MONDAY REPORT: FULTON IN TOP RUNNING FOR SITE

Prison Bureau Expected Back To Survey Area, Informant States

Word reaching Fulton this week from informed sources in Washington indicated that Fulton is still in "top running" as a site for selection of the new Federal prison, and may be one of three or so final sites from which selection will be made for construction of the $15,000,000 institution.

A letter received here Monday by I. C. attorney Rodney Miller and discussed at the council meeting Monday night was quoted as stating that "Fulton is in a very favorable position" for consideration of the institution.

It is believed that survey crews may very likely return here from Washington in the near future for a thorough analysis of the site locations, both adjacent to Fulton near the coal chute and in the four-points area.

Kentucky Windage

By F. W.

The Fulton City Council was confronted Monday night by a College-Street resident who stoutly maintained that the newly black-topped street was not up to thickness specifications. And to prove his point he produced a plug he had cut out of the new surface, supposedly indicating that the blacktop coating was less than one-inch thick.

Council, hardly convinced but yet a little skeptical, decided to go up and cut a bunch of random plugs out of the new street to make sure.

It begins to look like College Street, which used to be the roughest street in West Fulton, may revert to that again, after the plug-cutters have their day.

As it turned up Monday, the Council already did a little private plug-cutting last week themselves, and found that the surface, indeed, was well over the specified two-inch thickness. It was their private opinion that Monday night's "exhibit" was flaked off the undersurface.

Let citizens living on concrete streets should likewise get suspicious of their specifications (after 25 years of use) it might be well to point out here that private use of an air-hammer on some is positively prohibited.

Renovation of the press room in a newspaper building in Covington, Ky. has caused much inconvenience to reporters: the clean-up crew washed away important data and telephone numbers scribbled on the walls.

Take this tip for what it's worth: we're going to have a clean-up campaign in Fulton, come Spring.

When H. L. Vaughn's garage at Troy, Tenn. was again broken into last week, Mr. Vaughn could only comment: "If I knew what they were looking for, I would help them find it." Thieves made a mess of the place, pried open cash register even though it had a key in it, and left money in it even after they opened it.

A nearby paper says that "mail on the Fulton-Hickman Stahr mail route is now arriving one hour later," says Mary Stahr, postmistress.

The late W. C. Fields always maintained that when a woman driver stuck her left arm out the car window you could be sure of one of five things: she was either flipping ashes off her cigarette, was drying her nail polish, was going to make a left turn, or a right turn, or (Continued on Page Eight)

PARKING LOT ON LAKE STREET IS BOON TO SHOPPING: PLENTY OF ROOM ALL OVER

Attention new subscribers to the News from Wingo, Cayce, Hickman, Crutcheff, Water Valley, Dukedom, Martin, Fulton routes, Union City, Mayfield, Clinton, Columbus, Oakton, and all points east, west, north and south... read the ads in this week's News and come to Fulton to shop... something new is in Fulton to greet you.

In case you didn't know it, Fulton parking facilities on Lake Street have been greatly expanded and improved, and that old bother of looking for a place to park while you shop the Fulton stores is gone forever.

There's parking space on down-town Fulton for everybody, all the time, everywhere as a result of the new parking lot on Lake Street made possible through the Illinois Central Railroad, the City of Fulton and the Kentucky State Highway Department.

For several years city officials have attempted to remove legal obstacles that would make possible a strip along the railroad tracks on Lake Street as a parking lot. Last summer, through the cooperation of local political leaders and Highway Department officials, the way was paved to remove the tracks and permit the State Highway Department to construct the lot. It's been a tremendous help to local parking problems and permits shoppers to park on Lake Street within easy reach of any store in town.

Come to Fulton to shop... and enjoy the facilities of the new and improved parking area on Lake street.

Majorie Walker

Someday, maybe a hundred years from now, when the Middle Road is a four-lane highway, and communication by radio and television will be obsolete as the old washboard, you'll be able to ride along that super-highway Middle Road and see a statue out there that will interest your descendants and mine. The statue will be of a little old lady, seated at a big oak desk, pouring over some ledgers and buzzing like a bee. Near the statue of the old lady will be an old, beat-up, broken-down radio transmitter tower with buzzards nesting on the once-proud beacon lights.

On that statue of the little old lady will be this inscription: "To Majorie Walker, who couldn't be fired, wouldn't quit and refused to die." The statue will live on for posterity for the owners of WFUL, who will it that way.

