School starts next week and unless something unforeseen happens we will have to take R. Paul to classes on a stretcher. I can say without fear of contradiction that he has been horizontal at least 80% of the time since school closed the latter part of May. Breaking down the other 20% of his time that he has allegedly been on his feet, he has spent ten per cent in the swimming pool, and ten per cent with his feet under the table eating like he has been plowing all day.

I bring these statistics to light because I wonder how many other parents have had the same trouble that we have had this summer.

That boy of ours is perhaps the greatest living eight-year old authority on television, its programs and its mechanics. Not even the long-winded, laborious and often times boring sessions of both national conventions moved him one inch from his perch on the couch. Instead he devoured every word and played a game with himself by selecting his candidates and following their progress through the balloting. That is he did that for the Democratic convention . . . he went swimming for most of the Republican sessions.

Of course his inactivity worries me no end. He has been examined twice this summer for anemia, polio, creeping paralysis and whatever other disease might cause him to be prostrate for hours on end. The doctors laugh, of course, when they see that roly-poly, grinning, robust 85-pounds of flesh. I have tried everything I know to get him interested in tree-climbing, rope-jumping, bicycle-riding, even high-jumping. But no, he slips away from me like an eel and of course you know where I find him . . . flat on his back, his feet perched on the edge of the couch, enjoying the Cisco Kid, Gunsmoke, or the great railroad mystery.

One day I brought a tape recorder home so that I could divert his interest from TV to something constructive. I also wanted to have a lasting record of his voice. Well, I set up the microphone got the tapes all working and he started out by saying: "Well, you know I like to look at television and my favorite programs are . . ." Whereupon he started to recite every program from sign-on to sign-off and that ended that project.

He calculates all time by the television programs. If we say that he must have his bath by a certain time . . . he says, that's three television programs from now. We had his wristwatch repaired for the coming school days and he just loves to keep winding it. But only for the efficiency of television. He has been heard to say time and again recently . . . that commercial lasted longer than 60 seconds.

One morning I got up especially early and by instinct I go to his and Mary-Jo's bed to see if they're comfortable. I did not find my eldest child in bed and a moment of panic seized me. Before I awakened the rest of the household I looked over the house and I found R. Paul in the den at 5:15 a.m. Shooing him back to bed I heard him wail that he wanted to start out when the announcers did so he wouldn't miss a thing. He went back to bed with a little more wailing.

With R. Paul television has become a magnificent obsession. I think that he has an antenna in his brain. He can sing every commercial ever broadcast and if I have the great misfortune of taking him to the grocery store sometimes my budget goes for nothing. To save embarrassment of wallowing him in the store I have bought as many as three kinds of cereals at a time, to say nothing of the soap powders and floor wax.

He not only eats ice cream, drinks milk, nibbles on popcorn and blows bubbles while he's lying flat on his back looking at TV, he also gets strictly in character. For the morning programs he stays in his pajamas. For the noon and early afternoon programs he wears shorts, but for the late afternoon programs he puts on his blue jeans, a cow-boy hat, his holster and two guns and sometimes spurs.

Ever See A Six Pound Goldfish? Alvin Jene Damron Hooks One

A ten-year-old youngster, who would rather fish than eat, has made his pastime make the headlines. Alvin J. Damron, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Damron recently was written up in Paul Fairleigh's sports column "in the Memphis Press-Scimitar." Alvin Jene caught a six-pound goldfish . . . yes, gold-fish and here's what the sports writer had to say about him:

By Paul Fairleigh
Sports Writer, Press-Scimitar
Six-pound bass are not rare, but a six-pound goldfish is as rare as a snowstorm in August. Such a fish was caught in a private Shelby County pond the other morning by a teen-age angler.

Every scale on the fish was a brilliant gold. Alvin J. Damron, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Damron of Fulton, Ky made the catch in Lazros Lake on McCollum Road. He was fishing with red-worms.

The goldfish is a relative of the carp family and were introduced from Asia. However, contrary to popular misconception, the goldfish is not just a colored carp. The carp has barbels (fleshy filaments) on the side of the mouth which is not found on the goldfish. Released in a large lake, goldfish soon or later revert to the brown color of the carp. They seldom reach a greater length than 15 inches, or a weight of more than four pounds.

The goldfish hooked by young Damron measured 16 inches in length and 15 inches around. The big fish had lost none of its gold coloring.

Senator Clements, Wetherby Attend Stevenson Meeting

With both state and national party tickets determined, a drive to complete the organization for the Democratic campaign in Kentucky is now under way, W. A. Young, State Campaign Chairman, told the News Wednesday.

Two moves this week highlighted planning for the campaign - the meeting of Democratic leaders of Kentucky and a number of other states with Adlai Stevenson at Knoxville, and the naming of co-chairmen for the State Finance Committee.

Senator Earle C. Clements and former Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby, the Democratic nominees for the Senate, Young and other Democratic leaders of the state joined Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, the Democratic nominees for President and Vice President, at a strategy conference this week at Knoxville, and agreed on plans for the joint advancement of the entire Democratic campaign in Kentucky.

