Kentucky Windage

(By P. W.)

Joe Creason should try writing this column for a month. After four weeks at it I expect he would return to the Courier Journal, admitting that up there in Louisville "he never had it so good."

I went to a press meeting last weekend in Owensboro, and Joe, whom I have known and admired for a long time, was a featured speaker on the program. Joe admitted that his column is "all he does" at the C-J; But for a weekly paper editor enmeshed in a hundred things, writing a column often gets lost in the maze. For instance ad layouts, page layouts, story writing, headline writing, errand running, picture sizing, cutline writing all descend on one in a great barrage on press day, yet that is the time that one usually has to sit down and decide what to write about.

Joe says that he keeps notes on bits & scraps of paper, and writing a column often involves emptying his pocket. That's fine, only my bits and pieces consist of ads, bills, subscriptions, change of address and notes about what's going to happen when. Anyhow, I still like to write it, but wish each Wednesday had 48 hours in it.

The Kentucky Highway Department stays busy around here lettering the streets, marking stop lines, pedestrian crosswalks, traffic lanes, etc., as you probably have noticed. And out at the Derby intersection in the Highlands they have again done a good job clearly marking the Kentucky side of the State Line.

But where is the Tennessee Department of Highways? The lanes, arrows and other markings on the Tennessee side of that dangerous intersection have now faded into obscurity and badly need re-marking. This is a dangerous intersection that could be made much less-dangerous with proper markings on the Tennessee approach. How about that, you fellows down in Jackson... or do we have to ask all the way to Nashville.??

I notice that the Louisville Courier-Journal still lists "Fulton" as having a Dollar General Store in the ads they run up

JOTTINGS from Jo's Notebook

The Wallace Fever

Lots of folks around these parts are talking about spring fever, but it is something of a mild attack compared to the contagion of the "Wallace For President" signs that are popping out all over West Kentucky, and it seems to me, especially in Fulton County.

Driving back and forth to Hickman each day it seems to me that they are multiplying with each trip... and with traffic going in and coming out of Fulton and Hickman.

Funny Thing

There's something rather significant about the Wallace support in this area.

The significance is that the solid support given Wallace in Fulton and Hickman counties four years ago has had a very marked effect on the number of delegates each county may elect and send to the district and state conventions in Louisville in June.

You see the number of delegates a county is allotted in the Democratic party is based on the vote cast for the Democratic nominee for President in the last general election.

Wallace carried Fulton and Hickman counties by a large majority, which sharply cuts down the number of delegates to the Democratic state convention.

At one time Fulton County sent from 11 to 13 delegates; this year the number is about four. Hickman County's will be just about that, also.

There's no special moral to this story, it's interesting that's all.

Speaking of Interesting!

Within the past several weeks I have

Radio Auction For Cancer At Hickman

The annual Fulton County cancer auction will be initiated next Monday, April 24, at the REA Building in Hickman. West Kentucky's most experienced and skilled fundraisers will be heard requesting donations over radio station WFUL and will be on hand to receive gifts, striving to reach the aspired goal of $3200.

Each morning, activities will begin at 9:30 a.m. and continue until 11:00 a.m. Mrs. Ronald Strong, Mrs. Dick Golder and Mrs. Ralph Adams, the 1972 chairwomen are free to answer questions and memorial chairwoman, Miss Geneva Mangold is free to accept memorial gifts at any time.

Johnny Staylor, Bill Grey, Bobby Roberts, and C.W. Morrow will be on hand, helping to accept bids and add fluency and excitement to the event. Mr. Julius Falkoff, the 1972 Fulton County Cancer Crusade chairman encourages residents of the area to begin considering their personal donations for the fund.

Communities and organizations furnishing items for auction are as follows:

Rabies Clinics Are Scheduled

The rabies control clinic for all dogs in Fulton County sponsored by the Fulton County Health Department is scheduled for Saturday, April 22, 1972.

The Myers Animal Clinic of Fulton, Kentucky will assist. The schedule for the clinic is as follows: Hickman Elementary No. 2 (Riverview) School, 9:00 a.m.-10:15 a.m.; Cayce School, 10:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m.; Myers Animal Clinic, Fulton, Ky., 1:00 p.m.-2:00 p.m. The amount of $2.00 will be charged for each dog.

Homemakers, First Baptist Church, First Christian Church, West Baptist Church, and First Methodist Church. Tuesday, April 25, Brownsville community, Western and State Line areas, the Episcopal Church, Church of Christ and the Town and Country Mother's Club.

Wednesday, April 26, West Methodist Church, East Baptist Church, Church of God, Sacred Heart Church, and the Cayce and Rush Creek and Crutchfield areas.

Falkoff expressed his enthusiasm and confidence by stating "the auction is strictly a community effort, by communicating with the various organizations and churches, each segment of Hickman and Fulton County is reached and plays an integral part in helping to see our goal reached. The Fulton County Cancer Crusade fund-raising drive holds the number one position in the entire state as the largest success per capita. I feel sure that our working together as a community with a cause will make this year's campaign another dream come true."

MATH TOURNAMENT
Twenty-four South Fulton students recently participated in the Math Tournament held annually for high ranking math students in West Tennessee high schools held at UTM. They were accompanied by Mrs. Paul Blaylock and Mrs. Lou Ella Allen.

City Asks Help For Trash Pickup

The City of Fulton, seeking to serve the citizens as best and most efficiently as it can with its limited vehicles and personnel, issued an appeal this week to Fulton residents to "co-operate" in helping getting the job done.

The News has been asked to publish the following statement covering this matter:

To the Citizens of Fulton Kentucky:
The $2.00 fee appearing monthly on your utility bill is for the collection of garbage in regulation garbage cans once weekly. It does not provide for collection of items too large to be placed in regulation containers.

Refuse, such as leaves, trimmings, limbs and other clean-up items have been collected by trucks other than garbage trucks. Problems have arisen from this system. Leaves and brush have been placed in the streets, not in suitable containers at any time of the week. Wind and rain have spread these items over the streets and yards before the trucks can make collections over the town causing inconvenience to you as well as the city employees. The City can not provide this service daily as it is time consuming and imposes extra expense to the City. There is no extra cost to you, the customer, with the exception of amounts which constitute a truck load.

This special collection is strictly a public service for the convenience of our customers and to improve the appearance of our town. We ask for your cooperation to eliminate the problems we have faced in the past.

The amount of time consumed and manpower can be reduced by the placing of leaves and small articles in plastic bags and placing them in easy access to the trucks. This will also eliminate these items being

Bishop Makes Official Visit To Hickman

The Right Reverend David B. Reed, newly elected Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese of Kentucky, paid his first official visit to Hickman and to Saint Paul's Episcopal Church on Sunday and Monday, April 9 and 10.

Accompanying Bishop Reed were his wife, Mrs. Susan Reed, and their two youngest children, Sara, 8 and Katie, 6. The Reeds have three other children, David, Mary and Jennifer who were unable to travel to Hickman with their parents.

Following the sermon and communion service by Bishop Reed, a potluck luncheon was served to members of the congregation and friends during the noon hour.

During the afternoon, Bishop and Mrs. Reed were entertained by visiting with members of the congregation and attending dinner at Reelfoot Lake.

On Monday, further visits were made and plans were set up for the work in the parish. Bishop Reed was formerly Missionary Bishop of the Diocese of Colombia and Ecuador in South America. As Bishop Coadjutor, Bishop Reed will assist Bishop C. Gresham Marmian, Bishop of Kentucky and upon the retirement of Marmian will succeed him as Bishop of Kentucky.

Covington Will Coach FHS Football

A former Fulton High School athlete will be returning to his alma mater next fall as head football coach, the Board of Education announced this week. John Covington, star athlete at FHS in the early 1960's, was named this week to replace head football coach Gene Sides who did not re-apply for the post.

