Have you ever stopped to think how hazardous is this business of being a newspaper editor?

Have you ever stopped to think that pleasing the public is America's Number One problem?

Have you ever stopped to think that no matter what you write, good or bad, that some people will applaud and some will scream to high heavens?

All these questions come about as a result of a little polk-wow I had with some folks the other day about the effects of some columns I have written recently. Said one interested friend: "Jo, you can write pretty good (no kudos just a quote) why don't you confine your efforts to writing humorous things that happen to you and to other people, and leave the controversial subjects alone."

So, I've been thinking about that a lot and I come up with these memories:

Once I received an irate letter from a subscriber stopping his subscription. He gave no reason. I just said: "Stop that blankety-blank paper, I don't want it in my mailbox another week." He was a friend whom we respected and loved and held his support in cherished esteem. Paul and I couldn't figure out what in the world was wrong with him.

About a year later he came in and subscribed for the paper again. I couldn't resist asking him why he had stopped the paper. He said: "I knew for sure that I was buying the paper on the newstands every week."

Said he: "Well, I'll tell you Jo, last year during that political campaign you ran a fellow's announcement about his running for office and you added a paragraph to his announcement that said: 'so-and-so is married to the lovely'." A popular social leader in Fulton County. I was against him and I couldn't see a darned thing nice about him, including his "lovely" wife. It made me mad to think about you saying that so I quit the paper." (Ed's Note: Why did he re-subscribe? Wanted a little support of a fellow whose wife wasn't very lovely.)

Another memory: As you well know the News was much in favor of the recent fluoridation referendum voted down by the local citizenry. A lot of people were for it. A lot were against it. We were for it, so that was our prerogative, just as those opposed had their prerogative to be against it.

Well, I got a call one day from a rather sarcastic lady who said: "10,000 is a lot of money isn't it?" "Sure," said I, "It's almost all the money in the world, I'll bet."

"You ought to know," said she. Well, when I finally got out of her what she was talking about she informed me that she "knew for certain" that the News had been paid that amount of money for supporting fluoridation. When I got around to asking her who supposedly paid the money she said the company that will sell the fluoride to the city. We lost who's got the dough.

For her information let me advise that we have been told that fluoride to put into city water would cost about $189 a year. That's what I said. One hundred eight-nine dollars a year. At that rate it would have taken the company 53 years before they realized any profit out of the local venture, if they paid $10,000 for local support. The story goes that another newspaper in town, and ten local physicians got the same amount. So at that rate it would have taken the company 636 years before they would have started making a profit from fluoride in the city water. How dumb can you get!

Is writing hazardous. Looka here. If you support a candidate for office, you're feeding in the public trough. If you're against one "it ain't fair". If you speak well of the President you're brown-nosing. If you criticize him you're "picking on him". (Continued on Page Six)

County Liquor License Quota Cut Sharply---From 14 To 4

Drastic cutbacks in quotas for liquor licenses in McCracken and Fulton counties were announced today by the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

In McCracken, the quota for licenses to sell liquor by the drink was cut from 28 to 23, and the quota of retail package liquor licenses was cut from 46 to 23.

In Fulton County, the quota for package sales was reduced from 14 to four.

Nine of the liquor stores are in Fulton and five of them are in Hickman.

The cut was sharp throughout Kentucky not only on retail sales but for distributors.

J. T. Davis, former Fulton County sheriff and now a representative for the Alcoholic Beverage Board told the News on Wednesday that he had not been notified as yet whether any Fulton County liquor licenses would be revoked in order to cut the quota down to the new figure.

However, a prominent political leader, close to the State

Administration said that he believed that the new quota indicated that no new liquor licenses would be issued and that the number would eventually be reduced by the formula of surrender or revocation.

Orders signed by Board Chairman Alfred S. Portwood also lowered the limit on beer distributors' licenses from 119 to 109.

Quotas for licenses to sell liquor by the drink suffered the sharpest cut--from 869 to 454 in 11 counties. Retail package liquor licenses were limited to 616, a drop of 338.

The orders showed that quotas for wholesale liquor licenses were reduced from 32 to 21. A spokesman said later, however, that an error in calculation will cause a further downward revision to 19, probably when the board meets next week.

The new quotas were adopted Nov. 1 and went into effect Dec. 1. However, the actual reductions will not take place immediately.

Portwood has explained the quotas will level off to regulated standards as licenses are surrendered or revoked. Until the lower quotas have been reached, he said, licenses still will be issued to qualified persons who buy cases or taverns already holding permits.

The board arrived at the new quotas this way:

Package and by-the-drink liquor licenses--one for each 2,500 residents in place of the previous 1,500 residents.

(On the basis of county population (1950 census 13,627) and the number of liquor licenses now in effect in Fulton County there is one liquor license for every 973 persons in the county.)

Wholesale liquor licenses--one for each 31 retail package liquor licenses.

Beer distributors' licenses--one for each 36 beer retailers (there are 3,926 beer retail licenses in the state, the quotas for which are fixed by the counties themselves).

THAD FAGAN NEEDS FIFTY DOLLARS TO BREAK RECORD

Girl Scout Drive Is Received With Great Enthusiasm

Thad Fagan is a man with a mission. . . and with your help he will complete his mission. Thad, who is chairman of this year's fund drive for the Girl Scouts, lacks about $50 to make this year's receipts from the drive total double what they received last year.

Thad, who has done a wonderful job of the drive with the assistance of many loyal workers, says that the response to the fund-raising was generous and enthusiastic. He feels that perhaps a number of persons were not contacted in the drive and that those not contacted would give if they knew of the small sum needed to make this year's total double that of last year.

If you have not contributed to this year's Girl Scout Fund drive, mail or send your contribution to Thad Fagan, c/o Western Auto Store in Fulton, Kentucky.

As the radio commercial says: "Every little girl wants to be a Girl Scout" so help that little "girl" by sending in a contribution to this year's fund drive.

Fultonians Asked To Give To Hungarians

Win Whitnell, Fulton Chapter Chairman of the American Red Cross, has announced that Fulton is being asked to contribute $140.00 for Hungarian relief. There will be no soliciting of funds as it is expected that the voluntary generosity of Fulton residents will more than meet the quota. Please make your checks payable to the American Red Cross, Hungarian Relief.

