Journal from Jo's
Note Book

Since I found out earlier this week that I might be able to take the vacation I have been planning since 1948 every available minute of my time has been utilized to getting ready. I have been truly a big wheel this week. . . indeed I have been going around in circles morning, noon and night. Today I took time out to do just a little of a personal nature. . . like getting my hair shampooed. . . so since I felt guilty about being so luxurious, I brought my typewriter out to this column, so that Paul won't have to worry about filling up this space while I'm gone.

If the children don't get the measles, whooping cough, grippe or croup; if one of them doesn't break a leg, arm or neck; if I don't get word from Mississippi that my mother needs me, (she's much better, however), if the linotype machine doesn't break down; if my long string of baby-sitters and housekeepers don't get the measles, grippe or croup; if I get enough copy in to give Paul a start next week; if Patti and I get some bills paid; if I get all the menus made for two weeks; if I get enough groceries in the house to last for two weeks; if I get my responsibilities at the Radio Station out of the way; if I get a few old winter rags spruced up with some cleaning and a new flower or two, to make them look like a new Spring wardrobe; if I get the suit altered that I bought in Washington in 1947 to make it look like 1956; if I get the car in order to make a long trip; if I get the daily log written for every day's activities at the house; if Mary Jo hasn't spent the money in her piggy bank and if I come through the rigors of this hair dryer without third degree burns, then I'll be in Washington, D. C. when you read this column.

My preparations for the trip have been hindered some by the excitement I have felt about finally getting to go back to the Nation's Capitol and see some of my old friends and visit some of my old haunts. It will be mighty funny getting back up there. . . just to see if anybody remembers me! It's sad leaving a town where you once lived and setting roots somewhere else. I still have some very close friends up there, whom I have kept in touch with all these years and they will be glad to see me, I hope. They really don't believe that I'll make it, since I have been telling them every year for the past eight that I would see them either in the Fall, Spring or Summer.

I've never made it. . . and as I sit in this here now beauty parlor, I wouldn't give you an even bet that I'll make it. But if I'm not here next week you'll just know that I got everything fixed. Take it from an authority like me. . . it's harder to get away from home with two young'uns the age of mine, than it was for Grace Kelly to get away to her wedding.

The low ebb of efficiency in which I worked all week was indicated by the typographical errors in the paper this week. Of course my cause was not aided any with the absence of Patti Forrest, who was in New Orleans (that's a story to tell you when I get back). But anyhow I just wondered about the errors in the column and what the general public must think of such errors. If you will notice a line in my column, was upside down last week. To me that wasn't too unusual. . . I was standing on my head when I put the type in the forms. . . but it's what you must think about it that matters. Then too, there were some mighty badly mis-spelled words in the column and there again I am not surprised. . . you see I was hanging around the back shop when the linotype operator had his eyes in the clouds and his feet on the keyboard.

The typographical error is something slippery and sly. I almost hate to read the paper after it comes out for fear that some horrid mistake has crept in to change the whole meaning and sometimes the morality of the sentence. Take for instance: I read proof last week on a story that referred to the police force. . . the word was misspelled police FARCE. That, my dear friends, would have been in the department of catastrophe. You can ask Marce Bushart (Continued on page ten)

WARM UP THERE? Fred Stokes, Jr., front, foreground, says to Martin Holland, six foot eight and one-half inch basketball star from Heath. Looking on at left is Robert Summers, Hickman High coach and Adolph Rupp, basketball coach of the University of Kentucky who spoke at an appreciation dinner in Hickman last week.

Honesty Is Frame Of Mind, Rupp Tells Hickman Audience

Adolph Rupp, basketball coach of the University of Kentucky, delighted a Fulton County audience last Thursday when the famous mentor mixed philosophy, pot-pourri and psychology to dish up a sure-fire recipe for an after dinner talk. Appearing in Hickman under the auspices of the Methodist Men's Club of that city, under the chairmanship of Harry Barrett Stokes, Rupp proved himself as able a speaker as he is a coach. Introduced by Judge Elvis J. Stahl, who is something of a great story-teller himself, the UK coach left the river city with a reputation for being a rare speaker who could command genuine laughter in one moment and serious thought from his audience all in one fell swoop.

Waggoner of Crutcheville Homemaker's Club met with a group of ladies in the home of Mrs. W. W. Batts (now deceased) east of Fulton to organize a club. The name given this club was Boaz Chapel. This club was composed of ladies from five counties and two states. The counties being Fulton, Hickman and Graves in Kentucky, Weakley and Obion in Tennessee.

Mrs. Lola Howard was the first President. The major project was foods and the leaders were Mrs. John Binkley and Mrs. Dorsey White (who now lives in Nashville, Tenn.).

The first scheduled meeting was held in the home of Mrs. John Binkley. At this meeting stuffed beets with cottage cheese was prepared by the leaders. They also demonstrated canning squash. Another project of those days was making dress forms.

