So sorry not to visit with you today... have been serving on the jury at Hickman this week. And sometimes dear friends, I'm going to tell you about my experiences while serving on same.

All of my life I have wanted to serve on that august body. Finally it came this week... a member of the petit jury... and while I have covered many, many court sessions I had no idea what it meant to be one of "twelve men (and women)" tried and true."

PLAY PARTY GAME MAKES LADY HAPPY WITH $54 JACKPOT

WFUL's Interesting Afternoon Game Is Profitable And Fun

Mrs. Newt Stephens of Route 5, Fulton, is $54 richer today... and what is more she had fun and relaxation to boot while getting rich!

Mrs. Stephens is the winner of Radio Station WFUL's Play Party Jack-pot which had reached the $54 total by adding two dollars each day.

Play Party is broadcast each afternoon on WFUL from two-thirty until three-thirty p. m. Its a fascinating little game played over the air, with music, news and stories thrown in while the game is being played.

Each day a winner is given two dollars, and if there is no winner the two dollars adds up each day. That's how it came to $54.

Mrs. Stephens has been playing the game ever since it started on WFUL and although she says this is her first time to win... she doesn't mind not winning because the game is so much fun to play.

Play party forms may be picked up at the stores of the sponsoring merchants. WFUL calculates that nearly 5000 persons are actually participating in the game each afternoon.

SWIFT SPENT MORE THAN A MILLION HERE DURING 1956

Thacker Points To Ready Market For Raw Materials Here

The role of Swift & Company's dairy and poultry plant as a business citizen of the Fulton area is emphasized by the fact that its local expenditures for 1956 were $1,184,923.00, A. B. Thacker, manager, said today.

This figure includes payrolls, purchases of butterfat, milk, eggs, and other raw materials, transportation, supplies, maintenance, local taxes and other expenses.

As part of the vital food industry, production of dairy and poultry products should show good growth in the years ahead, the Swift manager said.

He pointed out that dairy and poultry products have kept pace with consumer demands for improved quality and minimum amount of preparation time in homes. He mentioned stuffed turkeys and packaged, browned, fried chicken as examples of this trend.

Thacker predicted that the years ahead will bring still more progress in the dairy and poultry industry, in every step from farm to table. There likely will be more frozen and pre-cooked foods manufactured in the future, he added.

"Research continues to point the way to lower production costs, better quality, new uses for products and innovations in preparation, packaging and marketing," Thacker said. "All of this points to increased consumer demand, which in turn means a ready market for raw materials in the Fulton area."

Health Office Maps Vigorous Mosquito Campaign In Fulton

Encephalitis, dread disease that has caused several deaths around Fulton during the past year, will be the target of a thorough campaign here this Spring, area health department officials announced this week.

Fulton is going to get the full treatment, in hopes that such preventive measures will eliminate any more cases here, and the full co-operation of the citizenry will be necessary to make the campaign effective, health officials told the News Wednesday.

Here, in brief, is the plan of action:

In March, an intensive cleanup campaign will be conducted in and around Fulton. All rubbish, cans and potential mosquito-breeding places will be eliminated.

An airplane will provide methodical and regular DDT spraying of the area around Fulton and Water Valley beginning with the mosquito season.

Special "fogging" machinery will provide complete and regular spraying of every block in the city to kill mosquitoes during the season.

Encephalitis, which is popularly known as "sleeping sickness," is a virus disease that produces headache, high fever, a stiff neck and back, and drowsiness. In more severe cases the patient may go into a stupor or a coma. Death occurs in about one out of 10 cases.

There are several types of encephalitis infections. In the United States the most commonly occurring are eastern equine encephalomyelitis and St. Louis encephalitis. In Kentucky, St. Louis encephalitis is usually the type

Fulton-Louisville Train Service Ends This Week

The only two Illinois Central passenger trains operated between Louisville and Fulton will be discontinued after Friday, according to information received by the Louisville Post Office.

Highway postal service has been arranged to replace the mail service furnished on the trains.

Information that the trains were to be cut off was received Friday in a telephone message from the office of the I. C. Manager of mail baggage, and express in Chicago.

Joe Perkins, district transportation manager in the Louisville Post Office said that the new Highway Post Office Service will duplicate as nearly as possible the service now furnished by the trains.

"Some of the present connections are lost, but some new ones are established," he said.

The present service on the Louisville-Madisonville - Paducah star route is being retained and expanded Perkins added. So is the Paducah-Fulton star route. They will handle bulky mail and supplement the Highway Post Office Service.

The trains to be dropped are Nos. 103 and 104, which operate daily between Louisville and Fulton. At Fulton they connect with I. C.'s main line between Chicago and New Orleans.

The Post Office was informed that the last train to Fulton will leave Louisville at 9:55 p. m. Friday. The last Fulton-to-Louisville train will arrive in Louisville at 7:30 a. m. Saturday.

YOU BET WE WANT IT

Almost down to the last citizen, all of Fulton and South Fulton has been closely following what reports we could get from Washington all week regarding Fulton's chances for selection as site for the new federal penitentiary. Seldom has the greater community so genuinely united in pursuing a goal... a true indication that the project is earnestly sought for this community, and that such personnel as operate the institution will be welcomed as citizens, friends, neighbors.

We understand that the Federal Prison Committee may be in this area, as this paper is circulated. Along with our thanks to them for being considered, we wish to express our sincere wishes to aid them in any possible way to bring this institution to Fulton or its area. That merely echoes the sentiments of the whole Fulton area.

Greenlee Receives Big Load Of Flowers - By Mistake

Around $82,000 worth of flowers were delivered to Greenlee cemetery Monday evening, and even though delivery was a mistake, they almost stayed there.