Covington, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Covington of Fulton, graduated from Fulton High School in 1963 both as a star in football and basketball. In football, he was named to the All-WKC team and in basketball named to the all-tournament team the year the Bulldogs won the regional championship.

He received his college degree at Kansas State in 1969. The Board of Education also announced the return of Gwin Wood as basketball coach and Cecil Maddox as Junior High coach.

'Sex Survey'

Labeled Hoax

(Ed's note: The following account, published in last Monday's Union City Messenger, will be of interest here inasmuch as the Twin Cities could also be a likely target area for such shenanigans.)

The Sociology Department at the University of Tennessee at Martin is conducting no survey on sexual behavior or on any other subject at this time in Obion County, UTM Sociology Instructor N.H. Cook informed The Messenger today.

The question arose after a Union City woman was called last week by a person who identified himself as a UTM sociology student who was conducting such a survey in this area.

Coast Guard depot on Mississippi important to area

by Carol Major

Perhaps one of the most attractive and well equipped building in the Hickman community but also one of the least recognized and applauded is the United States Coast Guard Hickman Depot.

I can't determine whether this is due to the fact that the Coast Guard in Hickman is still fairly new; because it is operated so smoothly and efficiently that there are few questions posed, or perhaps because citizens in the area are not personally affected by the duties of the Coast Guard and are, therefore, satisfied at its apparent oblivion.

I also can't think of any individual in Hickman who is any more guilty of this lack of curiosity than myself. Being a relatively recent arrival to the community, until I was requested to write an informative article which covered the coast guard, the best I had done was to drive past and wonder what was going on in and around the handsome facilities.

Monday, having visited the grounds and interviewed E6 Jack Wolfing, officer in charge of the depot, now, I not only realize the great responsibility and purpose of the Coast Guard unit in Hickman but feel a little closer to Hickman in understanding the impact and significance of a natural slack-water harbor.

Jack Wolfing, a knowledgeable and well-experienced man in his field, is a 33 year old native of Fresno, California.

He has served in the Coast Guard for 16 years and has four remaining years to serve before his retirement.

Wolfing, his wife, and their two daughters and one son, have lived in Hickman for two years and have become enthusiastic and interested members of the community.

The depot's officer in charge has been stationed overseas three times. He has served in Alaska, Viet Nam and the Far East. The remainder of the time, he has been stateside.

Seaman Paul Davis, who is now living in Union City with his wife and Seaman Stanley Schmidt, formerly of DeWitt, Iowa, who resides in Hickman, are the two men who work for Wolfing. Both are in their early twenties.

It is the responsibility of these three men to act as a support unit for the "Chippewa," the Coast Guard Cutter. Wolfing, Davis and Schmidt are in charge of servicing equipment as well as maintaining the "Chippewa" which is generally on the river one week and on portside the next.

These repairs are, at times, quite extensive and include the boat's engine, radar system and auxiliary equipment, including the buoys.

Wolfing also emphasized one other phase of his force's work, of which he felt few people of the area are aware. This is that he and his men are equipped and trained as a distress rescue team for persons in need. They have the facilities to aid in the happenstance of a fire, a drowning, or any other incident in which life or property is involved on the river.

At present the Coast Guard depot is open from 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday thru Friday. One of the three men is responsible to the depot each weekend so that, if an emergency should arise, he can be easily reached and available to assist.

There are aspirations to enlarge the force to four so that the depot can remain open at all times. This fourth man will find his home and necessary facilities in the Coast Guard Depot where there are sleeping quarters.

The building, the dedication of which took place September 28, 1971, provides accommodations for the troops on the boat. The depot includes a leisure room where the men can listen to the tape deck, play pool, or just relax. The room is also equipped with a sink, stove and refrigerator. In the bathroom area, a washer and dryer are available. There is also a spacious locker room where the men can store their personal belongings. Wolfing's office is situated in the front of the depot as one enters the building.

In the rear, a large, well heated garage serves as the repair headquarters.

Buoys of varied specifications and colors are ready behind the garage so that the "Chippewa's" crew is able to depend on repaired buoys to take for placement on the river whenever necessary.

The Coast Guard in Hickman also keeps two smaller boats for any incident which may occur requiring them.

The "Chippewa" is manned by thirteen troopers, BMCB (Boatman Mate Chief Master) Robert Bragg is the present officer in charge. He has served the Coast Guard for approximately 18 years. It is his duty to determine where lights should be located. Under his supervision, his crew maintains the "Chippewa" and tries to assure safety on the river. These men are liable for successful navigation on the river as well as smooth flowing shipping and traffic, twelve months out of the year. It is their job to position markers there. Someone ought to tell them we haven't had a Dollar General Store down here for about three years.

Noticed last week where a native of Dyer, Tennessee has been named executive vice-president and general manager of WLKY-TV in Louisville. Jeff Davidson, 34, was born in Dyer, attended Murray State, and came to Louisville from previous positions with WCDA-TV in Washington, DC, WPGH-TV in Pittsburgh and WSTV-TV in Wheeling, West Va.

Now here's a little gem to ponder. I ran across this last week:

"One unspayed female dog or cat, plus survival and reproduction of all progeny over a 10-year period, would result in 2,300,000,000 dogs or cats, reports a biological statistician."

Lordy.

I understand that a female alligator lays a million eggs a year, too, and the only reason we're not up to our neck in alligators is because something eats most of them.

I wonder if the humane society knows these things.

Major points and minor, too

by Gordon M. Quarnstrom

COZUMEL: As I relax on the beach on this lovely island in the Caribbean, I keep thinking about the words I heard from a friend just before leaving for Mexico: "Aren't you afraid you'll get sick?"

The old statement about gastro-intestinal upsets in Mexico keeps popping up all too often. My answer to the question is, "Of course not! Mrs. Q. and I have been in Mexico several times, and we've had no illness. If we do get sick, it will be our own fault...just as it would if we got a digestive upset at home."

It's too bad, really, that many people fail to visit charming Mexico because of a belief they'll get sick if they do.

Paul Mischon of Mexicana Airlines puts it simply: "Follow sensible eating and drinking rules wherever you are, whether in Mexico, Ireland or the United States. Don't deprive yourself of Mexico's many charms because of baseless fears."

Here are a few simple rules we follow when we travel in Mexico, and in most other countries: 1. Don't overeat, particularly in high altitudes or in the tropics; 2. Don't overeat and don't overdrink, but be temperate in whatever you do; 3. Use bottled water, for drinking and washing your teeth, and remember that ice can have bacteria, too; 4. Take a drink of beer to slake your thirst; 5. Avoid soft cheeses, unpasteurized milk, ice cream except in top restaurants, and cream desserts; 6. Don't eat leafy vegetables unless you know they have been washed in chlorinated water, and avoid raw vegetables and fruits you haven't peeled yourself; 7. Never buy tortillas or other items from street vendors; 8. Have your doctor prescribe a preparation, such as entero-vioform, to take as a precautionary thing.

Mexico City - Shopping in Mexico is a prime attraction for travelers, and Mexico City serves as the central market place for the entire Republic. Personally selecting each article in its place of origin has a special charm for many visitors but is impossible for the majority. A trend toward concentrating artisans or their wares in commercial areas, under official or private auspices, has become apparent in recent years. There are several such in Mexico City, as is pointed out by the good people of Mexicana Airlines.

The crafts section of the San Juan public market, operated by the city government, has been installed in a modern building at the corner of Ayuntamiento and Dolores, four blocks south of Avenida Juarez. It's big and within easy distance of a number of downtown hotels.

In 1970, a 16th Century building that formerly housed one of the city's oldest hospitals was converted into the Palace of Handicrafts. It is operated as a manufacturers' cooperative in which craftsmen sell their products direct to the public. There are more than 100 shops set up in the old wards and in the arcades surrounding the inner patio. It is located at Av. Hidalgo 45, opposite Alameda Park.