Mail to Mrs. D. C. Thacker, 310 Carr Street, Fulton, Kentucky.

Democrats Name County Officials In Quiet Elections

In quiet and uneventful elections held in the 21 Fulton County precincts Democrats elected precinct officials to serve for the next four years. Another meeting of all officials elected last Saturday will be held at the courthouse in Hickman this Saturday to elect a county chairman, secretary and other officers.

CIRCUIT CLERKS TO GET HIGHER FEES BY NEW LAW

Assembly Sets New Term Date For Hiked Rates
Franklin Circuit Judge W. B. Ardery recently set effective dates of new circuit-clerk fees enacted by the 1956 Legislature. Effective immediately, Judge Ardery ruled, are these fees: An increase in the fee for issuing a duplicate driver's license from 25 cents to $1. A new fee of 50 cents to compensate clerks for preparing applications for driver's licenses.

An increase in fees for preparing records in pauper and sanity inquests from $2.50 to $10. A 50-cent fee for each attestation of the court's order book.

Effective the first Monday in January, 1958, Judge Ardery ruled, is the increase from $20 to $50 to $100 a month for acting as an ex officio County law librarian.

That is when the next regular term of circuit clerks begins.

The petition was filed by Clerk John M. Hennessy, of Jefferson County, and William H. Lindo, of Union County, in behalf of Kentucky circuit clerks.

Finance Commissioner James W. Martin and Revenue Commissioner James E. Luckett, were named defendants. Validity of the increases was not questioned in the suit.

POSTMASTER URGES EARLY MAILING FOR SUREST DELIVERY

The local post office employees wish to thank the public for its cooperation in the past and requests your even better cooperation on the 1956 "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign. Jack Carter, local postmaster said today. This can be accomplished very easily, he said, if these three simple rules are followed:

All gifts can be delivered before Christmas Eve!

WRAP THEM SECURELY. ADDRESS THEM CORRECTLY. AND MAIL THEM EARLY. Avoid the risk of mailing poorly wrapped packages. Mail Carter said. Use corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of heavy brown wrapping paper, and be sure every package is securely tied or sealed. Mr. Carter suggested that cartons containing several gifts should be stuffed with tissue or old newspapers to cushion the shock.

Mr. Carter also reminds that only Christmas cards sent by first class mail may carry written messages, a custom everyone enjoys; also they can be forwarded or returned if it becomes necessary.

The public is urged to place Christmas cards in "ALL FOR LOCAL DELIVERY" and "ALL FOR OUT OF TOWN DELIVERY" and tie them in two separate bundles with each address facing the same way.

Early mailing of all Christmas gifts and cards, Mr. Carter said, is the biggest factor in getting every thing delivered before Christmas eve.

Mr. Carter announced that for the first time Christmas card or letter may be included inside the package with gifts. Just inform the clerk at the window so the appropriate First Class postage may be added to the postage for the package themselves.

"Nothing more than a signature is authorized on cards mailed at the two cent Third Class rate", said Mr. Carter.

Phyllis Kelly, Hickman High School senior who was seriously injured during a Pep Rally Friday, Nov. 16, arrived home from Campbell's Clinic in Memphis Sunday afternoon.

US PRISON BUREAU SEEKS AREA SITE FOR PENITENTIARY

Government To Spend 15-Million For Alcatraz-type

Sam C. Nailling, president of the Union City Chamber of Commerce, reported he personally is in favor of bringing to the Union City area a new 15-million-dollar Alcatraz-type maximum security prison planned for the northwest section of Tennessee.

The U. S. Prison Bureau says

The Fulton and Clinton Chambers of Commerce are also making efforts to get the huge Government prison in the Fulton-Clinton area.

the area it prefers takes in this section of the state, but that locations also are being considered in the eastern section of Missouri, the southwest quarter of Illinois or in one of several counties in West Kentucky.

Plans call for the prison to accommodate 600 prisoners and would be staffed by 150 civil service employees and would require a tract of 600 to 1,500 acres.

Mr. Nailling said today he is calling a meeting of the executive committee to consider further action on the government's search for a new prison site.

He said that many persons at first thought might be opposed but that practically speaking those thinking of it and analyzing the type prison proposed, would not be against the prison being located here.

JANE REPORTS ON

Homemakers

By Jane Watts

Now we homemakers know whether we are a Mrs. Efficiency or a Mrs. Inefficiency when we do our homework. We know how to be more efficient and thereby save precious time and energy.

The Rush Creek Club met November 13 in the home of Mrs. John Watts. Mrs. Charles Everett was assistant hostess. The lesson, "How to Make Your Work Easier", was presented in an interesting way by Mrs. Albert Moss and Mrs. John D. Brown. They played the parts of Mrs. Inefficiency and Mrs. Efficiency and demonstrated how each would prepare a simple salad. Mrs. Larry Cardwell gave a citizenship lesson and Mrs. Watts was in charge of recreation period.

The Cayce Club was entertained by Mrs. W. B. Sowell. Mrs. Lyle Shuck in her Thanksgiving devotionals shared the thought that "giving is an outer expression of an inner feeling."

Roll call was answered with favorite time savers. Mrs. Johnny Wilson and Mrs. J. W. McLaugh discussed the lesson "Making Our Work Easier". (Continued on Page Six)

Santa Claus Is Coming Here!

Thousands of little children will get to view real live reindeer driven by Santa Claus here the night of Dec. 11th, at 7:30 p. m., according to Fulton merchants and the 40 & 8 who are sponsoring Santa Claus and his reindeer on this visit.

"Parade Day here promises to be the greatest day from a spectator standpoint in the history of the city," declared the sponsor. "We are especially inviting all children in the city and from all surrounding towns to be our guests and see Dondner, Blitzen, Dancer and Prancer. Also Rudolph with his red nose."

Santa Claus will be wearing a bright red suit to match his red sleigh. His charges will be gaily decorated in bright red harness on which their names are inscribed in brass nameplates, and we want the children to spell out the names," the committee chairman said.

