Roberts Elected To Head County Judges

Judge Homer Roberts

Fulton County's Homer Roberts, judge of the county fiscal court was paid a signal honor by other Kentucky county judges early this month when he was elected president of the Kentucky County Judges Association. Judge Roberts is presently serving his third term as Judge of the Fulton County Court.

Judge Roberts was born in Fulton County and reared in the community near the Lodgeston School. As a young man he moved to the city of Fulton and with his brother George operated the Roberts Clothing Store. Eleven years ago he ran for county Judge and moved to Hickman when he began serving his first term. He has also served as magistrate from the First District.

A quiet and unassuming man, Judge Roberts has served the county court efficiently. When he first took office the county had a bonded indebtedness of approximately $555,000. Today that indebtedness is less than $300,000. During his term of office an extensive road building program has been accomplished and is still in progress.

Judge Roberts has two sons, David and James Lawrence, students at Hickman High School. The meeting at which Judge Roberts was elected was held in Louisville on December 10 and 11.

NEWS PRINTS

On the editorial page of today's News we're pitching bouquets to Sebra Evans, trainmaster of the Illinois Central Railroad, but since that was written an incident occurred on Wednesday of this week tends to take a little of the aroma away from that living bouquet. On the morning in mention we were rushing madly to Missionary Bottoms to get the maid to take her out to our home in the Highlands. As usual we were running a little late so we decided to go around the Riceville bridge, cutting down Valley Street to cross the railroad at Browder's Crossing. On approaching the crossing we encountered a long freight train and waited for it to pass. Just as the caboose approached the crossing the train stopped and the end car blocked the crossing. We waited exactly eleven minutes for it to move before we just had to go around the viaduct on Lake Street extension. We might add that at least four trucks and six cars were also waiting on both sides.

After getting the maid we decided on the same labor-saving route as chosen the first trip, and there still was the blocked crossing. The trucks were still there, they had no alternative since they were too large to go under the viaduct, but some of the cars had decided to move on the other way. We waited again for seven minutes and had to go around the viaduct again. We have no idea how long the crossing was blocked.

Mr. Evans this happens several times a day. Traffic through the city by tourists and trucks helps our merchants, but we'll wager a truck driver would choose any other way, if he could, to by-pass the city. A tourist will remember the crossing and come through here only once if he is delayed at least 30 or forty minutes by such privileges taken by the railroad.

This suggestion is given you in the same vein as your talk before the Lion's Club. And while we're at it, we might remind you that your company is the largest employer in this county. A program of civic development among your employees, sponsored by you, would be the first step for us to follow. Many times your employees have contacted us for a program of civic development. You have no idea how eager they are to improve their living conditions. Won't you be the first to help them?

We dropped in the coffee shop this week for a bite, and came across the following, kinda similes, scribbled on a paper napkin.

HICKMAN SHOWS HIGHEST RATE

Hickman, Ky., apparently has the highest city-tax rate in Kentucky, a Revenue Department compilation showed today.

It was listed as $1.85 on each $100 of assessed property valuation. The assessed value is that placed on property for tax purposes.

The compilation, published in a booklet, showed Wolfe County has the highest county tax rate, $1.15, and Paducah the highest school-district rate, $2.07.

The booklet said some cities had not levied their 1952 taxes at its publication date and added, "There may be some question concerning the legality of a few of the local rates."

It noted assessed values for real estate on the average may be as low as 30 per cent of the actual value of the property.

The Fulton News is today nominating Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby "Kentuckian of the Year" in the annual competition sponsored by the Kentucky Press Association. The award will be made at the annual Mid-Winter meeting of the association to be held in Louisville late in January. Votes will be cast by members of the KPA.

At the same time the News is asking for nominations for Fulton's "Man (or Woman) of the Year" selected each year by this newspaper. For the past two years, the News, in cooperation with a secret civic committee has named an outstanding Fulton Countyman as "Man of the Year" in recognition of outstanding, or unusual contributions to his community during the year past. E. E. Williamson, general manager of Browder Milling Company was named in 1950. W. L. Holland, superintendent of schools was named in 1951.

This year the News is opening the contest to the public for suggestions. Elsewhere on this page is a nomination blank. In not less than 25 words, or more than 50, state in your nomination the reasons for your selection. The News will investigate further the nomination. All nominations will become confidential property of the Fulton News.

In selecting Governor Wetherby as their choice for the "Kentuckian of the Year", the News concurs wholeheartedly with the Courier-Journal when they said:

Lawrence Winchester Wetherby, 44, has exercised a high degree of wholesome power in the one year he has been Governor of Kentucky by election of the people.

"The energetic young Governor thus far has met squarely the pledge in his inaugural address December 11, 1951.

"My administration," he said then, "will be based on concepts of morality and honesty consistent with the best ideas of our American democratic form of government."

"Three peaks arise from the day-to-day level of official routine.

"First, he has stood behind his Alcoholic Beverage Control Board and State Police in trying to destroy gambling in licensed-liquor places.

"Second, he has appointed a career man, rather than a politician, to every key vacancy occurring in the various departments.

"Third, he has not faltered in pressing forward the first long-range program of treatment ever undertaken at the mental hospitals. Space limits here forbid further discussion of this much-discussed subject."

Governor Wetherby, by exercising such wholesome power in the State has gone a long way toward restoring Kentuckians faith in Kentucky. In carrying out a program of balanced industrial development, with other resources of the State, he has started on a long range program of keeping Kentuckians in their State for their future. The entire program lies in the balance for good of the State and a brighter future is still ahead for the Commonwealth of Kentucky under the capable administration of Lawrence Winchester Wetherby.