"They willed it that way in 1957 A. D. when the owners of WFUL took an inventory of the personnel and decided that Majorie Walker was the "backbone of WFUL". The inscription was thought out carefully and the thoughts broken down as follows:

"She couldn't be fired." That inscription is self-explanatory. She knows the bookkeeping system of the station so well loves it so much, is so experienced in her field, that it is much easier to burn the station down than to try to replace her... not that anybody ever wanted to. Furthermore, who wants to lose a right arm!

Frankly it is always a joy and a pleasure to witness one of those few times that Majorie is out-of-balance on her books. She won't talk, she won't laugh, she won't breathe until she finds that annoying little total that failed to make the debits and the credits even-steven. The station manager knows when not to consult with Majorie when she's out-of-balance. Frankly it seems that the total she's looking for assumes the identity of a human being and Majorie just defies the amount to turn up lest she pounce on it with an adding machine and gets it in line. Its a real study in tenacity. (She always finds the troublesome total.)

As to the inscription: "She wouldn't quit." And that one is all-inclusive. She wouldn't give up on a job that had to be done if she fell over dead at her desk. She wouldn't leave to take a day off for some personal reason if she were asked to attend a White House dinner, if she had work to do. If business was such that it would inconvenience the public if she took off for lunch, she'd eat some morsel at her desk while she's typing with one hand and answering the phone with the other. And as station manager I might be sticking my neck out, but I do believe that Majorie would rather be employed at WFUL than accept a job as secretary of the treasury. She has been accused of loving WFUL more than any other material thing on earth... and if I am any judge of human nature... she won't quit... her loyalty and devotion to duty if the King and all his wild horses were to tell her it isn't so.

And as to her refusing to die... that's the reason for the final portion of the inscription. I told her the other day that if an atomic bomb would hit the station, you could find Majorie sitting at her desk somewhere in a field, just as soon as the explosion died away... radiation burns or (Continued on Page Eight)

RADIO AUCTION END WITH GOOD RESULTS IN TWO COUNTIES

WFUL Broadcasts Bring In Most Of Funds Collected

Radio Station WFUL has concluded its daily auctions-of-the-air for the benefit of the annual March of Dimes in Hickman and Fulton counties. Judge Ely Padgett, who conducted the daily radio auctions from Clinton, Ky. reported that the response from the sale of items over the air was greater than in any previous year. Judge Padgett told Manager Jo Westpheling, that had not the bad weather interrupted telephone and electricity lines the results would have been better than any expectations.

J. D. Hales and Mrs. Gilson Letta, Fulton chairmen have not completed their tabulation of this year's drive, but last week it was reported that the response was great and that all items that were donated were sold through the popular auctions of the air.

The chairmen and other workers in the two counties wish to thank the hundreds of persons who donated items for auctions and also those people who so generously bid to buy them in.

The entertaining and popular auctions of the air have produced the major portion of the funds received from the drives in recent years. Station time was donated to Hickman and Fulton Counties' police committees as a public service by Radio Station WFUL.

While America Pauses To Honor It's Illustrious Sons, It Also Pays Tribute To A Worthy Cause

During February, America observes the birthdays of several of its illustrious sons — Washington, Lincoln, and Thomas Edison. Another birthday celebration of national proportions in which all America can properly join is that of the Boy Scouts of America.

Scouting in the United States reaches its 47th anniversary during Boy Scout Week, February 6 to 12. It is difficult to recall when our nation did not have this character-building, leisure time program for its boys and young men.

Since February 8, 1910, more than 26,000,000 American boys and men have been influenced by the Scout Oath and Law. They have had the benefits of Scouting training, fellowship, handicraft skills, and high adventure.

America is all the richer for it. Many men in high places in American affairs today proudly credit Scouting's influence in their lives.

Today over 4,500,000 boys and men are actively enrolled in 540 local councils with a membership of 111,000 units. Fortunate indeed are communities where Scouting flourishes.

American adults of good character give generously of their time in giving leadership. Others help by raising funds, or in serving as members of local Boy Scout councils which in turn provide: training for leaders, camp facilities, worthwhile year-round activities, personal advancement, and opportunities for Scouts to render community service.

This summer there will be a "mountain peak" experience for more than 50,000 Boy Scouts, Explorers, and their leaders when they gather at historic Valley Forge in Pennsylvania for their Fourth National Jamboree. We earnestly hope our community will be well represented when Scouts from all over the nation camp together.

