Note Book

I want to write this column and direct it to a special little friend of mine, Ben Davis. I had a nice talk with Ben's mother the other day and she told me that Ben was mighty interested in the News and its reporters.

Well, Ben, you might want to know something about this reporter and the fact that this column is being written on a spanking brand-new Underwood typewriter. Now I've been in the newspaper business for nigh on to 25 years and this is the first NEW typewriter I ever had. I probably would have gone on for 25 years more if Jack Snow hadn't stood around my desk for several days just watching me type and shaking his head. He couldn't understand, nor could you, Ben, how anybody could type on a machine that was used by Noah to list the occupants of the Ark as they entered.

It didn't seem unusual for me to wait about a minute for a key to relax and fall back in place before I hit another key. Jack just didn't know that I use the hunt and peck system and I had to wait for that key to fall while I looked for the next key. It was simple to me, but Jack just stood there and shook his head.

Now Ben, if you ever get in this business or shall I say, rat-run, you too will no doubt start out on a typewriter just as ancient as the one I willed to Pat McKenzie. Now Pat does most of the typing in the office and she relinquished to Jack, as a trade-in a Woodstock typewriter that was out-of-date when Moses wanted to write the Ten Commandments on parchment, but decided to carve on stone because the typewriter wouldn't work.

Jack just called that typewriter a trade-in. I know that when he took it over to Cleo Peoples, the repairman at Harvey Caldwell's, Cleo just took the biggest hammer he could find and just hacked it to death to keep it from suffering any longer. And my, my, my how that machine did suffer. Pat's machine tried to spell right, and Pat tried to spell right, but it wasn't anybody's fault that the keys on the typewriter had the old Roman letters on it instead of the modern alphabet.

Old typewriters just seem to haunt me or love me, I don't know. Some eight years ago I had the dubious pleasure of working for the United States Government. Now that is one agency that I truly expected to get a new typewriter. I was in the writer's section of OWI and in Washington and I was supposed to turn out real rhetoric. But would you know that all new typewriters were requisitioned for the Army and I had to use a typewriter that was once used in a pharmacy department of a drug store.

I once wrote a story on that typewriter about War Production and the next morning when I came to work I found on my desk 100 Carter's Liver Pills, a dose of sulphur, a bottle of Dr. Miles Nervine and two dozen bottles of Milk of Magnesia. They thought that my story was a prescription.

Ben, in weekly newspapers somehow everything is old. Except for the members of the staff all of us are ready for the rendering plant. If you will read Paul's column today, Kentucky Windage, on the editorial page, you will see that we have a make-up stone in the office that was an old tombstone and the owner died 95 years ago. But that's one of our "newest" pieces of equipment. We have a linotype machine that is so old and so ornery that sometimes on Thursday it just stops running and defies us to fix it. Its that old adage about familiarity breeding contempt. And what a contemptuous old hag it is. Just ask Eph Dawes and Charles Alexander.

Ben, writing on this new typewriter has me tied up in knots. Its so new I'm afraid to type for fear I'll hurt the thing. My old typewriter was used to my touch and when I hit a key with a mallet to make it unstuck the typewriter just winced and kept right on plugging. The typewriter ribbon was so full of holes from use that one time the linotype operator handed

Held at the new Agriculture Room of the Science Hall the meeting started at 10:30 a. m. and lasted until 2:30 Thursday.

The Burnette Brothers of the Pure Milk Company hold these meetings to keep interest high in milk production in this county and to relate the latest developments and new methods being used for efficient milk production.

J. W. Durbin of the State Health Department was the main speaker. He spoke on the new amended Milk Code and methods of carrying it out.

A motion picture was shown on Quality Milk Production. Also, speaking was Dr. H. W. Connaughton of South Fulton. His subject was the Federal government bangs program. Dub Burnett, co-owner of the Ful-

Elks, YMBC, Boosters Will Bring Cheer To Needy on Christmas

This year, as in years past, the needy people of Fulton will not be forgotten. On Christmas Day there will be good food, good cheer and a happy spirit prevailing in many homes that might ordinarily be passing just another day were it not for the Elks Club of Fulton, the Young Men's Business Club and the South Fulton-Booster Club.

In Fulton the members of the Elks and YMBC will be busy as beavers on Christmas Eve filling baskets at the Kentucky Utilities office to be distributed among the poor of this city. Similarly the members of the Booster Club in South Fulton will spend that day filling baskets for the needy in South Fulton.

The history of the Christmas baskets in Fulton is a commendable and an interesting one. For 25 years the Elks Club has carried out this program. Some ten years ago the YMBC instituted a similar program, but when it was found that there was duplication of effort the YMBC joined the Elks and the program has been a joint one ever since.

Many Fultonians, and many Fulton organizations join in the effort. The Fulton Theatre each year has a morning movie when the admission is parcels of food. The American Legion collects old toys and together they visit the homes to deliver the baskets and the toys to bring happiness where otherwise there would be gloom and unhappiness.

This year the joint program was made healthier, financially, by the donation of $100 each from the Lion's Club and the Rotary Club. These checks were given to these two clubs by U-Tote-Em Grocery to be used wisely for the needy in Fulton. Spud Edwards, president of the YMBC and Lawson Roper, exalter ruler of the Elks Club said that many persons have assisted in the project and perhaps $250 has been saved by being able to get some merchandise at wholesale prices.

At South Fulton too, the city Hall was a receiving place for old clothes for the poor in that city and Mrs. Clara Warren, city clerk said the response has been wonderful. She was able to outfit twelve school children and Leon Hutchens, as his Christmas spirit, cleaned all the clothes at no extra charge for them.

Nearly 200 baskets will be distributed between the three groups and that's the merry Christmas spirit that is important.

LOWE'S CAFE CLOSES
Lowe's Cafe, located at State Line and Martin Highway, closed its doors on Monday. Owner Hugh Rushton has not announced future plans.

At an all-day meeting of the Victory Homemakers Club Wednesday it was a day for youngsters and grown folks to have a good time. Shown here near the Christmas tree at the Lodgeston Community House are left to right: Eddy Dowdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Dowdy; Margaret Wilkins who is staying with the Dowdys; Miss Myrtle Burnette; Julie Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Powell and Terry Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Brown. Miss Burnette is holding two lovely rag dolls made by Mrs. Harold Copeland.

Cotton, Tobacco County Referendum Vote Announced

Results of the Cotton-Tobacco referendum voting were announced for Fulton County this week as follows:

In the cotton referendum, with 500 to 600 eligible, only 209 voted. 204 voted for and only five against.

In the fire-cured tobacco group approximately 68 were eligible to vote. 21 voted in favor of 3 years, none voted for year and none voted for no continuance.

In the air-cured tobacco group approximately 109 were eligible to vote. 25 voted in favor of 3 years, none voted for one year and none voted for no continuance.

This is a national program, and to be adopted a program must carry nationally by a two-thirds vote.

3 UK STUDENTS FROM FULTON GET HIGH RECOGNITION

Hancock, Speight Whitesell Reflect Credit On Parents

Three Students from Fulton are among 185 persons entering the University of Kentucky for the first time this fall who have been recognized for attaining outstanding scores on placement tests given all students who enroll at the school.

Those students recognized were: Miss Katherine Louise Hancock, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Hancock of Fulton, Donald Mac Speight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Speight, 303 Fourth Street, and Hunter Byrd Whitesell son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Whitesell.

In making the announcement of the results of the tests, Dr. Lysle W. Croft, University director of personnel, declared that "such high achievement reflects not only their parents, but also upon the high school from which they graduated."

The 185 students honored were placed in the "A" section of general ability, English and mathematics. Under the University testing system the "A" section consists of the highest 25 per cent of the scores of each test.

