-jottings from
Jo's
Note Book

At this time of the year everybody is so busy in the high gear of getting ready for the holidays it is often a welcome respite to stop for a breather and have a good chuckle.

This breather was offered to me Wednesday when our good friend H. E. Boyd came into the office, with his usual cheery greeting and told us a good story or two. I enjoyed them so much that I thought you would too, so I am reprinting them here so that you might enjoy a chuckle away from the frenzy in which you find yourself.

Read these little "vignettes" of fun:

When it comes to picking up a check some fellows have an impediment in their reach.

"Well, you can't say I made any noise coming in last night." "No, but the men carrying you did."

Scotch politician (tendering a lighted cigar): "Take a wee puff laddie and give me your vote on election day."

Two hunters had been out in the woods for several hours and one of them had been growing uneasy. Finally panic overcame him. "We're lost!" he cried to his companion. "What on earth are we going to do?" "Take it easy," said his composed friend. "Shoot an extra deer and the game warden will be here in a minute and a half."

Seeing ourselves as others see us wouldn't do much good. We wouldn't believe it.

Victims of an accident in Scotland were still lying on the road. Along came a native and said to a man lying on his back, "Has the insurance man been yet?" "No," was the reply. "Ah, well, I'll just lie down aside ye," said the Scot.

A Nebraskan, an Ohioan and a Texan died and all were cremated on the same day. The Nebraska man was first and when his ashes were removed, they were put into a quart jar. The Ohio man was next, and his ashes required a pint container.

The Texan was last. After 15 hours the furnace door was opened. Out walked the Texan mopping his face with his handkerchief. "Boy," he said, "if we get two more days of this hot weather, it'll ruin the cotton for sure."

Third-grader's definition of a reindeer: "Horse with a TV antenna."

If you see good in everybody, you may be an optimist—and then again, you may be nuts.

Clerk: "These are satin bloomers." Girl: "Well I want some that have never been used before."

A drunk tried several times to navigate a revolving door but finally gave up and leaned against a lamp post. Along came a man and walked into the door. As it revolved the other side revealed a pretty girl stepping from it. The drunk looked intently at her and remarked: "It's a good trick, but I still don't see what that guy did with his clothes."

Honeymoon: period between "I do" and "You'd better."

It's not the minutes you put in at the table that makes you fat: it's the seconds.

"Lesh go home, now, Joe." "Naw, I'm afraid to go home. Wife'll smell'm my breath." "Hol' your breath." "Can't. Sh'too strong."

Everyone has wondered who hit Joe Louis hardest during his ring career. When asked, Joe simply shrugged his shoulders. "That's easy, Uncle Sam!"

The average motorist is sure he drives carefully, but the fellow ahead always stays too close.

GOV. CHANDLER ENDS FIRST YEAR 'WELL PLEASED'

Says Program Of Plans Has Made Progress

Today marks the quarter pole for the 4-year Chandler administration in Frankfort. With his time one-fourth spent, the Governor said he is well pleased with innovations and advances made throughout Kentucky in the last year.

"I feel those of us who were elected last year have made some notable strides in effecting better governmental services for our people of Kentucky," he said.

Cited by the Governor as "bright spots" were:

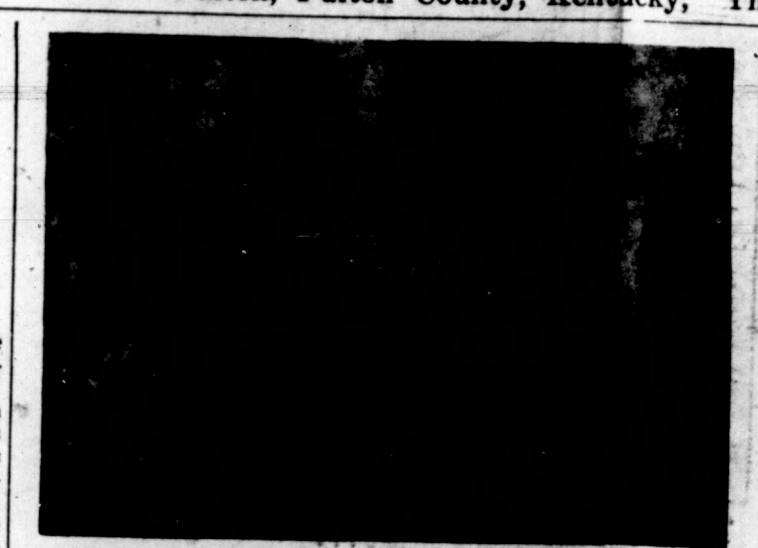

Enactment of the Minimum Foundation Program for Education, which puts 20 million additional dollars to work this year making better school facilities for Kentucky children.

Endorsement given the 100-million-dollar road bond issue.

"Our people saw the need, we gave them an opportunity to meet it and they responded in a wonderful way," the Governor said.

Reorganization of the State government.

The take-over ability of Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield. During the legislative sessions Waterfield was an invaluable aid in getting the Governor's program accepted. He traveled extensively throughout Kentucky soliciting support for the road bond issue. He efficiently has assumed the seat of the Chief Executive when the Governor has been absent from the State.

Business Forecast For 1957 Is Brighter

The businessman's forecast for 1957: More good times, better than this year, with higher wages and higher prices. Money will continue "tight" for at least part of the year. There will be more jobs. Many industries will enjoy bigger sales. But profits will drop in some.

This is a composite of the views of 12 industry leaders who participated in the third annual business forecast symposium conducted by the United States Chamber of Commerce last Thursday. Their views were made public Sunday.

In a summary of the conference, Dr. Emerson P. Schmidt, the Chamber's economist, said "1957 will be a better year on the whole" despite signs that the boom has been leveling off in the past three or four months.

Dr. Schmidt and the panelists emphasized their protheries were based on the assumption there will be no worsening of the international situation.

The symposium produced these specific predictions:

Higher prices for some foods, houses, steel, radio sets and maybe TV; better business for the sagging farm equipment and home building industries; on more than a slight rise in net farm income, sales of six million or more automobiles compared to this year's 5,800,000.

Fulton Receives Report From Washington On Prison Site

WATERFIELD NAMED KENTUCKY MEMBER OF STATE BOARD

Council Works To Make Laws More Uniform

The Legislative Research Commission has designated Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield the Kentucky delegate-member of the Council of State Governments' board of managers.

Waterfield is chairman and director of the commission. The council works for cooperation among state governments and between them and the federal government.

The commission is studying adopting a uniform commercial code of laws for the states. It met recently with the Kentucky State Bar Assn.'s commercial law committee. The proposed code represents 10 years' work by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws.

The committee hopes to have recommendations on uniform laws ready for presentation to the next Kentucky General Assembly.

A concerted effort by the Fulton Chamber of Commerce and the Twin City Development Committee to secure a gigantic Federal prison for the Fulton area was renewed with word from Washington as to the requirements that must be met in order to secure the Alcatraz-type Federal prison for this area.

Dr. Glynn Bushart, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Randall Burcham, chairman of the Twin-City Development Committee, meeting with other interested citizens contacted State and National officials with a view toward getting consideration for Fulton as the site for the prison.

It was reliably reported to the News that either a site in Illinois or Mayfield, Kentucky had been tentatively selected as the site for the prison. This report could not be officially pinned down however.

COUNTY FARMERS OVERWHELMINGLY FOR QUOTAS

Farm Folks Also Vote On Soil Bank Acreage

Fulton County farmers voted 120 to 2 in favor of marketing quotas on cotton for 1957, with approximately 20% of the eligible farmers voting. There were 150 ballots cast in the corn referendum with 88 favoring the soil bank base acreage and 62 favoring acreage allotment. Allotments will be in effect for 1957, unless two-thirds of the nation's farmers vote for soil bank acreage.

Fulton County farmers voted 59% for soil bank base and 41% for acreage allotments, however all counties and States will be under the same plan when the final count has been made.

Meanwhile members of the Federal Institution committee of the Union City Chamber of Commerce met Saturday afternoon to investigate the possibilities of locating a proposed Alcatraz-type prison there.

George C. Cloys, chairman of the committee, said that the committee is organizing material now for a brochure that must be prepared and in the hands of the Director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, Washington, D. C., prior to Dec. 20th.

Judge Raymond Mitchell received a letter Saturday from Sen. Estes Kefauver, which lists the information needed by the bureau to determine on a site for the proposed 15-million-dollar maximum security prison.

Besides accommodations for 600 prisoners and a staff of 150 civil service employees, the bureau lists other requirements for the 600 to 1,500 acre tract. The bureau says the prison will be administered and operated by career civil service employees of the Federal Bureau system, including physicians, educators, chaplains, counselors, psychologists, vocational training instructors and correctional officers chosen on the basis of their qualifications and experience.

The bureau does desire to locate the prison in this area. The report asks that information furnished the bureau.

WFUL'S 'MY FAIR LADY' IS TOPS IN LOCAL RADIO LISTENING AND TALENT

If you're looking for some purely good radio entertainment, with a local flavor, you're missing a treat by not tuning in every day, Monday through Friday, to Mary-Nelle Wright's "My Mrs. Wright Fair Lady" program at 9:30 a. m. on WFUL.

Busy Mary-Nelle, who also writes Diary of Doin's for the Fulton County News, is like a beaver these days with live interviews on the air, and tape-recorded programs, that are of interest to people everywhere.

Last week Mary-Nelle interviewed Samuel Stanfield Etheridge, a former local boy, and his wife who had just returned from Germany. Samuel's lovely wife, a petite and gracious German girl, added much to the local interview.

On Wednesday of this week Milton Owen Exum, recently returned from the Far East, was interviewed on the popular radio program. Milton Owen, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Exum has been stationed aboard the U. S. Navy's giant aircraft carrier, the Wasp.

On Friday morning, December 14, Mary-Nelle will broadcast a tape recording of Arthur Roman's Glee Club of South Fulton School. Mary-Nelle took her trusty tape recorder and recorded for your pleasure the lovely chorus of the Glee Club. Scheduled for next week is a tape recording of the Christmas musical program of local schools. The first through the sixth grades of Carr Institute, and Mrs. Fleming's room, the fifth and sixth grades of Terry-Norman School will air their Christmas program via tape recording.

And also scheduled for next week is a tape recording of the Brownie Scout Troop of Martin, Tenn. This group has recently appeared on TV and WFUL is privileged to bring them to you.

Mary-Nelle also does a monthly tape recording of Home-maker Clubs in the area and interspersed with her local happenings are news items of interest to people in Fulton, from people everywhere.

"My Fair Lady" is only one of the new and delightful programs on WFUL. Other features will be reported in other issues.

Million Dollar Hollywood Pact Signed By Pat Boone

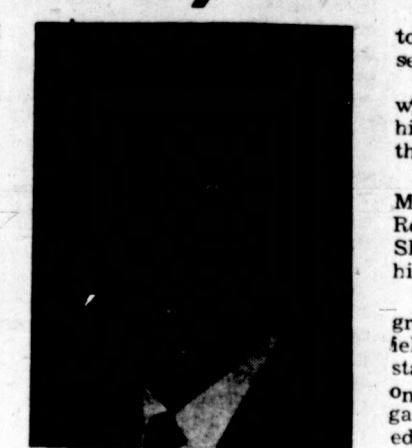

Pat Boone, Nashville's young singing star who two short years ago was a $50-a-week entertainer, has signed a $1,000,000 contract with 20th-Century Fox, it was announced today.