The local sponsors assure the people that all arrangements have been made to provide the greatest event ever to come to this city. There's never been anything like it.

"No boy or girl, or adult for that matter can afford to pass up this opportunity of seeing Santa Claus driving his live reindeer down our city's streets," the sponsor said.

To top it all off, Santa Claus promises to take time to listen to Christmas requests and wants to see every boy and girl for miles around and talk to them about Christmas.

Except for practice session, the reindeer have been resting all summer. They are ready to get into their shiny new harness and pull Santa's sleigh down the streets. At least that's what Dancer was overheard to tell Comet a few days ago.

No matter how cold the weather the parade will be held on time. In fact, the colder the weather and the more snow is flying pleases Santa and his reindeer. It reminds them the more of the deep snow and raging blizzards in Alaska, their homeland.

KEEP FARM MACHINERY YOUNG

One of the most important jobs on the farm is the care of equipment. Thousands of dollars are just rusted away every year on Southern Illinois and Western Kentucky farms.

As tools finish their jobs this season, winterize it before storing and it will not only save you money, it will also save a few headaches. Here are a few hints for your consideration.

First, it is better to paint bright surfaces such as snouts on a corn picker that is mounted than it is to grease, because greased surfaces are troublesome and very dirty. It is, however better to grease than to let it rust out. Now then to be sure to grease all bearings before machinery is stored. This keeps out moisture, therefore no rust. Loosen tension on all V belts for longer life. Either drain the fuel tank and carburetor before storage or fill the tank. This will depend on whether or not the machine in question is to be used during the winter. Moisture will form in the tank and you have trouble. If you plan not to use the tractor I would advise complete drainage. It goes without saying that blocks and radiators that have no anti-freeze should always be drained after use. Never leave it until later in the day. Now then for the fertilizer applicators; wash with water (warm if possible) and let dry. Next rinse with a 50-50 solution of used oil and kerosene. The kerosene will carry the oil into cracks and hard to get places then evaporate, leaving the oil as a rust proof coating.

I have seen a lot of machinery under trees lately. Now the only way a tree can give any protection in the winter is to have it sawed into boards and build a shed. If you have no storage for the tractor, a tarpaulin will give some protection. It would be more profitable to put the tractor under the shed than the family car since the auto is protected by the body all over and could withstand more weather. Lets not let another winter find us with a shade tree shed, a storm or ice could prune a large limb on a tractor and spoil an entire years profit.

SEARCH BEGINS FOR BEST YOUNG SINGER IN TENNESSEE

Knoxville—The annual search for the state's most talented young singer was launched this week at the University of Tennessee.

Flyers announcing the 1957-58 Grace Moore contest, which will pay off in a $725 to $3,000 scholarship to the winner and smaller working scholarships to runners-up, have been mailed to voice teachers and high school principals throughout the state.

The "broadside" is aimed at Tennessee's high school seniors who show promise as future concert singers and who hope to develop their talents toward a music career, according to Ralph W. Frost, chairman of the Grace Moore Scholarship Committee at U-T.

One of the richest undergraduate music scholarships in the nation, the U-T award helps perpetuate the memory and philanthropic deeds of the late "Tennessee Nightingale," called the greatest singing actress of her time. Miss Moore planned to give her last concert before retirement to benefit the U-T fund, but a plane crash in 1947 cut short her career, Mr. Frost said.

A man in New York is in the dog house with the Federal Government because his dog's name isn't Doris.

Joseph Smith—a theater porter—pleaded guilty to a charge of listing his five-year-old cocker spaniel as his daughter on his federal income tax form.

The dog's real name is "Duchess" . . . not "Doris" as he listed her. Smith admitted he received a 282-dollar refund by making the false claim. Federal Judge Frederick Van Pelt Bryan put Smith on probation for three years after he promised to pay back the 282-dollars.

The Grace Moore award is valued at $725 for the entering U-T freshman, but under certain conditions may be renewed annually through the senior year to give a total four-year scholarship of almost $3,000. In addition, a number of Knoxville churches are expected to interview runners-up for working scholarships in their choirs.

Frost said regional auditions for the young singers will again be held at Martin, Nashville, and Knoxville, with the final elimination scheduled for March in Knoxville. The deadline for applying for the scholarship will be Jan. 31.

Miss Dorothy Louise Thompson Engaged To James W. Royal, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Thompson of Decatur, Georgia announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Louise, to James William Royal, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James William Royal, Sr., of Atlanta.

Miss Thompson graduated from Decatur High School where she was a member of the Beta Club and president of Pi Sigma Delta Sorority. She attended Wesleyan College in Macon where she was elected to Social Standards.

Mr. Royal graduated from Murphy High School and was president of the Student Council and lieutenant colonel in Military. He attended Presbyterian College. At the present time he is connected with Gulf Oil Corporation and is attending Georgia State College of Business Administration.

The wedding will take place Dec. 9, at Oakhurst Baptist Church of Decatur.

WHO ME?

Lonnie Hill of Pasadena, California is a man who can't leave well enough alone.

Hill was given a ticket for speeding. This wasn't bad enough so Hill went for double or nothing... and got double.

As he drove away, Hill tore up the ticket, tossing the pieces out the car window.

The cops promptly stopped him again... and gave him a second ticket for littering a public street.

Diary of Doin's

By Mary Nello Wright

Hear Mary-Nello's program, "My Fair Lady" every day on WFUL at 9:30 a.m., Monday through Friday.

There's just no doubt about it — it's here — the happy, gay and yet frenzied season of Christmas. Think of it — as of today — there's less than three weeks left before jolly St. Nick makes his perennial visits — and the gifts are opened and the bills are closed.

Christmas shopping is the order of these days with party-planning, home-coming, and visiting taking equally top billings. But still things are happening, people are coming and going — so let's see for a minute just what has been happening.

Here and There:

Congratulations to Billy Hill, son of Exie and William, Hill who was recently promoted to Assistant Supervisor in the Planning Department of the Stanling Oil Company of Brownsville, Texas. This company is a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company.

