In the newspaper business, meeting a fellow from the New York Times, is something like an extra gawking admiringly at the big star of the movie. So it was with us at the Press Convention in Louisville, when at the Thursday night buffet supper, our old friend Willie Snow Etheridge "introduced" us to Turner Catledge, the executive managing editor of the New York Times.

Somehow to me Catledge needed no real introduction. I felt all along, as I have watched his success in the business, that we had kindred spirits. "Way back yonder, like as how in the twenties, Turner-Catledge worked on the Tunica-Times Democrat, which is only 30 miles from my home-town of Clarksdale, Mississippi. In the early days, you'd never believe it, Turner was a printer. As he himself says, he was a darned good one, but somehow his abilities were not always appreciated around the hell-box (a metal container where old linotype slugs are thrown in.)"

So Turner went from one small Mississippi paper to another until he decided to try the Commercial Appeal in Memphis. He joined that newspaper in the mechanical department and lasted there for five weeks. He decided then and there that maybe he wasn't suited to the mechanical department and went in to talk to the beloved and almost immortal C. P. J. Moore, who believed in him and gave him a job. The rest is newspaper history in the true Horatio Alger manner. To be managing editor of the New York Times to us is like a constable getting to be Prime Minister. Turner, in fact, is a kind of prime minister of the profession.

The thing that brings about the kindred spirits is that before we bought the News we were seriously considering buying the Tunica-Times, a fine weekly newspaper in the rich Mississippi Delta. We gave the proposition very serious consideration because Turner Catledge worked there. Who knows, we thought, maybe something like that would rub off on us. But anyhow we came to Fulton instead and we've never been sorry.

Turner's exalted position in the newspaper business has not changed him one bit. He takes the greatest pride in telling stories of his life in Neshoba County. One story in particular he told before an entranced small group of editors at the convention. He told of the little town in which he lived where everybody was a Democrat except one little old man who lived on the other side of the tracks. Every election, when the votes were counted there was the lone Republican vote that had to be reported on the official returns.

After a good many years of such carrying on around election time, death came, as it does to all men, to the little old man across the tracks. In his inimitable style Turner told of getting his uncle's pick-up truck and going over to the old man's shanty and picking up the body and taking it to the funeral home. Beings as how he was a Republican-in that Democratic stronghold he had a right respectable funeral, attended mostly by the election officials, who were glad they did not have to contend with the Republican vote in the general election.

The old man was properly buried. Everybody in town saw to it that his remains were properly put into the ground and properly covered with sod so that there would be no point of return. His grave was properly marked; they put the old man in the ground to stay.

Came the next general election and voters flocked to the polls. Came evening-time and the polls were closed. Came counting time and the votes were counted with a happy feeling that all was well in that great Democratic Community. But lo and behold came the end of the counting and an election teller called out the name of a Republican vote. There was bed-lam in the courthouse. There was confusion, chaos, troubles a-plenty. It was the election official who voiced the

Expect No Surplus--- Browning Tells City

Routine matters constituted the bulk of the business at the regular Fulton City Council meeting last Monday night, with principal discussion taken up on the following:

Mayor Browning, in justifying the $18,403 that the city spent last year out of its bank reserves, stated that "There will not be a surplus in the bank during this administration."

A letter from a citizen protesting the crowded parking conditions on State Line in front of Butts' Grocery was read, and referred to Mr. Mills for action.

The Council decided to write a letter to the Attorney-General of the State seeking a ruling on whether the City can agree to settle the claim of the Bushart Clinic, amounting to $1,109, in an even swap for forgiveness of personal and property taxes amounting to $702, as proposed by the Clinic.

The Mayor produced a survey of city printing and office supply business over the past five years, in which he noted that the 71% spent locally for such items during 1954 is the highest percentage spent locally in five years.

The Council agreed to engage the services of Lee Smith, an architect, to draw plans for additional office room for the city water and gas offices, to adjoin the city hall.

The City Attorney was appointed to attend a hearing next Wednesday in Paducah and to "do all he can to fight discontinuance of I. C. trains 103 and 104" for which the hearing is called.

The Mayor and Council regrettably accepted the resignation of Andy DeMyer in the city clerk's office; Miss DeMyer has accepted a position with KU.

An engineer discussed at length the problem of rust control in the city water system, and the council indicated that it plans to deal with this increasingly-serious problem immediately.

Our sincere concern is with the family of Mrs. Bailey Huddleston who is critically ill at the Fulton Hospital. Mrs. Huddleston is suffering from a coronary condition.

Diary of Doin's

—Around Fulton—

The News writes social happenings about you and your friends.

The pot-luck supper is the greatest display of mental telepathy since here we've been. Everytime we go to one we keep looking at the dishes brought in and we keep thinking, this is it . . . All salads, all pies, all chicken, all spaghetti. But when the last plate is deposited on the tables its there, the complete meal and everybody has more to eat than they can hold.

It was that way last Friday night, when we were guests at the One and All Club's periodic family night dinner, when the club celebrates the birthdays of their men folks.

It was a feast we sat near the door, while the dishes were being readied for the table and it seemed like the procession from the kitchen to the table would never end. The ladies in the kitchen were busy as bees making everything attractive and appetizing, as if they had to.

And like one big family the men folks sat in the spacious room talking over events of the day and about their mutual interests. The kids were dressed in their finery and they romped around the place oblivious to the preparations being made for the birthday dinner.

When meal time was called we all lined up and there the problem started. Reminded us of what somebody said at the Country Club Tuesday. "If we continue these pot-luck lunches we must get larger plates."

That's the way it was last Friday. A tray was needed to take just a spoonful of all those delicacies. Every kind of meat imaginable was there, including coon meat, which didn't last very long.

All of our lives we've heard about coon suppers and that was the first time we had ever seen the meat cooked and ready to eat. It was pretty darned good.

Everybody had the honorees in mind when they did the baking. And Mrs. Arthur Matheny went all out with her contribution of a huge, chocolate cake, with small batchets, surrounding the base, commemorating George Washington's birthday, which is this month. Curt Muzzall, one of the "young fellows" celebrating his birthday enjoyed the cake as much as anybody and kept inviting folks to come by and have a piece of "his cake." That's real appreciation.

After the meal the tables were cleared away and family games were enjoyed and frankly, its the nearest thing we ever saw to a great, big old-fashioned family with about a hundred "near kin" gathered to enjoy an event.

Those adding another year to their ages were Harold Muzzall,

JOHN B. STAYTON ANNOUNCES TODAY FOR CIRCUIT CLERK

I would like to announce at this time that I am a candidate (Continued on Page Twelve)

ALVA T. OWENS OF WICKIFFE DIES TUESDAY

Beloved Citizen Was 95; Was In Failing Health

Sympathies are extended to Al T. Owens of this city in the death of his father, Alva T. Owens, Sr. of Wickliffe. Mr. Owens, a beloved resident of that community for many years was 95 years old. He had been in failing health for several years. His wife preceded him in death several years ago.