The Salon of Mexican Crafts is an elegant showroom for the output of regional craftsmen whose work is facilitated by the National Bank of Cooperative Development. It is at the southwest corner of Atenas and Versalles.

Saturday Bazaar, a private association of Mexican and foreign artisans, operates Saturdays only at Plaza San Jacinto No. 11 in the San Angel suburb. Most of the work exhibited here is Mexican-inspired, but it highly individualized and contemporary.

INTERVAL can prevent a tailgate crash, says the Allstate Motor Club. Never follow too closely on the highway, and get out of the path of the guy tailing you. Rearend crackups can be both costly and messy.

CAR REPAIR COSTS are mounting. Figures show that fixing the damage done in a front end collision to a Ford Fairlane 500, for instance, would be $947.64 in 1971 for the same damage that could be fixed for $388.77 in 1960. That's a rise of 144%. It's just another reason why the insurance companies are pressing for bumpers that protect the car instead of just being on for looks.

MY FAVORITE STORY A drunk at a cocktail party says to a beautiful girl: "I'll let you kiss me if you can tell what I've got in my hand." "A 500-pound canary," she answers. "That's close enough," says the drunk. - Charlie Manna.

It doesn't seem like that much time has passed, but the identification on the back of this picture shows that it was taken in August 1955, and that's 17 years ago! The above group of Fulton officers were all members of the 439th Civil Affairs Company, an Army Reserve unit then based in Paducah, and the above photo was taken August 8, 1955 while the unit was on active duty for summer training at Ft. FULTON'S

Library Corner

BY LUCY DANIEL

New books received this week at the Fulton Public Library:

TO SEIZE THE PASSING DREAM, by Ted Berkman. A lacerating wit, a notorious bon vivant, an artist of unique talent--James McNeill Whistler is largely known for the pictures he painted and the roles he played. In this biographical novel, the author shows Whistler as the man he was. He probes the artist's relationships with his mistresses, records the verbal pyrotechnics of his celebrated feuds, and traces his friendship with George Du Maurier, Oscar Wilde, Degas, Monet, and many others. Here, too, are the stories behind his most famous works.

THE CALL TO GLORY, by Jeane Dixon. The Call to Glory is the call for revolution, for the revival and rebirth of faith. This call, which has already inflamed the youth of America to a Jesus Revolution, has the potential to turn all men--believing and unbelieving--away from materialism and cynicism, toward justice, brotherhood, and truth. Jeane Dixon, whose extraordinary ability to see into the future and predict the great events that have come to pass, provides a blueprint for today's groping world.

ROGUES TO RICHES, by Murray Teigh Bloom. Up to now there has been a good reason why insiders have refrained from telling how the stock exchange works--an elaborate censorship strictly enforced by the New York Stock Exchange. But the people in this book don't care who's listening--as they tell the tricks they used to become millionaires.

BEGINNING WITH A BASH, by Alice Tilton. A freezing wind blew through the streets of Boston. To Martin Jones, shivering outside Peter's secondhand bookstore, the sign "Come in and Browse--It's Warm Inside" looked inviting. So in he went; but others too had sought the shelter of the store--among them, Prof. John North. Sensations were to follow quickly during the next few minutes, and soon after, Prof. North was found amid a sea of books--his head bashed in. And Martin Jones was immediately charged with the crime.

LISTEN FOR THE WHISPERER, by Phyllis A. Whitney. The harsh beauty of Norway provides the backdrop for this compelling new novel of romance and suspense. It is the story of Leigh Hollins, a young woman forced by her father's dying wish to face a past that had embittered her life. Leigh's father was a famed novelist, and her mother, a great actress of Hollywood's golden age. But they had never married. Leigh grew up without knowing her real mother--viewing the distant, romantic figure with bitterness and resentment. Her father's death, however, brought them together, as Leigh honored his deathbed request to travel to Bergen, Norway, and search out Laura Worth, the woman who had known his deepest love.

VOYAGE TO THE FIRST OF DECEMBER, by Henry Carlisle. This novel is drawn from the facts of a notorious episode in U.S. naval history, the Somers Mutiny Affair of 1842. The story of the conflict between eighteen-year-old Midshipman Philip Spencer, son of President Tyler's Secretary of War, and the man of necessities, Alexander Siddell Mackenzie, commander of the Somers, provides an existential excursion to the center of a tragedy in our past, which brilliantly illuminates the present.

THE FATAL FRIENDSHIP, by Stanley Loomis. The friendship began on a winter evening in 1774 at an Opera Ball in Paris when a lighthearted princess approached a youth of surpassing physical beauty. It ended for one of them at the scaffold in the Place de la Revolution in the most famous death scene in French history, and for the other at the hands of an infuriated mob in Stockholm square. The youth was a Swedish nobleman, Count Axel Fersen, and the young princess was Marie Antoinette, soon to become queen of France.

THE BOOK OF SKULLS, by Robert Silverberg. "Hear this, O Nobly-Born; life eternal we offer thee."

sent in Fulton on Tuesday, when the local Parent-Teachers Association was host to the Spring district meeting of the association. Mrs. Ward Bushart, president of the local organization headed the local committee on arrangements and hospitality.

Ed Diddle, Western's colorful basketball coach, has accepted an invitation to speak at the annual basketball banquet sponsored by the Fulton Lions Club on Monday, April 21, at 7 p. m.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

APRIL 22, 1927

Over two thousand refugees from the devastating Mississippi flood are now encamped at Hickman; this is only one of the many camps in the area for flood victims. A special collection for funds is being taken this week to help the unfortunate.

The annual Easter Egg hunt at the fairgrounds drew hundreds Sunday. Herbert William found the egg awarding him a year's subscription to the paper.

More flood news: The Missouri Pacific and the M&O Railroads were using I. C. tracks through Fulton this week, because theirs were out... a serious break in the levee at Scott, Mississippi as the paper went to press Thursday threatens a wide Delta area... the levee break at Dorena has caused great loss to farms belonging to Ira Little and L. H. Howard... the Browder Milling Company has sent a carload of flour and meal to flood refugees at Hickman... somebody's house passed through Memphis Saturday enroute to the Gulf of Mexico... the Mississippi at Hickman fell 20 1/2 inches when the levee broke at Dorena Tuesday... The Fulton Ice Company, with 2000 tons of ice in reserve, is caring for much emergency icing on the Illinois Central during the flood... the town of Mounds, Illinois, has been without regular water for several days as a result of floodwaters drowning out town pumps. Residents ride to the railroad yard in boats to get their shipped in drinking water.

Popular Randall Burcham, prominent in local civic affairs and Shell Oil distributor for Fulton, was elected president of the Rotary Club at the regular meeting on Tuesday. He succeeds Paul Westpheling.

Other officers elected include: Russel Gaskins, vice-president; Arch Huddleston, treasurer; Fred Gibson, secretary.

The new board of directors will be composed of Randall Burcham, J. R. Hogan, Arch Huddleston, T. J. Kramer, Jr., Don Tappan, Russell Gaskins and Paul Westpheling.

been almost commuting to Frankfort every Wednesday and coming back Sunday. I have been involved in a rather interesting project up that way, working with interesting people, and visiting with my favorite friend Ellis Merrifield.

The project is ended this week, but that's not what I started to tell you.

What I wanted to comment on is that I found a tremendously interesting number of Fulton County people who were state employees under the last administration and who had some of the fanciest titles I ever heard of.

For instance there were four employees with the title of highway foreman, grades on, two, three, four. There were bridge inspectors, financial executive officers, and safety directors like you never heard of. And some very prominent people held the jobs and rarely left the county.

Oh no, I'm not going to publish them, so don't worry. But the next time I run into any of these folks, whose employment has been terminated, I think I will have a hard time keeping a straight face.