Only two of the charter members are in the club now. They are Mrs. H. C. Sams, Sr., and Mrs. John Binkley. Several months later Mrs. Wales Austin joined the club, then in a short time Mrs. M. E. Daws became a member. Some of the other members in that club were Mrs. Sam Reed, Mrs. Jim Holland, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. John Farabough, Mrs. Ferd Butler, Mrs. George Croft and Mrs. John Killebrew.

One of the songs we learned under the direction of Miss Jackson was "Follow the Glean."

Pledges Honesty: Says "Real Opponent Seems To Be The Governor"

Senator Earle C. Clements Tuesday opened his campaign for re-election to the U. S. Senate with an address which was broadcast over the state by television and radio.

Although he did not mention by name either his opponent, Joe Bates, or Bates' leading supporter, Governor A. B. Chandler, Senator Clements made several direct references to the role Chandler is playing in the Democratic senatorial campaign.

"The man who really seems to be running against me is the present occupant of the governor's office at Frankfort," Clements said. "By word and deed he has injected himself into this campaign."

Senator Clements reviewed his career in public office, which has stretched over a period of 34 years and has included service as county court clerk, sheriff and county judge of Union County, state Senator, U. S. Representative, governor and senator.

Referring to the fact that he has gained membership on the important Democratic Policy committee and is the assistant majority leader of the Senate, he declared, "Standing and seniority are matters of deep importance to you in the Senate. You may not approve of the system, but the fact remains that the standing and seniority which I have achieved in the Senate cannot be transferred to a newcomer."

Senator Clements pointed out that he was a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee which wrote the new farm bill passed by Congress last week.

"I will continue my fight to provide to the farmer a fair return on his labors and his investments," Senator Clements continued. "I am proud of the fact that today I am recognized as a spokesman in the Senate of the tobacco growers. An example of the opportunities that (Continued on page five)

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE ENDED

Spring football ended with a bang at Fulton High School Memorial Field, Thursday afternoon, April 5, 1956, as the Blues defeated the Whites 21-13 in a practice game. Described by an official of last year's Tilghman-Mayfield game, he said Fulton's practice game was a lot more bruising than Tilghman's. More interest was shown this year in spring practice than in many years as 41 boys reported and most of them finished the season. This is unusual considering the fact that K. H. S. A. A. a few years ago banned spring games between schools.

Next year's team will be built around the following boys:

LECTURER AT UK WARNS OF EDUCATION DANGERS

A nationally known critic of modern educational procedures declared last week at the University of Kentucky that many present-day school administrators are guilty of making schooling attractive at the expense of true education.

He was Dr. Arthur E. Bestor, professor of history at the University of Illinois, who spoke at the University as a Blazer Lecturer. He charged that "administrators have been so concerned with making schooling attractive that they have neglected to make sure it is educational."

Down on the Farm

With JIM PRYOR

Agricultural Agent, Illinois Central Railroad

Dairying Still Best Outlook

Dairying still has the best outlook for farmers in this area. With labor saving devices we have been able to cut the man hours 1/2 in care for the dairy cow. You may think that is a fantastic figure and chances are you will challenge me on it so I will give you all the information and let you see just how much time could be saved.

First most of the time is taken in milking the cows and feeding morning and night so I will deal first with the milking end of the day's work. If you are interested in not bending over so much and milking by hand we will begin with the elevated milking parlor. Either the V type or the Tandum. The V type is well adapted for herds under 25 head and the Tandum with the prep stall up to 100 head. I have seen farmers milking 6 to 12 cows install an elevated system with cow to can milkers and the first thing they want to do is increase their herd. Why? Well first because they can milk in less than half the time over hand milking and next they do not have to stoop down to change the milkers or wash the udder.

I was by a farm day before yesterday where the dairyman was building himself an elevated system and after seeing his concrete milking parlor where he had stanchions and had been milking with power milkers for several years. I asked him why he was building the elevated system when he had a concrete floor with stanchions. He said, "Jim, after seeing the elevated system in action I can milk in a little less time and I can do it standing up. I don't mind work, understand, because I have worked all my life, but when I can see where I can do the same job faster with less stooping and lifting, boy that's for me."

So you see, here is a farmer that already had a pretty good setup, that is it was a good system until the elevated idea came along, and he saw where he could increase his efficiency yet do a much better job much easier. He will be using the semi-automatic feeders or the feeding bin where he dips out feed without stooping and carries it 2 to 4 steps to the cow.

More next week on how to decrease hours with the milk cow. We will discuss the trench silo and how to feed without working so hard. Understand we aren't getting lazy, just smart. Those hours we are saving we can put into another farm enterprise to increase our farm income.

JOHN E. GRISSOM ON THE MOVE TO DUTY IN FRANCE

Hickman Native Was Bomber In World War II

On the move again—this time to France—is Master Sergeant John E. Grissom, 32, World War II bomber gunner brother of Ruben Grissom, who runs a diesel engine service and sales shop at Hickman.