A Chicago-bound trailer truck, laden with the cut flowers from Florida, failed to make a left-hand turn at the top of cemetery hill and drove straight ahead thru the intersection, thus going into Greenlee. The further he went, the worse his predicament became. Finally driving to end of the lot, he came to the small turnaround, was unable to make the circle, and became stuck.

The combined services of four wreckers were required before he could be returned to the highway.

BEWARE!

The News received reports Monday that a group of magazine salesmen were canvassing country homes in this area, stating that they were selling subscriptions for Fulton High School. School officials denied any connection with such a crew.

May Primaries To See Big Turn-out For County Offices

With Kentucky's Democratic primaries now stepped up to May early indications are that every county officeholder now serving will seek re-election. This excludes Sheriff John Rose, who according to law cannot succeed himself. Early political talk has it however, that candidates for the office will be as high as ten.

This year too, the citizens of Fulton and Hickman will elect mayors and councilmen.

First county official to file his intentions to run for re-election is Judge Homer Roberts who made his formal announcement last week. Mrs. Ruth Johnson reported to the News this week that she has filed her intention to seek re-election as circuit court clerk for a full six-year term and Dee McNeil has filed as a candidate for County Judge to oppose Judge Roberts. Neither candidate however has made formal announcements in the newspapers or over the radio. Mrs. Kathryn Kelly Lannon, county court clerk advised the News on Wednesday that she had filed her intention to seek re-election to that office. Even at this early date the air is full of rumors about prospective candidates for the various county offices. While prospective candidates are probably sending up "balloons" as a test of their strength, it is obvious that there will be at least three candidates for circuit court clerk, perhaps three for county judge, at this writing at least six for sheriff, two for circuit court judge, two for jailer, two or three in each of the magisterial districts whose terms face re-election this year.

DOES THIS HAPPEN HERE?

Another complaint of a "speed trap" being operated on U. S. Highway 41 has been received by the State Attorney General.

Charles L. Courim of Chicago, Illinois, complained to the attorney general that "the speed trap in Crofton, Kentucky is the worst I have ever seen or heard about."

"Call me a crank, if you will," Courim's letter continued, "but things like this are supposed to happen only in Russia, not in our Democracy."

Courim included with his letter a receipt for a fine of 19 dollars 50 cents signed by Crofton Police Judge W. E. Kershaw. The receipt indicated the fine was for speeding 50 miles per hour in a 35-miles-per-hour zone.

The attorney general informed Courim his office was powerless to interfere with the acts of a police judge and suggested the only remedy for a motorist is "to employ local legal counsel and resist the charges."

CANDIDATES MUST TAKE FEB- 5 EXAM

Examinations of prospective candidates for county tax commissioner will be given in each Kentucky congressional district Feb. 5.

Revenue Commissioner J. E. Luckett said under Kentucky law no tax-commissioner candidate's name may be placed upon the ballot until he has been examined and qualified by the Department of Revenue. Persons passing the exams are given certificates of eligibility.

In addition to holding the certificate, a candidate must be at least 24 years of age at election time and must have been a Kentucky resident at least two years and a resident of the county and district in which he is running for at least a year, Luckett said.

While county politics usually get a head start on the campaign trail, the opposite is true in the city races. County races are usually well on their way before any murmurs are heard from the city elections.

This year the first magisterial district will elect a constable but it is believed that the office will have few takers since a new state law reduces the fees to 50 cents per service. Reduction of the fees may have the effect of either eliminating the alleged "speed trap" racket or accelerating the often-referred to nuisance. If the latter is true, many citizens are prepared to secure statements from candidates for circuit court clerk, the county attorney, and the magistrate, that such practices will be instituted to make alleged "speed traps" impossible. All of the above-mentioned public officials participate in fees and commissions, on arrests handled by the constable.

Also coming up for re-election in the May primaries is the office of State representative now held by Jack Johnson of Clinton. It has been a long standing agreement that the office would alternate between the counties of Fulton and Hickman, since the elected official represents the two areas in the General Assembly.

While no candidate has been mentioned from Fulton County it is believed that Fulton County will offer a candidate for the office.

Into the local county political picture is injected the rumor that the State Administration will offer its "slate" of candidates for important county offices. A reliable source told the News that recently a political pow-wow of Chandler

Patricia Latane Is Back...Read Her And Write Her

She's back again at her old stand writing for the Fulton County News... she needs no introduction... she's Patricia Latane.

We told just a few people that Miss Latane would be back in the News this week and already the mail bag is getting full. Miss Latane invites you to write her your problems in care of the News. She does not counsel by mail or in person. She answers your mail only through the columns of the News... and here she is... the one and only Patricia Latane.

Dear Readers:

I'm proud to be back in Fulton, also able to answer the letters which I left unanswered and which I will answer at this time. I hope to be hearing from my many friends and hope that I will be able to help you with your problems.

Pat

Dear Miss Latane:

I'm a young girl and have been working after school. There has been a boy coming into the place where I work and I've been talking to him, and have let him carry me home several times. But I have learned that he is married. Do you think I should continue to see him or not.

J. H.

Dear J. H.

No, stop seeing him. He could never mean anything to you. He can't carry you to the shows and places you would like to go for fear his wife would walk in, and remember the Golden Rule if you were married you wouldn't want someone going with your husband.

Pat

Dear Pat:

My daughter and her husband are having trouble and I'm living with them as I don't want to live by myself. I have a home; should I go to it, or do you think I would do more good staying here.

A. C.

Dear A. C.

There was never a house big enough for two women, and if you have a home and able to care for yourself go home at once.