Young also announced the appointment of Thomas Graham and Thomas A. Ballantine, both Louisville business men and civic leaders, as co-chairmen for the Democratic Campaign Finance Committee.

Graham is president of the Bankers Bond Company and is well known over the state for his civic activities. He has been the Democratic Campaign Chairman in Jefferson County for several years. Ballantine is president of the Louisville Taxicab and Transfer Company, a former president of the Louisville Chamber of Commerce, and former member of the State Fair Board, and has been active in the raising of funds for Kentucky's independent colleges.

"Inasmuch as the Republicans can be expected to receive all the money they need for their campaign in Kentucky from the big money interests that have been favored by the national administration, it is necessary that we raise funds for the Democratic campaign," Young said.

"Under the leadership of Mr. Graham and Mr. Ballantine, a state-wide finance committee will be organized. We will be glad of any contributions that can be made, regardless of how small they may be."

Young said that organization of the campaign for the November 6 election is moving rapidly now. Headquarters for the campaign have been established in suite 743 of the Sheraton-Seelbach Hotel in Louisville.

Both Mr. Wetherby and Senator Clements are busily engaged in visiting over the state and making appearances at county fairs and other occasions, he said.

However, their formal speech-making campaigns will not be launched until after the official opening of the Democratic drive. The date has not been fixed, but it will be some time in September.

Young said that both Stevenson and Kefauver were urged to speak in Kentucky as many times as possible during the campaign.

WFUL-FM Will Air Local Football Games

Fulton's radio station WFUL-FM will broadcast all home games of both Fulton and South Fulton this year, with play-by-play account being handled by the Station's ace sportscaster, Bing Hampton.

First game will be Friday evening, when South Fulton and Gleason kick off the season at the local field. The series of broadcasts, is sponsored by a number of boosters of the schools.

PARISIAN LAUNDRY TURNS TO NATURAL GAS FOR OPERATION

The first major conversion by a local industrial firm to natural gas was announced this week by Parisian Laundry, who completed the change-over under the supervision of Industrial Boiler and Equipment Company of Memphis.

Parisian thus becomes the largest single user of natural gas in the city . . . and elimination of its coal-fired boiler will be a major advance in lessening the smoke and soot nuisance in downtown Fulton, stated Presley Campbell, owner.

Local Stores Close All Day Labor Day

Monday September 3 is Labor Day, and all retail stores in Fulton will be closed all day, the Retail Merchants Association announced this week.

Because of the Monday closing, all local stores will remain open all day Wednesday, September 5. On the following Wednesday the stores will close at noon, and continue this practice until October 1st, when the "summer closing schedule" will be abandoned.

WFUL To Broadcast Lion's Club Auction To Be Held Friday

Radio Station WFUL today joined the members of the Fulton's Lion's Club in assisting with the giant auction sale to be held Friday to raise funds for equipment for Fulton's City Park. The station has rescheduled its Friday afternoon programming so that the auction sale will be broadcast "live" from the old Atkins Motor Company building on Fourth Street.

In addition to auctioning the hundreds of valuable gifts donated to the Lion's Club, at the building, a radio auction will be held so that persons may bid, over the air, for the items.

LOCAL BEAUTICIANS SUCCUMB TO WAVE OF HIGHER COSTS

First Increase in Twelve Years Announced Here

For nearly twelve years the local beauty operators have fought the permanent wave of higher prices for their services. Not able to find a proper solution for curbing higher costs of materials and supplies, local beauticians this week increased their prices by a small percentage.

Among the few specialists in Fulton who maintained pre-war prices in spite of higher cost of operation, the beauticians made their price increases effective on August 27.

Elsewhere in this issue the beauty parlor operators of Fulton are announcing their new price schedules. The beauty of their service is that the new prices are still below those charged in other cities the size of Fulton.

The Bonds Trio will perform for the radio audience and guests.

The auction will begin at one o'clock p.m. on Friday, August 31. The broadcasting will begin at two o'clock p.m. and continue until necessary. Also the radio broadcasting will continue on Saturday afternoon, together with the auctions at the building, if it is necessary to dispose of all the items.

The one and only Colonel Charlie Burrow will be auctioneer.

Meanwhile local merchants and other interested citizens are asked to donate items for auction if they have not already done so. A huge array of useful and expensive gifts are already in the hands of the Lion's Club, but there's also lots of equipment to buy for the park . . . so make a donation today . . . even another one if you have already made one.

The entire community is being requested to join in the event, and to donate items to be auctioned off. Lions Foad Homra and Jack Carter, will be in charge of the items for sale. Even with the small, but growing amount of facilities at the park, the area is becoming a mecca for out-door fun. The water fountain installed by the Rotary Club, the shelter house, picnic tables, benches and tables furnished by the Lion's Club are proving most popular for the picnickers. The baseball diamond and bleachers have proved great fun for the pitch-and-catch groups.

In the offing and the planning stage is a concrete tennis court with facilities that will afford fun for badminton, volley ball, and basketball. The entire idea has an efficient approach to the great need for a Community Recreation Park and with the help of generous citizens the area will soon become the focal spot for out-door activities.

