GOVERNMENT MAY TAKE OVER U.S. STEEL

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

This is the kind of weather that makes a person feel like living.

In our opinion it is the prettiest season of the year and the most desirable.

T. C. Collie now lives on North 8th street.

Ed. Settle is redecorating his home.

Ha Douglas painted the front of his store and it looks good. Cream and green.

Chamber of Commerce plans a banquet tonight in the new hotel. We want to go to that and get a good look at the new dining room.

The place across the street from Max Churchill's is scraped off clean as a dime and the big house is now vacated. Rumor goes that it will be torn down and a super service station will be built on the location.

Mrs. L. C. Ross put a new porch on her house. Did have three steps and now she has a whole porch.

Today is part of Holy Week. It also is the last day of National Laugh Week and part of Cancer Control Month.

This date last year: Yugoslavia asked America, Britain and France for arms aid against possible Russian aggression.

This date in history: Ponce de Leon landed in Florida, searching for fountain of youth in 1513. Louisiana was admitted to the union as the 18th state in 1812. And Germany invaded Norway and Denmark in 1940.

Baxter Billrey in this morning bragging on Bax, his boy.

We thought the picture being printed on today's front page was an odd one at first, but after thinking about it, the hams are the most important part of a hog, and should be pictured.

Thanks to the many people who have come in since our open house. We extend an invitation to the public to come in and look around anytime they wish.

The tulips are in full bloom at the Murray Manufacturing Company.

Mrs. Cleo Farmer has some tulips in bloom too.

Frank Costello Is Sentenced To 18 Months And Fined

By United Press
The first prison sentence since 1915 has been meted out to New York gambler Frank Costello.

Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan sentenced Costello today to serve 18 months and pay a five-thousand dollar fine for contempt of the United States Senate.

Moreover, the judge refused to continue Costello's bail, pending appeal and ordered him to surrender and go to jail at 4 p.m. today.

Costello remarked, after the legal procedure ended: "I think I'll go out and get myself a big meal."

He was convicted by a federal court jury last Friday on 10 counts of contempt for staging a walkout on the Senate crime investigating committee more than one year ago.

Costello had previously been convicted in 1915 for illegal possession of a gun.

Spring Weather And Political Race Bring Out Illinois Votes

By United Press
Spring weather and a hot political race are bringing out the voters in the Illinois primaries today.

By the time the polls close at 6 p.m. EST tonight, some two million persons are expected to have picked their candidates for the Republican and Democratic presidential nominations.

Main interest appears to center on the Democratic race—where supporters of Governor Adlai Stevenson are making a write-in bid against Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Stevenson, whose name appears on the ballot as candidate for governor, says that's the only post he's interested in. But his supporters think he may start looking toward the white house—if he gets a big write-in vote today.

On the Republican ballot the focus is also on a write-in campaign—being conducted by supporters of General Dwight Eisenhower. The GOP candidates' official on the ballot are Senator Robert Taft of Ohio and Hargis Stassen. Taft predicts he'll make a "clean sweep" of the Illinois popularity contest.

Backers of Senator Taft and General Eisenhower also are at work in New Jersey today—lining up support for the presidential primary in that state one week from today. Stassen is stumping New Jersey in person.

Senator Kefauver is the only candidate on the New Jersey Democratic ballot. But he may get some competition from a write-in—Republican Governor Alfred Driscoll has issued a ruling that will permit voters to write in the name of General Eisenhower on the Democratic presidential ballot.

Also on the Democratic scene, four prominent Negro Democrats in Kentucky will fly to Washington today to urge Vice President Alben Barkley to enter the race for the presidential nomination. A spokesman for the group says the visitors will hand the "Veep" a statement asking him to toss his hat into the ring.

Food leaders of Homemakers Clubs attended a training meeting on "Meats" Friday, April 4 in the home of Mrs. Pearl Jones.

Under the direction of Mrs. Pearl J. Haak, foods specialist of the University of Kentucky, the leaders studied the importance of meat in the daily diet, and the various cuts of meats and the method of cooking each kind. The leaders will then return to their respective Homemakers Clubs to teach the lesson back to their members.