Dear Miss Latane

I joined a lonely hearts club and have been writing to a man who has now asked me to marry him. All my friends tell me not to marry him as I have never met him, only seen his picture. They have got me so confused I don't know what to do. Can you advise me?

B. R.

Dear B. R.

I don't approve of lonely heart clubs, so I don't think I would be the one to ask for advice as I would say "No." But let me give you a few points to think over before you make your decision: First, I don't like the idea of shopping out of your home town; second, I like to see what I'm getting as all pictures don't look like the item; third, he could have sent you someone else's pictures; fourth, you know nothing what so ever about this man except what he has told you and of course he isn't going to tell you the bad, only the good, features; fifth, you do not know if this man is a ex-convict, maybe someone who is wanted by the police etc. There is a whole lot for you to think about. When I read your letter I couldn't help recalling and instance that happened quite sometime back. I do not recall just what state it was in but the man and his wife were both given the electric chair because he had been a member of the Lonely Heart club and had gone to this little town and married a widow woman and after he married her and got everything in his name he killed her, he and his wife. So I suggest you think about these things and pick a husband in your own town someone you know something about.

Fulton Should Get On The Air Map Let's Plan To Get It There In '57

Whether or not Fulton is selected as the site for the new Federal penitentiary, the aggressive campaign to land it here has unearthed one major facility that Fulton lacks and should plan to provide: air transportation facilities.

We probably have given little thought to such in the past, what with our railroads and highways. But highways are congested and railroads run on tracks... and air service goes anywhere that the railroad doesn't. In a long article on the subject of business flying last October, the Wall Street Journal pointed out that more and more small companies depend on air to save time, boost sales, increase profits.

The neighboring Tom Stewart airport at Union City plans to begin air passenger service next month, and Fulton will thus be served by a line linking Tennessee cities. That's all well and good if you're going to Nashville or Knoxville (take a TRAIN to MEMPHIS.) but if you're going to Bowling Green or Cincinnati or Kansas City it won't help much.

We discussed the proposition with an air-minded businessman Saturday who pointed out that lack of consistent use of air service in smaller cities all over the nation was causing lots of financial difficulties with airlines trying to maintain such service. He came up with what sounds like a very practical suggestion for Fulton: an air strip that could be used by private planes and charter service.

It was pointed out that there are several charter services available to us, the closest being Gill-Dove Airways at Martin, and this gentleman has used their service. It would work like this. If you have to get to, say Tulsa, Oklahoma in a big hurry, pick up the phone and call an air charter service, meet your plane at the Fulton airstrip at the specified time and fly non-stop to Tulsa. A group of up to five Fulton businessmen could charter a plane from Fulton and fly anywhere in the Nation for approximately the same cost as scheduled airlines... with no transferring, no waiting at terminals.

As the Wall Street Journal article pointed out, more and more corporations also use their own private air transportation to get around on company business. Fulton would prove quite unattractive as a factory site for such a corporation in our present state.

It is our information that a good sod landing strip about 200 feet wide and 1/4 of a mile long would meet requirements; also that the CAA has ready money to assist the project. We suggest that this project will bear full investigation by our Chamber of Commerce this year. It might be better, of course, to use the facilities of the Tom Stewart airport and make the 10-mile drive; most metropolitan residents drive even further to their own airports. But one way or the other, we need to be identified on the air map.

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

Jesus Meets All Of Our Needs

(By Walter C. Davis, D. D.)

With all our modern psychology we have not plumbed the depth of Jesus' teaching on the relation of sickness and sin. Time after time in healing the sick He said, "Thy sins be forgiven thee." Yet He taught that sickness was not necessarily caused by sin. Of the man born blind He said, "It was not that this man sinned, or his parents." (John 9:2).

We do wrong in thinking that every accident or sickness is sent upon us as a punishment. Our Heavenly Father is not a vindictive character like that. Yet there is a connection. A heart and mind poisoned by fear or hatred may bring down the body in sickness. The weight of unforgiven sin will over-burden the physical heart within us. One extreme, then, is to say God sends all our sickness upon us as punishment. The other extreme would be to say there is no connection at all, that we cause all our own sickness.

Jesus did not spend His life in Jerusalem's suburban sections where refinement, culture, and ease predominated. It was spent mostly among the poor and needy—among the forgotten people. He met life head-on where the stresses and strains were greatest. He met people whose bodies were twisted and maimed, whose souls were troubled with the unsolved mysteries and strains of life. What ever the human need, Jesus was able to meet it. He could say, "Take up thy bed and walk." He could say, "Thy sins be forgiven thee."

It would be good to know the background, the past experiences of this paralytic, whether he was born that way or whether he had known better days. In saying "thy sins be forgiven thee" there is implied a life of activity, complicated with wrong doing and wrong living. Jesus has the remedy for that sort of life if we are penitent and do His will.

We know more about Matthew. His trouble was not physical, but moral. His was the need of the sick heart. He was an active politician and business man, combining the two for profit. As he weighed his manner of life as a tax gatherer he kept excusing himself, saying "business is business." Yet the sense of guilt oppressed him. Deep in his soul he must have longed for a better way and so he became interested in this new teacher of Galilee. He seemed to jump at the invitation, forsaking all to follow Christ. In his new joy he threw open his home to Jesus and to his own friends. He wanted them to know the Christ.

Jesus made Matthew great, made him one of the decisive contributors to the welfare of the human race. He can do that for any man, tax-gatherer or paralytic.

Jesus dined with sinners; let us rejoice. They were the ones who needed Him. Are we not all sinners? Can you think of any one who does not need Jesus? No less authority than Karl Stolz, the Christian psychologist of Boston University said, "There are no normal people."