It will be a gathering of youth who will be among the nation's top leaders a few decades hence.

Weekly Newspapers, Fastest-Growing Publications In U.S. Show Vitality, Times Says

Weekly newspapers today are the fastest-growing publications in the U. S., Time says in a special report in the current (Feb. 4) issue.

"Metropolitan newsmen who day-dream of retiring to a country paper have long viewed weeklies more as a rural retreat than as an influential segment of the press," Time says. "But with the swift growth of suburbs and small towns since World War II, weeklies have largely shed their cracker-barrel ways, developed sophistication and a new sense of mission."

Weekly Newspaper Representatives, Inc., last week reported that 8,478 weeklies in the U. S. in 1956 reached a paid circulation peak of 18,529,199, up 6.5% over 1955. Estimated gain for the 1,700 dailies (total circ. more than 56 million): about 2% Advertising in weeklies increased 1.2% to a record $112 million; this includes a 30% jump to ($25 million) in national ads since 1954 vs. an estimated 10% gain for dailies. (The Fulton News is represented nationally by WNR).

"The weeklies' resurgence reflects editorial as well as economic vitality," Time says. "In addition to relaying the back-fence chit-chat on which weeklies have traditionally thrived, the papers are the only interpreters and watchdogs of local governments in hundreds of U. S. communities, whose problems, aims and achievements go largely unrecorded in the metropolitan press."

According to one editor, weeklies "are giving back the home town" to suburbanites who have lost contact with community responsibilities. In many areas, fast-growing suburbs have produced weekly and semi-weekly chains that are as slick in appearance and informative in content as their city cousins.

"Even outside metropolitan areas," says Time, "most small-town weeklies... have thrown out the smudgy type and bumpy prose that once characterized the weekly press, now run staff-written stories and editorials, instead of the boilerplate and canned sermons that once crammed country papers. The old-time jack-of-all-trades country editor has been largely supplanted by trained staffs. Lured out of the cities by the prospect of editorial and economical independence, trained newsmen in increasing numbers are bringing professional standards to weekly newspapering."

Though once renowned for their oued the crusading spirit that has vanished from many a fat-cat daily, Time notes. "In the South, many weeklies have consistently taken a more liberal stand than the region's big dailies on the touchy desegregation issue."

"Since weeklies are closer than dailies to readers and advertisers and more vulnerable to the pressure of advertisers, they are often hit by economic boycotts. But few editors cave in under such threats — or worse. In Granite City, Ill., after Editor Cornelius E. Townsend had waged an editorial campaign against organized gambling in the community, a hoodlum recently emptied his revolver into Townsend's Press-Record office. Echoing many a fighting editor before him, Townsend said: 'Maybe they'll scare hell out of me someday and I'll quit. But I don't think so.'"

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

What Brotherhood Means

By E. Boyd Barrett
BROTHERHOOD IS A WORD everyone likes to use. But it is the kind of word we use without being sure of its meaning.

If asked to define brotherhood, I think most people would answer that it is sympathy, or generosity, or readiness to help others and sacrifice oneself.

NO DOUBT such qualities are necessary parts of brotherhood, but a person could have all of these and still not have the true spirit of brotherhood. Like a car without gas, all the elements would be there but the one that really counts. In brotherhood, the really important element is humility.

Brotherhood calls upon us to "honor all men"; to bear with the faults of others; to yield to others; to avoid "talking down" or "lording it over" them. To live up to such ideals is not easy. In fact it is impossible to put them into practice without that special fuel of brotherhood, humility.

MANY KENTUCKY SHRINES HONOR MEMORY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

On a raw frontier farm of rolling land, in the cabin by the "Sinking Spring," was born the man whose strides carried him awkwardly, yet majestically, over a path which began in common Kentucky clay and ended in immortality.

On December 12, 1808, Thomas Lincoln bought for $200 cash, a 300-acre farm, situated a few miles south of Hodgenville, in central Kentucky. Here, he and his wife and their infant daughter took up their abode in a one-room log cabin near a large limestone spring which had given its name to the place.

In this small cabin Abraham was born to Thomas and Nancy Hanks Lincoln, February 12, 1809, 148 years ago.

This cabin is now enshrined in a beautiful memorial building on a part of the original Lincoln farm. It is constructed of pink granite and Tennessee marble and was erected over a two year period, beginning in 1909, through funds raised by popular subscription throughout the nation. The memorial, together with the 116 acres of land on which it stands, became the property of the Federal government in 1916.