Who knows, maybe someday a public swimming pool will be erected there.

Good Fellowship Cements Happy Neighborhood

IT'S PICNIC TIME and residents of Connaughton subdivision in South Fulton gather for good-fellowship meal in area. South Fulton mayor Milton Counce, center, foreground, was guest of honor. A few of the new homes can be seen in the background.

Last year the Connaughton sub-division was just a plot on a real-estate chart. Two streets, no houses, but a bunch of lots for sale.

On Friday August 24th, 1956, eleven homes were built and occupied, five more were under construction but not yet occupied, and two more were in the ready-to-start stage . . . and the sub-division had been lengthened to include another street and to include property bought for development by Howard Arnold, local architect and builder.

Last Friday most of the 60 residents of the eleven occupied homes joined hands to provide a picnic supper in the area. They became better acquainted with their neighbors, discussed plans for their little "park" and enjoyed themselves so much that the picnic was voted an annual affair.

Those attending included Mr. and Mrs. Howard Arnold, Dean and Frankie, Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Toon, Mr. and Mrs. W. F.

Expanding City Limits Is Progressive Step; City Council Should Review Services Offered

Recently a group of citizens living in an unincorporated area near the city appeared before the Fulton City Council protesting their incorporation into the city limits. In order not to create an undesirable attitude among the citizens who protested, the Fulton City Council rescinded the ordinance of incorporation, permitting those citizens to live outside of the city limits as they desired.

It was revealed at the meeting at which the citizens protested that those citizens were enjoying several conveniences afforded by the city administration that were not afforded to other citizens who similarly live outside of the city limits.

For instance: Up until recently the citizens in the area of the proposed Carter subdivision: Have enjoyed city garbage collection, which certainly the citizens of the Highlands and Riceville would welcome wholeheartedly.

Been able to buy natural gas, which citizens of Highlands and Riceville are not able to purchase.

Are able to purchase water from the Fulton Water Works system at the same rate paid by citizens within the city limits. Highlands residents pay almost double the rate paid by citizens in the city limits of Fulton.

We can certainly understand the action of the City Council in seeking to bring this area into the city limits in order to secure city taxes for the services they render. However we cannot quite understand why these services were made possible before the area was incorporated.

The present City Council has made every attempt to extend the limits of the City of Fulton. They have the vision to foresee added residential areas, under the supervision of the Planning and Zoning Commission. They can see business and industrial sites become available by such incorporation, thereby bringing in more city tax monies for greater city improvement. And yet the citizens continue to protest.

Within recent years a group of citizens residing in the Highlands sought have that area incorporated. By such incorporation the area would have been zoned as a beautiful residential area. Sidewalks, fire protection by the local department, city police protection, lower insurance rates, street lights and sewerage are only a few of the conveniences the residents of Highlands would have enjoyed by taking into the city limits. The move however, was soundly and unequivocally vetoed by a majority of the citizens and taxpayers in the area.

Today, instead of the beautiful, quiet and residential environment in the Highlands comes a fast-growing commercial area. Because the main street of the Highlands is a heavily travelled highway by-pass around the city, service stations, commercial buildings and advertising signs are cropping up everywhere, removing its desirability as a strictly residential area.

It has been proven conclusively that savings can be affected by residents outside of the city limits to be incorporated into the city limits. While a local tax rate would be levied, the decrease in the insurance rate would more than off-set the additional city taxes to be levied.

To expand its city limits is the modern trend in city planning for communities the size of ours. Take a look at South Fulton, across the border and see the accelerated building program that is in progress over there. There can be no doubt that if the expansion of its city area continues in South Fulton it will someday have a larger population and a more progressive city than Fulton, Kentucky is today.

We commend the Fulton City Council for its vision to enlarge the area within its corporate limits.

We urge them to continue the fight to surmount the obstacles of protesting citizenry regarding incorporation.

Supreme Court Gives Protection To Reporter Who Quotes Politicians With Loose Tongues

The Florida Supreme Court has handed down a decision of more than passing interest to newspapers.

With the country on the eve of another presidential campaign, and congressional races that are timed with it, the court has ruled: A newspaper cannot be held liable for damages when it reports a political speech which may be derogatory to others.

The court dismissed a one million dollar libel suit against the Florida Times Union, Jacksonville. The daily had reported remarks directed against a Jacksonville political poll made by Brailley Odham, 1954 candidate for governor.

It is interesting to note that the court refused to dismiss libel charges against Odham, ruling that a jury must decide if he was motivated by malice in making the statements, later printed by the Times Union.

Joe Abram, head of the 'Florida Political Survey and Poll' brought the suit. The poll published the statement that Mr. Odham was 'slipping badly' in his race against Leroy Collins.

In reply, Odham said that 'Joe Abram is a phoney.' The Times Union quoted that statement.

In the Supreme Court decision, Justice B. K. Roberts ruled there was no question of malice on the part of the Times Union and the statement by Odham was 'qualifiedly privileged.'