... So There's Discontent

It was necessary to mention the above statistic because it will explain the reasons for some of the complaining you hear about the present Wendell Ford Administration.

Governor Ford fulfilled a campaign promise to cut out the waste and extravagance in state government and the first thing he did was to terminate thousands of jobs, costing millions of dollars a year.

But what happens is that a lot of people who said they wanted Governor Ford to be a good governor, to protect the merit system, now are more than annoyed because they want good government for everybody but themselves.

Unfortunately the jobs that Governor Ford terminated are being sought after by many of Ford's election supporters, and there just aren't any, that's all.

And the way it looks from my viewpoint there won't be any, and that's as it should be.

Speeding Signs

I suggest that those of you who travel the Middle Road to Hickman and Fulton and are being apprehended for exceeding the speed limit gave yourself a little memory exam.

Can anybody tell quickly what the night-time speed limit is on the road?

The speed limit is 50 miles at night and 60 miles during daylight hours. This is the Kentucky law, but have you noticed that nowhere visible on that stretch of road is there a sign that reminds the motorist of these limits?

I realize that any Kentucky motorist ought to know this law, but think of the many people from other states who travel it without a reminder.

If highway signs designating the speed limits are not important, as they seem not to be on the Middle Road, I wonder why the toll roads and the inter-state systems have a speed limit reminder every several miles or so.

My point in mentioning this is to remind the proper authorities that if speed limits are important on more heavily traveled roads, they are just as important on the lesser traveled roads.

So, why not put some speed limit signs on the Middle and other roads in the county as a highway safety precaution. Certainly, it would help busy people who are in a hurry to get from one point to another to be more cautious.

Warren-Ross Nuptials Held April 8 At Kingdom Hall

Miss Rosemary Warren became the bride of William James Ross, Jr., in an impressive double ring ceremony Saturday, April 8, 1972 at three o'clock in the afternoon at Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses. Raymond Clark was the officiating minister.

The vows were exchanged before an altar, flanked by two large arrangements of white glads, interspersed with greenery.

A program of nuptial music was provided by Miss Inez Young, pianist, as the guests were assembling.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Eli Warren, Sr., wore a wedding gown of white peau de sole, with pale blue lace motifs. Her floor length veil of white illusion fell from a lace bow.

She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations, fashioned with miniature blue flowers, and white satin streamers.

Miss Shirley Warren, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pale blue dress with navy blue braid outlining the dress. She carried a bouquet, similar to that of the bride, in white carnations with blue lace and blue streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Bailey of Gleason, Tennessee, Mrs. Eli Warren, Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, and

Notes and News From—

Haws Memorial

Bless our volunteers! Devotion is a word that truly applies to every one who takes their time, their energies, and their love to visit in nursing homes. Those who visit so regularly and so unselfishly at Haws are a blessing. When volunteers arrive at 9 o'clock on a Monday morning or any morning and say "What can we do?" That is devotion. The joy of seeing a new face, hearing a new voice, accepting a helping hand cannot be written on paper. There is a satisfaction from being a volunteer. Anyone who has ever done any volunteer work knows the feeling. We appreciate and admire people for their unfaltering and untiring work but somehow don't put it into words often enough. To each person, each group who has shown their care in so many ways we say we say very simply and very deeply, "Thank you."

This past Monday morning a group gathered in the dining room and stuffed animals. We like to use old nylon hose for stuffing. It is easy to pick up, hold and work with. We have run out and we need some. If you have any please don't throw them out. Give us a call and we'll pick them up.

Wednesday our Bible class meets at 10:30 and the Bookmobile also arrives that day. Next Sunday Mrs. J.U. McKendree will bring another group of her piano students out at 3:30. We are looking forward to hearing these students play for us.

We wish a speedy recovery to one of our favorite visitors, James Robert Putnam who has been in the hospital. Hurry and get well so you can come out and see us. Mr. Ratcliff misses kidding with you.

Marci Toalson, Justin Brabham United In Marriage On March 18

Miss Desedra Marcilene Toalson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hunter Toalson of Fulton, became the bride of Justin W. Brabham II, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brabham I of Terrebonne, Oregon, on Saturday, March 18, at 4:30 in the evening at The First Methodist Church in Hickman, Kentucky. The Rev. Edgar Siress, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony.

The altar had an arrangement of white glads, yellow roses and daisies flanked on either side by 20 brass Cathedral candelabras. Baskets of white glads and daisies and tall brass stands of jade greenery with 10 brass tree candelabras. The chancel rail was decorated with fern balls.

Music was provided by Mrs. Jesse McNeill, organist, of Hickman. Selections were "More" by Ortolain & Oliviero, "Moon River" by Mercer & Mancini, "Till There Was You" by M. Wilson, "Ave Maria" by Charles Gounod from First Prelude of J.S. Bach, "Love Story," was sung by the groom as the bridal party entered the sanctuary. At the end of the ceremony, Mr. Brabham sang, "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the chancel rail.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a Mora Lee original gown of imported organdy. The fitted bodice was graced with a pinaflore effect of imported Spanish lace accented with six tiny self-covered buttons. The stand-up neckline and long full sleeves ending with matching lace ruffles trimmed with miniature daisies, complimented the empire A-line style.

The floor length skirt was highlighted with lace bands covered with miniature daisies and a generous shirred lace border underlaid in yellow. The "Total Look" design was completed with a full length Mantilla of imported illusion bordered with Spanish lace overlaid with miniature daisies. The Mantilla formed her chapel length train.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of yellow roses with white daisies and white satin streamers.

Miss Judy Cole of Hickman, Kentucky was maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of yellow crepe which featured a stand-up neckline, long full sleeves and an empire waistline accented with miniature daisies.

Miss Christie Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Perry of South Fulton was flower girl. Mr. Michael Toalson, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Bob Gorton of Denver, Colorado. The ushers were Paul Davis of Union City and Wayne Phillips of Denver, Colorado.

Mrs. Toalson chose for her daughter's wedding a knit suit in pastel pink with coordinating accessories.

Mrs. Brabham, the groom's mother, chose a dress of navy and white knit with white accessories. They each wore a cymbidium orchid.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the church. The bride's table was decorated in yellow overlaid with white lace. The centerpiece was of white glads, yellow roses and daisies. The guests were served from a four-tiered wedding cake decorated with daisies and tiny yellow roses. Punch, mixed nuts and mints were served also. Assisting in serving were Mrs. John Oliver and Mrs. Jack Word.

Miss Cindy Anderson served at the guest register. Seventy-five guests attended and were presented with rice bars.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Toalson entertained relatives and members of the wedding party with a rehearsal dinner at the Hickman Cafe on March 14.

After a short wedding trip the couple is making their home at 805 Walnut Street, Fulton, Kentucky. The groom is presently serving in the United States Coast Guard and is stationed on the Coast Guard Cutter Chippewa at Hickman, Kentucky.

KRECC Offers New College Scholarships

Two new scholarship programs to provide $2,000 each to Kentucky college youth have been announced by the state's rural electric cooperatives. Included in the new scholarships are $500 in grants, $500 in interest-free loans, and $1,000 in earnings for on-the-job summer work all granted on an annual basis. Repayment of the loan amounts will be forgiven under certain conditions. The program is open to students who have completed their sophomore year in a recognized Kentucky college.

Among the stipulations for eligibility is that the student must select and pursue a curriculum which would prepare the individual for a career as a manager of a rural electric system. Other eligibility stipulations relate to citizenship, scholarship, character and leadership capabilities.

The new scholarship program will be administered by the State Association of Rural Electric Cooperatives through a special committee of the Board of Directors. Students seeking more information or interested in applying for one of the scholarships are to contact Don Wood, Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation, 4515 Bishop Lane, Louisville, Kentucky 40218.

Applications for the 1972-73 school terms being accepted up to May 10, 1972.