The Hickman native, who graduated from high school there (1940) also is the brother of Mrs. Chandler Blincoe, Hickman, and Mrs. Edwinn Garrison, now of nearby Fulton.

He reported March 22 at Manhattan Beach Personnel Processing Station, Brooklyn, N. Y.—his military port of embarkation—en route to Chateaux Air Depot and duty with the 7373rd Air Depot Wing there.

For the last year, Grissom, a 10-time Air Medal winner for 50 missions in North Africa and Italy as a ball turret gunner on B-17 bombers in World War II, has been a flight operations supervisor at Tenth Air Force headquarters here.

April 1, 1755—THE FOUNDING OF BOONESBOROUGH

Daniel Boone, more than any other man, opened the way for settlers to come to Kentucky. The first fort he and his party built on the south bank of the Kentucky River was completed in about three months. A larger fort, constructed on the same site, was not finished when the Indians began their celebrated siege there in 1788.

In Kentucky's historic past, just as today, many of our citizens have always enjoyed a glass of beer. The brewing industry makes jobs for thousands of our residents. The sale of beer under orderly conditions is an important objective of the United States Brewers Foundation. Our continuing educational program helps beer retailers maintain their high standards.

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, "JUST FACE LIFTING"?

EVERY NOW AND THEN, we run across someone who seems to think that 1956 cars do not offer anything really new—just a little face lifting from the year before.

We won't try to speak for the automobile industry. But we certainly can speak for Buick.

And let us announce in no uncertain terms—it's the newest thing on wheels.

The Styling is New

Sure, it looks like a Buick. But it has a new V-prowed grille that says 1956 and no mistake. The hood's new—the fender ports are new—the sweep-spear is new—and it all adds up to a new sweep-ahead look that ends in a sassy new slant to the rear contours.

But that, friends, is only the beginning.

The 1956 Dynaflo* is New

It introduces what the engineers call "double regeneration"—which means a double-action take-off. It gives you new, split-second response in the first inch of pedal travel—plus the "switch the pitch" at full acceleration, which no one else has yet approached.

The Ride is New

To coil springs on all four wheels, a brawny X-braced frame, and torque-tube drive, the engineers have added deep-oil shock absorbers to give new softness, new buoyancy, new comfort, and a brand-new "sense of direction" handling response.

The Power is New

All 1956 Buicks have new 322-cubic-inch V8's—with record highs in power and compression—with unique new double "Y" manifolding to step up efficiency—with new carburetor "deicing"

—and a host of other new features to make owning a Buick pure pleasure.

The Thrill is New

And the surest way for you to find out how right we are, is to sample a 1956 Buick yourself.

As we said before, this is the best Buick yet—by a wide measure—and when you learn the prices we're quoting, you'll know why this Buick is one of the three best sellers in today's market.

It takes a lot more than face lifting to produce such a winner as this.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

* Three Names

Fulton organized the club now known as the Bennett Homemakers Club. This club was organized about 1940. We now boast of a membership of 26 ladies.

Through the years due to natural causes, such as illness, moving and public work, some of the members have asked that their names be dropped from the roll. The late Mrs. S. E. Hancock (Hopie) is the only member whose name has been dropped from the roll due to death.

Other Home Agents have been Miss Ann Culton, now Mrs. Abe Thompson; Miss Catherine Culton now Mrs. Robert Thompson; Miss Margaret Sullivan, an assistant to Mrs. Robert Thompson for six months. Miss Margaret Howard now Mrs. Charles Adams and Mrs. Bertha McLeod, who is the present agent.

It was during the able leadership of Ann Culton (Mrs. Abe Thompson) that the home of Mrs. Wales Austin was prepared and shown as the Demonstration house of Fulton and Hickman counties (during this time Fulton and Hickman counties were served by one agent.)

At present a member, Mrs. Raymond Elam, is remodeling her home which will be lovely when completed.

This club has done many things to help those who are less fortunate. Among those things are helping those who have suffered loss from fire, Red Cross Drives and Cancer Drives.

The 4-H Leaders have done splendid work in the past. Two boys, sons of two members have attended National 4-H Congress in Chicago, and a number ward and return trip to the last resting place.

Relating one hilarious story after another in his inimitable manner, the coach who claims more "firsts" and "bests" than any other coach in the Nation, ended his talk on a serious note.

Directing his remarks to the basketball players of the City of Hickman, in whose honor the dinner was held, Rupp said that honesty is a frame of mind. He said that success is not only the ability to get along with others, but the ability to get ahead of others.

"Good Americans," he said, "are not made by merely reciting the pledge to the flag." He said that a sports program is one of the finest things in our schools today and urged school patrons and officials to devote more time to bringing about a successful end to such activities.

A close friend of Governor Chandler's, the coach praised the program to erect another medical school at the University of Kentucky. While not openly favoring the new tax program now being debated by the General Assembly, Coach Rupp said that tax money levied for education and other public services should not be frowned upon by the voters and taxpayers. He said: "Our school systems and our churches are the only things where the cost should never be considered."

