If the News doesn't quite measure up to its usual standards this week from the front page and other news standpoints, please forgive me. I have been wishing all week long that I could be quintuplets. I've also thought a number of times how much leisure I have when Paul's here just writing, keeping the front office going, taking pictures, covering meetings, tending to a house and two little ones. But this week with all Paul's work too that keeps him busy 16 hours a day, well it's no picnic. So please overlook my efforts if they do not measure up to your expectations.

Coons, and coon-dogs. I have heard about all of my life. I often thought about them as big old bear-looking critters that some folks enjoyed hunting and that politicians made meals out of. Why, I never knew. A couple of fellows at the Ford garage here, through, take coons and coon-dogs seriously indeed. Ollie Harris and Buford Weatherpoon have a litter of coon-dogs that runs into real money and Ollie said that he is in the market to swap, buy, trade, sell market. Matter of fact is that Ollie and Buford both seemed in a mighty big hurry the other afternoon to get away from their work to go coon-hunting. The reason for such sport they assure me that they knew all they wanted to do was practice this dogs into hunting the animals.

Ollie just got plumb indignant when I made a little fun of such sport and especially of making such grand plans and housing for the dogs. He treats them with the greatest respect and says they're the finest dogs in the world. He has six of them, caring for them he doesn't mind getting in the dog-house often because he spends so much time with the hounds. Shows to go you, what sport sport is.

Our little old Fulton County News really gets around this world and every day I hear something interesting about how it does travel. For instance Jessie Lee Fleming has just returned from a grand vacation in Washington with Jim and Virginia Isbell and the Isbell youngsters. Miss Jessie Lee said that she kept up with Fulton via the News in this way: A good subscriber of ours Mrs. Lula Butler McKenzie in San Diego, Calif., sent Miss Jessie Lee a bulging envelope to Washington. In it were dozens of clippings from the News which Mrs. McKenzie thought Miss Jessie Lee would enjoy. She did enjoy them of course and I do want to thank Mrs. McKenzie for those kind words about the paper. They helped an awful lot on a very busy and frustrating moment. "which happens every Thursday."

Jeanne Letellier, a very dear friend of mine in Washington will enjoy the story Mrs. Walter Hill told me. Mrs. Hill said that the Dick Hills sent a copy of an interview I did with them to Australia. Pat said her father so appreciated the approach to the Australian situation in the interview that if I ever went to Melbourne the keys of the city would be handed to me forthright. Jeanne served in Australia as a WAC during the war. I can't get time to go to the hills of the Ozarks much less down under the world. But if I'm ever down under, I'll surely take those keys.

Listen here, my good farm friends. If you want to get enough seed to last almost a life-time or two, just go down to Southern States Cooperative and guess the weight of that tremendous seed bag at the plant on Central Avenue. Manager Merrill Hammons said that the person guessing to the nearest quarter of a pound will win the bag. Merrill stood by the bag for a photo which appears in their ad elsewhere in the News and the container looks to me that it stands well above five feet and is as big around as well. I started to say somebody, but I won't. Try guessing and winning that bag of seed. It ought to be fun.

Football practice has started out at Fulton High. Talked to Uel Killebrew about the possibilities next year and says he: "Everything's fine. Fourteen boys came out and they weigh from 210 to 110 pounds. Everything's fine." What an optimist.

JEANNE DAVIS ADDS ANOTHER WIN TO GROUP

Talented Girl Gets Top Prize Of District Fair

Evelyn Jeanette Davis, 13 year old daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth King Davis, was the winner for Fulton County in the essay contest on "How The District Fair Helps Agriculture." This victory adds another prize-winning essay to her growing accomplishments. She is quite interested in the progress of agriculture, and even though she has never had the privilege of attending a Purchase District Fair, she says "Agriculture is one of the most important strongholds of our nation. Without agriculture we cannot survive."

