Jo's Note Book

This story you've got to hear. It's wonderful material. I've got a secret, but I'm going to tell you about it. When you finish reading this column your remarks will be: "How dumb can you get?" but just the same I'll take the chance. 'cause it's the truth. How dumb can I get? I'll tell you.

You remember what a dark, dreary day last Sunday was. It was one of those days when you want to stay in close to a warm home... and a warm fire. That's it. I wanted to stay close to a warm fire and the warmest, cheeriest fire I could think of was one in the fireplace in the living room. Since we've gotten a TV set we stay in another room in the house that doesn't have a fire place and I got just plum hungry to see a big, open fire. Paul had a dozen other chores to do last Sunday and couldn't get any fire wood. I was so disappointed and yet I was so determined to have that open fire.

I remembered that in South Fulton, on the way to our maid's home, there's a backyard just full of fire wood and I just knew that I could pick up enough there for a big, glowing fire. I took off in Paul's car with both children and we were sure happy at the prospect of that open fire-place. I even promised the kids I'd roast marsh-mallows for them... maybe bake potatoes, even roast weiners!

Well, I got to that gouse in South Fulton, but the fellow who had all the fire wood wasn't so anxious to give it to me. ... wouldn't even sell it. He suggested, however, that I go to the saw mill very near by and pick up some. I asked him if I could get close enough to the wood stack with the car to pick up the wood and he said I could. He told me the mill belonged to Mr. Stephens (Pierce - Cequin Stephens. I thought) and that, was just fine. I would pick up a goodly amount of wood and then I would get home and call and tell Mr. Stephens what I had done and pay him Monday morning. So simple. I thought, and old Paul would feel mighty bad about not taking such a little time to get the wood. You think that's the end of the story. ... just listen.

On getting to the mill the gate was locked. The stack of wood was about 200 yards away. I could see no way to get in and it was so cold, I decided to just enjoy the furnace fire. I honestly gave up the idea about the open fire until I was on the way home and as I passed the home of the gent who owned the fire wood he flagged me down and asked if I had any luck. I told him I didn't and he assured me that I could get in the mill yard and offered to go with us to the mill. The children were just overjoyed at the new prospect of the fire. ... so off we drove to the mill. It was darker than dusk, but we didn't care. ... we wanted that wood.

So... we got to the mill. The gate that was locked, was along side the railroad track. ... mainline of the Illinois Central. I pointed this out to our guide and he said. ... "That's all right, just go around the gate and drive along the railroad."

Sure it was dark. Sure it was cold. Sure we wanted that open fire and sure I have had to sit through enough western shows on TV to get the idea. The only thing... that went through my mind was to go up the embankment, drive straddling the railroad tracks, go down the embankment to the wood pile and that was it. The return trip was to be the same.

I steamed up the old Ford, put it in high gear and like the

KENTUCKY UTILITIES CHANGING OVER TO NEW BILLING PLAN

Statements To Be Sent Out Every Other Month

City and rural residential and most commercial electric customers in the Fulton District of Kentucky Utilities Company will be billed every other month, instead of monthly, after January, W. W. Anderson, district manager, announced this week.

About half the customers will receive electric bills in January, March, July, September and November. Others will receive them in February, April, June, August, October and December.

Notices are being sent with the last monthly bills so customers will know when to expect their first bi-monthly bills.

Because of the necessity of revising meter-reading routes for the new billing procedure, the first "bi-monthly" bill may cover service periods running as low as 45 days for some customers, to 45 days for others, Mr. Anderson said. The number of days covered will be marked on each bill.

Subsequent bi-monthly bills will cover approximately 60 days of service.

"There may be a few customers who feel they want to continue making payments every month. We will be glad to accept budget payments from these customers and credit the payments to their accounts," Mr. Anderson said.

There is no change in present rate schedules. They will be adapted to bi-monthly billing. The change from monthly to bi-monthly billing, he said, is being made in the interest of economy. Bi-monthly billing will mean considerable savings to the company in meter reading.

Coon Dog For Sale: That's Money, Suh!