The Lipscomb High School graduate, who almost became a minister, will begin work on his first picture Feb. 4, according to Bernice Mason, publicity director for Dot Records, Inc., a Gallatin concern with headquarters now in Hollywood.

Fulton beams with pride at the mention of Pat Boone's name for he has many devoted and admiring relatives here as well as thousands of proud listeners. Pat is the great nephew of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Pope, Mrs. Ina Little and Earl Boone of Fulton. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Boone, formerly of Fulton, but who now live in Nashville.

According to Mrs. Pope, Pat still has every intention of being a minister and is studying toward that end.

Co-starring with Boone in "Bernadine," a former Broadway hit, will be curvaceous wood studios, calls for Boone Terry Moore, who has visited in Nashville on several occasions. Henry Levin will direct Boone's first flicker for producer Sam Engel.

The contract, signed after "spirited" competitive bidding, is for a number of Hollywood studios, calls for Boone to make one movie a year for seven years for 20th Century. He will be free to negotiate with other studios in between his 20th Century commitments, the Dot representative said.

Boone is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Boone of Lone Oak, Rd. His wife is the former Miss Shirley Foley, a daughter of hillbilly star Red Foley.

The great-great-great-great grandson of frontiersman Daniel Boone, Pat's rise to fame started when he was signed on with Randy Wood's Dot organization. He now is a featured singer with Arthur Godfrey's daily radio-TV show.

Boone's possibilities as an actor first came to the attention of 20th Century when his voice was "dubbed in" on the studio's film of "Anastasia" starring Ingrid Bergman.

For the past 38 to 52 weeks, Boone's records have been in the top listings. His latest hit release is "Friendly Persuasion."

ILLINOIS CENTRAL CHARTS NEW DIESEL REPAIR SHOP HERE; ROUNDHOUSE OUT

Fulton is going to lose its old roundhouse, but is going to gain a new diesel repair shop, if recommendations of I. C. officials are carried out, the News learned this week.

Word that a diesel shop was scheduled for Fulton was released to the press this week, along with a story that the railroad plans another mass-scale purchase of new diesel engines that will practically eliminate all steam engines from this section of the railroad.

Without wishing to be identified, a representative of the railroad told the News this week that the first diesel repair installation in Fulton may be on a small scale, but can be enlarged as needed. Even though the new shop is located here, some drop in employment is anticipated when the roundhouse is removed, he stated.

NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH IN WRECK

Elmer Cupples, 31, suffered a badly mangled elbow in a miraculous escape from death about 6:00 a. m. Wednesday morning on U. S. 51 just north of Fulton. He was admitted to Fulton Hospital and sent to Memphis later in the morning.

Cupples, whose home is in Chicago, was driving from Greenfield, after visiting his parents, and was alone in the new Chevrolet sedan, which was completely wrecked.

WEDNESDAY MORNING JUNK PILE, three tires flat, speedometer locked at 100 miles-per-hour, hard-top sheared off, was created at 6:00 a.m. on US 51 near the Dallas Home just north of Fulton when new Chevrolet sedan driven by Elmer Cupples, going to Chicago from visiting parents in Greenfield, Tenn., left the highway, hit a tree and plunged into Dallas pond.—See story.

We May Not Have An Emergency, But At Least We Should Be Prepared For It Now

How good is our civilian defense setup in Fulton? What would YOU do, as a family, in case disaster should suddenly strike? Do you belong to any kind of a civilian defense group, however loosely it might be organized at the moment? Is your neighborhood able to organize itself? Who would be the leader?

Mayor Browning has a good civilian defense organization on paper, but there is so little general interest in the thing that scant word of the organization or of its key leadership or plans has been sought by the general population.

Now is a good time to provide all of Fulton with organization plans, and emergency duties, as well as publicly naming the key personnel should an emergency come.

It is no secret that the top levels of the U. S. Government and armed forces are on guard day and night for impending disaster, never knowing when it may come. At this writing the entire fleet is at sea, "mothball fleets" are being activated and dispersed as quickly as possible, and the entire armed forces reserve has received warning that it may be called without notice.

All in all, its a sobering thought that calls for at least a few minutes of contemplation from all of us.

The High Price Of Being Unskilled

To be a success in these times one must be a specialist in his field. He (or she) must know his occupation backwards, inside and out, with plenty of schooling and practical experience . . . for we live in an age of fierce competition that requires all possible knowledge to compete successfully.

Pity, then, the high school student who quits school in order to take an apparently-attractive $30 a-week job, believing that he is getting the jump on his fellow students. Pity, then, the aimless wandering of a young man who goes from job to job, apparently not caring to settle down in one field and learn it well. These people, by not fighting their way through all of the schooling they can get, are deliberately, if unintentionally, limiting the advancement they can get in later life.

Many of our readers are in a position to occasionally provide sound vocational guidance to young people, and this we should all do: encourage intensive specialization, maximum schooling and diligent effort in the chosen field. With the average age of males in the U.S. near 70, here is what faces the unskilled halfway through life, according to Kiplinger Magazine.

More than half the job openings in the United States are closed to people over 45, and in some cities the proportion goes as high as 79%, according to the editors of Changing Times, The Kiplinger Magazine.

Clerical, sales and unskilled jobs are the ones most frequently closed to older workers.

Age prejudice turns up most often in these industries: Durable goods manufacture, insurance, real estate and wholesale and retail trades. Older job seekers get better breaks in service industries and in the construction business.

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

Sgt. McKeon Wanted Discipline

By Lt. Col. M. F. Myers
USAF (Ret.)

NO MATTER what you think about the guilt or innocence of Staff Sergeant McKeon, you must admit that the ill-fated march which he led into the tidal swamp at Paris Island was an attempted solution to a problem of military discipline.

I have just retired from many years of active duty in military life. It's a fact of military life that the vast majority of problems that arise in the service are disciplinary ones. I've had ample opportunity to observe many young men come into the service.

I HONESTLY BELIEVE that if at home some aid had been given these boys; if religious principles had been instilled into them; if they had learned respect for God and their parents and for authority, there would have been much less grief.

Discipline is absolutely essential for the effective operation of a large military organization. The service, like a football team, must work together. Only in unity is there strength. Each man, no matter how insignificant, must carry out his assigned task. If one man on a football team misses his block the play will fail.

THE SERVICE TOO, depends upon team play — each man promptly doing his job. Military officers are too busy teaching recruits combat tactics to play nursemaid to a boy. They can't wait until a lad feels like doing something before he does it.

If in your home you have always let the children do pretty much what they pleased, then it will be next to impossible, at the last moment, to try to inculcate a spirit of obedience.

OUR YOUTH must be taught that they can't have their own way in everything in life. You and I know that life is not all a "pleasant valley," that we have to make the best of many situations. This lesson is nothing more than a sound application of the Christian virtue of self-denial.

The fellow that's too big for the service is the fellow who causes the problems. If a young man stays close to his God and is faithful to his religion, he will realize that there are a great many things in life bigger than himself.

SUCH A MAN will be a credit to his service. On leaving military life he can be justly proud that he has done his share to help preserve the rights of freedom we all enjoy in the greatest country in the world.

Every one stamps his own value on himself.

Self-reliance and self-respect are about as valuable commodities as we can carry in our pack through life.

Man is free born: he is neither the slave of sense, nor a silly amble to the so-called pleasures and pains of self-conscious matter.

TID BITS

of Kentucky Folklore
by The Philosopher

Many a modern who buys at a stiff price some bit of antique furniture or cloth or glass would probably have a stroke if I suggested a return to some of the antique ways we used to say things. I am not making any such suggestion, however, for the ways of people are past finding out. I am not ready myself to go back to English as she was spoke. But suppose we take a look at some of the antiques we might readopt, without going very far afield, either.

Not many weeks ago a perfectly good and honest man told me how he help his neighbor clear a newground.

He was using the very words, of Chaucer: "That hem have hopen whan that they were seeks." A great many of my Fidelity friends used this old form regularly, though some of us smiled behind our hands when we heard this quaint old word and associated it only with people considerably below us intellectually and socially. Helped seems to have won out in the race; it is hardly likely that out children's will say that they help anybody.

For ages our language referred to an object or thing as hit. We had inherited that word, along with he and him and his. It was neither odd nor quaint; everybody, high and low, said it. Maybe it was our English tendency to make h's silent that led to the dropping of that initial h, though we kept it in other words. Of course, the word hit got mixed up with social customs and was branded as the usage of primitive or ignorant people.

And society prevailed; if a respectable public man said hit today, we would accuse him of being a bad citizen; he would probably have to defend himself against wife beating and general cussedness.

One of the finest women I ever knew, one with a pretty good education in pre-Civil War days when she was young, regularly said clumb for the past tense of climb. Again we proper one who had studied Harvey's GRAMMAR at the country school laughed privately about the old-fashioned pronunciation, little knowing that the funny word had formerly been the correct one and that there was a time when climbed was as incorrect as knowed was and is.

"In our simple ignorance," in Emerson's phrase, we laughed wrongly, as so many of us do when we do not understand. Climbed prevailed; clumb went the way of hit and help. It was neither better nor worse than the new word; it merely was not accepted by the right people. Like the old Ford car joke, which said that a Ford car could take you anywhere except into good society!

The words that I wish most to have a good social standing did not originate in old English but came in later, when they were needed: him, hern, ourn, theirn. In the oldest phase of our language my and thy did not exist; the words were mine and thine, just as the corresponding words still are in German. But these words soon developed two uses: in one use the n was left; in the other it was lost: "my book," "The book is mine." This predicate use of mine gave rise to the words cited above. It became customary, in the 1300's to say "his book," "The book is hisn." That is downright useful and should have been kept, along with some of the homely translations of Wyclif, where it and the other taboo words appear.

Nothing so expressive has yet appeared in our pronouns, but society ruthlessly turned thumbs down on the words, and it would take a braver man than I am to resurrect them.

Would you be willing to form with me an antique-word club and set up shop? Nay, verily.

Homemakers News

The Pierce-Harris Club held its regular meeting recently with Mr. and Mrs. John Smith. There were 23 members and 5 visitors present.

The president opened the meeting by reading the club creed. The group sang "Home On The Range" and "Onward Christian Soldiers", led by Mrs. L. D. Allen. Mrs. Clara Dedmon gave the devotional. The roll call and minutes were read. Some of the project leaders gave their reports.

New officers for the club were elected at this meeting. They were: President, Mrs. Clarence Roberts; Vice President, Mrs. Richard Ferguson; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Joe Faulkner; Reporter, Miss Marene Allen; Craft Leader, Mrs. L. D. Allen.

After a delicious lunch Mr. Pearson met with the men and showed them a slide. Miss Cora Livingston gave some of the members their reading certificates and pamphlets with cookie and candy recipes. Miss Livingston brought some things to show that would make nice Christmas gifts. Some of the members made articles that would also make nice gifts.

The club adjourned to have the Christmas party at the Farm Bureau in Union City, December 18, at 6:30 o'clock. The hostesses are Mrs. M. E. Thorpe, Mrs. Oscar Faulkner, Mrs. Robert Glasco, Mrs. Clara Dedmon and Mrs. Andrew Pannel.