A review of her essay reveals that she has an understanding of the values of the methods of spraying fruit trees and crops; contour plowing to prevent the erosion of soil to obtain more and richer soil; crop rotation to keep the soil fertile; irrigation when needed to save the crops from drought; breeding and artificial insemination. The final paragraph of her essay follows: "The Purchase District Fair helps agriculture by improving the methods of farming and shows the farmers how to use these methods. The products bring the farmers better prices, because of their higher quality."

LABOR SURVEY RETURNS POOR; DATA NEEDED

Chamber Urges Citizens Fill Out Cards Today

The returns on the Labor Survey recently made by the Fulton Chamber of Commerce have been disappointing. The number of people who returned cards were very small — especially when compared to the constant demand for new industry.

Too often people say "get an industry and labor will come in." Unfortunately this is not the way it works — industry wants to see the results of the labor before they will consider the town. Several towns nearby have lost new industry on this fact alone.

Of the questionnaires sent out only 19.9% were returned; of this amount about 49.3% were already employed.

It is vitally essential that the figure of 19.9% be brought up close to at least 50% of the amount sent out. If the cards have been lost you can secure a form from the Chamber of Commerce office, 401 Walnut Street, to be filled in.

This Labor Survey was a very expensive venture for your Chamber of Commerce, and the returns do not justify the expenditure as of the present date. It is therefore urged that all cards be returned at once, whether you are employed or not.

Big Finance Drive For C of Cs Planned

The Fulton Chamber of Commerce will launch a full-sized concerted drive for memberships the coming week. Every business in Fulton will be contacted to pay their proportionate part of the operation of the Chamber of Commerce.

A large number of businesses who were members last year have not as yet paid their part of operating expenses this year. And there are still a lot of firms in the two towns who have never belonged to the Chamber of Commerce.

Bob White, President of the Chamber of Commerce states

WETHERBY URGES VOTERS REGISTER FOR FALL ELECTION

Governor Says Its First Duty Of Citizenship

Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby today appealed to Kentuckians to prepare themselves for the duties of citizenship this fall, by seeing to it they are properly registered to vote in the November election.

Voter registration books for the November election opened August 12 and will close September 4, after which they will be closed until following the Nov. 2 general election.

"It is highly important that all qualified citizens prepare themselves for the highest privilege of citizenship - that of participating in the selection of their officers," the Governor urged all Kentuckians.

During the period between now and September 4, persons who have moved from one precinct to another, those who will have lived in the precinct sixth days prior to November 22, or who will become twenty-one by November 2, may register to vote, the Governor point out.

After September 4 there will be no further opportunity to qualify to vote in the November election.

Kearbys - Murchisons Return From Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kearby and Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Murchison and daughters, Janie and Vickie, of Crutchfield, returned home Saturday after a ten day visit with Mr. and Mrs. William Eblen of Winter Harbor, Maine. They visited many points of interest, Niagara Falls, Cadillac Mt., Bar Harbor, Maine, the Biltmore Estate at Asheville, N. C. and the Smoky Mountains. Mrs. Eblen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kearby.

Have a Smoke!

If you saw a group of men leaving Smith's Cafe Tuesday, all smoking "stogies" they were helping Randall Burcham, a fellow Rotarian, do a little celebrating. Randall and his wife Helen are the proud parents of a lovely little girl born a few days ago and of course the proud papa did the right thing by sticking out his chest and handing out cigars. They'll do it every time.

"now, as never before in the history of our towns we need a Chamber of Commerce to remain constantly alert to locate new industry in the towns. There is no group or organization that can successfully contact industry except a Chamber of Commerce, and with the outlook for unemployment here it is essential that new industry be found to take care of the potential unemployment. Securing new industry cannot be done overnight, nor in a year — it sometimes takes several years."

"New channels for contacts must be made — it has taken a year to open all channels we have at present. Last year we have been successful in having the following organizations actively interested in locating industry in Fulton: The Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, the Agricultural and Industrial Board at Frankfort, the Industrial Department of the IC, and a concern in Chicago whose business is solely the relocating of new industry. These are important contacts working for us, besides the direct work the office is doing."