The deceased was one of the "old-timers" of Wickliffe and was affectionately referred to as "Daddy" Owens. He passed away in Wickliffe late Tuesday afternoon. His son was at his bedside when he died.

Funeral services will be held in Wickliffe at 2:30 p. m. Thursday afternoon from the Christian Church there. Burial will be in Wickliffe.

Jimmy Rose Waiting For His Date With La Marilyn

Jimmy Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Rose is holding his breath. Visiting his parents here for the week end Jimmy is still wondering whether or not Marilyn Monroe will be his date for the big Valentine dance on February 14.

Jimmy is a student at Columbia Military Academy at Lebanon, Tenn. Last Fall he wrote the voluptuous screen star to be his date for the dance. She wired and wrote that she would be. The officers at the school heard from her to the effect that if she could not attend she would let them know. She has not advised them to the contrary.

Jimmy wonders whether Marilyn has become reconciled with her former husband Joe DiMaggio and call off his date. Some decision . . . Joe DiMaggio instead of Jimmy Rose. That gal has no taste at all if she doesn't come.

BOB WHITE AGAIN NAMED TO HEAD COUNTRY CLUB

Plans Made For Other Additions To Clubhouse

R. H. (Bob) White was re-elected president of the Fulton Country Club Monday night when an enthusiastic meeting was held there. "Mr. Swimming Fool" was the unanimous choice of the large number of members present. The term has been applied to Mr. White because of his great efforts to get a swimming pool at the club which boasted membership and interest in the group.

Other officers elected are: Gene Williamson, vice-president; Paul Boyd, treasurer and Joe Hall, recording secretary. Named to the board of directors are: Louis Weeks, Dr. Ward Bushart, Frank Beadles, J. E. Fall, Jr., and Felix Gossum. Mrs. Maxwell McDade, ladies day chairman is automatically a member of the board.

South Fulton Boys And Girls Out Of Tourney

Although they played hard the South Fulton boys and girls were eliminated this week from the Obion County Tournament when the South Fulton girls were defeated Monday night by the Obion girls by the score of 74 to 54 and Tuesday night the South Fulton boys were defeated by the Obion boys by the score of 54 to 45.

Both teams have made good showing this year and they chalked up many victories. See photos on the inside page.

Tractor Demonstration At Fulton High Friday

A demonstration of tractor maintenance and repair will be held in the Agricultural Room of Fulton High on Friday, afternoon February 11.

Bennie Sams and Will Bondurant who recently took a course in this phase of farming will demonstrate the machines. About 20 members of the 4-H club of this county will take the course, which will be held for three successive Fridays.

Rev. John D. Laida, a forceful, dynamic and entertaining speaker, made the principal address at the Cub Scout Blue and Gold banquet held at the Methodist Church Tuesday night.

Brother Laida, an enthusiastic baseball fan, talked straight from the shoulder to the Cubs, but gave the many parents food for thought when he said: "I believe it is more important to have a lighted field for boys to enjoy all kinds of sports and other recreational activities than it is to have a Kitty League Park."

He continued his talk by saying that "it is more important for all children to play and to swim and to have equal opportunities with the rest, than it is for just a few to enjoy these privileges". He stressed the importance of children having made available to them activities for their hands "to develop and in so doing giving them thoughts for their minds to work."

Brother Laida's talk was entitled "An Old Railroad Watch" in which he stressed the importance of young children developing a characteristic of punctuality.

The railroad theme and the Casey Jones story was employed for this year's banquet. Many of the handsome decorations were devised from old cans and other trinkets to bring out the railroad motif.

As a centerpiece for the head table where the guests were seated an unusual cake was baked by Mrs. Nelson Tripp, depicting a railroad engine. The welcome to the guests was made by Ladd Stokes and was responded to by Garland Merryman. The Casey Jones story was told in song and action by Dens One and Nine. It was most effectively done and looking on at the head table was Charles Jones, an avid Scouter and grandson of the famous en-

SWIFT COMPANY NOW OBSERVING 100-YEAR TERM

A. B. Thacker Was With Plant Here In 1929

Plans for Swift and Company's Centennial, which will be observed throughout 1955, were announced today by President John Holmes in his address at the annual meeting of shareholders.

It was in 1855, just 100 years ago that 16-year-old Gustavus Franklin Swift, the company's founder, launched his career in the meat business. He borrowed $20 from his father, bought a heifer, dressed it, and peddled the meat to his neighbors.

The local Swift Plant will observe the anniversary. Opened in 1929 it is one of this county's most outstanding industries. A. B. Thacker, the manager was with the company when it opened here.

That skinny galoot is Charlie Burrow and the fat man is Carl Pirtle. Don't let 'em fool you. They both ate as much as they could at the big birthday party held Friday night at the One and All Club.

Coons all gone, Barney Speight. Barney reaches for a piece of the delicious meat, but Curt Muzzall, (left) Herbert Goulder and Harold Muzzall show him that the platter's clean. All four men celebrated their birthdays.

FORMOSA RESOLUTION

I was among those invited to the White House on Saturday, January 29, when the President signed the Formosa Resolution announcing to the world congressional recognition of the powers given the President by the Constitution to deal with situations such as the one now existing in the Far East.

As the President often does, he used several pens in signing the measure, and he presented me with one of these. I will keep it here in the office in Washington as a memento of an historic occasion, which it is hoped will bring us one step nearer the goal we all seek—world peace.

There is one phase of the Formosa question which I do not feel has received as much public consideration as it deserves. This is the position of Formosa in the Pacific defenses of the free world. If you study a map of the Pacific Ocean and draw a line from the top, starting with the Aleutian Islands and continuing down through Japan, Okinawa, Formosa, the Philippines, and Australia, you will see that this is a natural defense line facing the Communists on the mainland of Asia. Formosa is the center of the line.

A Communist break-through on Formosa and the loss of the island might be compared to a football team playing without a center. Such a break-through could force us to make our goal line stand on the California coast.

TOBACCO MEETING A HEALTHY ACTIVITY

The meeting of the special committee, chaired by Mr. John M. Berry, of Newcastle, and composed of members of the burley tobacco industry from the eight principal producing states, held last week in Lexington was, in my view, an extremely sound and healthy activity.

The meeting is one in a series being held to discuss ways and means of bringing the production of burley tobacco in line with its consumption. During the 1954 marketing year, approximately 675 million pounds of burley tobacco were marketed by growers, as compared with a production of 564 million pounds in 1953 and despite an average 8 percent reduction in the 1954 acreage allotments. This is the fourth straight year that sumption by more than 50 million pounds.

One of the reasons for the strength of the tobacco program has been the extreme interest and cooperation shown by those in the industry, from grower to manufacturer. They have faced up to the problems of compliance and over-production, and when it has become necessary to change and modify the program to meet new conditions they have taken the lead in discussions and the initiative to assure that the tobacco industry stays strong and vigorous.

SURPLUS SUPPLIES

Change in administrative policy in the last year has dried up the availability of surplus of Federal government equipment badly needed by our schools, hospitals, and related institutions.