The story of Abraham Lincoln which began in this historic shrine is unfolded throughout Kentucky at places like Knob Creek, which Lincoln said was his earliest place of remembrance; at the cabin in which Lincoln's parents were married, preserved in Pioneer Memorial State Park, Harrodsburg; and at Lincoln Homestead State Park, Springfield, the site of the home of Lincoln's grandparents.

Prominent statues honoring Lincoln stand in several Kentucky towns and in the rotunda of the state Capitol. And still not uncommon, after 148 years, are the many legends and stories about Lincoln and the Lincoln family passed down from family to family and repeated today with great pride in many sections of Kentucky.

COST ACCOUNTANTS ANSWER MORE QUESTIONS ON TAX RETURN FORM

Income Tax Questions and Answers by Cost Accountants.

April 15th is just around the corner but don't wait until the last minute before starting to work on your tax return. Get an early start and avoid careless omissions that may be costing you money. There are many different types of errors made on tax returns and most of them could be eliminated if more care were given to the preparation of the returns.

Q. Who must file a federal income tax return?
A. Everyone under 65 years of age with a gross income of $600 or more during the taxable year must file a return. If you are 65 before the close of the taxable year, you are not required to file a return unless you had gross income of $1,200 or more during the taxable year. A person with income of less than $600 ($1,200 if 65 years of age or over) should file a return to get a refund if any tax was withheld from your wages. A wife filing a joint return with her husband, however, is not entitled to such a refund.

Q. When should the return be filed?
A. The return must be filed on or before April 15, 1957; however, you should file as early as possible as taxpayers who wait until the last minute often make costly mistakes. Late returns are subject to penalties.

Q. Which return form should be used?
A. The right answer will depend on individual circumstances. There are two individual income tax forms and are known as form 1040A and form 1040. Each method may produce a different tax, so the right choice may save you money.

Q. What about signatures?
A. To be a valid return, it must be signed by the taxpayer; a joint return must be signed by both husband and wife unless the husband is legally authorized to sign his wife's name.

Q. What is the "standard deduction"?
A. The "standard deduction" is an allowance in lieu of the itemized deductions of contributions, interest, taxes, medical expenses, etc. The amount is 10% of your adjusted gross income but limited to $1,000 if you are single or are married and file a joint return. If husband and wife file separate returns the amount may not be more than $500 in each return. The Tax Table automatically allows a standard deduction for persons having income of less than $5,000.

Q. Your child is born on December 31, 1956. Are you entitled to claim the full exemption for 1956?
A. Yes. This is true even though the child may have lived only momentarily.

Q. What about a dependent that dies during the year?
A. You may claim a full $600 exemption for a dependent that lived any part of the year.

Start Chicks Early. Reap Most Gains

There are several advantages to ordering (and getting started) one's lot of chicks now, says C. E. Harris, UK Agricultural Extension poultry specialist.

Cool weather is favorable to chick's growth and rapid feathering; brooding can be done when farm work is less pressing; pasture can be used by growing pullets when pasture is tender and succulent, at a 10 to 20 percent feed-cost saving; early pullets can be matured on limited feed over a longer period of time; and early pullets can be gradually brought into production during the summer months and can be in heavy production when egg prices are going higher.

Harris points out that local hatcherymen are "vitaly interested" in their customers' profiting from chicks the hatcherymen sell them. A check with the hatcheryman now on type wanted will enable the hatcheryman to deliver at the desired time.

The most talked about occurrence in the community recently was the weather Sunday and Monday and the resulting power shortage. Some in this community were without electricity for a long time than ever since we have had the power even though the T. V. A. employees worked a night, both Sunday and Monday night. Too bad for the ones who had electric heat. Fortunately that the temperature was not lower.

The sick in the community remain unimproved. Mr. and Mrs. Orvin Morrison are enjoying a television set installed last weekend.

Diary of Doin's

By Mary Nelle Wright

Hear Mary-Nelle's program, "My Fair Lady" every day on WFUL at 9:30 a.m., Monday through Friday.

In the course of my DIARY through the weeks, months and YEARS that pass — there is an EVER present CHALLENGE to make the CURRENT issue the BEST yet!

Sometimes a passage in some obscure magazine sparks a lead to my weekly visit with you. Sometimes the visit with an old friend... maybe the activities of my young friends... an interesting visitor, an old landmark, even a new one.