To do good to all because we love all, and to use in God's service the one talent that we all have, is our only means of adding to that talent and the best way to silence a deep discontent with our shortcomings.

Letter To Santa Claus From Fulton High

Dear Santa,

You may think we are too old to be writing you a letter and taking up your time, but at heart we are just as thrilled at the prospect of your visit as our little brothers and sisters.

Now as to credentials and recommendations, we refer you to our teachers. To be truthful, there have been a few incidents. For instance, Robert E. Lee lost his head again for a short time this year and Miss Martin's rolling door was up a time or two. But on the whole, we think we have been reasonably good and are worthy of your consideration.

There are various groups and individuals among us who wish to make requests. But first and as a whole, we would like for you to bring our teachers, who are really a nice lot, a VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS all tied up in red ribbons.

The Seniors want you to bring them good grades and a special request is made that they r exams not be too hard. They also wish for the success of the annual. Jean wants Billy Joe home for Christmas. Al wants a new tricycle—he wore his old one out at the Junior Follies—Ronnie wants a new toe, for he lost his old one, and David wants a doll named Mary Ann.

The Juniors would like to ask for a lot of money (cold cash, if you please, no checks) so they can put on the best Junior-Senior prom yet. They would like enough to get Elvis to come and do a special number or two. Red Bone wants a girl friend and Jackie Rawls wants some tom-walks so she can be taller.

The Sophomores are a lazy lot and have no group request to make other than more time to sleep and less work to do. However, there is among them a group of seven girls who have their hearts set on dogs for Christmas. But they must be bulldogs. No other kind will do. They promise that if you will bring them each a bulldog on Christmas morning, they will be very good to the dogs. The girls will feed them, pet them, and won't even consider putting them in a dog house.

The Freshmen wish for the ability to impress their teachers and for the fortitude to live until they are Sophomores. Now don't misunderstand me, Santa. We have a nice bunch of Freshmen this year and are proud of them, especially the boys who are in athletics.

And that reminds me — The basketball team, Coach Thomas, and the whole school wants you to bring many basketball victories.

I guess this is about all, dear Santa. Thanks for listening. See you Christmas morning.

HISTORICAL SPECTACLES

The use of eyeglasses did not originate in the long-distant pre-Christian era as many persons believe, the researchers for Murine Company of Chicago state. While the first inventor of spectacles is not known, the first historical reference to the use of lenses as a means of aiding sight, points to Bacon. Bifocal spectacles were invented by America's many-sided genius, Benjamin Franklin.

Durban, South Africa.—W. J. Cronje, a farmer shot at a bird sitting on overhead power lines. The shot knocked down the lines, which short-circuited and started a grass fire. His wife and their 14-year-old son died when they tried to put out the fire and came in contact with the exposed wires.

THE GREATEST MEAT SHOW ON EARTH

The International Livestock Exposition and Shows mean just that... The Greatest Meat Show on Earth.

At the International, every kind of meat animal is shown to perfection. I have had the opportunity of attending these events for the last 7 years and believe me, it is worth the time and money to see some of the exhibits and shows. Just being in the spacious buildings make you feel very small and unimportant. It is like a Giant County Fair without a midway.

I think one of the most outstanding events of the week is the selection of the Grand Champion steer. The most fasinating event is the National Shearing Contest which is held the last day of the show. In the steer show, a tense moment is when the judge is looking over the three breed champions for the grand champion animal. I believe you could hear a mouse walk, everything is so quiet. Then the judge selects his choice in what the horse race folks call a photo-finish. It is really something to see and if you ever get the chance don't miss the selection of the champion steer held Tuesday morning.

Now as to the National Shearing Contest I know more about that because for the last six years I have been one of the official time keepers. There are eight in all that actually keep time and eight others who record time. Here the nations top shearers compete for the national honor of Champion Sheep Shearer of the United States. The 4-H Champion is also chosen during this contest.

The best time this year was just under 2 minutes. This is really dewooling the flock. There is more to the contest than just speed. There are judges for four phases of the contest and their job is to judge; second cuts of wool, condition

CRUTCHFIELD W. M. U. ENJOYS POT LUCK AT REGULAR MEETING

The Nell Hardy W. M. U. met Dec. 6 at the Crutchfield Baptist Church for its regular meeting with a pot luck supper. Tables were decorated with Christmas decorations, and were very beautiful.

After the delightful meal, the president, Mrs. Lewis Patric, presided over the brief business session. The program was presented by Mesdames J. R. Lell, Winnie Veatch and Loyd Henderson. Those on the program were Mesdames Marie Moore, Winnie Veatch, Harry Pittman, Loyd Henderson, Maccon Shelton and Mrs. Walter Nichols.

Prayer was led by Mrs. J. R. Lell. The exchanging of of the fleece, handling of the animal, and condition of the animal after the wool has been shorn. These points are all graded by different judges and they use separate score cards so that no one knows just what the other one is doing. Each judge is an expert in the field he is judging. The scores are computed by Certified Public Accountants and they give us the winner.

Services For Mrs. Beasley Held Saturday

Mrs. Emma Beasley, colored, died suddenly at her home in Water Valley Tuesday evening, Dec. 4.

She leaves five children, Sam Beasley of Water Valley, Rosa Mae Weaver of Fulton, Mrs. Percy Gleason, Mrs. Donald Ray Thomas and Gus H. Beasley, all of Fort Wayne, Ind.; a sister, Birtie Hayes of Fulton; a brother, John Wesley Beasley of Fulton; eight grandchildren and many other relatives and friends.

No one had more white friends than Emma, in Water Valley, Fulton and Wingo, where she had worked all of her life. To know Emma was to love her. She had worked for Mrs. Roy Latta of Water Valley for the past 13 years. She was 60 years old.

Funeral services were held at 1 p. m. Saturday, Dec. 8, at the C. M. E. Church in Water Valley. Burial, under direction of T. J. Sapp Funeral Home of Mayfield, was in Pleasant Hill Cemetery near Water Valley.

Dec. 26th

On the day after Christmas,
And not at all strange,
Are the crowds flocking in
With their gifts to exchange.

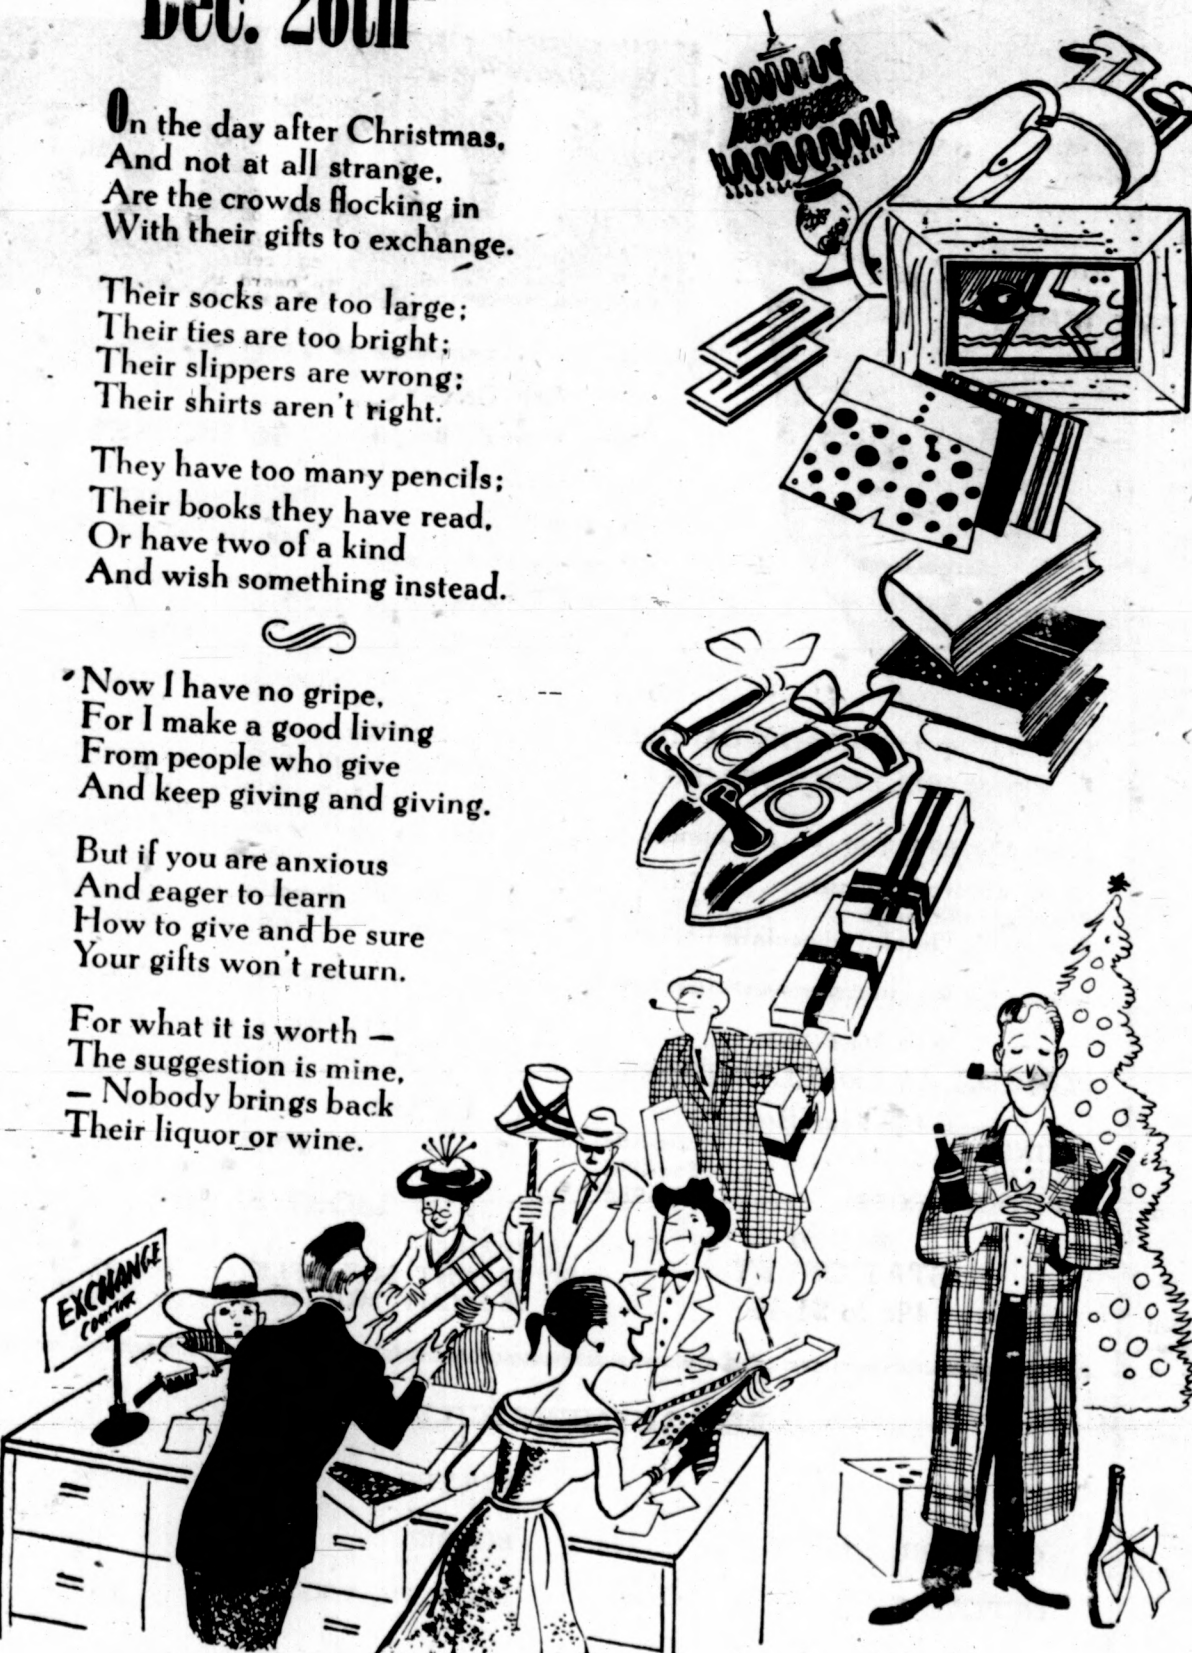

Their socks are too large;
Their ties are too bright;
Their slippers are wrong;
Their shirts aren't right.