This touches on a question that has bothered many a reporter covering a political speech. As the fortunes of politics change and the time for the voting comes near, many candidates especially those who are facing defeat, have a tendency to press. It is then that sometimes fair-minded men, prodded by partisanship and faced with public rejection by the voters, may go off the factual deep end and resort to personalities instead of issues.

The reporter hears the statement. He knows it may be untrue. He knows it may be libelous, but he knows it was said and it was said by a man whose name has news value in his community, and it was said in a public meeting.

Here is his lead. Here is his story. A direct and powerful charge has been made. If he doesn't use it, he might as well fall back on the hand-out from the candidate, a handout full of tired and stale statements.

With this decision of the Florida court, the reporter has been given a legal encouragement to do his job without the danger of legal action being directed against him and his publication. The court has not removed the responsibility from the creator of the possible libel. It has just established the area of responsibility for the possible libel.

The reporter on a political assignment, where partisan feelings are a part of the situation, needs this protection and so does the press if it is to do a fair and complete job of reporting what the candidates say.

POSTAL OFFICIAL SEEKS ACTION ON FAIR LETTER RATE

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield addressed an assembly of more than 2,000 rural letter carriers at a banquet during the National Convention of Rural Mail Letter Carriers in Louisville.

Summerfield told the group that an uncensored postal system is a freedom of communication that can and will destroy dictators.

He urged passage of legislation to secure fair postal rates, saying it is not right to allow huge pos-place in their life.

FLORIDA TOO has seen the need for some program of religious and spiritual training for young students. State Superintendent of Schools, Thomas Bailey, has drawn up a preliminary plan for giving students an appreciation of the fact that America is based on a belief in God and His unchanging law.

Other leading American churchmen and educators are seeking ways to reintegrate religion and education. Dr. Daniel Poling has called for some kind of instruction in schools that would at least give students an appreciation of religion's place in our country and our lives. Dr. Russell Kirk has said, "Leave religion out of education, and you have left the heart out of the body."

ALL THESE MEN and organizations have realized one thing: you can't train a student all day in what look like the important things of life, make no mention of religion, and still expect him to consider religion meaningful for every-day living. The same motives that move many American citizens to support private church schools for the education of their children are moving Americans everywhere to look a bit more deeply into the place of religion in education. All seem agreed on one big thing — we have to find some way of adding a fourth "R" to school course. Reading, writing, and 'rithmetic won't of themselves lead to a happy, God-fearing life. Religion is the fourth "R" needed in producing any well-trained, well-educated boy or girl.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
Man's real status as a child of God — possessing unlimited freedom and happiness — will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Man" will include the following from Galatians (3:26, 29): "For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus . . . And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise."

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (227:24-26): "Citizens of the world, accept the 'glorious liberty of the children of God,' and be free! This is your divine right."

How to build a new railroad!

Some folks have an idea that railroads are both old and old-fashioned!

Neither is correct. True, the Illinois Central has been serving Mid-America for 100 years. Yet much of our railroad is as new as today's jet plane . . . new and better cars, locomotives, rails, signals . . . and, most important, new ways of serving our customers better. Each year some $23 million goes for such new items, and more than $40 million helps keep the rest of the property fresh as new paint on a red caboose.

As for new ideas, read this: The Illinois Central's total awards to employees for new suggestions have reached $1 million. More than 15,000 men and women have shared in these payments.

All this tells you how hard we work to keep giving Mid-America the finest transportation service, and to better that service wherever and whenever we can.

Don't expect your floor and table lamps to serve as anything more than decorative pieces when you place them in the wrong position.

Every housewife is interested in placing her lamps where they will look best. However, if the lamp is to help you see, it should be no more than 24 to 30 inches from your work for really effective lighting. Don't place a table lamp, for instance, in the center of a large table and then expect it to light a chair several feet away. Don't hesitate to move a lamp toward you if, for appearance sake, it is placed too far from your work.

Floor lamps which are so often pulled too far forward for eye comfort, should be placed close to the rear corner of the chair. This will give a greater spread of light on your book or newspaper, and keep the bulb out of your line of vision.

Couches located between doorways, passages or windows often present a problem when it comes to choosing lamps for proper lighting.

A pair of carefully selected wall lamps, properly placed, will exactly fill the bill. Choose lamp with a least an eight inch diffusing bowl and shade with a bottom diameter of 13 inches. With diffusing bowls, use the 150-watt inside frosted bulb. Another good choice, especially if the lamps have no diffusing bowls, is to use a 1550 watt white indirect light bulb. Hang the lamps so that the lower edge of the shade is 48 inches above the floor. Then, to have the best light for reading, sit so that the center of your book is 26 inches out from the lamp sock-

State Paid By TVA For Use Of Property

Kentucky received nearly a half million dollars for the fiscal year 1955-56, from the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Revenue Commissioner J. E. Luckett said recently the Commonwealth received $490,545.61 under the "lieu payment plan" authorized by Congress to offset TVA's tax exempt status.