NEW FARM CORN ALLOTMENT CAN NOW BE SECURED

Producer Must Apply If Price Support Wanted

Any producer who intends to plant corn in 1955 on a farm where no corn was planted during the years 1952, 1953, or 1954 should apply for a "new farm" corn acreage allotment if he wants any price support or an ACP payment in 1955. T. E. Williamson, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

Marketing quotas do not apply to corn, the Chairman explained. However, under the acreage allotment program, the production of corn in 1955 on a farm which has no corn acreage allotment established would not be eligible for price support. Likewise, the producer on such a farm would be ineligible for any payment under the 1955 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Application forms for "new farm" corn acreage allotments are available at the County ASC office. January 15, 1955 is the last day such application may be filed.

YULETIDE MUSIC SUNDAY EVENING AT METHODIST CHURCH

More Than 100 Persons To Take Part In Program

The public is invited to attend the annual Christmas program at the Methodist Church of Fulton this Sunday afternoon at 5:00 p. m.

The program is sponsored by the Youth of the church. Over 100 persons will take part in an hour long presentation of a dramatic Christmas musical entitled, "O Worship the King." Massive background scenery of Jerusalem and the surrounding hills will provide a picturesque setting for a large, richly decorated Christmas Tree and a simple, modest, manger which cradles the newborn Babe; and a choir of 100 youth.

For an hour of fellowship and worship in a Christmas atmosphere that only children and young people can create you cannot find a better place to be than the First Methodist Church Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

A & P Employees To Share $2,300,000

Employees of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company throughout the country will share more than $2,300,000 in pre-holiday compensation this year, it was announced today by Ralph W. Burger, president of the food chain.

Every employee with as much as six months' service will receive a part of the annual fund voted by the company's board of directors. Distribution is scheduled for December 17.

Doc Wright, chairman of the Elks Club Youth Center committee is shown here giving Mrs. Warren Anderson a taste of those delicious cookies sold Wednesday at the Bake Sale for the benefit of the Center. Shown on either side of them is Mrs. Hendon Wright who arranged the sale and Lawson Roper, Exalted Ruler of the Elks. Funds from the sale will be used for special entertainment at the Youth Center.

YOUTH CENTER DANCE

There will be a dance at the Fulton Youth Center next Tuesday evening from 9:30 until 12:00, with music by the 9-piece Melody Men orchestra. Students from Fulton High, South Fulton High, Cayce High and Cuba High are cordially invited to attend.

Admission will be 50c stag or $1 per couple. The Youth Center is located at the Elks Club on Lake Street.

Worship Christmas

A worship service on Christmas Day will begin at 8:30 a. m. at the Cruthfield Baptist Church. Rev. J. R. Lell issues a cordial invitation for all to attend.

BO-PEEP MOTEL OPENS

Fulton's newest addition to a growing local group of motels is the Bo-Peep Motel, located on U. S. 45-E about a half-mile from downtown Fulton. The Bo-Peep opened for business this week.

Bo-Peep is a nine-unit motel located on the slope next to the Dr. Connaughton home in South Fulton. It is owned and operated by Howard L. Arnold, a Tennessean who has built his home adjacent to the new structure.

A Story Of Poverty Tells Need For Community Chest

(by The News editor)

When the little boys and girls write Santa Claus letters at Christmas they nearly always end up by saying: "And don't forget all the poor little boys and girls." That's a wonderful thought and I wonder just how much the Santa Claus in their lives gives to the poor at Christmas.

I want to tell you a Christmas story that may be as hard for you to believe as it was for me. I was like the doubting Thomas when I heard the story. I had to go see before I believed that such hardship, such poverty, such complete abandonment could prevail in America, let alone in Fulton.

A lady called me from one of the outlying districts of the city and said: "There's a lady out here who is cold, has no bed clothes and hasn't had anything to eat for four days." I just knew that that was exaggeration in its purest form. Nobody in Fulton could be hungry. I put the telephone on its hook, thought about the situation for a moment and then got in my car and went to the lady's house.

The desolate rooming house in which she lived was only a three-minute drive from the office. To get there I drove along the warm and comfortable homes of Fulton. As I passed them I kept wondering how a few blocks away there couldn't be such hardship as my telephone caller related.

As I got to the house, got out of my car and walked up the steep, dreary and cold stairway to her room I was ashamed to be a newspaper editor. I was ashamed to believe in a newspaper that sometimes a newspaper helps its community and the people in it. If I ever had any smug ideas in my mind about the good I may do I quickly perished them. For here was a lady, 63 years old, who for several years has literally lived from the scraps of food from the tables of her neighbors, many of them in circumstances almost as bad as her own, but not quite.

I will not mention the lady's name for obvious reasons. She doesn't want to be an object of pity. As a matter of fact, before she was able to secure the room in which she now lives, she lived in a barn. Yes, a barn, with no floor, no heat, only the barest walls for protection. Her case has been brought to the attention of the county authorities, but except for the help that they gave her in times when she was in worst distress than now, she is one among many needing help. So she makes it with the little help from the neighbors, a little ironing and a little baby-sitting that she does occasionally. Her room rent is $12 a month and sometimes she makes as much as $16 a month. The extra $4 she eats on. What bountiful meals she must have for 31 days.

Of course, I did the thing that you would have done. I called a few friends who made donations, and bought a good supply of groceries. . . milk, cheese, eggs, canned meats cereal, and just a few sweet things. I had enough left to give her $2 for coal and I managed to round up some clothing.

But where does she go when that's exhausted. She's not old enough to get an old-age pension. The State has no program for regular subsistence for a person at her age. The Red Cross has no set program for continuing help. There's no organization in town to which she can apply for even $10 or $15 a month to keep body and soul together.

I talked with a member of the Governor's Social Services Committee, which acts in an advisory committee to the social workers of this county. Both the social worker and the paid workers tell me that this situation is multiplied many times over in this county.

Judge Homer Roberts, a conscientious and kindly man is besieged with many requests of this nature. He does more than he can, with what he has at hand. And of course the welfare workers are powerless, bound by laws, to do anything more than they do already.

This lady has no family. She says she has a brother whom she has not seen in twelve years and doesn't know where he is. She is not completely incapacitated, she can do little jobs. But there it not much strength in her body, surely not, with the little nourishment she gets.

People in Fulton are not calloused and indifferent towards these problems. They want to help. The Young Men's Business Club each year remembers the needy. The Lion's Club, the Elks Club, the Rotary Club, the Masonic lodge the churches all do their share when these conditions are called to their attention.

But we need something more. We need a coordinated, single charitable agency to bring together all these charitable acts so that when one is in need they know where to go. We have a plan that we would like to suggest to you and I know that it can be brought about because it is needed and Fulton never fails to do its job when there is

IC OFFICIAL IS NAMED PRESIDENT PRO NAT'L GROUP

The election of George M. Crowson of Chicago as president of the Public Relations Society of America for 1955 was announced today at the annual conference of the Society in New York. Mr. Crowson is assistant to the president of the Illinois Central Railroad.

The Public Relations Society of America was formed in 1948 as a result of the merger of the American Council on Public Relations and the National Association of Public Relations Counsel. The Society has as its major goal the advancement of the field of public relations. Today there are 26 chapters of the Society throughout America with a total membership of approximately 2,000 persons.

Mr. Crowson is a charter member of the Public Relations Society of America and was a member of its first board of directors. In 1951 he was chairman of the Program Committee for the Annual Conference at Chicago. He became regional vice-president and a member of the Executive Committee in 1952 and served as chairman of that committee in 1953. He was elected national vice-president in 1954.

Mr. Crowson is a native of Missouri and was educated in public schools there following which he worked as a reporter on newspapers at Maryville and St. Joseph, Mo. In 1920, he joined the Illinois Central Railroad to assist in establishing a public relations program for the company. He became editor of the Illinois Central Magazine in 1921 and four years later he was promoted to assistant to the vice-president and placed in charge of the railroad's public relations program. He was appointed assistant to the president in 1936.