Mr. J. B. Williams, Surplus Property Administrator for the Commonwealth, attended a meeting in Washington last week on this matter.

I am joining with other Senators to introduce legislation to make this surplus equipment, for which the government no longer has use, available to

SOME BACKGROUND

In studying the background of some legislation this week, I was looking into material which presented some of the history of Congress. Among this material was a record of Congress 100 hundred years ago which I found quite interesting.

The 34th Congress was in the year 1855. There were 257 members in the House of Representatives and 62 members in the Senate. Kentucky had ten members in the House and, of course, the two members of the Senate. The Kentucky members of the Senate were John Burton Thompson of Harrodsburg and John Jordan Crittenden of Frankfort. Senator Thompson had been Commonwealth Attorney, a member of both houses of the Kentucky Legislature, a member of the U. S. House of Representatives, and Lieutenant Governor before entering the Senate.

Senate Crittenden had an equally long record of distinguished public service. Before entering the 34th Congress he had already served as Attorney General of the Illinois Territory, as a member of the Kentucky House of Representatives, two previous terms in the U. S. Senate, and as Governor. He later served in the U. S. House of Representatives some years after his service in the 34th Congress.

The Commonwealth's members of the U. S. House of Representatives 100 years ago were: Henry C. Burnett of Cadiz; John P. Campbell of Hopkinsville; Warner L. Underwood of Bowling Green; Albert G. Albert G. Talbott of Danville; Joshua H. Jewitt of Elizabethtown; John M. Elliott of Prestonsburg; Humphrey Marshall of Frankfort; Alexander K. Marshall (no relation to Humphrey Marshall) of Nicholasville; Leander M. Cox of Flemingsburg; and Samuel F. Swope of Falmouth.

Thanks yours sincerely,
H. A. M.

Dear H. A. M.:

Some one else got your letter. They may seal it up and return it to the postoffice, but at the time I'm answering this it has not.

Dear Patricia:

I have read your column and wonder if you would be so kind as to answer a few questions for me. Will we remain where we are or will we move north? Which do you think is best for us to do? What kind of health is my husband in? Do you think my son will do any good by going north? This is my first time to write you so will thank you for an answer.

Mrs. A. V. B.:

You will move North. I think going North is the best move for you. Your husband is in good health. Yes, I think it would be wise for your son to go north.

Dear Pat:

Would you please answer these question for me.

Will my husband make this business deal he is talking about, if so, what happens to us then. Could you tell me if he bought a ladies wrist watch Christmas. Thank you,
G. H.

Dear G. H.:

No, your husband will not make the business deal he is talking about. Yes, your husband bought a ladies wrist watch Christmas.

Dear Patricia:

I've been looking for a job around Fulton for some few days and would like to know if I'm going to find work here or will I have to go somewhere else?

Newspapers Should Foster Respect For Court System; Defiance Can Only Lead To Peril

We read an editorial in the Hickman Courier last week that reminded us of our Mississippi newspaper days. The editorial brought back memories of a printer-operator we knew.

This individual we remember was taken from the linotype machine to pinch-hit as a cub reporter during the war days when there was a critical man shortage and a dire, almost hopeless shortage of reporters. Now this fellow had been reading the comic strips and the pulp magazines about what a reporter should resemble. Soon as the city editor assigned him an insignificant beat he went out and bought a snap-brim hat. He turned the brim up in front, had the back shop print a sign with "Press" written in big letters and out he went to save the town.

He delved head-long into manners and morals of the community. He set himself up as saviour of the underdog, the arbiter of local social customs, the watch-dog of official procedures; he ran like a mad-man when the fire whistles blew, disappointed as all get-out that it was only a brush-fire and not a disaster. He was chagrined when the news was good; happy when there were undertones of collusion. He alienated more friends and lost more accounts than the paper had known in its 85 years of existence. He solved nothing, he proved less.

But soon the city editor called him in. "Claud, boy," said the city editor. "You'll never make it. People read this newspaper whether you're fighting somebody or not. Forget personalities, report the facts, tell the story, prove it, back it up, let the facts speak and you chum go back to the linotype."

That reporter was a let-down fellow. He said apologetically: "Fellow told me once when everybody in town hated my innards I would be a success." The Courier editorial, an outburst of indignation at our court system, is the type of thing that causes lesser informed individuals to incite riots and cause lynchings. Regardless of what we, or The Courier think of the persons who administer the courts it is their duty and ours to foster respect for the system under which they operate. Luckily, it is not public opinion that motivates a juror to render a decision. It is the evidence presented, and solely upon evidence, that a verdict is rendered.

It would have been a different matter in the Dunnagan case, to which the Courier obviously had reference as a miscarriage of justice, if public opinion had influenced the jury. In this respect we quote, in its entirety, an editorial we published in our issue of May 16, 1952.

"YOU HAVE TO PROVE IT TO THE COURT"

"Last January 7 a Hickman City policeman named Claude Strong was shot to death on the Mississippi River levee a quarter of a mile west of Hickman, and the next day Ernest Dunnagan, 57 and his son, Gerald Dean, 19, were arrested and charged with the murder.

"Available evidence pointed squarely at the father and son and feeling ran high against them for the terrible deed. 'They are surely guilty', the public mind reasoned, 'and they should receive maximum punishment for their crime' . . . and for the past 17 weeks most everyone has been waiting merely to see that punishment would be duly meted out and justice satisfied.

"A storm of surprise and indignation greeted the jury's week-end decision to let the boy go free and hand the elder Dunnagan the light punishment of two years in the penitentiary. . . but the public reckoned without the due processes of law in United States, which maintain that a man is innocent until he is PROVEN guilty.

"The jury was not supplied proof of guilt to justify any heavier sentence; on young Dunnagan they had no proof at all. All the conjecture, hearsay, suppositions and probabilities in the case carried not one whit of value to the jury, which demanded proof and rightfully refused to consider a serious penalty without the evidence to warrant it.

"Guilt for the crime will remain on the soul of he who committed it, to be atoned for later to his Maker, but justice in Fulton County, Kentucky is meted out based on evidence supplied.

"We commend the jury, public sentiment notwithstanding."

Judge Combs Came To Fulton and Made Friends; His Honesty, Sincerity and Program are Sound

Last week, Judge Bert T. Combs, a candidate for Governor in the August primaries, visited Fulton and Hickman and a good crowd of interested citizens turned out to meet him. His visit to the county was not one of fanfare and bally-hoo, just one of a candidate wanting to meet and talk informally with people whom he hopes will become interested in his campaign.

But then there's no fan-fare or bally-hoo in anything that Judge Combs does. He is a quiet, sincere and affable man who is going to make an awful lot of friends in West Kentucky by vote-casting time this summer.

To meet Judge Combs on first acquaintance is to meet a man whose greeting and conversation is so markedly honest and so genuine that it is difficult to realize how this man can be the target in a bitter campaign to be waged by a ruthless opponent with only victory a forethought.

