Kentucky Windage

(By P. W.)

Monday morning I had a phone call from Mrs. Mildred Mayhall on Route 5, and she asked for an answer to a question that was bothering her greatly, as it will you, when you hear it.

It seems that the Mayhalls were returning to their home in the direction of Dukedom early Saturday evening when they happened on the scene of an accident out by the One-And-All Club. There was a crushed car, lights still burning, upside down in the ditch, and someone inside, obviously gravely hurt.

"It was awful", Mrs. Mayhall related. "A crowd quickly gathered around the vehicle, an ambulance was called, and the crowd just stood there, afraid to turn the vehicle upright and try to get out whoever was inside. Afraid because if, in their desire to help, they would unfortunately cause more injury, any or all of them might be sued later in court. So all of them just stood there silently, not knowing who was inside, not knowing how bad were the injuries, not knowing anything but concern over a possible lawsuit should they try to help, and do the wrong thing. It was dreadful."

"Can't you give someone some kind of an opinion as to what to do in a case like this?", Mrs. Mayhall asked. "There were more than twenty men there. They could have turned the car right side up and tried to get out whoever was in there, but they were afraid they might be sued."

I am sure that every reader of this column feels just the way Mrs. Mayhall did, yet, with a little further thought, I wonder who would have acted any differently had they been in the crowd that night.

In this day and time, what with all of the courts over everyone's head, we do not find as many Good Samaritans anymore as we used to. Not that they don't want to be — goodness knows — but they're afraid.

I asked County Attorney Joe Johnson about the matter later that day, and he agreed that even a Good Samaritan, these days, has cause for concern over his actions sometimes. "However", commented Joe, "I can't believe that any jury around here would find any Good Samaritan guilty of misdeed if he or she were trying to help, when it was evident that it was an emergency situation" ... adding, however, that he could not be officially quoted on the matter.

As tragic matters turned out, the two men in the vehicle were dead when the wrecker managed to right the vehicle and Fulton police ambulance attendants could get them out. They may have been killed almost instantly, although no one in the crowd knew that. Nor did they know how many were inside until the vehicle was righted.

Win Whitnel was in the office Tuesday and since he has had many years experience with ambulance calls, I asked him his opinion on the matter.

"When we were in the Funeral Home business and operated an ambulance, we always carried insurance to cover matter such as this", Win answered, adding that there were times when he was called to the scene of an accident that he had to actually ask people in the crowd to help him extricate someone to get them on a stretcher.

"People generally stood away from the scene", Win told me, "but if I asked them — any of them — to give me a hand, they would quickly come and help all they could."

I am going to send a clipping of this col-

A Matter of Conscience

Last week we received a long distance call from Washington, D. C. from an organization calling itself the Family Service Agency. They wanted to know the circulation of our newspapers, which we gave them.

They wanted to know if we would take classified advertising with a cashier's check attached. I told them we would under certain circumstances according to the content and credibility of the advertising.

County Libraries Get $11,500 State Grant

Grants totaling $163,500 for library construction projects, announced this week by Governor Wendell Ford, will include $11,500 for the Fulton County library system.

Fulton is one of eleven counties slated to get extra funds this year.

The grants are in addition to the $226,000 spent yearly for library construction under another program started in 1968.

Gov. Wendell Ford said Tuesday the 11 new counties and amount of annual grants are: Anderson $10,000, Bell $28,000, Fulton $11,500, Harlan $14,000, Jessamine $14,500, Logan $10,000, Muhlenberg $15,000, Oldham $11,000 and Scott $13,000.

The program draws on 62 per cent state money and 38 per cent local funds except in Appalachian counties where the state provides 60 per cent of the total.

Local libraries borrow enough to build and equip the building. Then the state pays off either 62 or 80 per cent of the mortgage over a 20-year period.

The grants are given on the

Two Are Killed In Saturday Accident On Dukedom Highway

A one-car accident on the Dukedom highway near the One And All Club last Saturday evening claimed the lives of a Fulton city policeman and his brother-in-law.

William Clay Merrell, a resident of Crutchfield Route 1, and Ronald Killebrew, Hickman, were pronounced dead at the scene by Hickman County Coroner Bob Brown. They were the only occupants of a Volkswagen station wagon, which was crushed in the accident.

According to police reports, Merrell was driving the vehicle east and apparently lost control. The car veered off to the right side of the highway, back on the highway, flipped over on its top and skidded into an embankment on the left side of the road.

Merrell, who had completed one year of service as a Fulton City patrolman on April 1, was born in Hart, Michigan on July 30, 1945, but had lived most of his life in this area.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Marie Johnson Merrell; two daughters, Angela Marie age four and Tina Hope age five months his mother, Mrs. Delma Merrell, Fulton; his father, Woodrow Merrell, Fulton; two sisters, Mrs. Ora Lee Legins, Fulton and Mrs. Martha Killebrew, Hickman; a brother, Jerry Merrell, Fulton; three half-sisters. Services were held at 2 p.m. Monday, April 10, at the Hornbeak Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Charles Jobe and the Rev. James Best officiating. Interment was in Fairview cemetery.

Members of the Fulton City Police Department served as active pallbearers. Honorary pallbearers were members of the Fulton Fire Department.

Killebrew attended Fulton County High School and was employed as a deck hand on a barge. He leaves his wife, Martha Merrell Killebrew; a son, Ronald Wayne, age six months; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Killebrew, Hickman; five brothers, Joe Thomas Killebrew, Dresden, Gary Lynn, Terry Kent, Billy Marvin and Donald Glynn Killebrew, all of Hickman; two sisters, Kathryn Jones and Judy Reasons, both of Hickman; his grandfather, Joe Johnson, Hickman.

Services were held at 1 p.m. Tuesday, April 11, at the West Hickman Baptist Church with the Rev. J.T. Neely officiating. Interment was in the Hickman City cemetery with Chaney Funeral Home in charge of the arrangements.

Wreck Fatal To One Man

Six Others Hurt

North Of U.C.

One man was fatally injured, two were critically hurt and four others suffered lesser injuries in a three-vehicle collision on the Fulton highway about 3:50 p.m. Monday that finally resulted in a mile-long traffic tieup.

State Trooper W.C. Tate identified the fatality as John R. Rule, 23, of Mayfield, Ky., who was rushed to Memphis Methodist Hospital where he died about 7:15 p.m., about 30 minutes after arrival. Death was the result of head injuries.

Commission Ups Property Tax, Delays Naming New Police Chief

The two most feasible locations for a new Fulton City hall, according to city Engineer Jim Huff, are that downtown property presently occupied by the old Opera House and the Fields Service station at the corner of Main and Commercial, and a residential plot at the corner of Fourth and Carr across the street, west from Gilbert's grocery.

Monday's Commission meeting, the Mayor and Commissioners declined to proceed with any procurement until further study on financing was accomplished.

The Commission voted, however, to increase the city property tax by 3 cents per $100, to a new total of 33¢. City attorney James Warren explained that the tax increase was necessary in order to make up the approximately $3500 which the city will lose under the new homestead exemption law, approved by Kentucky voters last fall.

The naming of a new Police Chief to succeed Richard Myatt, resigned, was delayed to next month's meeting.

Bond Sales Down

The citizens of Fulton County bought $24,478 of Series H and E Bonds during February. Sales for the two month period totaled $42,771. The County's annual goal is $229,200. Sales a year ago were $40,074.

The sales for Kentucky were $5,884,907 and cumulative sales for the first two months totaled $12,157,544 of the annual goal of $60,300,000. Sales a year ago were $10,896,562.

Chaney Quits Ambulance Service For Hickman Area

Don Chaney of the Chaney Funeral Home in Hickman announced Tuesday that he was discontinuing local ambulance service effective June 1.