$750 COON HOUND: Young Joe Muzzall and his daddy show off their red bone coon hound, sold this week to J. P. Dolan of Nashville for $750.00. Muzzall brought the hound three years ago in Morganfield when it was four years old; it has a record of treeing over 500 coons.

What's a good first-class coon week for $750.00 cash in hand. The hound (see picture) was a fine coon hound. In fact he was a wonderful coon hound. In three years of hunting Harold stated that he had NEVER failed to tree every track that he opened on, and he had never opened on anything but a coon.

Last year a certain J. P. Dolan of Nashville heard about the hound and first chance he had to run into Mr. Muzzall he mentioned selling the hound to him for something like $500.00. That was a good figure, more than Harold had paid for him, but it was also a good hound, and Harold decided to go. "The hound is not for sale," he told Mr. Dolan, and that ended the conversation.

Some months later Dolan and Muzzall met again, and Dolan asked to buy the hound. Muzzall again stated that the hound was not for sale. In desperation, Dolan asked Muzzall just what he WOULD take for the hound. Harold thought a minute, grabbed an impossible high figure out of the air, and calmly announced that he would sell the hound for $750.00.

That also ended the conversation. (Continued on page eight)

Robert Pillow To End Rural Mail Service After 51 Years

ALMOST 57 Years of Service and they're proud of it. Robert Pillow, left who is retiring on February 1st from postal service points out his route to Robert Lamb, who has 36 years of service carrying the rural mail. Both men visited in the News Office Tuesday.

If Robert Pillow of Water Valley were a travelling man he could say that he's been around the northern circumference of the world 34 times. He's travelled, safely, more than a half a million miles.

He has travelled horseback, horse and buggy, two-wheel cart, motorcycle and motor vehicle. Aside from trips not connected with his job, no distance has been greater than 35 miles on one trip.

The miles have added up, 24, 30, 35 miles at a time. So have the memories, the experiences and joys of a lifetime.

Robert Pillow is a rural mail carrier. He's the No. One citizen of Water Valley. He's the friend, confidante, and Father Confessor of more than a hundred families on his route. And more than anything he's the idol of all the children who know and love him.

Come February 1 of this year Mr. Pillow will retire from the Postal Service. On the date of his retirement he will have served fifty-one years, lacking fifteen days, as a rural mail carrier. If the tone of his voice

Wayne Freeman Seeks To Stop Blanket Assessments Over State

The Repeal of the Law allowing the State Tax Commission to impose blanket assessments in counties was proposed in the State Senate by Senator Wayne W. Freeman, Democrat, Mayfield, who represents the Graves-Hickman-Fulton-Marshall District.

The Commission would have power to determine the assessment ratio, to compare the various classifications of property but would be deprived of the additional authority long held by it to review and make assessment adjustments.

In The Shade of the Old Sylvan School, There's A Family Tree

By Mrs. George Newton (Fifth in a Series)

One of the basic goals of the Homemakers Organization is to promote and develop a closer tie to family, neighbor, and community. The Sylvan Shade Homemakers Club feels a great pride in knowing it has reached this goal. The store of knowledge gained here is passed on and on making the club a valuable leader and teacher. The many things mastered and efficiently applied such as: crafts, arts, style, food, management and problems of every day living build a better educated, more tolerant and closer community.

The Homemakers have so well included their entire families and community that the tag "Homebreaker" is never applied to one of them. Family Days, such as the one held Jan. 12, include the husbands, children, and visitors. The husbands willingly use hammer, nails, putty, paint brushes, build fires and join in the recreation because they too feel this spirit of closeness and achievement. The bountiful pot luck lunch that is served is not the least of attractions.

In the early 20's, extension agents organized the first club in this local area, which was called the Sylvan Shade Community Club, and met in the homes of the members. Later Miss Myrtle Jackson organized the first "Homemakers Club" here. Six of the present members were charter members of that first club: Mesdames J. M. Roper, Clara Bacon, Eunice Maddox, Ola Shaw, R. E. Brasfield and George Newton. Mrs. Newton was also the first president of Fulton County.

Due to lack of family transportation the club disbanded but was reorganized in 1934 to grow steadily.

