Note Book

Now we know! The Joe Fuller traffic arrest story, carried over the Associated Press wire service, was sent in by the local news reporter for the local daily paper, that paper said last week. Sure glad that fact was made crystal-clear.

Had the story been picked up from the News, which carried a detailed story, the man mentioned in the AP story might have recognized himself.

The man involved in the case was Harry Leroy Dodson, of Salem, Illinois, as reported in the News. NOT Happy Dodson of Salem, Illinois, as reported by the AP, UP, Sun - Democrat, Courier - Journal and Commercial Appeal correspondent.

So let's talk about some more inaccuracies or better still, confusion. It's all Ed Sullivan's fault that Ethel McDaniel has turned researcher. It goes like this:

At the beginning of the dancing classes mothers were told that a specific garment was desirable for the children in which to do their lessons, acrobatics and gymnastics. In my youth I would see the close-fitting, very brief garment and would just say that a person had on tights and let it go at that. Today after all these years I learn that "tights" isn't the description at all... they're something that I will spell dubiously as l-e-o-t-a-r-d. I say that I will spell it dubiously, because Webster, The National Encyclopedia, the Columbia Encyclopedia and a French dictionary have no such word listed. While it hasn't bothered me too much, I was intermittently curious about the word.

Ed Sullivan came along Sunday night with his mention of the fact that a Frenchman, in the middle nineteenth century, by the name of Leonard, made the first trapeze jump in Europe.

Well, well, well, says I to my feeble self, so that's where that close-fitting monkey suit got its name... from the fellow who first wore one. Between commercials I went to the dictionary to prove my simple deduction and that's when it started.

Leonard, Liotard, Liotodd, Liotarr, nothing was listed, so I figured as how Ethel McDaniel goes up to dancing classes often so she ought to know. I called her. Ethel is now the foremost authority on French trapeze-jumpers, Russian ballet-dancers, dance regalia, artists, writers, and dressmakers, but she still doesn't know how to spell whatever that get-up is and we're offering a fur-lined leotard to the person who can show us in some book the correct spelling, its derivation, its origin or anything about the garment.

I had the occasion to be in a book shop since Sunday and I asked them about THAT WORD. The ladies are still looking too. It wasn't in Webster's latest unabridged, it wasn't in a French dictionary, a Russian dictionary, in Latin or in Braille. As far as I'm concerned it just ain't and even Rosemary Peterson's pronunciation and spelling cannot be substantiated.

If you have nothing else to do why not help us find out about this thing? If you don't know, write to five of your friends and enclose a sample of the garment. Tell the friends to keep the garment you send them have them go out and buy five more and send a letter and the garments to five of their friends and ask them to add their name to the bottom of the list. Be sure the garments are mailed in separate boxes of five inches by inches with your own address and three one-half cent stamps pinned on the right shoulder of the costume. If the stamps are on the left shoulder the charm and the chain will be broken and you'll have to spend the rest of your life dancing in shorts.

If you find the spelling of the name you will become the best out-fitted dancer in the world, if you dance, and you find out how to spell that little skin-tight, banana-fitting, half knitted garment.

A Very Happy Day!

That's what we wish for our friend and neighbor George C. Hall, who will be 87 years young on Sunday. Not as active as he used to be, but just as busy, is this grand and beloved man.

JOAN CISELL, 18, WINS PRIZE FOR LETTER-WRITING

Young Lady Tells Meaning Of Christmas

Joan Cissell, 18, of Fulton County, has won $15 first prize in the letter contest on "What Christmas Means to Me," sponsored by the Progressive Farmer. Joan's letter appears in the December issue.

"The wisest and haughtiest become simple and humble enough to learn from the newborn Babe His message of love," she writes. "That's what Christmas means to me!"

Her complete letter follows:

Birth of a Babe
($15 prize)

Carols of angels, royal Wise Men adoring with humility equal to that of dumb-stricken shepherds, the birth of "peace on earth, good will toward men." Smiles are a little brighter, children are better, love of fellowman is sincerely expressed.

We are more forgiving, less demanding, the Scrooge in us takes a "back seat" to the spirit of Tiny Tim. The wisest and haughtiest become simple and humble enough to learn from the newborn Babe His message of love—that's what Christmas is to me!

Counce Elected In South Fulton; Solid Negro Vote Faces Defeat

BUSINESS HOUSES, APARTMENTS SUFFER FROM FIRE DAMAGE

$30,000 Loss Reported From Monday's Blaze

A disastrous Monday evening fire in downtown Fulton caused an estimated $30,000 in damage, ruined a two-story building and forced three businesses to seek other quarters temporarily, besides leaving two apartments in ruins.

The fire reportedly started when a kerosene cooking stove exploded in the apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Boyd, located on Church Street over the Fulton Paint and Glass Company, and quickly spread to a neighboring apartment occupied by...

ried by Mrs. Maude Doriot and her sister, Miss Mabel Sandling. All fire-fighting equipment in Fulton and South Fulton responded to the alarm, which endangered a major business section of Fulton. Prompt and efficient use of manpower and equipment prevented the fire from spreading across firewalls to the east and west, and kept it confined within the two affected buildings. The second (Continued on Page 4)

Everything seemed normal enough in South Fulton on Tuesday. It was election day. A December sun came out early and shone brightly most of the voting hours.

Eleven candidates, three for Mayor and eight for City Council appeared at the polls early, fortified with campaign cards, winning smiles, and hopes for victory.

On the face of it, it was an election for city offices like most every other city in America conducts every four years or so.

But actually the election in South Fulton Tuesday was unlike municipal elections held around here in the past. For the second time in four years a South Fulton city election has been held amidst an undercurrent of tension.

Though the race problem is not as acute here as in other Southern cities, and desegregation is something to be reckoned with sometime later, the Tennessee residents were a little more than apprehensive that a Negro might serve on the heretofore all-white City Administration. In spite of the precautions taken earlier in the campaign that this would not happen, on Tuesday all was not comfort and ease.

For the second time two Negroes have submitted their candidacies for City Councilmen of the fast growing little city across the border in Tennessee.

And for the second time the Negroes went through the motions of campaigning and hauling voters to the polls with a better than three-to-one vote against them a definite outcome.

They lost their races as was expected.

The "lost-before-the-race-started" came about as a result of a mock election held in South Fulton where all fifteen of the white candidates submitted their candidacies to an unofficial balloting to select six white men to run against the two Negroes. There are six members of the South Fulton City Council and one Mayor. The population ratio in South Fulton is approximately 25% Negro and 75% White.

The City Hall in South Fulton was the scene of the balloting. The clearly lighted Council Room of the municipal building was used by election officials. A table was set up in the large room to examine the ballot applications and to hand out the ballots. At the door of the council room a large table was set up where two ladies verified the voting status of the local citizens. Ballot booths were placed along two walls and as Dudley Morris, the election official called out the names of the qualified voters they repaired to the booths to mark their ballots.

There was an air of segregated de-segregation. The Negro voters were treated with as much courtesy as the white voters. Here and there pleasant smiles were passed with "Uncle Jim" and "Auntie Mary," but there was caution in those greetings.

The candidates voted early and milled in and out of the City Hall all day. As one approached the City Hall from the Kentucky side a cluster of Negro men and women hovered around a charcoal bucket, giving forth heat enough to warm the feet. Occasionally the Negroes would put their hands close to the embers and rub them together to make hand-shaking with a prospective voter a little more cordial.

Harvey Vick, one of the candidates and an employee of the Illinois Central Railroad was in the middle of the group nearly all day, jovial and gregarious. He left often to bring voters to the polls in his own car. Cecil Maddox the other Negro candidate was not around. He was sick in bed and still is.

Across from the group of Negroes was a group of white voters milling about. Both races kept pretty much to their own side of the City Hall. Voters who entered the City Hall during the day were greeted by a

It was the consensus of those persons interviewed by this reporter, earlier in the day that Milton Counce would be elected the Mayor by a good majority. He was. Campaign talk had it that the entire Negro population would vote for Mr. Counce. Obviously they did. Mr. Counce got 3 more votes than the highest number of votes cast for the Negro candidate. Harvey Vick received 177 votes and Cecil Maddox received 176. Mr. Counce received 200 more votes than his nearest opponent, Arthur Matheny. R. J. Sedberry trailed far behind the other two.