Ann Landers

— Your Problems Bring Answers —

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this letter for the benefit of others who don't know they can get hooked on nose drops and nasal sprays.

It started when I was pregnant and having trouble breathing. The doctor suggested a nasal decongestant. He said the directions were on the bottle. To make a long story short, I got hooked. It became embarrassing—spraying all the time, leaving restaurant tables sometimes three or four times to go spray my nasal passages. If I ran out of decongestant I panicked—like an addict who needed a fix.

When I told my doctor I was afraid I was addicted he said, "The only way to get off is to quit using it." I tried, but my sinuses swelled up and my eyes became red and puffy. My throat was so sore I could barely swallow. "I finally got off the stuff by medicating only one nostril and letting the other one heal. Then I suffered through, cold turkey, with the second nostril.

Please tell people to be careful. Just because a product can be purchased without a prescription doesn't mean it is safe.—One Who Nose

Dear One: You told them, and in a way I couldn't have. And I might add that you certainly didn't get much help from your doctor. He should have prescribed other medication that would have provided relief and unhooked you.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17-year-old overweight girl. Last year I went on a diet and lost 39 pounds. I bought three size 8 dresses and four pairs of tight-fitting slacks. I was thrilled to get into them. Then, for some mysterious reason, I began to overeat again. I lost complete control of myself and gained 45 pounds.

My sister who has never seen a fat day in her life has been weaning my size 8 clothes. When I catch her, the battles start. There is no good reason for her to be sneaking mine.

When I ask my mother to make her stop she says, "You are acting like a spoiled brat. Lose weight and wear them yourself, then your sister won't be tempted."

Is it fair? Am I behaving like a spoiled brat? Please give me some advice.—Plump-But Not Pleasing Anyone

Dear Plump: I don't like to tell a teen-ager her mom is off base, but yours is. She should insist that your sister leave your clothes alone. This problem, however, is small compared with 45 pounds of excess baggage at age 17. I urge you to get a complete physical checkup. If there is no organic reason for your obesity, get on a doctor's diet and stay on it. I recommend counseling also. It sounds as if your unresolved emotional problems are compelling you to overeat.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I haven't been married very long and we need some advice from a person who has had some experience with bosses and business—especially executives.

Jimmy went to work for this firm 15 months ago. Yesterday he received an unexpected bonus. Of course we were thrilled. The money means a great deal, but the fact that he was rewarded for his work means even more. What we want to know is this: Would it be all right if we wrote a thank-you letter to the boss or would it be out of line?—Cloud 19

Dear 19: A letter of appreciation is never out of line. The letter should be from your husband, however, not from you. And keep it simple. Excessive gushiness can be embarrassing.

Are drugs O.K. if you learn how to control them? Can they be of help? The answers are in Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (16¢ postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

for the turning and passing of river vehicles. In the event that a bar begins to form or there is a shallow place in the river, these men carefully mark the area.

At times, the Coast Guard acts as a disciplinary measure. They are sternly conscious of the Pollution Act and are authorized to take action if they are witnesses to a sizeable violation. It is, however, not the duty of the Coast Guard to check out boats or license them. This is carried out by the Marine Inspection which is located in Paducah.

The area which the Hickman Coast Guard is in charge of extends north, five miles south of Cape Girardeau, Missouri and south to Cherokee Point. The coast guard which supervises the north is located in St. Louis and to the south in Memphis.

It is, I hope, now more clear and understandable just how extensive and awesome the activities of the Hickman Coast Guard are. It certainly enlightened my concept of the Coast Guard and even more so, the reasoning for the placement of a unit to oversee the natural harbor.

Scout's News

In spite of wind and rain the Cherokee District held a Camporee at Columbus State Park this past weekend.

We had 100% of our Troops present. Troop No. 41 Hickman--Troop 42, Fulton--Troop 43 Fulton, Troop 114 South Fulton and Troop No. 35 Clinton, with a total of 71 Scouts, 15 Troop leaders and 7 District Committee members. Also had 50 parents and friends drop by Saturday night for the Campfire program.

We have had many camporees but this was one of the best we have ever had. Never has the Spirit of Scouting been more evident than this weekend. Needless to say conditions were not the best, but no where did you see anyone complaining. Most of all, our hats are off to Troop No. 41 of Hickman. This was their very first trip of any kind, but they handled the situation like veterans.

Troop No. 43 of Fulton was the winner of the top award. This award was given to the Troop that most displayed the Spirit of Scouting in all areas. Troop No. 42 and 43 are to be commended for sharing their equipment and camping area with Troop No. 41. Since Troop No. 41 had not had time to get together any equipment these two troops took them in and made them feel welcome. This is what Scouting is all about. District Committee members present were: Bill Stokes, Jimmy Jones, Bill Johnson, Thomas Exum, Billy Blackstone and Charles Walker.

SFHS Club Will Offer Comedy Play

"Arsenic and Old Lace" a mystery comedy in three acts will be presented Thursday, April 27 by members of the English Club of South Fulton High School.

The cast is relatively small with only 14 characters. They are: Abby Brewster, Ginger Fields; The Rev. Dr. Harper, Mark Robey; Teddy Brewster, Billy Gray; Officer Brophy, Don Green; Officer Klein, Tommy Kelly; Martha Brewster, Katie Malray; Elaine Harper, Susan Bloodworth; Mortimer Brewster, Mike Easterwood; Mr. Gibbs, Joe Mathews; Jonathan Brewster, Wayne Campbell; Dr. Einstein, Tim Hayden; Officer O'Hara, James Mathias; Lieutenant Rooney, Donald Lewis; Mr. Witherspoon, Dick Green.

The four English teachers are co-sponsors of the play. They are: Mrs. Linda Barclay, Mrs. Sallie Ferguson, Mrs. Abba McCoy and Mrs. Rosemary Coleman.

Admission to the play will be $1.00 for adults, 50¢ for students and $2.00 per family.

UTM, MSU Announce Their "Coming Attractions"

U-T, MARTIN

The Third Annual University of Tennessee at Martin Rodeo will be held Friday and Saturday night April 21 and 22 at the Obion County Fairgrounds in Union City, Tennessee. Performances will begin at 8:00 p.m. each evening with rain date set for Sunday, April 23. Admission will be $1.50 for children under 12 and $2.00 for adults. Advance tickets for children are $1.25 and $1.75 for adults. All children under eight admitted free.

Each performance will have seven events consisting of barrel racing, roping, steer wrestling, barrel racing, goat tying, wild cow milking, and bull riding. Entry fees will be $10.00 per event.

In preparation for this rodeo the UTM Rodeo Team has worked extremely hard in making this the greatest rodeo in West Tennessee. The riders of the team have rented horses from Loretta Lynn's rodeo company for practice. These men have spent numerous hours of work, and have many bumps and bruises to prove it, to make this rodeo one for all to remember.

The University of Tennessee at Martin will host the West Tennessee Band and Orchestra Directors' Association stage band festival on April 22. Dr. Ernest C. Harriss, chairman of the UTM Department of Music, has announced.

The festival is open to the public and will begin at 10 a.m. and conclude at approximately 6 p.m. The event annually attracts high school stage bands from throughout West Tennessee and surrounding states.

Robert C. Fleming, assistant professor of music at the University of Tennessee at Martin, will present a faculty recital on April 24 at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Theatre.

The program will include, "Sonata VI" by Bach, "Sonata No. 4" by Georg Philipp Telemann, "Concerto" by G. B. Pergolesi, "Duet No. 4" by Johann Joachim Quantz and "Concerto in D Major" by Mozart.

The recital is free to the public.

The Nashville Youth Symphony, now in its twenty-fifth season, will perform at the University of Tennessee at Martin at 8 p.m. on April 27. Jointly sponsored by UTM and the Tennessee Arts Commission, tickets may be purchased at the door for $1.00. Tickets for a special matinee at 1 p.m. for public school children are 50¢.

