Number-Seventeen

Mayor Bill Browning, takes a good look at a small bottle of the Salk vaccine which Mrs. Ernest Fall, Jr. holds and Robert Burrow, chairman of the local polio chapter beams his happiness.

Checking the authorizations of two Terry-Norman students is Mrs. Wilmon Boyd, who was chairman of the vaccine administration in Fulton. The students are Linda Asbell and James Russell Boaz.

Mrs. Ward Bushart, takes a good look at that long line of students from Crutchfield waiting to be checked in for the vaccine. Standing beside her is James Chester Turner of the Crutchfield Community.

They're ready for the first student and happy in their work. Dr. Harrell checks to see that the syringe is ready. Mrs. Gordon holds the first box opened and Miss Henline fills another syringe.

First child in Fulton County to receive the Salk polio vaccine was Camille Roman, a second grade student at St. Edwards's Catholic School. Dr. Harrell administers the shot. Startled look was from the flash bulb. and shot the shot.

First Negro students in the county to receive the vaccine were a couple of brave youngsters from Cayce Negro School. They are Freeman Alexander in the first grade and May Evelyn Garmon in the second grade.

Children Give No Thought To History As They Get Salk Vaccine

They walked in brave and stoic so that someday they might never know the need of a crutch. Orderly, most of them cheerful, many of them apprehensive hardly realized the medical history they were making. Those 216 first and second graders who were inoculated with the Salk polio vaccine Tuesday did know they were about to be shot in the arm and that's what mattered most.

On some of those bright faces you could read the story. Their teachers and their parents told them. They were told that years and years of research on crippling infantile paralysis had ended in success. They were told that summer months from school vacation will not hold the same fear of polio as it has for centuries.

They were told about Dr. Jonas Salk, the brilliant young scientist who has perfected a vaccine to obliterate the crippling effects of polio. Some of them knew who he was. Yes, indeed they did. They called him Dr. Salt.

Tuesday at nine o'clock a. m. at the health offices in the City Hall was D-day for polio. The first group of first and second graders in the county were taken from their class-rooms to Dr. J. F. Harrell, county health officer, and in absentia to Dr. Salk, one of mankind's greatest benefactors.

First group to arrive was the five students from St. Edwards's Catholic School. Four of them arrived with Happy Hogan and one little fellow, because of late signing of his authorization permit arrived later, but he was given the vaccine just the same.

The children seemed right ready to get it over with. Some of the adults who assisted with the inoculation were a little on the nervous side. A newspaper photographer dropped the camera, flash attachment, bulbs and all, as the first youngster was readied for the vaccine.

Soon little Camille Roman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Roman had her arm sterilized with alcohol. She held up her sleeve with her free hand and without a whimper she was administered the first inoculation of Dr. Salk's vaccine. After her came the other students of St. Edwards's followed by the students from the Seventh Day Adventists private school.

The children were first taken into the newly redecorated courtroom assisted by Robert Burrow and a member of the local police force, not for any anticipated trouble, but because all the force looked in from time to time because they were happy to participate in such a wonderful event.

Mrs. Wilmon Boyd, who was named as city chairman to direct the activities of the vaccine and Mrs. Ward Bushart (Continued on Page Twelve) Carolyn Roberts, popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. (Pete) Roberts has been named valedictorian with an average of a few points short of the top score of three. Active in nearly every phase of school activity, an unusually popular all-around student, Carolyn is one of those students that is active on the campus and a good student too.

The same story is true of the other two top students, Myra Jackson, salutatorian and Nancy Jeffress honors day speaker. Their activities are many and varied and the high scholastic honors bestowed upon them are fitting rewards for the outstanding work they have done at the school during their enrollment there.

REV. GEORGE LAIB TO BE ORDAINED IN IMPRESSIVE RITES

Three Churches Join In Services To Confer Authority

The Rev. George H. Laib, minister of Trinity Episcopal Church, Fulton, Ky., will be ordained to the Sacred Order of Priesthood on Wednesday, May 11, at 2:30 p. m. The three congregations he serves in Fulton, Hickman, and Columbus, sincerely invite everyone to attend this inspiring and solemn ceremony.

Ordination (the giving of authority) has taken place since the first century of the Christian Church. By 250 A. D. the Holy Orders of Bishops, Priests, and Deacons was firmly established. The Chief Pastor was the Bishop; his subordinates, who often became his deputies and acted for him, were called Elders, or Presbyters (Priests); men who assisted the bishops or presbyters were called Deacons. The Episcopal Church follows this same practice today.

Diary of Doin's

—Around Fulton—

The News writes social happenings about you and your friends.

Its like we were saying. Spring is here and daylight is early. Its too bad sleep takes up so much time, because folks who take those last precious minutes of shut-eye before the milk-man comes around, really miss a lot. But that's saying most folks miss a lot, because a frisky jaunt to town the other morning, found hardly a corporal's guard around.

We did see Dudley Meacham sauntering down the highway fore six, and even before that Mac Weak, the Pure-Milkman wished us a cheery good morning. Leon Fields, lively as could be was taking off for a trip, we imagine. Titus King was shining on that brass in front of the Fulton Bank like the last million bucks in the bank depended on it being shiny as a new dollar.