Look around you. You will find no one who is absolutely well and perfectly physically. Still harder to find would be one who has no moral or emotional quip.

The regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held Monday night at the First Methodist Church, with Ernest Fall, president, presiding. Mr. Fall gave a report on the progress being made on the Henry I. Siegel Factory being started here. Louis Kasnow, treasurer, made a brief financial report. A committee, composed of Paul Hornbeak, Vodie Hardin and Ira Little was named to select 18 candidates from which nine will be elected to form a board of directors at the February meeting.

Steve Wiley, local attorney, was chosen as a representative of the Fulton County Bar Association, at a meeting of lawyers held at the courthouse in Hickman Monday afternoon. Mr. Wiley will participate in meetings, to be held prior to the opening of the state bar association, which convenes in Louisville, March 24th.

The architect and engineer for the new $75,000 Warner theatre was in Fulton early this week going over plans and specifications. Actual work on the building will begin shortly. It is stated that when finished it will be one of the finest little theatres in the United States.

Efforts are being made in this vicinity to improve the quality of milk, and dairies are being inspected by the health department and graded accordingly. Grade A is the highest standard and Mrs. C. L. Drysdale is mighty proud that she has been able to reach that standard.

Kentucky Windage

By F. W.

There's no doubt about it: Fulton has joined hands 100% in seeking to get the federal prison after it was learned last week that we stood high on the list. A committee of five flew into Washington Friday night, in the wake of around 500 telegrams from local businessmen to committee members and political leaders. Daily reports from the committee over the weekend disclosed that they were wasting no time in their efforts, and the whole community joined hands in wishing them well, even though a lot of work had already been done prior to their going.

A neighboring paper, quoting one of the inspecting officials last week, pointed out that probably about 35 of the 150 federal employees would be provided staff housing by the government, which will mean creation of a sizeable little housing project somewhere near the entrance, wherever the prison is located.

Same official, asked about "undesirable" characters possibly moving in to community, stated that "in a security-type prison the number of visitors is limited" and to his knowledge that he knew of no visitor to a prison that had ever caused a community any embarrassment.

And while we're on the subject of the prison officials' visit: both were arrested and hauled into court last week on their way thru Mayfield on a charge of speeding... it seems that they were trying to cover too much ground on their inspection trip in too little time. Kind of an awkward reception, we'll admit... but then one wonders where to draw the line!

In Clinton last week a

The Post Office Department, it is understood, is considering a five cent first-class mail rate while abolishing air mail. Mail would be sent by air or rail, whichever service would be faster. This proposal is expected to have a lot of appeal in Congress. Combining first-class and airmail into one category would bring about a considerable boost in revenue to the Department.

AREA FARMERS NOT USING ENOUGH LIME, LACK TOP EFFICIENCY, WRITER FINDS

(By William Owens)

The liming of farmland in this country dates back to early colonial days. The use of lime reached its peak in 1947 when 30,283,000 tons were used by farmers. Currently, about 20 million tons are being used annually as compared to a need of 80 million tons per year. This decline in the use of lime from 1947 to 1956 by farmers is a problem of grave concern to farm leaders and future consumers.

Liming is the first step in a soil improvement program. Liming corrects soil acidity, adds calcium and magnesium to the soil, increases the efficiency of fertilizers and results in bigger and more nutritive crops.

Tests conducted at Cornell University by two of its soil specialists on a silt loam soil which tested aph of 4.8, showed that best results were obtained and the pH raised to 6.5 by adding two tons of lime per acre before plowing and another two tons per acre after plowing. This level has been most satisfactory for growth and production of legume crops and hay. Tests showed that when a limited amount of lime was applied, — such as 1 or 2 tons per acre — the best results were obtained by applying the lime after plowing and then working the lime into the top three or four inches of the soil. It must be remembered, however, that this method will tend to cause roots to remain close to the soil surface instead of growing deeper into the soil, thus the crops will be less drought resistant. The best results were obtained when soils received all the minerals needed by the growing plants in the proper balance.

The vast majority of farmers in this area are not liming adequately as the figures on tonnage used as compared to needs indicate. Some fields in every farming community are adequately limed, but two many have never had an application of this important mineral product. Farmers can increase efficiency and reduce production costs by inaugurating an adequate liming program. County agents in every county can and still will be glad to help farmers start and maintain such a program.

Farm Electricity Important

In most cases where farmers are using electric power, they are not getting the most out of correct and improved usage. We have been using a heat lamp for baby chicks for many years and even before that stoves were used in cold weather to give added heat to the young birds. Now let's stop and reason a little and see how we can improve our profits for the coming year with an expansion program electrically. One of our most important crops to area farmers in the coming year is the new pig crop. A chilled pig that gets off to a slow start may become a runt and thus will cost you money. May I say this in regard to heat for the new born pigs. They may be a little more resistant to cold than their feathered farm lot friends, but on the other hand the loss of two pigs in a litter would be like losing 50 or 60 chicks out of 300. If this were to happen to the wife's flock I would say something would start to operating right now. Many is the time when 1/4 to 1/2 of the pig crop is lost due to chilling or at least set back a few days to a week. This can and should be corrected. We farmers are going to have to watch our cost of production this year and here is another method to be used to help set net profit in a higher bracket.

Here is another thought for the sheep producer. About 75% of the lambs come in cold or cool weather. Electric brooding is the low cost way to cut early losses. If a lamb gets chilled the first few days, his chances are slim that he will be a profit maker for your farm operation. This early life-saving warmth not only speeds growth but cuts feed costs and makes a more profitable lamb. Less feed is needed to keep the lambs warm so that extra milk goes for growth and profit. Now the electric power will cost you a little too but the added early growth and vitality puts a lamb on the market earlier. It goes without saying that the early markets are best. The best improvement around the barn is proper lighting in and outside. Farm accidents can be reduced if farmers will keep this in mind. It is not good management to walk into a dark barn. A serious fall could cost you many times the amount of lighting installation.