He closed his talk by reciting "The Guy in the Glass," which gave homespun advice on being honest with one's self.

Ardell Fields was master of ceremonies for the dinner and Coach Robert Summers introduced the cheerleaders and members of the Hickman basketball team. Rev. L. B. Eason, pastor of the First Methodist Church made a short talk prior to the address by the principal speaker.

Following the dinner a film was shown to the audience.

SOUTH FULTON SCHOOL NEWS

by Martha Weeks

"Hi everyone! We were indeed privileged to have one of our students elected president of the Sub-District F. H. A. chapter. That young Miss is Nancy Counce. Nancy also is bestowed with another honor. She is the most outstanding student of her school." Congratulations to you, Nancy!

The South Fulton F. H. A. chapter went to Union City on Monday, April 16. They were celebrating the annual F. H. A. Day along with other girls from Hornsbeck, Mason Hall, Troy, Rives and other schools from Obion County. They were entertained with a "TV Quiz Show" and a Fashion Show. After supper, Miss Jane Dietzel of Union City showed slides of her trip to Europe. Everyone had a very enjoyable evening. The Freshman F. H. A. gave a money-making party last Friday night and invited the Freshman boys. They folk danced and also round danced. Refreshments were served afterwards.

The Juniors and Seniors took their annual Jr.-Sr. trip last Friday, April 13. They went to Nashville, Tenn. While there they toured the whole city. The Junior and Senior sponsors, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Wilkinson and Mr. Sparks also went.

The sophomore and junior classes have called a truce and have decided to give two one-act comedys. The usually rival classes will give these plays Friday night. The sophomore play is entitled "Sweet Clean off Her Feet." The Junior play is entitled "Sally Takes a Bow."

Both of these plays are hilarious, but I don't know which is the best, so come Friday night and see for yourself. Admission is 25c.

UK'S DR. ADAMS NAMED BY EDUCATIONAL GROUP

Dr. Harold Adams, associate professor of education and assistant director of the Bureau of School Service at the University of Kentucky, has been named chairman of the Administrative and General Committees of the Co-Operative Study of Secondary School Standards.

Big Gains Recorded By State Teachers

Kentucky's school teachers have shown remarkable strides during the past decade, so far as training is concerned, according to Dr. Robert R. Martin, superintendent of Public Instruction.

A survey shows that 12,679 of the State's 21,500 school teachers hold a baccalaureate degree or better, and 3,173 of the number hold a master's degree or better.

A decade ago, only 44 per cent of the then 18,500 teachers, had college training. Ten years ago, 4,000 teachers had less than two years college preparation.

Dr. Martin said the data showed that Kentucky "schools are on the march."

WHEN YOU BUY groceries you're paying for more than just food. There are other costs involved—one of these being freight transportation.

Often this portion of your grocery bill is too high, because obsolete governmental regulations prohibit healthy competition between the various types of carriers. For instance, the Railroads are often required to maintain higher rates than they could profitably and justly charge the public, solely because lower rates might take business away from their competitors.

However, a special Cabinet Committee appointed by the President has asked Congress to modernize these transportation laws. Legislation is now pending to permit freer competition between the railroads, the trucks and the barges.

Its adoption would allow each type of transportation to do the job it can do best; would result ultimately in savings for you on the everyday things you buy.

Diary of Doin's

—Around Fulton—

The News writes social happenings about you and your friends (Listen To Airwave Diary: Thursday, 9:45 A. M., Over WFUL)

April is a wonderful month of the year — a balmy, sunlit interlude meant for us to be out of doors. Yes, there's a kind of sorcery in April. Spring begins to spin its web of magic — stirring and quickening not only green, growing things, but the spirits of people as well.

A time when one's thoughts stray toward the loveliness of growing things — when the urge is strong to forget the prosy jobs in our houses and spend ALL of our time on the outside.

The many, many lovely yards in Fulton at this season are positive proof that we DO leave our houses and devote our days to growing flowers, shrubs, fruit trees, etc. And speaking of fruit trees — have you seen any of those beautiful DWARF ones? It is always unbelievable that a tree of such small stature could produce fruit in the bountiful measure guaranteed by the "tree catalogues." We have some friends who invested in several trees of this type — and if every bloom brings forth fruit this year — we are eagerly awaiting the harvest season.

If you'd like to drive to the scene of a real fairy land—go out to the Covington Addition and drive to the end of the street, where the two Strong families live, and you will see the Grymes apple orchard in all its glory. Viola Strong told us how happy they are this year to be able to enjoy the blooming trees, because, as we well remember, last year the late freeze killed all the blossoms.

Over in East Fulton we were ecstatic over the array of color in Lena Hutcherson's yard. It is a mass of blooming flowers such as subulata phlox in that heavenly orchid color, velvety pansies, azaleas, tulips and iris and nearby is the J. A. Parish yard which would be a challenge to any woman—or man.