Course we came along to the office for some peaceful pecking at the typewriter and didn't see a whole heck of a lot of territory. Did find out from an early rural mail carrier though that not even the mail was distributed at that ungodly hour, so we've almost decided, what's the use of getting up and letting the sun shine in. Hardly anybody's around to share the sun with us.

But one thing though. Bet if we took a little drive out into the rural areas around here we would find as much activity at five-thirty in the a. m. as we would in the city around mid-day. You know what, think we'll do that one of these mornings when energy's bustin' out all over. Think we'll drive out to the Olive farm, the Brucella farm, the Bard farm, the Pewitt farm, the Burnette farm, anyone of those little "patches of vegetation" some morning and see what gives. Likely as how we'll find not a creature at home by the time we get there, it'll probably be "middle of the morning" for them. Or do we have the farm folks figured wrong? Someday we'll see.

Enough of early rising. Its taking us until after breakfast to get that first page done, so maybe we're not so sharp after all.

Early however is the word for the social activity which begins next week at the Country Club. First of a series of get-togethers is the bridge and canasta party, which will be held on Thursday evening, May 5. At the Ladies Day luncheon Tuesday, Ruby McDade urged all of the ladies there to round up the men folks and bring them out to the club for the first party of the season, which is, for free.

Irene Boyd is chairman of the party and says that it would be so much easier for the committee in charge if reservations were made early so that a general idea of the number of persons attending can be had.

The party starts at seven-thirty p. m. at the clubhouse and the number to call for reservations is 735. Assisting Irene with arrangements are: Elizabeth Burrow, Mary Louise Warren, Ruth Callihan and Laverne Varden with the tables and Martha Taylor and Martha Len-ave with the cards and tallies. It will be fun.

The golf course is getting more popular each day and most especially on Tuesdays. Ladies Day this week welcomed back some of the avid golfers who have been off the fairways since last year. Among them were Glad Moore, "little" Martha Moore, as we call her, Gladys Hyland, Judy Brady, Maureen Treas, and some others. Now, these gals probably have been playing golf all these pretty days, but being as how it was our first Ladies Day this year, we'll just say it was their first too. So!

The Hickman girls, as they refer to that bevy of lassies who are members of the Country Club from the county seat, enjoy having their golf leisurely. Often, for reasons of their very own they like to be the last foursome. Well, we want to tell you a story.

Because we had to be home pronto at three ten for Mary Jo to go to Susan Winstead's birthday party, little Martha Moore and this clunk-head golfer played a twosome, so we could make a little speed. For awhile we played with Joy Stokes and Franny Amberg, Martha Hale, as planned, joined Joy and Franny so in order not to break the rules, little Martha and clunk-head took off as a twosome again.

Walking fast as fury, hitting the same way, we encountered a happy threesome. Kathryn Lannon (seems funny to substitute Lannon for Kelly) Charlotte Sanger and Martha Hornsby. This trio started on that monstrosity of a golf hole called Number seven. To those of you who have never seen that ghoulis piece of geography we just want to tell you that its made up of a flat-piece of land, called a "tee" with a crevice in front of the tee called a pond, but which is all the world like the Grand Canyon.

Well anyway, the threesome, which had approached the next sort of comfortable hole called number eight, were most gracious to let us through, as they say in that game. But passing Charlotte Sanger, who looked perplexed, perturbed, and put-out, we asked how the game was going, as they say in that game.

Says she: "I don't know. I shot four balls into the pond and can't get a one of them back."

Now that brings us to the point of the story, which to the men golfers may seem pointless to say. But it is the studied opinion of some female golfers that new roughs, new boundaries, new canyons, new rules, etc. were devised for the main purpose of discouraging golf among the ladies. But... we speak here authoritatively, that such new monkey-business will only lead to difficulty for the perpetrators, for the rougher the game, the more determined the women are to master the game, so that's that.

The American Legion Auxiliary is planning to have another float in the big Clean-up, Fix-up parade to be held in Fulton again this year. The Auxiliary always has such an unusual float and the girls seem to have such a good time riding in it. Wilma Jean Browder has been made chairman of the committee to dream up sumpin' different and you know it will be.

At the meeting held last week Mrs. Bob Harris presented an interesting talk to the members present.

Martha Wiggins Call advised that we made a grave error in commenting on her single tulip bloom. She said that there really were two of them, but one sort of pooped over and wilted. We gladly make the correction for such an oversight. But the lady who will not correct a tulip statement is Mrs. Carl Reed in the Highlands, who has more beautiful yellow tulip blooms now showing than most other gardens in Fulton.

By their fates you shall know them was the keynote at a dinner for Miss Jane Meacham who has resigned her position with the South Fulton School effective with the end of school. Mrs. Mansfield Martin and Mrs. Hugh Pique dreamed up place cards for the guests which were identifiable by the pictures on the cards.

The dinner for Miss Meacham was held at the Gateway Restaurant in Martin and was tendered by the faculty of the school.

Those attending were—Miss Meacham, the honoree, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Burrow, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Pique, Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield Martin, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Finch, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roman, Mrs. Mildred Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Phipps.

The Beethoven Club, a group of talented and up and coming musicians held its annual election of officers and they are:

President, Rita Kramer; Vice-President, Carol McNeilly; Secretary, Sonja Babb; Treasurer, Nancy Bushart; and Program Chairman, Ophelia Speight.