Every businessman in Fulton should pay a proportionate share of the expense of improving and enlarging our towns, and for this reason a concerted effort will be made this week to have every business firm a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

More Time Needed For Highlands To Discuss Annexation

Last Friday evening a good-sized representation of property owners from the Highlands area met in the Courthouse in Fulton, called there to discuss the possibility of seeking annexation of their area to the corporate limits of Fulton.

The group indicated that, in the majority, it was not interested in the proposition, despite the fact that they stood to save money on their water bill and insurance, besides enjoying the free advantages that a Corporation provides its taxpayers.

Discussion at the meeting, in the main, indicated that not enough time had elapsed between the first notice of the meeting, and the meeting itself. Many people were quite vague as to what they stood to gain, as well as what they did not stand to gain. The general indication at the meeting was that a lot more time for study and thought needs to elapse before the question is actually put to each property owner. Neighbor needs to discuss it with neighbor, and to think it over for a few weeks or months, since it is primarily the future, and not so much the present, that is concerned with the move.

There is no question that Fulton needs Highlands for growing room, but the Fulton City Council has made it plain that they do not propose to take any action unless the majority of the property owners want it.

We think that the Highlands needs Fulton, too, even though the need at the present time is not apparent. Such a study requires an examination of future growth, problems, etc.

Annexation procedure takes time and cannot be jumped into on the spur of the moment. Perhaps it is best at this time to shelve the whole matter, and let everyone think it over awhile.

At least, no harm has been done. Those who have never thought of the advantages of incorporation can now study and discuss them.

Your Vote Will Be Needed In November. Register Now!

While the nominations of Democrat Mr. Alben W. Barkley and Republican Mr. John S. Cooper in the recent party primaries for the United States Senate were foregone conclusions, and didn't arouse much interest, it is this newspaper's belief that such will not be the case in the November general election.

So, please remember one thing. Regardless of how interested you become as the campaign becomes more heated, you cannot vote for the candidate of your choice if you are not registered.

Voter registration books are re-opened in the County Court Clerk's office and will remain open until September 4. To be eligible for registration, prospective voters must have lived in Kentucky for one year and in the county for at least six months. Persons who should re-register are those who have moved from one voting precinct to another since they last registered, persons who have been notified that their registration has been cancelled for some reason, and women who have changed their names by marriage since their last registration.

Believing that it is every citizen's duty to be interested enough in government to cast a ballot, this newspaper respectfully urges all persons of voting age to be sure they are registered.

Give Generously To Emergency Drive For Polio

Polio fighting funds have been drained to exhaustion, seriously jeopardizing aid to polio patients, Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby declared today in calling upon residents of Kentucky to contribute to the Emergency March of Dimes.

A special campaign will be conducted nationally and in Fulton from Aug. 16 to 31 to raise critically needed funds.

In his proclamation statement, the Governor noted that "Infantile Paralysis is now nearing its summer peak, crippling boys and girls, men and women." He urged state-wide support of the emergency campaign "at a critical moment in the battle for polio."

Victims of polio look to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to help them by assuming costs of patient care when needed, recruiting professional personnel and rushing from its eight "equipment banks" special supplies like respirators, rocking beds and hot pack machines, he said.

But "there is a grave shortage of necessary funds" because the cost of care for polio victims has risen higher than ever before.

"At the same time," the Governor said, "enormous sums must be spent on the study of a hopeful vaccine while supplying the public with gamma globulin for temporary immunity." Governor Wetherby noted that 42 Polio chapters out of 120 in Kentucky are out of funds even though $134,000 in epidemic money has been sent these chapters by the National Foundation since the first of the year.

He noted that fellow citizens in every county of the State are turning from holidays and recreation to work as March of Dimes emergency volunteers in the last two weeks of August. He asked the public to support their efforts by donating generously.