The Bert Newhouses' yard is always beautiful. It surely shows how much love and work has been put into it. We could write on—and on—of the many beautiful yards in Fulton.

The Garden Department of the Woman's Club occupies the spotlight on the social calendar this week.

Friday afternoon members and guests of the club made a tour of three homes with antique furnishings and two homes furnished in the modern trend.

nut Street. . . E. N. Wright of Seattle, Wash. was in town last week visiting his aunt, Mrs. E. M. Jenkins and his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCain at their home on Third Street. . .

Mrs. L. B. Newton visited her son and his family in Jackson, Tenn. the past week-end. . . Ann Whitnel has returned from a "five-weeks" visit in sunny Florida. While there she visited with her brother, Edwin, at the Haven Beach Hotel in Indian Rocks. Then she joined the H. C. Piques of Kansas City and they spent some time together in Miami, Daytona Beach and other interesting places. . .

Stopped for a chat with Eula Gordon a day or so ago and learned that her son, James Wallace and wife, Mary, of Nashville are walking on the clouds these days—the reason—they've just bought a NEW home! In fact they are patiently waiting for it to be finished so they can move in. . .

We saw a friendly group together out at the Derby Friday. They were Virginia Forrest, Bobby Brown, Wanda McClanahan, Eunice Smith and Hazel June Clark. . . Another group of ladies who were really enjoying themselves at luncheon were Ethel Freeman, Annie Laurie Baldrige, Ellen Whit-lertie Brady, Anne Davis, Kathryn Browder and Nora Alexander. We feel sure that they were planning a card game for the afternoon. . .

Ruth and Milton Calliham and children, Sydney and Mike, are to be congratulated for their purchase of a new home. Ruth and Milt own their cottage on Green Street, but as Ruth says, "We just simply outgrew our little house." So—in the not-too-distant future they will move into their new home at 306 Park Avenue. It is a lovely home and we know the Callihams will enjoy its spaciousness. . .

We heard an interesting story—it seems that sometimes you can't lose for winning (or something like that). Wilburn Holloway told us about his son, Gene, who is a student at Transylvania at Lexington, Ky. Gene pledged Kappa Alpha fraternity up there earlier in the year—and as all pledges are just NATURALLY proud of their fraternity—Gene immediately sent home stickers for the car, and what have you, with his fraternity emblem. But Gene also wrote his dad a note telling him "NOT to put any of the stickers on the car until he was ELIGIBLE for such recognition AFTER he was INITIATED." But this was ONE time that Gene's OLD MAN was SLIGHTLY ahead of him. You see, Wilburn is a KAPPA ALPHA, himself—from the University of Kentucky, in the GOOD old days! . . .

Mrs. Willie Seay of Paris, Tenn. was a week-end guest of Mrs. Emily Hardin at her home on Third Street.

● PIERCE STATION

The farmers around here are getting a lot of rest since the rains. . . Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cooley and children are guests of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cooley, Glen is with the U. S. Army stationed at Fort Carson, Colo. He will be going to Korea right away for 16 months. . . Mrs. Carl Copeland of Mayfield spent Friday night with her sister, Mrs. Jack Lowe and family. . . Mrs. Almus Polsgrove and Sandra have been on the sick list the last week. Mrs. Sam McDaniel and Mrs. Leslie Cape have been on the sick list also. . . Mrs. Wallace Cunningham and children of Paducah spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Stem. . . Mrs. Era Brown of Milburn, Ky. spent the week-end with Mrs. C. E. Lowe. . . There were 198 attending the Methodist Youth Fellowship meeting at Chapel Hill Monday night.

MRS. OLIVER CITES VALUE OF WORK IN HOMEMAKER GROUP

Says Program Is Designed To Make Home Life Happy

By Mrs. Robert Oliver

Looking over the amazing activities of the Homemaker clubs in Fulton County has prompted a well-known Fulton County woman to express her views of this worthwhile program. Mrs. Brooks Oliver sent the following article to the News office this week and because it expresses the feeling of many other urban and rural readers this newspaper is pleased to publish her letter.

It follows:
"I think the Homemakers is a wonderful organization. Exchanging ideas and learning new methods of doing things in new ways. Don't get in a rut and stay there."

"In belonging to the Fulton Homemakers, I have learned to do so many things such as crafts, which I enjoy very much. Recently I made several aluminum trays which I gave as gifts. I also made some colored ones. That cut down on expenses a lot. I have made flower planters of copper and brass and baskets of different types to suit one's needs."

"Then, there is the weaving of chair seats and stools with Hong Kong grass. Who wouldn't enjoy relaxing in one of them after a hard day at work? "Money matters and legal affairs are very important. Delegates from different fields are brought in to make talks and to discuss things to suit the needs of the Homemakers."

"Recreation is a major project. Most all of us could use more. "Don't be in such a hurry. Take time to enjoy life and your family."