Nancy Bushart presided in the absence of the president Sidney Callahan.

Darlene Roberts is ten years old. And how that little lady has grown into young ladyhood. And just because everybody was happy about the whole thing Darlene's aunt Mrs. Raymond Fortner baked her a super-elegant birthday cake and Darlene was honored with a birthday party. She is the daughter of Mrs. Chip Roberts.

During the afternoon of the party games were played and given prizes were Judy Stanfield and Cathy Campbell.

The young guests were served refreshments of ice cream, cake and Coca-Colas.

Those present were Pamela Homra, Sheila St. John, Julia Wood, Freida Yates, Craig St. John, Judy Owens, Wanda Dean Cash, Linda Snow, Fay Crocker, Loretta Kay Starks, Nancy Lynn Sisson, Susan Ann Hogg, Paula Sue Province, Cathey Campbell, Sandra Lee Holt, Judy Stanfield, Jimmy Clark, Mary Bondurant and Jeffrey Smith.

Mrs. Herman St. John, Mrs. Robert St. John and Mrs. Newton Smith assisted the hostess in serving.

After 31 years as state leader of the University of Kentucky's home demonstration program, Miss Myrtle Weldon has resigned, effective as of July 1. Dean Frank J. Welch of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, in commenting upon her resignation, said: "It will indeed be difficult to find a replacement for Miss Weldon who, with a warm understanding of the farm and rural women, unusual vision of a program to meet their needs and wants, excellent organizational ability, and a cooperative relationship with co-workers, has built an educational program for Kentucky homemakers of which we are very proud. While we regret losing Miss Weldon, we wish for her good health, and a long continuation of her keen enjoyment in things and people."

Under the direction of Mrs. Silas Jones, bingo was played. The hostess served refreshments of sandwiches, pie, ice cream and drinks to 14 members and one visitor, Mrs. Fredonia Moss.

Clinton Gazette Challenges News Editorial And Attempts To Set The Record Straight

At last we know the basis for the charge of "double-cross" hurled at the leaders of the Kentucky delegation concerning the vice-presidential candidacy of Alben Barkley.

Erl Sensing, a hard-hitting, most of times very sound, always a brilliant editor, sets forth the basis in an editorial appearing in last week's Clinton Gazette.

Mr. Sensing, challenges us to reprint his editorial. We need no challenge. We are happy to reprint it because it makes even stronger our long-time contention that actually there was no double-cross at all.

If Mr. Barkley's own words, which Mr. Sensing refers to from Mr. Barkley's book, "That Reminds Me", are to be construed as a double-cross then Mr. Barkley's beloved friend, Leslie Biffle side-tracked him. Then Harry Truman, whose home-State Missouri, later nominated Mr. Barkley, side-tracked him. Then Lawrence Wetherby and Doc Beauchamp, who gave their all to Mr. Barkley in the Veep's campaign for the Senate, double-crossed him.

Indeed, we're happy to print the editorial. It tells far better than we can that the whole double-cross is a thing that some folks, now seeking office, wish had happened, but didn't.

But Mr. Sensing, our editorial stating that Mr. Chandler attempted to bolt the party for Senator Russell has not been denied by Mr. Chandler, or affirmed either. We asked him to do one or the other and he remains silent. What do you make of that? And now, from The Clinton Gazette.

"That Reminds Me -" Of The Facts

While it is not our policy to enter into any controversy with another newspaper, there comes a time when it is prudent to lay policy aside for a little while, and get the facts straight. This we shall do now - with our apologies to those readers of ours who are not yet familiar with the matter in dispute.

As an explanation to our readers, let us first say that a couple of weeks ago we reprinted, as it is our practice, from time to time, an editorial from another newspaper. This particular editorial was taken from the Carlisle County News and, in part, referred to Senator Barkley's cavalier (we use the word in its ugly adjective sense) treatment at the Democratic convention in Chicago in 1952.

The gist of the Carlisle County News' comment was that the present administration in Frankfort (Lawrence Wetherby and others - to call names here - Earle C. Clements and Emerson "Doc" Beauchamp) had withdrawn their support from then Vice President Barkley in his bid for the presidential nomination.

Last week the editors of the Fulton County News saw fit to point to the editorial as we had reprinted it, and label it as a lie. Certain other charges were hurled, but they were so asinine (that word has only one meaning - stupid) that we do not believe them worthy of answer, but they could be answered quickly and emphatically with facts.

We should like to refer the editors of the Fulton County News to a book published in 1954 by Doubleday & Company of Garden City, New York. It is assumed that nearly all Kentuckians have read this book. We recommend it highly to those who have, and to those who have not yet read it.

The book we speak of was written by Alben W. Barkley and is entitled "That Reminds Me -".

We should like to refer the editors of the Fulton County News specifically to pages 241 and 242 of "That Reminds Me -" as a part of a chapter headed "What Happened in Chicago."

The next to the last paragraph on page 241 begins, "On the opening morning of the convention Governor Stevenson, in officially welcoming the convention to Illinois, made an excellent speech that stirred up much enthusiasm." (That is quoted to place the time.)