Of the amount, 30 percent is earmarked for the State's general fund. The remaining 70 percent is allocated to local governments, the Commissioner said.

Payment is based on book value of TVA property located in each taxing district, multiplied by the property tax rate.

HICKMAN MAKING PROGRESS WITH SWIMMING POOL

Work Begins On $12,000 Project For Local Citizens

Congratulations, Hickman, Ky. Construction on city's new $12,000-plus swimming pool continued this week and over $10,000 in cash pledges was reported at a meeting of the swimming pool group Monday night at the new REA building in East Hickman.

A meeting of all stockholders who have invested or pledged money for the construction of the Hickman swimming pool will be held Monday night at 7:30 in the new REA building in East Hickman. An election of directors of the Hickman Swimming Pool Co. will be held.

An intensive effort will be made to collect the balance of pledges and cash. For while work continues and over $6,000 in cash pledges have been collected, the balance of pledges will be needed to cover the entire cost of the construction project. Application of blown concrete to the walls was begun Tuesday and this operation includes a layer to be applied to the floor of the pool. Construction of the scum gutter and plastering of the pool. Construction of the week. Tentatively the pool is slated to be finished in the next two weeks—i.e. by the end of August.

Work on the bathhouse is likewise slated to begin this week. Other construction planned will be a walk and fence surrounding the pool, lighting, and installation of the filter system. In order to complete the construction of the pool as planned collection of all the pledges will be necessary, or final completion of the pool might possibly be delayed by a lack of funds.

Mankind will be God-governed in proportion as God's government becomes apparent, the Golden Rule utilized, and the rights of man and the liberty of conscience held sacred.

Diary of Doin's

By Mary Nelle Wright

The News writes social happenings about you and your friends (Listen To Airwave Diary, Thursday, 9:45 A. M., Over WFUL)

Dear friends and gentle readers. Since your constant diarist is somewhere along the Eastern seaboard this week, hob-nobbing with Admirals and Middies, it is our lot to make a few notes in the diary. Mary-Nelle Wright, you know, who usually keeps the key to the doings of folks around us in Annapolis, Maryland and Washington, D. C. where she and Doc and her mother, Mrs. Mace McDade are revelling in all the gay activities of Parents Week at the Military Academy. Their son, and grandson, Midshipmen Don Wright is a student at the Academy and this is the last time the folks will have a visit with him before he comes home for the Christmas holidays.

Obviously the travellers are having a fine time, for nary a word have we heard from them since they took to the highway to make that long trek eastward. Too busy to write a line and that makes us all happy to know that their full schedule prohibits them from writing to the home-folks.

The accent is on going back to school these days. While the local schools (South Fulton is already in session) are making great plans to welcome the hordes of grade and high school students next week, the college crowd will be around a little while longer, perhaps until the middle of September. A birdseye view of the destinations of our young folks around here was compiled by the Paducah-Sun last week and from that survey it looks like Fulton will be represented all over these here United States.

Plans are being made by many 1956 graduates of Fulton High and South Fulton, to enter college this fall. Also, many students, who have been home for the summer months are making plans to re-enter the different colleges and universities.

Among those who will go to Murray State College will be Miss Janet Sue Allen, Harmon Pierce, Robert E. Boaz, Ollie Worley, Miss Mary Ann "Mollie" Simpson, Bobby Joe Palmer, Miss Carolyn Roberts, Willard S. Rice, Will H. Bonduant, and Jere Pigue.

Miss Allen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Allen of 300 Taylor Street. She will be a freshman, majoring in pre-med. Harmon Pierce is the son of Mrs. Christine Pierce of Pierce Station, Tenn. This will be his sophomore year at Murray and he is majoring in chemistry.

Robert E. Boaz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Boaz of 508 Green Street. He will be a sophomore, majoring in business administration. Mr. Morley will be a sophomore at Murray, majoring in industrial arts. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Worley of Riceville.

Miss Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Simpson of Cayce, is majoring in home economics. This will be her second year at Murray State. Mr. Pigue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertie Pigue, 308 3rd St., will be a sophomore at Murray State.

Miss Annette Conner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Conner of Fulton Rt. 2 will be a sophomore at Martin, majoring in home economics; while Miss Donna Gail Patterson will re-enter the University of Tennessee, at Knoxville, Tenn., for her senior year in the college of home economics. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Patterson Jr.

Miss Jackie Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edwards of 405 Park Avenue, and Mary Anne Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hill of 807 Walnut Street, will return to Memphis State College as sophomores. Miss Hill is majoring in elementary education. Also returning to Memphis State as a sophomore is Gaylon Varden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Varden, 204 Pearl St., who is studying architectural engineering; and Charles W. Binford II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Binford, 408 3rd St.

On September 10, Lucy Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Agderon, 220 Carr Street, will leave for the University of Mississippi. There she will be a sophomore, majoring in liberal arts. Follis Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bennett, goes to the University of Mississippi, where he will be a junior, studying pharmacy.

Howard Worley, who has been working at the Fulton Daily Leader this summer, plans to enroll at the Bowling Green College of Commerce, Bowling Green, as a freshman. He will study accounting.

David Daniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Daniel, will also study at Bowling Green's college of of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gregory, will go to Memphis State. She will be a freshman, majoring in elementary education. Delbert Wood will be a freshman at Murray State College, and Don Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hendon Wright, is attending the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. This is his pleb year.

John Frazier Lewis will return to Memphis State as a senior. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Lewis. Tom Brady, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brady, will enroll as a freshman at Murray, to study pre-med.

Miss Diane Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Bennett, will go to Memphis State College as a freshman. She plans to major in history. Hoyt Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornell Wilson, 804 E. State Line, is transferring from Murray State College to the University of Kentucky in September.

Bailey Binford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Binford, 408 3rd St., will be a junior at the University of Kentucky; Max McDade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell McDade, 401 Third St., will enter his freshman year there.

Perhaps it was apropos to school days, or perhaps it was just an opportunity to get together and trip the light fantastic, but last week the teenage and college set had a fine time at the Country Club dancing to the club's new hi-fi record player. As far as can be determined this is the first time that the club's new record player has been put into use for a full-fledged dance and you know the young folks had a fine time.

Elva and Ernest Fall, Ruby and Maxwell McDade and Ethel McDaniell acted as chaperones for the dance and as always the chaperones have almost as good a time at such affairs as do the young people, so that means a great time was had by all.

This pinch-hitting diarist learned today that Jimmy Whipple of Hickman will be host to another such gay affair on Friday night when the ever-active young people will dance to the latest and trickiest tunes. Jimmy is the fine son of Mildred and Poss Whipple who no doubt are buzzing around to make the event an enjoyable one as you know it surely will be.

Miss Betty Gregory, daughter While on the subject of young people we think it interesting to note that in spite of swimming, golfing, dancing, etc. that bridge is taking an important spotlight in the lives of the lads and lassies around the town. We have been told reliably that when Al Bushart's mother asked him where he was headed one evening, he replied: "I'm going to my bridge club." Story goes that its not a real, honest to goodness club like the others around here, but Ann Fall and Bud White and Susan McDaniel and Al are putting in some pleasant hours matching wits with the bicycles . . . (cards.)

As yet there has been no word from the authorities in St. Louis, Missouri, but pending an official hearing we are permitted to say that Sara and Ward Johnson, Margaret and Joe Hall and Louise and Bob Binford had a most enjoyable time in that city this past week-end. As we hear it, the Halls and the Johnsons joined the Binfords in St. Louis to attend a ball game.

The balmy breezes we've been having these last few days may have turned into more than breezes for some gals who spent the night a-boating Monday night. Montez Baird, Ruby McDade and Jane and Irene White took off Monday and did a little fishing and cruising on Kentucky Lake and spent the night on the Jane-Ann, a swank and comfortable cabin cruiser. Betcha it was just plain cold on the lake!

A series of lovely pre-nuptial parties have honored popular Miss Janie Sue Vowell who will be married to Dawson Huddleston on Friday of this week.

Last Wednesday Mrs. Arch Huddleston, mother of the groom-elect was hostess to a beautiful tea at the attractive Huddleston home on Eddings Street. The home looked especially beautiful with its arrangements of late summer blossoms placed advantageously around the rooms. Receiving with Mrs. Huddleston and Miss Vowell was Mrs. Roy Vowell, the mother of the honoree.

Mrs. Joe Bennett, Jr. and Mrs. Wilmon Boyd president at the punch bowls. They were assisted in serving by Mrs. Dick Cummings, Mrs. Jasper Vowell, and Mrs. Bob Vowell.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Harry Murphy, and Mrs. Gene Hatfield was at the register.

Earlier in the week Mrs. Bob Vowell, Mrs. William Vowell and Mrs. Dick Cummings entertained with a gift tea in the home of Mrs. Van Latta. Janie Sue looked stunning in one of her trousseau frocks of black and gold cotton set off with a gift corsage of yellow pom-poms.

Assisting the hostesses in receiving and serving the guests was Mrs. Johnny Thompson. Miss Sue Forrest was at the register.

About 25 guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Wilmon Boyd and Mrs. Hugh Pigue last Saturday when these gracious hostesses entertained at a very pleasant party honoring Janie Sue.

Choosing another of her smart trousseau dresses, the bride-elect was most attractive in a polished black cotton, which was complemented by a handsome corsage of yellow daisy mums, a gift of the hostesses.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Pigue and receiving with Mrs. Boyd were Miss Vowell, Mrs. Roy Vowell, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Arch Huddleston.

Mrs. Mildred Anderson and Miss Sara Ann Dacus assisted in serving.

Miss Vowell was presented a piece of silver in her chosen pattern.

Sunday night the Harry Murphys and the Gene Hatfields entertained for Janie Sue and Dawson with a buffet supper in the attractive recreation room of the Murphy home. About 24 people feasted on the incomparable food that Marian and her cohorts can dish up . . . and they can really do a meal proud. When entertaining you can always count on Marian and Cissy to add a little extra something to a party and they did. Janie Sue was presented with an out of this world corsage of pink asters, complemented with tube rose blossoms dyed to match those lovely asters. Janie Sue's pretty green dress added something to that corsage and vice versa.