APPEAL DISMISSED

The Kentucky Court of Appeals dismissed the attempted appeal of the State Tax Commission from an order of Franklin Circuit Judge William B. Ardery which invalidated its 70 per cent assessment raise on all types of property in Daviess County. The appeal was dismissed because the Commission had not taken its appeal for review within the ten days allowed by law.

The ball game at Chestnut Glade was well attended Friday night by a large number of fans from Welch as well as locally. The Chestnut Glade teams were the winners of both games.

Mrs. James Haygood and Mrs. Wes Jones returned last Monday after visiting relatives in Chicago, Detroit and Plymouth, Mich.

Seventeen members of the Chestnut Glade attended the Annual achievement luncheon in Dresden Saturday. A very good report was made in which it was announced that two-hundred and seventy-nine women had attended each meeting of their club this year. Sixteen clubs had met the requirement for a master club and received certificates. The Chestnut Glade club had fourteen members who had been one-hundred per cent in attendance and they were also awarded a master certificate members who has not missed a meeting this year were Mrs. Percia Brundige, Lola Morrison, Myrtle Temple, Maurine Vaughan, Robert Westbrook, Geraldine Reams, Julia Reams, Lucy Simpson, Valda Simpson, Edna Strong, Lydia Rogers, Madge Conner, Flossie Burke, Ada Rhodes also attending from the Chestnut Glade club were Nona Burke, Matlie Atkinson, Ellen Brown and Flora Oliver.

PUBLIC HEALTH TOPICS

The Kentucky State Department of Health, in a recent policy statement to all local health departments in the state, made arrangements for the Julius Marks Sanatorium in Lexington to be the isolation center for "recalcitrant" tuberculosis patients if suitable local facilities are not available. The new policy was released today by J. F. Harrell, M. D., Director of the Fulton County Health Department.

Under provisions of the law passed by the Kentucky General Assembly early in 1954, facilities must be provided for the confinement of persons convicted of failing to take necessary precautions to prevent the spread of communicable tuberculosis.

If a patient with communicable tuberculosis does not follow proper isolation procedures, as recommended by public health authorities, and is endangering the welfare of his family and community he can, upon conviction, be punished by a fine not exceeding $500 or a jail term of 30 days to six months, or both, or be confined to local facilities or be sent to the Julius Marks Sanatorium.

The patient when delivered to the hospital must accept isolation on a voluntary basis as an alternative to confinement in jail. If the patient wishes he may be treated at the hospital, but if he leaves the hospital without permission the original jail sentence can be carried out, the policy stated.

Harry Barry, public health sanitarian for Fulton county, states that good sanitation in food preparation is highly important in preventing illness, and lists these do's and don'ts for a housewife or restaurant operator:

- (1) Wash your hands with soap and hot water before cooking or after using the toilet.
- (2) Wear a clean apron, and use clean towels and dish cloths.
- (3) Keep your fingernails clean.

DUTY OF LICENSEE

It is the duty of each beverage licensee "to exercise a sound discretion and to use diligence" in determining whether a customer seeking to purchase beer or whiskey is 21 years old, Assistant Attorney General W. F. Simpson has ruled.

A driver's license is not necessarily proof that a person is "of lawful age," Simpson added. "The law does not relieve a licensee if he makes a mistake and sells to minors although they may appear to be 21 years old or older."

Program at Palestine

A Christmas program will be presented at the Palestine Church Sunday night, December 19. Mrs. J. H. Patterson, Jr. will give a Christmas Story in connection with the services. The public is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Fields and children, Linda and Mike, of Los Angeles, Calif., will arrive here Monday, December 20, to spend the Christmas holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fields of Dukedom and Rev. and Mrs. J. Lawrence McClain of Palmersville. Mr. Fields is employed at the Howard Hughes Air Craft Plant in Los Angeles and has just finished a few weeks of routine tests in New Mexico.

Hopeless

"Where's your pencil, Maggie?"
"Ain't got one, Miss Jones."
"How many times have I told you not to say that? Listen: I haven't one, you haven't one, they haven't one. Now do you understand?"
"Well, where's all the pencils if nobody ain't got none?"

Almost Proud

Judge: "Aren't you ashamed to be seen here in court so often?"
Prisoner: "Why no, your honor, I always thought it was a very respectable place."

FULTON COUNTIANS BUY $415.51 TB SEALS THIS YEAR

Sale Is Lagging;
Reminder Cards
Being Mailed

For the best gift that money can buy, get Christmas Seals, urges Dr. E. R. Gernert, president of the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association. Christmas Seals protect you and your family from tuberculosis, he points out.

Since the start of the Christmas Seal Sale on November 22, Fulton countians have purchased $415.51 worth of seals to help fight TB. Persons who have not yet sent in their money for seals are urged to do so immediately. "Seals on all your holiday mail and packages are not only an established Christmas tradition, they signify the sender is active in the battle against tuberculosis," Dr. Gernert said.

Reminder cards are being mailed to all persons who have not answered their Christmas Seal letters. "We believe most everyone wants to contribute to the Christmas Seal Sale but many lay aside their letters in the rush of preparing for Christmas and forget to send in their money," Dr. Gernert said. The Christmas Seal Sale continues through December.

NEW GROWERS OF COTTON ASKED TO GET ALLOTMENT

Rigid Rules In Force For Getting
1955 Planting

T. E. Williamson, Chairman of the Fulton County ASC Committee, stated today that the county office had received application blanks for "new grower cotton allotment for 1955". He stated that any farm which had not grown cotton in at least one of the years 1952, 1953, or 1954 and plans on planting cotton in 1955 should file an application for an allotment.

There are several rigid restrictions in eligibility for 1955 allotments. One of them being if the applicant is interested in an old farm, meaning one that an allotment had already been established for, is not eligible for a new grower. Another requirement is that the operator must be largely dependent on the farm for a livelihood. For further information contact the county ASC Office, at Hickman, Kentucky. The deadline for making an application is March 15, 1955.

PATRICIA LATANE

Dear Patricia:

I have been reading your column and I want to ask you to help me. I am lonely and will I ever find someone that I can love as I did for my husband who passed away? I have spent the most saddest hours I ever spent since he passed away. Will I ever marry any more? What are his initials or his name? Where does he live? Will I live where I am or will I live with someone else? What is wrong with my oldest son? Will he ever be well? Has M. A. H. got a gortor or what is wrong with her? Does my youngest boy live a happy life? Which one will I stay with? Would an operation do me any good? The Dr. Says I will have one if I get well? I have had something wrong with my hands, breaking out and getting sore. What is it on? What must I do? Help me if you can. If I ever marry again what year will it be?

Thanks
E. P. C.

Dear E. P. C.:

Yes, you will marry again in the latter part of 1955, to a man who was a friend of yours quite some time back. One of his initials is H., can't make out the other one. He lives east of Fulton. You will continue to live at your present address until the date of your wedding, but you have a son who will not approve of the wedding. There is nothing seriously wrong with your son. M. A. H. should see a doctor. Yes, your son is happy. You will not live with either of your sons. Yes, you will have to have the operation if you want your health to be good.

Dear Pat:

Would appreciate very much if you would answer some questions for me. Will I ever get married? If so, when and what are his initials? Will it be some one I know now? Is L. interested in me? When will I see him again? Where will it be? Just how well does R. like me.

Thank you very much
B. S.

Dear B. S.:

Yes, you will marry. It will be the latter part of 1955. His initials are J. B. No, you do not know him but will be introduced to him in July of 1955. "L" doesn't care for you, and he wouldn't come out and make a date with you. You just see him around that's all, and as for R. he thinks a lot of you but isn't in love with you.

Dear Pat:

I would like to ask you some questions? Will you please help me? Did anyone lie on me to get the boss to lay me off from work? If so, give me the initials? Will O. W. and M. R. get laid off? Will M. W. stay on? Will G. W. ever pay me the money she owes me? Did P. W. tell G. C. I wasn't doing enough work the reason he laid me off or what was the reason? Will I ever work there again? If so, when? Is my husband jealous of me? Does he love me and the baby? Will I ever have anymore children? If so, when? Does my husband care anything about M. H.? Did G. W. tell me a bunch of lies on them or was it the truth? Please tell me?