The last paragraph on page 241, and as continued on page 242 reads, along with several following paragraphs, as follows - and we quote verbatim:

"Late that afternoon I had some callers. I was visited by Senate Secretary Biffle and by Kentucky Senator Earle Clements, Governor Lawrence Wetherby and Lieutenant Governor Beauchamp. All had been active in urging my candidacy, and Biffle, as I have related, had arranged the conference at the White House a week earlier, when I had been told I would be the Administration's candidate. They came to tell me that the labor statement was having an adverse effect on delegates from the big industrial states who had been counted on to support me.

"Do I understand that you come here to urge me to withdraw?" I asked.

"That, they answered, was the way it was."

We should like to know where one of the editors of the Fulton County News, who served as a delegate to that convention, was when this conversation was taking place. We should also like to know how it comes about that now, almost three years later, she still does not know what was said and done in that conversation.

Could it be that she was a small cog in the "Clements machine" who did only what she was told to do?

force of terrible devastation or of tremendous prosperity.

OUR PRAYERS ALONE may make an important difference in one of their decisions. How important it is that we constantly pray that those men are dominated at all times by a sense of faith, wisdom, justice and prudence.

We can exert an influence for peace by praying for the President of the United States. He needs the help of God that he may have at all times the courage and strength to fulfill his tremendous obligations to all the people in the United States and thus help bring peace to this troubled world of ours.

WE CAN PRAY also for officials, whether local, state or national, who have the responsibility of maintaining the law and order that is the basis of peace. If we really want peace in the whole world, we will not overlook a single opportunity to attain our goal. Prayer is at the top of the list.

God won't force His assistance upon us. He leaves us free to take it or leave it. The decision is squarely up to us. Time and again He has told us through His revealed word that His immeasurable resources for peace are at our disposal. But we must ask for them.

CHRIST HIMSELF said, "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and you shall find; knock, and it shall be opened to you." Can we sincerely claim that we want peace, if we fail to ask God's aid to attain it?

Men of the noblest dispositions think themselves happiest when others share their happiness with them.

William Duncan

Let's Go To The Bond Concert Friday!

The teaching staffs of Fulton and South Fulton High schools contain one man whose job is a little bit different, and perhaps a little bit more frustrating and unappreciated than most anybody else in the two groups.

His hard work, his eagerness to do the same satisfying job that the rest do, his efforts to build a good organization and maintain it against continual "outside" diversionary interests usually result in a very fleeting few weeks of happiness toward the end of the year, at best. Sometimes they fail to materialize in much satisfaction at all - depending on the aptitude, training and endeavor of his students.

We refer, of course to the job of Band Director.

We know Arthur Roman personally as a good musician capable of making good musicians out of high school students, and we think that Fulton and South Fulton have been fortunate in securing the services of the Romans. We know from personal experience that building a good band in a small school must first start with training kids in grade school in order to maintain a good up-and-coming crop of musicians to fill the places of the graduates every year.

Not having such a young-trained "junior" group to fall back on when he came to Fulton and South Fulton two years ago, Mr. Roman's job has been a tough assignment that has grown tougher with the graduation of his good musicians, trained under capable Yewell Harrison. Since we admire him as a capable musician we have therefore hoped he would stick it out until the grade-schoolers he started training his first year developed into a good band nucleus - and we join many other parents in expressing our pleasure that he will be back next year to continue his band-building.

Mr. Roman has about three capable trumpet players in his band this year - but to show you the kind of band he is building, we counted sixteen (16) young people in his trumpet beginner's class back in the winter that will be the foundation for a rip-roaring band in a few more years.

It's a job that requires years of painstaking effort in a small school. The job of teaching youngsters how to play instruments when they often have their mind on everything else under the sun is one that also takes appreciation and understanding from parents. The student rarely appreciates the efforts on his behalf until he is able to either commercialize on his training (an opportunity that comes to few in high school) or else perform in public.

Next Friday evening the musical groups of Fulton High School will give a public performance of their accomplishments, and we hope that all of the parents and well-wishing citizens of the area will show up for it. Nothing gives both director and students more impetus to perform than a good audience - and the spark of gratefulness thus generated carries many a band director through the delicate and painstaking job of building a new and better organization with his young replacements the following fall.

Times marches on - and if at times I happen to be a little behind I try to eventually catch up. Last Saturday at 3 p. m. I got out the old push mower and resigned myself to struggling with a landscape a foot-high with lush grass and weeds. Been doing the same thing for all these years. With grass as high as ours was, it usually takes about 5 hours and all the patience accumulated for a week. Started cutting, perspiring, and using up patience. After fifteen minutes gave up, wheeled the old mower into a final resting place in the garage and headed for town.

Was back in 30 minutes with a new rotary-type power mower that I had been eyeing downtown, lovingly - and it made me love it a hundred times as much before the sun set. In the short span of an hour and a half I had cut the front yard, side yards, back yard and garden area slick-as-a-whistle with grass blowing out the little chute on the side like smoke comes out the OK laundry stack in the morning. Not only saved my back and my patience, but am eager for the grass to get high again!

Brother, these rotary-type power mowers are wonderful.