The difference of one vote between Vick and Maddox in the total vote was perhaps occasioned by the fact that a Negro apparently voted for five white men and Vick. Or perhaps that Negro vote may have (Continued on page 5)

Kentucky Windage

By P. W.

(Windage Blows Sentimental This Week. Since P. W. took time to write the column, we'll make him page one copy.)

How the time does fly. Here it is Dec. 8, and it seems like only a few days ago since I hung the 1955 calendar on the wall.

A normal impulse, or concern, or observation, or whatever you may want to call it (including worry) is just how to stop time from passing so quickly... how to recapture those days when one was "growing up" and every day brought on a fullness of living that hour by hour provided something new, exciting, interesting. Every day was a long, long, full experience.

Waiting for the Friday night hay ride, or skating party, or dance was like waiting for something that took forever to get there.

And now... zip! The weeks pass like turning pages in a book.

Holding your lifetime out at arm's length and observing it as an individual package among millions of other similar packages always brings this thought to my mind: "What has this particular package contributed to its surroundings during its journey? Has it contributed anything... and if not, why not? What did it contribute... a large number of offspring? Something or some service that continues on for the next generation? A high standard of business ability that will continue to set the standards for generations to come? A sports record... a cooking record... a knitting record... a maintenance record... a production record... a cleanliness record or any one of a million different kinds of records that human beings are capable of achieving in as many pursuits?

Or was this particular package just a bare, forlorn package, without any records, without any efforts visible at attaining anything, without any contribution whatsoever during its existence, even though it is bound to have had many opportunities.

When the years begin to zip past at a fast speed, it is time to examine the old log-book and if few entries have been made, plan to add more before it's too late! We all have some kind of ability to contribute to our community, and like everyone else (Continued from page 13)

Happy Santa Claus To Make Visit Here

Thousands of children who will get to view real live reindeer driven by Santa Claus the morning of Dec. 16th, at 11:30 a. m. according to Fulton merchants and the 40 & 8 who are sponsoring Santa Claus and his reindeer on this visit.

"Parade Day here promises to be the greatest day from a spectator standpoint in the history of the city," declared the sponsor. "We are especially inviting all children in the city and from all surrounding towns to be our guests and see Donder, Blitzen, Dancer and Prancer. Also Rudolph with his red nose.

Santa Claus will be wearing a bright red suit to match his red sleigh. His charges will be gaily decorated in bright red harness on which their names are inscribed in brass nameplates, and we want the children to spell out the names," the committee chairman said.

The local sponsors assure the people that all arrangements have been made to provide the greatest event ever to come to this city. There's never been anything like it.

"No boy or girl, or adult for that matter, can afford to pass up this opportunity of seeing Santa Claus driving his live reindeer down our city's streets," the sponsors said.

To top it all off, Santa Claus promises to take time to listen to Christmas requests and wants to see every boy and girl for miles around and talk to them about Christmas.

Except for practice session, the reindeer have been resting all summer. They are ready to get into their shiny new harness and pull Santa's sleigh down the streets. At least that's what Dancer was overheard to tell Comet a few days ago.

No matter how cold the weather the parade will be held on time. In fact, the colder the weather and the more snow is flying pleases Santa and his reindeer. It reminds them the more of the deep snow and raging blizzards in Alaska, their homeland.

The Arctic reindeer have some odd characteristics. For example their ankles pop when they walk—a crackle you can easily hear. Their cloven hoofs are (Con't on Page 8)

RECIPES FOR CHRISTMAS GOODIES THAT CHILDREN CAN HAVE FUN IN THE MAKING

Children get fun and a taste of the real spirit of Christmas when they have a hand in making the gifts they give, says Food Editor Ruth Fairchild Pomeroy of Redbook. For those who are of a helping age, the December issue of the magazine offers clear picture-book instructions for making and wrapping delightful Christmas candy gifts:

Peanut Butter Shaggies
Cut a cup of raisins into pieces. Mix with 1/2 cup peanut butter and 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar. Stir in 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon and about 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Form into 30 small balls.

Roll each ball in flaked coconut. Let stand to dry. Wash out in ice cream or butter carton. Fill the clean carton with dry candies.

Cover the carton with any color gummed crepe paper. Cut strips of plain crepe paper 2 inches wide and as high as your carton. Fringe each strip.

Glue fringe to the corners of package. Tie on a bright ribbon and make a frilly bow on top.

Candy Mint Trees
In a large bowl beat 3 egg whites till stiff. Slowly blend in 1 cup of sifted confectioners' sugar. Divide candy into 3 bowls. Tint 1 red, 1 green and 1 yellow. Flavor with various mint extracts.

Roll each mixture out between pieces of waxed paper. Cut patties with mouth of an olive jar. Cut 20 tiny patties with a thimble. Press 1-inch pieces of wire in these. Let dry overnight.

Make a cone from gummed crepe paper. Hang small mints on it. Put large ones in olive bottle. Stand tree cone on top of bottle. Stick 2 gummed stars together on top. Makes 2 pastel trees.

Rolled Cookie Faces
Sift together 3 1/2 cups flour and 1 teaspoon salt. Beat together 1 cup each butter and sugar. When sugar and butter are fluffy, beat in 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla and the sifted flour.

Wrap dough in waxed paper and chill overnight. Then roll thin and cut into 2-inch circles. Put on an ungreased cookie sheet. Make faces with chocolate bits. Bake 10 minutes at 375 degrees F.

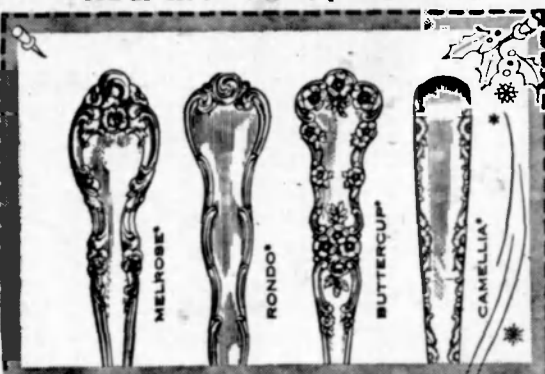

Pack in a box. Cover it with pink gummed crepe paper. Add gummed star eyes and a red mouth. Braid 3 long strips of crepe paper. Tie around box with ribbon.

Pasturize Milk For Home Supply

Farm families can easily pasteurize milk produced on their farms, and thus have as safe a milk as that from dairies in the cities, say food and dairy specialists at the University of Kentucky. Pasteurization, which consists of heating milk to a temperature of 143 degrees for 30 minutes, then cooling it, may be done in an electric commercial home pasteurizer or in a double boiler. The process is simple, and all farm women are urged by health authorities to follow it. For complete directions, see your county home agent, or write to the Experiment Station, Lexington, for Circular 534, "Home Pasteurization of Milk."

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Binford

Miss Peggy Adams and Mr. Godfrey Binford Are Married Sunday In Ceremony Marked With Beauty

On Sunday afternoon, Dec. 4, 1955 at 4 o'clock, Miss Peggy Jean Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Adams, became the bride of Charles Godfrey Binford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Saunders Binford, in a ceremony marked by stately beauty which was further enhanced by the rays of the late afternoon sun shining through stained glass windows. The Rev. John D. Laid, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated in the sanctuary using the double ring service.

The altar presented an outstandingly beautiful setting with the profusion of woodwardia ferns and tall candelabra holding white candles. Large white Grecian urns held fan shaped arrangements of specimen white gladioli. At either side of the prie-dieu single candelabra held cathedral candles and were twined with rope simlax.

During the assembling of the guests Mrs. J. U. McKendree, organist, and Miss Claudene Moore, soprano, presented a program of nuptial music. Mrs. McKendree's numbers included the "Sextette" from Lucia di Lammermoor, "Melody of Love," "The Swan" and the Schubert "Ave Maria." She used the traditional wedding marches from "Lohengrin" - Wagner and Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" for the processional and recessional and during the ceremony she played "Oh Perfect Love" and "Because."

Miss Moore's songs were "Through the Years," Youmans and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," Stultz.