NEW SOFT RED VARIETY OF WINTER WHEAT WILL BE KNOWN AS "TODD"

The Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station this week said its new variety of soft red winter wheat, experimentally known as Ky. 50-9929, has officially been named "Todd."

Verne Finkner, small grains specialist, said the variety was so named because Todd is a name well known in Kentucky history, and is a short, easy name to remember and use. The Kentucky Grain Improvement Association in Western Kentucky assisted in the work.

Outstanding characteristics of the new variety are high yield resistance to Hessian Fly, loose-smut resistance, powdery mildew resistance, and soil-borne mosaic resistance. The variety likewise has "some resistance" to leaf and stem rust. Finkner said it has good winter-hardiness, is stiff-strawed and medium in height.

The variety has susceptibility to septoria and to scab, has been lower than desired in test weight, and has softer kernel characteristics and finer granulation than the Vigo variety under Kentucky conditions.

Todd resulted from a head selection made in 1948, from the eighth generation of a bulk hybrid seed lot supplied by Purdue University. Todd possesses characteristics from nine original parents, Finkner said.

The variety, a breadless, white-chaffed type, was USDA nursery-tested for three crop years, Finkner noted. In Kentucky, over a four-year period, Todd averaged 1.3 bushels per acre more than the variety, Dual, and 2.4 bushels more than Vermillion. In a five-year test period, Todd averaged 5.9 bushels an acre more than the variety, Knox, and 5.2 bushels an acre more than Vigo.

About 117 bushels of foundation seed were released to Kentucky certified growers in the fall of 1956, Finkner said. Kentucky will maintain supplies of breeders' and foundation seed.

CONSERVATION NOTES

TREES

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.

A tree whose hungry mouth is prest;

Against the sweet earth's flowing beast;

A tree that looks at God all day,

And lifts her leafy arms to pray;

A tree that may in summer
wear

A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain;

Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me,

But only God can make a tree.
No doubt you are interested in trees or you wouldn't have read the above poem. If you weren't interested, be you are now.

Trees are available at $7.00 per thousand. Checks or money orders should be made to Division of Forestry. Mail them or bring them to your Soil Conservation District office across from the Post Office in Hickman. I almost forgot to tell you the kinds of tree available are White, and Loblolly Pine and Black Locust. Assistance from ACP Program may be obtained for setting and fencing tree areas.

Diary of Doin's

By Mary Nelle Wright

Hear Mary-Nelle's program, "My Fair Lady" every day on WFUL at 9:30 a.m., Monday through Friday.

I have heard people say — "Never wait more than TEN years to go back to your school for a reunion." Because half of the people YOU remember — won't remember YOU and half of those who remember YOU — YOU won't remember. Maybe that's not so clear to you — but that's the gist of it, anyway. Well, anyway, WE (my husband and I disregarding all chances of DISILLUSION — donned our SUNDAY clothes, put our best foot forward — and went back to University of Ky. at Lexington — and attended his fraternity reunion. And — it was just WONDERFUL — all of the gals had "touches" of gray hair, not many of the men had "wavy locks" as in days gone by. In fact, MANY of them had NO locks — to speak of.

But — everyone still had the same good ole spirit. It was so nice to meet many of the wives of the "brothers." And WHAT a "grand old gang" they are, too. We were so happy to be with our very dear friends, Billy and Shirley Carr who now live in Louisville. There is never a dull moment when that little Mississippi chile is around. And what a fine time we had with Sara Goodman (she belongs to Brother Charlie) of Glasgow, Ky. Sara is a person whom you like immediately. She's gay, witty and just plain fun. And Sib Grinstead (she belongs to Chris) also comes from Glasgow and we IMMEDIATELY voted her as the MOST stunning of ALL.

And how glad we were to be included in the party given by Hank and Speed Bowman and J. T. Denton at the lovely Bowman home. Hank is the "brother" in Lexington who always plays host to those of us from down in Western Ky. And we love his wife who is so charming.

It was a very GAY weekend and we came away from Lexington with a real feeling of camaraderie in our hearts. "Tis GOD to turn back the pages — ever so often. And we are happy to give a brief report about all of these lovely people as they have visited in Fulton and have several friends here.

We talked with Matt DeBoor via telephone and learned that his Jane is quite the busy little housewife these days. And bless her, she is really having all of the "trials and tribulations" that come with being a novice in the CULINARY ARTS. But, knowing Jane — she'll come through with flying colors — once she gets the "hang" of all of this housekeeping business. Irene and Bob White, Jane's mother and dad were also in Lexington for the weekend. They went up on Thursday and arrived in Lexington during a terrific snow. And it seems that Mr. Bob got "snafued" with one-way traffic — and we can well imagine WHY — because Lexington is a CHANGED place as to traffic — since the 1930's. All of the "Fulton delegation" came home Sunday night. And — as we ALWAYS say,

"Twas such fun — but — there's NO place like HOME."

We lunched with our Fulton lass, Kay Cherry in Lexington on Sunday, but didn't have an opportunity to see Beverly Hill. So it was with much happiness — and pride that we learned (Monday) that Bev was a featured singer in the first act of Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel", presented last week by the University of Kentucky Opera Workshop.

Bev "belongs" to Exie and William Hill in Fulton and is a sophomore in the UK College of Arts and Sciences and a member of Chi Omega sorority, and the Choristers. Some of the loveliest music ever written appears in this opera — and HOW we'd have LOVED hearing our Beverly sing — "When at night I go to sleep — fourteen angels watch to keep —" (If memory serves me — those are some of the words from the little prayer in the opera).