Sermonette of the Week—

Even The Stars Lead Us To God

(By John Sternig)

MAN STANDS HALFWAY between the atom and the star. We seldom look out into space or contemplate the atom with anything but confusion and fear.

For most of us, the cares and burdens of our lives keep our thoughts close to the earth from which we draw our livelihood. The earth looks flat and endless. Out in the sky the sun and moon and stars wheel ceaselessly along their paths as they move around the earth. We creep about the earth and it remains for us the center of creation.

HOW CAN WE understand the earth or its place in the plan of the universe if we never raise our eyes beyond our planet? How can we sense the glory of God, who made the universe and all things in it, if we never think of anything but the cares and worries of the day? We should lift up our heads and see the wonder of creation and of God.

The moon is the nearest of celestial bodies, yet 238,000 miles away. The present boundary of the solar system is marked by Pluto, 3 1/2 billion miles away; 5 1/2 hours by light time. The nearest visible star is 26 trillion miles away.

from earth; its light, speedy though it is, needs 4 1/2 years to reach us. From this star space goes on and on, so that light requires 100,000 years to cross the galaxy of which our sun and planets are but a part.

BEYOND OUR OWN galaxy lie millions of other universes, each of them with billions of stars. They are so far apart that light from the nearest takes 1 1/2 billion years to reach us.

And what of us who live upon this tiny earth? Smaller than small are we, so utterly tiny that we seem to crawl within ourselves. Here is insignificance that one can really feel. Here is humility, but not humiliation for man is more than dust.

THE MIND OF MAN can encompass the whole universe even if he understands it only feebly. Here is where man's value lies—in his soul and mind, not in the dust of which his body is composed. And just as the mind of man reaches out across the emptiness of space in search of knowledge, so does the soul lovingly seek the Fountain of it all—God.

If the universe is vast and wonderful, how much more wonderful the God who made it. In truth, "The heavens declare the glory of the Lord." Well did Lincoln say, "I cannot conceive how man can look into the heavens and say there is no God."

Why is it wives always think someone else's husband is sweeter than theirs?

Most deals made at parties the night before turn out to be two different agreements.

Ignorance, despite words to the contrary, is seldom accepted as an excuse for anything.

TID BITS

of Kentucky Folklore

"FOLK EXAGGERATION"

If you moderns had listened to our conversation at Fidelity, especially when we were provoked—mad, to you—, you would have thought that bloodshed would have been common. Like that of many of the dogs of the world, our bark was very much worse than our bite. We seemed to revel in gore and mayhem. For instance, we did not threaten to hurt someone; we said we would knock the stuffing out of him (pronounced "stufin' out'n him"). We threaten to wipe up the floor with him, or knock the livingdaylights out of him. One of the Negro farm hands threatened to jerk the leg off his mule and beat the remaining part of the animal to death. This threat, like most of the others, was for the audience, which happened to be made up of small white boys. I never saw the Negro actually hurt that mule or any other animal of his boss. There grew up a love for boasting and rough threats that satisfied a sort of poetic fancy of us remote country people. The champion of rough talking was a woman in our neighborhood who once delivered a threat that became a classic in our circle, through we hardly dared to speak of her, because she was very much alive and might carry out the dire things. A good-sized bully had done something to antagonize the woman's little boy; he ran to "tell Mammy on him." Mammy, a tiny little woman about as harmless as a six-week-old puppy, let out this blast: "If you don't let my boy alone, I'll stripe you with a hickory switch, cross-stripe you, and salt and pepper you." The bully should have shriveled up with this dire muttering hanging over his head, but he grew up to manhood, became one of the mildest-mannered men I ever knew, and died this very year, an oldish, harmless, soft-spoken man. I used to try to picture him as he might appear properly salted and peppered.