They have too many pencils;
Their books they have read.
Or have two of a kind
And wish something instead.

Now I have no gripe,
For I make a good living
From people who give
And keep giving and giving.

But if you are anxious
And eager to learn
How to give and be sure
Your gifts won't return.

For what it is worth —
The suggestion is mine.
— Nobody brings back
Their liquor or wine.

Prison Site—

should include the size of the tract of land available, its distance from town and population centers, topography of ground soil structure and analysis of other information pertinent to the tract. The bureau says that cost of obtaining the site by the government will be an important consideration.

The site must be available to good primary highways and railroads and near a commercial airport, the report says.

As to community character and services the bureau wishes to know the type and population of the community, the availability and cost of housing for employees, accessibility of schools for children of the employees, proximity of a city of sufficient size to be in a position to readily fulfill normal supplies and community requirements as well as furnish postal and banking facilities. All these factors, the bureau says, will be among those considered in determining the location of the institution.

The bureau wishes to know about the number of churches, colleges, recreational programs and other similar facilities which may be available in the community.

Additionally, the bureau wants to know the type, cost and availability of utilities. The prison, the report says, would have an annual requirement of approximately 1,150,000 kilowatts, with an average use of 300 kilowatts. Information needed includes source of supply, rate, capacity available and voltage received.

It estimates water needs at 48 million gallons annually, wanting information as to location of water, analysis, availability and dependability of source and cost.

It estimates sewage needs at 30 million gallons annually, needing information as to type of sewage disposal facilities available and estimated cost for each 1,000 gallons handled.

Fuel needs are estimated at 30 million cubic feet of gas, or 400,000 gallons of oil, or 3,000 tons of coal, annually. The information needed by the bureau in this respect includes: the type of fuel available and location, cost per unit, and other information. For example, if coal, the BTU value, ash content and fusing temperature.

A committee of three competent persons will be appointed by the attorney general to review all suggested locations which appear to meet the government's requirements. The final recommendations of the site committee will be sent in to Congress where authorization for the construction is required.

Sen Kefauver asks that the brochure of information by Union City be given to Judge Mitchell and immediately forwarded to him so that the brochure can be placed in proper channels as soon as possible.

Pat Boone—

records of "Ain't That A Shame," "I'll Be Home" and "I Almost Lost My Mind"—all of which has sold more than a million copies, according to Wood.

In his spare time, Boone, who also attended David Lipscomb College here, is studying for a degree at Columbia University in New York City.

On Nov. 17, Boone became the youngest entertainer to receive the Variety Club award. Wood, who discovered Boone while he was an amateur, and Mrs. Wood were in Washington to see Pat receive this honor, the eight of its kind ever offered.

Wood, who once described Boone as his "greatest discovery since the Hilltoppers" is negotiating for a television show for his singing star. Lee Cooley, a veteran of the Perry Como Show, will produce the Boone offering, Wood said.

The 21-year-old singing star whose philosophy is "to let things work themselves out" is a three-time winner on the Ted Mack Original Amateur Hour network show.

His younger brother, Nick Boone, has gained wide recognition as an amateur singer in the Nashville area and has been tagged by some critics as a "good bet" to follow in his brother's footsteps, if he so chooses.

It seems ironic that Pat, who once turned down an opportunity to star opposite Marilyn Monroe in Bus Stop because he preferred to remain the clean-cut college type, started near the top rung of the popularity ladder with his rock 'n roll rendition of "Tutti Frutti."

He and Mrs. Boone, also a singer of better-than-average ability have two daughters.

Dr. Glynn Bushart Speaks On Medicine At School Assembly

Dr. Glynn Bushart was the guest speaker at an assembly Wednesday morning at the Fulton High School. Dr. Bushart gave a very interesting and informative talk on the possibilities, problems and information on becoming a doctor.

"Nearly one-half of all doctors who study in Kentucky," stated Dr. Bushart, "are located in Louisville, rather than settling in small towns," he said.

Business Forecast—

000; high production and generally adequate supplies of steel; no increase in the rate of business expansion and may be a slackening.

Dr. Schmidt said the outlook for next year "is conditioned heavily by recent events in the Middle East and Eastern Europe." As a result, he said the new-year crystal ball gazing "must be more guarded than usual."

"This year is closing strong," he said, and it should carry over into 1957. Next year should be "moderately better than 1956."

"There are no really serious dark clouds," Dr. Schmidt said, but "we don't have all the favorable factors that we had in the fall of 1954" when the current spell of record smashing began.

He noted that retail sales "have shown less buoyancy" this autumn, industrial production in October "was only 1.4 per cent above a year ago," and wage hikes have been greater than the gains in productivity.

said.
Dr. Bushart pointed out the importance of the medical profession today and advantages of practicing medicine in small towns.

CITIES TACKLE NEW PROBLEMS WITH NEW IDEAS

Electricity from garbage, sidewalks or stilts, candy for ill-tempered dogs, a fire truck that blankets a city block—these are some of the "Ideas For A Better City" just released at the University of Tennessee.

Compiled by the Municipal Technical Advisory Service, the Extension Division publication lists more than 300 ideas from all over the country. They are the product of America's enterprising public officials during the past year in tackling local problems. And there are always new ones.

Right now, for instance, the "long, low look" of modern cars is causing many cities to reshuffle parking spaces and reset parking meters, according to the booklet. Some cities formerly allowed only 15 feet per car. Many of today's cars require 22 feet, "even with power steering." Also Los Angeles has just found that auto exhausts are the main cause of its smog.

Here are some of the better-city ideas from Tennessee. Memphis is developing a super fire-truck which can blanket an entire city block with chemically treated water

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

by Marie Holland
Home Demonstrator Kentucky Utilities

You can't ever know too much about buying and cooking meats. They are so important, nutritionally, because of their high food values. Also they will claim a large part of every food budget. Good meat, prepared well, will make a meal to attract every appetite.

Quality of meats are designated by the following grades: Prime, the finest quality for roasting and broiling; Choice, next best in quality; also for and fog. It "may be as revolutionary a development in the field of fire-fighting as was the invention of the tank in warfare."

Maryville is trying a new speed regulator: two wires stretched across the roadway which cause a stop sign to pop up about 75 feet ahead when the speed limit is exceeded. In Chattanooga, overtime parkers drop their fines into convenient corner boxes. Businessmen and school teachers exchanged visits in Morristown to "see how the other half lives." Tiptonville has organized a junior police league to get traffic and safety messages across to youngsters.

Because the recording of telephone conversations irritates some citizens, one Tennessee mayor keeps a dictating machine at his elbow to dictate his impressions of the call as soon as it is completed. Lewisburg saves about 10 per cent by paying cash for new city equipment. Electric department customers at Cookeville can pay their bills after hours, and get an envelope for doing it, by using a new "drop-off" station. Nashville is using school buildings as teen-age recreation centers. Pulaski built a municipal pool on part of the high school lawn, noting that the outdoor swimming season coincides with school vacation.

Tests at Oak Ridge indicate sterilization of sewage by atomic wastes may be feasible. Water consumption in Norris dropped 40 per cent when the town changed from a flat rate to a metered basis for water billing.

Elsewhere in the nation, Chicago is using the heat from burning garbage to generate electricity on an experimental basis. A Cincinnati official believes elevated sidewalks, though expensive, may be the only final solution for downtown traffic problems. Meter readers in Richmond, Va., carrying dog candy, have completed a successful "unbeaten" year. Other cities are increasingly using trained dogs as members of the police force, stating that in "tough neighborhoods" one patrolman with a trained dog is more effective than two patrolmen.

roasting and broiling: Good, is good quality, but is better cooked with moist heat methods: Commercial and Utility, these lower grades are for broiling or cooking in liquids. You pay more for top (prime, choice) grades of meats because they are more tender, more flavorful than lower (good, commercial) grades.

How much to buy? If bone is in meat, allow 1/4 to 1/2 pound per serving. Allow 1/4 to 1/2 pound per serving if meat is boneless.

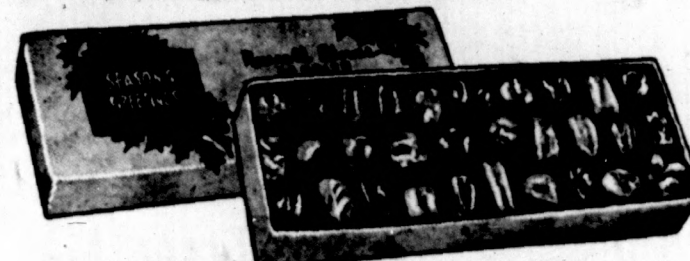

Cook them tenderly: Roasting: Place meat, fat side up, on rack in shallow pan. Roast uncovered in oven with temperature set at 300°F. Do not sear, baste, or add water as it is not necessary with this method of electric cooking. Usually 30 minutes to a pound is sufficient but that depends on the doneness you desire. Broiling: Score edges of fat to prevent curling, place meat on broiler grid or rack allowing 3" (thinner cuts) to 5" (thicker cuts) from top of meat to broiler unit. Turn switch to broil position and broil for desired time on one side, then turn over and complete broiling for time required. Leave oven door ajar during broiling. Unless you have a new range that requires the door to be closed. First side is always broiled longer, the thicker the cut the longer the time required.

Pan-broiling: Heat skillet on medium heat; add no fat or water. Place meat in hot skillet and brown on both sides. Do not cover during cooking. Reduce heat and continue cooking slowly until done.

Mrs. Carey Fields

Mrs. Buton Lassiter is slightly improved from a seige of arthritis. She is up a portion of the time.

Rev. Dempsey Henderson filled his regular appointments at New Salem Baptist church the past Sunday at 11 o'clock and the evening service at the usual hour.

Farmers are very busy classing and stripping tobacco both air-cured and the dark-fired. They are delivering it to the Mayfield Loose Leaf Floor receiving some fancy prices.

Rubel Thomas and Basil Mathis have received as high as $44 for the leaf and $20 to $35 for lugs.

Mr. Irvin Fields remains about the same after a turn for the worse a few weeks ago. He is improving slowly at this writing.