But Judge Combs will stand up head and shoulders with sound facts and he will prove them and he will gain your respect and your influence while doing so.

If the public is interested in having a young person of good morals and good mind, who is personally and intellectually honest, who has a fine, though brief, public record, which is unscarred, and who is in the political moral field, then Judge Combs will have no trouble, none at all, being the Democratic candidate for Governor in August.

Judge Combs will come back to Fulton County many times before the election. Each time he will gain new friends who will tell their friends of his good program, his political stability and his honesty. The day of voting for a big laugh, a big splash, an ambitious candidate is over. Good qualifications is the yard-stick these days and Judge Combs will fill the bill.

Congressman Get Prayer Room

For the first time in more than one hundred fifty years, members of Congress have been provided with a prayer room at this session of Congress. The prayer room, which was authorized last year, is open to members of Congress only, and is not to be used for any other persons, or groups.

The idea is to provide the legislators with one room in the Capitol where they can find seclusion, peace and quiet. The prayer room's special window was built by volunteer labor from Clergymen of all faiths were consulted about the furnishing of the prayer room, and a large plain oak altar was finally selected. The room is covered with green carpet and there are chairs along the walls, in front of which are wooden screens which furnish privacy. Adequate copies of prayer books, Bibles and other literature, are available in the room.

Anyone who ever worked in the Capitol, amid the tensions and pressures which are exerted on the legislative branch, knows there has long been a need for a prayer room such as this. We hope that on more than one occasion, in the future, this room of meditation and inspiration will be useful in helping to guide decisions made by the highest-elected legislative officers of our country, in these critical times.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Elden Earl announce the birth of a dainty little daughter, Peggy Lee.

W. M. Hill and sons, Clyde and Don, attended the convention of the Common Brick Manufacturers Ass'n of America which held its sessions this week at the Peabody Hotel in Memphis. More than 700 executives of brick manufacturing companies were in attendance.

In the R. H. Wade home, Friday afternoon, a St. Valentine Tea was a social event of importance, with guests numbering more than a hundred. The affair was a silver tea given by the Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, and was a beautiful success in every way.

The tea table was covered with a pretty lace cloth and centered by a silver basket of red carnations. It was presided over by Mrs. Fred Worth and Mrs. Enoch Browder, seated at each end and assisted in serving tea dainties by Mesdames Robert White, Carlton Linton, Harold Blackman, Frank Beadles, Rhedell Tucker Bullock, Misses Ruth Hill, Lillian Wade, Cordelia Brann.

The guests were graciously greeted by Mrs. Ramsey Snow, the president of the society and the following ladies: Mesdames Edwin Boone, L. E. McCoy, R. E. Stille, Mike Fry, C. C. Parker and Mrs. Preston Shore of Rives, Tenn.; Mrs. Lionel McCoy of Columbus, Miss.; Miss Christine Clemmons of Obion, Tenn. The register was presided over in the sun parlor by Mesdames Gus Bard, Raymond Pe-witt, Pete Roberts.

Mrs. L. O. Bradford and Mrs. Sarah Meacham attended a one o'clock luncheon in Union City, Tuesday, given by Mrs. Morris Miles, in honor of her house guests Mrs. Rust of Memphis.

Charles Eaker and Pat Fowlkes of Wingo were painfully hurt Saturday night when their car overturned on the Fulton highway near Wingo. Their injuries were not serious, both receiving cuts and bruises.

One of the most attractive going away parties for Mrs. R. A. Brady, was the Theatre party given Friday afternoon by Mrs. A. G. Baldridge and Mrs. Vodie Hardin. After the show the forty-five guests went to the home of Mrs. Hardin on Third Street where delicious refreshments were served.

Good wishes written for the honoree on an attractive hand painted card, caused much merriment.

Mr. and Mrs. Brady and daughter, Martha, are leaving soon for California to make their home, to the regret of their many friends.

Noticed a short article in the Hickman Courier last week complaining that the writer could not distinguish as to whether the editorial writing was done by Jo or by myself. What difference does it make, friends, . . . just address your communications to the Fulton News. In that manner we can dispense with personalities and concentrate on issue.

Hard-working auctioneer Charlie Burrow gets into a lot of interesting situations when he runs the radio Polio auction each year.

Last year we recall that a lady paid a right healthy sum for a parakeet, thinking that she was bidding on a pair of sheets. And then had to turn around and buy a cage to boot.

The funniest that we have heard this year came the other morning as Charlie was auctioning off a young male beagle hound pup, over the air.

A lady, evidently mistaking the identity of the item being auctioned, called to inquire whether it was a single-barrelled or double-barrelled, and when the call was relayed to Charlie, standing before the microphone, he was on the spot.

"It's a male pup," Charlie stammered . . . "I guess it must be single-barrelled."

Another great boost to the local television-watching throng will be the appearance of a brand-new station from Jackson, Tenn., on channel 7, which is scheduled to begin testing next Tuesday, Feb. 15. The Fulton area will be in the "Class A" area, which means excellent reception. The only disappointment as far as we can see is that the new station will be CBS, same as Cape Girardeau, which means that you still have to struggle with Memphis or Nashville if you want any NBC program.

"The Melody Men" orchestra, a 10-piece band made up of six from Fulton, one from Clinton and three from Martin, enjoyed its most successful year last year, and the way things are starting this year may go on to its biggest demand yet.

Last year the band played all over West Kentucky and Tennessee, from Kentucky Lake to Tiptonville, and Hickman to Milan, winding up the Christmas season with a New Year's eve job at the Mayfield Country Club after eight other Christmas season dances in Fulton, Hickman and Union City.

The band, in addition to being in demand, is providing its younger members with valuable musical training and experience that fits them for top spots in college bands by the time the young men are ready to attend college. Two of last year's members graduated from high school and went right on as freshmen to earn top musical positions at Vanderbilt and Murray. This year trumpeter Charles Wade Andrews and saxophonist Bobby Boaz will be equally as seasoned and ready for top college jobs. Of the five other young people in the band, two are juniors and three only sophomores.

Aside from the fact that this music business is my pet pastime and I have a young son that I hope to train up through the music ranks, I can think of few things that an able young man can enjoy as much, or be as well-paid through college if he is going to have to earn part of his way.

Although mostly young men, the present organization is a seasoned, professional band that is often rated superior to college bands in the area.

Mr. McKinney said he wasn't too upset about the loss, for he had forgotten the combination to the safe anyway.

I.C. Has Promoted Good Farm Practices

by James L. Pryor
Agricultural Agent

The Illinois Central Railroad was incorporated in 1851 and its agricultural department was established the next year. Originally this department was called the Immigration Department and its duties were to attract farm folks of the more desirable countries in Europe and from our Atlantic states to settle along the Illinois Central. Hundreds of thousands of circulars were distributed, acquainting the people with the vast stretches of rich farm lands to be secured at from $2 to $8 an acre. This work continued for more than 50 years until the land was well settled and a need for better agricultural practices was obvious.