Sebra Evans' Speech Brings Lots of Talk; Next Step: What Can We Do About It?

Sebra Evans, trainmaster for the Illinois Central Railroad and a native Fultonian certainly proved himself a courageous man at the meeting of the Lion's Club last week. He was courageous because he was speaking words of truth, but sometimes people don't always like to hear the truth, especially about a community they love.

On the other hand, Mr. Evans was well qualified and entitled to make the speech he did before the Lion's Club, a progressive and civic-minded group of Fultonians. Mr. Evans was born and reared here. His roots are here. His love for his community cannot be questioned and we feel sure that he spoke from his heart and many a Fultonian is today applauding that speech.

In the event you failed to hear Mr. Evans' speech, or read the full content of it in the Fulton Daily Leader we would like to mention that his talk was pointed at the apathy that exists among local citizens, businessmen and working people. In effect he says we're asleep at the switch, if we might use a railroad term, and that the wheels of progress here are sadly in need of overhauling. He said that Fulton is deteriorating, rather than growing along with the communities around us. He said that the entire community gives the new-comer, the tourist and the visitor a view of complete disinterest in the matter of forging ahead as we should be doing, what with bustling activity all around us.

The talk has created much discussion among the local citizenry. Nine out of ten Fultonians have agreed with him. Occasionally we hear the stock remark: "Well, if he doesn't like the town, he can certainly leave." This we have had said to us many times, when we have made suggestions as has Mr. Evans, but we have not been offended. We live here, intend to live here a mighty long time, and want to be ever so proud of the community in which we live, so we disregard the invitations to leave.

But what concerns us about Mr. Evans' speech is: "What are we going to do about it?" As a newspaper we feel that the responsibility to lead such a movement rests partly on our shoulders, and yet we hate to be somehow always pointing out a project that needs to be done. "You're always griping," someone once told us. It wasn't griping you know, it was the same type of constructive criticism that Mr. Evans has so sincerely given.

Indeed, what are we going to do about it? Mr. Evans has no doubt had many a warm handclasp offered him since his talk. The assistance of many another has been offered, but can the entire thinking of a community be changed?

Yes, within the frame-work of apathy is also a frame of mind. Its the Fulton frame of mind. Its the business of "its always been that way and don't make yourself unpopular by trying to change it." And there's something else, too. Many a good sound businessman has refused to serve on various committees because the results of a decision might work a hardship on his business. Yet, we cannot seem to convince the merchant who wants to do something that a better community, a more attractive community and a growing community is the real attribute that will show on his cash register, and for the better.

At this busy Christmas shopping season there is a rather important item for a merchant to consider, and its this. "If 75 per cent of the purchases made by Fulton people were made in Fulton, the volume of business in this town would increase more than 50 per cent." Hundreds of local residents have gone out of town to do Christmas shopping that well could be done at home if things were different.

Get the ball rolling, Mr. Evans, we'll be right with you.

Watch the Kiddies At Christmastime

State Fire Marshal J. T. Underwood, Jr., urged Kentuckians—in the interest of a safe and sane Christmas season—against the use of combustible Christmas decorations and suggested that some children's toys introduce serious fire hazards that require extra precautions during the holiday season.

Recalling last year's tragic Christmas fire in Tijuana, Lower California, when 34 persons died and 98 others were injured in a fire resulting from a blazing Christmas tree, Underwood suggested all follow "good sense safety rules" for a fire-safe holiday.

He issued a number of safety admonitions which urged that children should not be left at home alone; that inflammable decorations be avoided; that in lighting only electric lights be used, never candles, and particular precautions be taken that wire not be frayed or defective.

Underwood urged, too, that electric trains not be placed under a tree and that chemical sets be used cautiously by children and grown-ups alike.

"It is unwise to let younger children have toys involving flame or pressure," the Fire Marshal continued. "They are dangerous in young hands—and should be handled by older persons only with utmost caution."

The Fire Marshal's attention was called by postal authorities to the fact that it is illegal to ship explosives through the mails—after Underwood had turned over to the postal inspectors catalogs giving mail prices of fireworks.

"A good way to have a safe, sane and practical Christmas is to avoid dangerous items that endanger life or limb," he concluded.

Occupational Tax Bears Consideration

No news recently on the City Park project. We assume that the committee appointed by the City Council is studying methods by which to finance the project.

The other day we heard a suggestion that bears serious consideration; that is to levy an occupational tax that is based upon a merchant's volume of business. The suggestion is based on the Paducah plan, whereby a one mill tax is levied for each dollar of gross business. Thus a man doing a $25,000 annual gross would be assessed $25.00.

We believe that this is the same basis by which the City Council at one time proposed to

Dick Oberlin:

Oberlin's Observations

When Gen. MacArthur wrung the hearts of the nation last year with his magnificent performance before the Congress of the United States, he implied a promise to move to the side lines and stay there quietly.

For many years the Old Soldier had been making news, and had been much in the public eye. It is no secret that he yearned for and thought he deserved the Republican presidential nomination. This old soldier, though, simply refuses to fade away, and it's time we tried to assay him in his proper perspective.

In the past more than 20 years General MacArthur has done great service for his country. So have millions of other men.

General MacArthur has been amply rewarded for his services. He has been fed, clothed, housed, protected, sheltered, cherished, honored—and not infrequently worshiped—by the taxpayers who provided him his education, paid him a good salary during war and peace, and finally paid him a rather handsome $18,000 plus a year in retirement.