Rev. and Mrs. Dempsey Henderson were Monday night dinner guests of Rev. and Mrs. Erad Caldwell, Palmersville Road.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bynum returned home last week from several days visit with Mrs. Bynum's parents, Rev. and Mrs. T. T. Harris and family, in Jefferson City, Tenn. They had a delightful trip and visit in the East.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Fields and daughter, Karen Gayle, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Puckett the past Sunday.

Leslie Lassiter has recovered from a seige of trench mouth after being under the care of doctors Poe and Hancock for several days. He has entered grade school at Palmersville.

Consumption of all forms of energy in Europe in 1955 according to the Organization for European Economic Cooperation was the equivalent of 730 million tons of coal and by 1975 is expected to reach 1,200 million tons.

DEATHS

J. B. WILLIAMS

Joshua Bryant Williams, farmer and merchant of Crutchfield, died Friday, Dec. 7 at 6, at the home of his son, R. E. Williams of Fulton, Route 4, after a long illness. He was 84.

Services were held Sunday afternoon at 2, at the Rock Spring Primitive Baptist Church. The Rev. Casey Pentecost of Dresden officiated. Burial, under direction of the Hornbeak Funeral Home, was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Williams was born on Jan. 10, 1872 in Fulton County. He married Miss Sallie Fletcher in 1891 and to this union five children were born, one predeceasing him in death. His wife died in 1941.

Mr. Williams spent his entire life, farming and in the mercantile business. He was a life-long member of the Primitive Baptist Church at Rock Springs.

He leaves four sons, R. E. Williams of Fulton, Route 4, Reno Williams of Memphis, Fletcher and J. P. Williams, both of Crutchfield; four grandchildren, Dr. J. P. Williams of Brinkley, Ark., J. B. Williams of Memphis, Mrs. Katherine Humphries and Jerry Williams, both of St. Louis; and nine great-grandchildren.

Hi! How do you like this nice rainy weather we're having? To tell you the truth, my cold could do without it. Our girls team seems to be doing pretty good for themselves. They haven't lost a game this year. (Keep your fingers crossed.)

The boys team isn't doing as well, but they have a really good record. It's nothing to be ashamed of. By the time you read this you'll already know whether the Kenton boy's team was revenged by South Fulton.

MIDDLE ROAD Mrs. Jeff Harrison

We want to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Almus Cox and family to our community. They bought the Coleman Evans home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Davis asked me to thank everyone that was so nice to them when their home burned Thanksgiving day. They received so many nice things and thank everyone so very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Phillips and Mrs. Lewis Davis visited Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Harrison.

Carlton Evans of Chicago is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Phillips, Mrs. Clyde Burnette, Mrs. Rosie Harrison and Mrs. George Black and Telitha visited in the Jeff Harrison home Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Hastings of Michigan has returned to her home after visiting her daughter, Mrs. Hubert Bolton and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Evans and Carlton have returned home after visiting several days with Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Evans and Terry, in Dallas, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Davis and family visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Davis. They have moved to the Bozell place.

Telitha Black visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Black and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brown and Mr. Meletus Brown visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Harrison.

Mrs. Brown was visiting her sister in Union City.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bolton and Charles Hubert were the Monday night supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Black and Telitha.

will prove to be a very hot game.

Good tidings! The Seniors finally received their class rings. They were the happiest faces I've seen since the basketball girls team beat Horn-beak.

Ruth Pruitt was honored with a "Surprise" birthday party, by her mother. Refreshments were served and then she opened her gifts. Afterwards the guests (with Ruth) went to the show and saw "Teenage Rebel." After the show everyone went to Countee's for awhile. Everyone had a marvelous time. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Pete Pruitt, Mr. and Mrs. Moss Green and David, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Pruitt, Peggy Wilbauchs, Guyneil Payne, Beverly Laceywell, Gayle Hays, Patsy Dedmon, Jessie Gambelin, "Cookie" Neeley Hazel Grissom, Shirley Brockwell, Gail Cooley, Ruth Pruitt and last but not least—me.

Both Junior Hi teams won over Woodland Mills Tuesday afternoon. They seem to have a promising season ahead.

CHESTNUT GLADE Mrs. Harvey Vaughn

One hundred and seventy-five members of the thirty-two Home Demonstration Clubs of Weakley County enjoyed a very pleasant luncheon at the school cafeteria in Sharon Saturday, Dec. 8. This annual occasion is looked forward to each year by the club members.

The pink color scheme used on each of the tables was an especially beautiful Christmas decoration. Many recognitions were presented. Special honors were given to those who had been 100% in attendance for the past year. Those from the Chestnut Glade Club who received this recognition were: Mesdames Carl Rogers, Jimmie Westbrooks, Paul Reames, Edna Strong, J. T. Simpson, Jim Burke, Orvin Morrison, and Ada Rhodes. Others attending from the Chestnut Glade Club were: Mesdames Myrtle Temple, Vascoe Simpson, Irvin Brundige and Harvey Vaughn.

Orvin Morrison who is a patient at the Kennedy Hospital in Memphis was at home last week end. He returned to the hospital Sunday. Every man is useful to his kind by the very fact of his existence. —Thomas Carlyle

SECRET SERVICE PROTECTS EVERY MOMENT OF PRESIDENT'S LIVING

The protection given the President of the United States by the Secret Service might be compared with an iceberg: what you see is only a fraction of what's there. So efficient is this Service that no Chief Executive guarded by its highly trained agents has ever been attacked. Don Wharton reports in the August Reader's Digest that during the 36 years prior to the Service's organization, in 1901, three out of nine Presidents had been assassinated. In the 55 years since, there have been nine Presidents, no assassinations, and no case of a President in office being fired upon. Theodore Roosevelt was ex-President when shot in Milwaukee. Franklin was President-elect at the time of the Miami shooting. President Truman was inside Blair House when two Puerto Rican Nationalists tried to shoot their way in but failed.

Before assignment to the White House, agents must attend a specialized school where they analyze scores of assassinations, domestic and foreign, recent and ancient. They observe mental patients, become expert marksmen, learn judo, gun-wrestling techniques and defenses against all types of attack.

The Service has the world's largest file on paranoids. Every threatening or abusive letter to the President is analyzed, classified and cross-indexed. In the first three and a quarter years of the Eisenhower administration Secret Service agents investigated 480 cases involving threats. Within recent months 147 persons have been arrested as dangerous to the President.

Every move of a Presidential trip is planned minutely in advance. Weeks before Eisenhower went to Geneva last summer, Secret Service men prepared a survey complete with maps, diagrams, blueprints, floor plans. They picked the villa where Eisenhower would stay, investigated every servant, selected couriers and telephone technicians, even arranged a safe garbage pickup.

A President's personal habits create unique protection problems. When Eisenhower plays golf, armed Secret Service men are close by, dressed as golfers. One man's golf bag conceals a short-wave radio so that he can talk with headquarters or with agents cruising in a car patrol.

During the 55 years of the Secret Service's spotless record, assassins in other lands have killed nine kings, queens and crown princes, 11 presidents, 16 prime ministers and many other leaders, including Mahatma Gandhi.

NO LICENSE FOR 26 YEARS
New London, Conn.—Stopping a car which had no tail light, two policemen asked to see the driver's license. Charles Guglielmo, 44, of Lyme, told astonished cops he had been driving for 26 years but had never had a license.

Otto Dunn Dies Wednesday, Dec. 6

Otto Dunn, a well-known colored business man of this city, died early Thursday morning, Dec. 6.

Mr. Dunn came to Fulton about 4 years ago and was employed by the I. C. Railroad Company. About 23 years ago he went into the cafe business and established one of the largest businesses in Western Kentucky. He will long be remembered as owner and manager of the Chicken Shack.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, Dec. 9, at 5, at Antioch Baptist Church. The Rev. J. T. Gaines officiated. Burial, under direction of Vanderford Funeral Home, was Wednesday, Dec. 12, in Canton, Miss. The body remained at the Vanderford Funeral Home until time for the funeral. After the services the family and friends were served at the funeral home by the Community Service Club.

Mr. Dunn leaves his wife, Mrs. Armita Dunn; a son, James Dunn and wife, Alice; two sisters, Mrs. Beatrice Anderson and Willie B. Hamilton; two nieces and one nephew.

FIND YOUR "BLIND" SPOT

Most of us have been accused at one time or another of having a blind spot and it's true—at least technically, the Murine Company of Chicago says. To find yours, simply mark a small dot on a piece of paper and a notch or two away, mark a cross. Now, move the paper slowly back and forth from your eye. You will find that at some point the cross will "disappear"—and you will have found your blind spot.

Diary of Doin's

By Mary Nelle Wright

Hear Mary-Nelle's program, "My Fair Lady" every day on WFUL at 9:30 a.m., Monday through Friday.

This time of year, thoughts of Christmas gifts—like visions of sugar plums are dancing in our heads—and your Diarist is letting herself in for TROUBLE—because there simply hasn't been TIME to shop for GIFT ONE! And really, you know—NOTHING is dearer to a woman's heart than shopping. It is, in fact, SO dear to my heart—that ALL during the year I buy some special little gift for a few dear friends or members of the family and pack them away with a SMUG feeling that come CHRISTMAS—ALL I'll have to do is to put on the Christmas wrappings and send them merrily on their way. But WHAT happens? COME CHRISTMAS—and I CAN'T find them ANYWHERE. So—here I am again—Christceiving... for coming and going... for making new friends and for renewing old ones... but most of all it is the season for the Christmas party... everybody has them... church groups, office parties, private parties, civic parties... its the time to drink a cup of kindness and to put away all the cares and worries of the year and to get together for an evening of fun, for the exchange of gifts and for look-work as last year's passes into history.

HUNDREDS OF WONDERFUL

I wish I had the time and the space to record each and every party that is held everywhere in Fulton and around here. I wish that I could chronicle every greeting of good cheer that is uttered at every happy get-together... I wish I could describe every ornament and every glittering sparkle of tinsel on every tree around... I wish I could describe the gift that is given to every "boss," to every Sunday School teacher, pastor, or school teacher... I wish I could describe in detail every lovely Christmas carol that is sung to Him on High and the spirit with which that carol is sung... I wish I could print in full, or even excerpt every program message or reading that spells out the true meaning of Christmas delivered at every party around here.

As surely as I peek away these sincere wishes that are in my heart, so am I sure that I too am caught in the same whirl-wind of activity in reporting the high-lights of the gaiety at Christmas time.

So, dear friends and loyal readers, if perchance your gay party is not reported in this diary of your doin's, please know that it is the error of my incapacity to be everywhere... and not an error of the heart.

To all of you who attend the many parties given here... accept my sincere best wishes for a gay and happy season, and if your party in print is not, my good wishes for you are not forgotten. Have a very merry Christmas, and may the New Year dawn upon you bright and gay and rich with God's blessings and abundant prosperity.

Here 'N There; ; ; ; ; Matt and Jane DeBoor were visitors in Fulton for a few days last week-end on returning from their wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nevada and points west... Jane and Matt departed for Lexington Sunday where this popular couple will make their home... good news from Phyllis Kelley of Hickman is that she is doing fine following her auto accident... specialists at Campbell's clinic in Memphis reported this week her injury is fast improving... a fond farewell to Mrs. Jack Sparks who is leaving Fulton to make her home in Central City, Ky.