In 1916 the department obtained its present name, "Agricultural Department," duties were changed and broadened to that of farm improvement through soil conservation, diversification of crops and the improvement and increase of livestock.

About this time the need for more dairy cattle in mid-south and southern states was seen. Farmers and businessmen interested in this project were taken to Wisconsin where 16 carloads of dairy cattle were purchased and moved south during the first year of the program. The Illinois Central Railroad launched its sire program and agreed to purchase purebred sires and loan these free of charge to the farmers starting dairying in these communities.

350 Purebred Sires
Since this program began the Railroad has purchased approximately 350 purebred dairy sires and loaned them to farmers with the result that dairy herds have been built up and many condensaries, creameries, and cheese factories have been established, which not only bring greater revenue to the farmers, but also bring more business to the merchants and greater prosperity to our Railroad.

Eight years ago officials of the Illinois Central decided if purebred dairy sires could build up production of the dairy herds, then beef bulls and purebred rams would do the same for the beef and sheep industries. While this program has not had time to progress as far as the dairy program, the purebred beef sires are increasing and improving the beef cattle herds along the lines in the south. That these improvements are being made is substantiated by the fact that many meat packers in the country are becoming interested in the expansion of their business by locating meat packing plants along the I. C. in southern states.

In 4-H Work
The Agricultural Department of the Illinois Central became interested in 4-H Club work during the first World War. As soon as the program was launched to bring outstanding 4-H Club boys and girls to Chicago for the International Livestock Show and National 4-H Club Congress, the Illinois Central participated by offering prizes. These prize trips number about 72 a year and to date the Illinois Central has made it possible for more than 1,000 winning 4-H Club members to attend this conference. To demonstrate how this work pays, the Agricultural Department now employs two agricultural agents who, as 4-H boys, each won an Illinois Central prize trip to the National 4-H Club Congress.

Soil testing and improvement has been the basis of our program for many years. The Illinois Central ran the first trainload of limestone into a southern Illinois community in 1917, and in 1924 they dumped the first trainload of limestone along the right-of-way for the convenience of farmers. The farmers were allowed 60 days in which to move this stone and spread it on their farms nearby. For years the six agricultural agents have carried soil testing kits in their cars and during the course of a year make 12,000 to 15,000 tests. Not only do they test soils, but make written recommendations as to the amounts of limestone and fertilizer needed.

The Illinois Central Railroad became interested in the expansion of soybeans in 1927 and to increase the acreage of this wonder crop, ran the first soybean train in the United States.

It proved so successful (with over 80,000 farmers attending) that later soybean trains were running in Iowa and again in Illinois. Soybean moving pictures were shown in territories growing the crop throughout the system with the result that soybeans have become the third largest grain crop in the United States, surpassed only by wheat and corn.

Agricultural trains have also been run covering the subjects of better feed, better livestock, and better methods of farming. One of the most popular trains was on soil improvement which was run in 1940. The farmers were encouraged to bring in their soil samples for analysis and as a result over 16,000 soil samples were brought to the train. This soil was analyzed and the farmers were given recommendations as to how to proceed to improve their land and crops.

In order that we might improve our livestock as rapidly as we have been able to in the past, the Agricultural Department became interested in artificial insemination in 1914, and in so doing was the first railroad in the United States to actively sponsor—with their own purebred sires—this new, progressive step. As a result, many such associations have been organized under their leadership—in Iowa, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana—and are today operating most successfully. More than 15,000 cows were bred to Illinois Central sires this past year.

Add Forestry
In 1944 forestry was added to the company's activities with the result that we now have three forestry agents working with the timber owners and rural youth, training them in a deeper appreciation of trees and bringing to their attention a balanced program of fire prevention, controlled cutting, more planting of trees and better management which are needed if we are to perpetuate our forests and our income from this source.

In 1948 the Illinois Central Railroad developed a low-cost, lightweight tree planting machine as a public service feature. This machine was designed especially for work with small landowners. Shortly after the machine was perfected in the railroad's shops at McComb, Miss., each of the Illinois Central's three forestry agents was assigned one for use in his territory. All three were instructed to spend a good portion of their time holding mechanical tree planting demonstrations and to generally promote reforestation. To date over 600 of these demonstrations have been held before some 60,000 farmers, veteran trainees, 4-H and FFA groups, bankers and businessmen.

The Illinois Central planter is operated by a two-man team. One man sits on the machine and plants while the other drives the tractor; the entire operation stresses simplicity.

As the tractor pulls the machine forward, a planting shoe splits the soil in two, creating a long narrow opening. Into this opening the operator quickly places a small tree, being careful to set it at the right depth. As soon as the planting shoe passes on, the opening containing the young tree closes together again. The soil around the tree is then pressed firmly into place by packing wheels under the operator's seat. Under average conditions, 1,000 trees an hour can be planted using one of these machines.

Because of the dry periods occurring at some period each summer, the railroad has become interested in supplemental irrigation. With their own irrigation equipment they are holding demonstrations throughout the major agricultural territories along their lines in the mid-south states. Major increases have been realized as a result of this summer's irrigation in the major crops, pastures and vegetables. It is felt that this experimental work in supplemental irrigation will become common practice by many farmers in our central and southern trade territories, thus adding additional incomes to farmer and railroad alike.

HICKMAN FAMILIES REPORT PROGRESS

Some accomplishments of Hickman county families enrolled in the Farm and Home Development Program are listed by UK County Agent Warren Thompson:

Twenty farmers tested land and received recommendations for the use of fertilizers.

Seven families are growing larger acreages so they can make better use of machinery and labor.

Eight farmers have bought dairy cattle to replace low milk producers.

Two families changed from meat production to dairying mainly because of small farms. Twelve dairymen are breeding artificially.

Eleven families have built or remodeled houses and added to barns.

Thirteen farmers have bought machinery to step up production, while six farmers are using less machinery.

Fifteen farmers are feeding silage, 12 of them beginning since they enrolled in the Farm and Home Development Program.

A number of farmers have culled poor producers from their herds, and added better cows, hogs and chickens.

GEORGE BRAND OF MAYFIELD TO RUN FOR STATE SENATE

Former Clothier Meeting Voters In Four Counties

George Brand

George Brand, a former Mayfield clothier, and now prominent in the hotel and restaurant business in that city is making an active solicitation in Marshall, Graves, Hickman and Fulton counties in the interest of his race for State Senator from the four counties. Brand, will oppose Wayne Freeman, the incumbent—who is seeking reelection.

Brand will make his formal announcement at a later date and although he is now seeking support in the district has not filed his candidacy with the Secretary of State.

In candidate cards he is distributing to the voters Brand says: "When I am elected your Senator, I'll be your Senator and that day will never come when I have to contact the Mayfield dictator's before I can talk with you or act on your problems." Brand's announcement is meeting with enthusiastic response in the district.

LARGEST ON MARKET

The new 400-series Farmall tractor, now being shown in Fulton by the Nailling Implement Company, is the largest tractor on the American market, states Orin Winstead, manager.