The lovely young bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore an original Benson wedding gown of pure Douipina silk made over net and taffeta. The petite painted bosque was closed with tiny covered buttons. The decolletage portrait neck was fashioned with insets of soft folds extending into a tulip cup standing high in the back. The sleeves were short, matching gauntlets ended in points over her hands. The gathered ballerina skirts were worn over oops. Her four tiered veil of imported illusion fell from a pointed satin shell beaded in pearls and crystals. She wore a pearl choker and earrings, gifts of the groom. Her lovely cascade bouquet was of stephanotis and fleur d'amour centered with a large white orchid. Illusion and pearl studded velvet adiantum encircled the flowers which were tied with velvet tubing.

The bride's only sister, Miss Nancy Lou Adams, was the maid of honor and only attendant. She wore an empire styled frock of aqua crystalline; the safely draped high bodice was sprinkled with rhinestones; a narrow fold of the material ending in a small bow outline in bustline. Additional fullness was given to the widely flared skirt by a deep ruffle which joined the skirt with a deep fold and a

With JIM PRYOR

Agricultural Agent, Illinois Central Railroad

The International Livestock Show is just that: The Greatest Meat Show on Earth. Every kind of meat animal is shown to perfection in the Chicago event. I have the opportunity of attending many events of the show every year and believe me it is worth the time to see some of the exhibits and shows.

I think one of the most outstanding days are Tuesday when they pick the Grand Champion Steer and Friday for the National Shearing contest. This year when the judge was looking the prime steers over, trying to decide whether the Shorthorn from Kentucky or the Angus from Illinois would be the Champ, I believe you could have heard a mouse squeal. Several tense minutes passed before the Judge slapped the Angus on the rump and made him Grand Champion of the show. The Kentucky Shorthorn was a very close Reserve Champion in what the race horse fans would call a photo-finish.

Now as to the shearing contest I know more about that because for the last five years I have been one of the official time keepers. There are eight in all. Here the nation's top sheep shearers compete for the national honor of Champion Sheep Shearer. The 4-H champion is chosen during this contest. The best time was 1 minute and 36 seconds. Now if you don't think that is undressing a sheep you are mistaken. There is more to it than just time though. There are four judges that have the job of judging second cuts of wool; condition of fleece; how the animal is handled; and the condition of the sheep after the wool is shorn. These points are all graded by the different judges, each having a specific job. These scores are computed by Certified Public Accountants and they give us the winner.

National 4-H Banquet

I have also had the honor of attending the Annual Banquet of the National 4-H Congress for the past 5 years. I wish you would just imagine 3,000 boys, girls and leaders together in one room. This I believe is true Democracy at work. It is one of the most inspiring events you will see, and if the opportunity occurs do not miss it. The parade of the champions in different fields, recognition of outstanding accomplishments and the voices of young AMERICA singing.

POSSIBILITIES TO CHANGE INCOME TAX STRUCTURE NOW UNDER INVESTIGATION

Kentucky could pick up much additional revenue through various changes in its individual income tax structure, according to a preliminary report on a study submitted to members of the 1956 General Assembly by the Legislative Research Commission staff.

The commission, whose director is Dr. A. Y. Lloyd, emphasized that it was making no recommendations on the subject until simply submitting factual data for consideration of legislators in a study authorized by the 1954 General Assembly.

It said these changes would raise revenue by these amounts: Reduction of personal tax credits to conform with present exemption levels of Federal income tax, $4,000,000 a year.

Disallowance of deductions for state income taxes, $400,000.

Disallowance of deductions for Federal income taxes, $8,800,000.

Disallowance of deductions for Federal income taxes, $8,800,000.

lowest income brackets by from one to two percentage points, $6,000,000 to $15,000,000.

Combinations of the foregoing possible changes would result in these following yields:

Reduction of tax credits combined with disallowance of deductions for State and Federal income taxes, $14,100,000.

Reduction of tax credits combined with an increase in tax rates of from 1 to 2 per cent, $11,200,000 to $21,300,000.

Disallowance of deductions for state and federal income taxes and tax-rate increases of from 1 to 2 per cent, $17,200,000 to $28,800,000.

Reduction of tax credits combined with disallowance of deductions for State and Federal income taxes and tax-rate increases of from 1 to 2 per cent, $22,500,000 to $34,500,000.

The income tax accounts for approximately a third of the total general fund in

Dose Ewes In Fall To Kill Parasites

Sheep specialists at the UK College of Agriculture and Home Economics say to dose ewes with phenothiazine in late fall, but at least a month before lambing. Report after lambing in the spring. If tapeworms are present, use lead arsenic with the phenothiazine.

Feed phenothiazine free choice, with salt, throughout the year. Use a mixture of one part phenothiazine and nine parts of salt. Replenish the mixture every week or two to keep it fresh. Use a feeder made especially for the purpose. Provide as wide a pasture rotation as is practical.

The preliminary report was prepared with Dr. Clarence Allen, former professor of economics at the University of North Carolina, serving as tax consultant on the project. Thomas P. Lynch and James T. Fleming of the commission staff participated in the final draft of the report.

Pennsalt Announces 2nd Expansion Within Month

Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company's announcement last month that it would start construction at once on a large organic-fluorine chemical plant at Calvert City—the company's second announcement within a month of major expansion at its Kentucky chemical center. Previously announced were plans for a potassium hydroxide production unit. The fluorine plant is expected to reach full scale operations next year and will form a major part of Pennsalt's integrated chlorine-fluorine production facilities. The company was a pioneer in the Calvert City chemical center development, and has been prominently identified with the fluorine chemical industry since 1931.

LET YOUNG CHILDREN DRAW AND PAINT AS THEY WANT TO, EXPERT SAYS

All children are artists at heart. They all have a native urge to create. This interest is best developed in the early years by giving them a chance to experiment spontaneously and freely with a variety of materials, says Irma Simonson Black, teacher and author of books about art for children. Writing in Redbook Magazine for December, she warns parents against criticizing a child's paintings and against every kind of formal guidance at the start.

"Albert Dorne, head of the Famous Artists Schools in Westport, Conn., always advises parents that their children need art experience and a chance to experiment before they are ready for even the most elementary guidance.

"Give your child plenty of art materials. Start with several jars of bright poster colors and a good chunk of moist clay. You will also find a wondrous assortment of things right in your house and yard—cotton, paper doilies, leaves, and dozens of other items. Coloring books, incidentally, while they offer a harmless kind of busywork, cannot be classed as art material since they offer no chance for originality.

4-H Urges Year-Round Safe Driving

PLEDGING THE NATION'S HALF MILLION 4-H CLUB MEMBERS to make every day Safe Driving Day are these eight winners of $300 college scholarships in the 1955 National 4-H Safety Program. Standing before their telegram to President Eisenhower pledging support for the S-D drive, the safety specialists show large sized models of the S-D badges given the 1200 Congress delegates to Ralph W. Moore (left), assistant director of General Motors public relations. All-expense trips to Chicago for the 41 state safety winners plus the scholarships were provided by General Motors, swards donor for the 11th consecutive year. Winners (left to right) are: Peggy J. Hansen, 17, Lusk, Wyo.; Carl W. Bond, 18, Colfax, Iowa; Frankie Keith, 17, Fredrick, Okla.; Leo S. Mann, 18, Otterbein, Ind.; Mary Burwell Davis, 18, Warrenton, N.C.; Clayton Senecal, 18, Rutland, Vt.; La Donna Dirks, 17, Dodge City, Kansas, and Clifton B. Benton, 17, Covington, Ga.

"Your child is an artist because he is a young being. His careful spacing of blocks, his thoughtful arranging of lines or blobs of color on paper, his smoothing of clay are all part of his native urge to make something of his own, to 'create.'"

"Psychologists take children's art seriously as the expression of feeling. Your child can work off his anger without danger to himself or to anyone else by painting a battle scene. And he can express quiet satisfaction in a crude but vivid sunlit landscape. Such free expression of feeling is an important part of healthy emotional growth.

"Constant helpful or critical comment about your child's art work is not only unnecessary, but undesirable. He doesn't care whether or not his 'house' has the proper perspective or the right number of windows — or even whether it looks like a house at all. The important thing is for him to paint or model as he sees and feels.

"Even constant praise will tend to make your child self-conscious and will lessen his spontaneity. The most convincing and meaningful appreciation of his work will be in your actions. Tack some of his more colorful paintings on the walls of his room. Encourage him to make Christmas or birthday cards for his friends — and then see that they get in the mail. Use his rough clay ash tray after it dries.