Ann Latta has returned from a visit in Paris, Kentucky with her good friend, Marian Clay. These two gals have been roommates in Louisville for the past year but now—each is going her separate way. Ann has come back to the old home town to let her folks, Mary and Gilson, "enjoy her" for a little while. You know, once these youngsters go away to school... I don't have them around much more—so we are happy that Ann is going to "be around" for a while. Ann went up to Paris to attend some of the pre-nuptial parties that are being given for Marian who will be wed on the 27th of the month. Ann is in the wedding—so she'll be a very busy one—what with ALL of the Christmas doings around here—and at Paris, too.

And we are the happiest ones for Mary and Gilson Latta who moved into their new home on Third Street Friday. Mary has worked long and diligently with all of the decorators who have made a real "Dream Home" out of the place that formerly belonged to the late Robbie and Trevor Wayne. Mary has done a BEAUTIFUL job of the whole house. And NO one could be happier to be in TOWN than our Mary because we don't think there could be an adding machine capable of totaling ALL of the miles that Mary has "rolled off" between here and Water Valley. Mary has patiently waited all these many years for a lovely home like this—and we join all of her MANY friends in wishing Mary, Gilson and daughter, Ann MANY happy years in their lovely home.

Ethel and Mac McDaniel and their young lassies Susan and Terry have moved into their lovely new home on Second Street and it is doubtful whether any Christmas gift in the world could make them any happier than to have moved into that beautiful place. The McDaniel's purchased the former T. J. Kramer, Sr. home and Ethel has been as busy as a beaver getting it all in order. It is almost in apple pie order now, and Ethel says that she has had lots of fun showing friends the house on a "deluxe" tour. Haven't had the pleasure of the personally conducted tour, but hope to get on to it ere this holiday frenzy subsides a little.

Looking forward to getting all settled in a new home for Christmas are Joy and Fred Stokes and their small fry, Sandra and Cub. Joy has been out of circulation lo these many weeks while she watches every plank and plan put into the house. The Stokes home sits atop the loveliest view in all of West Kentucky, with the mighty Mississippi rolling merrily along in their back-yard almost. Joy and Fred have taken into consideration this lovely home-site, and almost anywhere you turn in the house... there in plain view is the sometimes placid, sometimes turbulent Mississippi just rollin' along. And Joy will have added happiness at Christmas time besides the new-house-warming, for most any day now she is expecting her mother from Alice, Texas to spend the Christmas season with them.

And from the banks of the Mississippi comes news that Patricia Wiley, daughter of Edward B. Wiley of Hickman has ranked in the top quarter of her class in placement tests given at UK this fall. Patricia is a graduate of Hickman High School and a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences and to her we wish much luck in that top echelon of scholarship where she finds herself.

And in the department of bouquets, may we add our kudos to Bandmaster Arthur Roman for having been selected as one of America's outstanding musicians. As a result Arthur was selected to play in the All American Bandmasters' Band at the Sheraton Hotel in Chicago. Art, as he is affectionately called hereabouts, is band director for both Fulton and South Fulton schools and as an extra-curricula activity gives forth with some fine notes in Fulton's own dance orchestra, the Melody Men. Congratulations from all of us to you... Art Roman.

A lovely and charming young matron... and capable too... has been elected as president of the Junior Woman's Club. She is Mrs. Tom Kelley who fills the vacancy in the club's top position formerly held by Mrs. Gene Hatfield. And filling another vacancy in the club was another lovely matron, Mrs. Billy Homra... young Billy's fair lady... who will serve the club as treasurer.

Last week the Junior Woman's Club had its regular meeting at the clubhouse and the session was busy and enthusiastic as only a group of busy and enthusiastic young matrons are capable of making it.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. Arthur Roman, first vice-president, assisted by the secretary, Mrs. Billy Hagan.

Mrs. Nathan Wade was appointed co-chairman of the Orphan Committee to assist Mrs. Billy Hagan. Mrs. Bill Robertson was welcomed as a new member. At the end of the business session the program was turned over to Mrs. Robert Rudolph.

To inaugurate the Christmas season, Mrs. Rudolph showed MGM's film of Dickens' immortal "Christmas Carol". This familiar story of Scrooge, Tiny Tim, and the England of yesterday was enjoyed by the members.

From a candle-lit tea table the hostesses, Miss Winnie Bowlin and Mrs. Joe Holland, served gaily-decorated sandwiches and cookies to further carry out the holiday motif.

Many Christmas packages were brought to be sent by the club to complete the annual Christmas box sent the little girl at the Beulah Heights Orphanage in Kentucky.

Nothing is so gay, and pretty, too, as a little girl's birthday party. And when a lassie reaches that important tenth birthday then that is the "most-est" in party gaiety. Lovely letter to Freida Mansfield celebrated her tenth birthday party recently and what a pretty scene was her home on West State Line when her little friends, dressed for a lovely party, came and enjoyed the afternoon with her.

The Fulton News, Thursday, December 13, 1956

Guests attending were Ken Bowlin, Linda Cardwell, Tanya Costello, Sandra Toon, Cobie Lou and Doris Bowlin.

Mona and Greg Griffin. Bingo was enjoyed by the group with prizes going to Mona Griffin, Linda Cardwell, and Tanya Costello. Favors of Christmas corsages were presented to each little guest. Ice Cream and birthday cake were enjoyed. Freida received many nice gifts. Pictures were taken of the group.

14 NAMES SUBMITTED TO EXECUTIVE SECRETARY OF QUILL AND SCROLL

From the FHS KENNEL: Fourteen Fulton High School students, who are members of the Junior and Senior classes, are eligible to be presented to the Executive Secretary of the Quill and Scroll Journalism Society as candidates for membership in the organization.

In order to be eligible for election to the Quill and Scroll, students must meet the following requirements: (1) Students must be of at least junior classification. (2) They must be in the upper one third of their class in scholastic standing at the time of their election. (3) They must have done superior work in some phase of journalism or creative endeavor. (4) They must be recommended by the adviser or by the committee governing publications. (5) They must be approved by the Executive Secretary of the Quill and Scroll.

The purpose of the Quill and Scroll is to instill in the students the ideal of scholarship; to advance the standard of the profession of journalism by developing better journalists and by inculcating a higher code of ethics; to promote exact and dispassionate thinking, clear and forceful writing.

From the FHS KENNEL: The Junior girls were presented a prize of five dollars by the P-TA for having 100 per cent membership.

The girls decided to buy a Bible with their money, since their other Bible was very old. They purchased a King James Version and plan to read from it daily.

The Junior girls intend to use it in their senior year. Then they will give it back to the Junior class when they graduate.

CHESTNUT GLADE Mrs. Harvey Vaughn

Members of the local P. T. A. enjoyed a pot luck supper at the school lunch room last Thursday night in recognition of Dad's Night.

Ray Bondurant, who underwent surgery at the Baptist Hospital in Memphis last week, is improving nicely.

Orvin Morrison will remain at the Veterans Hospital for further treatment following surgery on his face last week.

Several from this community were in Mayfield Monday for Christmas shopping and tobacco sales.

Mrs. Odell Owensby entered the Baptist Hospital on Monday where she will undergo surgery.

Donald Weldon had the misfortune to break a bone in his foot while playing ball last week.

A large number of neighbors and friends gathered the remainder of Ray Bondurant's corn crop last Wednesday.

Mrs. Cecil Barber is enjoying a new home freezer and automatic washer purchased last week.

Harvey Vaughn attended a banquet at Reelfoot Lake Monday night honoring the Martin football team who won the County trophy for the 1956 season. A nice watch was presented by the team to their very good coach, Mr. Felkner.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Teague of Texas and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Teague and Mrs. Zelan Brown visited Mr. and Mrs. Ches Morrison last week.

Mrs. Orvin Morrison spent last weekend in Memphis.

Welcome, Mr. Martin

From the FHS KENNEL: The students and faculty are happy to welcome Mr. Mansfield Martin back to his office as principal of Fulton High School. Although his substitute, Mr. Avery Hancock, did a fine job as acting principal and teacher, Mr. Martin was sorely missed by all. Again we sincerely say, "Welcome, Mr. Martin."

Rev. Carroll Is New Pastor Of Catholic Church

Rev. Fr. Clarence Pettit who has served as pastor of Sacred Heart Church in Hickman and St. Edwards Catholic Church in Fulton for the past seven years, has been transferred to Immaculate Parish in Owensboro, Ky., as Administrator for Rev. Fr. Carrio who is seriously ill at St. Joseph's Infirmary in Louisville.

His duties at Sacred Heart will be taken over by Rev. William Carroll, a Father of Mercy from Brooklyn, N. Y. Fr. Carroll is a member of the Society of the Fathers of Mercy S. P. M., which has its American headquarters in Brooklyn. The Society founded by Jean Baptiste Rauzan shortly after the French Revolution is represented in the Archdiocese of Louisville, New York and Washington and in the Diocese of Brooklyn, Raleigh, Springfield, Mass. and Vancouver, Canada.

Fr. Carroll took up his duties as Pastor of Sacred Heart Church in Hickman and St. Edwards' Church in Fulton this week. Later he will be joined by another priest from the same Society who will assist him in his work with the two parishes.

Barbara Boyd Elected Basketball Queen

From the FHS KENNEL:

On Friday, November 30, George Burnette announced in assembly that the basketball team had elected Barbara Ann Boyd, junior, as 1956-57 Basketball Queen. She will be crowned on January 8, when the Fulton High Bulldogs play the tough North Marshall team.

Barbara Ann participates in many varied school activities. She is drum majorette of the Fulton High band, feature editor on The Kennel staff, and her name has been submitted to the Quill and Scroll Executive Secretary for approval. Also, she is an active member of the FHS and Youth Center committee. Barbara was awarded a gold pin by the Crowell-Collier Company for selling over one hundred dollars worth of magazine subscriptions in the magazine drive this fall.

Congratulations, Barbara, from the Fulton High student body.

FHA PLANS CHRISTMAS TREE; GIFTS FOR NEED

From the FHS KENNEL:

At the November meeting of the FHA, the members decided to decorate a Christmas tree. This tree will be put up in the recreation room and will be decorated by the F.H.A. members.

The students of Fulton High will be asked to bring gifts for the needy. These will be placed under the tree and later given to needy families.

Sixteen dollars a minute is a pretty high rate to pay for anything. But that's what it cost Gordon Brenner for a day in Milwaukee.

Well it wasn't exactly a day's pleasure. In fact it was only 25 minutes.

It all happened this way: In an action-packed 25 minutes Brenner's car collided with another. He punched a service station attendant and then drove his car into a police car.

When the dust settled, a judge fined Brenner 400-dollars.

PICTURE PHONE DEVELOPED BY BELL

W. E. Kock of The Bell Telephone Laboratories demonstrates the recently-developed "picture phone." Still in the experimental stages, the "picture phone" has been used to transmit a recognizable image from coast to coast.

Scientists have given eyes to the telephone.

And the time may come in the foreseeable future when a person can make a telephone call and see and be seen by the person at the other end of the line.

It's all in the experimental stage now, however. This "picture phone" is still undergoing development and is not yet ready for commercial use. Mr. Wiley, Manager of Southern Bell Telephone Company in Fulton, said today.

Researchers at the Bell Telephone Laboratories have used the device recently to send recognizable pictures over distances as great as from New York to Los Angeles.

The images sent by the "picture phone" vary in size from one by one-and-a-half inches to two by three inches. They are in black and white and show only the head and shoulders. A new picture is transmitted every two seconds.

