Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Three of the kids got free haircuts yesterday, but we are wondering how much it will cost us to get the haircuts combed.

Five year old got a touch of tonsorial fever, and started whacking with the scissors on himself and the two smallest.

The results could roughly be described as a mess.

Oldest three year old was shorn of all his curls and the smallest looked like the moths had gotten hold of him.

Five year old looked like a cross between an Indian and somebody who had caught his head in a fan.

We don't know whether Eddy Roberts needs a barber or not, but we advise him to hold off as long as possible before hiring the five year old.

We don't know whether to just let them run around with their "just like they had been in a chicken fight" haircuts or to get their heads shaved. They would look pretty sorry either way.

After the melee was all over, the five year old admitted that they didn't look so hot and that he wished that he had not done it.

Other than doing that and setting fire to a three acre day field, he had a fairly uneventful day.

Edwin Stokes has built a new addition to his Ferguson Tractor place. We never saw a place develop like Edwin's business. We are glad to see it.

Larry Kerley says that the recent conventions almost cleaned Mr. Philco out of TV sets.

This date last year: President Truman asked Congress not to cut appropriations for international groups. He said that failure to support the various agencies would jeopardize American leadership.

This date in history: Pope Pius the VIIIth restored the Jesuits as a society in 1814. American forces landed at Guadalcanal in 1942.

Happy Birthday to Dr. T. R. Palmer who has a birthday today.

We don't know how long Dr. Palmer has been in Murray, but it has been a long time.

Glad to see Mr. John Ryan up and around. He looks worse for the worse for his recent sickness.

Sgt. John Boggs Receives Combat Infantryman Badge

WITH THE 25th INFANTRY DIV. in Korea—Sgt. John H. Boggs, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Boggs, Route 1, Murray, has been awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge while serving with the 25th Infantry Division in Korea.

The badge, a symbol of the front-line fighting man, consists of a miniature replica of a Revolutionary War flintlock mounted on a blue background and superimposed on a silver wreath.

Sergeant Boggs entered the Army in July 1948 and received his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. Arriving in Korea last May, he has been serving in Company A of the 5th Infantry Regiment.

Air Battles Result In One MIG Downed

By United Press
Enemy jet pilots got another bitter taste of American air might today.

Yank Sabers flew downed one MIG jet and damaged three others in new battles over North Korea not far from the Manchurian border.

That makes 36 of the Red jet planes that have been destroyed or damaged so far this month. Allied losses in the dogfights have not been given. However, the navy reveals that eight men were killed yesterday when a jet fighter exploded aboard the aircraft carrier "Boxer" off the Korean coast.

The plane blew up in the carrier's hangar deck, setting off a fire in the below deck space used for storing planes. Twelve planes were destroyed before the fire was put out.

Today Chinese infantrymen captured a key hill land drove to the UN's main line on the central front. At the same time, Red artillery sent 9,000 shells crashing into South Korean troops known as the "Capitol" division.

Allied casualties are not given, but the UN says the Reds had nearly 200.

Appears bent on making a big incident out of four pieces of shrapnel that fell into the true village.

Allied officials claim there is no evidence that the fragments came from American shells, as the enemy charges. And they have refused to enter a joint investigation of the incident, in which there were no casualties or damage.

Price Supports To Be Available For Fescue Producers.

Price supports to producers of Kentucky 31 and Alta fescue will be made available through "purchase agreements" under the 1952 crop hay and pasture grass seed support program, at O. Wilson, chairman of the Production and Marketing Administration state committee, said here today.

Under the purchase agreement plan, the state PMA chairman said, a certain quantity of seed will be earmarked for sale to the Commodity Credit Corporation. No money is advanced to the producer but he will have the option of delivering eligible seed of the quantity specified in the agreement to CCC after April 30, 1953, at the agreed price.

The basic support price will be 75 cents a pound for certified seed, 20 cents a pound for uncertified seed.

Specifications for eligible seed at the basic price are 98 percent purity, 85 percent germination, not more than 1-2 percent of weed seed, and not more than 4-12 percent purity and 80 percent germination are required for price support eligibility.