Billy and his wife, Joyce and little daughter, Renee have lived in St. Louis since his graduation from the University of Kentucky three years ago. They will leave St. Louis next week for their new home in Brownsville. Our best wishes to Billy and Joyce. (Joyce is the former Joyce Fields, daughter of Roper and Patty Mae Fields of Fulton).

The many Fulton friends of Jimmie and Gerry Thompson of Decatur, Georgia will be interested in the announcement of their daughter, Dorothy's marriage to James William Royal, Jr. which will be an event in December. (See picture and announcement).

Jimmie has been away from Fulton for many years but FULTON will always be HOME — to him. He is the son of Mr. Ed Thompson and the late Beulah Fields Thompson. Jimmie married a Georgia gal (named Gerry) who has endeared herself to everyone in our fair city who have been fortunate enough to meet her.

Jimmie is a nephew of Kathryn Atkins and Ruth Lewis.

We haven't seen their "little daughter", Dorothy, for a few years — and we actually can't realize that she is of "marriageable" age — but 'tis so, according to the Decatur newspaper.

Dorothy has been the inspiration for a series of pre-nuptial parties. Last Friday morning Ruth Thomas, who will be maid of honor, entertained at a breakfast at her home — on Ponce de Leon Place and Saturday, Mrs. O. V. Scott and Mrs. O. V. Scott, Jr. were hostesses at a shower at the Athletic Club.

Mrs. Charles Sloan gave a shower Thursday at her home on Tilson Drive and Friday Daniel Wilson entertained the betrothed couple at a dinner party at the Ansley Golf Club.

The bride-elect's mother, Mrs. James Edward Thompson was hostess at a trousseau tea at her home on East Parr Road.

Mrs. A. T. Thompson, aunt of the bride-to-be, will give the bridesmaids' luncheon on December 8 at the Castle Carriage Room. That evening, following the rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Royal will entertain at a dinner party honoring their son and his future bride.

Those who have already entertained are Mrs. J. I. Gaudin, Mrs. George Warren and Mrs. Marvin Williams, Debbie Talley, Mrs. E. A. Zimmerman, Mrs. M. T. Thome, and Mrs. Davis Tarrer, Mrs. Larry Sailors and Mrs. H. K. Robb, Harriett Hayes, Carol King and Carmen Moore and Sue Moore.

The marriage of this popular couple will take place Sunday, Dec. 9 at the Oakhurst Baptist Church in Decatur.

The lovely Ted Clark home on Pearl Street has been a beehive of activity ever since Ted and Linnie moved the first piece of furniture in. It seems that every week — some friend of the popular Clarks comes to Fulton from here — there and EVERYWHERE.

Last week Linnie's sister, Edith and husband, Sherill Pirtle of Jerseyville, Illinois were their guests for a few days — then Ted's brother, Harry and his daughter, Kathryn of St. Louis were here also.

This weekend the Clarks will play host to another one of Linnie's sisters, Gerry McMahon — and hubby, Commander William Alva McMahan, who are also VERY dear friends of yours truly, your Diarist. We had a telephone conversation with those UNPREDICTABLE McMahans Sunday night. They live in Muscatine, Iowa — and THAT is where we placed our phone call — only to be told that we would find them at the Drake Hotel — in CHICAGO. It seems that Bill had scheduled a business-trip to the windy city and Gerry conveniently made the trip to do some CHRISTMAS shopping. So — we learned that they have decided to take a little spin down our way this weekend. Bill will transact more business down Memphis way while Gerry visits with us in dear old Fulton, until Wednesday of next week.

Mothers and daughters were co-hostesses at a luncheon Saturday afternoon when Exie and Beverly Hill, Gladys and Jean Ann Hyland entertained in honor of Glenda Sue Brown, popular bride-elect with a lovely luncheon in the Rebel Room of the Derby Cafe.

The table held as its centerpiece a beautiful arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums. Candelabra held glowing yellow tapers and the place cards held small yellow mums.

Glenda Sue was her usual charming self and was ever so chic in a black wool sheath dress. Her gift corsaged yellow mums complemented her frock. She was presented a caserole as a gift from her hostesses.

The happiest people in town on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 24 were the T. J. Callisons. You see, it was their 25th anniversary. They had made tentative plans for several months to have open house so that all of their friends could share this occasion with them but they finally decided that they would have to forget about entertaining because they had been so busy doing many chores in their new home.

You may well imagine how surprised — as well as pleased — they were when Mrs. Parker McClure and Mrs. Sam Hibbs

Sound Reasoning and Common Sense Should Guide School District Annexation Ideas

During the past two weeks almost all of the residents living in this end of Fulton County outside the city of Fulton have been discussing the pros and cons of seeking admission of their area to the Fulton Independent School District. In discussing the proposal with several of them, some strange notions have come to light.

We submit that the question as to whether or not a person should belong in this school district should be decided entirely on the basis of distance from Fulton and Hickman. After all, distance will mean travel for young children, and shortening their daily travel to the minimum is doing them the best service possible.

Several prominent landowners very near Fulton, no longer having children of school age, strongly oppose annexation. We wonder if they ever expect their property to be occupied with families having school-age children, and since of course it will, what an awkward and unhappy arrangement they are encouraging.

Around Cayce, we understand that there is still bitterness toward Fulton dating from the time the Fulton Fire Department was unable to answer a call to the community during a disastrous fire . . . and such bitterness might be taken out on the children of the area by obliging them to commute longer distances to school than they need to. To that group may we say that all of Fulton was very embarrassed over the incident of the fire and the ordinance prohibiting such trips was promptly rescinded. We all make mistakes, and if that one could have been foreseen the thing never would have gotten into law.

Generations pass, and those of us who are planning today will soon be gone; Those who follow us will be rewarded with whatever planning we do now. We can set up for them a fair and equitable division of territory for two school districts in Fulton County, based on distance to be traveled, or we can let some of our personal dislikes influence some unsound thinking that will unduly penalize generations to come.

The farmers of Fulton County are known throughout the State as among the most progressive and able group in the State, and we feel confident that they will apply the same good logic and progressive thinking to this school annexation problem as they do toward running their own well-kept farms.