A worried mind
Dear Worried Mind:

You are supposed to give your initials and to the readers and to you I will not answer any more letters received without initials.

Yes, someone talked to the boss in regards to your work. It was a woman and one of her initials is M. It looks like there are two m's in her initials. O. W. will get laid off and then a little later M. R. will. No, M. W. will not get laid off. No, G. W. will not pay you until you ask for it several times. No, P. W. is not the one who got your job, of course they helped. Running to G. C. every few days saying you were behind and couldn't keep up. No, your husband isn't jealous of you. Yes, he loves you and the baby. Yes, you will have another child the first part of 1956. No, your husband does not care for M. H. no more than as a friend. G. W. just wants to start trouble that's all and doesn't care if it breaks up your home or not. It was all lies.

Dear Pat:

Can you tell me where I lost my compact?

C. J.

Dear C. J.:

You look in the dash board of the car.

Dear Pat:

I've been reading your column and the questions you have answered. I have some questions I'd like to know about. I admit I am young to be asking these questions but I would like to know. Will I ever get married? How old will I be? What is his name? Do I know him now? Will I have any children? Did C. R. like me or was he fooling me?

Sincerely yours
M. L. W.

Dear M. L. W.:

Dear Little girl, yes, you will marry but it will be during the month of December 1959. His first name is Pete. No, you don't know him yet. Yes you will have five children, two of these will be twins. C. R. does like you but not in love with you, as he said.

Dear Miss Latane:

Does the boy I am now going with care as much about me as he says he does? What are his initials? Will I marry him or will I marry someone else? If so, what are his initials? How many children will I have? How old will I be when I marry?

M. G.

Dear M. G.:

No, the boy you are going with doesn't care for you like he told you. No, you will not marry him but someone else. You will have 3 children. You will be 24 years old when you marry, and the boy you will marry you don't like him now but you will learn to love him and you will be very happy with him as he will make you a good husband and a good home.

Dear Miss Latane:

Have read your letters for some time and wondered if you would be kind enough to answer a few questions for me.

Is my son's heart condition serious? When will he and his wife move to themselves? How many children will they have? Why is my husband so cold toward me? Does he have a girl friend? Will we ever own our home?

H. C.

Dear H. C.:

No, your son's heart condition is not serious. They will move after the first of the year. They will have 2 children. No, your husband doesn't have a girl friend but he has been talking with a lady, and when I say lady that's just what I mean for she wouldn't go out with him if he wanted her to, but he doesn't care to go, but you are going to drive him to it, if you don't stop nagging. After a man has worked all day he certainly doesn't like to come home and sit down to eat his supper with a nagging woman at the table. Stop being jealous. You have no cause to be. Wait until he gives you a good reason to be jealous then start the fussing and nagging, but until he does, cut it out, for if you don't he will be driven to another woman by you.

Dear Pat:

I would like for you to answer a few questions for me. Will my sister go to college in January next fall? What kind of car do I have and when will I be able to get my drivers license? Also will my brother and his wife get to come home for Christmas?

Thank you
A. D.

Dear A. D.:

Your sister will go to college next fall. You do not have a car. You will get your drivers license in 1956. Yes, your brother and his wife will come home for xmas.

Dear Pat:

I think I like a boy a lot whose initials are O. J. I have heard that he likes me but he has never told me that he does in signs or words. He used to like me a few years ago and I have heard he still does. He is only a year older than I and awfully cute, I think. He is a nice boy I know because I use to live beside him and he use to come over to my house every day. I don't live near him now but he comes to my house a lot. Do you think that he'll love me later? Will we get married? If so, how many children will I have, how many boys and how many girls?

I have an aunt that I have never seen and no one knows if she is living or dead. Where is she? Am I the teacher's pet? What grade am I in and will I finish school? Do I make good grades and do my teachers like me very much? Do I run around with nice girls? What age do you think parents should let their daughters date? Do you think girls should go steady? I don't. What will I do in the future and will my husband have a good education? Where is my fathers car that was stolen? Who got it?

Thanks a lot
A. J.

Dear A. J.:

No, you will not marry this boy and he is not dead. No, you aren't the teachers pet; you wear to much make up and try to be too grown up to suit a teacher or any grown person. I do not think girls should date before they are 17 years old and by that time they have a little something in their heads. And as for your fathers car it is hidden within 10 miles of where it was stolen. It looks like it was stolen from a church; it was stolen by a bunch of boys and it is hid now the boys father knows about it but is ashamed to return the car as he goes to church with your father.

Dear Pat:

Does F. M. really love me like he says he does or does he love some other girl? Will we ever marry? If so, when? How many children will we have? What has he got me for my birthday? Will my older sister ever marry? If so, when and what is his initials? Will S. R. and S. M. ever get married? How old will I be when I get married and where will we live? Am I the teacher's pet? Everyone says I am? What grade am I in? I've been told that a girl I used to like was mother-to-be. Is it so or not? Who drew my name at school for Christmas?

I thank you very much
A. M.

Dear A. M.:

No, the girl is not mother to be as you heard, and as for you you aren't old enough to marry. So my advise to you is to study and try to get an education then think about the boys; you aren't but 14.

Dear Patricia:

Is my husband true to me? A close friend of mine told me he came to her and said he was in love with her. What was his reason for doing this? M. so, did he really think he was in love with her? How is his health? Will we move soon and if so, when?

Just wondering;
Just wondering

Kentucky 4-H's Win National Honors

THREE Kentucky 4-H Club members were announced as national winners in the 1954 4-H award programs at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago. Their names, the programs in which they were honored, their awards and the donors of their awards are:

Patricia Blackburn Lois McClure Martha Bertram

Patricia Blackburn, 17, of Gultane, Recreation and Rural Arts, a $300 college scholarship by the United States Rubber Co.

Lois McClure, 19, of Symsonia, Clothing, a $300 college scholarship by Coats & Clark Inc., Educational Bureau.

Martha Bertram, 16, of Mt. Vernon, Beautification of Home Grounds, a trip to Club Congress by Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen.

Over 1,200 4-H Club boys and girls from the 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and Canada attended the Congress, along with young people and youth leaders from 25 foreign countries.

A highlight of the Congress was the major policy address by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at the opening banquet. Thus the 4-H's learned more of their Congress theme, "Working Together for World Understanding," from the Nation's No. 1 diplomat.

During the week, the delegates participated in discussions, heard other outstanding speakers, met top stars in the sports world, enjoyed top-flight entertainment at banquets and major meal events, attended the International Live Stock Exposition and Horse Show, took part in press conferences, radio and TV appearances, toured the city and visited the museums, and attended a party at the Aragon Ballroom.

The National 4-H Club Congress is a cooperative effort of the Agricultural Extension Service, business and civic organizations, and the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, Chicago.

CAYCE HOMEMAKERS ENJOY
DECEMBER MEETING IN
W. C. SOWELL HOME

The "Spirit of Christmas" was truly felt by the members of the Cayce Homemakers as they gathered in the beautifully decorated home of Mrs. W. C. Sowell for their December meeting.

The front door looked like a Christmas card with its painting of holly and glowing candles. The winding stairway in the entrance hall was entwined with a rope of greenery and red berries with a large red bow and pine cones at the top. Beautiful candles made by Miss Alice Sowell were used in the table and buffet arrangements along with magnolia leaves and poinsettias. Also the mantles banked with magnolia leaves held lovely candles.

The Christmas story from the Bible and the singing of Christmas carols was the start of a most enjoyable day. Games for all ages were played at intervals during the meeting as the major project lesson was Recreation.

Luncheon guests were Miss Barbee and Miss Elliott from Jackson, Tenn. who were in the county giving Christmas Light demonstrations for the 4-H clubs and Mrs. McLeod.