Local business modernization continues on its merry way this week, with Pure Milk Company preparing to move its offices over in the former NEWS building on Lake Street extended, and overhead receiving tanks and other things going up over the plant on Fourth Street. The new office arrangement will provide lots more space and convenience. Cecil Wade has finished his store-front and interior modernization on Main Street and the place looks dandy. The Flks Club is completing a new nice-looking entrance on Lake Street, minus the old sagging canopy. KU, next door, is busy with final work on their new front and interior, all of which is going to be pretty sight indeed. Graham Furniture is working diligently on lots of interior displays and one of these days promises to exhibit everything with an "open house".

Was sitting around swapping yarns with a couple of local merchants Monday, and with business being somewhat quiet that it is, talk got around to methods of selling by-gone tricks of the trade. They got a laugh out of the story about the old-time merchant in Water Valley (previously related here) wherein the cagey merchant "accidentally" left a coin purse (containing 10c and some wadded paper) in a new topcoat and made a quick sale after relating to his customer that he had lent the coat to a Fulton banker only the night before - and came up with a couple of good ones themselves.

Back during the last depression business was had and the old clothing merchant was having a hard time of it, but he made a lot of sales despite the times by pretending to be quite deaf, and here's the routine: Customer walks in and says "Good morning." Merchant, placing hand to ear: "Eh?"

Customer: "A good morning to you!"

Merchant: "Oh, yes it is a fine morning."

Customer: "What have you today in men's suits?"

Merchant: "Eh? . . . I can't hear very well."

Customer: "Men's suits . . . let's see some."

Merchant: "Oh, men's suits . . . right over here."

Customer: "This is a nice looking suit. What is it's price?"

Merchant: "Eh? . . . did you ask the price?"

Customer: "Yes . . . how much is this suit?"

Merchant (yelling over to an assistant): "Hey Joe, how much do we get for these suits over here?"

Joe: "$75.00".

Merchant, turning to customer: "$40.00".

Customer: "OK, I'll take it."

Merchant: "Now let's go over here and measure the pants so we can get them fitted, and try on the coat."

Customer: "No, that's all right, I'm in a hurry. I'll take them just as they are. No need to wrap them or anything." And with that he plunked down $40, grabbed up the suit and left. That, my friends, is one way of selling a $40 suit for full price when times are tough.

Another method didn't work quite as well.

A certain manufacturer had 1000 men's suits on hand and couldn't sell 'em at all, the market was so bad . . . so he hit on an idea that sounded pretty good. He picked out about 75 of his best accounts, bundled up 13 suits in each bundle and shipped them. On the same day he wrote all 75 accounts that he was shipping them a dozen suits on approval and hoped they would place them in their stocks for sale.

Next week or two he received replies from all 75 merchants stating that they did not find the dozen suits satisfactory and were returning them - and when the shipments arrived back at the factory each one had 12 suits in it.

And then there's the story of the old merchant who went in the bank one morning with a $1000 bill and had it converted into small change. That night he took the small change back and got his bill back. Next morning he again appeared at the bank with the $1000 bill and again had it converted into small change. That evening he returned with the change and got his bill back.

The routine continued on for a week.

Finally the patience of the bank teller ran out. "Why," he asked, "do you come in here and get change in the morning, and turn right around the same evening and bring it back?"

"Well," grinned the old fellow, "one of these days some body is going to make a mistake, and it ain't gonna be me."

CHESTNUT GLADE HOME DEMONSTRATION HOLD MAY MEETING

Chestnut Glade Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Milburn Conner for the regular May meeting with Mrs. L. F. Burke as co-hostess.

After the president called the house to order and read the thought of the day, "a good thing to remember and better to do, is work with the construction crew, not with the wrecking crew. A recreational contest was conducted by Mrs. L. F. Burke which created quite a bit of merriment. Mrs. Edna Strong led the group in singing, "When You and I were Young Maggie." A very inspiring devotional was given by Mrs. Harvey Vaughan who also worded the prayer.

Seventeen members answered the roll call stating whether or not they would enter their garden in the contest. One new member Mrs. Dewey Grisson was added to the roll. Mrs. Lon Watts and Mrs. Vick Henderson were welcomed visitors. Due to illness of the assistant Home Agent Miss Sneed, Miss Odom was meeting the 4-H clubs and could not be present.

During the business session a committee was appointed to decide in what way the club would recognize National Home Demonstration week the first week in May.

A contribution was made to the cancer drive.

Helpful demonstration reports were given by the Home Furnishing leader Mrs. S. C. Atkinson, Mrs. J. T. Simpson the garden leader gave some timely suggestions and Mrs. V. C. Simpson the clothing leader created much interest by demonstrating the making of a bias tie from a straight piece of material.

The hostess served a dainty party plate and cold drinks. The May meeting will be in the home of Mrs. S. C. Atkinson. Visitors are cordially invited and members are expected.

Sorry to report that the sick in the community are improved with Doug Gibbs suffering with a congested lung and Mrs. Thomas much worse on Sunday but a little better at this writing.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mr. Sam Cooley who passed away Monday after a long illness and the past two weeks a patient at the Jones Hospital in a very critical condition.

PALESTINE HOMEMAERS ENJOY APRIL MEETING FRIDAY, APRIL 15

A delicious and informative time was spent by the members of the Palestine Homemakers Club Friday, April 15, when they had the privilege of hearing an informative talk by Mrs. Don Henry of Hickman, who told them about flower arrangements.