Do You Give Enough To Your Church?

The bulk of church members give little more than pittance to keep their churches going, according to a copyright article in the Times. The Kiplinger Magazine.

The overwhelming majority of giving is on a $1-a-week basis. But many occasional church attenders contribute as little as $2 a year for the support of the church to which they are anxious to come on Christmas and Easter.

Of the ten Protestant churches receiving the greatest total contributions, Presbyterians (U.S.) gave the most, an average of $75.54 per member a year. Lutherans (Missouri Synod) were next with $67.82 and Presbyterians (U.S.A.), third, with an average member contribution of $61.47. The other seven: Congregational Christian $54.76; Protestant Episcopal, $51.84; Lutheran (United), $50.25; Baptist (American Convention), $43.17; Baptist (Southern Convention), $42.17; Methodist, $37.53; and Disciples of Christ,

If you really want to help your church financially, pledge for the year. Your pastor will appreciate knowing he can count on a certain sum from you.

If you don't go to church very often: there is even more reason for you to make a firm pledge for the whole year. Your church cannot function on mere token support. And you expect the church to be operating when you go.

If you already use envelopes, you might give thought to a substantial increase.

Pay on time, too. Remember church expenses take no vacation. A church that has to fight to get ahead usually is a live church. But don't let this thought comfort you too much. Most people say church leaders could double their contributions without straining their pocketbooks and with considerable beneficial effect on the church. The question is: could you?

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

America's Public Enemy No. 1

By John J. Kane, Ph.D.

WE HEAR so many discussions about establishing harmony between racial and religious groups. Yet, hardly a word is raised against our increasing divorce rate — a disruptive force undermining the foundations of society.

If we cannot establish harmony between two people who love each other enough to enter into the sacred bond of marriage, hopes of intergroup and international harmony seem even more distant and unlikely.

IT IS NO exaggeration to state the most serious social problem is the divorce rate. One authority has stated that 4 out of every 10 marriages occurring in a given year will be broken by divorce or separation within five years. American divorce rates have shown an almost steady climb since 1867 when such statistics were first collected. Today the population of the United States is about five times what it was in 1870; the number of divorces almost forty-five times as great.

The problem of current marital instability is by no means a simple one.

The answer is not so much a matter of marital difficulties, which are almost as much a part of marriage as the wedding ring, but how you perceive them and how you perceive marriage. And here is where Christian social thought becomes vital. We must see marriage as a permanent institution established by God with clearly defined roles.

WHO IS TO DEFINE these basic roles? Can society alone define them? Does the Creator of man and woman have any place in working out the definition? In too much of American life, everyone but God has a right to define marriage roles.

GOD HAS ordained the ends of married life: one man and one woman, living together to lead each other and their children to happiness in heaven. Losing sight of these ends for any hope of selfish pleasure is to miss the point of marriage—it is to forget why you are married at all.

WHEN ROLES are vaguely defined personal insecurity is generated. Insecure individuals cannot be happy, so marital conflicts multiply and carry many persons to the divorce courts.

If we are to achieve harmony and security in other phases of our national life, we must have it first in our families. Christian social teaching gives us God's program for a sound family relationship. We need only the courage to promote this teaching and put it into action.

We should endeavor to be long-suffering, faithful, and charitable with all. To this small effort let us add one more privilege, namely, silence whenever it can substitute censure.

Let thy discontents be thy secrets.

With this issue of the Advertiser we retire from the newspaper field to devote our entire time and attention to job printing.

During the publication of the Advertiser it has been our pleasure to cement many friendships in and out of the city. Our policy has always been if we could not say something good about our fellowman, say nothing at all. We thank you all for past favors.

An all day meeting was held at Mrs. Dean Collins by the McFadden Homemakers Club Thursday, December 10. Lunch was served and enjoyed by all. Then the meeting was called to order and every member answered to the roll call. The lesson, "Curtaining the Window," was very nicely given by Mrs. Jim Daves. Many Christmas suggestions were also mentioned. The social program was "The Birth of Christ," acted by the club members.

The meeting adjourned to meet January 7 with Mrs. C. J. Bowers.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Wolbert, Miss Louise and Edward Wolbert and Mrs. T. J. Reed motored to Clinton Sunday and spent the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. James Satterfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Paschall were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Stephens.

A large crowd was in town Saturday and the business firms who capitalized their opportunities report good business. The stores were filled with happy shoppers taking advantage of the special bargains offered and supplied their needs for months to come.

"BLINKERS" READ FASTER

Are you a "blinker"? If you are, chances are you're a better than average reader. According to statistics from the Murine Company of Chicago, good readers blink more often than poor ones. It is generally believed that the blinks make it possible to ignore non-essential objects, such as punctuation marks and other gaps in the text. Normal persons seem to blink at about the rate of 25 times a minute.

Dear Paul and Jo:

All of us who worked in the recent drive for Girl Scout funds want to thank both of you for the splendid cooperation you gave the drive through your newspaper and radio station WFUL.

We are extremely happy to report that this year's receipts were nearly double what they were last year and we attribute this wonderful gain to the support given by your newspaper and the radio station.

There's no need to tell either of you about the worthiness of the Girl Scout movement in Fulton and South Fulton. Although you both have always supported the cause, you'll really know about this worthwhile program when your own little girl gets in the troop.

Thanks again to both of you for your constant efforts to improve our community and to give generously of your time and space to such great programs as the Girl Scouts.

Sincerely yours, acted as hostesses in the Callison home and honored them with open house.

Mrs. McClure and Mrs. Hibbs decorated the house throughout with lovely flowers. The dining table was overlaid with an imported lace cloth and silver candelabra held glowing tapers.

The Callisons and Mrs. Mc-

Clure received the guests, and Mrs. Aubrey Bondurant presided at the register. Mrs. Gene Poe and Mrs. Guthrie Luther assisted in serving delicious refreshments of individual cakes and coffee.

The highlight of the celebration was when their daughter, Mrs. Gerald Harrison, and son-in-law called from Detroit, Mich., to wish them a happy anniversary. They had received flowers from them earlier.