The "400" has 10 forward speeds and two reverse, and its 65 horsepower will pull four 14-inch plows, as compared with the small Farmall Cub, with 8 horsepower, pulling only one 12-inch plow.

Modern innovations on the new giant include such things as a cigarette lighter, automobile-type dash, and starter on the switch key.

KENNY REED IS WINNER OF FFA STATE CONTEST

A 1954 graduate of Versailles High School has won $100 in the eighth annual Future Farmers of America Contest.

Kenny Reed, 19 years old, of Versailles, was named state champion Future Farmer for his farming achievements and applications of vocational agriculture training. The winner was announced by Barry Bingham, president of The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times, WHAS-TV, sponsors of the competition.

Prizes total $325 and include the $100 state award and nine district awards of $25 U. S. Savings Bonds. All must be used to further the winners' farm projects.

The state champion and district winners will receive all-expense-paid trips to Louisville to attend the annual Farm Awards Luncheon during February where their awards will be presented. Here they will meet with winners in three other farm-incentive contests conducted by the newspapers and radio-television station.

Reed, the new F. F. A. champion, enrolled in vocational

Mrs. Hubert Bolton is a patient in the Jones Hospital where she underwent surgery but doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pewitt visited Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hardy in Union City Sunday and reported Mrs. Hardy is improving from a heart ailment.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bard visited Mr. Wayne Yates, a patient in Obion County Hospital in Union City Sunday afternoon.

Richard Mobley is reported on the sick list. Hope he will soon be feeling fine.

ROBBERS GETS IRONED

When a holdup man threatened to harm Mrs. Eleanor Ann Dunlap's two small children unless she gave him her household money, Mrs. Dunlap let him have it — not the money but the hot iron she held in her right hand. The hot iron hit the man right in the mouth and he fled — with $4 in small change from Mrs. Dunlap's purse.

CITY CAN'T HELP

A city can not appropriate money for the purchase of voting machines to be used by a county, this expense being entirely up to a county, Assistant Attorney General Walter C. Herdman ruled in advising Daviess County officials that a proposed agreement which the City of Owensboro would pay a partook of such expense, was illegal.

agriculture as a freshman at Versailles High School. His farming program consisted of 8 feeder steers, 4 baby beehives, 1 1/2 acres tobacco and 9 acres feed crops.

Last year his livestock project was 21 head of pure bred Aberdeen Angus cattle, 1 nurse cow and 2 baby beehives. He raised 4 acres corn, 13 acres hay, 50 acres pasture and had 1/6 interest in 20.8 acres tobacco. His four-year earnings total more than $11,000.

Kenny and his father, Will Reed, farm 680 acres.

His high school activities included being president and secretary of the Versailles F. F. A. Chapter and treasurer of the Bluegrass District. Kenny was chosen Kentucky Star Farmer at the F. F. A. State Convention last June. He was district and county farm bureau king in 1952.

Kenny's livestock judging team placed first in the state in 1952 and later won a gold emblem in the National F. F. A. Judging Contest. Showing cattle is his hobby.

SIMPLE FORMS TO BE HELP FILING STATE RETURNS

The Department of Revenue expects thousands of Kentuckians to file their income tax returns earlier than usual this year, according to Robert H. Allphin, Commissioner of Revenue.

Many taxpayers who filed returns last year are already receiving forms in the mail and the department is providing a "super-short" form for taxpayers subject to withholding that speeds returns, Allphin said.

This new form is printed on the back of the withholding statement which the taxpayer receives from his employer stating the amount of tax withheld during the year. It is for persons earning $8,000 or less who do not choose to itemize their deductions.

Allphin pointed out that by using this simple form filing can be easily and quickly completed so that any refund due can be promptly made. Because tax was withheld for only six months of 1954, many taxpayers will have some additional tax to pay with the return, he said.

Allphin cautioned taxpayers to wait until they receive withholding statements from employers before filing returns. The law requires employers to provide these statements by Jan. 31.

Each taxpayer who filed a long form return last year will receive a tax form in the mail this year. Other taxpayers may use either the "super-short" form or obtain the long form return at their banks, county court houses, or Department of Revenue field offices. Assistance in filing income tax returns is available to any taxpayer at the Department of Revenue in Frankfort, or at the field offices located in Ashland, Covington, Lexington, Louisville and Paducah.

BONDS SOLD

The State Property and Buildings Commission sold a $6,000,000 bond issue to finance the new State Fair and Exposition Center in Louisville at 98 per cent of par value and bearing an interest rate of 3 1/2 per cent to the Kentucky Company, Louisville, and White, Weld and Company, Chicago—the lone bid offered.

Two months ago the Commission received no bids on the project. Then it readvertised, and received the lone offer.

NO FRANCHISE TAX

Airlines are not required to pay franchise taxes to cities and counties over which they operate, as railroads are, the State Department of Revenue's legal counsel, Squire N. Williams, Jr., has ruled.

Hardin and Edmonson County Fiscal Courts both raised the question, claiming the same rules are applicable. The ruling is expected to bring a test suit to determine the matter.

We were a little puzzled as to why the ladies did not celebrate birthdays, which reason is obvious, we know. But the puzzle was answered by the president of the club Mrs. L. D. Brooks who said that the men's birthdays are celebrated every other month and on the alternate months the ladies choose their sunshine friends and they exchange gifts for anniversaries, birthdays and other events. Isn't that a wonderful way to look at and to enjoy life?

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Smith were very happily surprised last Thursday when Lt. and Mrs. Bobby Henshaw called them from Fulton and told them that they would be right out. They had just arrived from Pearl Harbor having flown to San Francisco and then came by car to Fulton and spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Those who visited that night were Mr. and Mrs. Bob DeMyer, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Lt. Henshaw showed pictures on a screen of Pearl Harbor and other places of interest where they had been. Mrs. Henshaw is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lawson of Sturgis, Kentucky and they left Friday morning to visit her parents and brother. From there will go to Indian Head, Maryland where he will be in school.

Our idea of some good reading would be to get a hold of some letters that Jerry Atkins has been writing home about his Army experiences. Jerry is stationed at Fort Knox for about eight weeks, and like many another recruit joining Uncle Sam's forces, and in spite of his station, things there do not have a golden hue. Jerry starts his basic training, probably has already started, and any person ever to go through that rat-run knows what Jerry has in store. It's a time when the Army tries to separate the men from the boys, but funny thing the boys always seem to come through the most rigorous, the most hazardous, the most tiring, and the most frustrating of all incidents that come to a man and boy.

Otha Linton, who entered the service with Jerry is probably going through the same thing and frankly they have the sympathies of all of us. Of course we are all right proud of the abilities of both of these young men. Knowing what they can do, what they have done, and in what expert manner they could serve their country if their real abilities were employed, we just know that Jerry is probably on a clean-up detail and Otha is driving a truck. But that's the Army, Private Atkins.