He has performed his services, and been paid for them. When we needed inspired leadership, when our nation was desperate for inspiration after the attack on Pearl Harbor, Douglas MacArthur provided it. He also made personal capital—achieved much personal publicity—out of it.

There may be those who quibble with President Truman's comment last week that any decent man, if he had a solution to the Korean War, would feel duty bound to report that solution to the Commander-in-Chief.

What are the mothers and wives of ten of thousands of GI's serving in Korea thinking today? Is MacArthur still a great popular hero? Is he still the great leader? Is he still the man who knows the way to peace.

If Douglas MacArthur has a genuine solution and wasn't just talking through his amply goldbraided mat when he said he had one, he has been glib in his duty in not reporting it to his bosses, his employers—the people who keep him in handsome luxury on a most generous pension. He has been glib in refusing to relate his solution to the taxpayers.

General MacArthur himself would not hesitate for a moment to deal swiftly with any such insubordination on his own staff. The people who are paying him, it seems to me, are showing infinite patience. But the General can exhaust even our patience.

"BECOMING A BACK NUMBER"

Yesterday was my birthday. How old I am is nobody's business, but the things that I remember make me fully as old as I am. It would not do for me to pretend to be a mere infant after all the years that I have chronicled passing institutions. It hurts, just a little, to reflect that one is himself becoming a passing institution, as queer as horse-and-buggy days or Grigsby's Station, "back where we used to be so happy and so pure." Just today I found a sentence that intensified this feeling about becoming a back number: "To watch oneself becoming a back number and a fossil cannot be a pleasant experience, even if our friends find it out sooner than we do, and hide it from us with ironical civility." These words of wisdom are from the pen of Dean Inge, of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, himself a marvelous illustration of growing old gracefully.

The thing that often intensifies this feeling of being a contemporary of Methuselah is that a large percentage of the younger folk do not know what I am talking about. I seem to spend half the time explaining what I have said in the other half. My words are not the words of the modern freshman; it is necessary to translate most of my words in advance or afterwards, often at such length that the corny joke I have told or the homely illustration I have used becomes stale before the point of it can be made clear. I get a good deal of satisfaction out of feeling that the words and ideas of some of the freshmen are as remote from me as my words are from them, but senioritis condemns the older as an old fogey because he does not keep up with the latest language of his youngest contemporaries. That last sentence is hardly true, for I really keep up with much of the modern slang, and modern small talk, chiefly because I love to feel an interest in growing things. But it is too easy to become, quite painlessly, a mere singer of old songs, a teller of old jokes, a believer in old things.

Maybe the idea of what constitutes a challenge to living is changing, but I still seem to myself to be perpetually young and inquisitive. If I have any special crow to pick with my younger contemporaries, it is that they do not feel consumed with intellectual curiosity. Maybe they did not "hunger and thirst" after knowledge a long time before it came by. What used to thrill me when I was at the age of most of my students seems to leave them perfectly cold. It is hardly fashionable on the average college campus now to be enthusiastic about anything, especially learning. From where I sit that looks like advanced silliness rather than plunging, daring, adventurous youth. By way of a sort of parable, I asked a young woman today how long it had been since she had climbed a tree. As long as there are trees, somebody should climb them. And why not a wholesome young girl from the open country, who is vigorous and happy?

The snows of yesterday, which Francois Villon has made so famous, are no more gleeful than thousands of things far more tangible. It would be easy to enumerate passing and passed things until all of us would be sad and weary. But, like the oncoming of age itself, none of these passings have been sudden or noticeably so. The old family nag did not die out in a year or even a decade; dinner on the ground did not cease just after a memorable spread at Sulphur Springs or Pleasant Hill; the little one-roomed school did not succumb to age when the last exhibition was over. Some of these passing institutions gradually merged into other institutions that have become equally interesting and memorable. Even the ones that have gone for keeps have left such tender memories that they seem as much alive as the brothers and sisters of the little girl in Wordsworth's "We Are Seven." Where are the years that have gone? Where are the years that are yet to be? What is this artificial way of measuring life by marking off a few days and calling this period a year, anyway? To those who knew the old family nag there is no death of such a memorable institution; to those whose years have brought experiences that last, old age is a fable, the calendar a cheat.

"LIKE KISSING SISTER"

Lexington, Kentucky's 14-14 tie with Tennessee marked the eighth deadlock in the 59-year-old series and the most points scored on the Vols by the Wildcats since 1935. U. K. Coach Paul Bryant once mused that "a tie is just like kissing your sister." Care to bet he still feels that way?

APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE HEARS FIRST CONCERT SERIES AT CARR AUDITORIUM

By Lorine Hughes & Doris Wiley

Purchasers of Community Concerts series tickets were given a "treat" rarely accorded small-town groups, when James De la Fuente, violinist, and Herbert Stessin, pianist, gave the first concert of the season Thursday. Captivating the audience of several hundred with their music was understandable, since both Messrs. De la Fuente and Stessin are artists beyond the realm of most smalltown concerts, but in addition the personality of these two young men quickly grasped the interest and affection of the audience, and from the first number the artists and the audience were in perfect harmony and accord.

Throughout the entire program the perfect balance of Mr. De la Fuente, and his violin, and Mr. Stessin at the piano, gave brilliance to the entire program. It is a rare and unusual treat to audiences here to hear and observe such marvelous teamwork. Throughout they displayed complete sympathy between two solo artists in duo.

In "Allegro, from Sonata in E minor, K 304 by Mozart," Mr. De la Fuente's rendition was pure, clean-cut and exquisite, with pure Mozartian nuances; with Mr. Stessin capably handling the difficult interludes. Both Mr. De la Fuente and Mr. Stessin performed with complete sympathy and understanding; Mr. De la Fuente showing the exquisite singing tone and the quality of the violin.