Chaney advised Fulton County Court Judge James C. Menees and other members of the court on Tuesday that rising costs and stringent state and Federal regulations has made it necessary for him to discontinue the private service as have other funeral directors in West Kentucky and West Tennessee and in many other areas of the two states and the nation.

Carl Mikel the Man, is sign post to good farming

Mr. Mikel is shown in his driveway, about to start his busy day.

The Kentucky Cattlemen's Association is a well known organization and significantly so to farmers who are interested in the breeding of purebred cattle. In order that a birds-eye view of the association can be presented, a detailed picture of Carl Mikel, recently re-elected president of the Kentucky Cattlemen's association, is given.

Carl Mikel has been a loyal, hardworking and productive resident of the Hickman community for fifteen years. He is a active farmer of soybeans, cotton and corn as well as a breeder of purebred Polled Hereford cattle.

Born on April 7, 1917, Mikel left his birthplace of Clinton, Kentucky at the age of five to live with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E.F. Mikel in Bondurant, Kentucky, following the death of both of his parents. Carl and Mavmee Mikel, during the earlier years of his childhood.

Mikel was introduced to the farm life at thirteen as he assisted his grandfather with his crops.

In 1940, Mikel began his five year and eight month long service in the air force. Two years later, in December, he married the former Miss Bonnie Jackson of Brewton, Alabama. In 1945, he returned home from World War II to his wife and step-daughter, Inez, and purchased his first cattle. During that year he farmed with his uncle, Herbert Mikel.

The following year, Mikel became an independent farmer and raised the same three crops he had grown with his grandfather. He and his wife were also quite busy raising their son, Charles.

In 1957, the family moved to Hickman. At present, Carl is a proud grandfather to three. He and Charles, who is living in Clinton, and who serves as the skillful mechanic in the farming operations, work together. Bonnie and Carl are members of the First Methodist Church. They have both served as director of the Fulton County Farm Bureau. Carl is a member of the Moose Club and Bonnie is an active participant of the Woman's Club and is a "Homemaker."

The real purpose of this article, while applauding Mikel as a respected and noteworthy member of Hickman life, is to explicate the goals and services of the Kentucky Cattlemen's Association.

The main intention of this association is the improvement and promotion of superior breeding stock for beef production. The principle activity has been the sponsorship of performance-tested bull sales. The organization's sale at Princeton, Kentucky, on March 17, 1971, reached the record high sale average when 60 bulls averaged 981 pounds in the Association's 10th sale. Mikel explained that by performance-tested, it is meant that the bulls are individually tested on the farm.

During Mikel's three years as president, a second sale (Continued on page 8)

The gent said the content of the advertising was for legalized abortion in Washington, D. C.

After that the conversation took only a few seconds to consummate.

No, I said, we will not take advertising for legalized abortion as a matter of principle, conscience and religious scruples.

Goodbye Mr. Roberts, whoever you are. Try some anti-God newspaper that must be in mighty dire financial circumstance to accept such advertising.

Followed Instructions

We picked up this piece from The Times Journal of Russell Springs, Ky., formerly edited by our friend the late Andrew Norfleet and now edited by our friend David Davenport:

The florist's new assistant picked up the phone and listened attentively as he heard the order.

"The ribbon must be extra wide," the man was saying, "with the 'Rest in peace' on both sides, and if there is room, 'We Shall Meet in Heaven.'"

There was a sensation when the flowers arrived at the funeral.

True, the ribbon was extra wide, but the inscription it bore read: "Rest in peace on both sides, and if there is room, we shall meet in heaven."

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Gov. Wendell Ford ordered the state Division of Reclamation to start issuing strip mining permits again after a three-week moratorium, but only under the strictest compliance with state laws.

No permits are being issued until applications have been held long enough to allow on-site inspections.

Buddy A. Beach, director of reclamation, said all applications are receiving careful consideration.

"We are taking as much time as needed for a detailed study. For the past few days, we have issued some permits, but we have also returned some for additional work and corrections."

In some cases, operators have been ordered to stop mining until their applications for permits could be processed through the stricter requirements, Beach said.

He said it will be a continuing policy to strictly administer the reclamation features of the state strip mine law and permit stripping only on land that can be efficiently reclaimed.

A petition, bearing the signatures of 1453 Kentuckians, was filed with Secretary of State Thelma Stovall to place Communist Party candidates for president and vice president on the state's November ballot.

It was filed by Mike Welch, of Louisville, Kentucky Communist Party campaign chairman.

Welch said Gus Hall and Jarvis Tyner, the party's presidential and vice presidential candidates, plan to campaign in Kentucky this summer.

He said the filing is part of an attempt to get the party's candidates on ballots in 27 states. Petitions already have been filed in Alabama and signature drives are underway in Tennessee, Louisiana, North Carolina, Virginia, Florida and Texas.

If at least 1000 of the signatures are validated, Hall and Tyner's names will appear on the November ballot in Kentucky.

Welch said most of the names on the petition are those of Louisville, Jefferson County and Lexington residents.

If approved, this would be the first time in 36 years that the Communist Party has participated in a Kentucky election.

With the 1972 General Assembly's work completed, Gov. Wendell Ford has been studying, signing and in some cases vetoing the hundreds of bills passed.

Among the last bills signed are measures to grant home rule to the city of Louisville and all Kentucky counties, redraw the state's 138 legislative districts, allow transfer from one school district to another, provide for "no-fault divorce" and create a council to list drugs by their generic names.

Governor Ford noted the importance of the home rule laws and said they will return government "close to the people."

The governor also signed measures to submit a proposed cluster constitutional amendment to the voters next year, authorize a study of no-fault auto insurance, order a study of off-track betting and elevate Kentucky State College to university status.

In addition he vetoed 11 bills for various reasons, including one to authorize collective bargaining for teachers.

The state Insurance Department has launched an investigation of Kentucky bail bondsmen who pay jailers or law enforcement officers who refer business to them.

Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey said the practice was uncovered by his department's investigators while looking into "tipping."

FULTON'S

Library Corner

BY LUCY DANIEL

The Fulton Public Library had a nice surprise last week when Mrs. Gene Baker placed three volumes of Kentucky history there. These volumes are from the collection of books of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fall, Sr. I know everyone interested in old Kentucky history will be pleased to know we have these books and Mrs. Baker for letting us have them.

INVITATION TO JOY, by Eleanor Searle Whitney. From her early childhood in Plymouth, Ohio, through her years as wife of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, scion of two notable American families, to the present time, Eleanor Whitney, a much-sought-after speaker, has greeted life with enthusiasm, humor, and a spirit of adventure. In this book she recalls for us her extraordinary varied experiences, the moments of pleasure and happiness together with those of personal suffering and serious crisis. A very interesting book.

JENNIE: VOL II, by Ralph G. Martin. In the first volume of Jennie, the Romantic Years, the readers followed eagerly the beautiful, young Jennie Jerome as she left her wealthy American home to marry Lord Randolph Churchill. Now the newly widowed favorite of British society, as spirited and beautiful as ever, beckons the reader to follow the even more beguiling adventures of the second half of her life.

THE SHAPE CHANGER, by Keith Laumer. When you are knighted, rich, happily married, and just a trifle bored, it comes as something of a shock suddenly discover that you are a shabby mountebank of doubtful courage, dubious morals, and uncertain future. Or that all at once you are a crippled birdman unable to leave your nest because through some oversight you've forgotten how to teleport yourself through three feet of hardwood wall. Fortunately, Lafayette O'Leary had been through this sort of thing before, so he knew more or less what to do.