Our exaggeration was not confined to threats, however. It was hard to view any earthly thing in a matter-of-fact way. When it rained, it rained cats and dogs, or the rain was a gully-washer. The rather small creek got up so high that out accounts of it would have made an outsider think the Mississippi itself had got out of bounds. The thermometer—and there was such an instrument found occasionally in the Fidelity neighborhood—stood almost at the top in summer or clear down in the bulb in winter. Nobody respected the thermometer or its owner if it merely registered average or normal temperature. When the very cold winter of 1899-1900 caused many a cheap thermometer to break—"blow up"—, we all felt glad that we could live in such a fearful time. I cannot recall that any one ever doubted that temperatures at the houses where the thermometers broke were far below other places within plain sight, where the instruments survived to register some other fearful low.

The physical beauty of people at Fidelity was probably average, as compared with that of people elsewhere who were of Scotch-Irish descent. But very seldom did we recognize this rather safe observation. Girls were as pretty as speckled puppy, or a rosebud, or a peach; or they could be as ugly as home-made sin (or soap) or a mud fence. One of the girls I went to school with at Fidelity was tall, we thought, though she probably was not exceptionally

so. We nicknamed her "Moon-fixer." As she was several years older than I, she seemed like a suitable mate for some of the giants we read about in stories. Today, after years of calming down, I doubt whether she was more than five feet six, a very respectable height for girls of my acquaintance. Among the men that I knew some seemed as tall as the sons of Anak in the Bible or Goliath. In recent years, since I have been thrown with dozens of very tall boys, I have discovered that most of our so-called giants were not over six feet tall. In the same way we talker about how fat many a person was, and a few were fairly large, I will admit. But many of our huge people were far below two hundred pounds in weight. I suspect that much of this exaggeration was due to our being a section of humanity that were quite average in size and height. Even our big hills were mere slants as compared with real mountains; but they were big in comparison with level ground; we just did not have any violent contrasts in people or things and imagined our variations from the average as very significant. I wonder how big some of the historical and mythological giants really were. They were probably no larger than many a person we now pass casually on the streets.

—Around Fulton—

The News writes social happenings about you and your friends.

Come the first of September, or thereabouts, Bob White says, there's going to be a big splash at the Fulton Country Club. That's the target day, Bob, club president, has set for the opening of the great big, new swimming pool now under construction out East State Line way. The construction of the pool, on some days, has taken away the glamour from many of the other activities at the Club, and many of the men have forgotten a good golf game to "supervise" the concrete pouring, the well digging and other important phases of the project.

Joe Hall told us one day there were so many "supervisors" out there rubber-necking that you could hardly get near the huge excavation. He wished that a News photographer could have been there to take a picture of all these folks standing around watching every ounce of concrete, sand and dirt being thrown in the place that will soon be a mecca for recreation-bound members.

The club has closed its membership and now stands at around 170. That's a lot of members and nearly one member of every family is intent on being a golfer of sorts. Many afternoons one has to stand in line to tee off the number one green. The bug has bitten small fry, teen-agers, middle aged, and old folks and that's the sumpin'.

By the way Lorene Hughes, we are told, is planning a big program for the opening of the pool with swim races, diving exhibitions and a score of other activities. It will be a big day!

Speaking of the Country Club we'd like to tell you a little something about the golf match that evinced great interest at the club last Saturday when veteran golfer Glad Moore and Betty Jean "Red" Vowell played nineteen holes in the semifinals of the championship bracket. The entire crowded fairways popped at intervals to find out, in some way, the latest score. One of the caddies going the rounds perfected a signal system with the other caddies to tell how they stood, since it is not the best golf etiquette to ask the contestants. Coming up nine on the eighteenth hole our caddy got the signal, by hand motions, from the caddy in the two-some, and he let us know that it was tied. The players tied on the eighteenth hole and had to play an extra hole, which Betty Jean took with a par five.