Mrs. Henry stressed the fact that a flower garden is a wonderful hobby for homemakers. She used charts to illustrate the foundation and requirements for flower arrangement.

She expressed that in fixing arrangements of flowers one must keep in mind the exact place and room the flowers are to be used.

Mrs. Henry held her audience spellbound and members will certainly benefit from her visit.

The club members also had an unusual pleasure in entertainment, when the president, Mrs. Frank Stroud presented Mrs. Daisy Terry, who substituted for Mrs. Harry Murphy, reading chairman.

Mrs. Terry read a collection of favorite poems, by well known poets. She forcibly brought out the beauty and wisdom of each poem.

Mr. Bertha agent conducted the recreation which was enjoyed very much.

After a delicious lunch, served by the hostess, Mrs. Hillman Collier and Mrs. Jamie Wade, the leaders gave the lesson on accessories. Several dresses were brought for study and much enthusiasm was shown in this project.

The club adjourned to meet in May for an afternoon meeting.

CLOTHING LEADERS HAVE PROGRAM AT "Y" HOMEMAERS

A meeting of the "Y" Homemakers Club was held April 18, at the Logeston Community House. The meeting was enjoyed by all who attended.

A very interesting event of the day was the major project lesson so ably given by the Clothing leaders Mrs. Abner Deament and Mrs. Wilson Evans.

The president, Mrs. Henry Walker, gave a report on the advisory council. The annual district meeting held at Murray on April 21 was discussed. The club voted to donate $5.00 to the Cancer drive.

The next meeting will be held on May 16 at the Logeston Community House.

W.C.S. OF THE RUSH CREEK METHODIST CHURCH HOLDS MEET AT CHURCH

The roll was called and minutes were read by the secretary and approved. The program was then turned over to Mrs. Lewis Atwill and she gave some more of the book, "Christianity and Wealth."

There were twelve members present and one visitor, Mrs. J. F. McMinn.

The meeting was dismissed and the hostesses, Mrs. Albert Jones and Mrs. John Jones served cold drinks and ritz for refreshments, which was enjoyed by everyone.

ILLINOIS WOMAN DIES INSTANTLY IN AUTO CRASH

Union City Man Severely Injured In Hi-way 51 Wreck

Jimmy Conner, 18, an employee of the Photo Shop in Union City, was reported in satisfactory condition at Haws Memorial hospital in Fulton, where he was taken after suffering a fractured skull and other injuries in an auto collision at noon last Thursday.

Killed in the crash, which occurred in front of the Little Breezy cafe on Highway 51, eight miles northeast of Union City, was Mrs. Lora Chamness Smith, 63, a resident of Creal Springs, Ill., near Carbondale, who was riding in a car driven by her husband, Clay Smith, 66, a retired mail carrier, also injured in the accident.

Both the Conner automobile, a 1954 Nash Rambler four-door, and the Smith' 1951 Chevrolet were a total loss. The vehicles were taken to the Sam Davis garage.

State Officer Tom Kilpatrick said Mr. Smith had started to make a left turn into the city grounds when Conner's auto traveling southwest toward Union City, topped the hill and hit the right front of the Smith car, almost head-on.

The driveway to the restaurant is near the crest of the hill and Conner apparently could not see the Smith car, which probably had already pulled into his lane of traffic, until it was too late to stop, the officer said. Several accidents have occurred at this same spot.

Mr. Smith told Mr. Kilpatrick his automobile was going only 5 or 10 miles an hour at the time of the crash. Conner estimated his speed at from 55 to 60 miles per hour.

Mrs. Smith, who died instantly of head and chest injuries, was thrown from the automobile into the pavement. Her body was taken to the Whitnel Funeral Home in Fulton and was returned last night by the Cosby Funeral Home to Creal Springs, where services were held.

Mr. Smith, who suffered a concussion and a fracture of his left shoulder, was taken by ambulance to Haws Memorial hospital in Fulton. He was dismissed at noon today in order to go to Creal Springs for his wife's funeral, but was to enter a Carbondale hospital after the services.

EDWIN BONDURANT RECEIVES AWARD FOR HEROIC WORK

"Ham" Operator Assists In Aid During Hurricanes

Edwin A. Bondurant, 44 Maple, Fulton, is one of more than 1,200 licensed radio amateurs named to receive a certificate of merit for emergency service during the 1954 hurricanes.

The citations were voted by the judges of the annual Edison Radio Amateur Award sponsored by General Electric's tube department. In granting the hurricane citations, the judges pointed out that an unparalleled number of amateur radio operators joined in setting up emergency radio networks during hurricanes "Carol," "Edna" and "Hazel." The judges based their action on field reports compiled by the American Radio Relay League. Commendation also was extended to "the many radio amateurs who spent long hours standing by to help if needed but whose hurricane vigils unfortunately are unrecorded."

Award judges were E. Roland Harriman, president, American National Red Cross; Val Peterson, Federal Civil Defense Administrator; Commissioner Edward M. Webster, Federal Communications Commission; and Goudwin L. Dosland, president, American Radio Relay League.

LOUISVILLE MEDICAL SCHOOL HAS PLACES FOR 26 STUDENTS

Freshman Class In September To Have Openings

The University of Louisville School of Medicine announced yesterday it has openings for 26 more Kentucky students in the freshman class entering next September.