In 1952 the Sylvan Shade Homemakers began to hold their meetings at the old school (Continued on page eight)

REAL FAMILY AFFAIRS that's what Sylvan Shade dinners are. Here Clyde Linder, Mrs. M. C. Roper, president of the club, Robert Brasfield and Jimmy Brasfield enjoy the fine pot luck. Little girl in the back is Mary Jo Westpheling who "helped cover" the event.

AND IF THERE'S A BIG DINNER, there's always the cleaning up to be done. Caught in the act of clearing the table and drying dishes are Mrs. George Newton, who wrote the accompanying story, Mrs. Bertha McLeod, home demonstration agent and Mrs. Turney Davie.

Diary of Doin's

—Around Fulton—

The News writes social happenings about you and your friends.

It's about THAT time of the year—my dear friends—when one can't pick up a ladies' magazine of any size or shape and turn through the pages for a moment of relaxation. No—it would just be impossible to relax. The first page one turns to goes something like this: "Now is the time for all of you to come to the aid of your FIGURES. The days when Madame Recamier reclined on her chaise longue and heard the bons mots fly are long past, those famous conversationalists long dead . . . the world has changed a thousandfold . . . today's woman KNOWS that even though you have just a few dollars and hours to toss around . . . you can still be beautiful . . ."

And so, on and on they go about "how the waistlines wander but Spring '56 will be form-fitting" . . . and you sit there . . . the house is nice and quiet and warm. The dog is curled up at your feet . . . and you have a good, cozy feeling but all the while you're reading about slim is the line . . . light is the weight . . . a thought keeps going in and out . . . in and out the "doors" of your brain until finally . . . it just goes in . . . closes the door . . . and STAYS. So there is nothing in the world you can do then but just close the book, go on into the kitchen, open the refrigerator and fill your glass with that custard . . . and the whipped cream . . . Those magazines are purely a nuisance!

Our congratulations go to Roma Satterfield, a sophomore over at Murray State. Roma had the nice part of a doctor's wife in the play entitled "All My Sons" which was given Friday night. How well we remember Roma in the part of Madam Nasif in the play, "My Little Margie" which her senior class of Fulton High presented two years ago this coming May. She did a splendid job of acting in that play and we hear that she was even better in the Murray presentation when she played the part of the "jealous wife." Miss Katherine Williamson, Mrs. Smith Brown, Mrs. Leland Jewell and Roma's mother, Mrs. T. A. Satterfield attended the play Friday night.

We would like to wish a Bon Voyage to Major James T. (Pee-Wee) and Charlene Sanford Nanney and their children who are sailing today (Thursday) on the "America" for England, where the Major will be stationed for three years with the Air Force. He has been stationed at Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La. for the past three years.

The popular young couple have been visiting in Fulton since Christmas with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sanford and Mrs. Shelton Hart. All of the golfing men out at the Country Club will surely miss Major Nanney as he is a frequent visitor on the fairway when he is in town. (We hope you'll enjoy your tour of duty in England, Pee Wee—let us know if you find a golf course just HALF as good as ours!)

A few days ago the Diarist was talking to Oliver Kash, that genial insurance salesman, who told of a dog he had seen that could TALK. (Now mind you, this was BEFORE the "I love my Mamma" dog appeared on our Television screens.) We think it was perfectly natural for a person to be a bit skeptical of a dog story like that—NOT that we doubted Mr. Kash—nevertheless we drove out into the country near Oakton to meet this canine wonder and to have a "talk" with him. And the astonishing result was this dog not only TALKS—he sits there in his mistress' lap and YAWNS with the careless abandon of a 2-year-old babe, and he cries even more dolefully.

This little dog is a breed of one-half toy terrier and half toy bull dog. He is eight years old and has been the devoted pet at the Homer Campbell's ever since they brought him home in their pocket when he was just a week or so old. Bobby, the son of the Campbells named him Bozo and started training him to do all kinds of tricks when he was just a young puppy and as the weeks and months went by he saw that Bozo was more than just the usual run of "smart dogs." Bobby was soon having Bozo make sounds (or I should have said "words") such as "Mama," "Yankee Doodle" and "Audrey," which is Mrs. Campbell's name.