Today, the symphony has a membership of 77 gifted young people representing 28 schools in Nashville and the surrounding area. The group is financed by the Nashville Symphony Association.

MURRAY STATE U.

Dr. Van Bogard Dunn, dean of the Methodist Theological School in Ohio will be on campus at Murray State University April 18 thru 20th as the United Campus Ministry Visiting Theologian.

Dr. Dunn, a graduate of Murray State and a native of Sedalia, Kentucky will give an address at the University Humanities Forum Wednesday the 19th at 7:30 p.m. That afternoon at the 12:30 UCM luncheon Dr. Dunn and Dr. C. S. Lowry, Professor Emeritus at Murray State University, will engage in a dialogue on the Relevance of the Christian Faith. Dr. Dunn will also be speaking in various university classes and will be available to talk with the students interested in careers in the ministry.

More than 200 individual Murray State University students who have distinguished themselves through academic achievement and leadership will share the spotlight during the annual Honors Day program Sunday, April 30.

Scheduled at 2 p.m. (CDT) in the university auditorium, the program will include presentation of grants, cash awards, certificates and citations by the university and various campus honorary and scholastic organizations.

Charles L. Eldridge, director of school relations and chairman of the Honors Day committee, said one of the largest crowds ever to attend Honors Day is expected to gather to recognize award recipients.

P-4 Fulton Co. News, Thursday, April 20, 1972

For the fourth consecutive year, Murray State University will offer a three-week Creative Writing Workshop on the campus this summer under the direction of Kentucky author and poet Jesse Stuart.

The courses, to be offered June 26 through July 14, again will include studies of four writing forms--short story, novel, poetry and special articles--according to Dr. L. J. Horton, director of journalism at Murray State and campus coordinator for the workshop. Designed to foster and encourage creative writing by affording students a close working relationship with professional writers, the workshop will have all four of last year's faculty members back for this fourth summer of work.

Students may enroll in any one of the four courses for three semester hours of undergraduate or graduate credit or for non-credit and may audit any of the other three classes without additional charge.

Informational literature as well as enrollment application forms may be obtained by writing to Wilson Gantt, dean of Admissions and Registrar, Murray State University, Murray, Ky., 42071.

The youth then asked the woman a number of questions, which she answered.

Becoming suspicious following the conversation, she called the Sociology Department and discovered that no such survey was being conducted.

According to Mr. Cook, each student majoring in sociology writes a research paper. However, he said the topic of these papers must be approved by his instructor.

"At no time do we allow students to take controversial subjects for their research papers. Students can learn the principles of research without the use of such subjects."

"I would like to point out also that no student has ever been authorized to collect his data over the telephone."

"Usually students conduct their surveys right here on the UTM campus but occasionally they go into high schools. In this case, however, they must get permission from the principal involved and must also submit their questionnaires for his inspection," Mr. Cook said.

He went on to say that calls similar to the one last week in Union City are most damaging to the UTM Sociology Department in that they can hinder legitimate research activities conducted by the students of the department.

Al Strayhorn, local South Central Bell manager, said today if such calls persist, equipment will be used to trace them.

INSPECTION PERIOD FOR THE PROPERTY TAX ASSESSMENT ROLL

The Fulton County property tax roll will be opened for inspection from May 1 through May 5, 1972. Under the supervision of the property valuation administrator or one of his deputies, any property owner may inspect the tax roll to check the assessment of his property and compare it with the assessment of comparable property to determine whether it is equitably assessed. The tax roll may not be inspected for any other purpose.

This is the January 1, 1972 assessment on which state, county, and school taxes for 1972 will be due on September 15, 1972.

The tax roll is in the office of the property valuation administrator in the county courthouse and may be inspected between the hours 8 A. M. and 4 P. M.

Mail Sales Deemed Hazardous To Postal Workers Are Banned

Sales promotions and contests that ask people to mail items which could cause injury to U.S. postal workers are now banned by law.

The U.S. Postal Service says that in the past sales promotion techniques frequently resulted in the mailing of envelopes that contained "under-packaged" metal and plastic articles.

Those articles—such as bottle caps, jar tops, can lids and metal package opening strips—can injure postal employees as well as damage mail processing equipment, the postal service said.

A Postal Service official told a congressional hearing that such articles were being projected with considerable force by high-speed mail sorting machines. Employees were also subject to injury when they reached into collection boxes to remove mail that contained sharp metal objects, the official said.

The United States Criminal Code has long barred from the mails any article that may kill or injure persons, or damage mail or property. The new law strengthens this bar by adding a section that reads:

"And advertising, promotional, or sales matter which solicits or induces the mailing of anything declared nonmailable by this section is likewise nonmailable unless such matter contains wrapping or packaging instructions which are in accord with regulations promulgated by the Postal Service."

The law prescribes a fine of up to $1,000 and imprisonment for up to one year for each violation.

SECOND SECTION

ON THE DOGWOOD TRAIL — April 23 has been set for the beginning of the annual Lighted Dogwood Trail festivities. The week's events will include bus tours, musical programs, art exhibits and a reception.

Dogwood Trail To Begin April 23

The annual Lighted Dogwood Trail will open Sunday April 23, with a program at City Hall under the auspices of the Paducah Civic Beautification Board. Mrs. T. C. Mundy and Mrs. Richard Roof will be in charge. The event is scheduled for 7 p.m.

A musical program will be presented by the Jettonettes, directed by Jean Gross and the 16-piece Paducah Tilghman High School string orchestra, directed by D. E. Watters. James Joplin will play the piano. Mayor Pro-tem Henry Puryear will present awards to the winners of citations to homes not included in the trail route. An art exhibit on the theme, "Springtime," will be displayed by students from the Paducah city schools, Heath High School, Concord Elementary School, and the Reidland schools. Special citations will be given each entrant in the art show, which will be on display for a week.

Clyde Lawter will also show his paintings on April 23 in the City Hall foyer. A reception will be given by the Beautification Board preceding the program.

The buses will leave to travel along the trail at 8 p.m., immediately following the program.

The buses will also make the trail tour on Tuesday, April 25, and Friday, April 28 (not April 27, as originally announced).

Conference On Aging Is May 30

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Gov. Wendell Ford has announced that the Governor's Conference on Aging will be held May 30 at the Seelbach Hotel in Louisville.

Leaders from the national administration, the U.S. Senate, and Kentucky state government are expected to attend the conference.

In discussing the meeting, Governor Ford said, "The many new programs offered today for the aging will make this a very important and informative conference for the elderly."

MSU, PCC Tuition Increased

By SUE MILLER

Sun-Democrat Staff Writer
Students at Murray State University face a tuition increase of $30 per semester next year, and Paducah Community College students will pay an additional $22.50.

Tuition rates at all state colleges and universities, with the exception of the University of Louisville, will go up for the 1972-73 school year and again in 1973-74.

The increases were approved Tuesday by the state Council on Public Higher Education, meeting at the University of Kentucky.

The rate hikes are scheduled to go into effect for the fall 1972, but the council gave permission for universities to increase rates for the summer sessions if desired.

At Paducah Community College and other UK community colleges the present tuition is $150 per semester for state residents. This will increase to $172.50 in the fall of 1972-73 and to $195 in the fall of 1973-74.

Out-of-state tuition at the community colleges is $400 per semester, and it will remain at that level throughout the period.

At the regional schools, such as Murray State University, the tuition for residents now is the same as that for the community colleges, $150 per semester. This will increase to $180 for fall 1972-73 and to $210 for fall 1973-74.

Out-of-state tuition will increase from the present level of $400 to $438 in 1972-73 and to $475 in 1973-74.

These increases are for Eastern, Western, Morehead and Murray State Universities and Kentucky State and Northern Kentucky State colleges.