Shirley Homra had herself a happy experience at UK recently. Foad and Monira put their foot down on letting Shirley have a car up there the first semester. So Shirley, poor lil thing, just had to do without one. But the worm turned. Shirley had some late exams and couldn't come home when the other UK kids did so she was not looking forward to trying to get to Fulton from out of the way Lexington.

One morning she was called by the attendant at the dormitory and told that her car was blocking the drive. "How dumb can they get Shirley thought." How could her car block the drive, when she didn't even have a car at UK. In spite of her protests to the contrary, Shirley couldn't convince them of that fact so she just had to go down and prove to them that it wasn't her car. But O, it was. Foad and Monira had somebody drive the car up there as a surprise to Shirley and believe you her, it was that.

February 4 is a mighty important day around Third Street. On that day Sara Bushart and Maxwell McDade celebrate their separate birthdays. Incidentally it is also the anniversary date of Lois Jean Miller, Sara's niece. So you know what Lois Haws did. She had a nice dinner party last Friday night for Sara and Maxwell and their families and no doubt drank a toast to Lois Jean and Rodney in absentia.

Did a little checking the other day to see if Bettie Louise Reed had returned home since little John Clarence Hefley had made his appearance in the Hefley household in South Carolina. Found out the wonderful news that Bettie Louise will stay with the Hefleys until they make their move to Memphis, where Penrod will be stationed in his new position. How wonderful to have them so close to Fulton now so that on these lovely, approaching Spring and Summer days they can just jump in the car and be here in about three hours. No doubt Clarence Reed will be happiest of all to see his new grand-son who bears his name.

The college crowd has gone back to their books after some interesting trips home and other places. The Fulton trio Nancy Wilson, Jane White and Anne Latta left Hollywood, Florida at noon Saturday and drove all night long along that beautiful Florida coast-line and as result of that steady driving arrived in Lexington early Sunday afternoon. They weren't tired at all and were raring to go for Sunday night. Anne was at the Country Club Tuesday sporting a most-envious tan. She left the group at Atlanta and had to go all over God's green earth to get to Fulton from there.

The ladies at the Country Club Tuesday decided to continue the pot-luck luncheons until sometime in the future. Believe it was done so that the ladies could keep right on bringing those wonderful dishes and discuss the recipes while they eat. Never saw so many good things to eat as there were Tuesday. And after that sumptuous meal the ladies played bridge with Mary Latta the high scorer Sara Campbell second high and Virginia Rogers, bingo winner.

Comings and Goings . . . Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miles of Union City were visitors in the Harry B. Murphy home this past week end as was Mrs. Zaneida Turk of Bardwell . . . Getrude Murphy and Mrs. Liza White have taken off for a trip to Gulfport and New Orleans . . . others going to the sunny climates are Ann Whitnel and Mrs. Tom Whitnel of Martin to Florida . . . so too with Elva and Ernest Fall and Robert and Charlotte Sanger . . . Mrs. Ira Kane of Paducah and her mother Mrs. Wilson of Lexington were recent visitors here . . . Mrs. Felix Bright is visiting friends and relatives here . . . She's from Nashville.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

McDaniels; Feb. 19: Mrs. Will Gayle; Feb. 20: Donna Gerling Patterson, Donald Kimbrow, Mrs. W. O. Lock, Mrs. Nap Brigham, Jimmy Collins.

The ladies at the family dinner held Friday night at the One and All Club were much interested in the speedy developing done by the Polaroid One-Minute camera. Other photos of the event elsewhere in this issue.

Rose Gayle Waterfield Pledges Vows With Robert Hardy Jan 30.

The candlelighted sanctuary of the First Christian Church in Clinton provided an impressive setting for the wedding on Sunday, January 30, of Miss Rose Gayle Waterfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Waterfield of Clinton, to Robert Moss Hardy, son of Mrs. James Haley of Paducah and Robert L. Hardy of Garland, Texas.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized at 5:30 in the afternoon with the Rev. William Huie of Corbin, a former pastor of the church, officiating. Slender white tapers burning in branched candelabra on either side of a white wrought iron arch entwined with plumosa and backed with palms and the greenery formed a background for the pledging of the vows. Standards of white gladioli and pompons completed the altar setting. Each of the windows held an arrangement of greenery and lighted white tapers.

Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Inez Claxton, organist, and Miss Lydia Thompson, soprano, from Asheville, N. C. Miss Thompson sang "I Love Thee" (Grieg), and "All For You" (Bertrand-Brown). Mrs. Claxton played "Traumeri" (Schumann), "To An Evening Star" (Wagner) and "Ave Maria" (Schubert). Englemann's "Melody of Love" was softly played during the ceremony. The traditional wedding marches by Wagner and Mendelssohn were used.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a model of petal white nylon tulle and imported lace over matching taffeta designed with a closely fitted lace bodice and long sleeves which tapered to points over the hands. The slight off-shoulder neckline edged with scalloped lace was finished at the back with tiny lace-covered buttons. The very full skirt of tulle worn over hooped petticoats extended into a short train. It was held at the narrow waistline by a shaped peplum of scalloped lace.

Her fingertip veil of matching imported illusion fell from a tiara of latticed tulle set with pearls and rhinestones. The bridal bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by lilies of the valley on a white Bible.

Miss Joyce Goff of Evans was maid of honor, and Miss Gladys Menges of West Palm Beach, Fla., and Miss Nancy Waterfield of Clinton, sister of the bride, served as bridesmaids. They wore identical frocks of rose coral nylon tulle over taffeta. Each was fashioned with a strapless bodice edged with a soft ruffle of net. Their full tulle skirts were designed with tiered shirred panels and were worn over hooped petticoats. They wore double cape stoles edged with ruffles and short white wrist length gloves. Their colonial bouquets of pink camellias were tied with pink ribbon.

Best man was William R. Reed of Paducah and ushers were Bill Hardy, brother of the groom, and Irving P. Bright Jr., both of Paducah, Dick Rushing of Camden, Ark., and John Y. Brown Jr. of Lexington. The candles were lighted by Harry Lee Waterfield II of Clinton, brother of the bride, and James Hardy, Paducah, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Waterfield, mother of the bride, wore azure blue lace over matching taffeta and a hat of the same color. Her corsage of gardenias was worn at the waist.

Mrs. Haley, mother of the groom, wore a navy silk print with hat of lighter blue. She wore at her shoulder a corsage of white gardenias.

A reception was held at Hotel Jewell following the wedding. The bride's table was overlaid with a lace cloth centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums in a crystal bowl flanked with matching candelabra holding white tapers. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom and was placed at one end of the table.

Punch was served from a crystal bowl at the opposite end of the table.

Assisting in entertaining were Misses Carolyn Collier and Margaret Ford of Lexington, Carolyn Stockton, Barbaranne Paxton, Mrs. William R. Reed and Mrs. Irving P. 400 guests signed the register.