The lesson on meats completed a series of six foods lessons studied by members of Homemakers Clubs during the year. The subjects were "Meal Planning," "Butter Meats," "Table Service," "Social Hour" and "Using Canned Vegetables." Ten clubs had 100 percent attendance of leaders for the entire year training meetings.

They are Dexter, East Hazel, East Side, Harris Grove, Kirksey, Lynn Grove, North Murray, Paris Road, Penny and South Murray Clubs.

Leaders present Friday were messmates: Newman Ernestberger, S. R. Curd, Glen Kelo, William Adams, G. B. Jones, Herman Bar, Bill Collins, Eugene Nance, Eugene Jones, Vernon Butterworth, Rainey Lovins, C. B. Crawford, Tom Outland, Elmer Collins, Dave Barker, Everett Norworthy, Ray, Clayburn McCullison, J. D. Rogers, Bess Cochran, Joe Burkhart, Darwin Roberts, Loris Fisk, Ernest Jones, Henry Hargis, Willie Vinson, Henry Dumas and Miss Rachel Rowland, Home Demonstration Agent.

Former Countain Will Sing Over Television

Goebel Wilson, formerly of Callova county, will sing over a coast-to-coast television hookup on Sunday April 13 at 6:00 p.m. He will appear in this over WSM-TV on the "U. S. Royal Show-Case."

He will be one of a thirty-two voice male chorus, and will be in the back row in the center. The chorus will render two selections: "All In The April Evening" and "The Heavens are Telling."

Wilson married the former Miss Mary Erwin of this county.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lamb, Route one, Murray, boy, April 3.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Brandon, 502 Elm, Murray, girl, April 3.

James Outland's Champions

James Outland surveys the three sets of hams on his champion pen of three entry in the recent 4-H, FFA show and sale.

The hogs brought 27¢ at the sale. In addition to the above three hogs James had two more in the show and sale. The five hogs brought a total of $465.10, making him the big money winner of the sale.

James had the champion pen of three and won second in the single entry class. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmus Outland of Murray route five and is a member of the Murray Training School Chapter of the Future Farmers of America.

Rev. Paul T. Lyles Will Preach Easter Service At The Lake

Again, everyone is invited to take part in the Third Annual Easter Sunrise Service to be held in Kentucky Lake State Park at 8 a.m. Easter Sunday morning April 13, 1952. The service is under the sponsorship of the Easter's Ferry Bridge Area Association.

Banquet Is Planned Here

An appreciation banquet will be held tonight in the new Kentucky Hotel by the Murray Chamber of Commerce in honor of new business which will begin in the town.

The banquet will begin at 7:00 p.m. and will be held in the dining room of the half-million dollar hotel that was recently opened in Kentucky Lake State Park. Members of the Chamber of Commerce have a limited number of tickets to the event. A program has been arranged with Mayor George Hart giving the welcome address to the guests.

Leonard Vaughn's Guests Of Paxton's

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Vaughn were the guests of W. F. Paxton for dinner Sunday at the Paduch Country Club.

Mr. Vaughn served on the executive committee of the Four Rivers Council of the Boy Scouts of America. The committee was selecting a successor to Roy C. Mophead who retires this year after thirty years of Boy Scout work.

His Crime Didn't Pay

COLUMBUS GROVE, Ohio, (UP)—A young man admitted to police that crime doesn't pay when questioned about the theft of a $2 battery from a car sales lot. He revealed that leaking battery acid had ruined his new overalls. He also was fined $25 and costs.

Wildcat Strikes Break Out In Premature Steel Walkout

By United Press
A last-ditch campaign is underway to head off a steel strike at midnight.

Wage stabilization board chairman Nathan Feinsinger says he still has some hope of averting the strike. But industry and union spokesmen don't seem to share that view.

In Washington, President Truman is reported ready to sign orders for seizure of the steel industry of the strike by the CIO.