In announcing the support program for these tall fescue seed, the U. S. Department of Agriculture pointed out that it is setting up a price stability and orderly marketing of this year's large acreage and heavy yield.

One of the biggest lessons of the Korean war has been that Air Force cannot replace Navies.

In fact, it has at times seemed almost as if the Navy were about to replace the Air Force in the Korean War. Some experts estimate that over half the tactical air fighting in Korea and over half the air support of UN ground troops came from Navy and Marine carrier planes. The Air Force, at times, was relegated mainly to strategic bombing and frequently was frustrated by a scarcity of targets.

The Korean contour favored this. The narrowness of the Peninsula and the rugged character of the country means that Navy carriers can get in close to the fronts at all times, whereas construction of landing strips near the fronts is extremely difficult. It can be argued that the Navy enjoyed an unusual advantage in that its carriers were immune from attack—the enemy has no fleet and no Air Force capable of fighting at sea.

Nevertheless, the Korean war has given us a new and revolutionary concept of the aircraft carrier, and as a result our Navy now is embarked on its program of laying the keel for the new supercarrier each year for 10 years. The first supercarrier is being built at Newport News Virginia. The second will be built at Brooklyn, New York.

Only three years ago, defense secretary Louis Johnson junked plans for the first supercarrier and touched off one of the biggest defense rows in our history. Now, history has vindicated the views of Johnson's Navy critics, and military experts think that even in an age of guided missiles and robot-interceptors and perhaps hydrogen bombs, the aircraft carrier will play a far bigger part in joint military-naval operations than ever before.

The carriers did not play a great part in operations in the European and Mediterranean theatres in World War Two although they were there, and they have counted so heavily. Many historians believe the defeat of the Japanese carriers at Midway was the turning point in the Pacific War.

But for a long time, after the war, no one was willing to believe with the liberal wing of the Democratic party.

New signs of dissatisfaction with the national Democratic party have cropped up in the south. Governor James Byrnes of South Carolina says there are thousands of persons in his state who would sign a petition to put Eisenhower on the ballot as an independent.

Stokes Tractor Has New Space Addition

The Stokes Tractor and Implement Company has built an addition to the present building, just east of the railroad. The addition was constructed says Edwin Stokes, owner of the concern, to take care of the expanding service and parts departments.

The company is agent for the Ferguson tractors and implements, and also does service work on Ford's trucks and automobiles.

The new addition, of concrete block construction, will give some much needed room for these activities. Part of the new building will be used to store and display parts used in the business.

Fund Will Be Used In Kentucky And Tennessee To Provide Feed

By United Press
Farmers of Kentucky and Tennessee are getting relief from the drought.

Not so much from the weatherman in the form of rain—but from Washington in the form of money.

President Truman has aside three million dollars to provide feed for dairy and beef herds in the two states.

He said Kentucky and Tennessee have been hit the hardest by the drought—but other states that ask for help will get "immediate consideration."

Mr. Truman acted at the request of governors Lawrence Wetherby of Kentucky and Gordon Browning of Tennessee.

The money will be in the form of loans advanced out of emergency funds by the housing and home finance agency. It will go to the department of agriculture and will be used to distribute hay and other feed to farmers on reasonable terms.

Mr. Truman pointed out that a separate action, has recognized disaster conditions in 10 states and is now offering credit to farmers. Said the president: "There was a time when such disaster were shrugged off as local misfortunes. We have come to understand in this country that the whole nation loses in these circumstances, and we must all pitch in to do what we can to help."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (UP)—The text of a statement by President Truman today on the drought: "I am very sorry to say that we have a terrible drought situation in several states, and the federal government is going to do everything it can to help the farmers in those areas."

At the request of Governor Wetherby of Kentucky and Governor Browning of Tennessee I have just this morning declared these two states disaster areas and allocated $3,000,000 of emergency funds to buy and distribute feed to save the basic dairy and beef herds in those areas. This money will be advanced by the Housing and Home Finance Agency to the department of agriculture and will be used to distribute hay and other feed to farmers on reasonable terms.

