise men following a star.