As we sat there in the Campbell's living room, Bozo sat on his haunches in Audrey's lap and looked as much like a petted babe as anything we have ever seen. When told to "cry" he cried with such fervor that he almost had us in tears. But then when he held his little head up and said "Aw-Aw-ry!" Well, that was IT! We were convinced that Bozo's ability is not a hit-or-miss affair—he just simply lets go with what he feels at the moment when he's spoken to. Bozo is NOT just an ordinary dog—No-sir-ree!

We'll miss seeing Peggy and Godfrey Binford on the local scene. Those youngsters moved to Jackson, Tenn. where Godfrey will enter Lambuth College. Godfrey plans to major in Business Administration. Our best wishes go out to you "children." If any of you happen to be in Jackson, just go by their apartment at 1365 Hollywood Drive. We know they'll be glad to see anyone from "home."

People are talking about the recording "Cry Me a River," featuring Nancy Adams with the background music from a Combo from the Melody Men's orchestra. It's really super! Tune in on WFUL and perhaps you can hear it.

Every Friday at noon a group of "girls" meet out at the Derby for lunch and to hash over everything that has happened the past week. Last Friday we were so happy to have two former Fultonians—Rheudelle Tucker Murphy of Memphis and Lorene Hughes, who moved to Paducah a couple of weeks ago. No matter how near or how far away people go who have lived in Fulton—they are always so very happy to come back "home"—and their friends here keep the welcome mat out for them.

The happiest young couple in town these days—Louise and Wendell Butts, who have a BEAUTIFUL new Oldsmobile convertible. Louise dashed in a local beauty parlor a few days ago and everyone forgot about hair-do's, manicures, etc. because all eyes were on that stunning blue car.

We were delighted to see Mac Nall home from Shaw Air Force Base in South Carolina. Mac has completed his tour of duty in the Air Force and he plans to enter the University of Kentucky to continue his college work. 'Tis nice to have you home again, Mac!

Our congratulations to Dr. Joe

Lorene Hughes of Paducah and Rheudelle Tucker Murphy of Memphis enjoy a luncheon with a group of Fulton friends.

Sunday night were Mildred and Pos Whipple, and Kent and Mary Hamby. From Union City came two other couples who are well known around these parts; George and Sara Cloys and Ruth and Tom Cowden.

Bozo poses for the camera on the back of the sofa in his home near Oakton.

and Marilyn Davis on the birth of a darling little daughter. The doctor called his mother and dad. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davis Thursday morning and told them of the happy event. We can well imagine how excited Joe must have been. Susan Lynn Davis weighed five pounds, 11 ounces and both baby and mother are well and happy. Those of us in Fulton are surely looking forward to seeing the three Davises in the future.

Members of the Art Department of the Woman's Club had a well attended meeting Saturday when Mrs. Lee Rucker gave an interesting program on Japan. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Baird on Second Street.

Maurice (Shev) and Helen Shevlin of Evanston, Ill., have been visiting in the McDade-Baird-Wright homes in the Highlands. The popular couple were returning home after several weeks on the golf coast. Shev, who is Racing Editor of the Chicago Tribune was in New Orleans to cover the Sugar Bowl game there on New Year's Day. He was also in Mobile, Ala. for the Senior Bowl game.

One of the most beautifully planned social events of the season was a shower Thursday night honoring Mrs. Guy Howard Perry; nee Virginia Howard, recent bride. It was held at the lovely old-Holland home on Holland Lane Northeast of town, with Mrs. Joe Holland, Mrs. A. R. Roman and Miss Winnie Bolin hosts for the occasion.

Mrs. Perry wore an attractive white moire taffeta sheath dress with a shoulder corsage of pink carnations, a gift from her hostesses. The dress was beaded with pearl and rhinestone trim and her jewelry was in matching pearl motifs.

Cleverly planned games were enjoyed by the guests during the evening. Then the guest of honor was presented with a unique bridal bouquet of pink satin decorated with white net and miniature pink carnations. In the center was a small doll dressed in the traditional wedding gown and veil. Six pink satin ribbons streamed from the bouquet and attached to each were clues for the bride to follow to her gifts. At the end of her search a large box decorated in pink and trimmed with white milk bottles with Pure Milk lettering, was brought in filled with gifts for the bride.