Former sources say the CIO would act under what's called "inherent" constitutional powers authorizing him to protect the national health and safety. As another precautionary measure, the government also has clamped a freeze on steel for civilian production, to assure that whatever steel is available goes to defense production.

Steel Company spokesmen have said they will fight any government move to seize the industry.

Feinsinger met in New York this morning with spokesmen for the big steel companies. He said in a joint bargaining session that agreement in sight and with both sides pinning the responsibility for any strike on the other. CIO President Philip Murray said a strike "seems inevitable."

There is no indication of what Feinsinger or other government officials may be planning to prevent the strike. But Feinsinger says he still is "confident the parties can settle if they want to—with or without my help."

The steel dispute revolves around the 35-cent package proposed by the wage board, accepted by the union and rejected by the steel industry, which has offered 16 cents. Steel men have demanded price increases to compensate for the wage boost, but so far government price officials have refused to grant the requested raise.

Price negotiations have been held in Washington, but there is no indication of agreement on that issue.

Preparing for a strike, steel plants have begun banking furnaces and by last night the growing shutdown had resulted in some 40-thousand layoffs. It's expected that by midnight most of the 500-thousand steelworkers involved in the strike threat will have been production shutdown.

Some steel workers can't wait until the strike deadline. In Detroit, more than 1600 workers have refused to work. And picket lines are out at the Crucible Steel Company at Midland, Pennsylvania, affecting some 7500 workers. Union members have also jammed the gate in Lone Star, Texas, idling 1200 workers.

The big work stoppages today spring from plant shutdowns. At most 100,000 workers, about one-sixth of the total union membership, have been laid off by the steel companies in preparation for the scheduled walkout.

Frankfort May Go On Daylight Saving Time

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UP)—Frankfort, Kentucky, will go on Daylight savings time at midnight April 28th unless the Frankfort city council repeals an ordinance passed last September.

The ordinance states Frankfort will observe daylight time from the last Saturday in April to the last Saturday in September.

The same ordinance will be effective until June 19th when a new state law prohibiting fast time becomes effective.

On June 19th the city must observe daylight savings time "officially" or return to Central Standard time.

Another Kentucky City, Lexington, is thinking about observing Daylight time despite the new state law.

Lexington residents have voted in favor of fast time 6,084 to 1,212. The tabulation has been compiled by the city's chamber of commerce.

Inquiring Reporter

QUESTION: What single improvement in Murray do you think would help the town the most?

ANSWERS: Edwin Stokes: Widen the streets. John Dick: Additional recreational facilities for the teenagers. Clayton Pritchard: To have a public fair ground with bleachers, such as the one in Mayfield.

Burke Waldrop: I think a "good" clothing factory would help the city of Murray as much as anything I can think of. The streets are improved. Mrs. Owen Jones: The streets are improved. Mrs. George E. Overberg: A swimming pool in the city park.

Indifference The Obstacle

The people of Murray and Calloway County have enjoyed a series of revivals during the past month, in which many persons have been shown the difference that Christianity will make in their lives.

In the revival now in progress at the First Baptist Church, Dr. W. Fred Kendall of Jackson, Tennessee, is bringing an excellent message at each service. Dr. Kendall is endowed with a brilliant mind and an excellent speaking voice which makes him particularly suited for the work in which he is engaged.

Dr. Kendall presents the cause for Christianity in a forceful manner, and rips the shine and attraction from licentiousness in a way that awakens even the most stubborn.

We have picked out one theme from his sermons during the past week that seems to overshadow everything else, and that is the indifference of people to Christianity. It is the indifference of people to Christianity that makes the greatest obstacle to the work of the Christian people to make people aware of their precarious condition.

This conclusion should have a sobering effect, come as it may, because complacency is a characteristic of the human race, particularly the American people. People are prone to let things run their course until they themselves are affected, then they start to do something about it.

The only thing bad about complacency in regard to Christianity is the fact that a person may wait until it is too late before he is awakened to the stark realization of his position.

Anyone with any doubt as to how he stands with his Maker would do well to inquire as to what he can do about it without any further delay.