THE TERMINATIONS, by Berkeley Mather. This is a gripping novel of adventure and intrigue and takes place on the wild, mountainous frontier of northern India. It is the story of a search for a much wanted man. He is a defecting Russian KGB agent who had been sky-jacked and is being held for ransom.

AN AFTERNOON WALK, by Dorothy Eden. On a leisurely afternoon walk one summer day Ella and her five-year-old daughter come upon an abandoned house with an eerie overgrown garden. For the attractive young housewife and her imaginative child, the old house conjures up fantasies of grand parties and bygone fashions. But in the midst of their reverie they hear a horrible, throaty scream and, from a second-story window, see the spreading white wings of an owl take flight. From its dramatic opening scene to its surprising denouement, this book is equally successful as persuasive story about real people and as an entertainment of mounting suspense.

ACUPUNCTURE AND YOU, by Louis Moss. In China, treatment with acupuncture has been utilized in brain operations, gastrectomies, and tonsillectomies as well as for the relief of the pain and discomfort of arthritis. Only recently has the Western world given serious attention to the acupuncture method of treatment, but, as relations between China and the United States improve, more credibility will be accorded this ancient art. This book will be of value not only to the layman interested in the subject but to the medical and nursing professions as well.

HANDBOOK OF PUBLIC RELATIONS, by Howard Stephenson. Over thirty top professionals present the fruits of their vast experience on the job—methods, plans, and programs for every area of the field. This wealth of practical guidance helps the practitioner see his firm or company through any PR project... take full advantage of today's best ideas and techniques... get maximum results from every dollar spent. In terms of sheer expertise, the handbook is unparalleled in presenting the rationale, structure, methods of planning, research, and evaluation of procedures of public relations work.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

APRIL 15, 1927

The 1927 "Better Homes" campaign in Fulton promises to be the best ever held, according to present progress. Mrs. R. B. Beadles is chairman of the local work; Mayor Shankle has issued a proclamation for clean-up April 24 to May 1st.

A young medical student of Newbern, Tennessee, arriving here from the North, spent Tuesday night at the Usona Hotel and became violently insane, creating quite a disturbance among the guests. About 10 p. m. he locked his door to outsiders and proceeded to wreck the furnishings in his room: when local police were called and forced entry, he proceeded to punch officer Hart severely in the mouth. After being subdued and locked up, his relatives were called and came to Fulton on the first train out of Newbern, returning him home.

The trial of two colored men in Water Valley caused quite a little excitement Saturday. The men were fighting over the outcome of a game of marbles.

Work was started this week on construction of the new $100,000 Methodist Church building here, with the Rev. J. V. Freeman, pastor, conducting ground-breaking ceremonies Tuesday with a large crowd in attendance.

um to several sources high-up in legal circles this weekend, asking for their unofficial, but candid opinions on this matter. I agree with Mrs. Mayhall that, were I in a similar accident, I would desperately hope that someone would initiate whatever aid they could until qualified aid assistance reached the scene. From what I can gather in talking to legal people this week, it would seem that if a situation is obviously an emergency, help could be provided without question.

The handsome "king and queen" in last week's "Do you Remember" picture were identified as Tommy Fields, son of the late Roper Fields, and Bobby Kelly. Thanks to Harry Reams and Mott Jones (Memphis) for the help!

And a couple of weeks ago we received a letter from Robert Palmer out in Dallas, who provided the identification for the South Fulton assembly photo reprinted elsewhere in this issue. Said Palmer: "The picture was taken in the old South Fulton high school auditorium; I know, because I was there"! Thanks.

As this is being written, the baseball players' strike is still on and sports pages, especially in Kentucky papers, are giving a lot more attention to horse racing and the coming Derby week.

When you stop to think about it, horse racing may be the last genu-wine sport that really remains a sport. Who knows; the paid professional athletes in all sports may have soured the public enough that full attention may again be directed to racing, and with good reason. There are no leagues, no contracts, no bonuses, no retirement, no social security, no unemployment insurance, no rain-outs, nothing but hustle.

You can even be a high-school dropout and be a good jockey.

Have you ever noticed? The flashing caution lights on West State Line on either approach to Carr elementary school blink furiously all night long when everyone is home sleeping and during the day when the school yard is full of children? They are strangely dark. Won't somebody please reset the timer, or whatever is out of kilter???

Lou Biehlich and "Doc" VanDoren have opened up the darndest place in the old bank building out in Water Valley that you ever saw, and I browsed around out there Monday when they called me to run a little ad in this week's paper. Lou and Doc have accumulated a lot of old stuff from old homes and are going to start some kind of an auction out there, beginning Saturday. If you're one of those antique bugs, you ought to get out there and take a look ahead of the crowd.

We received a letter from son Paul over the weekend from far-off Honolulu, announcing the fact that he is now a newsman with radio and television station KGMB in the 50th State. The deal sounds great for a young, unencumbered fellow 24 years old, and if he doesn't have a good time out there, what with Waikiki beach, the pretty scenery and all those pineapples, it's his own fault.

It seems that he ran into the job opening while he was visiting my kinfolks out in California, and he just "happened" to have a full suitcase, all his electronic reporting equipment and a goodly stock of clothes with him, so off he went.

What do parents do when things like this happen? Just wish them well, get a hold of an airline schedule and calculate how much a summer visit is going to cost to go out there.

I assume that by this time he has looked up Paul Durbin, who is practicing law in Honolulu and will be a real friend to a greenhorn from home.

So time marches on. I did about the same thing when I was his age, but that was in the days of railroad travel and not airlines, and the farthest I got from home was the Gallatin Examiner at Gallatin, Tennessee.

I see Erl Sensing — the former editor of the Gazette at Clinton — every Tuesday morning at the Messenger printing plant in Union City, and Erl is now the editor of the Dickson Free Press in his old hometown of Dickson, Tennessee. Erl drives all the way to Union City every Tuesday morning to get his paper printed at the Messenger plant, because, as he says, he "likes all the people at the place and their quality of printing is superior to anything else" over in his area.

Erl is putting out a dandy weekly paper for his community and he seems very happy. This week's issue ran 16 pages and contained 27 pictures, which means that he and Ann did a lot of hustling.

Notes and News From—

Haws Memorial

Connie LeCormu has been celebrating her birthday for several days now. Cards and packages have arrived and last Sunday one devoted young friend, Mike Hutchens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hutchens, gave her a special gift. He designed and made a decorative glass container for her birthday.

Sunday School was well attended last week. Mr. Carnell Wilson of the South Fulton Baptist Church taught the lesson.

Mr. Kenneth Hutchens and his son Mike are the dedicated song leaders each Sunday morning.

Sunday afternoon Trinity Chapel Primitive Baptist Church of Clinton, Kentucky visited with us. Some of those attending were Elder and Mrs. Zack Guess, Elder and Mrs. Billy Walker and children Joe and Cheryl Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walker, Theresa and Tina Walker, Mrs. Eddie Hicks and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Walker.

Several hymns were sung and Elder Guess spoke from I Thessalonians 4:13-18 and closed with prayer. Those attending enjoyed a time of fellowship following the service.

Monday afternoon some members of Junior Girl Scout Troop 85 entertained us with a delightful folk dance. It was obvious these girls and their leaders have practiced long and hard to perform so well. They also presented colorful scrapbooks they had made during their scout meetings.

The folk dancers were Lynn Cherry, Rene Yates, Lisa Morris, Donna Robey, Movita Kearney, Laura Atkins, Kathy Robertson, Bonnie Tibbs, Laurie Bennett, Susan Bell, Connie Pennell, Barbie Britton and Lori Sams. Troop 85 leaders are June Cherry, Sylvia Yates, and Anne Peterson.