Admiration was great for both

STEVE BAIRD is completely oblivious to the terrific activity this week-end in connection with the McDade-Hunt wedding. He is the son of Danny and Joan Baird who are here for the wedding. Steve was taking a sunning on the lawn of his grandparents' Baird home this week when a News photographer snapped this "aw heck, with wedding" pose. His mother sits with him.

Homer Wilson.

Misses Ann McDade, Jane White, Mary Davis Weeks, Fredricka Gibson, Nancy Wilson, and Virginia Hunt, Mayfield.

The girls at the Southern Bell Telephone office have more fun than anybody. They are the most thoughtful and we might say, the gayest group in these parts. They never let any important event in the lives of their fellow workers go by without some kind of little party to commemorate the event. Baby showers, wedding showers, birthdays, everything, they take note of and there's such a wonderful camaraderie that exists among them.

Friday night seventeen of the girls, with voices that smile, gathered at the Derby Cafe to pay special note to the wedding of Miss Glenda McAlister to Robert Miller of Murray. The party was a dinner. One and all were seated at a handsomely arranged table with a beautiful centerpiece of carnations, glads and asters. And to make the event happy, as they always do, the hostess was presented with a lovely gift.

Those attending were — Miss McAlister, the honoree, Alma Williams, Anna Bizzle, Dorothy Young, Ruby Chadwick, Hazel Clark, Jo Ann Ferguson, Gloria Stevens, Doris Winfrey, Tommy Nell Gates, Frances Cursey, Anita Allen, Carolyn Faulkner, Dorothy Williams, Inez Rose and Mary Patrick, Joyce McDade, Helen Frances Roberts.

Anne Latta, you know, has just returned from a European cruise and arrived in Fulton Saturday afternoon. She was met at the airport in Paducah by Noy Holland, Grace Beard and her mother, Mary Latta. From then on Anne has been on a "briefing" spree that won't quit. Anne has been briefing her friends on her trip abroad, and the Latta home in Water Valley with a luncheon in Ann's honor. (These two Annes... Latta is the Anne with the E, and McDade is the Ann... minus the E.) Figure that one out if the lino-type operator doesn't cross us up.

But to get back to the Tuesday luncheon. It was a wonderful party and when we suggested to Anne (that's Latta) that much talk was devoted to her trip to Europe she said: "Oh, no, Ann (that's McDade) was the center of attraction at the party." And just to prove to you the whole thing is friendship at its best. Anne (e) will be Ann's (no e) maid of honor.

The Latta home was the prettiest place in town that day. Mary, who makes up more pretty bouquets for more parties as a help to the hostesses, made up pretty decorations from her flower garden. The hostesses presented Ann with a corsage and a beautiful gift.

But... and you might be interested to know that we have it from now less a person than Anne Latta that their is nothing significant in the next sentence. But... as we said before, the party was enlivened by the rendition, on the piano, of a beautiful love song, that Anne brought back from Italy. The girls sang it and enjoyed it in both languages. Virginia Hunt did the honors on the key board.

Privileged to attend the happy occasion were: Miss McDade, Mrs. Maxwell McDade, Mrs. Herbert Hunt and Miss Virginia Hunt of Mayfield, Mrs. Gene Hatfield, Miss Betsy Whitesell, Miss Jane White, Miss Anne Latta, Miss Virene Beard, Miss Nancy Wilson, Miss Mary Jane Wyatt of Mayfield, Mrs. Danny Baird, Miss Katee Lowe, Mrs. Pete Byars, Miss Mary Davis Weeks, Miss Janice Wheeler, Mrs. Frederica Gibson, Miss Beverly Hill and Miss Mary Ann Brady.

Mrs. Walter Hill returned Tuesday night after a wonderful visit in New York with her son Dick and family. Dick and Pat have made many lovely trips this summer to Canada, Philadelphia, Florida.