De Palma Raced When Cars Did New York Giants May Have Well To Make Thirty Mph

The man with the fullest memory book in American automobile racing history is the man who just after the century turned was called "That's Ralph De Palma."

That's Ralph De Palma, who hung up a record that may never be matched during the 27 years he lived in the United States and Europe. De Palma retired from actual racing in 1934 and is now an automotive consultant for a petroleum company, with offices in Los Angeles.

But his heart still beats harder when the motors roar loud than now. De Palma is busy lining up one phase of the 1952 economy run, in which 25 cars will drive from Los Angeles to Sun Valley to see which can get the most gallons per mile.

It was while taking a preview drive over part of the 14-hundred-mile course to be used by the economy run cars on April 1, 1952, that De Palma got thinking back to the greatest moments in his career.

De Palma didn't take his eyes off the snow-banked highway near Sun Valley as he reminisced. He told how he'd come to America from Northern Italy in 1892 as a boy of nine.

De Palma went to high school in Brooklyn, where he was a star mile runner. Among his opponents were two men who later gained their fame as coaches—Lawson Robertson and Harry Hillman.

From spikes, De Palma shifted to bicycles. It was just 50 years ago that Ralph established a flatboard title in a 12-hour race at Rochester, New York. It was only one of his many bike honors.

But that wasn't his last. So Ralph joined the motorcycle patrol that helped out with the Vanderbilt Cup road races. De Palma's sponsor, and one of his closest friends, was Fred E. Moskowitz, who was later president of an automobile company.

Says De Palma: "I've said I had the competitive spirit. I think I've proven he was right."

On motorcycles, the speed merchant won national honors in 1903, 1904, and 1905. Then came cars.

The way De Palma talks, while driving a 160-horsepower 1952 model car down a paved highway at 100 miles an hour, there's nothing to compare with the thrills he had then of making 60 in a 40-horsepower horriest car.

De Palma's first racer was an old Allen-Knight car. But he had trouble in his first race. Ralph wasn't sure how to shift, get the sector in reverse, and smashed backwards into other racers waiting to start.

In a later practice spin one of his old-fashioned rag tires blew out while he was speeding at all around 30 miles an hour on the road near Valhalla, New York. He hit a concrete culvert and wrecked the car.

It was this accident that got De Palma into a professional feud with Barney Oldfield. It lasted until first Oldfield and then De Palma retired.

The cars of the car had put on a fancy speedometer, registering up to 120 MPH. De Palma says.

Heavyweight Calley Wallace of Sandy McPherson of Tulsa in a scheduled 10-round bout at Boston on April 21st. The bout replaces a 10-round bout between Fred Fubus of Chicago and Johnny Williams of Montgomery, Ala., which has been called off.

The Illinois athletic commission has ordered boxing manager 1527 to appear April 21st to answer charges that he also works as a matchmaker. The commission says it plans to subpoena records of the International Boxing Club to determine whether Kline has any connection with the New York match-making organization.

The national AAU boxing championship is being held at the second day at Boston today with another big program of bouts scheduled for the evening. The bouts are: Fred Fubus of Chicago vs. Johnny Williams of Montgomery, Ala.; and Barney Oldfield vs. Ralph De Palma.

The Philadelphia Eagles have signed a defensive end and a football league season. The end is Schwan, a two-inch Malcom is 225-pound Charles Robinson of Moraga State. Robinson was signed as a free agent after being placed on the inactive list by the Green Bay Packers because of injuries.

The Cleveland Browns of the National Football League have signed tackle Bud Cain for the 1952 season. The 260-pound Cain played college ball at Kentucky. He was named the nation's outstanding lineman in 1950 by the football press.

This was ridiculous because it wouldn't even go over 60 if "some" one pushed it over the cliffs of Dover.

The shock of the crash pushed the needle all the way to 120. So it's owner promptly advertised that his machine could do two miles a minute—as the advertisements said more confident. Then, Monte Irvin—leader of the runs-batted-in department last year—slid into third base during an exhibition game. The left fielder was taken to the hospital with a double break in his right ankle. When Monte left, it may be that so did the 1952 pennant for the Giants.