"As your child approaches his teens, he will, if his interest in art lasts, want direction and technical skill. His best preparation for both is the spontaneous and joy — our creativity of childhood."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

How safety and strength may be maintained through steadfast trust in God's power will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson - Sermon entitled "God the Preserver of Man" is the Golden Text from Ex. 15:2: "The Lord is my strength and son, and he is become my salvation."

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following (444:10): "Step by step will those who trust Him find that 'God is our refuge and strength, a very pleasant help in trouble.'"

Scriptural selections will include the following from Psalms 91:1: "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty."

A HANDSOME AND PERMANENT monument dedicated to those who lost their lives in service in World War II has recently been erected at the entrance to Fulton's Fairview cemetery by the Fulton Young Men's Business Club. The monument, of Georgia granite, contains the names of forty. It replaces the former plaque that the YMBC erected on Lake Street during World War III. C. D. Jones was president of the YMBC when the project was undertaken, with Joe Hall and Robert Burrow on the monument committee. Raymond Stallins is the current president.

Large and act as a firm foundation for deep Arctic snows. They are completely covered with ice. They breathe like a dog when warm, and regularly like a cow when eating.

Both male and female reindeer have antlers with a range spread as high as three feet, and with as many as forty points which they shed each year. They are their pet peeve for if one gets even close to a reindeer he shudders.

Grady Carothers, Santa Village, Skyforest, California, is bringing the live reindeer here. They are a part of the herd he owns in the San Bernardino mountain area.

Several years ago, Carothers came to the conclusion he would try to satisfy his children who asked every Christmas season, "Where is Santa's reindeer?" After three years of hard work that included many letters, the ranchman finally obtained authority from the Alaska government to get the reindeer from Alaska.

The Yuletide season will take on a new meaning for children here this year with the visit of

Santa Claus and his reindeer

As the moments wear away patience grows thin and suspense grows on the crowd. Suddenly, Santa in his sleigh, the bells jingling out "Merry Christmas" will materialize from out of nowhere, and the reindeer will be pulling the sleigh as they prance and shake their huge antlers.

That's Christmas spirit. You can see it in this city when the morning of Dec. 18th rolls around.

There are 87 languages in the world spoken by 5 million or more people — 1,088 languages and dialects have been reduced to print.

The heaviest recorded snowfall in U. S. in one day was 60 inches in Giant Forest, Calif.; heaviest in a year was 884 inches (73 feet) near Tamarack, Calif., 1906-07.

All leaves were pruned on 25 to 30 crops of tobacco in Hart county.

Diary of Doin's

—Around Fulton—

The News writes social happenings about you and your friends.

There's no doubt about it. Wedding bells are bustin' up those old gangs around. Late Fall has taken the romantic accent away from June moons, June brides, and summer blossoms. Have you ever seen anything like the middle aisle brigade that has taken place hereabouts these past several weeks? The twosomes have gone down to the altar so fast here of late, that the parson couldn't do anything but wait until the next pair of "I do's" came a-knocking on the door.

We couldn't begin to give you the complete list of all of the local young folks who have married recently. Mostly because we don't know all of the "gang-busters" and too, because we might leave a couple or two off the list. And in this touchy business of publication there is nothing "whicker" than to leave a name off of the vital statistics department.

Sunday afternoon Peggy Adams and Godfrey Binford hitched their wagons to a star and became a permanent team. As at local young folks who have married recently. Mostly because we don't know all of the "gang-busters" and too, because we might leave a couple or two off the list. And in this touchy business of publication there is nothing "whicker" than to leave a name off of the vital statistics department.

Peggy went off to school and continued her musical career and Nancy is still at it, but strong.

There will always be the Adams sisters, of course, but we don't imagine that the girls will want to accept this professional gimmick of dropping the names of the spouse, and we don't think that the girls would want to leave Godfrey out of the picture.

We do wish all of the young married couples so much happiness in their married lives. While it saddens us to realize that time is marching on, we'll just content ourselves to wait around and chronicle the events of their future happenings as we wait for another generation of gangs to come along, with the subsequent old refrain in the background. "Wedding bells are bustin' up that ole gang of mine."

And speaking of that wedding Sunday afternoon we were sentimentalized out of all reason when the wedding party gathered before the minister for the wedding vows. Maybe we're too sentimental about family groups, but we don't think so about the affair Sunday. Everybody shared the happiness and the pride that Ward Johnson must have felt that his son Joe was grown-up enough to be at his side as a member of the wedding party. Both Ward and Joe were ushers. And Bob Binford stepped proudly, we thought, because his son Charles was also an usher, as was Bob.

Then when the first strains of Lohengrin's wedding march filled most weddings we attended the out comes the groom with the moral support of his dad as his best man. And when Brother Laida began the impressive wedding ceremony we were in complete agreement with what Tillman Adams must have been thinking as he stood there with his two daughters, grown enough to be "members of the wedding," one of them the bride.

We found a little poem in something we read out of the mail the other day. It seemed to say what many a parent is thinking these days as children work furiously at school on their Christmas gifts to mother and dad. While the little gifts are appreciated so much because so much loving thought goes into them we wish that it were possible to tell them in their own language what this little poem says:

To a Beloved Child
What do I want for Christmas
dear?
It's nice you're thinking of
A gift for me —
Just let it be Forever more—your love.
So, when your soft hand slips
from mine
And you have gone your way,
Still in my heart,
Though we're apart,
Your Christmas gift will stay.
And in the long and lonely years,
Each Christmas Day anew,
It will be there,
An answered prayer—
My finest gift—from you.
Carl Helm

We wish that it had been possible to do last Friday what we wanted Radio Station WFUL to do and that was to tape record the wonderful Christmas musical program of the Woman's Club. Lou Wreather, station manager, made every attempt to get the tape recorder repaired so that the music taped could have been played over the air several times during the days preceding Christmas.

But the tape recorder is out of commission and Lou is working like mad to get it fixed in time for other such programs. Of course the large crowd present at the program got the full enjoyment of the beautiful program, and it certainly was an outstanding one.

The charm and stateliness of the First Christian Church was made more beautiful for the occasion by employing poinsettias and pine cones, with red candles as decorations. Christmas, its holy significance and its true meaning was evident just everywhere at the church.

Mrs. Hugh Pigue, chairman, welcomed the large audience by saying that since music is such a part of Christmas, the department felt it a privilege to give this program. The Rev. Charles Roe, pastor of the First Christian Church, gave the invocation.

The program, arranged by Mrs. Steve Wiley, offered quite a varied selection of numbers, each one centered around the theme of Christmas.

Those appearing on the program, who are not members of the club, but who contributed so much to the success of the meeting, were: James Mullenix, baritone soloist, and the members of the South Fulton Glee Club, directed by Arthur Roman, and their accompanists, Patricia Legg and Sandra Laird.

Mr. Mullenix sang "Come to My Heart, Lord Jesus, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Wiley. The Glee Club sang four numbers.

The lovely folk song, "I Wonder as I Wander" by Niles, with Margaret Cashon as soloist was especially appealing, and their spiritual singing of Ray Charles' clever arrangement of "Jingle Bells" gave a splendid climax to the program.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. J. C. Hancock, Mrs. Milton Callihan and Mrs. H. L. Bushart.

It's that time again! Time for the Christmas party department to get in full swing and just everybody is scheduled to attend one or more such congenial gatherings. There's nothing quite like the Christmas party for the churches, the business firms around town, the many, many organizations and just anything where two or more people congregate during the year.

Among the first to have their Christmas party was the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, which met at the Rebel Room of the Derby Cafe to enjoy some wholesale camaraderie. About 118 persons attended and it was a gay and happy affair.

Following a delicious meal of turkey, country ham and steak, a very interesting program was presented. C. E. Hoodenpyle acted as master of ceremonies. Miss Jean Cole sang "White Christmas," and John Austin was at the Hammond organ. Avon French led in group singing with the songs "We've Been Working on the Railroad," "The Gang's All Here," and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Mr. Hoodenpyle introduced the out of town guests and called on Fred Barfield, Division Chairman of Jackson, and the General Chairman, to speak. They made short talks.

Boyd Simmons, General Chairman of the B. of R. C. of Chicago, was principal speaker. He made a very interesting talk. Before the meal, J. A. Bowers offered thanks.