Janie Sue and Dawson will enjoy many a pleasant evening playing bridge on the useful card table that the hosts and hostesses presented them.

On Wednesday afternoon Wanda Sue Forrest, Mrs. Charles Sawyer and Virginia Forrest entertained with a personal shower for Janie Sue at the home of Mrs. C. P. Bruce. All those wonderful little niceties that a young lady, and especially a bride enjoys, were presented to Janie Sue. The Bruce home was beautifully decorated in blossoms of the season.

Well, its a certainty that everybody wants to be something else that they are not. Little girls want to be ladies and many are the times that grown-folks like to be little girls. Last Saturday a group of little girls did something about their desires and had, what we shall call, a "doll party."

Letha Exum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Exum, had several of her friends come over and play ladies. Dressed in high heels, grown-up dresses, costume jewelry and primed up with lip-stick, etc. the "ladies" brought their children (dolls) to the party and from the standpoint of the older folks, it was a riot. The little girls talked about the ailments of their children and later in the day had something of a fashion show.

Pat Elliott won a prize for making the best paper doll, Carol Luther was adjudged the best dressed "lady" and Judy Oliver took honors for having the best dressed "child." Some doings, eh?

Demetra Mullins And Jerry Coates Are United In Marriage Sunday Afternoon At Milan, Tenn.

In a beautiful wedding ceremony Sunday afternoon, August 26, at 4 o'clock, at the Oak Grove Baptist Church near Milan, Tennessee, Miss Demetra Mullins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Mullins of Milan, became the bride of Jerry Coates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coates of South Fulton.

The Rev. Wilburn Nelson, pastor of the church, officiated at the impressive double-ring ceremony, before a large group of relatives and friends.

The church was decorated in green and white, with a background of ferns, white glads, tube roses and candelabras.

Mrs. M. W. Haws, pianist, of Fulton, and Miss Melinda Powell, soloist, of Fulton, presented a program of nuptial music. Miss Powell sang "Because," "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and at the close of the ceremony,
"The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She was lovely in a gown of white lace over satin. Her wedding dress was designed and made by her mother and was mostly hand-made. The gown was fashioned with a low Vneckline, with short sleeves and a pointed waist on a 12-gore skirt with white satin ribbon running down each gore and a satin bow at every end of the ribbon. There was also satin ribbon running through a bias neckline to form a bow on each sleeve.

Miss Mullins' train veil of nylon tulle, flowed from a headpiece of white sequins and tear-drop pearls. She carried a white Bible, topped with a bridal bou-quet of white orchids.

Matron of honor was Mrs.
Margaret Taylor of Milan, a cousin of the bride. She wore a ballerina-length dress of blue chrom spun nylon tulle with a low neckline and full skirt. Her flowers were pink carnations and her head-piece was of tiny blue flowers. She wore blue shoes.

The two bridesmaids were Miss Glenda Coates of Fulton, sister of the groom, and Miss Dianne McAvoy of Milan, a coun-sin of the bride. Their dresses were of the same material and make as the matron of honor, except they were peach in color.
They wore white shoes.

Their flowers were white carnations, with tiny white flowers for head-pieces.

Flower-girls were Miss Sandra Coates of Fulton, sister of the groom, and Miss Judy Mullins, sister of the bride. They wore short white organza dresses trimmed in white nylon lace, with wide blue sashes. They carried roses in their baskets.

Mrs. Mullins, mother of the bride, wore black, with a white carnation corsage, and Mrs.
Coates, mother of the groom, was dressed in a black frock, with a red carnation corsage.

Mr. Coates' best man was Bobby Newton of Fulton.

Groomsmen were Herbie Cathey of Fulton, and Tommy Hughes of Union City, a cousin of the groom. Ushers were Roger Mullins of Milan, brother of the bride, and Jimmy Talbott of Milan, cousin of the bride.

Ringbearer was Harry Beadles, Jr., of Millington, a cousin of the bride.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony in the home of Mrs. T. J. Scott of Milan, an aunt of the bride.

The bride's table, draped in a lace cloth, had as its centerpiece a lovely three-tiered wedding cake, iced in pink and green. Flower arrangements were of tube roses, glads and Euphorbia Marginata.
White ribbons and candles were at each end. Bouquets of tube roses and glads decorated the living room, also.

PLANT YOUR LAMB CROP NOW

The main advantage that sheep have over other types of livestock is reproduction percentage. Every sheepman who doesn't take advantage of practices for producing and growing a large crop of lambs is doing himself a disservice. We have two major factors to watch in doing this. They are: Condition your ewes for conception of twins and be sure to use good quality purebred rams. Our natural breeding season begins the first cool nights in autumn and the periods of heat recur approximately every 17 days unless the ewe conceives. The average gestation period is 147 days.

dicating that flushing ewes will increase lamb crops by 20%, if done right. All ewes need to be in a thin but thrifty condition before breeding season. Two weeks before the rams are turned with the ewes they should be placed on feed that will start them gaining the equivalent of 10 pounds per month. If the flock had been on dry native grass, then turn them on fresh green sudan, mixed clover pasture, or any nutritious pasture you happen to have. The whole previous year of feeding should have been adequate, for no flock will produce a strong lamb crop when they have existed on a deficient ration for a long period.