Mr. and Mrs. Callison recently purchased the former home of the South Fulton Baptist Church. Besides having renovated it into a charming home, it holds many cherished memories as this is where Mr. and Mrs. Callison and Martha Ann united with the South Fulton Baptist Church, and later Martha and Gerald were married there.

Approximately 65 called between the hours of 2 and 5 p. m. and to this lovable couple each guest wished them many more happy anniversaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Callison received a large number of nice gifts.

Of wide social interest is the announcement made at a party on Saturday evening in Clinton, Ky. of the engagement and approaching marriage of Mrs. Constance Webb Young of Union City, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace W. Webb of Clinton, to Glenn Edward Davis, son of Mrs. Nancy Smallwood Davis of Cleveland, Miss., and the late Duke Davis.

Mrs. Young is the granddaughter of Mrs. Estella Freeman Webb of 419 Edding Street, Fulton, and the late George Washington Webb, pioneer Virginians who settled in West Kentucky, and the late John Bostick and Mrs. Lillie Phelps Bostick of Beelerton. The bride-elect is a cousin of Mrs. Ira Little and Mrs. Fred Worth of Fulton and is a niece of Mrs. Vester Freeman also of this city.

Mr. Davis is the grandson of the late James Monroe and Mary Baker Davis and George Washington and Mary Catherine Holly Smallwood of Corna, Ala.

Mr. Davis served four years with the U. S. Air Force, both in Korea and England. He is now city editor of the Union City Daily Messenger.

The wedding will take place at 2 p. m., Dec. 22 in the chapel of the First Methodist church in Union City.

Doris Winfrey and Mrs. Joe Fly were entertained by several of their friends with a birthday party in the Rebel Room of the Derby Cafe Wednesday evening.

Neil and Milton Exum are singing a song these days—because THEIR hearts are really "breaking forth into joy!" And they have EVERY reason to be happy because—come Sunday morning the whole family, (including Milton's sister, Helen Plott from DeQuoin, Ill.) will leave for the Memphis Airport in the wee small hours to meet the plane from San Diego, Cal. You may well know that the MOST important person on that plane will be a SAILOR whom we know as MILTON

OWEN EXUM. Milton Owen is coming home for CHRISTMAS. He has been aboard the WASP on a tour of duty for the past six months and will have a 22 day leave to enjoy the holidays with those who love him best. 'Twill be a happy day—and WE'RE happy for them!

Homemakers

The Montgomery Homemakers met November 15 with Misses Doske and Jona Roach for and all day meeting. The interesting Home Management lesson on how to save time and energy was given by the leaders, Mrs. Mill Shaw, Jr. and Mrs. Gerald Hapler.

Nineteen members attended the meeting of the Victory Club which was held in the K. U. building at Fulton. Mrs. T. J. Smith was hostess. The devotional, with a Thanksgiving theme was given by Mrs. Ernest Jenkins. The lesson, "Making Your Work Easier," was ably given by the leaders, Mrs. Gene Dowdy and Mrs. Harold Copeland. They each had made the suggested lap tables for demonstration at the meeting. These small tables make so many tasks easier. Landscape notes and the citizenship lesson was given by the leaders.

The Bennett Club met in the home of Mrs. Ardell Harrington with Mrs. O. C. Croft as co-hostess. The meeting was attended by twenty three members, one new member, Mrs. Van Latta, and one visitor, Mrs. Irene Williams. For the project lesson, Mrs. Bill Fenwick as Mrs. Efficiency and Mrs. Harrington as Mrs. Inefficiency presented a clever skit of making a salad. Mrs. Efficiency was seated comfortably at her lap table with everything she needed on the table. Mrs. Inefficiency stood at a low table to prepare her salad and made several trips to get her needed supplies.

The devotional was given by Tune to WFUL for local News

Mrs. Croft. An entertaining recreational period led by Mrs. Joe Mac Reed concluded the meeting.

The skit entitled "Time and Energy" was enjoyed by the Fulton Club at their meeting which was held at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Efficiency was played by Mrs. Foster Edwards and Mrs. Inefficiency by Mrs. G. H. Butler.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Harry Allison. Mrs. J. B. Rafferty gave a on "Our Capitol." The landscape notes were given by Mrs. Edwards.

Eighteen members attended the meeting and three visitors, Mrs. A. M. Province, Mrs. Sam Jones and Mrs. Bertha McCleod.

TOBACCO NEWS

Third of a series of weekly news articles of interest to tobacco growers in the Western District. Released by Holmes Ellis, General Manager of Western Dark Fired Tobacco Growers' Assn., Murray, Ky.

During recent weeks we have received many inquiries regarding the proposed acreage and poundage program for tobacco. Most of the emphasis thus far has concerned burley tobacco inasmuch as there have been sharp increases in yields since World War II, in fact, yields per acre for burley have practically doubled in the past 25 years. The increased yield, coupled with the decline in consumption of the cigarettes in the past three years is generally attributed to the "cancer scare" and has focused attention on the need for a system that would be more effective in actually controlling production.

The shift in demand from the light, thin leaf to the heavier bodied red leaf and "tips" is attributed to the increasing popularity of filter tip cigarettes, which now represent more than one third of all cigarette sales, and has caused a sharp loss in demand for the grades heretofore considered higher in quality. Growers observing sales last week were quick to note this very significant change in demand. Generally speaking, Western Kentucky growers are profiting more from this change than Central Kentucky producers as soils in the Blue Grass area tend to produce fluffy, thin tobaccos which are now in very long supply.