Dr. J. Murray Kinsman, dean of the school, said that places have been made available for 124 qualified students for the 1955 entering class.

The plan aims at supplying more doctors for Kentucky, he explained. Only Kentucky students will be accepted for the remaining vacant places Dr. Kinsman said. The dean said that a few years ago, there were four applicants to American medical schools for every one accepted. But the number of applicants has dropped so sharply that many medical schools are having difficulty filling their classes.

Ordinarily, applications for the University of Louisville School of Medicine are not accepted after December 31 of each year. But this year, Dr. Kinsman said, applications will be taken to the last possible moment to allow Kentuckians to apply. Persons interested should write to the Admissions Office, University of Louisville School of Medicine, for an application blank.

CHORAL CLUB TO HIGHLIGHT EVENING OF MUSIC EVENT

Favorite Songs To Be Rendered By Popular Group

Music lovers in this vicinity are eagerly awaiting the Evening of Music which is sponsored each May by the Music Department of the Woman's Club in observance of National Music Week.

The date is set for Tuesday night, May 10th and an outstanding program is being planned under the direction of Mrs. J. O. Lewis, chairman for this event.

One of the high lights of the program will be several choral numbers to be presented by the Civic Choral Club of Fulton, which made its initial appearance last May and was received with enthusiasm and praise by the large crowd attending.

This group also presented a program of Christmas music sponsored by the Woman's Club and again sang to a packed house. The program will begin with the chorus singing a very beautiful and appropriate selection "Search for Spring" by Talmadge. This will be followed by the well known and beloved "Sylvia" by Ole Speaks. The second group will include Fred Waring's choral arrangement of "No Man is an Island" by Kraemer and "Sunrise and Sunset" by Spross, featuring Mr. James Mullenix, baritone soloist. The concluding number will be the lulling and rollicking "Happy Wanderer" (Val-De-Ri-Val-De-Ra) by Moller.

The Civic Choral Club is under the direction of Mrs. M. W. Haws and is composed of the following singers: SOPRANOS: Mrs. Charles Gregory, Mrs. J. O. Lewis, Mrs. H. N. Strong, Mrs. Hendon Wright, Mrs. Nelson Tripp, Mrs. Margaret Sundwick, Miss Beverly Hill, Miss Melinda Powell and Miss Margaret Cashion.

ALTOS: Miss Nancy Adams, Miss Carol Wilkey, Miss Andy DeMyer, Mrs. Fred Jolley, Mrs. Walter Voelpel, Mrs. Charles R. Bennett, and Mrs. J. D. Laidla. Tenors: C. H. Warren, Jimmy Warren, J. C. Suggs, Vyrion Mitchell, Bobby Newton and Jerry Coates.

BASSES: H. E. Boyd, David Daniels, Ted Hudson, Kelly Lowe, Tillman Adams and James Mullenix.

The accompanist for the choral numbers will be Mrs. Arthur Roman.

The chorus numbers will be interspersed with vocal and instrumental solos.

If you love good music, set this date aside as a "must" on your list. Tuesday, May 10th plan to be at the Woman's Club building early if you expect to get a seat. The program will begin at 8:00 p. m.

PATRICIA LATANE

Dear Pat:
I lost my watch. Can you tell me where I lost it or has someone found it?

yours
L. G. M.

Dear L. G. M.:
You lost your watch in the dime store and it was found by a negro.

Dear Pat:
I would like for you to answer a few questions for me.

Where will I secure a position for next year? What type of work? Who got the money that I lost last summer. Where was it found. Who do you think will get the position that I now hold? Do you think I would be happy living in Fulton?

Thank You
F. V. S.

Dear F. V. S.:
You will get a job at the picture show for this summer. The girl that was with you got the money you lost. The girl that will be given the position you now hold will not be able to hold it. You can be happy living in Fulton if you made up your mind to like it.

Dear Pat:

This is my first time to write you. Sure hope you can help me. My oldest son lost his class ring or did some one get it? My youngest son lost a good coat. Please tell me who got my Nylon uniform? Sure hope you can help me. Thanks a lot.

C. S.

Dear S. C.:

They were all three gotten by the same person and this person is a girl who is either working for you, or who is visiting in your home quite a bit. She has not destroyed them. If you get after her she will return them.

Dear Pat:

I have written to you before and now I want you to answer some more questions for me? Does my son have a girl friend? Does my son like J. M.? How long will we live at the place we are now? Will we move to the country? How long will my husband work at his present job?

Thank you
L. B. S.

What is my husband's middle initial?

Dear L. B. S.:
Yes, your son has a girl friend. Yes, your likes J. M., but that's all. No, you will not move anytime in the near future. Your husband will work several years yet. Your husband's middle initial is L.

A REPORT TO THE PUBLIC ON THE TELEPHONE STRIKE

Southern Bell deeply appreciates the efforts made by the Governors to settle the telephone strike.

We regret that we were not able to convince those who represented the union that the company's proposal for increased wages, expanded arbitration, and other contract improvements is fair and liberal. It protects the interests of the public, the employees and the company.

We will continue our efforts to convince union leaders of its benefits and advantages.