Those present were—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Daughtry, Mr. and Mrs. Miller Harpole, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Thorpe, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Butterworth, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Stillely, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Gossum, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Cumberland Presbyterian Church Is Setting For Bowden-Mewers Nuptials Sunday Afternoon

In one of the loveliest early winter weddings, Miss Frances Virginia Bowden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bowden, became the bride of Daniel L. Meyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Meyers of Sheldon, Wisconsin, on Sunday afternoon, in the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Oakley Woodside officiated using the impressive double-ring service.

The altar of the church presented a picture of bridal beauty with its decorative scheme of white and green. A large arrangement of white gladioli centered the altar with graceful fern balls placed at either side. Clusters of white pompons tied one white satin ribbon were placed on the pews along the aisle.

During the assembling of the guests Mrs. G. G. Beard, organist, and Mrs. Guthrie Luther presented a program of nuptial music. Mrs. Luther sang "Because" and "Through the Years." Mrs. Beard's selections included Schubert's "Serenade," "Romance," "Andantino," "Oh Perfect Love," and during the ceremony "Always." She used the wedding marches from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn for the professional and recessional.

Following the pledging of the wedding vows Mrs. Luther sang "The Lord's Prayer." The petite blond bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore an individually designed wedding gown of white taffeta.

Immediately following the wedding the parents of the bride entertained the wedding party, relatives and out of town guests with an informal reception at their home.

Early in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Bowden were a softly tailored afternoon frock of navy faille fashioned with an eton jacket. She had a corsage of pink carnations edged with pink satin leaves.

Her three tiered veil of bridal illusion fell from a crown of satin and lace bordered with tiny pearls. She carried a white Bible centered with a fuchsia throat orchid surrounded with illusion and orchid satin leaves tied with orchid satin streamers. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Betty Ann Bowden was maid of honor and Miss Shirley Rashid was bridesmaid. They wore identical frocks of pink brocade faille, designed with a sweetheart neckline and long torso bodice with a full skirt of unpressed pleats. They had matching tiaras with sheer off the face veils. They wore brief white gloves and carried colonial bouquets of delicate pink carnations and orchid dot poms placed on matching tulle and tied with satin ribbon.

Billie Alexander served the groom as best man; ushers were Bobby Bowden, brother of the bride and Leroy Sawyer, cousin of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bowden wore a softly tailored afternoon frock of navy faille fashioned with an eton jacket. She had a corsage of pink carnations edged with pink satin leaves.

Homemakers Learn To Rework Springs

That information on reworking spring cushions was of practical help to Garrard county homemakers clubs was the opinion of a majority of the members, said Mrs. Betty C. Ball, home demonstration agent with the University of Kentucky.

She cited the case of Mrs. Tom Ballard of the Lancaster Senior Club. She made two cushions so successfully that they "looked like the work of an expert manufacturer, yet the cost was only 50 cents." Mrs. Ballard bought an old car seat with good springs and after padding them, she used feed bags to make the casing for the two cushions. Then she covered them with slipcover material.

The Philippine group is composed of about 7,000 island, 8,500 of which are less than a square mile in area.

Leading the parade, Santa Claus with his sleigh pulled by real reindeer, leads one of many Christmas parades in which he has participated. Santa and his reindeer will be in Fulton Friday December 16th at 11:30 a. m. for a big parade that is calculated to draw thousands here.

AMENDMENTS OFFICIAL
Gov. Wetherby proclaimed as official and put into effect the two constitutional amendments approved by the voters at the recent November election. One would lower the voters' minimum age requirement from 21 to 18 years, and the other remove personal household effects from the realm of state taxation. The Constitution requires that amendments not take effect until officially proclaimed.

TREATS THAT YOU YOURSELF MAKE ARE THE FRIENDLIEST GIFTS YOU CAN GIVE

The friendliest gift you can give is the one which has a little of you in it. This Christmas, make some of your own holiday goodies for the neighbor or friend you want to remember specially, suggests Ruth Fairchild Pomeroy, Food Editor of Redbook. In the December issue, she gives recipes for tempting Yuletide treats, many of which will keep well for traveling.

HOMEMADE FOR THE HOLIDAY

BEAN AND EGG SPREAD: Mash 1 cup drained canned Boston-style beans well. Blend in 1/4 cup finely diced dill pickles, 2 minced hard cooked eggs, 2 tablespoons catsup, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon grated onion. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

CANDIED CRANBERRIES: Wash 2 cups cranberries. Grease a 9" square pan. Spread berries over bottom of pan. Cover evenly with 1 1/2 cups sugar. Cover pan with foil. Bake at 350 degrees F. 1 hour.

LIVER PATE: Heat 1/4 cup butter in a skillet. Slowly cook 1 8-ounce package frozen chicken livers in it until done. Add 2 teaspoons grated onion; stir to heat. Mince livers finely with a knife; then return to skillet. Blend in 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon cayenne, 1/4 teaspoon mace. Chill. Makes 1/2 cup.

CALIFORNIA FRUIT LOAF: 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup dark brown sugar, 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind, 2 teaspoons grated orange rind.

1 egg, unbeaten, 1 cup cottage cheese, 1 cup sifted flour, 1 1/4 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup chopped dried prunes, 1/2 cup chopped dried apricots.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Cream butter, sugar and rinds. Beat in egg; stir in cheese. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt; add with fruits to first mixture. Mix well. Pack in greased loaf pan 8 1/2" x 4 1/2" x 3". Bake 1 hour. Cool; wrap. Store in refrigerator.

Serve with tea or sherry wine.
SCOTCH-BREAD DOMINOS: 1 cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1/4 cup confectioners' sugar, 1/4 cup ground blanched almonds, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon almond extract, 1/4 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Break up butter with a fork. With a pastry blender work in flour, confectioners' sugar, almonds, salt and almond extract until mixture is like coarse corn meal. Press into two greased 8-inch square cake pans. Pierce dough with a fork and cut into bars 1" x 1 1/2". Dot with chocolate pieces to resemble dominos. Bake for 30-35 minutes.

A FAVORITE RECIPE: A charming holiday remembrance is to pack the ingredients and recipe for your favorite dish in a basket. This is one of ours for you: Chicken Chestnut Soup. Combine 1 10 1/4-ounce can condensed cream of chicken soup, 1 12 1/2-ounce can chicken consommé and 1 5-ounce can of water chestnuts, drained and finely chopped. Heat; add 2 tablespoons dry sherry. Makes 4 cups of delicious soup. —REDBOOK

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Westpheling
Fulton County News
Fulton, Kentucky
Dear Jo and Paul:

In the process of winding up my services as the state commissioner of conservation, I have been thinking over the list of persons who have been most helpful to me during the almost eight years that I have been in this position. You rank high in that list.

I want to express to you my heartfelt thanks for the cooperation and encouragement that you have given me, and to tell you that without this sort of help the record which has been made in the Department of Conservation could not have been achieved.

I will be at Washington during the coming year as legislative aid to Senator Earle C. Clements, the Senate majority whip. If I can be of any assistance to you there, please call on me.

One of the major objectives of my efforts in Frankfort has been to develop and publicize Kentucky as a place where people can spend an enjoyable vacation. Attached is a copy of a letter of the type which indicates that we have made progress in this direction.

With best personal regards, and good wishes I am
Cordially yours,

Henry Ward
Commissioner of Conservation

Conservation Commissioner
Frankfort, Kentucky
Dear Mr. Ward:

My wife and I have just returned from one of the happiest vacations we ever had. We first visited Kentucky Lake and then the Cumberland State Park. We found the latter so attractive that we gave up plans for driving farther. We had there a most comfortable and attractive cottage. The hospitality and cordial reception given us by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gordon will always be remembered. The meals served at the Lodge were excellent.

You and your Commission are to be congratulated upon your state parks which in my experience are among the very finest in the United States.

Sincerely,
James M. Douglas

IC Trainmen, Firemen Get Wage Increase

Fatter paychecks for a substantial number of Illinois Central employees were the result of wage increases granted by the railroad during October. Employees represented by the largest operating union on the railroad — the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen — were granted an increase of 10 1/2 cents an hour effective Oct. 1. A settlement on approximately the same basis was reached on Oct. 15 with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, to take effect on Oct. 1. The cost to the Illinois Central of these two wage increases, projected for the year of 1956, will be more than two million dollars.

Nearly 4,000 employees represented by the trainmen's union benefit by the wage increase. Included in this number are Illinois Central brakemen, flagmen, train baggage men, switch tenders and yardmen (switchmen). The latter group, the switchmen, make up more than half of the total. The wage increase for the trainmen's union will cost the Illinois Central approximately one million dollars a year.