After Mrs. Perry displayed her gifts, the hostess served a delicious plate of bell-centered ice cream, decorated cakes and mints topped with miniature pink carnation favors.

Members of the Wednesday Luncheon Club met with Mary Shepherd at her home on Third Street. Most of the ladies in this club have been friends since grade school days and they always find time to be together for a bridge game each week. Mary's guest list was restricted to members of the club and one guest, Clarice Thorpe. Mayne Freeman held the high score for the games and was given a lovely gift. Others attending were: Elsie Weeks, Irene White, Mari-on Murphy, Kathryn Browder, Lois Hornbeak, Laverne Terry and Ruth Williams.

Hickman people in town on

If Winter comes, can Spring be far behind? That's what Joy Stokes in Hickman is singing these days. Joy is planning for a Spring fashion show in the basement of the First Methodist Church on Feb. 8 at 1 o'clock. The show is being sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the church and Spring fashions will be the order of the day. (B-r-r-r It's cold outside.)

Anyway 18 lovely models will model fashions from Hickman, Fulton, Union City and Mayfield stores and Joy says they're out of this world.

A luncheon will be served in connection with the show and all for $1.50 you can feast on culinary and fashion art.

Those who will model the dashing fashions are: Mrs. Harold Rice, Mrs. Billy Joe James, Mrs. Billy Henry, Mrs. Luby Roper, Mrs. James A. Whipple, Mrs. Lester B. Eason, Mrs. Betty Summers, Miss Sue Hall, Mrs. Robert Sanger, Mrs. B. P. Black, Miss Francis Amberg, Mrs. Riley Allen, Mrs. Roscoe Stone and Mrs. Harry Barry.

Joy is general chairman of the show and from the last we heard she will also be the mistress of ceremonies. Everybody is looking forward to the big Easter Fashion parade and we know that Joy is doing a super-duper job of planning it.

NO PRACTICE
Bethlehem choir practice has been called off Thursday because of illness of the director, Mrs. Nelson Tripp.

Little Things
"It's the little things in life that tell," said Dora as she dragged her kid brother out from underneath the sofa.

Lone Ranger's stallion, Silver, I went up the embankment.

Getting up the embankment I made a sharp left turn and there I started down the railroad track. About that time the old Negro gent in the back seat kept saying, "Lord, Miss, I didn't mean this way." Oh, Miss, not this way. The children started getting mighty anxious too . . . and what is more so was I.

Then it happened. The Ford wouldn't go another inch. I stepped on the gas to go forward and the back wheels spun around like airplane propellers. I put the car in reverse and the front wheels spun faster than the back ones did.

In the cold and dreary dark we were stalled slap-dab in the middle of the railroad track.

It was then that I remembered a small statistic that I have written many times about Fulton. . . . "32 trains a day roar through Fulton."

There we were . . . two excited children, a sputtering negro man and the MOST FRANTIC DRIVER the National Safety Council has ever known.

The cold didn't matter then. We all jumped out of the car and started looking under the wheels. The autos in the West-ern weren't built like the modern, low-slung cars. The modern Ford just won't clear a railroad track, when you're trying to act the railroad tracks I frantically kept thinking. . . . "How Paul loves this little car. . . what a headline this will make. . . 32 trains a day roar through Fulton." All I could see in that dreary, cold evening was the little Ford, shattered to bits riding on the front bumper of the City of New Orleans, or the Seminole, or the City of Miami.

With those thoughts, alone I leaped in to the controls of the Ford. I cranked her up and steamed up the ignition. With all that steam I jerked the gear in reverse and like Ferdinand the Bull, the Ford lunges backward, jumps off the track, goes down the embankment and (like fury) hits the side of a barn. The impact stopped the Ford. But it was at least off the track.