Enthusiasm began mounting on Monday with the delivery of birthday invitations. Each patient was invited to attend the April Birthday Party given by the Tri-County Homemakers. Those celebrating birthdays in April are: Mmes. Reba Aldridge, Odie Mae Curry, Effie Winter, Connie LeCormu and Mr. Clarence Davis.

Tuesday morning the patients were greeted by six lovely ladies dressed in long centennial gowns and bonnets. The charming hostesses were Mrs. Bobby Jetton, Mrs. Gerald Coley, Mrs. Jack Haddad, Mrs. Howard Lawrence, Mrs. Charles Batts and Mrs. Bud Hall.

Refreshments were served and each honoree received a hand made rose corsage. Everyone joined in singing happy birthday while a delicious birthday cake was being admired and candles being blown out.

Mrs. Cooley, song leader, asked for favorite requests and among the songs sung were: "Oh! Suzanna," "He's Got The Whole World In His Hands," "Little Liza Jane," "Ole Black Joe" and "When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder."

We enjoyed hearing the splendid voices of Mrs. Cooley, Mrs. Batts and Mrs. Hall sing "Angel Band."

Gaily wrapped presents were presented to each honoree. Afterward, vivacious Theresa Haddad led us in a delightful animal sounds game.

Thank you Homemakers for a wonderful, wonderful party!

Mrs. Anderson Gives Talk On European Tour

Mrs. Tripp then presented Mrs. Mildred Anderson who described part of the trip which she and her son Wayne had last summer, from boarding ship in Montreal, to docking in Liverpool, and travel by car through England, Scotland and parts of Scandinavia. Her beautiful pictures and interesting comments were very much enjoyed and it was a real privilege to share with Mrs. Anderson the excitement and joy of her tour.

Ann Landers

— Your Problems Bring Answers —

Dear Ann Landers: I've read several letters in your column from women who gripe because their husbands' jobs make it necessary for them to move around the country. They usually complain that it's bad for the children. I disagree. In fact, it's been very good for our children. I'd like to offer a few suggestions that might help others.

1. Make the children a part of the project. Discuss the move with them—and always in positive terms. Kids take on the attitudes of their parents. If Mom is negative and unhappy, it will rub off on the youngsters.

2. Take the children to the new city for a weekend visit. Learn from the Chamber of Commerce the places of interest. If the visit is fun the kids will view the upcoming move with enthusiasm.

3. Allow the children to complete the semester if possible. This might mean Dad will be commuting for a while, but it's worth it.

4. Keep the inoculation records where you can find them. If they are lost it can be a terrible inconvenience.

5. Treat each new city as if it's the place you're going to spend the rest of your life. Give the P.T.A. Get involved. Give you children the feeling of permanence. They'll adjust better.

We're moving for the fifth time next May and we know we're going to love the new city. Why? Because we've loved every city we've ever lived in. — Abilene, Texas

Dear A.T.: Your last sentence says it all. Thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: What kind of nuttiness is it when a young married woman has such an obsession to be a size 8 that she stuffs herself into sweaters, dresses and coats regardless of how they fit. The only thing she cares about is, "Is it a size 8?"

Last week I bought my daughter a pretty housecoat with a zipper down the front. She tried it on and it fit her perfectly. Then she asked, "What size is it?" I told her I hadn't looked at the size—that I used my eye and decided it would fit her.

When she took it off and discovered it was a size 10 she said, "Do you mind if I exchange it for a size 8?" I replied, "It's up to you."

Last night I saw her in the size 8. It fit her like a sausage casing. The zipper was already pulling away at the seams and she could barely sit down. Will you please tell me what is the magic of a size 8?—Unashamed Size 14

Dear Mother: Your daughter is laboring under the illusion that if she can squeeze her caboose into a size 8 she'll look like a size 8. Unfortunately, it doesn't work that way. If garment is too snug, the person who wears it looks fatter, not thinner. Size worshippers can be led astray, too, because some size 8's are smaller than others—depending on the manufacturer.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been looking at your picture in the Salt Lake Tribune for a long time and I just figured out where I know you from. It hit me all of a sudden. My memory took me back to World War Two. You worked as a Bedouin belly dancer under the name of Fat Oola—followed the troops through North Africa and Italy. You weren't fat but the name was a catchy one.

Obviously you snagged a fellow named Landers and your native intelligence has carried you far. Heartiest congratulations. Any girl who can make it from the night club circuit to the newspaper business, I take my hat off to—W.C.M.

Dear W.C.M.: Keep your hat on. You've got the wrong number.

Are drugs O.K. if you learn how to control them? Can they be of help? The answers are in Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Doke On Drugs." For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (16¢ postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

"Jiggly" Kentucky-Tennessee Boundary Is Subject Of Book

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Curiosity about a jiggly boundary line that was supposed to be straight led a State Highway Department employe to write a book that undoubtedly will be recognized as an important historical work.

The author of "Four Steps West," soon to be published, is James W. Sames III.

"The result of eight years of research, the volume answers all questions about crooks and bends" in the surveys that established the boundaries between Virginia and North Carolina and Kentucky and Tennessee.

Included are numerous maps never before published and five surveyor journals, two of them hitherto unpublished.

Involved in the "Four Steps West," Sames explained, were events which formed the basis for important chapters in early American history.

The four steps were: the original 241-mile Virginia-North Carolina boundary survey, made in 1728; its 1749 extension to Steep Rock Creek, near Abingdon, Va.; the Walker Line (1779), which set the Kentucky-Tennessee boundary as far as the Tennessee River; and the 1819 survey which carried the boundary on to the Mississippi River, following the Jackson Purchase.

To gather material for his book, Sames employed his vacation from the Highway Department Photogrammetry Division to make trips to five states: Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Wisconsin was important because the Draper Manuscript, in the possession of the Wisconsin Historical Society at Madison, contained the original map of the Walker Line in poor condition and with the two ends missing.

However, during research at Richmond, Va., Sames chanced upon a section of a map that "looked familiar." Further search there resulted in his piecing together the original Walker Line map.

What made the Kentucky-Tennessee boundary, which was supposed to coincide with the 36th Parallel of latitude, take so many slants and deviations? "Surveyors in those days did not have the modern precision instruments we use now," Sames said. "They relied on reading the stars, and sometimes they probably didn't have correct tables on the position of the stars on certain dates."

Some boundary meanderings were distinctly man-made. For example, the celebrated Middleton Offset, where the boundary line swerved a few miles off a true course because a Tennesseean wanted all of his farm to be within that State's frontiers.

A barrel of whisky given to members of a surveying party by the landowner is rumored to have swayed the boundary in that instance—in violation of the 1820 Kentucky-Tennessee compact.

Sames supervises the photographic lab that processes aerial pictures for the Highway Department. His book will be issued as a limited edition, and he plans to autograph each copy. The volume is illustrated by Ed Moriarty, Department of Public Information artist.

Accounts of Indian massacres are included in the volume. The publisher is Rand-McNally, of Versailles.

Sames is now working on a second book, which will be a reference bibliography to all maps, in the period from 1540 to 1900, which included Kentucky or what now is Kentucky.

IRS Warns: Interest Is Taxable

Well over a million taxpayers may owe additional tax on their 1971 income tax returns due to a change in the law on the taxability of certain types of interest income, Robert J. Dath, District Director of Internal Revenue for Kentucky, said today.

Those taxpayers affected are depositors holding certificates of deposit, bonus passbook accounts or any other deposit arrangement involving the deferral of all or part of the interest for more than one year. Under the old law these taxpayers could delay reporting the interest earned until the deposit was redeemed or matured. However, effective January 1, 1971, as a result of the Tax Reform Act of 1969 the deferred interest or "original issue discount" is taxable annually on a monthly pro rata basis.