Christmas gifts were exchanged and an auction sale of articles made by homemakers was held netting $26.00.

Christmas traditions, foods, cards, gifts and decorations were discussed by the fourteen members and a visitor, Mrs. J. E. Townsend.

The meeting adjourned to meet in January.

NEW HOPE HOMEMAKERS
ENJOY ALL-DAY MEETING IN LATTI HOME

The New Hope Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. Mildred Latta on December 9 for an all day meeting. A pot luck dinner was served at noon. The meeting was opened by Mrs. Sadie Latta reading two verses from Matthew.

Mrs. John Howell led the group in reciting the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Mildred Latta gave a report on the food sale which was held at Clinton Court House on November 23.

Mrs. Elizabeth Haynes and Mrs. Sadie Latta attended the Advisory Council meeting in Clinton. Mrs. Haynes gave a talk on Social Security for the Farmers. The club voted to buy seven new club song books.

The lesson "You can improve your posture," was given by Maxine Askew and Edna Davis. Hilda Pittman was in charge of games and Christmas gifts were exchanged after singing several songs.

The meeting adjourned to meet in January in the home of Hilda Pittman.

There were eleven members present and four visitors. The visitors were State Supervisor, Miss Bandiver, Home agent, Edwina Batts, Marie Kimbro and Nellie Holt. Mrs. Kimbro and Mrs. Holt joined the club.

Worries Are Over

A convicted murderer was scheduled to die in the electric chair. On the morning of the day of his execution, he was asked by the warden: "Is there anything special you would like for breakfast this morning?" The condemned man replied: "Yes, mushrooms: I've always been scared to eat them for fear of being poisoned."

Community Chest
need for one to be done.
We want to form a Fulton Community Chest. We want to get the agencies of the cities of Fulton and Hickman, the county court, the fraternal and civic groups, and churches too, to get together soon to form such a group.

The Salvation Army comes to Fulton and picks up truckloads of clothing and discarded items for use by poor people away from here. Boy's Town, orphanages, TB seal sales, Easter seal sales, and a score of other outside agencies get money from Fultonians. And all those contributions are fine and worthy.

But let's take care of our local people first. Let's give money where we can see where it is being put to the best use of all our poor and needy.

If you find time during this busy season to read this story, please call me and let me know how you feel about it. I know you feel as I do and I know we can get this organization formed. Let us remind you: "What you do unto these, the least of my brethren, you also do unto me."

Diary of Doin's

—Around Fulton—
The News writes social happenings about you and your friends.

Everybody has a party at Christmas. Every Sunday School class, every department of the Woman's Club, every office force, every club . . . everybody. Its time for exchanging gifts, laughing, talking shop. About this time of the Christmas season, though, everybody gets so beat out getting ready for Christmas they're glad when the day arrives and is gone.

When we report so many parties at this time of the year we always remember the one party of all that's the most fun and the one to be remembered longest until next year.

It's the office party! Now this kind of a party is one set apart from all the other parties one attends at this time. It differs from the church party in that for the one time in the year the office force let's the other members of the clerical gang see their Sunday clothes. At the Sunday School party everybody wears their Sunday clothes, and everybody sees them dressed up.

But ponder the office workers with their every day clothes and their every day looks, they just seem to look like the desk or the typewriter. But when the Christmas party rolls around, lo and behold they're different folks.

They take the pencil off their ears. They put away the sweater and skirt, or the suit with the shine on the pants and the frayed place on the sleeves and they wear a slinky dress (for the dames) and a slicked up suit (for the gents.)

For our money the office party is the most unrelaxed gathering there ever was. Having seen each other during the day . . . all day . . . and discussed the bits of news around town, and hashed over the problems of the office, they don't seem to have much to talk about that's good.

But they talk, don't you worry. They talk about the boss and what a great guy he is, especially if the bonus check is good. If the bonus check is so-so, he's still the boss and a good topic for some small talk. His wife is probably at the party, and she gets a good going over . . . (if the bonus check is good, she's great . . . not so good, she's . . .) If she's dressed (boss's wife) fit to kill, there's a cat or two who knows why the salary checks are so small around the place. If he (the boss) gave her (his wife) a heck of a big Christmas present, and they know about it, they take a second look at the Christmas check. If it's large, his wife deserved the present, if it isn't, well, whadda you know, she gets every dime he makes. And he . . . he runs a salt mine, the Simon Legree.

Then there's always a good amount of talk about the office pest. They dig his short-comings all during the year, they talk about his head measurement and they find four corners, but at the office party if his hair is combed right, he's not such a bad guy after all.

There's the fellow who makes the top salary and has a cubby-hole he calls a private office. There the boss goes often to talk business problems and all year round they wonder what the hush-hush is about. At the office party they talk freely with the guy from the sanatorium and pick his brains to see if they can get a glimmer of what goes on behind those locked doors.

It's the one time during the year that the office wit's remarks are not corny and frankly they call on him or her for a funny talk. Dat's molder. If there's anything unfunnier, than a half-wit trying to give with the laugh's when nothing's very funny, it's the office comic at the Christmas party.

rice too. There's the guy who whistles while he works. With the clack-clack of the typewriter and the ring-a-ling of the phone that whistling calls for a psychiatrist. But when Christmas comes he's asked to whistle a funny tune . . . and he does . . . and they love it. Sometimes, too, there's a gal who sings during the rest period. All during the year that singing sounds like Sophie Tucker with a chest cold, but when the tables are decorated and the program chairman gets up to announce the events of the evening, Sophie Tucker is asked to sing and well, she sings . . . just like she, always does, but with jingle bells in the background, it's not too worse.

Then the boss gets up. The boss. The guy who parked his whip in the hall and put tinsel on his wings en route to the party. He tells them all, they're great. Without them he couldn't make all those deductions to Uncle Sam. He implores them to stay with him during the coming year and perhaps next year there will be greater things in store for all of them. Right then he might be thinking of cutting the force and the guy he's looking at with that loyal gleam may have a pink slip all writ-up at the office.

Everybody gives him a big hand. Tells him he made a great speech. He hears what a privilege it is work for him and there never was a greater guy in the whole world. And you know they might just be telling the truth.

When the last tiny crumbs are eaten, and the hall is empty and dark, and a new day is coming anew, then its time to start work again, but remember buddy, the office party was for you.

So with the Christmas parties we start reporting them as we heard them. Last Friday night the Wesley Gleaners Sunday School Class of the Methodist Church held their annual Christmas get-together. The dining area of the church was beautifully decorated in the Christmas motif and spotlighting those decorations were the unusual cone-shaped Christmas trees placed at intervals on the table made from ice cream cones. Margaret Nannery must have put an awful lot of time in that work. The little trees were decorated with colored pop-corn to look like pine-cones and then little red hearts dangled from the cones.

And would you know that the pop-corn was colored in the center. The party was a two-fold one . . . to enjoy a Christmas event and then each brought a little gift to be sent to Margaret Bard at Western State Hospital, to make her happy. Margaret is a former member of the class and no doubt her Christmas was made much happier by such wonderful remembrances from home.

At South Fulton School Saturday night the faculty was entertained by a group of school patrons as they were never entertained before. A wonderful turkey dinner, with the best oyster dressing ever made was served to the members of the faculty and their better halves. Paying such a nice holiday tribute to the folks who "tend to their children" all through the school year were Mr. and Mrs. Hillman Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Reams, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fields and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Olive.

Knowing these ladies as we do, it was no surprise to see the home economics room of the school transformed into the prettiest Christmas scene imaginable. Christmas was everywhere and so was the merriment that goes with it. Games were enjoyed during the evening and it is only appropriate to say that a good time was had by all. Mildred Anderson and Ed Phipps were prize winners in the bingo games.

A cake, in the shape of a Christmas tree replete with holiday decoration was presented to Mrs. Kellie Lowe as a door prize.