In the second group, Mr. De la Fuente played "Romance in F major, Opus 50," by Beethoven (feel of pathos, despair and dignity, such as only Beethoven could compose) with a deep understanding of Beethoven's height and depth of emotion, beauty, peace of life and a full realization of the tenderness of the music. "Caprice in E flat major, No. 144," Paganini — De la Fuente, for which Mr. De la Fuente arranged the piano accompaniment, convinced the audience of his ability to transmit to them his worth as a violinist and composer, playing the impossibly difficult composition for two, three and then four strings on the violin simultaneously, with orchestral force. The "Ballade and Polonaise, Opus 38," by Vieuxtemps, was played as it was written, with tenderness and mystery, and through his artistry, getting the story over to the audience with a simple directness that was enchanting. Throughout his playing his harmonics were skilled artistry.

In the third part, Mr. Stessin played "Prelude in A minor" Bach-Liszt; "Intermezzo in B flat minor, Opus 117," Brahms and "Ballade in G minor, Opus 23" by Chopin, displaying throughout a complete under-

Club Notes

VICTORY HOMEMAKERS MEET TUESDAY AT COMMUNITY HOUSE

The Palestine community building, beautifully decorated with miniature Xmas trees, holly branches, candles, and colorful ornaments was the setting for the Victory Homemakers meeting Tuesday.

Mrs. T. R. Williamson presided over the business session. Mrs. Ernest Jenkins and Mrs. Ray Graham gave the lesson on "Freezing Cooked Foods." Mrs. Jenkins stressed the importance of blanching vegetables in preparing them for freezing. Blanching retards the formation of enzymes which impair flavor. Chicken and turkeys should not be frozen whole but should be sliced. Also all left over fowl should be placed in the refrigerator immediately as bacteria invades this meat quicker than any other.

Mrs. Graham demonstrated stand and mastery of all three works. He projected the profound thought of breadth of expression of all three compositions. His Brahms was lovely, floating, fluid lyric. The Chopin number, opening on a sombre note, was typically Chopinesque cadences and climaxes, in which Mr. Stessin used the floating elbow to produce singing tone. His interpretation of the Ballade, was a fiery, impressionistic work, which was widely acclaimed by the audience. His personality and understanding of each of the numbers in this part was transmitted to an enthusiastic audience; his technique and knowledge of his art was apparent, and enjoyable throughout.

"The Isle of Mists" by Sladek was the only truly modern composition played; it was lovely, the muted sections clear and decisive, and impressionistic throughout. The "Zwischenweilen (Gypsy Airs)" by Sarasate, though a more familiar composition, was nonetheless a thrilling piece of work, as played by Mr. De la Fuente.

"Chant Polonnais" by Chopin, Liszt, as played by Mr. Stessin, was effective; the first part truly Chopin; and the song capably delineated; the last part more Liszt and again demonstrated capably his excellent technique. "La Campanella" by Busoni-Liszt, was distinctive persuasive playing and taxed the capabilities of the piano to the limit. His playing in this part of the program again won the hearts of the audience.

In the "Allegretto poco mosso from Sonata in A major" by Cesar Franck, both De la Fuente and Stessin gave ample evidence to their audience of profound understanding of their subject; and displayed their brilliant technique of both violin and piano, and excellent musicianship.

The appreciative and enthusiastic audience gave a wholehearted response to their playing, and the artists responded with generosity and warmth of appreciation in their encores, playing "London-derry Air" by Spaulding, "Leibelsied" by Kreisler, "Sonata" by Scarlatti, and "Minute Waltz" by Chopin.

how to make Jiffy Icing. All the homemakers then made snowmen using cup cakes dipped in the icing and then into cocoanut. Heads were made of marshmallows with eyes and mouth of cloves and hats of gum drops. The heads were pierced with tooth picks and stuck into the cup cakes making delectable desserts for the noon meal.

The chicken tetrazzini and cranberry-orange bread which were on the dinner menu were new dishes and made a big hit. Both of these recipes among others were included in the lesson sheets. The chicken tetrazzini, which can be made with turkey, serves twenty and would be excellent to serve at a party as it can be prepared ahead of time and baked at the last minute.

Mrs. J. R. Powell, program chairman, distributed the gayly wrapped gifts from sunshine friends. Before each one received her gift she was asked to guess the identity of her friend. The number of correct guesses was surprising.

And then Mrs. J. C. Lawson, Jr., and Mrs. Fred Collier were led to tables laden with shower gifts. All our hearts went out, in sympathy to these young ladies recently when their homes were destroyed by fire. They received many useful and lovely gifts.

Mrs. Jenkins, reading chairman, urged all members to attend the January meeting. She promised a treat in the form of a surprise guest to give the reading lesson.

"Y" HOMEMAKERS MEET MONDAY AT CLUB HOUSE

Mrs. Bud McIntyre was hostess to the "Y" Homemakers Monday, December 15 at the Palestine Community House. The club room was beautifully decorated with various Christmas ornaments and a lovely tree.

Mrs. McIntyre called the meeting to order with nine members answering roll call by telling the first Christmas they remembered. The devotional was given by Mrs. Edward Wolberton from Matthew 2: 1-10.

Mrs. H. W. Walker and Mrs. J. H. Vaughn, gave a very interesting lesson and instructions on frozen foods.

They also gave a demonstration of decorating cupcakes. Each member decorated a cupcake; and the results, a snowman, which was very attractive and delicious were served for their dessert after a delicious Christmas dinner was enjoyed at the noon hour.