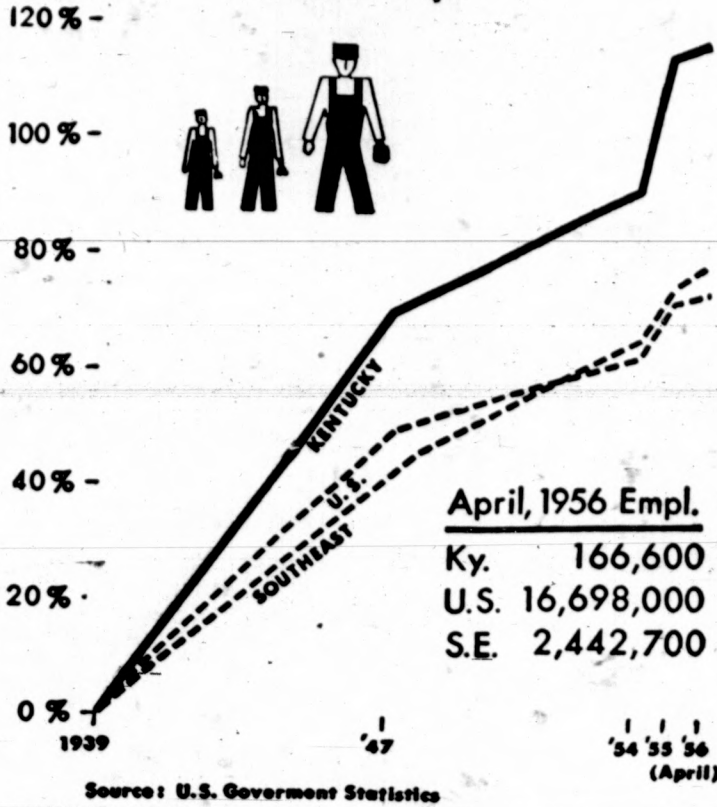

Flue-cured tobaccos produced in the southern states and the principal component of cigarettes is also in very long supply.

The Secretary of Agriculture only last week proclaimed an acreage reduction of approximately 20% for the 1957 crop. Therefore, we find the principal tobacco producing areas seeking a system that will maintain favorable prices that tobacco growers have enjoyed in the past before supplies became insurmountable as has occurred with other crops.

Though the need is greater in flue-cured and burley than for other types it is probable that if legislation is enacted all types would be included.

The proposed method involves starting with the existing acreage allotment which would become the "Base Acreage Allotment". The acreage allotment for any given year, called the "Annual Acreage Allotment," would be the base acreage allotment plus or minus an acreage equivalent to the amount by which the sales of the preceding year exceeded the poundage allotment for the farm.

Growth in Manufacturing Employment, 1939-1956

The first step in establishing a poundage allotment for each farm is the establishment of a yield per acre. Under the Soil Bank Program, a yield per acre was established for each farm. Generally speaking, the yield per acre was the average of the three highest yields obtained for each farm during the six year period 1950-55, with a maximum limit of 125 percent of the county average yield and a minimum of 80 percent of the county average yield. The "Base Poundage Allotment" is the poundage obtained by multiplying the base acreage allotment by the yield per acre. The annual poundage allotment is obtained by multiplying the annual acreage allotment by the yield per acre.

During the first year of operation under the program, the base acreage allotment and the annual acreage allotment will be the same, as will the base poundage allotment and the annual poundage allotment. This is an example for a typical farm: Assume that a farm now has a 2 acre base acreage allotment. This then would become the Annual Acreage Allotment. Let us assume also that there is established a 1500 pound yield per acre for this farm. Then, the base poundage obtained is 3000 lbs. for the farm. The Annual Poundage Allotment for the first year is the same amount. Now, for the sake of illustration, we will assume that the grower has a good yield and actually produces and sells 3300 pounds from the 2 acres the first year. This is 300 pounds more than his poundage base. This excess of 300 lbs. is converted into an acreage adjustment figure for the next year. This is done by dividing the over-production of 300 lbs. by the yield per acre as figured under the soil bank program for this farm or 1500 lbs. So in terms of acreage this farm has produced two-tenths (2) of an acre too much the first year. Second year—This farm the second year must adjust the acreage to reflect the over-production for the previous year. He starts out with the 2 acres base acreage allotment but now he must cut off the .2 of an acre so that he has only 1.8 acre to produce. The yield per acre remains at 1500 lbs. under the soil bank plan and his base poundage allotment stays at 3000 lbs. But this year his actual poundage allotment goes down to 2700 lbs. Assume that he has another to plant.

We can figure his Annual Poundage Allotment by multiplying his annual acreage allotment, 1.9 by his soil bank yield per acre 1500 lbs. We now see that his poundage allotment for the third year is 2850 lbs.

Perhaps the third year conditions are not as favorable, disease, injury, hail damage, dry weather or other hazards exist and he actually sells only 2550 lbs. the third year.

Now, What Happens?

This means that he is actually short 300 pounds of his Base-Poundage Allotment. By dividing the shortage of 300 lbs. by his soil bank yield, 1500 lbs, we see that he has a shortage of .2 of an acre.

Fourth Year. The farm would again start out with 2 acre base. But because he was short on production the year before he would get an increase the fourth year of .2 of an acre, making his actual allotment 2.2 acres.

The poundage allotment would be 2.2 multiplied by 1500 lbs. or 3300 pounds.

Assuming a normal year and that actual sales were 3300 pounds he would be in "balance" and ready to start the next year with a 2 acre base, the same as the first year.

One of the advantages of this plan, especially for growers with small allotments, would be the privilege of skipping a year and then doubling up the following year.

This plan retains the Acreage Allotment feature but adds the pounds provision and permits the sale of all tobacco produced on the Acreage Allotment for the farm.

What is Necessary to Put This Plan into Effect?

Legislation would have to be passed in Congress authorizing this plan and it is assumed a referendum would be conducted as has been the policy in previous years. Farm meetings are now being held with tobacco growers in the southern states to discuss this plan.

SCHOOL NEWS

by Martha Weeks

Hi there! What's cooking in your part of the world? There is nothing much happening in the school this week. I said I wouldn't mention the fact but I am anyway, we beat Horn-beak! The girls and boys both were triumphant over the "Green Waves".

The girls team was feted to a deluxe hamburger supper at the Park Terrace in honor of this occasion. The host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Peoples. Everyone had a wonderful time.

A special assembly was called Monday morning. Rev. John Laidla introduced the famous Angel Martinez, a noted evangelist, who is currently holding a revival at the First Baptist Church. He spoke a few delightful and also inspiring words to us. Everyone enjoyed him immensely.