Kentucky Needs Economic Growth For Progress; Adding Taxes Solves No Long Range Problem

In a news release to Kentucky papers this week, J. Stephens Watkins of the Kentucky Medical Foundation states that "In the campaign to sell the idea of a new medical school at the University of Kentucky, we learned that one of the most pressing problems is the shortage of trained physicians in the rural areas" . . . and suggests that because the rural areas without physicians might not be able to afford them, that the "subsidizing of doctors has been suggested as a means of interesting them in areas where financial returns are not great." Along this same line of thought, those who declare that the establishment of a medical school at Lexington is unwise and unnecessary, point out that such additional facilities, established ostensibly to provide an abundance of doctors for poor rural areas that now have none, would do no such thing: If Kentucky spends millions of dollars to train more doctors, the chances are that the doctors will gravitate to more attractive parts of the nation where their income will be better, this group argues. In other words, the fact that a larger crop of doctors is produced each year doesn't mean that doctorless areas stand any chance of getting them.

We don't believe a subsidy will work, nor do we believe it to be the right approach to the problem.

Let's digress for a moment. The same poor areas that have no doctors also have no newspapers, no towns of any size, poor roads, sparse inhabitants, little income. They pay little taxes and raise little crops. Their per-capita income is on the bottom of the State economic ladder.

If they could afford better, they certainly would get better, but the laws of free economics cause doctors as well as other professional men to veer elsewhere where the future is brighter. That's economics; that's the same law our children live by right here in Fulton County, when they depart for brighter horizons in Michigan, or Florida, or Oklahoma, or any where else, USA, as soon as they get out of high school because our farms or our businesses can't provide them a livelihood.

The only true answer to this problem is to raise the standard of living of these people by bringing more industry to the State, enlarging its present industries; helping and showing farmers how to earn more and to save more; aiding and abetting the growth of Kentucky as a tourist and recreational area. There is not a single, remote mountaintop anywhere in the State that cannot be helped if the State administration has a will to do it, and most of the power lies squarely in their hands.

Happy Chandler thinks he can raise our economic standards by additional taxes, but he has lulled few to sleep with that song. Increased personal Rural income necessary to support doctors or anybody else must be provided by new, fresh money coming in to the State from without, either by sales of better crops, factory payrolls, tourist dollars or dropped from the sky.

In this day and time anywhere we have a shortage of anything you can usually discover that there is a shortage of income to pay for it, and the sad economic fact is that the shortage will continue until the income money arrives.

Fear Of Reprisals Depriving Citizens Of Right To Express Preference For Political Candidates

Long time political observers termed last year's Democratic primaries "one of the meanest and most bitter in the 163-year history of the Commonwealth." We won't contradict that statement though we are just rounding out our ninth year in Ken-

Amid the bitterness, the invectives, the charges and counter-charges of that campaign we have come to look upon it in recent weeks as a right healthy scrap.

We remember when a little lady from Riceville, a railroader from Highlands, a businessman from West Fulton, or a school teacher in East Fulton could stand right up and say without fear, his or her particular preference in the Governor's race, auditor's race, treasurer's race . . . anybody's race, as is the great American custom we enjoy.

Within recent weeks, and particularly since the General Assembly has been in session, we have witnessed with contempt and disgust a form of totalitarianism creeping into the State of Kentucky. We are seeing power politics and precinct politics at the sewer level.

We are seeing a time when public officials, State employees and just ordinary citizens quake for fear that their political views be known, and particularly if they are contrary to those of the politburo in Frankfort.

Not very long ago we had the grave misfortune to sit at a meeting (not political) with a mealeymouthed, critter who feeds at the public trough. As is the topic of conversation these days, the subject of Herr Chandler's tax program came into focus and we of course expressed our views, which we are sure are somewhat familiar to you by now.

This worm coiled in the chair beside us like a furtive pup, kept shushing us for fear that our views might be construed as theirs. If so, there would be reprisals.

Its Gestapo, the Storm-troopers, the Klu Klux, the night-raiders all rolled into one.

Fortunately there are still many people surrounding us who still utter their political preferences in audible tones.

Let's you forget from week to week we'll tell you again we are remaining loyal to our political friends of last summer. We are for Earle C. Clements for United States Senator and we're not afraid that you should know it. He's a tried and capable and influential and experienced legislator and we're not about to trade him for a political unknown with hate and vengeance his political platform.

Flight To Reality In Battle Against Cancer

The children in this country, as everybody knows, have already conquered outer space. On the other hand, they have contrived to lift the siege of the Alamo. But shades of Davy Crockett, ask the children about the glories of the Salk vaccine and they will say only that it hurts.

Some of us parents, like our offspring, don't always — in the final analysis — get the point. We have in mind the fight against cancer in the United States, now moving into its 44th year.

Through the years, the American Cancer Society has been shouting from the rooftops the message of EARLY DETECTION and PROMPT DIAGNOSIS. For four decades it has informed us that many cancers are curable if caught in time. And the ACS, in its lifespan, has distributed the list of cancer's seven danger signals literally in billions.