The recreation leader led the group in singing "Silent Night". Games were enjoyed by all.

The highlight of the evening was the exchanging of Christmas gifts, which were placed around the tree.

The next meeting will be Monday, January 19 at the Palestine Club House with Mrs. J. H. Vaughn and Mrs. Billy Slayden, hostesses.

PALESTINE CLUB ENJOYS DECEMBER MEETING FRIDAY

The Palestine Homemakers Club met last Friday, December 12 at the community building with 17 members present. Mrs. Hillman Collier and Mrs. Jamie Wade gave a very interesting lesson on "Preparing and Freezing Foods."

A demonstration of the frozen foods was given and an International Harvester Home Freezer was displayed.

Mrs. Clyde Burnette presided over the business meeting and Mrs. P. F. King was chosen as delegate to Farm and Home Week in Lexington. Mrs. Thomas Bruce will be the alternate.

Mrs. Hillman Collier, recreation leader, reported on the recent Recreation school held at Hickman. She also led two games. The club sang "Silent Night" led by Mrs. Clarence Caldwell.

The reading chairman, Mrs. Gus Browder reported on "Fulton County."

Landscape notes were given by Mrs. C. P. Freeman. She stressed the using of evergreens that grow around the homes for Christmas decorations.

Mrs. Lon Brown lead the story, "Christmas isn't in the Store, It's in the Heart."

Mrs. Charles Wright, Mrs. Claude Freeman and Mrs. Frank Stroud were hostesses for the day. A delicious pot-luck luncheon was enjoyed at noon.

The club wishes to thank the Paul Nailling Implement Company for displaying their home freezer for the meeting.

Capt. Tom L. Gibson, Friars Point, Miss.

WHAT I HEARD

My wife came into the big room of the house, and to say that she was upset doesn't describe anything! "Come out here and tell this boy something, I just can't talk!"

I went out and there was a sixteen year old boy and I asked him what the matter was and his reply was, "All I done was to ask Miss Aubin did he want to kill dis turkey, now dat I is done pick-ed him." Here was the turkey, plumb naked of all his feathers, tied down to a table leg! I looked at the boy over and said, "No, not for a while, I think you had better finish dressing him."

WHAT SAYS THE COTTON TRADE JOURNAL?

The Cotton Trade Journal is certainly an outstanding publication. It had as a news item on the front page the following: "Millions will be helped by the division of large estates in Egypt." They continued, that by taking away the wealth of the large land owners and giving it to those who had nothing, there would be a wonderful and unknown prosperity.

To have that publication to head such a communistic and socialistic statement was rather upsetting.

I thought of a time when they took a most modern dairy from a friend of mine in the vicinity of Victor, Mexico, and gave it to those who worked in the place. He had silos, modern milking machinery, and everything was up-to-date as could be. His home was a nice place indeed, with all conveniences and his children romped and played in the grounds, with their playmates. He was so proud of his development. The workers came and went in considerable numbers and pay day was regular. It was a prosperous community and the products of his energy, ability and supervision were shipped to the adjacent territory.

A few years after my visit I went back. He was living in town and I asked why he was there. He said, "Come out and I will show you why." We went out to the former dairy. The government had taken the property from him and given it to the workers. In place of nearly a thousand cows, there were only about a handful left, tied on the irrigation ditch banks in which there was no longer any water running. In the once fine house, there were "camped" about a half dozen families, living in squalor. The whole place was one of desolation. No children played and no laughter was heard. One old woman came up to us and told how they killed the cows to eat them, when they had nothing else to eat, and other things that were a discouraging and ending up her tale of woe she said, "Don Senor, if we only had those good days back, when you were here to help us!"

Then I remembered a U. S. Government report that showed that those employed on large tracts of land under good supervision produced much more per unit than those who ran their little farms here and there over the countryside, regardless of the fact that they in many instances had purchased these farms themselves.

It puts the wheels of progress in reverse when you take from the strong and give to the weak, in an attempt to make the weak strong.

Mississippi Plantation Life

The Writings Of Mattie Dear

I thank the Lord Jesus that I am yet alive. My health is O. K. and I am feeling fine. The Lord bless me to start my crop and to finish it so now I am out of the cold. So on Wednesday, December 10th, I stood the test before Mr. Billy Butler and Mr. Joe Thompson. So three books was drawn on me the last book was that awful check book and that was the right book. I was satisfied when I seen what was coming to me I was going before the two white men I sung the song title, "Now Lord" and He sure did hear me.

It is a fine thing to let Jesus lead you so now Christmas is nearing, so many has started on this year's journey has gone to their long home. I will say again, "Thank you, Jesus."

He has brought me from a mighty long ways and too it is a fine thing to pray for peace. Hope that Christmas will be fine with Mrs. Johnanna and family.

I went to my church today as it being the last Pastoral Day in 1952. Sure had nice service. The Pastor's text was Psalms 116:16, subject, "A Servant of God". He sure preached a true sermon, but be it known you must live that you preach. Now about our President, I hope that he is a Christian, if so everything will be alright. Put your trust in Jesus. He is the best of all. He is so good to us we could not breath unless he let us. Why not serve him. He is our all in all, and it is a fine thing to obey him and let him use you. He is the best President of all, believe it or not.

Prayer changes things.

Roma Satterfield
(Too late for last week)

Basketball season is here at last and the Bulldogs started off with a bang! Last Friday night we beat Western (73-47) at Carr Gym. Charles Sevier, our tall center, was the high scorer with a total of 31 points. Paul Argo and Jimmy Lowry with 10 and 8 points followed. All the boys played their best. The Pups gave a good performance by winning also.