Manager Leo Durocher knew even before spring training started. Leo knew his eight starters were solid—it was the bench he worried about. Now, with Irvin solid, and maybe longer, Durocher must turn to that weak reserve strength.

"We'll just have to feel our way along," Durocher told Milt Richmond, United Press Correspondent. "I can't expect any help from Irvin. We'll just have to keep combination pops up."

Durocher's first move was to switch third baseman Bobby Thoen to left field and put Hank Durocher back on the hot corner. Durocher is hoping Hank will regain his 1950 touch when he's set a major league record for third basemen by starting 43 double plays. Hank slumped off last season but Durocher is confident he'll snap back. If Hank doesn't, Durocher may have to take Willie Lockman off first base and return him to the outfield, or go in left with weak hitting but good fielding Chuck Diering.

Fighting Hank to fill the big shoes of Logan, on first, 1950, Dave Williams on second, captain Al Dark at short and Thompson on third.

The outfield will be in for some shuffling come May 18. That's the date centerfielder Willie Mays will have to report for induction. Until then, Durocher will go with Don Thompson in left, Mays in center, and Don Mueller in right. After Mays reports, the chances are Durocher will send Bob Thompson to center, Lockman to left and recall a first baseman from the minors.

Behind the plate, the Giants have Wes Westrum, a weak hitter but a steady receiver. Westrum has a strong arm and hits a long ball occasionally. The Giants have Sol Yvares and Ray Noble to spell Westrum.

The Giants go off to a slow spring training start, but, according to Durocher, it's just what he wanted.

Says Durocher—"what's the sense burning ourselves out too early? We left a lot of games in Texas and Arizona last season, and I don't want to lose it this year."

Durocher's biggest job isn't putting nine men on the field. It is to get his team "up"—to convince the Giants that they can win even without Monte Irvin. The immediate reaction after the accident.

Effort Made To End Strike Prevent More

Federal officials are trying to end one nationwide strike and to prevent two others.

Mediator Jacob Mandelbaum says he will begin talks Monday with representatives of Western Union, strikes-bound by a walkout of the AP of L Commercial Telegraphers Union. Mandelbaum says the plans to meet with the company in New York for three or four days, and then talk with union officials in Washington.

The telegraph strike has cut wire service everywhere in the country but metropolitan New York, where represented by an independent union. Another communications walkout may tie up telephone service at 8 a.m. Monday. Wage negotiations have bogged down and President Joseph Beirne of the CIO communications workers of America predicts that the strike will come off as scheduled.

However, federal mediators making a last ditch effort to end off a strike will hold joint sessions.

About 2000 To Be Here For H.S. Day

Murray State will be host to approximately 2000 high school students from about 100 schools in the area April 11 on the annual "Warrior" Public Relations Director, announced this week. A new feature of the senior day this year will be the "Career Opportunity Conferences" in which members of various departments will meet with the seniors to discuss the field that the student is interested in.

Each department will hold three conferences so that every senior will have an opportunity to attend career conferences in three different departments.

General Discussion Planned: Students who are undecided as to a field of interest will meet in the reading room of the Library at 1:00 o'clock, where a general discussion will be held on the various opportunities for college trained men and women.

The day's program will begin at 9:30 a.m. with registration in the foyer of the Auditorium. The high school seniors, principals, sponsors, and other visitors will receive name tags, maps of the campus, and instructions.

GOP Go Into Three More States For Delegates

By United Press
Eisenhower and Senator Robert Taft will mix it for three rounds today in the windup of a hectic week in the political arena.

The Senator from Ohio still is groggy from the upset decision he received at the hands of Iowa convention delegates yesterday, when only eight out of 20 elected cast their lot with him. Eisenhower did not commit himself.

However, Republican leaders in Idaho predict Taft will fare better today, by taking all 14 of its delegates. So far Eisenhower backers have not commented on the possible outcome of the Idaho race.