For its part, the public has been generous in its financial support of that organization. But the rub is that vastly too many people are dying needlessly of cancer. Last year 80,000 persons lost their lives to that disease because treatment was begun too late. The ACS says we could save half of those who develop cancer today.

No wonder then that the American Cancer Society has adopted a new slogan this year for its annual cancer crusade. It's Fight Cancer with a Checkup and a Check. It's an indispensable action combination that means fighting cancer not only with your checkbook, or pocketbook, but with your appointment book as well. It's a slogan that says strike back at cancer with a one-two punch: your contribution to the ACS and a trip to your doctor.

Remember that cancer strikes one in four — two families out of every three. Learn cancer's seven danger signals. See a doctor regularly. It's the "early bird" that catches cancer in time.

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

Why They Shake Fists At God

By Frank Sheed, author of THEOLOGY AND SANITY and other books
KARL MARX, the founder of Communism, decided in 1869 that religion would have to be wiped out. He wrote to his friend Engels and told him they had to fight the religious leaders if Communism were to succeed.

We get a further indication of Marx's attitude toward religion in his famous remark, "Religion is the opium of the people." And not to be outdone, Lenin the founder of Communism in Russia, called religion "a crude sort of spiritual vodka."

WE MUST realize that Marx and Lenin were not talking about false religion. They rejected lock, stock and barrel any idea of a Being higher than man and a life after death.

The Communist attack upon religion was never meant to be direct. Lenin discredited wars on religion, which he said were the best means of reviving it. But by ridiculing religious belief and religious leaders he knew he could do damage to the cause of religion.

MARX DETESTED all religion because he denied the existence of God. Of course he could offer no proof to back his denial. Marx never asked why the human race had always believed in a Supreme Being and some kind of life after death. He merely dismissed God with a snap of his fingers.

Following the example of their founder, the modern Communists likewise dismiss God from the world, nowadays shaking their clenched fists instead of just snapping their fingers. "Christians believe man is dependent on God," they say, "Let's remove God and then man will be supreme."

THE COMMUNISTS forget that in a universe without God no one is supreme because no one has any value — God gives meaning to everything. True enough, the Communists make all men equal: equal to nothing everything is worthless in their world because their world is meaningless.

But the Communists can't just ignore God and religion. They must seek to stamp religion out, because religion is Communism's greatest enemy and the Communists know it. Even where they pretend to support religion, they must secretly be undermining it.

WHY CAN'T the Communists co-exist with God? Communism would make the world a giant pastureland where the animal "man" would have all he needed to eat and drink and recreate — and nothing more. But God, and religion, tells man he needs more.

Religion tells man he is made for a life after death. It tells him he will never be perfectly happy on this earth. Religion tells man he is free, for only free men can obey God. Religion then is the Communists' greatest enemy. Karl Marx saw this almost a hundred years ago, and the Communists persecuting religion today are just as sure: the universe isn't big enough for them and God.

Kentucky Windage

By P. W.

Just in case anyone has trouble separating what I write from that that outpour from Jo, there should be little confusion this week or next. Last Sunday Jo and Mary Nelle Wright shoved off for Washington on a two-week jaunt and the paper's all mine this week and next.

The main purpose of the trip (they said) was to drive Don back to Naval prep school at Bainbridge, but no telling what may happen now that they are on the East Coast. There was some undercurrent mummbling about getting on a television show or two, maybe spending a little time in New York, maybe spending a little time around the Capitol in Washington. . . . maybe trying to rearrange the whole Democratic national party before they get back.

Since they found out that they could arrange tape-recorded interviews at any convenient radio station and bring or send them back to WFUL for broadcast (this they did several weeks ago in Memphis) they decided to take along several blank tapes and watch for targets of opportunity.

All I can say at this writing is to watch the United Press, Associated Press, Dollar-a-second and $64,000 question, and listen to WFUL for further developments. They seldom return empty-handed.

There was some mummbling about seeing what they could do toward getting Happy Chandler on the Democratic Presidential ticket this summer: to get him out of Kentucky. I don't know if Jo can survive four years otherwise.

This marriage Ballyhoo of Grace Kelly to Prince Ranier of Monaco, currently seized upon as metropolitan editors' No. 1 front-page story, has been properly squelched, to our way of thinking.

Every news service, every sensation-seeking magazine, every free-lance writer, photographer, muck-raker, etc., has seized on the occasion for a sensational build up. It's the greatest thing since the re-birth of Davy Crockett.

Last week a human road-block of photographers sought to force the prince's car to a halt, in order to get more pictures, and that was too much for him. He promptly barred the whole works from further access to his palace.

We are sure that there are many people in the United States who look with much distaste on the attempted sensationalizing of what seeks to be a very dignified marriage ceremony.

Some one of these days the metropolitan press should grow to maturity and quit classing (for sewage-treatment purposes) a prominent marriage in the same class as the death of Hitler, the conviction of Al Capone, or the lives of Henry the 8th.