The "original issue discount" is the excess of the stated redemption price at maturity over the issue price. For example, a certificate of deposit purchased for $10,000 is subject to a restriction as to withdrawal of principal and interest for a period of three years, at which time it has a maturity value of $11,941. Under these facts the original issue discount is $1,941. This discount must be reported in income as if the taxpayer had received equal monthly installments of $53.92 ($1,941, original issue discount divided by 36 months life of the certificate). Therefore, if the above certificate was purchased on June 1, 1971, the taxpayer would be required to include $377.44 ($53.92 x 7 months) in interest income on his 1971 tax return.

The new rules apply to certificates of deposit purchased and other savings deposits made on or after January 1, 1971. Affected depositors can expect to receive tax information statements from their banks, building and loan associations, and similar savings institutions by March 15, 1972. These statements will reflect the original issue discount to be reported on 1971 income tax returns.

Contestants who receive division one ratings will become eligible to participate in the U-T Martin Honors Solo and Ensemble Contest to be held April 29.

The 1972 regional competition being held at UTM marks the first time the WTMSEA has conducted the contest outside Memphis.

The Fine Arts Festival, initiated at the University of Tennessee at Martin last spring with the dedication of the new Fine Arts Building, will take place this year on Saturday, April 15.

A notable program of events is scheduled for the second annual festival, which begins at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Theatre of the Fine Arts Building.

Swinging partners to the tunes "Old Dan Tucker" and "Skip to my Lou," the award-winning Rutherford County Square Dancers will appear at 8 p.m. Friday, April 21, at the University of Tennessee at Martin, performing the traditional dances and singing games of the Appalachian region.

Sponsored by the Martin Arts Commission, the appearance of the young dancers from Middle Tennessee is hosted by the UTM Department of Music.

The dancers, national champions in their field, have enlivened assemblies and folk festivals in twenty of the fifty states. Originally made up of 4-H Club students from Rutherford County, the group is now composed of students from Middle Tennessee State University and high schools in the area. Named National Mountain-style Square Dance Champions, Junior Division the dancers have won first place in clog dancing at the Tri-State Appalachian Folk Festival at Danville, Kentucky, and at the Kentucky Bluegrass Fair in Lexington.

The group has appeared at the "Summer in the Park" folk festival in Washington, D.C., as well as at folk festivals and clog dancing conventions throughout the country.

The Grand Ole Opry in Nashville also featured the spirited group of youngsters, which the Washington Post praised for performing their "rousing exuberant step-square dance... with gusto and sheer pleasure."

Scheduled at 8 p.m. in the university auditorium, the program will feature Neumeier, a 1934 graduate of Murray State, as the honored guest conductor for two numbers by the University Wind Sinfonietta and The Symphonic Band.

Paul W. Shahan, director of bands at Murray State, will conduct the wind sinfonietta and the band in the other selections on the program.

Inviting the public to attend the admission-free concert, Shahan said the annual program is intended "as tribute to recognize those outstanding teachers who inspire and assert lasting influence upon the youth of our Commonwealth."

A wide divergence of opinion is expected to be presented by the two speakers who will appear at Murray State University during the spring insight series April 18-19.

Centered on a topic of "The Political Future of Blacks in the South," the symposium will feature Dr. Charles Hurst, president of Malcolm X College in Chicago, and Lt. Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia. Programs on both dates will begin at 8 p.m.

Hurst, who left Howard University in 1968 to accept the presidency of what was then Crane Junior College, will speak in the University School auditorium Tuesday, April 18.

Maddox, a former governor of Georgia who first came to public attention when he defied court-ordered integration and blocked the doorway of his Atlanta restaurant against Negroes, will lecture Wednesday, April 19, in the university auditorium.

Sponsored by the student government, the lectures are open to the public at no admission charge.

About 500 elementary, junior high and high school students are expected to enter a record number of exhibits in the fifth annual West Kentucky Regional Science Fair at Murray State University Saturday, April 22.

KENNETH BURKHART Is That man

A former sheriff and now Judge of Paducah City Court, the record is clear. BURKHART is an untiring fighter who keeps his campaign promises.

As your next Congressman, Burkhardt Pledges:

TAX RELIEF: "I will not sit idly by and see the middle-income American taxed on an ever increasing scale. We need tax relief NOW! I will vote against all new taxation... and I will introduce legislation to relieve the wage earner of some of his tax burden."

SOCIAL SECURITY: "I promise to introduce a bill to raise the ceiling on earned income for the retired and semi-retired receiving Social Security."

RESTRICTIONS OF IMPORTS: "Foreign foods and products choke our farms and our factories... causing mass unemployment! We need higher taxation on foreign imports."

VETERANS HOSPITAL: "We must have... we will have... a VA Hospital for the First District. I promise to work for this project until it is completed!"

LAW & ORDER: "We cannot continue to bind our courts of law. The government, including the present congressman, ignores the law-abiders and gives in to raging mobs. Lives and property of the innocent must be protected!"

Joe B. Hall, New UK Coach, Says Job Is Dream Come True

Joe B. Hall, successor to Adolph F. Rupp as basketball coach at the University of Kentucky, said Friday the appointment was a realization of a dream nurtured many years ago on the dirt and driveway courts of Cynthiana.

Hall, who has the tremendous task of replacing the famed "Man in the Brown Suit," never set out to be basketball coach, per se, at Kentucky, but he said such a goal is in the background of every coach's mind.

That is especially true of the native Kentuckian who cut his teeth on basketballs and has dedicated his life to the game.

During his entire career, Hall said he always has concentrated on the task at hand, rather than looking ahead to other goals. That attitude carried him through a fine high school and collegiate career, both as player and coach.

At Cynthiana, he lettered three years in basketball and football and was captain of both sports his senior year. He played freshman basketball and one year varsity basketball in the "Fabulous Five" days at UK before transferring to the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn.

At Sewanee, Hall set a school single game scoring record in his second game. Coach Lon Varnell, upon retirement, rated Hall as No. 1 of the three best players he ever coached.

In 1951, he toured Europe with the Harlem Globetrotters. Hall received his BA degree at UK in 1955 and his MA at Colorado State in 1964.

He entered coaching in 1956 at Shepherdsville High School, where he achieved Coach of the Year honors in the Mid-Kentucky Conference in 1958. Moving into the collegiate field, he served a season as freshman coach and then five years as head coach at Regis College in Denver, Colo., where he posted a 57-49 record.

In addition to his duties at Regis, Hall coached the Capital Federal Denver host team in the 1964 AAU Tournament and was selected head coach of the AAU Stripes in the Olympic Trials at Jamaica, N.Y.

From Regis, Hall moved to Central Missouri, in 1964-65 where he guided the Mules to their first MIAA Conference championship since 1951, and to their first conference Christmas Tournament title in history. He was named MIAA Coach of the Year for 1964-65.

When Harry C. Lancaster was named permanent athletic director Feb. 1, 1969, Hall became No. 1 varsity assistant to the head coach. His day-to-day job to do, he said, "I realize I still have a day-to-day job to do, but I have not reached the end of my career just yet."

After being named as successor to Rupp, winningest collegiate basketball coach of all time, Hall said he couldn't ask to be in a better place. "I realize I still have a day-to-day job to do," he said, "I have not reached the end of my career just yet."

Tandy Seeks Debate With Stubblefield

"President Nixon's 1971 tax law has, on the whole, made our tax system more regressive," Ed Tandy, Democratic candidate for the U.S. House, charged in his tour of Hickman County.

"We are ready, willing, and able to debate this issue or any issue in the public forum," Tandy asserted. "Yet our incumbent opponent refuses public debate. Why is he afraid of the open forum? Why is he unwilling to take us on, face-to-face, in the public eye?"