Here and There:

Mrs. C. F. Jackson is enjoying the sunny Florida climate. She left last week for Boca Raton for an extended visit. The J. C. Wiggins are also enjoying a fair climate. They are visiting in Mission, Texas where they will stay for a couple of months. Mr. and Mrs. John Frazier Lewis of Memphis visited with Rev and Mrs. J. W. Lewis in Fulton last week.

The Bob Juengels had as their guests the past weekend the Charlie Juengels and the Ed Juengels of St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Dunn of Columbus, Ohio, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Mathews and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Roper in Fulton. They are visiting here for a few days before continuing their trip on to Florida where they will stay for an extended vacation.

Mrs. Lynn Alexander has returned from a visit with her husband in Florida. Mrs. Alexander will return to Florida as soon as living quarters are available.

Betty Jane Purvis was honored with a "going away" party Thursday evening when several of her friends entertained for her at the Derby Cafe. Betty Jane, her husband, Don, and children, Paul David and Charles Edward moved to Memphis last week to make their home. Those who attended the delightful affair were her co-workers at the Southern Bell office and each one presented Betty with a lovely gift.

Those attending were Bobbie Brown, Frances Cursey, Helen Campbell, Carolyn Faulkner, Marion Lee Ray, June McKinney, Frances McCollum, Joan Owensby, Mary Ann Williams, Virginia Forrest, Dorris Wipf, Tommie Nelle Gates, Mary Anderson, Anna Bizzle, Helen Allen, Mary Ellen Ashby, Joyce Fortner, Eula Mulford, Sylvia Yates, Eunice Seath, Hazel Clark, Margaret Winsett, Lila Hastings, Anita Allen, Mary Frances Roberts, Adolphus Latta and Helen Williams.

Of widespread interest in Fulton and Hickman is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. John Baker of Hickman of the marriage of their oldest daughter, Sybil Don Ellis, to Kenneth Hutchens, son of Beulah May and Leon Hutchens of South Fulton.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized on Jan. 12 at the East Baptist Church in Corinth, Miss., with the pastor officiating.

Miss Mary Nell Logan of Hickman and Hugh Henry were the couple's only attendants. Mrs. Hutchens is continuing her studies at Hickman High School. Mr. Hutchens was graduated in 1952 from South Fulton High School and served three years in the Navy.

TULL — HANCOCK

Miss Bonnie Lou Tull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Tull of Clinton and Morris Wayne Hancock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Hancock of Fulton were united in an impressive marriage ceremony in the candle-light sanctuary of the Assembly of God Church in Clinton, on Wednesday, January 9, at 5 p. m.

A white arch entwined with greenery and white carnations, and wrought iron candelabra holding fourteen lighted tapers formed the background for the double ring ceremony, which was read by the Rev. Truman Davis, minister of the church.

Preceding and during the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Billy Joe Travis. She played "True Love", "Always", "I Love You Truly" and "If Could Tell You." The traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bouffant street length gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta. It was fashioned with a scoop neckline and empire bodice, fastened with tiny lace buttons. The long fitted sleeves formed petal points over the hand. On her head she wore a lace covered coronet trimmed with rhinestones. She carried a white Bible, topped with a single white orchid, showered with streamers of white satin ribbon.

Miss Bertha Ann Turner, maid of honor, wore a frock of red faille, and carried a Colonial bouquet of peppermint carnations.

Gilbert Bizzle served the groom as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Tull wore a two piece dress of blush pink brocade faille, and a small white silk hat.

Mrs. Hancock wore a dress of black and grey striped faille. Her hat was made of white wool. Both Mrs. Tull and Mrs. Hancock wore a corsage made of white carnations.

After a short wedding trip the couple will stay with their parents for a while. Mrs. Hancock will continue her studies at Central High School. The groom has been engaged in farming.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Owen of Bethel Springs, Tenn. and Mrs. C. H. Tull and the late Mr. Tull of Rives, Tenn. Mr. Hancock is the grandson of Mrs. Lee Fite and the late Mr. Fite of Clinton, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hancock of Fulton.

CASE OF HAPPY VS COURT CLOSELY FOLLOWED HERE

Fultonians continue to follow with interest the current dispute between Governor Chandler and the Court of Appeals over appointment of a court clerk.

The Court itself appointed Miss Doris Owens, former deputy clerk and a sister of Al T. Owens of Fulton, while the Governor ignored the Court and appointed his own choice.

HALF OF STATE IS DUE TAX REFUND!

Most taxpayers who find that they are due refunds on Federal income taxes withheld in the preceding year will make every effort to prepare and file returns as soon as the filing season starts, in hopes of an early check from Uncle Sart to reimburse the excess tax payments. Between 40 and 50 percent of Kentucky taxpayers fall in this category annually, according to District Director Gray of the Louisville Office of the Internal Revenue Service. Refunds last year to this sizeable group of taxpayers totaled $33,744,034.00 in 1956, and this year's figures should be about the same.

What woman doesn't want to eliminate her clothes line. Get rid of it forever?

The time saving, work saving, automatic electric dryer does just that. It takes only a few seconds to toss the clothes from the washer into the dryer and in no time all your clothes are dried soft and fluffy, ready to put away, or damp dry, ready to iron, whichever you choose.

The automatic clothes dryers are a great help to the modern housewife. They find it convenient to wash and dry clothes at night after work, also wash on rainy days and save the sunny days for pleasure. The housewife is also convinced that the automatic dryers give less wear to the clothes than the winter winds. A dryer saves ironing time too, because the clothes are less wrinkled. Many things can be folded and put away just as they come from the dryer. Hanging wrinkles aren't dried in. Clothes stay new looking longer, and bright colors are protected from sun fading.