While Grandmamma Hill stayed with the Hill youngsters in New York. She too, had a most memorable trip and for a lady who comes from a baseball family, Mrs. Hill has the prize baseball story of all to tell. While in New York, as a matter fact she stayed over for the event, she attended the Hall of Fame baseball game. Such past "greats" as Ty Cobb, Carl Hubbell, Connie Mack and others many of us remember, were players in the game, which the old-timers played for two whole innings. Mrs. Hill got to see the immortals of the diamond make an attempt to bat, catch and throw.

On Sunday, before she embarked for Fulton on Monday, the Hills went into greater New York and did some real sight-seeing. The Dick Hills went to the church of their choice, while Mrs. Hill attended the Third Christian Science Church and she said it was perfectly beautiful. She also went right up to the very top of the Empire State Building and no doubt visited all the other famous landmarks of that famous and wonderful city.

What a grand way to spend a summer. But we're glad to have all our vacationing friends back home again.

Visitors will start arriving daily for the McDade-Hunt wedding this week-end. Among those already here are Danny and Joan Baird of Colorado Springs, where Danny is stationed, and of course their little one. Steve also coming in Friday will be Margaret and Bill Curlin of Frankfort who will visit in the Horton Baird home. Margaret and Bill and the Maxwell McDades have been close friends for many, many years and the Curlins, who have watched Ann grow into a lovely young lady will view the wedding with great sentiment and great happiness, too.

While noting Danny and Joan Baird's visit here we'd like to tell you a certain lovely grandmother, in the Highlands, Dula McDade, musta knowed they were a-coming, cause she sure baked little Steve a mighty fine cake for his arrival present. Of course baking a cake to lots of folks is a daily occurrence, but to Dula, that requires real special treatment, especially for real special people like the younger Bairds.

As if Goren, Blackwood and Culbertson don't give us enough trouble with this game of bridge, a dessert bridge party for Ann McDade held Saturday at Louise Binford's adds to our misery. Furiously taking notes from Exie Hill who with Louise and Mildred Anderson were hostesses she says: "Betsy Whitesell won the travel prize."

"What's that," says the doings diarist.

"I don't know, you know as much about bridge as I do," says Exie. That did it. The ain't nobody knows that little about bridge.

So Louise Binford explains it. The guest taking the last trick with the deuce of trumps wins the prize. So, Exie, Betsy Whitesell won it. The prize just travelled all during the game. So! Now what else is there to know about it, Mr. Goren.

High scorer at bridge was Miss Nancy Wilson and Mrs. Maxwell McDade was second high. Miss Frederica Gibson won low. So intrigued with our latest bridge lesson almost forgot about the party. The lovely Binford home was a pretty setting for the party with summer flowers in profusion. A gift corsage and a gift was presented the bride and delicious home-made peach ice cream and individual cakes were served the guests who were:

Miss McDade, Mrs. Maxwell McDade, Miss Nancy Wilson, Miss Frederica Gibson, Miss Shirley Holland of Dyersburg, Miss Betsy Whitesell, Miss Katee Lowe, Miss Mary Ann Brady, Mrs. Gene Hatfield, Mrs. J. E. Campbell, Mrs. Don Sensing, Mrs. A. B. Roberts, Miss Mary Frances Roberts, Mrs. Pete Byars, Mrs. Homer Wilson and Miss Janice Wheeler.

Wednesday night of this week marked the end of the round of parties for Ann before the rehearsal supper Friday night and the return of the couple from their wedding trip. At the Ernest Fall, Jr. home on Third Street Elva and Ernest, Louis, Elsie and Mary Davis Weeks and Bill and Ruth Brown entertained with a backyard supper for Ann and Herbie. The party was a "couple" party. The hostesses presented Ann with a lovely wedding gift as a memento of the occasion. Cool breezes that blew Wednesday (Continued on Page Five)

Notebook

their little daughter Joy have just returned from a wonderful western trip to Yellowstone National Park. The family had such a good time cooking their meals out in the open. Reminds me that a friend of mine said that bacon and eggs cooked on a little oil burner out in the wilds of the west are the best they ever ate. Thad and company will concur wholeheartedly.