Tandy asked. "Our incumbent opponent's refusal raises serious questions, we feel, about his qualifications for the office of United States Representative."

"In free public debate, the public would be able to judge for itself just who is and who is not qualified to be first district Congressman," Tandy declared. "Until that time, the burden of proof lies with our incumbent opponent."

"We have formally, in telegram, challenged our incumbent opponent to public debate. Until that time--until the public debate of issues so vital to democracy--is accepted by our incumbent opponent, it is quite reasonable for us to question his qualifications, and his ability to fulfill that high office."

CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATE Kenneth Burkhardt, (left) was welcomed to the local Kiwanis Club dinner last Thursday evening by club President Hunter Roberts. Burkhardt spoke about his platform in the forthcoming race for U. S. Representative.

Burkhart Opposes Drainage Work On Mayfield Creek

Farmers and sportsmen affected by flooding Mayfield Creek should oppose the current Corps of Engineers plan for drainage, according to congressional candidate Kenneth Burkhardt.

Speaking before the South Fulton Kiwanis Club, Thursday night, Burkhardt said the latest solution would be too costly and inadequate.

"At a cost of nearly three million dollars, which the Corps of Engineers refer to as 'first cost,' the main stem of Mayfield Creek will be cleared. This is another matching-funds program, which means that the tax payers in the Mayfield Creek counties will have to cough up one and a half million dollars."

"It looks like history repeating itself," he said. "We have a similar problem in the Clarks River area, and some years ago, the farmers in three counties decided to levy a tax on their own lands. This was to be matched by the Corps of Engineers, who would clear out the land-drain arteries, but nothing was done. The tax is still in effect in Calloway, Marshall and McCracken Counties."

"I've been advised by farmers and sportsmen alike, and they agree that the only good plan is a permanent plan that provides for maintenance. We do need drainage arteries opened, but we must have reservoir lakes added to contain the flood waters. The farmer can then grow crops on his land, and also have an opportunity to deal with the sportsman for hunting and fishing leases."

"It could be done through another department, without cost to the land-owners, he said. "I will pledge every effort to providing a better solution to the Mayfield Creek flooding when I become your congressman."

Landscape Class Hears Guy Robbins

Chestnut Glade

By Mrs. Harvey Vaughn

A sunny Monday morning is most welcome after the rainy days last week. This area experienced unusual weather last Friday when very large hail fell early in the morning then more smaller hail fell in the afternoon. A very small amount of farm work has been done in this area due to the unfavorable weather condition.

Harvey Vaughn is improving after being dismissed from the Fulton Hospital after being a patient there for more than three weeks due to a heart attack. He deeply appreciates the many kindnesses shown him during this time.

Funeral service for Mr. Art Harvey was conducted at Sandy Branch Sunday afternoon, by Brother Jackson from Nashville and Brother Bowlin. Mr. Harvey, who lived in this community and was a member of the Sandy Brancy congregation before moving to Nashville several years ago, passed away at Linden, Tennessee where he had lived recently.

Mrs. Fred Vaughan spent last weekend in Martin with Mrs. Roy Ray.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Clark returned to their home last Saturday after being in Memphis the past several weeks due to him being seriously ill at the Baptist Hospital. He is reported to be improving nicely at this time.

Latest report from Mrs. Benson Jones who has been a patient at the Bowld Hospital in Memphis for the past several weeks is that her condition is unimproved at this time.

Mrs. Darrell Wright is a patient at the Baptist Memorial where she had spinal surgery last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Colley, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Perry, Brother William Woodson from Henderson, Mrs. Ches Morrisson, Mrs. Bonnie Cummings, Brother and Mrs. Harry Owens, and Ronnie visited Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan Sunday. Glad to report that Emuel Bruner who was a patient at the Fulton Hospital several days last week has been dismissed.

"Seeing Your Home in a New Light" was the lesson given by Mrs. Grace Prince, when the club met for the regular March meeting in the home of Mrs. Ada Rhodes. She explained that proper lighting was a necessity for the protection of one of each persons most precious possession, the eyes. It is also a very important decorative accessory. She also gave most interesting pamphlets containing information concerning lighting for all types of work pleasure and entertainment in the home.

The thought for the day was "A Record is Often Broken When the Competition Gets Keen."

Mrs. Laverne Owensby gave the devotional and led the song. Her subject was "Storage." She used Psalm 19 and 105 for her scripture reading. She urged each to sort out very carefully all the memories and store those that would contribute to a happier and useful future and to discard all others. Each member and visitor answered the roll call by giving a point that they used in buying or preparing meats.

The Consumer Education lesson was given by Mrs. Harvey Vaughan substituting for the leader Mrs. Fred Vaughan. The food and nutrition leader reported.

Mrs. V.C. Simpson directed the recreation with several winners. The door prize was won by Mrs. Danny Wheat.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Jeter Wheat. Visitors are cordially welcomed.

Throughout the world there are many religious beliefs, with as many spiritual ideals. But whatever a man's religion may be it is worthy in the degree of his belief, faith, sincerity and honesty. The truly religious find peace and inspiration in regular church attendance. When were you in church last?

MIKEL—

was initiated for the fall. The association and its supporters aspire to have as many as four sales yearly whereas when Mikel took office, the association held only one sale annually. The first sale was held at Elizabethtown, Kentucky, on November 20, 1971 at which time a cooperative agreement was worked out between the Kentucky Cattlemen's Association, the University of Kentucky and Seaway Farms of Paris, Kentucky. This accord enabled the conducting of a central bull test. According to Mikel, a central bull test is one in which the bull calves are given equal attention and treatment for 160 days. The calves are fed 140 of these days, the remainder of which they are checked for general health and development. In this way, the owner of the calf is able to have a less biased rating of the quality of his bull. Because no two breeders raise their animals identically, this central bull testing system provides a more truthful evaluation.

The first sale of this type was held in Paris, Kentucky, on April 8. Mikel attended a meeting Friday, April 7 and assisted activities on Saturday. He stated that graduate students of the University of Kentucky did an excellent job on rating the bulls and that 51 calves on Lot 1 were sold, averaging 667 pounds.

Mikel anticipates the next meeting to take place in Elizabethtown during the month of December. These sales are open to any interested farmer.

Another activity which has required much time of president Mikel has been the development of the Kentucky Cattle Foundation. This foundation was established in 1971 by the Kentucky Cattlemen's Association, the Kentucky Feeder Calf Sales Association and other interested groups to help promote Kentucky cattle producers. The recently founded organization operates on a volunteer system. When the Foundation becomes full-scale, it is hoped that a full-time secretary-fieldman can be hired and supported by proceeds from a self-help check-off program.

Mikel also stated that Kentucky's overall cattle rating is fourteenth in the United States and their beef cattle rate eleventh.

When asked what he does in his spare time, Mikel replied, "my free time is few and far between but I have always believed that the more time spent with one's cattle, the better the animals will be. I enjoy going to the farm on Sunday afternoons and spending time with my stock."

An overall picture, then, can be drawn of the man, Carl Mikel, and his instrumental part and contribution to the advancement of the world of Kentucky agriculture.

FATALLY HURT—A Mayfield man was fatally injured and six other persons were hurt Monday afternoon when this car was involved in a collision with two trucks on the Fulton highway, two miles north of Union City. Two of the injured were seriously hurt. (Photo by Adelle — Story on Page 1)

Anthony Larry Toon, 32, of Route 2, Mayfield, was treated at Obion County General Hospital and then transferred to a Paducah hospital with critical injuries.

Also badly injured was Jimmy Redden, 24, of Mayfield, transferred to a Memphis hospital after treatment locally.