Friday afternoon a big pep rally was held with much enthusiasm by all the students and faculty.

The Glee Club sang on the Woman's Club Annual Christmas program last Friday afternoon at the Methodist Church.

Tuesday morning at assembly we all sang Christmas carols which was enjoyed by everyone.

Dean Crutchfield sent our library a copy of the Daily News-Miner from Fairbanks, Alaska. Thanks a lot, Dean!

Everyone surely had a big smile Wednesday the reason, of course, is that we won the ballgame with Mayfield Tuesday night (69-45) at Mayfield. Charles Sevier was the high scorer racking up 23 points. Jimmy Lowry scoring 11, Donald Kimbro, 10; and Paul Argo, 10. The Pups were defeated 44-20, but they made a good showing anyway.

WHAT IS A GIRL?

By Alan Beck

Little girls are the nicest things that happen to people. They are born with a little bit of angel-shine about them and though it wears thin sometimes, there is always enough left to lasso your heart—even when they are sitting in the mud, or crying temperamental tears, or parading up the street in mother's best clothes.

A little girl can be sweeter (and badder) oftener than anyone else in the world. She can jitter around, and stomp, and make funny noises and frazzle your nerves, yet when you open your mouth, she stands there demure with that special look in her eyes. A girl is Innocence playing in the mud, Beauty standing on its head, and motherhood dragging a doll by the foot.

God borrows from many creatures to make a little girl. He uses the song of a bird, the squeal of a pig, the stubbornness of a mule, the antics of a monkey, the spryness of a grasshopper, the curiosity of a cat, the slyness of a fox, the softness of a kitten. And to top it off He adds the mysterious mind of a woman.

A little girl likes new shoes, party dresses, small animals, dolls, make-believe, ice cream, make-up, going visiting, tea parties, and one boy. She doesn't care so much for visitors, boys in general, large dogs, hand-me-downs, straight chairs, vegetables, snow suits, or staying in the front yard. She is loudest when you are thinking, prettiest when she has provoked you, ouisest at bedtime, quietest when you want to show her off, and most flirtatious when she absolutely must not get the best of you again.

She can muss up your home, your hair and your dignity—spend your money, your time and your temper—then just when your patience is ready to crack, her sunshine peeks through and you've lost again.

Yes, she is a nerve-racking

Before the state commission on Nov. 25th, the NC & St. L. railroad showed that for the 12 months ending with July, 1952, the aggregate gross revenues of these trains (exclusive of balance of system revenues) were $22,939.24 and for the same period the direct operating costs were $54,832.06. The balance of system revenues were $3,247.90. It was further showed that for the months of August, September and October, 1952, the revenues from these trains were somewhat less and the costs were somewhat greater than the averages for the 12 months ending with July, 1952. It was further brought out that the patronage of said trains is very light.

MUST BE ACCREDITED
Assistant Attorney General W. Owen Keller held that parents cannot escape provisions of the compulsory school attendance law by claiming that their children take correspondence courses in an out-of-state school not accredited by the State Board of Education. The law does not recognize correspondence courses from non-accredited sources as compliance with compulsory attendance laws.

BASKETBALL NEWS

(By Linda Sams)

Seems like the Pilot Oak Independents are still in the spotlight. The team has played 9 games and are still leading the league. It takes team work and that is what these men have. Virgil Yates, really has been "racking" the points for this team. Yates is forward. Every boy on this team plays his best and has the attitude that "we'll win this one too if we play ball."

Seems like the Fulton Bulldogs slipped Tuesday night when they lost to Milburn. Jimmy Lowery, one of their new members from Cuba is taking the eyes of Fulton's basketball fans. This guard seems to know what he is doing and is really helping the other members of the team. Charles Sevier is still "hittin' um" most of the time.

Hickman High School was the highest scorer of the schools around with their score of 88, Tuesday night when they rolled easy victory over Cayce. Cayce is still "playing ball", never fear. Bobby Hendon and Roy Stewart scored 12 points each. Watch 'em Boys!

Let's not forget our full schedule next yr. with all these schools. When these boys return after a long and enjoyable Christmas holiday, they will be ready and eager to win.

Seems like Clinton's scoring forward, LeRoy Floyd might really be on the beam. He scored 20 points Tuesday night in the game with Bardwell. Let's watch LeRoy!

Last Friday night in the Carr Institute gym Uel Killebrew's Blue Bulldogs played one of their best games when they defeated their twin-city rivals, the South Fulton Red Devils. This was the third game and third straight win of their season.

Charles Sevier was high scorer for the winners scoring 16 points. Kimbro and Lowery racked 15 and 14 points, respectively.

Al Hornsby was high scorer for the Red Devils with 11 points, while Donald Joe Parton was second with 9 points.

BILL OF HARRIS FORK

I was very sorry to hear that my good old fisherman friend Bill Browning had refused Gen. Ike's offer of a good position with his bunch. It would have really put Fulton on the MAP.

I guess Bill just does not wish to get himself mixed up in politics for fear that we might want to run him for constable or Governor or something. But if he had accepted Ike's offer he would have been right in line for most anything. I really don't believe Bill fully understood just what a swell position he was turning down.

Rear Admiral of the I. E. R. B. with very large pay—wear Navy Blue suit with buttons as large as some of the wimmin's new summer hats—all polished up so you could use them for mirrors. With the very swankiest of feed. Mint Juleps and anything that Happy Hogan has in stock. Barber, valet and manicurist and probably sleep in the White House. And Bill all the Co-Eds would be after your autograph. Of course you could refuse all but the prettiest and give her a pat on the cheek.