Mary Jo and R. Paul meanwhile were screaming because they thought the Ford was going to tear the barn down. To quiet them I told them we'd get the fire wood for the fire place. Like crazy gophers we ran up and down the wood stack in the dark and got enough wood to build the fire. The crowd started laughing. I picked up the old Negro, who by now was three shades lighter from fright, and speechless, too! I took him home!

As he got out of the car, he said with trembling, "Lady, there's another little road along side the railroad track. I didn't mean for you to act like a mean for you to act like a train." I think he is just about now coming out of the coma he went into from shock.

This is a true story. For verification ask A. R. Stephens who didn't mean for me to ride down like a train.

Soon a crowd started gathering and I saw the bright lights of a car approach the locked gate. A man jumped out and started running toward us. It was Mr. Stephens. Mr. A. R. Stephens, the building contractor. If ever a woman got a disgusted and skeptical look, that gent gave it to me and I don't blame him.

But, I imagine he thought that when you see idiots, you deal with them accordingly. He immediately went to a tractor parked in the yard, steamed it up and was getting ready to come pull the car off the track. With the children running around, crying like lost lambs, the Negro man telling me he didn't mean for me to ride down

Pillow

On Jan. 20 of this month (Friday) Mr. Pillow will reach the age of 70, which Uncle Sam says is the age limit for service in the government. So Mr. Pillow must reire, whether he wants to or not. He feels there's something of a reprieve for him in the permission to carry the mail for ten days beyond his seventieth birthday.

Away back on Feb. 15, 1905,
this genial, friendly man started on his rural mail route. He carried Route 3 out of Water Valley which took him around Palmore through Pilot Oak. His pay was $60 a month for the first 24 miles. He wasn't allowed anything additional for mileage as is done today. He wasn't even allowed a pinch of sugar for his dear old horse, Tom, who faithfully drugged the muddy roads
with him on his daily tours.

For nearly 25 years Mr. Pillow carried the mail over the unpaved roads on his route. Although he says he never actually "wore out a horse" he did work three of them mighty hard and mighty long. Tom was his first horse and worked faithfully for five years. Bill came along next and worked four years and then old Joe stayed around for eight years, before Mr. Pillow changed to the motor vehicle in the middle twenties.
His horses were so well trained and knew the routes so well that Mr. Pillow never had to say a word to them. On approaching the box the horse would stop. Mr. Pillow would get down and put the mail in the box. On getting back into the buggy and closing the door,
the horse would just start right
up and go on to the next box.

Mr. Pillow remembers fondly the time that he bought his first motorcycle to carry the mail. He said that Dr. D. L. Jones, who was then practicing at Dukedom, Charlie Holloway of Sedalia, Emmett Finley of Dukedom and Payne Wiman of Mayfield, all bought a motorcycle on the same day. All the men except Dr. Jones, who purchased that speedy mode of transportation on the same day were rural mail carriers. The motorcycles could only be used in the summertime however, because the bad roads in the winter time made the vehicles impossible to use.

Dr. Pillow is currently using a 1931 A-Model Ford to carry the mail and says it works just fine. It's kept in tip-top shape.

Of course he's had some funny experiences on his mail route, but he's enjoyed the work to the fullest. An accommodating public servant of the first water he tells the story about a 75 year old woman, who lives about ten miles from the main road who asked him to bring her a True Story magazine. He smiled as he told the incident,
but he says he bought the magazine, put the proper postage on it and left it in her box.

"People just get more mail these days," he answered when asked if any changes had taken place in the mail service.
"Daily newspapers, magazines, catalogues, people travelling and leaving home, just make for more mail," he said. No postcard reader, he says he's just naturally happy when people get mail from their loved ones.
He's especially happy at Christmas because people get so many nice gifts. He was reluctant to answer, but he says he gets a mighty lot of nice things himself from people on his route at Christmas-time. It's no wonder.

Mr. Pillow will be remembered by many older people today
and surely by the young people on his route for a kindly little gesture he makes every day. He leaves about 80 sticks of chewing gum a day to the children on his route. Many of them come to the car to get them, but if they don't he just leaves the gum in the box for them.

Mr. Pillow is probably one of the oldest employees in point of age and service in the rural mail service today. He spends his afternoons off from work just visiting around. He spends some of that time buying chewing gum, that's for sure.