The University of Kentucky tuition, now at $165 for resident and $515 for non-resident students, will be increased to $202.50 and $560 per semester in 1972-73. The rate will go up to $240 for resident and $605 for non-resident students in 1973-74.

The only school in the state allowed a decrease in rates was the University of Louisville, where rates will go from $525 per semester for resident students this year to $500 in 1972-73 and $475 in 1973-74. Non-resident tuition will remain at $975 throughout the period.

The tuition rate hikes follow proposals contained in the state's 1972-74 biennial budget, adopted by the general assembly during the recent legislative session. The Ford administration and state budget makers said funds for higher education during the budget period are limited and students should pay a higher percentage of the costs of their education.

The increased tuition rates will bring in an estimated $19.5 million if the state's college enrollment is maintained in the state schools.

ELECTS OFFICERS

The Fulton City Education Association met April 6, in the Carr Elementary library. Among other business, officers were elected for the coming two years. Those elected were: Miss Diane Stow, president; John Covington, vice president; Mrs. Linda Hamblen, secretary-treasurer.

CANCER DRIVE

The annual Cancer Crusade in Fulton will be held April 20-21, according to an announcement by Mrs. Bobby Snider, public information chairman. Anyone wishing to give a memorial gift to the Cancer Fund during the budget period are limited and students should pay Burnette for special material.

INDUSTRY FOR TWIN CITIES

It is time for us who live in Fulton, Ky., and South Fulton, Tenn., to be very concerned about getting industry to settle in our twin cities.

I will propose this plan and offer it to the general public:

1. Fifty people give $300 a year for a two (2) year period.
2. The local Chamber of Commerce hire a capable person to have one goal only: get industry to settle in our Twin Cities. The local Chamber of Commerce office is already set up.
3. A committee called "Directors of Industry" would be formed, and the fifty people who give $300 a year would make up this committee.
4. I will now make my pledge of $300 per year, for a total of two years.
5. Our two fine towns are slipping. We cannot live off our surrounding communities any longer. We must have industry right here.
6. Will 49 other people join me?

PART-TIME HELP WANTED

The Fulton News and Shopper have an immediate opening for a good typist who would like to work Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays only, normally seven or eight hours each day.

We would give preference to a lady whose children are either grown or in school and would like to pick up some extra money doing part-time work, although anyone qualified will be considered.

This is a permanent position, operating modern electronic typesetting equipment which is easy for a typist to learn.

Wages are commensurate with ability, and will increase as familiarity with the job is mastered. The work is clean work, in clean surroundings.

Please answer in person. I want to show you what we have to work with.

FOOD COST CHOPPER—Chop those pennies—maybe dollars—off of your food budget. Buy wisely and use what you buy to its best advantage.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture specialists suggest ways to save on your weekly food costs. Buy weekend meat, poultry and fish specials. Buy variety meats, such as liver. Save several pennies a pound by buying dressed chicken whole rather than cut-up. Buy medium-sized eggs when they are 1/8 cheaper than large eggs. Buy small eggs when they are 1/4 cheaper than large eggs. Increase purchases of dry beans, and peas, and peanut butter.

Volunteers Now Working With Welfare Recipients

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The Department of Economic Security's volunteer program is finally beginning to pick up steam, DES officials report.

At last report, 326 volunteers in 16 counties were working with Kentucky welfare recipients, providing a variety of services. Norma Johnson, state volunteer coordinator for Economic Security, pointed out that most of these counties had implemented volunteer programs in just the last few months, and added that she expects every county in the state to establish a volunteer program within the next three months.

Federal legislation requires every state social agency that receives federal funds to establish programs utilizing volunteer services. The DES program was established last May but, since the summer months were used to lay the groundwork for the new program, it was not implemented until the early fall.

Under the program's ground rules, each county's public assistance office is responsible for running its own volunteer program and deciding which services are in most need of volunteers. DES serves primarily as a coordinating agency, offering suggestions and helping recruit volunteers for the county offices.

So far, the volunteers have come primarily from local high schools, colleges and church groups, but housewives and professional people have also volunteered in some areas. The services they provide for welfare recipients include arranging transportation to job interviews, visiting the blind, aged or disabled, tutoring children or baby-sitting during an emergency situation, to name a few.

These are needed services that the local offices were previously unable to provide because of heavy caseloads.

Officials in Economic Security are hopeful that the experience will benefit the volunteers as much as recipients by helping to dispel the many myths that surround the welfare program and its recipients.

O.K. Vick, a sociology instructor at Paducah Community College, whose students make up the bulk of the volunteers in McCracken County, agreed with this assumption.

Vivian Parks Named To Direct 'Rameses'

AURORA, Ky.—Miss Vivian Parks of Owensboro has been appointed director of the 1972 production of "Rameses: The Story of Moses," according to producer Frank Gonzales.

The play is performed each summer in Kenlake Amphitheatre, Kenlake State Park.

In making the appointment Gonzales said, "I am very pleased to announce the appointment of Vivian Parks to succeed Phillip Padgett, the production's director for the past two seasons. Padgett, now pursuing a professional acting career, will serve as consulting director for the coming season."

Miss Parks has her degree in speech-drama from Kentucky Wesleyan College in Owensboro where she costumed and appeared in over 30 plays. Her honors include: best actress, 1971; best director, 1971; and technical awards in 1969, 1970 and 1971. She was the recipient of the Harry Holder Award in 1970 and 1971 and the Tom Ewell Scholarship Award in 1971.

"Rameses" is a tremendous play," Padgett said. "It is a visual production with over 80 costumes and the sets are massive and magnificent. There's two years of my work in this production. Vivian is a most versatile and talented individual. She is a fine actress, the best costumer I know and an excellent director. I am most happy to recommend her as the play's new director and I look forward to working with her."

"I could not be more excited over my new appointment," Miss Parks said. "I have been with 'Rameses' since it started and I am looking forward to my first year as director. Also, I am looking forward to working with producer Frank Gonzales. I have watched his work in the past and know the real support and guidance he gives to his directors. It looks like a fun summer," she added.

Auditions are scheduled at 10 a.m., April 22 and April 23 at the amphitheatre.

12,000 Persons Visit Local Goodyear Plant

Blowing up toy balloons for an estimated 3,800 children is a heck of a job even if lung power isn't used. Balloons were handed out as favors to the small fry Wednesday as the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plant in Union City staged a Community Appreciation Day, but tanks of helium were used to blow them up.

"We were told that one tank of helium would be enough but it soon became evident that more would be needed," a Goodyear spokesman said today. "So we sent to Mayfield and got two more tanks."

SCORE Help Now Coming To Paducah

The Small Business Administration provides counseling for persons in the Paducah area on the 1st and 3rd Thursday of each month. A SCORE Counselor will be available for interviewing and counseling from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. on the 1st Thursday, and on the 3rd Thursday from 12:00 noon to 3:00 p.m., a Loan Officer from the Louisville District Office of SBA will be in Paducah.

The office is located in the City Hall on the first floor. The phone number is (502) 444-6381.

In order to determine credit and eligibility requirements for SBA loan programs it is suggested that the businessman bring with him a recent financial statement or balance sheet of the business and a profit and loss statement for the previous year. This information pertains to established businesses. However, anyone interested in establishing a new business is encouraged to consult with this representative as well as other businessmen who are in need of financial advice or assistance.

Majorette Auditions Scheduled At Murray

MURRAY, Ky.—Majorette auditions for the 1972-73 "Marching Thoroughbred Band" at Murray State University will be held on Saturday, April 22.

Roger Reichmuth, marching band director, said tryouts will begin at 1 p.m. in the band room of the new addition to the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center. He added that girls with twirling and majorette line experience in high school are encouraged to audition.

To include from four to eight girls next year, the majorette line will be featured with the band at all appearances. Majorettes execute feature numbers during each show and are encouraged to present solo routines at home basketball games, as well as participation in precision routines with the band.