The County News would have been glad to engrave cards for you; reading — "Admiral Bill Browning, Ike Eisenhower's Row Boat fleet". Sorry Bill. Of course when we saw you and Ike going down the Potomac for an early morning spin we would not have let on that you knew us in our faded dungarees and muddy shoes. Oh no.

But that job would have paid better than selling second hand hankys and used shorts. Oh much better.

Now that I have told Bill what a disaster he really is I'll take myself out to Dual William's Ranch on Lake Pocahontas and after diving into it's life giving waters and scaring the man eating crappies, I'll lie on the bank in the sun and ruminate.

—Bill of Harris Fork

kin, as though whoever wrote it might be doing a little wishful wishing. "Dear Santa, I am a little boy and would like for you to come to see me. If it's not too much trouble bring me a little 2½-hp fishing motor. Santa, I've got a little boat, only weighs 250 pounds, and if you think this motor would be too little then make it 4½-hp.

"Also, I used to play around the carnivals, and if you think about it, bring me some little monkeys, and wheels and things so I won't get so homesick once in a while. And don't forget my friend Owen to bring him some blackstrap molasses and yogurt, as he is duck hunting a lot."

We couldn't read the rest of the signature, but we wouldn't want to print it anyhow. Might spoil his Christmas!

To Nell Pewitt: You shouldna done it, but thanks ever so much for the lovely Christmas mantle-piece. We've had a hard time keeping the kiddies from seeing how it's made, but it's still intact.

adding Christmas cheer on our mantel at home.

Once upon a time we went to see a lovely lady out Union City way. She's one of those ladies with an antique shop and you know how that goes. Folks that tinker with those things just have a habit of saving all kinds of things and this lady, Mrs. Oliver Coates is no different. Lands alive she had a trunk full of the darnedest things you ever read and since we're on the "tetched" side too asked if we could look around a bit.

And then all of a sudden we saw Dr. King's Guide To Health Book, the "household instructor and family prize cook book". Right on one side of the cover ole Dr. King is shown mixing up some kind of elixir to cure consumption and on the other side like a Jekyll and Hyde he's in chef's cap and mixing up bread dough; if the elixir's in the dough he didn't say.

Must be an awful lot of people around the Fulton way, we ponder who still have old Dr. King's Guide to Health Book, and we're just wondering how they ever kept the Arnica salve out of the pie crust.

Long time ago, you know, there wasn't any such thing as the Pure Food and Drug Act. Dr. King and all the folks who could concoct a "brew" and the call it medicine could let their hair hang about what it would do. Not only that, they would print it up with a cook book and if taking the stuff straight didn't work, just put it in a bowl of soup and see what happened.

Dr. King's "New Discovery" for Consumption was concocted in the 19th Century. Said he: Dr. King's New discovery is a sure cure for consumption and all bronchial affections of the throat and lungs. Price $1.00" All that an no hospitalization either.

Mrs. Coates has moved her little antique shop to Napier's Store on the Union City Highway and together with other odd bits of information she gives us she says there's another "Grandma Moses" living near here, who we intend to go to see come the restful season after Christmas.

LEN WILLIAMS, WINNER OF DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS, DROWNS MONDAY NIGHT

Len Williams, aged 52, a World War I hero of Hickman lost his life Monday, December 8th, by drowning in Obion creek in the Upper Bottoms north of Hickman while returning by boat from a day of duck hunting with his son, Len (Buddy) Jr., aged 25, who returned home last Saturday after two years in the Air Force in England.

The two were descending bankful Obion creek in their rowboat and were planning to carry the boat around a low logging company bridge, under which the water was rushing, when the swift current caught the craft and it was jammed against and under the bridge. The son was thrown out and when he came up under the bridge he managed to insert his fingers between bridge boards and held on. He did not see his father and got no response to his calls.

He managed to take off his heavy hunting boots and then let loose and was swept under water through the bridge. While under water he got off his heavy hunting coat and then swam to shore.

There was no sign of his father or of the boat. He walked barefooted for some three miles to a road where he met Ted Roberts of Hickman and some other hunters and they took him into town. The boat and a paddle were found net morning wedged under driftwood down stream from the bridge.

It was believed the elder Williams probably was knocked unconscious when the boat hit the underside of the bridge.

The father and son had driven to the bottoms Monday morning and they hunted ducks during the afternoon.

They were returning downstream on the creek by easy stages, planning to do some coon hunting, when the accident occurred.

The point of the accident is about two miles by water north from Hickman.

Mr. Williams was a concrete slab construction foreman for the U. S. Engineers and worked at Cates landing near Tiptonville.

The Williams home is a mile south of Hickman on the Dyersburg road.

Mr. Williams, when but 17 years of age, ran away from home to join the Army in World War I. His beloved brother, the late Willie Williams, was in the service, and Mr. Williams was determined to join him. Both were sent overseas, and Mr. Williams was with a group of re-enforcements sent into the Battle of Belleau Woods. This group was going up to the aid of the outfit with which Willie Williams was serving, when Len Williams was wounded. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross and the Purple Heart for his meritorious service at Belleau Woods. His brother came through the war without wounds. He died about three years ago.

Mr. Williams was a member of the Hickman American Legion post. He leaves his wife, his son, Len (Buddy) Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Sue Miller of Union City, children of his first marriage; two stepchildren by his first marriage, David Rodgers of Memphis and Mrs. Howard Phipps of Fulton, and five children by his second marriage, Joe Thomas, Bobby Lynn, Billy Lee, James Lester and Anna Fay.