This week my inspiration comes from a young friend — one who has revealed his thoughts through a poem. A poem that came from a mind far more MATURE than the mind of an average youngster. And I am AGAIN reminded how much farther ADVANCED — how much WISER — are the minds of our youth of today — than the minds of those of yesteryear.

I think the writer of this lovely poem has given many of us food to reflect upon. And I take great pleasure — and I am sincerely honored — in bringing it to you through the medium of my DIARY.

THE SACRED MACHINE

I've heard folks of great respect Discourse on this and that. But after all was said and done I sat and thought, and tried to see

What they had said that day. I found that though they may discuss

With wise and learned phrases, That like as not, they just repeat

Things someone else has told them. Man is not an office file for storing information.

Man is a sacred machine, ordained and trained by God. He absorbs learning as a raw material

And creates a glowing thought — a finished pearl. A rule to live and love by. If your knowledge seems too small

It really doesn't matter. A machine that produces a finished product

No matter how small its resources, Is greater far than one which merely Returns its material unaltered through another door.

I know you will concur with me that this is a beautiful poem and it brings to mind a familiar quotation by a wise sage, "The happiness of your mind depends upon the quality of your thoughts."

I am never free of a little thought that constantly goes round and round in my mind, urging me on and on — to keep a file of all of the ACCOMPLISHMENTS of our Fulton and South Fulton BOYS and GIRLS. It would be a record that would surely be "filled to the brim". In this issue of the Diary we are happy to tell you that Jerry Coates, talented young singer of Fulton, has been invited to go to New York to audition for Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts television program.

Mr. Godfrey was informed of young Coates' outstanding talent by a local scout, and the invitation was received from Esther Stoll, Director of Auditions, today.

Jerry is presently employed at WTUC radio station in Union City. He is a graduate of South Fulton High School and attended UTMB.

Jerry has appeared on numerous programs locally, and on radio and television shows.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coates of South Fulton.

Our congratulations go to you, Jerry and we wish you the very best of luck!

Janet Vincent received a singular honor when she was chosen by the student body of South Fulton as their basketball queen for 1956-57. Janet is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Minnie Vincent of Dukedom.

Janice, a junior, is an active member of her class, as well as an outstanding ballplayer. She is a member of the Glee Club and has been a class favorite for the past two years. She is scholastically in the upper third of her class. She was a queen candidate for the Harvest festival this year.

Janice was crowned as basketball queen Tuesday night when the South Fulton Red Devils and Devilettes were hosts to the Obion teams.

Attendants to the queen were Peggy Peeples, Nina Elliott, Betty Faye Peeples, Carlene Kindall and Doris Harris.

Ann Adams, a University of Kentucky sophomore was hostess to a bridge luncheon during the between-semester holidays, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Adams on Vine Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Claran Anderson Boyd

Miss Mary Ellen Mischke and Mr. Claran Anderson Boyd Are Married In Paris, Tenn.

In a lovely wedding at Paris, Tenn., January 26 in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church, Miss Mary Ellen Mischke became the bride of Claran Anderson Boyd.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Walter E. Mischke of Paris and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Seal Warmath of Jackson, Tennessee.

The Reverend Walter Edward Mischke, father of the bride, officiated at the double ring service, with matching wedding bands. The ceremony was closed with the Lord's Prayer in which the congregation joined.

Miss Carolyn Roberts of Fulton, Kentucky was maid of honor, Mrs. W. E. Mischke, Jr., of Memphis was honorary matron of honor. Bridesmaids were members of the college crowd. A delectable luncheon was served the guests, after which games of bridge were enjoyed at three tables. High scorer for the afternoon was Frederica Gibson and Betty Gregory was low. Janet Allen won the bridge-bingo.

Guests included: Kay Cherry, Beverly Hill, Shirley Homra, University of Kentucky students, Mary Ann Hill, Betty Gregory, Jackie Edwards, Frederica Gibson and her houseguests, Eleanor Harper and Shirley Walker, Memphis State students, Janet Allen, who attends Murray State College and Paula DeMyer, Ole Miss student.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Guill of Colorado Springs, Colo., and formerly of Fulton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joyce, to A/2c Ray Gene Roberson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Roberson of New Orleans, La., and formerly of Crutcheville, Ky.

Miss Guill is a senior at Fountain High School, Fountain, Colo., and Airman Roberson is stationed at Forbes Air Force Base in Topeka, Kan.