Admitted to Obion County General Hospital with lacerations, bruises, abrasions and possible other injuries were: Sanford Summer, 52, of Route 3, Mayfield; Jimmy Elliott, 37, of Mayfield; David Eugene Whiteside, 29, of Mayfield and Cress E. Harris, 30, of Route 4, Union City.

With the exception of Mr. Harris, the dead and injured were all employees of Lear Siegler in Union City and were en route home after completing their day's work.

Involved in the wreck were a 1969 Chevrolet pickup truck, driven by Mr. Harris; a 1960 Chevrolet automobile, driven by Mr. Whiteside, and a 1969 White Freightliner trailer truck, driven by Edward L. Foutch, 24, of Trenton. Mr. Foutch was the only person involved in the accident to escape injury.

The trailer truck, owned by McEwen Brothers of Dyer, was reported moving north on the highway, about two miles north of Union City, one-fourth of a mile north of Napier's Store. The car was following the trailer truck while the pickup was southbound, moving toward Union City.

Trooper Tate said witnesses, including persons in a car in front of the trailer truck, told him the pickup truck came across the center line.

"They said both the trailer truck and the car had their right wheels off the pavement in an attempt to avoid the collision," the state trooper said. "But the pickup truck sideswiped the trailer and then hit the car."

All three vehicles wound up on the east side of the highway, the trailer truck completely clear of the pavement and the other two vehicles nosed into a ditch.

Trooper Tate quoted Mr. Harris as saying he "must have dozed off to sleep."

Damage to both sides of the trailer truck was estimated at $2,000. The car and pickup truck were damaged beyond practical repair.

No charges had been filed today, pending completion of the investigation, Trooper Tate said.

The officer, assisted by Tennessee Highway Patrol Lt. Bill Moore, managed to keep the southbound lane of traffic to Union City open after the accident so the three Pre-Med Ambulance Service vehicles could get the injured to Union City. Northbound traffic, however, was held up for more than 30 minutes.

The fatality was the first on Obion County highways this year, Trooper Tate said.

CHANEY—

Chaney has offered to donate an ambulance to the Fiscal Court for whatever use the court may see fit to give residents of the west end of the county ambulance service.

Menees said that he is hopeful that within the next sixty days the matter will be discussed fully with governmental agencies and private individuals and organizations with the view that the ambulance service may be operated on a quasi-governmental manner.

The City of Fulton presently is operating an ambulance service within the confines of the city and in adjoining areas. The service is being operated by the Fulton police department with employees assigned to Fulton under the President's Emergency Unemployment Act.

In Clinton ambulance service is being operated under a similar manner, but the two ambulances were purchased through a Federal grant to the entity operating the service. It has been reported that Fulton answers about three ambulance calls a week and charges a fee of $30 per call.

In the Fulton operation the County Court has assumed the cost of insurance for the ambulances, but the remainder of the service is operated under the auspices of the city government.

Historical Museum In Frankfort Draws Visitors Around The World

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Do you know where in Kentucky you can find a Civil War machine gun, a calico window seat belonging to Martha Washington, campaign buttons from the governor's election of 1899 and the dueling pistol with which Aaron Burr killed Alexander

Hamilton in 1804?

If your answer is the Kentucky Historical Society Museum, then you must be among the hundreds of thousands of visitors who have stopped at the Old State House in Frankfort to browse among the historic memorabilia.

"Visitors come from every state in the nation and from all over the world. I can't think of any country that we haven't had a visitor from,"
Mrs. Blackburn said.
One of the more beautiful and unusual exhibits which visitors see is a set of sterling silver, given to the bat-leship Kentucky in 1898 by the citizens of Kentucky and returned to the state upon the ship's retirement from service.

Each piece of the set bears the Navy seal and the seal of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, while some pieces have such Kentucky symbols as goldenrod, corn, wheat, and tobacco.
The bust of Daniel Boone and an Indian, thought to be his friend Chief Blackfish, are found on the punch bowl and epergne.

The silver, made in Philadelphia, cost the people of Kentucky $30,000. Today it has been appraised at as much as $300,000.

Another exhibit which appeals to schoolboy and adult alike is the lining of the coat
George Washington wore at Valley Forge.

Almost 200 years after the fur coat sheltered the general from the harsh winter of 1777-78, the lining is still intact, and is on display on the second floor of the Old State House.
The coat was kept between two featherbeds by Washington's family for many years, but eventually the moths took their toll. The lining was ripped out and the fur part burned.

A great-great-niece of General Washington presented the lining to the Historical Society in 1924.

Some other fascinating exhibits include an Indian war collection, the Giraffe Piano made especially for John Hunt Morgan; the famous hat collection, containing FDR's notorious presidential campaign hat; a Confederate Room; the Alben W. Barkley collection and a 1790 spelling book.

The museum is open Monday through Saturday from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. and Sundays and holidays from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

120 Are Expected At Food Meeting

MURRAY, Ky. — About 120 student delegates from high schools in the eight-county Jackson Purchase area are expected to attend the Purchase Area Youthpower Food Conference at Murray State University April 21.

Focused on a theme of "Food Comes First," the day-long meeting in the Applied Science Building on the campus will include delegates selected from various organizations in the high schools.

Mrs. Dorothy Porter, a 4-H extension agent in McCracken County, and Mrs. Pat Curtsinger, a home economics agent in Marshall County, are serving as the coordinators for the conference.

David Hornback, Fulton County extension agent for 4-H and conference program chairman, said the delegates to the session "are charged with the responsibility of transmitting the story back home." He said they will work primarily through news media and speaking opportunities to take the lead in initiating program plans in the home communities.

Featured as the speaker for the Youthpower conference will be David Harrison, who recently returned from Ceylon as an American delegate of the International Farm Youth Exchange program.

Discussion leaders from Kraft Foods, Murray State and the University of Kentucky will also take part in the program. Topics for discussion will be "Cheese, the Dairy Product," "Foods of the Future," "Electronic Cooking," and "Food Values."

Tours through some local plants have also been arranged for delegates.

Hornback said the Youthpower Food Conference began in 1960 as a project of the National Food Conference, a voluntary group made up of more than 65 food industries and organizations.

Kentucky Youthpower was organized in August, 1963, he added, with five basic objectives:

- To dramatize statewide concern about teenage eating habits and the cultural, social and economic values of food.
- To develop cooperation among youth groups.
- To increase understanding of the farm-to-table story.

—To improve teenage nutrition.

—To acquaint teenagers with a better understanding of food careers.

Hornback said the high schools, who may send delegates are: Fulton County, Fulton City, Hickman County, Carlisle County, Ballard Memorial, Calloway County, Murray, South Marshall, North Marshall, Benton, Lowes, Sedalia, Fancy Farm, Symsonia, Mayfield, Farmington, Wingo, Heath, Lone Oak, Reidland, Paducah Tilghman, and St. Mary.

Civic Chorus Sets Concert

The annual spring concert of the Union City Civic Chorus will be a benefit performance this year, according to Ed Keil, president of the chorus.

All profits will go to the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital at Memphis.

The concert will be held in the Union City High School gymnasium Friday night, April 28, beginning at 8. To be featured are selections from three popular musical comedies — Brigadoon, West Side Story and Oliver — along with a medley of old favorites, "reminiscent of the 1940s and 1950s, calculated to evoke spasms of nostalgia," said Mr. Keil.

Tickets for the concert will be available in advance. Individuals, businesses and other organizations desiring to assist in the promotion of the concert are invited to contact Mr. Keil at 885-0526 or Carolyn Stricklin at 538-2886.

The local chorus is directed by John Matheson, professor of music at the University of Tennessee at Martin. Other professional musicians who work with the chorus are Marion Reithel, assistant director; Mrs. Ada Burns, accompanist, and Wayne Dorris, baritone soloist.