The two other states are Michigan, with a big prize of 16 delegates, and Kansas, where four will be chosen at a district convention in Great Bend, Michigan. GOP delegates are expected to be uninstructed. But both Eisenhower and Taft force claim their prospects are good for the election of friendly delegates.

And here is a brief rundown of other campaign news: Senator Estes Kefauver, a Democratic aspirant for nomination, says he believes in fair employment

Convicted Killer Is Back In Custody

LONDON, April 7 (UP)—Convicted killer Claude Beach is back in jail at London, Kentucky today, county jail March 28th, drove up to the jail last night in a cab, "I made a mistake by running away," he said.

The triggerman in the Harlan County shooting of Avery Hensley, to tell officers where he had been since his escape. He would say only that "I've been around."

Jaeger Harrison Mullins, says Beach "won't get away again," said Taft force claim their prospects are good for the election of friendly delegates.

Beach is serving a life term for the Hensley slaying. Mullins, Middleton and his brother, Logan, still are under indictment of a charge of plotting to pay Beach $3,000 for

CARGO PLANE CRASHES, EXPLODES IN NEW YORK

CHAPTER TWENTY
"LAST her," Henri exploded as the door closed behind Miss Julie. "She certainly can put her foot in it. Making a fool of me about those rats and then—my fellow welcome in my house."

Re-entering the parlor, Henri and Heloise asked politely and tactfully withdrew from the conversation abovestairs.

"Did Leonie know that boy was coming here tonight?" Henri demanded natty.

"If she did, she didn't say anything to me. How is that rat bite?"

"Never mind the rat bite. Leonie has taken advantage of me. She should have asked permission at least."

"He is a pretty fellow," Heloise said.

"Henri snorted. 'I suppose foolish eyes all over the city have been cast for him,' he said, hopelessly."

"Maybe so. He looks handsome enough to pick and choose."

"I wish Cousin Julie hadn't been so half-fellow-well-met with him."

"Oh, you know Cousin Julie."

"The idea of her keeping up a friendship with that Maynard Calver? Henri said. 'It's a disgrace for the widow of a Confederate veteran. No doubt this boy is as much of a peculiarity as his uncle, with him soon. What do you think, Sister?'"

"I don't see anything peculiar about him."

"How can you tell?" Henri demanded.

"Why did you ask me, then?" Henri left the field with what-eve dignity he could assume. "Women," he growled, "can never be consistent."

"Well, I got off safe," Lincoln said. "I was afraid your uncle might still be mad at me."

Leonie laughed shortly. "Don't worry about that," she said. "He was mortified, though, when Cousin Julie told about his rat bite. 'Gosh, everybody has rats,' Lincoln said. 'What happened?'"

"Uncle was helping to take a rat out of a trap and it nipped him," Lincoln said. "What happened?"

"I hope it didn't draw blood," he said.

"No, but he thought it did. He

Murray Rose And Garden Club Hosts To Session Of Garden Club Of Kentucky

Cut courtesy Corbin Daily Tribune
Mrs. Robert A. Blair

The Sixty Annual Session of the Garden Club of Kentucky, Inc., was held last week at the Murray Woman's Club House with the Murray, Rose and Garden Club as hosts.

Mrs. Edgar M. Young of Providence, the regional director, presided over the entire session. Mrs. J. C. Winter, local director, presiding "My Old Kentucky Home" and "America, The Beautiful."

Mrs. E. B. Ferguson from the Paducah Garden Clubs said the invocation.

Mrs. Myrtle Wall, president of the Murray Woman's Club, gave the welcome address, and Mrs. Shell Smith of Princeton, the response.

Mrs. Young graciously presented state officers and distinguished guests, among whom were Mrs. Robert A. Blair, Corbin, president of the Garden Club of Kentucky, and Mrs. Jack Gover, also from Corbin, state chairman of Flower Show Schools.

Brief reports of club presidents and state chairmen were both interesting and beneficial.