PLANT

Farm prices always drop when a bumper crop hits the market. Last year many Southern farmers beat this price drop by harvesting and selling their P. A. G. 347 and P. A. G. 351 corn in early September before corn prices hit the skids.

P. A. G. 347 and P. A. G. 351 matures in from 90 to 100 days. Makes good yields of good quality corn, that can hit the market early and bring old corn prices.

You too can profit by planting P. A. G. 347 and P. A. G. 351.

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

Do not take for granted the proper size electric water heater to install. Before a heater is bought, be reasonable sure it has a tank with capacity sufficient to store and supply your normal consumption of hot water without use of the top heating element. This should not be done by guess work.

The minimum storage capacity of the heater's tank should be equal to twice the average daily hot water usage. Your daily hot water usage will approximate 5.3 gallons, plus 7.1 gallons per person where no automatic washer is used, and where there is no hired help. No tank smaller than a 52 gallon heater is recommended and an additional 12 gallons extra capacity should be added for each member over three.

For greatest economy and satisfactory service to the customer, the water heater should be located as near as possible to the hot water faucet serving the kitchen unless there is some other faucet in the home which is used more frequently during the day. However, in the home it is usually at the kitchen sink where hot water is most frequently drawn. Many people have a tendency to place the water heater nearer the faucet used the most water and not the faucet using the water most frequently.

Frequently used hot water lines should be insulated with air-cell asbestos or other suitable insulating material. This practice cuts operation cost.

If there is a bare hot water tank in use on the premises and it is in good condition, use it as a tempering or preheating tank.

The energy saved per month when a tempering tank is used usually average 20 per cent.

Be sure there are no leaky faucets in the house. It is extremely important that you realize the seriousness of leaky water faucets as they affect the cost of water heating. A faucet that loses 15 drops of water a minute will waste 48 gallons of hot water a month.

ARE YOU LISTENING? WFUL AM and FM

NANCY ADAMS
and her "PLATTER CHATTER"
MONDAY THRU FRIDAY
4:00 to 5:00 P. M.

What's your choice? "Tutti-Frutti", "Long Tall Sally", "Blue Suede Shoes" or do you go for the familiar standards, such as "Stardust" and "Blue Skies." Whatever you like in the way of popular music, your "radio gal disc jockey" Nancy Adams has it on her popular program "NANCY'S PLATTER CHATTER".

Nancy, 17 years old, and a student of Fulton High School, spins your favorites each day Monday through Friday, from 4:00 'til 5:00 P. M. over WFUL-AM & FM. Nancy has had her own radio program as a vocalist on WFUL for several years. She sings everybody's favorites each Saturday morning at 10:00 'til 10:15 A. M., playing her own accompaniment on the ukelele.

Nancy handles her "platter chatter" show very much as she styles her singing. She can be cozy and intimate or breezy and flippant as the musical mood strikes her. And while both sexes like her styles, she wows the males.

Nancy could be a traitor to her gal listeners. She received a rare (for a woman) complaint recently. A listener wrote that she wished Nancy would talk more between the records - that her voice sounded even nicer than the music.

about the time I was talking about our SCRAPPY (ye gods I hope this gets spelled right) football team. . . it just didn't come out that way and you know what that brought about.

But then I take heart about these things when I read about the mistakes some of the big newspapers make. Read recently where the Washington Post once printed 50 copies of its edition with a headline that read like this: "President Roosevelt Confined to His Bed with a Cold." Of course the word should have been COLD.

I am hoping that this column about typographical errors doesn't make so many errors that I will have to stay in Washington all my life for fear of reprisals. I don't want to.

I may write my next column from Washington. . . if I get there!

this position gives me to be of service was provided at this session when we restored to the tobacco growers the 15 per cent acreage allotment which had been ordered taken from them last November by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Commenting on the fact there is limited time in which he can conduct a campaign, Senator Clements said, "As you know, the date for the primary election was moved up from Aug. 4 to May 29. I think you are justified in suspecting that this was not done to benefit me, and, frankly, it creates a problem for me. My duties as a United States Senator trying to do a job for you and as the assistant majority leader are heavy. While I plan to be in Kentucky in this campaign as much as can be accomplished, it must be without neglect of my duties attending to your business in Washington."

Clements took note of changes in state election laws made by the state legislature recently under the sponsorship of Governor Chandler.

"I have played at this game of what we call politics a long time, but I never tried to change the rules in the middle of the game," he said. "Moving the primary date up apparently was regarded as not being enough.

for there followed legislation to fire the election officers—the same officers who presided at the election last November at which this same governor was given a record-breaking majority. I believe most Kentuckians would have trusted the honesty and fairness of such election officers.

"Kentucky has not seen such tactics as this since another time when the same governor tried to defeat another United States Senator. That was in 1938 when he attempted to beat Alben W. Barkley by trying to control the election machinery. Kentuckians demonstrated then when they renominated Senator Barkley that they could select a candidate for the Senate without the approval of the governor."