Invited guests included: Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Burrow, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Pigue, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Finch, Mr. and Mrs. William Conway, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roman, Mr. and Mrs. Vestal Coltharp, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jolley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Roper Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Kellie Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gray, Mr. and Mrs. John Schwerdt, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmon Boyd, Mrs. Mildred Anderson, Mrs. Elsie Provow, Mrs. George Crafton, Mrs. Velma LaFuze, Miss Jane Meacham, Miss Pau-

New members attending were Mrs. D. M. Martin, Mrs. Charles Thomas, Mrs. Stanley Parham, and Mrs. James McMinn. Visitors of the group were Mrs. Jere McClure, Mrs. James Robinson, and Mrs. Harry Reams.

The Unecudus Group of the Methodist Church remembered their shut-in friends at their Christmas party. Each member brought a gift to the party, which in turn was taken to two members of the group who are confined to their homes. The Christmas party was held at the church with 28 members attending.

Hostesses for this happy event were Mrs. Harold Holladay, Mrs. Robert Burrow, Mrs. Paul Hornbeak and Mrs. Foad Homra.

The members of the Southwest Kentucky Shrine Club spotlighted their Christmas party with live talent from Fulton and South Fulton's roster of talented youngsters. Under the direction of Lanelle Roman the members and their families heard fine selections from Solofist, Patsy Fall; piano number, Barbara Peeples; flute duet, Donna Ferris of Martin and Elaine Butler; quintet from (Continued on Page Twelve)

A. F. Of L. Endorses Happy, But There's Still A Race

Eager-beaver "Happy" Chandler, already running for Governor like a house a-fire, scored a real neat hit in securing the support of the House of Delegates of the A. F. of L. in his race next year. This endorsement and support will no doubt be sent out to the 135,000 members of this labor group in Kentucky for action by the various local organizations.

The endorsement of "labor" in any political race is supposed to be a magic wand of victory and the lack of labor's support of a candidate is supposed to be the hand-writing on the wall spelling defeat. You will remember, of course, the "death warrant" issued to Alben Barkley at Chicago, by labor leaders, which prompted Mr. Barkley's withdrawal from the race seeking the Democratic nomination for President.

This early endorsement of Chandler by the A. F. of L. was explained by saying that Governor Wetherby was too slow in making known his selection of a candidate for next year's race. They also said that Chandler was the strongest of any candidate and surpasses any candidate the Governor and his advisors might have under advisement. We think the A. F. of L. is dead wrong. Mr. Wetherby is wise in examining the qualifications of the various potential candidates and we feel that when he does announce his choice that it will be a man with a fine record of accomplishments as well as a man with vision for the future progress and development of Kentucky.

Frankly, we think that the labor leaders overestimate their importance. While their influence may be great, they have no doubt overlooked the fact that in this day and age voters more and more are becoming aware of the importance of selecting the man of their choice, without being told by leaders who have often their own self-interest at heart.

We have always thought that it is sometimes useless for a candidate to seek the influence of various groups in their political races. People just don't vote for a person because his organization is for him. Often a man feels that his own personal influence is greater than that of his organization and he's right.

So it is with interest that we note Happy's endorsement by the labor union . . . but its a long way from sitting in the Governor's chair.

Congratulations to the hard-working Gardner and their Hickman Courier on installing a newer, better newspaper press. They printed their first issue on it last week and I know it will be a great relief for them to know, not only that they will get a nice-looking print for their publication, but mainly to know that once the paper gets on the press, it is actually going to make it through a press run without any worries.

For the past week or two the Hickman Courier had to be printed in Union City due to a complete breakdown of the old, ancient press and coming at the height of the Christmas season I know the rough time they must have had trying to struggle through mechanical difficulties.

Most of our readers will easily recall the terrible times we used to have with our own antique press until we installed a newer one two years ago. Print was awful, overtime and impatience both ascended out of sight and the published product sometimes wasn't even folded like a conventional newspaper.

Ro Gardner was so glad to get rid of the old press that he even breathed a pictorial sigh of relief on the Courier's front page: a shot of the folio old pile of junk resting outside the rear of the pressroom. To tell you the honest truth, junking an old press is nothing to get sentimental over as some writers would have you believe: it may have been 75 years old, and it may have printed the wedding announcement of your grandmother and grandfather, as well as news of the Spanish-American war or the siege of Gettysburg, but when it breaks down right in the middle of a big press run there are no kind words for it, believe me.

The only really "old" relic that I have a kind of fond affection for here at the News office is the old inverted half-tombstone slab that we still use for type make-up purposes and it still serves its purpose well. It retains the name of its owner on its reverse side, but who he was, where he was buried and just how the big slab came into possession of the News we'll never know, since it was here when we arrived, and its owner passed away 95 years ago. So far we've never been bothered by ghosts.

There continues to be a lot of speculation over what Harry Lee Waterfield may or may not be planning to get into now that he has named Erl Sensing manager of the Clinton Gazette . . . with 1955 being an election year, most guessing links H. L. with a forthcoming campaign.

Welcome back to Purchase journalism circles, Erl . . . we used to have a lot of fun kidding you about your column "In the Dark, Glasily," or "Through the Glass, darkly" but that was just a little local fun. The fact that Kentucky Utilities turned around and spent several hundred dollars in an advertising message refuting one of your columns indicated it was pretty well read. By the way . . . going to start another one . . . ?

Speaking of KU reminds me that this week we received a nice-looking folder from their main office outlining quite a pleasant progress chart for Kentucky in general. Sample items:

—Kentucky leads all southern states in over-all business increase.

Kentucky's rate of increase in business volume exceeds the national average.

—Kentucky's income per capita is increasing faster than the national average rate.

—193 new industries have located in KU territory since 1946.

—Kentucky has increased 747% for the national average; even cash farm income in Kentucky is up 9% over the national average.

—Industrial power sales for KU are up 172%, as against the national average of only 92%.

In summary, KU says "These trends show that Kentucky is growing at a much faster rate than the country as a whole in over-all business volume, in a variety of industrial fields, in trade, and in income per capita including farm income."

The drums and bugles for the Marshal Alexander Post No. 72, American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, arrived and were assigned to the members. The members of the corps expert to begin practice after the Christmas holidays.

Dr. Hugh E. Prather, health officer for Fulton County reports that he was called to Louisville December 16 by the State Board of Health to advise him that the Fulton County Health Department would receive cooperative service in maternal and child health conservation.

Miss Florence Hauswald will be the nurse in the unit. Doctor Annie Veech, director of the Bureau of Maternal and Child Health will be in Fulton January 13, to consummate the plans. Circle No. 2 of the First Baptist Church entertained with a tea Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. O. H. McFarlin in honor of Mrs. Carl Hastings who is leaving for Portland, Oregon to make her home.

A pre-Yuletide wedding of much interest in Fulton and vicinity was that of Miss Martha Craig Rucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee B. Rucker of this city, to Mr. James Edward Koon of Little Rock, Ark. which occurred in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brittain, an uncle and aunt of Miss Rucker's who resides in Little Rock.

Although the wedding came as quite a surprise to Miss Rucker's friends here, Mr. and Mrs. Rucker knew of the young couple and had approved and consented to the marriage. Dr. James Warren Workman, pastor of the Methodist Church in Little Rock, using the impress-

Universal Military Training Should Be Enacted

The Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church, meeting recently in Chicago, sounded a warning against the adoption of universal military training. The Bishops of the second-largest Protestant body in the United States there-upon continued a resistance to universal military training which they have maintained for years.

The appeal to fight any peacetime conscription comes as there is increasing talk of a new reserve program, which will entail more widespread military training. Although many church groups, including the Methodists, have long opposed universal military training, support has been building up steadily for such a program.

It is only natural, perhaps, for churchmen to frown upon preparations for military operations, but it is also natural for those charged with the responsibility of the country's defense to make every effort to prepare for that defense. A study has been underway in the Defense Department for some time aimed at finding a workable and fair reserve training program and it is expected that President Eisenhower will put such a legislative proposal high on his priority list in the next Congress.