Mothers with families can get along with fewer clothes. This is a real savings when growing children outgrow things before they're worn out.

Even take a clean, wool garment from storage only to discover it needs pressing? Try a steam press in your dryer. Preheat the dryer for five minutes on medium, place a damp towel in the cylinder with the garment and allow them to tumble five minutes.

Starched clothes can be dried quickly in an automatic clothes dryer. Confine the dryer load to starched garments to avoid transfer of the starch to other articles. Do not overdry. Remove clothes ironer-dry for easy ironing.

With all these conveniences, it's no wonder modern housemakers dry their clothes electrically. An electric clothes dryer guarantees perfect drying weather 365 days and nights every year.

Parr's 'Angels' Are Basketball Demons

(The following article appeared in Monday's Commercial Appeal.)

South Fulton, Tenn., Jan. 20.—Is the C. D. Parr touch magic? Does the simple fact that the genial Obion County genius of girls basketball is coaching a team make it the most dreaded sextet in this end of the state?

Certainly history seems to indicate that. For 13 years at Dixie Parr turned out the top girls teams in the area. Then he moved to Hornbeak and had another brilliant 13 years. This season he took over at South Fulton and the Red Angels have been rated the No. 1 team in West Tennessee since The Commercial Appeal's first ranking list.

They Are Unbeaten South Fulton's girls are unbeaten in 18 games this year and the victory string includes a 53-51 triumph over Hornbeak on Nov. 27 that was the Green Wavelets' first regular-season setback in over three years.

Heads shook sadly when the result of that game circulated over West Tennessee. Who's to blame a lot of people if they began to think that Parr was unbeatable?

Actually, his success in his first year at South Fulton is unusual, even for Parr. No coach can build a team in one year. Parr is the first to admit that, the material was waiting for him at South Fulton. "I'd a lot rather be coaching these girls than trying to beat them," he says.

Five of the starting six are seniors and the same five were starters last season when South Fulton had a quite respectable 13-6 record for the regular season. One of those losses was in the county tournament and Hornbeak and Woodland Mills beat the Red Angels twice each.

Everybody knew it. So everybody knew South Fulton was going to be tough. However, it's doubtful if even the girls themselves thought they'd ever be the No. 1 team in West Tennessee. Maybe it's the way one coach put it: "It wasn't Hornbeak that kept beating everybody, it was Parr."

ASTHMA
ASK ABOUT NEPHRON INHALANT, A PLEASANT AND PROMPT RELIEF EVEN FROM THE MOST DISTRESSING SYMPTOMS
CITY-DRUG CO., Fulton, Ky.

My players just roll over and play dead when they see him on the other team's bench."

However, it's also quite likely that opposing players want to play dead when they consider the array of talent Parr can put on the floor at South Fulton this year.

There's Janice Vincent, the team's leading scorer both this season and last. Janice, a slender brownette, is the only junior, so Parr will have something to build with, even though he loses his other forwards, Clarence Kendall and Nina Elliott, and all three guards, Peggy Peeples, Doris Harris, and Betty Peeples. They're all big, healthy girls who live to play basketball.

Nine Reserves Parr carries nine girls on his reserve team, so it's evident he's looking forward to next year. That's probably one reason why he always had a great team at Hornbeak and Dixie. He is not one to run up the score. He gets a comfortable lead, then lets the reserves play a lot. It pays off when the main teamers are graduated.

Juniors Glenda Coats, Diana Cunningham, and Betty Hughes and sophomore Shirley Brockwell are his reserve forwards and sophs Martha Weaks, Guynelle Payne, Carolyn Neely, Joan Maynard and Nancy Faulkner are his substitute guards. Parr says all have definite potentialities of becoming fine players.

But Parr is sure of only one thing. He won't spend 13 years at South Fulton as he did at Dixie and Hornbeak.

"I'm an old fellow," he said. "I won't last that long."

But does anybody want to bet that if he does he won't still be coaching girls basketball?

Chevrolet shows you some important differences in low-priced cars just by the look on its face!

Wouldn't you say that most of the '57 cars look good from 50 feet away, but what about from 50 inches away?
What does a close-up of the grille tell you, for example? Is it solidly made like the new Chevrolet grille? Or, in comparison does it look less rich in design—feel less strong and solid? Compare the quality and construction of the bumpers and headlights, the fit of the chrome trim.
The more closely you look all around the car, the more clearly you'll see that Chevrolet has the edge in the way it's put together. You'll find, for instance, that Chevrolet is the only car in its field with a lacquer finish... that only Chevrolet Bel Air models give you foam rubber cushions in front and rear seats as standard equipment. These are just a few of the advantages of Body by Fisher. And Chevrolet, you know, is the only low-priced car that has a Fisher Body.

We'll be glad to give you a close-up, comparative look at this new Chevy any time you care to come in. This week, maybe?

Ancient Art Still Tops Modern Science

Lacquerware, like precious jewels, is an ancient and highly developed art. In the Imperial Palace at Tokyo, Japan, there are priceless examples of this art, thousands of years old.

But besides being a fine art, lacquerware has more ordinary, practical uses. It is acid, stain and alcohol-resistant and can stand a temperature as high as 150 degrees Fahrenheit. Modern science has yet to come up with anything that equals the combined usefulness and artistry of this 3,000-year-old craft or the clean beauty of its high-gloss finish. And now come the news that lacquer masters are experimenting with new methods and materials and coming up with new designs for modern American homes.