HERE AND THERE we found interesting tid-bits of the "comin's and goin's" of some of our friends... Milton Owen Exum, of the U. S. Navy and son of Nell and Milton Exum of Fulton, is a member of the crew that sailed aboard the U. S. S. WASP from the San Diego harbor on January 31. The WASP started its long journey around Cape Horn and up to the East Coast to its home port, Boston. Besides the interesting ports the ship will visit, all hands are looking forward to the ceremonies connected with crossing the equator. Incidentally, if one should walk from San Diego to Boston — it would be approximately three thousand miles... The way the WASP is going, it's nearly eighteen thousand miles. THE REASON for this — the Panama Canal will NOT accommodate the tremendous proportions of the WASP. The slogan, "Join the Navy and See the World" — has certainly been a REALITY to our Fulton boy during the past year. Good Luck, Milton Owen!

Carl Hastings is surely eligible to join the Isaac Walton club — He and his wife, Betty are vacationing in Florida and recently caught a sea trout so BIG that a newspaper photographer down there couldn't get all of the fish in the picture. Must have been a real THRILL for our friend, Carl.

Beverly Cursey, a student in Murray State College, spent the weekend in Fulton with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cursey on College Street... Russell and Inez Johnson of Murray visited Fulton friends Sunday.

Harry Bolser of Paducah was in Fulton Friday afternoon... Mrs. H. D. Brandon and Mrs. L. Adams are having a wonderful vacation in Cuba as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Brandon and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Satterfield of Water Valley have returned from a two weeks visit with their daughter, Shirley of Clearwater, Florida. Shirley has an interesting position as Assistant Credit Manager for the Association Loan Corporation of Clearwater. The Satterfields also visited Mr. and Mrs. Howard Powell and sons, who have recently moved to Florida and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Whitehurst of Tampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brundige entertained with a barbecue supper recently. Those who enjoyed the evening were: Mr.

4-H Leadership Rewards Ky. Youth

Because of their remarkable demonstration of leadership, a Kentucky boy and girl received the 1956 State 4-H Leadership program award. These young people have developed the fine characteristics necessary to successful leadership in their 4-H Club and community.

Nelson McCall of Lexington, a 4-H'er for 13 years, and Mary Jean Wethington, 17, of Creston, a 4-H'er for eight years, were chosen by the Extension Service of the University of Kentucky for this outstanding honor.

Nelson was president, junior and assistant leader of his 4-H Club, and active in enrolling new members. He is secretary of both county and state Clubs.

Mary Jean is past president and held offices in county and district 4-H Clubs. She heads project groups, plans programs, and especially likes to work with younger children.

In recognition of their leadership, Edward Foss Wilson, a director of Wilson and Co., presented each with a 19-jewel wrist watch appropriately inscribed to commemorate the honor.

citizenship chairman, who had attended the Civil Defense training meeting gave the members some interesting facts on that subject.

Mrs. Gerald Hepler and Mrs. Mill Shaw, Jr. gave the home management lesson. The citizenship lesson on Civil Defense was given by Mrs. Hornsby. The club will meet in February with Mrs. Parke Wheeler.

Seventeen members and two visitors attended the Palestine Homemakers meeting held at the Community Center, January 18. The visitors were Mrs. George Black and Mrs. A. L. Cox.

Mrs. Clyde Burnett, citizenship chairman, gave information on Civil Defense work to be carried on in the county. The Ground Observers Corps want more aid. Mrs. Percy King, the landscape leader gave some timely information on buying seeds and urged removal of all dead trees from premises.

A pot-luck lunch was served at noon by hostesses Mesdames Clyde Burnett and Richard Mobly. Mrs. Hillman Collier was in charge of recreation.

The major lesson was given by leaders, Mesdames M. R. Jeffress and Roy Bard on ways to make laundering easier.

The club voted to donate $10.00 to the Polio Drive.

Miss Frances M. Stallard, Home Management Specialist, from the University of Kentucky conducted a training school for the home management leaders on January 23 on "Kitchen Shortcuts." The school was attended by leaders from each of the twelve clubs who will give the information and skills which they learned to their club members at their February meetings.

Our Home Demonstration Agent and about 10 club delegates braved the icy weather and left Monday at 6 a. m. for Lexington where they will attend the annual Farm and Home Week Convention.