No one can estimate the number of lives saved by this country's adoption of the Draft Act prior to the beginning of World War II. It should be remembered that many churchmen were then opposed to that law. Yet, when World War II broke out, the United States needed every trained military unit it had and many more.

It is also well to remember that this is 1954 and that war can come much quicker to the United States today than ever before.

The demands of defense today require some sort of universal military training for American youth and we hope Congress will at last put such a program into effect.

Hunting and Safety Should Go Hand in Hand.

Now that the hunting season is on in full swing, we call the attention of readers to the law which forbids the carrying of loaded guns in automobiles. Whereas this law was on the books only in some of the states a few years ago, it is encouraging to note that such a law is in effect in all of the forty eight states today.

Another safety precaution which we suggest to all hunters, and one which is not covered by law, is that of never pointing a gun at fellow-hunter. A gun should not be pointed, at a fellow-hunter either in taking it out of the car or putting it in, or in walking through the woods with the gun over one's shoulder.

Many of those who hunt point their guns at another human being at one time or another during the hunt, most of them feeling that there is little danger since, when they do, the gun is unloaded or over one's shoulder. However, the gun that is never pointed at another human will never kill anyone, and that is the cardinal principle which should guide hunting.

So far, in 1954, automobile accidents are down in several states, and in some by considerable margins. We hope the hunting accident rate can be reduced in all states this season. If every hunter will make an effort never to point a shot-gun or rifle at another hunter, and to exercise sensible precautions in crossing fences, and in handling his own gun-hunting accidents could be materially reduced this season.

Sermonette of the Week -

Christmas Is More Than Mistletoe

By William J. Sullivan, Director of the Paulist Feature Service

CHRISTMAS DAY is fast becoming the day of plum pudding and Christmas trees, of Santa Claus and mistletoe, of holly branches and scottie dogs. Christmas would not be Christmas without any one of these. But Christmas is more than just these; Christmas is the Birthday of Jesus Christ.

In the last minute search for a tie for Uncle Ed or a dress for Aunt Louise, we miss the true significance of the day on which God became man. The stable of Bethlehem is lost in wrapping paper and fancy ribbon.

HOW SHALL WE PUT Christmas back into the proper focus? Must Santa Claus be exiled to Siberia? Shall Christmas trees be outlawed? Should we revert to the gloomy Puritan days of early New England?

Only Scrooge would answer "Yes" to any of these questions. The way we Americans celebrate Christmas is not wrong. Perhaps Santa does seem to crowd the Christ Child out of the picture. But Christmas gets its meaning, not from the mythical old gentleman from the North Pole, but from the God who became man in a stable in Bethlehem nineteen hundred years ago.

WHAT GREATER GIFT has the human race received than the gift of the Christ Child? God has given us the first and greatest of gifts, Himself. Christ so loved us that He became a little Babe that He might redeem us. Should we not love Him in return?

But how can we love God Whom we do not see, when we love not our neighbor whom we do see? The gift we give to warm the heart of one in sorrow, the gift we give to bring a beam of happiness into a child's eye, the gift we give to lighten the load of the poor and needy, is a gift we give to Christ.

CHRIST LOVES the generous giver. His heart warmed when the Kings of the East offered their gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh. His eyes shone with delight when the humble shepherds knelt at the manger to welcome God to earth. His hands waved happily at the antics of the clumsy animals which were His first playthings.

Santa Is Important In Mexico

Santa Claus is moving in south of the border, and the old folks don't like it. But the kids seem to.

Daily truckloads of Christmas trees—more than ever before, the U. S. Customs Service says—cross the international boundary line from Arizona into this bustling border town.

Older Mexicans shake their sombreros as they see these symbols of the "Gringo's" Christmas roll by.

They fear the kids, increasing fondness for Santa may wreck their own symbol of Christmas, the Nacimiento, a miniature portrayal of the straw-filled manger at Bethlehem.

Santa's influence is spreading into drab Mexican homes, where twinkling Yuletide lights gleam through more windows than ever, Mexican children have sent letters to the Nogales, Ariz. Herald listing their Christmas wishes for the pudgy resident of the North Pole to deliver Christmas eve.

More realistic Mexican children crowd around Spanish-speaking Santa Claus in the department stores.

The elder Mexicans concede Santa does a magnificent job when functioning in his own territory—on the American of the border.

"But each foot in his own shoe," they say.

The traditionalists hold that Santa is a strictly northern institution. If they could figure out a way to do it with typical Mexican politeness, they would gladly send his packing, jingle bells and all. They see Santa flying in with his eight reindeer to break up their Christmas posadas—nightly processions starting Dec. 16 to commemorate the journey of Mary and Joseph to Bethlehem.

For when the religious processions weave through the narrow streets, the little dark eyes of Mexican children will begin to look skyward—for that jolly little man with a sleigh.

And with all the Christmas parties going on and all the many tasks connected with Christmas in the air, two young people found time to observe their birthdays. Jimmy Meacham celebrated his ninth birthday at his home on Fairview last Saturday. Twenty-six boys ate as much of the goodies Mrs. Meacham could prepare to fill that hungry pack and each was most interested in the favors at their places. The place cards were kits of car constructions. Jimmy also received many nice gifts.

At Jimmy's age we wonder if those boys were like the little fellow who asked us the other day: "If you were a little boy, would you be thinking like I am." Asked what he was thinking said he: "Just about Santa Claus and wondering if he thinks I've been a good boy."

Then Carolyn Sue Owens had her fifth birthday last Saturday too and her mother Mrs. Al T. Owens had such a nice party for her. Mrs. Owens arranged a clever series of games for the children to play and the lucky contestants were Nancy Jones, Jeanie Hinton and Janie House. When all the little lassies had exclaimed over the wonderful gifts that the honoree received they enjoyed the birthday party pleasure of all... ice cream and cake. Many pretty favors were given the invited guests who were: Debra Homra, Janie House, Terry Smith, Antinette Lee, Shelia DeMyer, Nancy Jones, Cindy Homra, Jeannie Hinton, Mike Campbell, Richard Perry and Randy Roper.

We often wonder what would happen if a fire alarm broke while firemen were having a party. Wouldn't be any party, or then, maybe it would be a "hot" one. Anyhow that didn't happen last week when the firemen of Fulton and South Fulton joined together for a gala Christmas party.

The party was held at the lovely Rose Room at Smith's Cafe, which has been the scene of many a happy occasion for the past few weeks.

The group enjoyed a de-e-e-e-licious baked country ham dinner and then went over to the Elks Club where they enjoyed the music of Eddy Wade and his orchestra.

You would be proud to see the big advertisement in the Ashland paper announcing that our own Amelia is to give a series of demonstrations of home appliances at a big downtown store in Ashland. Amelia will fly home for New Year and all of us will be glad to see her.

Ann and Herbie Hunt at Fort Knox last week... Ann and Herbie will leave that post on January 10 for Fort Benning, Ga. where Herbie will take more training... A group of the students of the University of Kentucky will arrive home this week end to spend the Christmas holidays at home... some will arrive Friday night and others will arrive Sunday... most trains from the colleges will point to Fulton this week end.

We cannot imagine any Christmas party of the year that might have been as pretty as that one held by the Garden Department of the Woman's Club. Knowing what these women can do with their deft hands when arranging flowers, they are just as expert with decorations. And so it was when these ladies had their Christmas party at the Woman's Club last Friday. The Woman's Club was decorated as only they can do with Mrs. Roy Latta and Mrs. R. A. Fowles directing the beauty scene.
From the Christmas tree that even Santa could not have decorated so well, Christmas gifts were exchanged.
A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Lawson Roper, chairman.

After welcoming the guests, Mrs. E. J. McCollum, program leader, played Christmas carols on a record player, then introduced Mrs. Dan Overall, who gave a Christmas story, "The Drum Goes Dead" by Bess Sureator Aldrich. This was a very beautiful story.