Incidentally, the ram in the flock cannot be credited with the large or small percentage of twins that occur. It is the condition of the ewes that brings about production or non production of double eggs and twins.

The economical success of your lamb crop will be determined by your date span of breeding. If you breed too early you have an expensive feeding period to contend with if you wait too late much of the spring grass has already passed. The goal should be to adjust breeding dates so that lambs will be about three to four weeks old when your palatable pasture gets strong and nutritious. Maintain an area of palatable grasses before those lambs every day of their lives, and you will make money from your lamb crop. This is another reason that sheep production has the advantage over other types of livestock. They utilize in their ration 90% roughage and only 10% concentrates. You cannot beat this for profit.

The last 6 weeks of the gestation period is of the greatest importance since one third or more of the growth of the unborn lamb takes place. This is a strain on the ewe, so to off-set lambing paralysis or weak or dead lambs, supplement the ewes ration with 1/2 to 1 pound concentrate per day. You will surely be paid many times as a result of this investment.

MAN BITES DOG

Frankfurt, Germany—A man, with several drinks too many under his belt, became infuriated when friends took away his car keys. Then, as if to add insult to injury, a dog began barking at him. That was the last straw. The man seized the dog and bit him.

ANIMAL WORLD FILLS NATURE WITH MANY STRANGE SOUNDS

Man speaks in many tongues and accents, but his sound-making has nothing on the babel of the animal kingdom.

Beasts, birds, fish and insects fill nature with an amazing medley of noises, the National Geographic Society points out. Some are so familiar as to go almost unheard. Others are outlandish and rare.

A rooster's crowing is a far cry from the melancholy bray of the jackass penguin. A whale surfacing on a still night exhales with an eerie whoosh, whereas a lady moose sometimes mistakes a diesel locomotive's air horn for the love bellow of her swain.

Listening to Nature

Naturalists equipped with modern recording apparatus have turned increasing attention in recent years to the sounds made by earth's creatures.

Capturing the songs and calls of wild birds was begun by Cornell University in 1930. Since then, led by Dr. Arthur A. Allen and Dr. Paul Kellogg, Cornell expeditions have roamed most of the United States and across Latin America to record voices of as many species of birds as possible. Amphibians, insects, and mammals have been added more recently to the unique "Cornell Library of Natural Sounds."

Other scientists have joined the work, discovering among other things the complexity of a song bird's song. A wood thrush, for example, can emit four notes at once, and a blue jay almost a major chord.

From the frontier between land and water, frogs produce a chorus that often approaches the fantastic — peeping, chirping, trilling, barking, braying, booming. Frogs can grunt like pigs, quack like ducks or sound like small boys beating on tin pans. Bats, which are flying mammals, not only emit sounds extending far beyond the range of human hearing, but also navigate by them, as if by radar.

Underwater Din

Fish, seemingly the most silent of creatures, actually fill their waters with submarine sound. Some fish cackle, others yowl, moan, whistle, bleat or buzz. Still others sound to research microphones like coal sliding down a tin chute or heavy chains being dragged over a wooden floor.

Taken as a whole, insects outdo all other forms of life in volume of sounds produced. The katydid, the cricket, the mosquito and the bumblebee are loud enough individually, but consider the uproar of all their voices together.

By recording mosquitoes and amplifying the buzzing half a million times, two Cornell Medical College scientists drew mosquitoes from miles around to electrified traps. They found that different species of mosquitoes have different calls, and a given type can emit several kinds of noises.

For all their vocalization, insects have no real voices. They produce sound by rubbing rasplike legs together, scratching one wing against another, or clicking parts of their hard body armor. Nevertheless, a cricket—in relation to its size—is a noisy creature indeed.

there, however I did see Richard Harkness and Mueller.

Mueller was on the floor with one of those roving mikes.

And, oh yes, saw Margaret and Clifton Daniel, Sherman Adams, Charles Wilson, Mitchell and several other cabinet members.

We left there early "we thought", thinking we would go downtown to the hotel and my such a crowd you have never seen! The lobby was jammed packed and the street for miles. But we did get a first hand glimpse of Ike and Mamie and John. I wasn't too close, about 15 ft. I would say, but a tall man was right in front of me. After he got there we decided to go up to the Mark Hopkins Hotel and just sit in the lobby.

Elizabeth Arden, the cosmetic queen, was giving a big party so we just sat and watched all the wheels go in. Before all this party started I decided to change seats and had to go in front of the door and Richard and I (Nixon that is) almost had a collision. He smiled and the secret service men bristled.

We went over to the railroad to see Ike off. It's only two blocks from here. He was on the rear of the last car waving with all his might.