The same agreement also calls for conversion to a five-day week for men in yard service. Changing over from the longer work week to the five-day week will increase the cost of the settlement of approximately $700,000, making a total of $1,700,000 of increased wage costs.

The second agreement, one with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, affects more than 1,700 firemen and roundhouse hostlers. It will amount to $250,000 in wage increases. If the firemen elect to go to a five-day week, there will be an additional cost to the Illinois Central of $300,000, or a total of $550,000.

Although the firemen's agreement is basically the same as that made with the trainmen, the former organization decided to apply its increase in wages in a different manner. Effective Oct. 1, road firemen will receive an increase of 8 cents per hour and yard firemen 4 1/2 cents per hour. The difference between 8 cents per hour for the road firemen and 4 1/2 cents per hour for the yard firemen will go into a so-called conversion formula for the latter if and when the organization decides to convert to a five-day week. Although the agreement was made on a national basis for all railroads, the conversion to a five-day week will be decided by the local firemen's union on individual roads.

The agreement has an additional "if," and that is, if the firemen should elect to go to a five-day week and later change their minds and want to return to a six or seven-day week, the agreement calls for a return to the rate of pay in effect on Oct. 1.

There is also an "if" in the agreement made with the trainmen. If at some future date the union applies to the Illinois Pay Raise to Engineers. As the magazine went to press, engineers were given a pay raise of 7 per cent. Nearly 1,100 Illinois Central yard and road engineers benefit by the raise, effective Oct. 1. The agreement is similar to those made with the trainmen and firemen described below.

Central for a health and welfare plan, 4 cents of the granted increase is earmarked to apply on such a plan. The same provision exists in the settlement made with the firemen.

Other groups of employees are also negotiating for wage increases at the national level, notably the conductors, the engineers and the non-operating unions. In the latter group, among others, are the clerks, telegraphers, shopmen and trackmen. If the same pattern for wage and salary increases is extended to all the other employees of the Illinois Central, the cost to the railroad per year would be 10 million dollars. To understand how large this increase would be, it should be compared to the net income or profit made by the railroad. In 1954, for example, the net income was approximately 22 million dollars. Based on the 1954 figure, the increase in employee compensation after taxes, would take about 22 per cent of the company's profit. Also out of the latter, of course, has to come the dividends paid to the stockholders of the company. Last year these people who invested their savings in ownership of the company's stock received dividends of not quite 3 million dollars. In addition, a substantial part of the funds needed for improvements in new equipment and facilities, the railroad would not be able to match the progress being made by other companies.

Illinois Central contracts with the various unions on the railroad go back many years. In 1876 the railroad made its first contract with the engineers. Its contract with trainmen goes back to 1890, and with yardmen to 1900. In those days, negotiations for changes in wages and working rules were worked out at the company level. In recent years, however, bargaining on wage increases for the most part has been at the national level, with the unions represented by union representatives and the railroads by officers of three regional groups. The latter are the eastern, western and southeastern groups of Class I railroads. The adjustment of the particulars of national agreements, however, is worked out at the local level between general chairmen of Illinois Central unions and the railroad's Personnel Department.

The last general round of wage and salary increases occurred on the Illinois Central for the most part in 1954. During the spring months of that year, agreements were made with most of the operating unions for an increase of 5 cents an hour. At the same time, the railroad granted a third week of vacation to employees with 15 years or more of service. In general, these same wage and vacation benefits were extended to all other employees. The average salary for all employees reached $2.11 an hour in 1954.

In addition to the increased wages involved in any pay raise, the railroad has additional costs of payroll taxes for retirement and unemployment and sickness benefits to employees. The Illinois Central pays the payroll tax for retirement benefits to employees. This amount is 6 1/4 per cent on the compensation of each employee up to $350 a month; employees pay an equal amount.

The Fulton News

Thursday, December 8, 1955

In addition, the payroll tax for unemployment and sickness benefits to employees is paid entirely by the railroad with no contribution to employees. The latter tax has been 1/2 of 1 per cent of wages up to $350 a month for each employee. Because of the greater amount of benefits received by employees out of this fund, this payroll tax payable by the railroad alone will increase to 1 1/4 per cent beginning in 1956. This increase will cost the railroad about 1 1/4 million dollars in addition to the cost of the pay raises referred to.

Truck Driver Stands Accused Of Alleged Violation Because He Could Not Get Attorney To Defend Him

The case of Harry Leroy Dodson of Salem, Illinois, whose arrest in Fulton for an alleged traffic violation made the wire services, television and radio news casts, etc. is a closed chapter in our book after this week. And after the morning of December 9, the date on which his trial has been set, it will be a closed case in the magistrate's court here.

You see Harry Lee Dodson is not going to be present at his trial, that is unless something unforeseen happens and he has a complete change of mind and a windfall of cash and courage. He will forfeit his appearance bond that he posted and the rest will be a matter of record, we hope. For the record: Dodson was fined for speeding by Constable Joe Fuller. At the City Hall after his arrest, Dodson turned around and charged Fuller with speeding. Fuller's trial was set on the same day as Dodson's but obviously that case will be dropped, because there will be no one to press the charges, since Dodson won't be here and besides Joe Fuller says he has a witness to the fact that he wasn't speeding.

The whole miserable business leaves us a little limp from despair and more than a little discouraged at things as they are.

Harry Dodson called this editor Saturday night and told us that while his company had made arrangements for him to be at the trial he has decided not to appear and we heartily concurred with him after he told us his reasons for not appearing.

Dodson told us that he had written THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS

a local attorney to represent him and hoped that he could at least get a fair trial. But, he said, he received a letter from the attorney advising him that the attorney's services were not available to him.

Dodson told us that the attorney refused the case on the grounds that he (the attorney) was a friend of Fuller's and besides Fuller has said that he could furnish a witness to the fact that he (Fuller) was not speeding in the City of Fulton as charged by Dodson.

Attorneys we feel sure have the prerogative to handle or not handle a case and the attorney who refused Dodson, is undoubtedly within his professional boundaries, ethics being what they are.

We wonder just how many times a day, a week, a month or a year a law violator finds himself in the same predicament as Dodson in Fulton.

Think it over and see if you do not reach the same conclusion as we do when we consider the plight of Harry Leroy Dodson, who must stand accused of his alleged violation because he could not get an attorney to defend him.

SOUTH FULTON SCHOOL NEWS

by Martha Weaka

One, two, three, four, five. . . Oh hi. I was just counting the days until Christmas vacation. If you're interested it's just 15 more days. The school library is being stocked with new books. Mrs. Hugh Pigue is our head Librarian. She really does a wonderful job in the library.

The Jr. High team went to Chestnut Glade last Thursday night. The girls lost their game, the boys won Tuesday afternoon the Jr. High team played the Little Red Angels put up a brave fight but lost 10 to 18. The boys made a good attempt and almost won. But they lost 18 to 13. The next game is with Fulton on Dec. 18.

The Devils and Devillets played host to the Rives Panthers and Pantherettes last Friday night. The girls game was pretty good, with the Devillets coming out on top with a good win over the Pantherettes. The boys game was something to be remembered. S. Fulton got all the tips but when Rives got possession of the ball they would go into a deep freeze. They would freeze it throughout the whole quarter until a few seconds remained. Then they would attempt a long field goal. They never hit any of those. "Doodle" Wilhaucks was high scorer with 4 big points. Final score: S. Fulton 9, Rives 2.

The Freshman F. H. A. held their monthly meeting with Mrs. Madge Patterson as special guest. She told the girls a Christmas story. In appreciation she was given a lovely chocolate cake baked by Jessie Gamblin and "Cookie" Neely.

Kenneth Jones, Larry Kelly, Gerald Powell, Dickie Collier, Donnie Collier, Dianne Gunter, and Joan Maynard received money and medals at Union City last Thursday night. This was 4-H Achievement night.

We are glad to welcome Mildred Pierce to our school. She has come to us from Dixie.

Has anyone heard the song "Let me lay my head on your chest while I shoot my other wife?" I was just wondering. the first time S. Fulton and Our high school team went to Hickman have played each other. It will be a good game. You'll come.

Barry Adams, brother of the bride, served as acolyte.