The Madisonville Garden Clubs, Cardinal, Green Leaf and Highland, jointly extended a cordial invitation to the Abudon Region to meet with them in 1952 and asked that April 8 be considered tentative date.

Luncheon was served in the Club House dining room. Mrs. Ed Hue, well-known Murray florist, combed and flower arrangement member of the Rose and Garden Club and the Garden Department of the Murray Woman's Club, had planned her excellent artistic to make the dining room festive and colorful.

Mrs. E. C. Parker asked the blessing. Mrs. G. B. Scott introduced the State President, Mrs. Robert A. Blair, who spoke mainly on the working setup of the Council of State Garden Clubs which numbers 42 State Federations, 7500 Garden Clubs, and approximately 300,000 members. She said, "Kentucky has a lot to be proud of."

Some of the projects she hopes to pursue during her administration are: Roadside Parks in the Highways, Development Program with more parks and more picnic tables; the Conservation Program, organization of more clubs with special emphasis on Junior Clubs; a closer understanding of the relation between National, Regional and State Organizations; Embellishment, what the individual can get and give as a result of membership in a garden club.

She stated her desire to carry out the program of the National President and the policies of the preceding ones in carrying on the Garden Club of Kentucky so that the Commonwealth of Kentucky may continue to be known as a state of beautiful gardens, landscaped horizons, historical shrines, and beyond all a friendly people who know no bounds to their genuine southern hospitality.

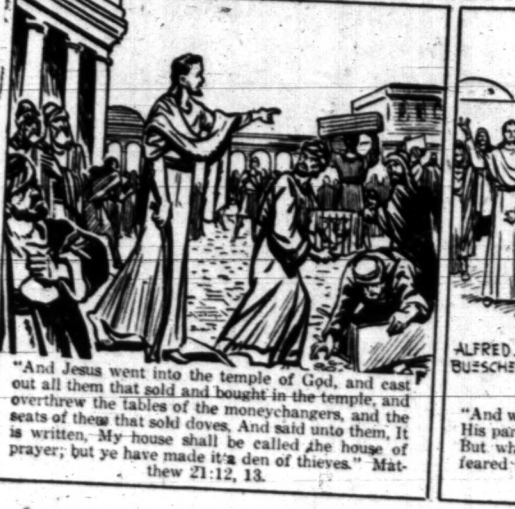

She expressed a very personal interest in this area since her husband was successful in the contest for naming the State Hotel Kentucky recently. She said, "I have a very definite interest in Kentucky and I will most certainly be present with Mr. Blair for the official opening on April 19."

Immediately after the luncheon the session reconvened in the auditorium and the Murray State College.

The panel will be composed of Dr. A. H. Titworth, Dr. J. A. Outland and Dr. Ora Mason.

In charge of the program arrangement is the social studies group composed of Mrs. R. W. Turner, chairman, Miss Lotte Suter, Miss Mattie Trousdale and Dr. Mason.

Period Furniture Shown In The Room Settings At Show

By United Press
Modern and traditional furniture are running even-stein in popularity with the nation's interior decorators.

These are just a few of many room settings with period furniture as modern in the "decoration 1952" displayed at the American Institute of Decorators' 21st annual conference in New York.

One of the most startling living rooms is built against a background of white walls and a white marble floor. The furniture, by Widdicomb, is in a new medium brown-tone called "Sienna" and the upholstery is of the low-slung bench and couch is of solid color fabric, ranging from bright yellow to dull gold.

If you go along with the general trend, you'll use more white, and the various shades of brown, gold and orange. You'll also use more furniture made of a combination of wrought iron and wood.

New for window decoration are draperies made by weaving plastic strips and reed into geometric patterns. They're made by a New York concern which also makes all-plastic drapery material woven into a solid color or floral pattern.

Designer Bertha Schaeffer of New York has come up with a table combination especially suitable for the small home and the woman who does a lot of entertaining. A square table, with a top only 24 by 17 and one-half inches, conceals enough table surface to take care of the average buffet party. Small tables, with drop leaves, fold into slots under the square table. The round tables, which are four of them, measure 14 inches across when open.