Mr. Pillow is an early riser,
as he must be. He doesn't change on Sundays either. Sleeps late as six thirty a. m.

He hasn't seen too many changes in the postal service since he first started. The postal guide is nearly the same. . . .
postage rates have gone up considerably, as everybody knows.

Mr. Pillow is married and has one son, Ward Pillow, who lives in Dallas and is employed by Proctor and Gamble.

Know what Mr. Pillow wants to do when he retires? Wants to go out to Texas and just ride around. Opps, another time around the world, no doubt.

PANCAKE DAY was Wednesday at the Derby Cafe and Dub Burnette demonstrates the fact that Hugh Fly and his genial staff were willing to serve just about any-sized portion that was asked for . . . provided that the customer paid the Polio fund a just price. (Dub, of course, didn't eat this many all at one sitting.) Waitress is Sylvia Ward.

AUCTIONEER Col. Charley Burrow kept things moving with his chanting, his badgering, his humor and his ability to get the job done.

AUCTIONEER : John W.
Stanton provided lots of assistance to Col. Charley W.
Burrow on Polio auction
Saturday.

January 25, 1835—KENTUCKY'S FIRST RAILROAD TRAIN

The locomotive, pulling several cars, chugged and puffed as it left Lexington. Exactly two hours and 29 minutes later... and some thirty miles distance... it reached Frankfort. There, a "large and enthusiastic" crowd greeted its arrival. Frankfort then was a thriving town of 1,900 persons.

In Kentucky's historic past, just as today, many of our citizens have always enjoyed a glass of beer. The brewing industry makes jobs for thousands of our residents. Nebraska Tackles Pump Problem ... Plans New-Type Structure to Outsmart Weather

Nebraska farmer and son look over new pump installation with power supplier representative. Pump house is tipped back to show equipment.

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Nebraska has a way with pump houses that ends winter "freeze-up" worries. A new type of construction, proper insulation and the installation of one or more heat lamps, as needed, provide the answer.

Plans for the structure were worked out in a cooperative project by the Extension Service of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Nebraska State Department of Health. Later some improvements were made in the original design.

The building is constructed of exterior Douglas fir plywood, nailed to a sturdy frame consisting of lumber sized from 1x3 inches to 2x4 inches. The sides, front, back and top, as well as the large removable front door, have inner linings, also of the same kind of plywood. Addition of the liner creates a 6-inch space between the inside and outside construction and into this space goes all type insulation material.

The structure rests on a concrete apron which extends 12 inches out from the four sides of a concrete platform on which the pumping equipment is located. Insulation board is placed in the concrete at the time the platform is being built.

so as to surround and protect this area from cold weather.

When in place, the house extends 1/2 inch beyond the platform on all sides. The structure is hinged to the rear of the platform so that it can be tipped back when equipment needs more attention than can be given it by removing the door. Incidentally, the door is cut to fit the front opening and usually is 38 inches high.

Wiring for the pump and heat lamps is run underground and up through the concrete platform. Heat lamps are thermostatically controlled and are located in the ceiling as close to the front of the structure as convenient. Two switches that operate independently are required—one for the motor and the other for the heat lamps. The motor will need 240-volt service. The size of service for the lamps will depend on whether they are 250 or 115-volt types. The size of the thermostat must correspond to the voltage of the lamps. Advice on wiring should be obtained from your power supplier.

It is recommended that a special circuit be run from the distribution center to the pump house. This circuit is separate from the other feeders. When a transformer pole is located on the farmstead, the water pump often is served directly from it. The water pump circuit should be protected by an over-current protective device matched to the motor.

SOUTH FULTON SCHOOL NEWS

by Martha Weeks

Boy. This is what I call winter. But come rain, snow, sleet or hail, school goes on. The basketball queen was elected Tuesday. The lucky girl is Nancy Peoples. Nancy is a very pretty girl with a charming personality. The queen is to be crowned tomorrow night before the Dixie game. The coronation and game will be here at South Fulton. Co-Captains of the girls' team are Nona Netherland and Betty Faye Peoples.