I am hoping to discover one and pursue it well.
Just a few thoughts on approaching a forty-second birthday right soon!

Although there has been no public fanfare from either source thus far, (probably because finishing touches are still being applied) Fulton now has two handsome new tourist courts open and doing business, and both are a real credit to Fulton's growing prominence as a catering center to the tourist trade.

Just out of Riceville on the US 51 by-pass in Highlands is the smart new Ringway Motel, a charming picture, nicely done wood, providing over twenty bedrooms.

Down on the Martin Highway about a half-mile is the swanky new Park Terrace Motel another modern and inviting tourist stop. The Park Terrace is gracefully built on three levels, with the soon-to-be finished restaurant atop two wings of rooms. It adds a grace-son and Robert A. Binford, uncles of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Adams chose a Ceil blue silk with wool jersey bodice and chromespun flared skirt. The high neckline was finished with rows of rhinestones. The sleeves were bracelet length. Her small hat was of white silk braid and iridescent sequins; she wore a corsage of white camellias.

The groom's mother wore an afternoon frock of olive green silk designed along slender lines. The neckline was outlined with crystal heading. Her open crown hat was of white imported velvet intricately beaded with pearls, crystals and rhinestones. Her corsage was also of white camellias.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Adams entertained the wedding party, out of town guests and relatives with a reception in the church parlors. White carnations and rope smilax were used in decoration. The bride's table, draped with a cutwork cloth was centered with a crystal epergne holding white carnations and gladioli florets. The three tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride's bouquet in a tiny crystal vase and was surrounded with rope smilax studded with white cypripediums. Assisting in receiving and serving the guests were Mrs. J. Ward Johnson, Mrs. Nelson Tripp, Miss Mary Ann Hinkle, Miss Patricia Kineannon, Miss Glenda Sue Brown, Miss Roma Satterfield and Miss Beverly Cursey.

Early in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Binford left for their southern wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a pink tweed suite with brown accessories. Her modified halter was of brown velvet with a single feather. Her accessories were brown and she wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will live in Fulton until mid-January when they will attend Lamberth college.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gore, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Godfrey, Houston and Nancy Godfrey of Paducah, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cathey, Mrs. H. N. Webb, Miss Willie Buffaloe, Miss Bess Buffaloe, Mrs. James Godfrey, Lee and Jim Godfrey of Jackson, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Glisson, Carol and Faith Glisson of Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Adams of Martin; Mrs. Warden Whitus, Don Whitus of Mayfield; Rev. George Laib of Hickman; Mr. and Mrs. Carmack Anderson, Miss Bill Anderson, David and Lou Anderson of Dresden.

ful note to its neighborhood and a new high in local accommodations. It has somewhat less than twenty rooms.

Even Missionary Bottoms spruced up this year with a bright new feather in the person of K. P. Dalton's new liquor Store next to the J. V. Cash Motor Company. K. P. has a nice looking little place, and it's good to have him back in town after some eight years "on the road" with a State job.

We were glad to see another old-timer (in business, not in age!) back in town in the person of Ernest Lowe, who has rejoined Paul Bennett's Electric and Furniture Store after a lengthy illness.

And at Kasnow's... it is really Kasnow's. Louie has been joined by his brother and former business associate Joe, returned from St. Louis, and Paul is also back on the job. Welcome!

Fulton is a good town, full of a lot of good folks.

And now to get to a little delayed - answering of correspondence.

Mrs. W. B. Phelps of 1924 Bradford Street in Detroit was much distressed to miss a copy of her NEWS recently... so unhappy that she sat down and wrote us a letter.

"I did not get my paper this week. I asked my postman about it and he said it just didn't come. Please send me a copy."

I hate to miss it for it is like a letter from home, to me."

And here is another one from J. H. Luther at 181 South Waterman, San Bernardino, California (Say, Louis McRee at Hayward, is that anywhere close to you?) that speaks for itself. In reprinting it here I suggest that any parties mentioned herein might like to drop the gentleman a note.

Editors, THE NEWS:

You know I surely would like to get a copy of my home-town paper. I was born and raised eight miles South of Fulton between country store called Ruthville one mile south, one mile north across the Obion River (from Hatler's Camp ground. I suppose you may know where it is).

Don't you know it has been a long time since I was there... many years! I have a lot of kind folks who live in the city of Fulton and out in the country by the name of Luther. I also have people in and around Martin, Tenn.; that is another close town.

What is the name of the newspaper in Martin? (Weakley County Press -ed) You know it has been so long back that I do not know what county I was raised in: Obion or Weakley, but I think it was Weakley County.

I was raised one mile north of Hatler's Camp grounds across the Obion River. The camp ground is where they would have big church meetings in August and September, and they would last for three or four weeks. Had two big running springs and lots of house cabins for the revival people to stay in. Also had one saw mill, one corn mill, where I would take corn to have it ground up in meal, going by buggy or horseback. There also was one blacksmith shop, one big church, two large stores, plenty of large shade trees... oak, poplar, sweet gum, sycamore, hickory, elm, walnut and many others.

I went to a school called Sawyer's school in the woods a half mile south of Ruthville.

I wish I could get in touch with someone who owns it also would like to get in touch with Albert Baldridge, who has a 5-10-25c variety store on the north side of Lake Street in Fulton. Do you happen to know him? (Yes... Ed.) His brother Oscar is my uncle and I have four cousins: Dexter, Howard, Aurvern and Georgie.

Is Mace McDade living? (Yes... Ed.) Mr. Arch Huddleston had a hardware store west of the City Hall; also Mr. Cequin had a lumber yard; also the Homra Brothers had a clothing store on Lake Street. Is Bennett Bros. Drug Store still there (Yes... Ed.)

Oh yes, I forgot to say, when you go in the post office is Jennie Gibbs still the general delivery clerk? If she is, ask her if she knew Dick Luther, who went to the Sawyer school near Ruthville country store when she was a girl and I was a small boy, then in the first or second grade and I am now 61 years of age, born in 1895. Maybe she can tell how to get in touch with someone out there at the store.

Please send a copy of my home-town paper, don't forget to send the Fulton News.

Yours Very Truly,
J. H. Luther

Now in the above letter there is a lot of sentimental feeling by an old resident for his old home area, isn't there. How nice it would be for him to receive a short little note from the firms mentioned, expressing their thanks for being remembered. How about it!

Researcher's Report: Milk Conquers Disease

"Protective Milk" might be another major step forward in man's never-ending struggle to conquer disease. In what may be one of the most important medical advances in history, a new principle for controlling diseases caused by bacteria or viruses has been developed.

Two University of Minnesota researchers announced today the results of their almost 10 years of study which have led to their "protective principle in milk," and they are convinced that their new principle will immunize human beings against such diseases as streptococcal infections, measles, smallpox, diphtheria, tuberculosis and others. They also believe their "protective principle" will apply not only to diseases caused by viruses and bacteria but also to those which result from certain molds and fungi, pollen and dust. William E. Petersen, Ph. D., in Minnesota's Institute of Agriculture Dairy Husbandry Department, and Berry Campbell, Ph. D., in the university medical school anatomy department are the men who have developed the new theory of immunizing men and animals against a wide range of diseases. A report of their work was published in the November issue of Journal-Lancet, official publication of several midwest state medical societies.

The experimental work has proceeded to a point where a pilot herd of cows is now being established to test on a larger scale the conclusions reached thus far. The American Dairy Association, which conducts a farmer-financed program of research, public relations, advertising and merchandising, is providing the funds to carry out the present stages of the testing.

In their experiments, which began in 1946 in the form of fundamental research to study the antibody and gamma globulin production in the cow's udder, the two men have injected vaccines for disease-causing viruses and bacteria into the udders of cows and have learned that the cows will manufacture large quantities of antibodies to the injected material. Vaccinating the cows, in other words, would make it unnecessary to vaccinate human beings who consume the stipulated amount of protective milk. Passive immunity would be maintained in the person drinking the milk as long as he continued to consume it.

The production of immunity factors in the cow's milk does not alter the composition of the milk or make it unnatural or abnormal milk in any way, the researchers state. No disease-producing organisms are introduced into the milk.

Various processing techniques have been tested on the protective milk. Drs. Petersen and Campbell report that the milk can be pasteurized and dried without destroying the immunity factors. Through these techniques, they say, it will be possible to provide protective milk to the public without changes in current bottling, manufacturing and distribution practices of the dairy industry.