Refreshments of fruit cake, centered with a little lighted, red candle, and coffee, were served by Mrs. Roper and Mrs. Latta from the lace-draped tea table, which was attractive with a crystal and silver appointment.
There were approximately 70 guests attending.

Mrs. J. E. Fall, Sr. was the program leader at the regular December meeting of the Art Department at the Woman's Club last Saturday when that group met in the lovely home of Mrs. Ira Little. Mrs. Fall spoke on the subject "Recent Trends in Modern Buildings... both Home and Business Houses" and it was immensely hostess served a lovely, party plate.

The January meeting will be with Mrs. Gordon Baird. Mrs. Ann Whitnel will be the leader.

How proud we are of pretty Fall Binford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Binford of New Orleans. Fall was elected vice-president of her Sophomore class at the Fortier High School in New Orleans. Fall is quite a young lady now and its hard to believe that already she is in High School. The popular Binfords will not spend Christmas in Fulton this year so we'll have to wait for Mid-summer to visit with this interesting family again.

The Elizabeth Reams Group of the W. S. C. S. of the Methodist Church had a wonderful Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Louis Weeks Wednesday. Busy Elizabeth, for whom the class is named, baked three Christmas cakes before she went to the luncheon and two were presented to the golden-link members of the group and one to Mrs. Dan Overall, who was a guest at the party. The golden-link members are Miss Corinne Lovelace and Mrs. D. J. Stokes.

The Weeks home looked especially lovely for this occasion, when twenty persons gathered to enjoy the holiday season.
Those attending were: Mrs. Ernest Cardwell, Chairman, Mesdames Leon Browder, J. P. Callahan, W. L. Carter, Fred Gibson, Arch Huddleston, Jr., Sara Meacham, George Moore, Horace Reams Lawson Roper, Will Samons, Ben Schwerdt, Hazel Scruggs, Norman Terry, Hunter Whitesell, Ann Whitnel and the hostesses, Mrs. Louis Weeks and Mrs. J. J. Wilkey, and one of the honored members, Miss Corinne Lovelace.

Mrs. Violet Johnson will leave Saturday to visit her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fite and children, in Detroit. She will stay about six weeks.

Ward Says Soil Policy Kept

Recommendations that operation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service on the present basis be abandoned were assailed today by Henry Ward, Kentucky Commissioner of Conservation.

Ward said he has learned that a sub-committee of the President's Commission on Intergovernmental Relations has recommended that the present national policy of practically 100 per cent financial support of the Soil Conservation Service by the federal government be abandoned, and that a grant-in-aid program be substituted for it.

Under that idea, state governments would be required to match federal grants for the Service, Ward said.

"I construe this suggestion as another in a series of efforts to destroy or seriously hamper the program of the Soil Conservation Service," he stated. "The U. S. Congress in 1935 recognized that there were valid arguments for the federal government to assume responsibility for a program designed to arrest further depletion of the soil because of its importance as a national resource. Great forward strides have been made in the development of that program. Today 87 per cent of the farms and ranches of the United States are included in Soil Conservation Districts, which have programs designed to halt soil erosion, to control damages from water on the land, and to restore wasted land."

"Here in Kentucky, we now have all 120 counties in Soil Conservation Districts, having finally achieved that goal this

"The Soil Conservation Service is expending approximately $1,340,000 in Kentucky annually. There are no state funds available to assume half of that program, and with Kentucky's needs for the future being what they are there are no prospects for raising $670,000 or more to match federal funds."

"I personally see no reason why the federal government should change its policy of accepting the preservation and restoring of the soil as a national responsibility," Ward declared.

"Members of the Kentucky delegation in Congress are being asked to be on the alert against the proposed abandonment of the federal program, and it is my hope that they will stand firm in behalf of the present arrangement."

COVER OF MAGAZINE SHOWS UK INVENTION
The December 6th issue of Life Magazine carried a photograph on its cover which was made through the use of an apparatus developed by a University of Kentucky scientist. Responsible for the machine which made the Life cover picture is Dr. Karl O. Lange, associate director of the UK Engineering Experiment Station. In this position he directs operations of the school's Aeronautical Research Laboratory. The photograph, showing a man's face and head as it appears on film after an examination by Lange's machine, is used in connection with a 13-page feature entitled "Jet Age Man."

Bishop Sheen Lauds Television

In its brief history, television has gotten blamed for a lot of different unpleasantnesses. Here's a man who wants to thank TV.

"The television industry has never been properly thanked for what it has done for religion," says Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, whose DuMont program is an inspirational highspot of TV programming. He refers to the time made available for religious telecasts, time which he feels is sufficient.

"The communications industry has done more for religion than almost any industry," the Bishop says. "The only possible exception is the railroad—they give the clergy a 50 per cent discount in gratitude for missionaries opening up the West. But no other industry has done as much."

He is firm, however, in his belief that his particular program is not a religious program. It is "philosophical lectures, virtually the same as I gave at the university when I was a professor." And it must be classed as entertainment, he feels, because it is an entertainment time slot.

"I picked the time and day myself," he says, "and I picked the toughest day and hour I could find, I didn't want a soft spot."

His lectures, delivered with an actor's touch and a philosopher's tongue, have proven popular with all faiths. In fact, the Bishop says, his mail and surveys indicate that there are probably more Jews and Protestants than Catholics among his audience.

But it isn't popularity he seeks—"popularity doesn't mean a thing to me." What he wants is that the viewer, after watching him, "will love truth." The truths aren't spelled out; the Bishop thinks it means more if the viewer figures them out himself and feels he's discovered something wonderful.

To prepare for these weekly adventures into philosophy—on subjects like "Soldier" and "Angels"—Bishop Sheen says he works an hour every morning and every evening. The night before his program, he delivers the entire lecture to two friends—once in French and once in Italian.

"That's so I double-think," he says. "I first think in English and then translate it. This helps my concentration."

GEOLOGIST HONORED BY VISITING GRADS
Dr. A. C. McFarlan, head of the University of Kentucky's department of Geology, was honored last week at a surprise dinner on the eve of UK's homecoming with nearly 100 former students and colleagues on hand for the occasion. Dr. McFarlan has been associated with the school for more than 31 years.

A Christmas Gift for our children

It does not appear on any shopping list. No child will write to Santa for it. The price tag is high; yet all can afford it.

Come Christmas morning, this gift cannot replace a hoped-for bicycle or doll. Yet our children will treasure it all their lives. For the greatest gift we can give them is a world better than the one we now live in. It is the gift that every parent wants for every child.

We cannot buy this better future with words or wishes. It is being built each day by the work we do, our behavior toward one another and our faith in God.

This is the one hundred and fifth Christmas the Illinois Central has shared with its friends and neighbors throughout Mid-America. We ask that our faith and our abilities be strengthened that we may participate with all of you in fashioning a finer future for those who follow us.

WENDELL NORMAN RECEIVES AWARD

Wendell S. Norman of Fulton, is one of thirteen University of Kentucky students who have recently been designated Distinguished Air Force students.

Announcement of the selection was made last week by Col. Robert S. Larson, head of the University of Kentucky department of Air Science.

Norman is a senior in the college of Engineering. Selection for this honor was made on the basis of scholarship in air science and other subjects, high moral character and aptitude for air force service, and demonstrated leadership.

Those students chosen have completed Air Science III in the upper third of the class and are outstanding in their major subject.

VIVIAN MATLOCK NAMED SWEETHEART OF PERSHING RIFLES

Miss Vivian Ann Matlock was chosen Sweetheart of Company G, Third Regiment of the National Society of Pershing Rifles at Murray State College, by a vote of the company members on November 11.

The company members and plagues serenaded Miss Matlock on the steps of Wells Hall. She was presented with a copy of the resolution naming her the company's official sweetheart and also a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Matlock is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Matlock of Fulton and is a sophomore Home Economics major. She is a business minor and a member of the cheering squad. While in high school she was elected Miss Fulton High and was a cheerleader for three years.