Most people are acquainted with attractive cigarette boxes and trays or charming pieces of furniture. Not so many know the elaborate boxes for jewels or highly ornamental decorative screens. Many American servicemen who brought home beautiful specimens from Japan now cherish them as their most prized possessions. With them grew a taste and demand for more and now leading stores everywhere import a variety of interesting lacquerware.

Lac is the sap of the tree Rhus Vernicifera, and similar trees which grow in the Orient, principally Japan, the only country which today manufactures fine lacquerware. Japan's climate lends itself to the peculiar needs of lacquerware.

Pine wood is most commonly used as the base. One of the most complicated of arts, lacquerware requires forty different steps for the completion of gold lacquerware and as many as one hundred and fifty layers of lacquer to provide a perfect piece. And because fine specimens must still be made by hand in this electronics age, it is becoming scarcer. The most expensive and elaborate lacquer work may require hundreds of coats and several years of tedious work. When dried, the surface is polished with pulverized burnt hartshorn in a dust-proof room. The coats of lacquer are carved through in a design which show up in relief the delicate shadings of colors.

Today, as 500 years ago, Japanese craftsmen still turn out fine lacquerware, which may cost anything from $3 for a charming ash tray to $300 or more for an elaborate jewel chest. Since output is limited, buyers regard their purchases as treasures, to be cherished in the same way as precious heirlooms.

LETTERS TO EDITORS

Mrs. Jo Westpheling
Jo's Notebook
The News
Fulton, Kentucky

I feel that I should write you instead of Paul, because of the personal contact your "Notebook" has given us during our stay in India.

Counting backwards on my fingers I find that my two year term in India will expire this month, January 1957. Time flies doesn't it? My plans are not yet final either for home vacation or for subsequent plans, but at this time it looks like another overseas assignment. My work here is just now really getting under way, and I feel now that Ike and Nehru have gotten together for a little friendly chat, I should not disappoint either of them by quitting (actually there are more than 100 Americans here so I wouldn't be missed).

Tentatively my plans are to serve 30 days temporary duty in the Philippines (February) and possibly wait until May (until school is out) to take home leave of 6 weeks. We have Ruth's folks in East Kentucky and my folks in Hopkins County to visit, but of course we mean to come by Fulton also for a day or so. Hope to make a trip out to Yellowstone National Park sandwiched in somewhere.

Give "our best" to all the "best" in Fulton (which includes pretty nearly everybody on both sides of the State Line and surrounding rural areas).

Sincerely,

Farmers Urged To Report Wheat Now

S. E. Holly, Office Manager for Fulton County ASC, stated that the county office had forwarded all farmers, who do not have a 1957 Wheat Acreage Allotment, a letter enclosing a card requesting that they immediately report any acreage seeded to wheat in the fall of 1956, to the county office.

He urged every farmer to give this immediate attention if they had seeded any wheat acreage, as a Marketing card will be required before the wheat is marketed, and it is necessary that the Wheat acreage be checked by a farm reporter before a Marketing card can be issued. It is anticipated that farm reporters will begin this work during the month of February. Any farm failing to report a wheat acreage will have a delay in receiving his wheat Marketing Card.

$30,000 CITY BUDGET

A budget of $30,000 for the calendar year 1957 as proposed by Mayor Marvin Cunningham, was approved and adopted by the Clinton city council at its regular monthly meeting at the city hall Monday night, January 7.

Five milligrams of stilbestrol fed daily to steers wintering on roughage primarily, was no particular help in gains, the USDA reports.

found. The disease is contracted from the bite of a mosquito infected with the virus.

The mosquito most frequently found infected with the virus is technically known as Culex quinquefasciatus. Unlike some mosquitoes which are long-distance fliers, it ordinarily lives, breeds and feeds in the same locale. It lays its eggs on the water of permanent pools. These eggs hatch in the water into the very small larvae or "wigglers." The larvae have breathing tubes which they keep above the water in order to get air. For this reason, covering the surface of the water with oil will kill all the mosquito larvae in the pool.

The mosquito becomes infected with the virus of encephalitis when it feeds upon an infected animal. Tests for antibodies for the disease in wild and domestic fowl suggest that they may be a reservoir for the disease from which the mosquitoes become infested.

Fultonians can help prevent the spread of encephalitis by eliminating the carriers — mosquitoes. Small pools of water should be drained. Where this would be impractical, they should be sprayed with oil. Windows and doors should be screened tightly and insect repellents used when out of doors. Recent outbreaks of St. Louis encephalitis around Fulton have been thoroughly investigated by the State and County Health Departments.

Maytag Produces 10-Millionth Washer

The 10-Millionth Maytag washer truly came off the production line with a "splash" as this independent home laundry appliance manufacturer set a production record unequalled in the industry. Aerial bombs signaled completion of the historic machine, christened with a flagon of cold water, symbolizing Maytag's pioneering in cold water washing for synthetic fabrics. Christening (upper right) was done by Mary Margaret Christianson, Maytag home service director, as Maytag Queen Jerry Reilvelid looks on. The ceremony was held at the Newton, Iowa, automatic washer and dryer plant of the 63-year-old firm. Besides production line ceremonies, the 10-millionth celebration included an open house and plant tours for the community and an all-employee party and dance in an adjoining warehouse. Tour visitors passed through a giant replica of the Maytag All-Fabric automatic washer (upper left). Chronology of Maytag's 10 million washers was shown on a large sign (above). At a 10-millionth day luncheon, E. J. Hank, president of the American Home Laundry Manufacturers association, said, "This is a production milestone reached by no other company in the industry. One of the oldest companies in the home laundry appliance industry, Maytag is not only the leader today in the total number of washing machines produced, but also in the total number in use."