Tennessee and Kentucky herds have been the hardest hit so far. As other states ask for help, they will get immediate consideration. The department of agriculture under its own authority, has already recognized disaster conditions in 10 states and is offering credit and other assistance.

Tryouts Named For Card Scouts

PADUCAH, Ky., Aug. 7 (UPI)—Cardinal scout Joe Monahan and Jack Sturdy have been named to conduct the tryout sessions at Paducah's Brooks Stadium on Monday and Tuesday, August 11 and 12. It was announced today.

Monahan began his professional baseball career when he was just 17 years old in 1935. One year later the husky first-sacker exhibited his talents with San Diego in the Pacific Coast League. Monahan ended his playing career when he enlisted in the Army Air Force in 1942. He was appointed a full-time Cardinal scout upon his release from military service in 1946. Monahan, together with his father, Pat, make up what is believed to be the only father-son scouting combine in organized baseball.

Sturdy was a star second baseman with top Cardinal farm teams, including AAA Rochester and Sacramento clubs, until forced to retire from the game in 1945 with a sore arm. However, the Cardinals, recognizing his extensive knowledge of the game, immediately signed him as scout. "Monahan and Sturdy each has a great number of years experience in organized baseball," George Selvey, Cardinal tryout camp director, said. "Their extensive

Governor Stevenson's Sister Is Truly Distinguished Aristocrat Who May Reign in White House

By MARY MERRYFIELD
Central Press Correspondent

CHICAGO—To me one of the most thrilling figures in the Democratic convention is a woman who remains more or less in the background. She is a tall, slim, aristocratic-looking woman with a face, blue eyes and heavy dark hair drawn back simply and elegantly.

She is Mrs. Ernest Ives, sister of Governor Stevenson, who has been used to wearing formal clothes all her life—a woman who has a glint of humor to match her famous brother's easy charm that causes eyes to follow her wherever she appears.

This woman looks like the subject of a family portrait such as always appears over the fireplace in one of those movies which feature fine old family with charming and distinguished men.

Her long neck, usually encircled with a short strand of exquisite pearls, the sloping shoulders and the poise of her head—these are aristocratic air.

Actually, this midwestern woman is just that—a member of a family which founded towns, served their country in war and peace and has a tradition lasting through four generations.

For this somewhat mysterious woman of the proud bearing is Mrs. Ernest Ives, better known as "Buffy" to her nationally known brother, Illinois' governor Adlai Stevenson.

As you cannot escape knowing by this time—after all the national publicity on the subject—Adlai Stevenson was more reluctant to be a candidate for nomination to the presidency than anyone else.

General Sherman who came out flatly and said, "If nominated I will not accept and if elected will refuse to serve."

Stevenson did not go that far but he did everything possible to discourage the 1,230 delegates here from all of the 48 states plus the Canal Zone, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Ovation Convincing
When he made a speech to open the convention, he had very carefully planned it so as not to set off one of those spontaneous "We Want Stevenson" chants. But as you know, the ovation he got certainly showed that the North and South in the Democratic party agree on one thing—a compromise candidate such as Adlai Stevenson.

Mrs. Ives, who was right there to join the applause.

When we talked to U. S. senators, political reporters and some of the top writers who cover the State House at Springfield, they seemed to feel that a handwagon would start rolling to draft Stevenson on an early ballot.

At a big party given for Democratic Women in the ballroom of the Palmer House and again at a breakfast at which Mrs. Ives was guest, she was obviously

By United Press
The Hambleton Stakes, the biggest and richest classic for trotters, may be postponed again today because of the washed out condition of the track at Goshen, New York. Two heavy rain storms doused the track yesterday and forced officials to put off the big race in which 16 three year olds have been entered. Trucks were used in an effort to squeeze out the water in the track, but the vehicles left deep ruts which some observers believe will cause another postponement. If the trotters do start on schedule, at three p.m., Walter Chandler's "Duke Of Lauder" will be favored with Roland Harriman's "Hit Song" a close second choice. The first horse to win two of the one mile heats will pick up the $47,000 first prize.