Nancy Faulkner was honored with a surprise birthday party Monday night. She was really, and I mean really surprised. Those attending were: Joan Tune, Joe Lowe, Donald Faulkner, Jessie Gambin, Lorraine Fields, Joan Maynard, Morgan Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield Martin and two out of town guests, Don Reeves and Gaylon Caldwell from Troy, Tennessee. Oh yes! Nancy received many nice gifts. Jessie Gambin went to Memphis Saturday shopping. I wonder if she met Santa Claus in any of the stores.

Sunday.

YOU AND YOUR HEART

Recent advances in the development of heart surgery skills in Kentucky, plus the expansion of other medical services in this field, now make it possible for all but a few rare types of heart operations to be performed in the state. Authority for this statement is Dr. Thomas G. Hobbs, Lexington, president of the Kentucky Heart Association.

Until a short time ago it was common practice for Kentuckians in need of heart surgery to travel many miles beyond the state's borders to find competent surgeons with the skill, knowledge and experience needed to perform delicate operations of this kind.

Because of better medical training provided through KHA and other sources, this service is now available in Kentucky in most instances, and usually at less than it would cost elsewhere in terms of total expense.

Work now being done by KHA's heart surgery committee also makes it possible for any medically indigent patient in need of a heart operation to be examined, hospitalized and operated on in the state at a minimum of cost, or at no expense at all if he is unable to pay for this service. All Kentucky physicians have been mailed detailed information regarding the procedure for referring their medically indigent patients to the committee.

While such patients are referred to the office of the Kentucky Heart Association in Louisville by private physicians, all necessary services are provided by the examining physicians, the hospitals and the surgeons. Heart association funds are not expended for direct patient care, but the organization's office serves as a referral center and clearinghouse in obtaining information about a patient's indigency status and in channelling his case through the various available services.

Dr. Hobbs said he felt it was desirable at this time to issue a statement about this service "because the newspapers in the state have recently carried a number of stories about the private collection of funds, sometimes running into thousands of dollars, for local citizens who needed heart surgery and could not afford to pay for it."

In most cases, these people have been sent out of the state at great expense when comparable service could have been given them here at home through the Kentucky Heart Association at practically no expense to the family or the community.

Records of the Kentucky Heart Association show that over a hundred such cases have been referred to the heart surgery committee since this service was inaugurated several years ago.

SOCIAL SECURITY INFORMATION

You know, now if you didn't know before, that social security is complicated. Nevertheless it is well worth the time and effort to find out just how it works. Today social security may be just a pay day nuisance. Someday it may be your bread and butter.

This is the last in a series of articles containing questions and answers on the new 1956 Social Security law, prepared by the Louisville Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants as a public service in answering some of the questions on the latest changes in the Social Security law.

Q. Can dependent parents draw benefits?

A. Yes, if you die fully insured and do not leave a widow or any dependent children. But the parents must meet the following qualifications:

(1) Father must be 65 and your mother at least 62.

(2) Each must be receiving at least one-half of his or her support from you when you died, and

(3) Must not be entitled to a retirement benefit equal to three-fourths or more of your retirement benefit.

Q. If a working woman retires at 62 instead of waiting until 65, how long will she be ahead in total benefits.

A. About 15 years. If she receives a reduced benefit for more than 15 years the total will not be as much as if she had waited for the higher pension at age 65.

Q. How much will benefits be increased by the 1956 law?

A. The 1956 law made no change in the amount of your benefits.

Q. What professional people did the 1956 law extend coverage to for the first time?

A. Nearly all self-employed persons are now covered by Social Security. Lawyers, dentists, osteopaths, optometrists, chiropractors, and naturopaths will be brought into the Social Security System as a result of the changes made by the new Social Security Law. They were covered as of January 1, 1956, but there is one catch. No benefits will be paid unless the newly-covered person lives at least until April 1, 1957. If he dies before that date, his family can't collect one cent. The reason is that benefits are not payable without a minimum of six quarters of coverage after January 1, 1956.

Q. Are doctors covered by Social Security?

A. They are now the only self-employed professional people not covered under the Social Security Law.

Q. Are railroad workers covered by social security?

A. No. These workers have their own retirement system.

Q. Did the new law increase the social security tax?

A. Yes. The rate remains at 2% for both employers and employees through 1956. The rate will increase to 2 1/4% beginning January 1, 1957, and will stay at that rate through 1959, with further increases in the following years. The rate of tax on self-employed people was increased from 3% to 3 3/8% effective in 1957. No change was made in amount

FARM BUREAU NEWS

A proposed increase in the costs to farmers of marketing tobacco was tackled by Farm Bureau members at their 37 annual convention last week.

The delegates at the convention said the charges are excessive in voting on a resolution proposed by the Madison County Farm Bureau.

The total proposed increase, for some markets, is from three percent to three and one-half percent of gross sales and from 25 to 35 cents per hundred pounds.

In announcing the delegates' action, Burl St. Clair, president of the organization said, "Farmers want to be reasonable about this and they want warehouses to have a reasonable return on their investment, but feel this increase is excessive."

In their resolution, the Madison County Farm Bureau said, "Since the minimum wage for tobacco warehouse labor goes from 90c to $1.00 this year, or of wages subject to the tax. The maximum amount of wages subject to tax remains at $4,200.

an increase of 11% and since this increase is on materially less than half the total cost of all warehouse overhead, and since the total proposed increase from 3 to 3 1/2% of gross sales and from 25 to 35 cents per 100 is approximately a 20% increase in Lexington and other areas, be it resolved that the Kentucky Farm Bureau go on record as believing the proposed increase in selling charge is excessive, and ask that the proposed increase be rescinded."

Mr. St. Clair pointed out that the increase would be much greater in some areas than in others because some warehouses were only paying 75 cents an hour for labor before the new federal increase went into effect.

MADE HER OWN TEETH

A woman in San Diego, California, apparently divorced her husband because he was responsible for her looking down in the mouth all the time.

Mrs. Morjorie McClurken of San Diego told a judge her husband was a bit on the miserly side when it came to buying teeth, and so she wanted a divorce.

It seems her husband forced her to make her own false teeth... five sets during their 10 year marriage.