Members of the chorus are primarily from the Union City area but membership is open to anyone who likes to sing. Since the chorus was formed several years ago, singers from every section of Obion County have actively participated.

The chorus is an affiliate of the Union City-Obion County Arts Council and is primarily supported by funds contributed by a local industry, the Reelfoot Packing Company.

Flower Arrangement Classes Will Begin

A 20-hour "Flower Arrangement" course for adults will be conducted at Tilghman Area Vocational School beginning Tuesday, April 18 at 6:30 p.m. Classes will meet on Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. for four weeks at the Vocational School, 2400 Adams St. and may be attended by anyone interested in cut or artificial flower arrangement.

The cost of the entire course will be $10, which includes all materials. To enroll, call the Vocational School 443-4534 as soon as possible.

FULTON, KY.

WHOOOPS—A South Fulton running back drops the football after being tangled up by an Obion Central player during a scrimmage between the two clubs at the Rebel field Thursday afternoon. The two teams each ran the ball for 10 plays, then switched to defense for 10 tries. The afternoon scrimmage produced two touchdowns for each of the clubs.

Central And South Fulton Tie In Scrimmage Contest

Obion Central and South Fulton fought to a two-touchdown draw in a controlled scrimmage held on the Rebel field Thursday afternoon. Both Coach Charles Akers of Central and Terry Beadles of South Fulton were fairly pleased with their teams' efforts.

Both sides displayed some offensive bursts during the long session and each had some sparkling defensive plays. There also were some outstanding individual efforts, notably by South Fulton's Greg Rose and Mike Brown and the Rebels' Ronald Walley, Tyrone Bellamy, Donnie Moran and freshman Daniel Russell.

The two clubs operated on a game plan of running 10 plays and then switching over to defense for 10 tries, starting every series at the 40.

Coach Akers commented he was "pretty well pleased with the boys," following the intra-county battle. The Rebels were hampered somewhat by the absence of their three starting running backs, Jimmy Childress, David Cunningham and Joe Simpson due to injuries.

The Rebel defensive secondary looked very promising, as did the defensive line where only one starter is a battle-tested veteran. Walley passed a number of good licks from his linebacker slot, Donnie Moran anchored the center of the defensive line from his noseguard slot and Russell, who has good height and range, was perhaps the most promising freshman on the field.

Quarterback Tommy Victory, one of only five Rebel seniors, displayed some poise at quarterback in his passing game despite operating with a chipped bone in his hand and two broken toes.

Coach Terry Beadles said that "at times we looked fair and at times we didn't do very well. Overall, we didn't show as good an effort as I wanted us to."

The South Fulton coach was very high on the play of Rose, a senior-to-be this fall. "I guess he must have made around 30 tackles during the afternoon and I believe he can be one of the best linebackers around," Coach Beadles said.

The SF coach added he felt his defensive secondary did a good job most of the time, especially coming in on the running plays. "We passed some real fine licks in the defensive backfield, especially Mike Brown," he pointed out.

Brown also had a good day offensively, breaking for several long gainers. Dennis Burke, the Devil tight end, did a good job catching the football and displaying a pair of real fine hands.

Other South Fulton standouts included defensive end Keith Pruett and some poised play from quarterback Bob Winston.

Coach Beadles said he felt blocking in the offensive line was the area that could stand the most improvement but that mostly he felt just getting everything together would be the key to improving his team.

Tandy Asks To Debate Opponents

Ed Tandy, Central City resident who seeks the Democratic nomination as U.S. representative from the First District, wants to debate his opponents.

He issued the challenge Saturday to U.S. Rep. Frank A. Stubblefield, the incumbent who seeks reelection, and Kenneth Burkhart.

Stubblefield addressed the Associated General Contractors of Western Kentucky here on Thursday night. He was informed at the time that Tandy expected to issue the challenge on Saturday. Stubblefield did not indicate whether he would be willing to participate in debates.

Burkhart could not be reached for comment on Saturday.

Tandy proposed debates on television and radio six days a week.

Tandy is engaged in a tour of First District counties. He will appear in Hickman County on Monday, Carlisle County on Tuesday, Ballard County on Wednesday, and Graves County on Thursday.

COURT—Kentucky's Court of Appeals judges are urging the General Assembly to adopt a constitutional amendment to reduce the high court's rapidly growing caseload. Such an amendment would require approval by the voters.

Fulton Co. Opens With 9-4 Win

KENTON, Tenn.—Fulton County got its baseball season off on the right foot by posting a 9-4 decision over host Kenton, Tenn., Thursday afternoon.

Fulton County jumped out to an early lead by pushing across two runs in the first inning. Reserve catcher Frankie Johnson cracked the bat for a three-run homer in the seventh for the Pilots.

Henry Thomas, John Kirk and Scotty Wright each collected doubles. Mark Wilson, Thomas Walker, Ronald Caldwell and Zemus Winters each managed singles.

Freddy Gadberry was the starting pitcher for the Pilots and Mike Phipps was the opening catcher. Robert Carlton replaced Gadberry on the mound in the fourth. At one time during the last four innings, Carlton retired 13 straight hitters. In that span, he struck out six and walked one.

Bardwell worked the mound for Kenton with Mays at the plate.

Fulton County collected 10 hits and was guilty of four errors. Kenton got four hits, good for four runs, and was tagged for three errors. Kenton's runs came in the second and third innings coming two at a time.

The Pilots open their home-stand next Tuesday against Carlisle County.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Bully In The Family

Sixteen-year-old Teddy had a nasty habit. He would coax younger children into secluded places, then beat them up. Finally, the father of one of the victims filed a damage suit against Teddy's parents.

But in court, they denied liability. "The mere fact that he is our son," they argued, "does not make us automatically responsible for everything he does. We never encouraged him to beat anyone up." But if they had never encouraged Teddy, they had never discouraged him either. The court decided they had shirked their duty as parents, and would therefore have to pay the claim. Parents who are overly permissive may find themselves in trouble in the courtroom. If they tolerate a dangerous habit in their child, they can usually be held legally liable for the consequences.

But it is a matter of degree. While the law says parents must try to curb the child, it does not insist on success. Take this case: Chuckie, age five, liked to toss rocks at his playmates. To deter him, his parents tried everything from scoldings to spankings—all to no avail. But this time, when a damage suit was brought against the parents, the court held them blameless. Saying they had done their best, the court observed that they could scarcely be expected to keep Chuckie under lock and key. Furthermore, standards of discipline may change with the times. In another case, a boy playing football in the street overran the curb and knocked down a passing pedestrian. In short order, the pedestrian sued the boy's parents, claiming they should not have allowed him to play in the street. But the court said such tight discipline by parents is just not customary in this day and age. "Strict control of children is today so rare," said the court, "that its absence is no indication of a lack of reasonable care."

Fulton County FFA Chapter Won 8 Awards

MURRAY, Ky. — A correction in the reporting of the number of first - place ratings awarded last Tuesday in the Purchase District Future Farmers of America Federation contests at Murray State University indicates the Fulton County chapter tied with the Lowes chapter in the largest number of first-place awards presented.

Both chapters received eight first-place ratings. An earlier news release had reported the Lowes chapter with eight top awards and the Fulton County chapter with six. The Reidland chapter received seven. In addition to capturing the first-place rating in the chapter meeting contest, the Fulton countians also were awarded the top rating in the chapter scrapbook contest, in the "Building Our American Communities" competition and in the contests on impromptu speaking on beef, crop production, soybeans, sales and services and wheat. The advisors of the Fulton County chapter are James Everett and Bobby Evans. Donald Spicer is the advisor to the Lowes chapter. All winners in the Murray contest will represent the district in the state wide contest in Louisville June 7-9.