All the big names in pro golf, with the exception of Ben Hogan and Bobby Locke, tee up today for the first round of the $75,000 world championship tournament at the Tam O'Shanter course in Chicago. The winner of the 72-hole grind will pick up a $35,000 check. Sammy Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, who won the All-American Open on the same course last week, is favored to take the world title.

The Brooklyn Dodgers play a split day-night double header at New York today after yesterday's all-important game was rained out after one inning. In other National League action, Philadelphia is at Boston for a two-nighter and St. Louis plays under lights at Cincinnati. Pittsburgh and Chicago are not scheduled. In the American League, New York plays two games at Washington and Boston is at Philadelphia for a pair. Under lights, it's Detroit at St. Louis. Cleveland and Chicago are idle.

In last night's National League action, the Cardinals won two from the Pirates, 7-2, in 10 innings and 3-2, in the afternoon. Chicago rapped Cincinnati, 5-3. In addition to the Dodger-Giant postponement, rain also washed out a twin-nighter between the Phils and Braves at Boston. In the American League, Washington beat New York, 6-4, and St. Louis defeated Detroit in 12 innings, 1-0. In the afternoon, Cleveland beat Chicago, 7-1. Boston at Philadelphia was rained out.

The United States is expected to win, Ohio and Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Florida have filled their entry blanks to play in the tournament at Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts, starting August 18th. The top-ranking American doubles players, Bill Talbert of New York and Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, also have filled their entry.

The United States is expected to name Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, California to play against Canada in tomorrow's American zone Davis Cup finals. The Americans are favored to sweep the best-of-three match series at Montreal and earn the right to play European champion Italy in the international semi-finals.

Weather permitting, the Eastern Grass Courts Tennis championships will resume today at South Orange, New Jersey, after a day's postponement caused by rain. Top-seeded Dick Savitt of Orange, New Jersey faces young Ken Rosewall of Australia in one of the feature matches. Wimbledon champion Frank Sedgman of Australia goes against Hal Burrows of Charlottesville, Virginia and defending champion Billy Talbert plays Gustavo Palfox of Mexico in other matches.

Defending champion Ross Collier of Arkansas A&M meets Jack Butler of Atlanta today in the title bout of the left-handed golfer's tournament at Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pennsylvania. Both golfers gained the finals by winning two matches yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Collier Barnett and daughter "Ann" have returned to Murray after a visit with the couple also.

In an impressive double ring ceremony performed by Bro. Joe T. Ode in the First Baptist Church of Gulfport, Miss., on Sunday morning, July 20, Miss Clara Elaine Parks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Parks, of Murray, became the bride of Airman First Class Ted Jones Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Collier Barnett, also of Murray.

Eat Green, Yellow Leafy Vegetables In Salad Form

By United Press

Most of us don't get enough of the green and yellow leafy vegetables in our diets—even though they're plentiful now in gardens or at your grocery store.

One of the best ways of adding them to the diet is in salad form. May Stank, nutritionist for Colorado's extension service, points out that by using them raw, as in salads, you get more of their vitamins and minerals.

One rule of salad making is that the greens and other ingredients should be cold, crisp and dry. If you want to make Romaine salad, cut the core out and let cold water run through the head. This makes the leaves separate easily. Drain the leaves on a towel.

Most salads are better if the ingredients are combined with the dressing just before serving. However, potato, chicken and meat salads are marinated and let stand for an hour or so before serving.

Cut salad ingredients into small chunks, instead of cutting them into shreds. Three or four ingredients are enough for a combination.

What kind of dressing brings out the most in salad? Well, here are some suggestions. Cooked dressings up with any salad. French dressing is used on salad greens, raw vegetables, acid fruits, and fish salads. Mayonnaise is used on vegetables, meat and fish when you want a heavy dressing, and often is used diluted with whipped cream for fruit salads. Sweet French or fruit juice dressing usually is used for fruit salads.

TO WHIP EGG WHITES

To make the whites of eggs whip up quickly, add two or three drops of lemon juice or a pinch of salt before whipping.