"All positions in the line are open each year," Reichmuth emphasized. "Auditions consist of a solo routine from three to six minutes in length involving the rudiments which each candidate feels she executes best. East girl is also asked to march to the band's percussion cadences and to learn an impromptu routine taught at the audition."

He said judging of the auditions is based upon showmanship, routine variety, speed control and precision, smoothness and gracefulness, and general appearance. Two professional twirling teachers will assist Reichmuth in the judging.

Majorette selections are being made in the spring, Reichmuth explained, so the girls will have an opportunity to work together before reporting to the annual band camp on the campus Aug. 22-26, the week prior to fall semester registration.

Auditions for drum major and for the eight-member flag bearer unit for next year will be held during the band camp.

Girls interested in the majorette auditions may contact Reichmuth, or obtain an application from the Band Office, Third Floor, Price Doyle Fine Arts Center, Murray State University, Murray.

Need A Job? Call This Number, Free

Senator Marlow Cook has advised Kentuckians that the Federal Job Information Center in Louisville has established a toll-free telephone service by which a person may determine current Civil Service job opportunities, obtain veteran employment assistance and be advised as to how to apply for jobs for which the person is qualified.

Senator Cook stated that interested parties should know what type of positions they are interested in and be prepared to answer questions regarding their personal qualification and education when they call for the best service.

The Information Center can be reached by dialing 1-800-292-4585. In Louisville, a person only needs to dial 582-5130 to reach the Center.

SMILING CANDIDATE — Kenneth Burkhardt, who seeks the Democratic nomination as candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives from the First District, shares a joke with supporters as he opens his campaign headquarters on Jefferson Street Saturday morning. Burkhardt told the crowd at the opening ceremony that his opponent, incumbent Frank A. Stubblefield, has been a "Silent Shadow" in Congress.

headquarters on Jefferson Street Saturday morning. Burkhardt told the crowd at the opening ceremony that his opponent, incumbent Frank A. Stubblefield, has been a "Silent Shadow" in Congress.

Burkhart Attacks Opponent

By SUE MILLER
Sun-Democrat Staff Writer

Referring to his opponent as "the silent shadow" in congress, Democratic congressional candidate Kenneth Burkhardt attacked the record of Frank Albert Stubblefield Saturday as he opened his campaign headquarters here.

Burkhart charged Stubblefield, the incumbent candidate, with being absent from congress "at least 50 per cent of the time." When he is present for a vote, "it is because of pressure from big money groups," he said.

The opening of Burkhardt's campaign headquarters at 713 Jefferson St. came on the heels of a Friday night announcement by the executive board of the Kentucky State Committee on Political Education, an arm of the Kentucky AFL-CIO, that it endorsed Burkhardt's candidacy.

The board also endorsed State Senator Walter "Dee" Huddleston, D-Elizabethtown, for the U.S. Senate; Reps. William H. Natcher of the 2nd District, Romano L. Mazzoli of the 3rd District, Carl D. Perkins of the 7th District, and State Rep. Philip E. King of Covington for the 6th District.

Paducah City Commissioner W. G. Harvey, introduced Burkhardt to the group assembled at the campaign office for the opening ceremony. He called Burkhardt an "honestly dedicated" man and pledged him his support. "I want someone in Washington I can talk to, and I think Kenneth Burkhardt is a man I can talk to," Harvey said.

The invocation at the ceremony was delivered by the Rabbi Max Kaufman. Burkhardt, in his address, expressed his support of a higher ceiling of earned income for Social Security recipients, the securing of a veteran's hospital in the First District, lowering of taxes, restrictions of foreign imports to foster the American market and the preservation of laws to protect "the innocent majority."

The people of the First District have helped to shape Burkhardt's platform to their needs, he told the crowd Saturday.

Burkhart charged that Stubblefield has refused to support programs badly needed by the taxpayers. "Under no circumstances should a child in America be deprived of decent housing, clothing, food, medical care or education. But our present congressman, with his vote, has refused to support these worthy programs," he said.

"In the 90th Congress, he (Stubblefield) supported an amendment designed to stifle the great achievements in education by the 89th Congress. A major program of federal aid to elementary and secondary schools had been approved, but the amendment would have halted this."

"Sound programs like special teaching for disadvantaged children were endangered — with the approval and vote of our congressman."

"In the 90th Congress, his vote was used against another program that aided education, health and housing. That was in 1967 and '68. In the years before that, the shadow even voted against medicare repeatedly."

"With a track record like this, maybe we should be thankful when he doesn't show up to vote now!" Burkhardt said.

"For years, groups of veterans have approached our congressman for a VA hospital in this district. But the silent shadow, again and again, has refused to help," he added.

Burkhart questioned: "Why don't we have a veterans hospital? Why are people on Social Security not permitted to earn more? Why are restless, lawless groups allowed to take lives and property of the innocent? Why has Stubblefield refused important committee appointments? Why hasn't the silent shadow helped the people in constantly flooding areas, such as Mayfield Creek? Why are your taxes so high?"

"The shadow knows," he said.

PURELY PERSONAL: I agree with Herb Caen that tuna is the only food that tastes better canned than fresh... fresh pumpkin pie, with a dollop of vanilla ice cream is a wonderful treat at this time of year... why do so many buses have air conditioning on the inside and air pollution in their exhausts? ... to cut air pollution, reduce your driving, either by staying home, taking public transport, using a bike or, best yet, walking!

Serviceman Charged In Drug Smuggling

A Mayfield serviceman on his way home from Vietnam was arrested as he disembarked from a plane at Barkley Field Tuesday night and charged with smuggling heroin into the United States (specifically Mayfield).

Henry E. Braddy II was arrested on an outstanding federal warrant issued last January when 40 grams of 97 per cent pure heroin was confiscated at Mayfield. This is the first arrest to be made in the case.

The heroin was estimated in value at $300,000 by Graves County Attorney Ben Lookofsky. He said it probably was one of the largest amounts ever seized in Kentucky.

Authorities from several official agencies have been watching for Braddy's return ever since the drug was confiscated, Lookofsky said. A concerted effort by law officers resulted in Tuesday's 10 p.m. arrest, he added.

Coordinated through Lookofsky's office in Mayfield, authorities had all the transportation facilities under observation, he said. The arresting officers at Paducah were Kentucky State Trooper Creston Rudolph and Federal Bureau of Investigation Agent James Covert, Lookofsky said.

The Graves County attorney's office was alerted Monday that Braddy was en route to Mayfield and observation was begun immediately, he said.

Lookofsky said Braddy, in his mid 20s, has just been discharged from the U.S. Army. Authorities have been attempting to locate him through the Army since January, but they had been unable to find him, he said.

The heroin shipment was found with other items in a package after officials were alerted in January that the parcel was to be delivered in Mayfield. The recipient of the package, who was believed to have no knowledge of the contents, was not arrested, and was not identified by authorities.

Lookofsky commended Ozark Airlines for its cooperation in the Tuesday night arrest. "They were very cooperative, and we are most grateful to them," Lookofsky said.

Braddy was being held in the McCracken County jail awaiting arraignment before Federal Commissioner Tyler Bourne.

Bourne is out of town on vacation, and it was not immediately learned when the arraignment proceedings would take place.

For Soybean Weed Control

RELAX! AND LEAVE THE SPRAYING TO US

Let us keep weeds out of your soybeans this year. We can free you to do other important work during this busy spring season. Our custom service includes recommending the chemical program best suited to your land.

For example, on soils of 1% to 4% organic matter, we recommend Du Pont LOROX linuron weed killer. On variable soils, we suggest a combination of LOROX plus LASSO*.

You'll like our service, and you'll like the way chemical weed control can increase soybean yields... speed up harvesting... increase profits.

With any chemical follow labeling instructions and warnings carefully.