Dee Langford of Hickman, a salesman for the Wade Furniture store in Union City, was a nephew of Mr. Williams.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Jesus overcame the world, by proving his superiority over material laws. This will be enlarged on in all Christian Science services next Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Is the Universe, including man, evolved by atomic force?"

The following selections from the Bible will be read (Psalms 62: 11): "God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongeth unto God."

SOIL CONSERVATION PROGRAM IN COUNTY MAKING MORE PROGRESS WITH EACH YEAR

The Fulton County Soil Conservation District has been in operation three and one half years.

New farms cooperating with the district in 1952 exceeds the total number for the previous two and one half years according to reports of G. C. Richardson, Work Unit Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

As of November 30th 94 new cooperators, representing 22,675 acres, had joined the soil conservation district program during 1952 as compared with 33 farmers and 15,219 acres in 1951.

In addition, the Soil Conservation Service has assisted 74 P. M. A. participants in planning and applying permanent type soil conservation practices on their farms.

One of the factors in the increased number of district cooperators has been the new system of progressive planning, set up in the Fulton County soil conservation district, with the approval of the board of supervisors of which Charles E. Wright is chairman.

This new system enables a farmer to start the initial phase of a soil conservation district program immediately with one or two practices and go on from there to the advanced stage and finally the basic stage of farm planning in which a soil and water conservation program is developed for his entire farm.

Additional factors in the speed up of the district conservation program are the various contests sponsored by local businesses such as the "Soil Conservation Essay Contest". Through the schools sponsored by Reed Bros., Feed and Seed Dealers, Fulton, Ky., "Save Enrich our Soil" contest sponsored by the Memphis Chamber of Commerce; The Friends of the Land; The Duerbermen Club and The Memphis Press-Scimitar.

Reed Bros. have sponsored the Essay Contest to the amount of $52.50 every year the district has been in operation. Two Fulton County farmers received $150.00 awards in Save Enrich our Soil Contest in 1951. There were seven entries in the 1952 Contest; five in the Owner-operator division and two in the Father-Son Division. The 1952 contest has not been decided.

The P. M. A. County committee set aside funds for two special practices, contour farming and specially prepared and seeded water ways.

During Conservation Week in July three cooperating farmers invited their neighbors to their homes to see and discuss practices which had been applied.

All of these activities have been important factors of informing the farmers of the district program and have done much to speed up the conservation program.

West State Line News Mrs. Edgar Grossom (Too late for last week)

There will be an all day service at the Mission on Sunday, December 14th and dinner will be served at the noon hour. Everyone is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Lubin Grissom and children of West State Line spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sutton and family after church.

Congratulations to Rev. and Mrs. Norris Nylander of Cayce on the birth of their little daughter last Friday at Haws Hospital in Fulton. Rev. Nylander is pastor at Cayce Assembly of God Church.

Mrs. Hillman Collier was in Hickman Tuesday.

Most of the farmers got their tobacco down and quite a few have their air-cured ready for market. There will be no market last Saturday for dark-fried until after the holiday season.

Mrs. Edell Hicks returned to work at Simpson's Poultry House Monday. She had been out for three weeks helping her husband strip their tobacco ready for the first market.

Congratulations to Don Collier on his 15th birthday Monday, December 8.

Seems as if every one is getting the Christmas Spirit, doing a lot of extra cleaning, buying a lot of gifts and baking their fruit cakes. I believe it is just around the corner.

Due to the stormy weather Tuesday and the downpour of rain, the weather has become quite cooler.

Our sympathy goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Taylor in the loss of his sister, Mrs. Jessie Vaughan, of Chestnut Glade community last week. Her funeral was held Friday afternoon at Sandy Branch and burial was in the church cemetery. Mr. Vaughan passed away only three weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Grissom spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Vanford Smiley and brother, Arthur Grissom to Riceville.

MT. ZION SOCIETY MEETS LAST THURSDAY FOR MONTHLY MEET

The Mt. Zion Missionary Auxiliary held its regular monthly meeting last Thursday, December 11, at the church, with 29 adults and 5 children present.

The President, Mrs. Arthur Fite, presided over the business session and reports of all officers were read and approved.

Mrs. Odell Bizzle held the installation service for the new officers for 1953.

Mrs. Leland Henderson had charge of the program, "Lighted To Lighten". The worship center was very impressive with the four symbols of Christmas—the candle, the carol, a greeting and the evergreen. These are suggestive of light, warmth, joy and the spirit, which every Christmas should reflect. On one side of this were the candles of different sizes, representing the fact that God is served by all ages. On the other side four different colored candles were lighted reminding us that God is also served by people of all races.

Mrs. Leslie Walker brought the devotional "Lifting the Light". Jesus came to bring the light of faith, joy, righteousness, truth, peace, love and life.

The topic "The Beacon's Light" and "Let Your Light So Shine" were discussed by Mrs. Arthur Fite and Mrs. Larry Binford.

Special music was the solo, "The Light of the World" by Mrs. Henderson. Mrs. Mace Jett and Mrs. Ellis Bizzle sang a duet, "Go Give and Pray". Rev. J. P. Bright dedicated the "Gift to the King" offering.

The group then assembled in the Sunday School room where the gifts had been placed under the tree. The group exchanged gifts and revealed Sunshine friends for the year.

It was suggested that members of the church that would like to send Christmas gifts to the Choctaw Indians in Oklahoma. Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Kinslow will carry a trailer of material gathered from different churches they have visited.