The couple left following the reception for a southern wedding trip with the bride wearing a frock of mocha tan tissue faille fashioned with an embroidered bodice featuring a standaway collar and fitted three-quarter length sleeves. The very slim skirt was joined to the dropped waistline with a wide band which repeated the design of the neckline. Her small hat in a lighter shade was edged with pink velvet and accented with a pink rosebud. Other accessories were brown. Pinned to her shoulder was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The young couple will live in Lexington where the groom is a student at the University of Kentucky and is a member of the U. K. football team. The bride also attended the University of Kentucky transferring there from Christian College, Columbia, Mo.

Pleasant View News Mrs. George Elliott

After so long it seems that we are having some winter weather. We also had a wonderful rain over the week end.

It was an error in the news last week when I stated Mrs. Pearl Bethel had returned home. She still remains in the Mayfield Hospital.

James Simpson has recently been discharged from the service. He visited relatives and friends here over the week end and left Saturday night for Detroit.

Mrs. Cattie Bowlin spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Sammie Grubbs. They attended services at Blooming Grove Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Jewel Ross and Harold are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Vethroe McClain and girls in Detroit. They left Saturday night with James Simpson.

A large crowd enjoyed a chicken stew at Welch School Friday night. The proceeds were for the "March of Dimes."

Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Holt and Rhonda of Piketon, Ohio spent the week end here with relatives and friends.

Mr. Jim Barham is ill at his home. The doctor was called for him one night last week.

Sandra Holt has the virus flu and was unable to attend Church Sunday. We hope her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Ida Simpson is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Rex Bethel for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Holt and Rhonda, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wall and children and Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Elliott and Homer Wood visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holt Saturday night.

The funeral for Hillary Bowen of California, the son of Mrs. Florence Bowen of South Fulton, was held at the Hornbeak Funeral Home Saturday afternoon. Burial was in the Oak Grove cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Walls have installed a television.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wade of Water Valley attended church at Pleasant View Sunday night and Mrs. Wade's brother, Jimmie Wiles also attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Cashon of Piketon, Ohio visited Mr. and Mrs. Casey Pounds Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holt had as their guest for Sunday dinner the following: Brother Holt and Charles, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Melton, Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Holt and Rhonda, Celia Holt, and Diana and Gail Wall.

Brother Bill Boyd of Little Obion Church will hold the summer revival at Pleasant View.

Johnson Brann of Palmer-ville passed away at his home over the week end. He was the father-in-law of Ralph Wilkerson. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wilkerson and boys attended the funeral Sunday.

SAVE $4.00 PER TON

on Southern States
FORMULA FEEDS

DURING FEBRUARY

On purchase of ½ ton or more

• Southern States Cooperative has again taken the lead in helping farmers ease the squeeze between dwindling farm income and continued high costs of producing milk, meat, and eggs. Southern States and Cooperative Service Agencies have joined in arbitrarily slashing prices on formula feeds during February at the rate of $4.00 per ton under current bag-lot prices, on orders of one-half ton or more at one time (one or more feeds may be included in total order). This reduction applies on all feeds except (1) Southern States Drought Emergency Dairy Feeds; (2) Southern States feeds supplied under contract feeding programs; (3) scratch grains; (4) grain goods; and (5) ingredients.

• Though prices have been cut sharply, there has been no reduction in the usual high quality of Southern States feeds. They will continue to give you the most for your feed dollar.

LOOK WHAT THIS MEANS TO YOU

- * 20 cents saving on every bag of feed you buy
- * $20.00 more profit in raising 1,000 broilers
- * About 1 cent more profit in producing eggs about 25 cents a case)
- * $30.00 more profit per month in feeding a herd of 50 dairy cows
- * $1.75 more profit for each 200 pounds of weight gain in hogs
- * $45.00 more profit in raising 1,000 Beltsville White turkeys
- * $125.00 more profit in raising 1,000 Bronze turkeys horrid thought going thru their minds when he yelled out unmercifully:

"My, Gawd, we buried the wrong man."

It's a long jump from the Tunica-Times to the New York Times. But in the trip upwards Turner has retained all the folksiness characteristic of a great man. It was good to talk shop with Tony Vaccaro, another former Memphis newspaperman, who has gone up the ladder himself and to Don Whitehead, whose by-line is as familiar to the world as his great ability.

Don Whitehead, is a former Kentuckian, still is he says, although the world has been his home-place. He likes to remember the time not too long ago when he was asked to make a speech in his home-town. The night of the talk he was walking to the "biggest" hotel in town, and along the way he heard two fellows talking. One fellow asked the other where everybody was going and was told that "Old Man Whitehead's son was going to talk."

"What's he done," the other asked.

"O, I don't know," he was told. "Just got back from somewhere. Says he's been all the way to Europe, but you know what tall tales these reporters can tell."

for Circuit Court Clerk, subject to the Democratic Primary, August 6, 1955. I have been a life long Democrat. I was born January 4, 1918 at Porcha, Arkansas. I received most of my schooling there. I joined the U. S. Army in 1939 and was with the Army almost eight years. In the army I performed administrative work, and was awarded a superior rating for this type of work. When I was discharged I was sergeant-major of a group that was composed of seven battalions. I was married in 1942 to Helen Ruth Cruce, daughter of Roy and Della Cruce of Cayce, Kentucky. We have three children, Michael aged 12, Voncile, aged 8, and Tommie aged 4. We moved to Cayce shortly after I was discharged from the Army and since that time I have been engaged in farming near Cayce. I am a member of the Cayce Methodist Church and I serve as Assistant Superintendent of the Sunday School. I plan to visit each and every gineer. Too much credit for the meal cannot be given Mrs. Guy Fry and her loyal group of workers. It was a wonderful dinner. Scoutmaster Nelson Tripp, who with his wife Montelle and his right-hand assistant Mrs. Ward Johnson deserve the plaudits of this community for the outstanding job they have done for Cub Scouts in Fulton. The pack has grown to nearly 75 and each year the awards get more and the Tripps and Mrs. Johnson work harder. Songs were enjoyed by the group led by Gene Williams Scout executive. Cub Scout Marty Warren asked the blessing for the meal and his words were most impressive. Two Cubs, Jimmy Williams and Charles home between now and August 6, but if I happen to miss you, please consider this as my earnest solicitation of your vote. Sincerely, John B. Stayton Willingham were bid a fond farewell by the Cubs as they go into the Boy Scout troop. They were welcome into Troop 44 by Scoutmaster Charlie Adams.

Railroading harmony and some "Highballing" was rendered by Dens Five and Six. Rev. Dan Overall gave the benediction.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Healing through spiritual means as practiced by Christ Jesus will be a topic dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday.

CLUB MEETING

The Bennett Homemakers Club will meet in the home of Mrs. Bill Holland on the Mayfield highway Thursday, February 10, at 10 a. m. All members are urged to be present and visitors are welcome.

It's a Girl.

Mr. and Mrs. James McDaniel of Pierce are the proud parents of a 6 pound, 8 ounce baby girl born Feb. 5 at 2:35 a. m. at the Fulton Hospital. She has named Patricia Lynn.