Last Friday night the Devils and Devilettes played the Rives Panthers and Pantherettes at Rives. The Devilettes captured the Pantherettes 45-35. Janice Vincent was tops with 31 points. The mighty Devils trounced the Panthers 65-36. Top man was Pruitt with 17 points. The Devils and Devilettes will host the Dixie Rebels and Rebelettes on Friday night. Saturday night they will host Obion. Both of those games will be played here at S. Fulton. Everyone be sure to come!!!

Last week the Class Sweethearts were elected.

They are: Freshmen: Paul Wade and Sandra Laird; Sophomores: Janice Vincent, Sweetheart, and James Wilhaucks, Jim Vowell and Gordon Wade are Captains. Junior: Jerry Bazzelle and Doris Harris; Senior: Don Richard and Annette Rogers.

The Polio Drive is becoming a huge success. We are proud to acknowledge that our principal, Mr. Mac Burrow, is chairman of the Polio Drive.

The Obion, F.H.A. Sub-district meeting was held Jan. 16 at S. Fulton School. Girls from F.H.A. chapters from all over Obion County were present. Refreshments were served in the Home Ec. room.

We are extremely proud of being one of fifteen schools to be placed on the Athletic Honor Roll of Tennessee. Out of over a thousand schools we were placed on this Honor Roll. This would not have been possible without the good conduct of our crowds. Let's keep it up, and when anyone mentions the name of South Fulton, let it be with respect and admiration.

Last Friday Harold received a telegram from J. P. Dolan, Nashville, to the effect that if the hound was still available at the quoted price of $750.00, he henceforth and from that minute on, had a new owner, and that the money was being wired immediately.

And thus it came to pass that an entirely new cash crop has been added to the Fulton trade territory. With such a magnificent price being paid for magnificent coon hounds, it is to be expected that much interest will be stirred by this story in the raising and training of coon hounds, and rightly so. On occasion, ten thousand chickens have netted less.

Harold arrived at the News office Friday with his hound, small son and Western Union money order, for a picture, all smiles.

"Are you a little unhappy at parting with such a fine dog, even for that much money?" we asked him, and promptly were told no. "As a matter of fact we have another coon hound in the family almost as good as this one," Harold stated.

Uruguay is the smallest of South American republics, it is about the size of Missouri, or equal to all 6 New England states combined, and claims a near-ideal climate, with summer average of 74, winter of about 50, and no wet or dry seasons.

LIEN LAW REPEAL ASKED

Separate bills to repeal the old age assistance lien law—always a controversial issue in Kentucky's election campaigns—were offered in the House of Representatives by Representatives Harry M. Caudill, Democrat, Whitesburg, and Banjo Bill Cornett, Democrat, Hindman.

Existing law imposes a lien against realty owned by recipients, which is enforceable at the death of the recipient, but inferior to claims for burial and medical expenses.

* Sylvan Shade (Continued from page one) house, a place of pride and love for the entire area. In 1940 Sylvan Shade High School, the oldest high school in Fulton County, was consolidated with Cayce, leaving only the grades. In 1947 these also were sent to Cayce, leaving this beloved old building lonely and neglected. Every family in the community had helped build this building with funds donated to supplement the money allocated by the county to have a high school. After a period of time the Superintendent of County Schools began to have the building dismantled. A committee of citizens of the community protested this move and were allowed to keep the remaining part of the building on certain conditions. Officers were elected and plans for repairs were made.

Immediately, because of the ever prevalent strong community ties the major project of the Sylvan Shade Homemakers became changing the deserted dismantled school house into a center for community activity and a club house. Work days were devoted to painting, wiring, remodeling and making again a place where the community could assemble. Tables were made for the ice cream, barbecue, and Farm Bureau suppers. A piano and furniture was obtained for the club room as was equipment for the kitchen.

Not only do the Sylvan Shade Homemakers meet here but Rush Creek also. The annual club picnic is held at night with families and friends enjoying the fun. Each and every Homemaker feels deeply interested in the community for they are a part of each other, sharing the same goals, interests, and faith in God. Family Day is designated for one day a year, but in fact it is really every club day.