The "picture phone" is not an intruder. Switches at both ends of the line have to be "on" for the picture to be transmitted with the conversation. The picture screen and camera are in a box alongside the telephone. If a person doesn't want to be seen he can flip off the picture switch. But at the same time he cuts off his view of the party at the other end.

Mr. Wiley said the experimental "picture phone" is the first system of its kind to offer promise of being commercially feasible because it uses ordinary telephone wires for transmission. Only one pair of wires is required in addition to those to carry the conversation.

1790—FIRST POPULATION CENSUS OF KENTUCKY

Settlers were beginning to pour into Kentucky and then the Revolutionary War began. The fierce struggle with the British and the Indians sharply reduced the westward migration. But with the end of the war, people looking for new homes and lands again traveled over the Wilderness Road. The first census, taken from a tax list of 1790, said Kentucky's population totalled 73,677 persons. Two years later Kentucky became the Fifteenth State in the Union.

In Kentucky's historic past, just as today, many of our citizens have always enjoyed a glass of beer. The brewing industry makes jobs for thousands of our residents. The sale of beer under orderly conditions is an important objective of the United States Brewers Foundation. Our continuing educational program helps beer retailers maintain their high standards.

Health Notes—

CITIZEN'S HEALTH COMMITTEE MEETING

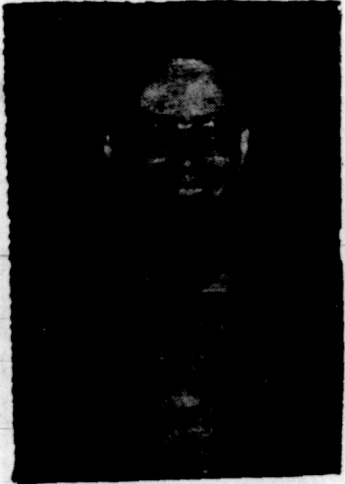

A Citizen's Health Committee for the East Fulton County Health Department was organized February 7, 1956. This committee is made up of the following citizens: Mrs. Ward Bushart, chairman, Dr. J. C. Hancock, Dr. J. L. Jones, Mr. J. A. Willingham, Mrs. Fred Homra, Mrs. Clyde Veatch, Mrs. E. L. Hixon and Mary E. Henline, secretary.

The second meeting was held Monday night July 30, in the assembly hall of the new Health Department building, with a record attendance and two visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barry.

The purpose of a Citizen's Health Committee was given as follows: it is to serve as a representative of the people in all public health problems which are related to the work of the County Health Department. The committee should serve to help the Health Department reach the people and to help the people reach the Health Department.

This group works only as an advisory group representing the people from a lay point of view and has no official (legal) power.

Several problems in sanitation were brought up and discussed; the most important being the lack of property-owners in Missionary Bottom connecting to the sewer system, the new garbage disposal plan, which is being carried out; the dumping of trash in Carr Woods, which Mr. Barry reported cleaned up and the Fluoridation Project, which the Citizen's Health Committee voted to endorse.

Among other business, the committee unanimously voted to write a letter of thanks to Mr. Paul Boyd for the beautiful planter at the Health Center. These meetings will be held every three months and visitors are welcome.

OUT ON A LIMB By Stumpy McCulloch

A feller was selling some of that Fountain O' Youth elixir at the County Fair. "Look at me," he shouted, "I'm hale and hearty, and I'm over 300 years old!"

"Gosh," a gal in the audience whispered to the young assistant, "is he really that old?"

"I can't say," the assistant replied. "I've only worked for him for 100 years."

All over the country nowadays, they tell me, sawmills are using every part of a tree — sometimes even the bark! In fact, one lumber company sells ten million dollars worth of paper a year, which is made out of wood they used to call waste! It's no mystery why this is happening. It's because the price of trees and timberland is going up every year, and wood chips have become too valuable to waste!

Early this year, in fact, government prices on timber soared to a new high—now almost 50 per cent higher than 1955 prices and 28 per cent above 1954! This is mighty good news to us tree farmers!

My neighbor Joe Moon jest got back from Oregon, where he went through one of them big sawmills. Mighty fascinatin' experience, he says. He saw one mill where wood scrap is whittled—by machinery—into wafers about the size of poker chips. Then the chips are fed into a tube, and blown—at the rate of a boxcar load an hour—to a giant paper mill a mile away. Ain't that amazing?

That ain't all! The mills are using other modern gadgets too, Joe says. He saw one lumber mill where a feller sits every night in front of a 17-inch television screen. But the only program he sees is a steady flow of chips into a boxcar a quarter of a mile away! The TV setup allows him to watch over the mill's three chipping machines, and keep an eye on the carloading operation at the same time!

A good safety rule to follow, it seems to me, is never drive spikes or nails into trees or logs that may later be sent to the mill!

"These trousers may be useful to you," the kind old lady told the tramp. "All they need is a little mending."

"That's all right, ma'am," the feller said. "I'll call back in half an hour!"

So long. See you soon!

You Can't Overwork Your Brain: Science Finds Unlimited Capacity

Your mental powers grow with use and you need not worry about overworking your brain. In fact, you probably are using only 10 to 15 percent of its wonderful capabilities.

So reports Bruce Bliven in an article, "Your Brain's Unlimited Powers," in the October Reader's Digest. He describes the brain as a delicate mechanism, composed of 10 or 12 billion minute cells, but also tough and capable of almost unbelievable wear and tear.

A young woman decided to try her brain out by multiplying in her head a series of two four-digit numbers as rapidly as possible. She proposed to keep this up until her brain got tired out.

She was in for a surprise: her brain did not tire. It apparently got fresher. During the first six hours there was a slight decrease in efficiency, measured by speed and accuracy.

Then her brain-worked leveled off and, for the next five hours, speed and accuracy remained constant.

At the end of eleven hours, she stopped only because of bodily fatigue and hunger. She found there was no such thing as "brain fog."

Other things science has recently found out about the nature of the brain, and which most of us can put to good use:

The brain's capacity is almost inexhaustible. After 70 years of activity, the brain may contain—as many as 15 trillion separate bits of information, and still have used only 15 per cent of its capabilities.

Your I. Q. is less important than you probably think. Some of the greatest men have had relatively low I. Q.'s. More important are character and industry.

learning. Unless there has been severe physical impairment of the brain fibers, men and women can be mentally vigorous into the ninth and tenth decades of life.

Your unconscious mind is the storehouse of millions of past experiences. Science is just learning by "free association" and other methods how to recover some of these memories, and how to use the unconscious mind for your own good.

You have a new brain and an old one. The old one is a relic of your early evolutionary days. It is full of primitive emotions and impulses, generally kept in check by the more civilized new brain, that characteristic of man that sets him apart from the animals. But watch out. In unwary moments of the new brain, the old brain may erupt.

The Mushroom Growth Of The First Baptist Church of South Fulton

By Dan Crocker

The mushroom is a small plant that grows overnight. Such has been the phenomenal growth of the South Fulton Baptist Church.

The church had a very small beginning. The actual seed was a Bible story class conducted by Mrs. Percy McDowell in the basement of the old Methodist church on East State Line street. Each Sunday the children of the surrounding neighborhood would gather to sing songs and listen to Mrs. McDowell's Bible stories. For several years this took place in the dreary basement without the spark that later ignited the flaming zeal for a better place of worship.

There were several attempts by ministers of the First Baptist Church to start a mission on the Tennessee side, but the interest did not prove sufficient for action until years later.

The Rev. Woodrow Fuller failed in his trying to establish a mission. Rev. E. A. Autrey tried by having tent meetings to get together people who were interested in carrying on a mission, but it seemed the community was not yet ready.

During the pastorate of Rev. Sam Edd Bradley, Mrs. McDowell decided to move to New York. She being a Baptist, offered the sale of the piano and what furniture was in the basement to the First Baptist Church for fifty dollars. The church bought the furniture and asked Mrs. Kellie Lowe to hold Sunday School meetings. The first Sunday the attendance was thirteen children and two adults. From then on the attendance surged ahead by leaps and bounds. The interest of many people quickened and the need for a church was realized. The growth at this time could certainly have been comparable with the mushroom. This rapid growth, of course, was not a healthy one in every respect. An institution such as a church must have a firm base to stand on. Most of the members were inexperienced at first, but as time passed they became more and more capable of their duties.

When the room in the basement became too small to hold the steadily increasing crowds—they were crowds by this time—the Sunday School was moved to a building on Paschall Street. At this location the attendance rose every Sunday.

The people of this zealous Sunday School decided to have a revival. They called Bro. J. T. Drace along with another minister to do the preaching. The crowds were astounding for such a young preacher as Bro. Drace and such a small town as South Fulton. A public address system was set up in order that people who were unable to get a seat could sit in their cars and hear the preaching. There were thirteen conversions the first week. The interest was so intense that the revival was extended for another week and then on for three more for a total of five weeks with good crowds every night.

After this heartening revival the people decided to organize a church. The organization of the South Fulton Baptist Church took place on November 17, 1946 in an old store building on West State Line Street. The bottom seemed to drop out that day as the rain just poured down all day long. Nevertheless there were thirty-seven ministers present at the organization meeting.

The church was organized and called Bro. J. T. Drace as full time pastor with the church furnishing a parsonage to live in. This in itself, is an outstanding feature. Few churches as young as the South Fulton Baptist church would have been as willing and able to have a full time pastor and furnish him a home.

The church membership and Sunday School continued to grow. While still in the old store building the Sunday School was divided into three children's classes, one adult men's class and one adult women's class. Jack Graves was the teacher of the men's class and Mrs. Kellie Lowe taught the women's class.

In 1947 a lot was purchased on Central Avenue for the purpose of erecting a new building for the church. The building was started, but just as the roof was ready to be put on a cyclone came and blew the walls down. The members abandoned the building and sold the lot back to the original owners. They then bought a large residence at 305 East Stateline for the church building.

In April 1954 the present building was started. Additional work is still being done on the church. The building is worth approximately $50,000. It did not cost this much since much of the construction labor was volunteered.

Kuttawa Will Get State Help For Move

Officials of the State Department of Economic Development said today the agency will give extensive assistance in planning the "new" city of Kuttawa, whose present site is slated to be inundated by construction of Barkley Dam on the lower Cumberland River.

Authorities estimate that from one-half to two-thirds of the improved properties in Kuttawa will be flooded by a lake to be formed in connection with building the dam. The U. S. Corps of Engineers plans to start buying up property within the city in 1959 and construction is scheduled to start in 1960. The new dam is to be located 11 miles downstream from the existing town site.

SOCIAL SECURITY INFORMATION

By Charles M. Whitaker
Manager of the Paducah Social Security Office

If you're a farmer, chances are that changes in social security which became law this year affect you and your family. This is so whether you own a farm, rent a farm, or do farm work for someone else. Today, I want to discuss a provision in the amended law which affects many persons who have farm property—either as owners or lessees.

Since 1954, earnings from self-employment as a farmer have counted toward old-age and survivors insurance. The new law doesn't change that. Under the old law, however, you did not get social security credit for cash or crop shares you received as rent for your land. Income from farm land which was let out to someone else, even if on a share-farming basis, was regarded as rental from real estate and did not count toward social security. The man who had only this kind of income from his farm was regarded simply as a landowner, not a self-employed farmer.