We hope we will be successful.

In the meantime, telephone service continues good.

Over 30,000 telephone men and women are on the job.

More are returning every day.

We are handling our normal volume of long distance calls. Local service 85 per cent dial-operated, and in the other cities and towns where operators handle the calls, the service is generally normal. Over the south, the messages are going through.

This would not be possible without the great encouragement and co-operation given us by telephone users everywhere, and by the skill and spirit of telephone folks on the job. To both groups go our warmest thanks.

1. Flintkote Insulated Siding never requires paint. How much will that save you per year?
2. Your fuel bills may be reduced as much as 25%. What will that save?
3. Siding that may be applied to old siding will burn out harshness.

THE NEW LOOK IN DAIRYING

It seems that everything has to have some kind of look to be in style. Well, I will say the dairyman has a new look now.
This new look is the elevated milking system. It has been in operation in West Kentucky for some time, but now the small dairyman has a chance to have the new system at a low cost.
Two dairymen that have elevated systems in the southwest section of Graves County Kentucky are very pleased with them. In fact Mr. Henry Conner near Pilot Oak told me yesterday that at first he would not take $500.00 and not have his new system; now Mr. Conner says, "The price just went up 100%; I have used it so long
I couldn't take $1000.00 for it."
Mr. Conner built his with old brick and in the shed of his barn. When it comes to cost Mr.
Conner said, "I think I have about $35.00 in the system." This does not include his new milker.

Mr. Lynn Gravette over close to Fulham has a V type elevated system and he too is very satisfied with the new look. Mr.
Gravette said, "I just wouldn't take anything for this new milk house." Mr. Gravette's system cost him about $350.00.
Mr. Joe Woodson who lives
East of Mayfield has a new system and it cost him $800.00 and this includes a Cow To Can milker. Joe says, "I just don't see how I ever got along without it." Joe hired most of his work on his system. All these dairymen sell to Pet Milk Co.
They are doing the job easier and getting more and cleaner milk than ever before.

A NEW DAIRYMAN

farm and is ready to get started.

received the list of names from each of the schools, with the authorization permits attached. They called each child by name and Mrs. Ernest Fall, Jr. escorted them to the doctor. In the afternoon Mrs. Alex. Laneave and Mrs. James Willingham assisted.

In that small cubby-hole of an office, which soon will no longer be a health office come the new Health Center, efficiency was at its greatest peak.

Mrs. Eula Gordon was first to meet the children and had a cheering word to say to them as she swabbed their arms with alcohol. Dr. Harrell, seated at a porcelain topped table, with several sterilized syringes placed on towels all ready for use, picked one of them up and with another reassuring word, administered the vaccine and soon a happy child zoomed through that small passageway to tell the kids, "aw, it didn't hurt at all."

Behind Dr. Harrell as he gave the shots was Miss Mary Henline.

Her calm manner and her know-how in preparing the vaccine was a marvel to all who watched her work. Carefully she opened the bottle of the vaccine containing nine shots; she filled the syringe with five shots from the bottle; she removed the needle from the syringe and put a new, sterilized needle on it when the shot was given, she took the old needle and put it in the sterilizer; she kept everything going like a clock and never once did she notice that all around her were kids snickering, kids whispering, adults walking in and out right in view of her eyesight.

At Dr. Harrell's finger-tips was the ready syringe and only once did the flow of children catch up with Miss Henline's supply of syringes ready. She did a wonderful job.

Proudest man there was Robert Burrow, whose work and that of others with the March of Dimes chapter here made the vaccine possible. Mr. Burrow drove to Paducah, Saturday to get the local supply and it was on hand, Monday, ready for the inoculations.

It was a deeply impressive occasion to this reporter. It was solemn from a point of medical achievement. It was comforting from the rigors of fear. Undoubtedly there was a prayer of thanksgiving on the lips of every parent who sent their children to the clinic, for here was the conqueror of crippling polio administered to the children of this community.

The personnel of the health department wishes to take this means to thank all those who participated in the clinic on Tuesday, for all, they said, contributed greatly to the efficiency with which the vaccine was administered.

Church require, in keeping with ancient tradition, that no one be admitted to Holy Orders without the testimony of both clergy and lay people that the candidate is worthy of the Ministry by virtue of his character and education. The candidate must pass a Board of Examining Chaplains who test him on every aspect of the Ministry, such as Theology, Church History, Holy Scriptures, Preaching, Pastoral Work, etc.; he must also pass the Standing Committee of his diocese, made up of clergy and lay people who consider his life and character, and he must be approved by the local parish church out of which he comes.

In the Rite of Ordination, the Bishop lays his hands on the head of the person to be ordained and thereby confers the authority of the whole Church on him to preach and to teach the Word of God as contained in the Holy Bible.

The ceremony of Ordination to the Priesthood is an impressive one, and one in which, the three congregations feel sure, you will want to have a part.

In going through the paper, I was impressed with Jo's presentation with regard to the Dunn case. I would imagine that there should not be any such procedure in the Fulton County courts for a long time to come.

The writer is chairman of the Military Affairs Committee of the Louisville Chamber of Commerce and in that position can appreciate the editorial regarding reserve training.

Looking forward to seeing you at Cumberland Falls and with kindest personal regards, I am,