While pointing out that a tremendous amount of additional research work must be done before protective milk would be available to the public, Drs. Petersen and Campbell say, "It is possible to expect that through the proper development and distribution of protective milk whole populations may be protected from disease."

The two men believe, also, on the basis of their research to this time, that it will be possible to immunize against poliomyelitis through the drinking of their protective milk. Some of the greatest destroyers of children in America today could be prevented, the researchers say, through immunity against the various streptococcal infections which are the forerunners of rheumatic fever.

Drs. Petersen and Campbell report that they have proved it is possible for the human being of any age to absorb from their protective milk the antibodies which fight disease. Heretofore, it had been generally believed that such absorption from the digestive system into the bloodstream was impossible except during the first several days after birth. In their experiments the researchers and their graduate students have consumed milk from their vaccinated cows and, through blood tests, have established that the immunity factors built up after drinking the protective milk.

If the protective principle in milk research proves itself under the next stages of the experiment, with a pilot herd of cows and a larger test group of human beings, it will become possible to plan to provide the protective milk to the public. The successful concluding of the current research would mean not only possible elimination of many diseases among human beings but also among animals such as hogs, chickens and other cattle. Livestock and poultry farmers at the present time suffer losses that total many millions of dollars annually as a result of animal and poultry diseases.

considerable work remains to be done before the protective milk principle will be made available for public use. Every effort is being made to speed the necessary additional research work.

Ham Is Hearty and Festive For Holiday Entertaining

Christmas is the time to take advantage of ham for easy entertaining. Even the most amateur cook can produce a masterpiece with these simple directions.

Baked Ham
Place ham fat side up on rack in open roasting pan. Do not add water. Do not cover. Do not baste. Bake in slow oven (325°F.) (If you have a meat thermometer, insert it through outside fat into center of thickest part of ham so that bulb does not rest on bone or fat.)

Roasting Timetable		Oven Temperature—(300°F. to 325°F.)
	Thermometer Reading	Minutes	Per Pound
HAM, whole Uncooked, 10-12 lbs.	160°F.	18-20
Ready-to-eat, 10-12 lbs.	130°F.	10
HAM, half Uncooked, 6-8 lbs.	160°F.	22-25
Ready-to-eat, 6-8 lbs.	130°F.	10
Picnic (shoulder)	170°F.	30-35
Boneless Butt (Cottage roll)	170°F.	40-45

Times given are for ham at room temperatures when started. Since heat penetrates a thick piece of meat like ham very slowly, additional time should be allowed when meat has been taken from refrigerator a short time before roasting. (Many hams on the market carry cooking directions which should be used for that particular kind.) Half an hour before ham is done, insert thermometer well register (150°F.) remove ham from oven and let cool with a sharp knife. Score the surface of the fat and, if desired, insert a whole clove in the center of each score. Season, glaze it to your taste with brown sugar, molasses, or marmalade.

WORLD'S RECORD CORN PRODUCTION IS 304 BUSHELS ACRE; BY YOUNG FARMER

A new world's record of 304.38 bushels of corn per acre has been made this year by Lamar Ratliff, 18-year-old Prentiss County, Miss., 4-H Club member, it was announced by County Agent W. T. Smith and Assistant County Agent James W. Archer, both of Booneville. This is believed to be the first time that the 300 bushel mark has been made on a farm and the yield determined with the help of professional agricultural workers.

Lamar's 218 bushels per acre yield last year has been considered the highest on record by national agricultural leaders. The agents, in the presence of local witnesses, weighed in the ear of all of the corn from Lamar's one-acre demonstration.

As a double check they shelled and weighed three bushels. The moisture content of this corn, on which the final calculation was based, was determined at Mississippi State College as 13.93 per cent.

Lamar's variety was Funks 7711. He planted it on March 23. The rows were 30 inches apart with stalks eight inches apart in the drill.

The soil is sandy loam creek bottom land. He applied 25 loads of barnyard manure to it last winter.

He fertilized the acre with 1,000 pounds of 14-14-14 mixed fertilizer and 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate under the crop, and 300 pounds of ammonium nitrate as side dressing.

Lamar plowed this corn two times. Rains fell so that he did not have to irrigate, but he was prepared to do this from a farm pond by gravity.

The youth was encouraged in his corn and other 4-H Club work by extension agents and his father, Paul Ratliff.

Value Of Poultry Is $50,000,000 Yearly

Poultry brings Kentucky farmers a gross of about 50 million dollars a year, according to Prof. W. M. Insko, Jr., head of the Poultry Section of the University of Kentucky. In an address at the annual meeting of the Kentucky Poultry Improvement Association, he divided the 1954 income as follows:

Eggs sold, $27,926,000; estimated value of eggs consumed on farms, $6,981,000; chickens sold, $4,060,000; estimated value of chickens consumed on farms, $2,030,000; broilers, $5,464,000; and turkeys, $1,851,000.

These figures do not represent the total income, said Prof. Insko, since high quality hatching eggs are shipped at a premium to other states. Approximately 1 1/2 million dozen hatching eggs were shipped interstate with a premium of at least 25 cents per dozen over local markets. Baby chicks, poult and breeding stock as well as some turkey hatching eggs are also produced and sold at a profit to the hatcherymen and flock owners.

There were 110 chicken hatcheries in Kentucky under the National Poultry Improvement Plan in 1954-55 with a total capacity of 5,479,244 eggs and over 13,000,000 chicks hatched. There were four turkey hatcheries with a total capacity of 717,000 eggs and over 1,000,000 poult were hatched.

Expansion is needed in broiler production since one Kentucky processing plant alone dresses more broilers per year than the whole state produces, and can dress 10,000 broilers per day Prof. Insko said. In addition, there are three other plants with a large capacity for dressing broilers and many small dressing plants located throughout the state. All of the surrounding states produce more broilers than Kentucky.

In addition to broilers, there is a need for the production of more high quality hatching eggs from Pullorum-Clean flocks for sale in the southern states and particularly in the broiler areas. Kentucky eggs have a reputation, not only for high hatchability, but also for high quality of the stock produced from these eggs and so this expansion should take place as quickly as possible. These figures indicate that poultry is of major importance in Kentucky and, because of this importance, needs continued and expanding research so that the problems that continually arise may be solved as quickly as possible for the producer.

Rearrange Furniture For Best Television

For best TV viewing by all members of the family, it may be necessary to rearrange the furniture in the living room, say home furnishings specialists at the University of Kentucky. To avoid distortion of the picture, chairs should be placed as directly in front of the screen as possible, but 6 feet or more away. Because of the brightness of the screen, it is important that a low level of general lighting be maintained, and that the light is not reflected from

Low Calorie Grape Sherbet

Here's a delightful new recipe for sherbet that you'll want to tuck in your apron pocket. For a special dinner party, this Easy Grape Sherbet provides the perfect accompaniment to your roast or chicken. It has a rich, tantalizing flavor, just right, too, as a light dessert after an elaborate dinner.

Your guests will never guess, until you tell them, that this unusual sherbet has something else very special about it. Because it's sweetened with Sucaryl, the new improved non-caloric sweetener, calories are whittled down to just 78 per serving. Had it been made with sugar, the calorie count would have jumped to 143 per serving. Needless to say, the new sherbet has a high popularity rating.

You'll want to keep Sucaryl on your table for sweetening coffee and tea, and in your kitchen for all your cooking, baking and freezing. For this new improved sweetener can be used wherever you would ordinarily use sugar. Best part of it is, you'll never be able to taste the difference.

Easy Grape Sherbet

1 12-ounce can (1 1/4 cups) undiluted, unsweetened grape juice
1 tablespoon Sucaryl solution or 24 Sucaryl tablets
1/4 cup non-fat dry milk solids

Set refrigerator control at coldest setting. Chill grape juice until icy cold, but still liquid. Pour into small mixer bowl. Add Sucaryl and dry milk solids. Whip until light, gradually increasing beating speed until volume doubles. Pour into freezing tray. Place in freezer for about 1 1/2 hours, or until partially frozen. Remove to chilled mixer bowl and beat until creamy but not liquid. Return to tray and freeze until firm, 4 to 6 hours.

Makes 6 servings. Each serving contains 78 CALORIES; 3.4 grams protein; 0.1 grams fat; 16.7 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 143 CALORIES.