In many cases, income of this type still does not count toward social security. If you simply collect rent for the land, that's still rental from real estate. Under the 1956 amendments to the law, however, the cash or crop shares a farm owner receives from a tenant or a share-farmer is regarded as farm income which will be credited to his social security account if he "materially participates" in the management or production of the farm commodities.

Let's say you own some farm land, or hold farm property under lease, and in turn rent it to someone else. If you simply collect rent for the land, that's still rental from real estate. Don't report it as self-employment farm income for social security purposes. On the other hand, if you let out the land to a share-farmer, but still take an important part in the growing of the crop or the management of the production of the crop on that land under an arrangement with the renter, that's most likely "material participation." In that case, the money you realize from the transaction would not be rental income but farm income. It would count toward old-age and survivors insurance protection for you and your family.

If you have a definite arrangement with the user whereby you regularly advise and consult with him on the production of the crop or livestock, regularly inspect the operation, and have a hand in the management, this would be a strong indication that you "materially participate." Moreover, if in addition you also furnish the renter with tools, livestock, and farm equipment, or finance any of these, this would be further evidence of "material participation" on your part.

This change in the law will afford protection under old-age and survivors insurance to an estimated 400,000 additional farmers. It is effective beginning with taxable years ending in 1956 or later.

IN LOW GEAR!

William Strasburger of Cincinnati likes to have customers in his store but he doesn't like them to come sprawling through the door. It seems the city lowered the sidewalk in front of the store and now is trying to charge Strasburger $45-dollars for the job. However, Strasburger claimed the lower walk raised his doorstep and unwary customers come flying in.

Feast On Holiday Mushroom Muffins

MARVELOUS are muffins made with condensed cream of mushroom soup. Their subtle flavor and extra special texture bring magical mouthwatering moments... especially when served on the days of feasting along with that holiday bird.

HOLIDAY MUFFINS

2 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 can (1 1/4 cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/4 cup melted shortening
1 egg, beaten

Sift dry ingredients into a bowl. Mix soup, walnuts, shortening and egg; add to flour mixture. Stir until well blended. Fill greased muffin tins 3/4 full. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.

They'd make a special breakfast surprise some morning, too. You might like to vary this recipe by substituting condensed cream of chicken or cream of celery soups in place of the condensed cream of mushroom soup.

PARENTS STILL HOLD MAJOR INFLUENCE ON CHILDREN, SURVEY SHOWS

Despite great changes in patterns of family life, it is still the parents who endow their children with courage, a sense of responsibility, generosity, compassion and other finer qualities, Morton M. Hunt writes in the December Reader's Digest in his article "There's No Substitute for Parents."

Hunt found youth specialists in varied fields concerned about a tendency to delegate parental responsibilities to church, school and camp. Yet, a Scout executive reports—"All the camp training in the world is of no avail, if, when he gets home, the child is again allowed to become overly dependent on his parents."

In one New York University study, a group of children from well-to-do middle class homes was found to cheat far more than a group of reform school kids. The explanation offered by Dr. Howard Lane was that in "good" homes, where success is the principal goal, honesty was given lip service but children saw their parents lie, give flattering welcome to people they despised and do a hundred other dishonest things to advance their interests.

Even in the first year of life, the parent is all important as psychologists agree that a basic liking for people can be created if an infant is always handled gently, fed when hungry, and comforted when miserable. This creates a fundamental liking and unshakable trust in others.

Hunt concludes, that parenthood can't be an effortless and unconscious process but that when we give our creative best to the task, the reward is unlike any other this life offers. As Hunt and his wife Lois are parents of a 16-month-old son, he has a personal interest in the subject. Mrs. Hunt is a lyric soprano, formerly with the Metropolitan opera, who now sings on television. She recently appeared on NBC's "Rosalinda" spectacular.

U-T Finds Enesgy Ebb Kills Victims Of 'Rabbit Fever'

Tularemia, or "rabbit fever", seems to kill its victims by sapping the body's strength until all energy is gone, according to experiments at the University of Tennessee.

Exactly how the tularemia bacteria causes death is not yet determined. Reports say victims seem to expire simply from a lack of energy. Dr. John M. Woodward, U-T bacteriology professor, says rats used in the experiments became unable to move in the final stages of the disease—"not paralyzed, but inert."

These observations are backed up by a detailed study of the rats' energy (carbohydrate) metabolism, a process of chemical changes which is the body's fundamental source of energy. Results indicate that the disease bacteria can mortally impair this vital process.

The research is being supported for the fifth consecutive year by the Office of Naval Research under an annual $4,800 grant. The metabolism study is but one phase of an investigation to find out how micro-organisms like tularemia bacteria cause death.

this malady, while it affects only one woman in 250. Color blindness is an hereditary factor which shows up in a girl only when both parents are affected—while only one color blind parent is enough to pass this ailment along to a son.

Winged Performance and a Floating Ride make The Big M the road-hungriest car ever built BIGGEST SIZE INCREASE IN THE INDUSTRY—Mercury is now over 17 1/2 feet long, more than 6 1/2 feet wide. Wheelbase is a big 122 inches. Inside there are inches more headroom, leg room—as much shoulder room, for example, as in many of the most expensive cars.

3-WAY POWER CHOICE

New 290-hp Turnpike Cruiser V-8—Wait till you feel its silk-and-dynamite performance! Optional on all Montclairs and Monterays.

New 255-hp Safety-Surge V-8 with Power-Booster Fan—A Mercury "first" in the Montclair Series. The engine fan coasts when not needed for cooling. You save horsepower other cars waste, enjoy a far quieter ride.

New 255-hp Safety-Surge V-8—Dream-car performance in the Monterey Series—Mercury's lowest priced line! Features another Mercury "first" which you get at no extra cost on all Big M engines for '57—a Thermomatic Carburetor. It automatically controls the temperature of the air the engine breathes—helps keep it uniform summer and winter. Engine starting is easier, usable power and economy are increased.

YEAR'S MOST IMPORTANT RIDE IMPROVEMENTS

Exclusive Full-Cushion Shock Absorbers—One of Mercury's great Floating Ride features. The first shock absorbers in the industry to give such amazing bump-smothering control on rough roads without sacrificing a soft, satin-smooth ride on average roads.

New Swept-back Ball-Joint Front Suspension—Mercury introduces a new improved version of its famous suspension system. Because of the new swept-back design, the front wheels are now, in effect, pulled gently over bumps, rather than pushed into them.

New balanced weight distribution greatly reduces nose dipping on sudden stops and lurching on fast starts.

New road-hugging center of gravity—Everything is lower. Car height, passenger compartment, frame, and rear axle. You enjoy an amazing sense of "nailed-down" stability on curves.

You've got to feel Mercury's new Floating Ride to believe it. We invite you to do just that, today, at our showroom.

was honored recently with a gift tea given in the lovely home of Mrs. Roy Latta in Water Valley.

Mrs. Latta received the guests and was so very attractive in a black crepe Demi-Dell original.

In the receiving line were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. U. S. Copeland and, Mrs. Otha Alexander, mother of the groom-to-be.

Rita was stunning in a white sheath with all over design of rhinestones and embroidery. Her corsage which was a gift from her hostesses, was made of red carnations. Mrs. Copeland wore a wedge-neck blue wool. Her corsage was pink carnations. Mrs. Alexander wore a frock of pink wool studded with rhinestones. Her corsage was white carnations. The dining table held at its centerpiece a miniature, lighted white church with stained glass windows. It featured a miniature bride and groom leaving the church. Flanking the scene were white lighted tapers in silver candleholders.

The co-hostesses, serving the guests were Mrs. P. L. Pillow, Mrs. Mabel Tibbs, Mrs. Carl Pirtle, Mrs. E. J. Hall and Mrs. Virgil Arnett.

Mrs. Mary V. Hicks displayed the many lovely gifts and Mrs. Cliff Williams presided at the register.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Faulkner of Harris, Tennessee surprised their daughter, Nancy with a lovely birthday dinner recently.

The dinner was served buffet-style from a beautifully appointed table which held as its centerpiece a delicious three-tiered decorated birthday cake.

Guests were seated at small tables, which were aglow with lighted tapers, circled with holly. Handmade Christmas place-cards added further attractiveness to the table.

Following a delicious turkey dinner, the honoree opened her gifts. Games and contests were enjoyed during the remainder of the evening.

Present for the happy occasion were: the honoree, Miss Nancy Faulkner, Miss Lariane Fields, Miss Joan Maynard, Miss Joan Tune, Miss Jessie Gamblin, Donald Rives, Gaylon Cardwell of Troy, Morgan Fields, Joe Royce Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield, Martin, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner and sons, Leon and James.

As if they don't do it 365 days a year, the women of the Walnut Grove Church decided to give their men-folks a fancier dinner than usual... so last week the good ladies of the Women's Society of the church put on a real feast for the men in their lives. From all reports it was a wonderful get-together and after some good fellowship and food the men held their regular monthly meeting and program, as did the women.

At the women's meeting Mrs. Herman St. John conducted the business session. Mrs. Tom Reese opened the program with prayer and Mrs. J. C. Elam read the scripture lesson. Mrs. Albert McClain gave the Purpose of the Society. Mrs. Sue White presented the program "For All Children."

Mrs. Jack Irvine, Mrs. Albert McClain, Mrs. Keith Smith assisted with the program. Mrs. White dismissed with prayer. At the conclusion of the program Christmas gifts were exchanged.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Golden, Mrs. and Mrs. Elmer Walston visited Mr. and Mrs. Porter Lewis Thursday night.

Claus showed us Santa's diary of his memorable visit in 1955. We found it very interesting and thought Fulton High students might enjoy some excerpts from it.

Well, about 12:00 a.m. I left Union City, Tennessee, U.S.A. and a few minutes later I approached the outskirts of Fulton, Kentucky.

My first stop was the beautiful, new Boyd home. After inspecting her other gifts, I decided to leave Barbara Ann a closet instead of clothes.

While in the Highlands, I gave Harold Frazier a good talking to for throwing all Sylvia's presents in the fireplace. However, since he's done such a good job for the Bulldogs this year, I left him something besides sticks and ashes.

I didn't dare go into Coach Thomas's house, since he was still trying—not too calmly—to get Terry in bed.

The Fulton News, Thursday, December 13, 1956

I left Marion Blackstone a beautiful, three-layer, chocolate cake with fudge icing, but after I re-checked my notes in the sleigh, I returned to her house, ate the cake, and left Marion Rye-Krisp.

My, how time passes! I was shocked to realize how grown-up Nancy and Al Bushart have become. It seems like only yesterday that I brought Nancy a little football and Al his first long pants.

While visiting in the Linton home I saw Anne tenderly gazing at a package from Bill Robertson. I predict something will come of this.

I gave Charles Bowers another "little black book," because the one given him last year is overflowing.

When I visited the Dunn home, I was surprised to find one member of the family missing. Later by Rudolph's light I spied a red-and-white Ford racing Bobby in the family car from Hickman.

I left Mr. Lowe a "Santa Special," a dictionary for undefinable terms. Also, left him—as I did all other Fulton High teachers—a stocking full of patience and fortitude.

As I finished my rounds about dawn, I let Rudolph guide my sleigh through Fulton once more, and there walking down Lake Street were George Bonduant and Jerry Page. But it was Christmas Eve so I simply waved and cried the traditional greeting, "Merry Christmas to all and to all good-night!"