SHEEP INCREASING IN SOUTHLAND AND SUGGESTED AS GOOD FARM MONEY MAKER

For several years sheep flocks have been increasing throughout the mid-south and there are good reasons why. First, because many farmers are making one hundred percent profit on their investment the first year, and each year thereafter. Many of our farms have much rough pastureland better suited for sheep than any other class of livestock.

Our climate is mild enabling us to have the lambs dropped in December so they will be ready for the May and June eastern markets, at which time they bring highest prices of the entire year.

There are fewer sheep in the west than at any time since 1872 which creates a strong market for both lambs and wool. The Government is encouraging sheep production by establishing incentive payments on wool of 106% of parity.

The Agricultural Department of the Illinois Central Railroad cooperating with the extension service, livestock association and meat packers have been working with farmers helping them secure the right kind of western ewes to head their flocks. These agencies are ready to help you.

Look over your farm to see if you too cannot profitably add a small breeding flock of sheep and then call a representative of one of the groups mentioned above.

More About Sheep

Here is an important item concerning sheep. The care of the feet of sheep to prevent foot rot and other trouble is a very good practice. The feet of sheep should be examined at least three times a year, and trimmed when needed. A pocket knife or pruning shears may be used with excellent results. Sheep on the open range may not need trimming because they will wear down, whereas small farm flocks may need trimming to keep the animals from walking on the side or heel of the foot. Filth sometimes accumulates under the overgrown portion and cause sore feet.

Rose Fences Keep Stock, Soll At Home

The use of multiflora rose, the living fence, has been increasing rapidly in recent years. They are economical and will turn livestock when mature. Their usefulness for soil conservation and erosion control is being tried with outstanding results.

The rose should not be confused with Osage orange. The rose fence does not grow tall enough to shade crops and the roots do not spread enough to reduce yields. Rose fences are suitable for contour fences between cropland and permanent pasture and between cropland used for rotational grazing. They also aid proper land use by keeping livestock from pond areas, eroding streams or gullies.

Multiflora rose fence is not regarded as practical for small city lots.

A mechanical tree planter does a fine job setting the roses and cuts labor costs in setting.

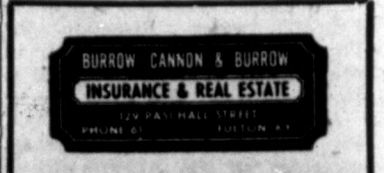

If you need a good economical fence, it may pay you to look into this living fence and see just what the possibilities are, it could save you money.

PATRICIA LATANE

Dear Pat:

I have met a seemingly nice man, really he does seem to be a very nice person. I want to ask you one thing, for I like him very much; (his initial is J. N.) he was here New Year's night and he told me some things that interested me very much. Did he really mean what he said, and did he tell me the truth about the way he felt about me? When will I see him again.

H. R.

Dear H. R.:

Yes you can rest assured he did tell you the truth; he told you the truth on how he felt about you. He will be back sometime in March and you will see him at this time.

—Patricia

Dear Pat. Latane:

I am a man who has been married but my wife and I are separated, and I would like to know of the woman I'm going with now if she is true to me? If we married would we be happy? Would we get along? Would she do me like she did her husband before me?

B. H.

Dear B. H.:

The woman you are going with is not true to you and never has been. Yes, she is going with someone else; he is like you, just another sucker to her. She don't care for you; you are just a new toy to enjoy for awhile; when she gets tired of you she will throw you aside like a child will a car that he has torn the wheels, etc. off. No, you would never be happy with this woman. Deep in your heart you're in love with your wife and you know it; you miss her making over you as she waited on you hand and foot. Why not go and see your ex-wife and talk with her; explain that where your trouble was: in her nagging and accusing you of being out with someone else. She might be glad to make up, but don't wait too long, someone else could beat your time. The best thing you can do is forget this woman you're mixed up with, as your home isn't the first she ever broke up and won't be the last for her; she enjoys doing nasty things.

—Patricia

Dear Miss Latane,

I notice in your to-days columns that you have returned from your vacation etc.

I am very much interested in the lady you refer to as "B. R."

I do not belong to your Club of Lonely Hearts but wish to qualify and can give reference.

If you will be so good as to give me some kind of an introduction to Miss B. R. I shall be very grateful. I might state CIVIL DEFENSE 'KEYPOINT' for Los Angeles is typical of some 200 such communication centers throughout the nation maintained by local civil defense. In less populous areas, "keypoints" are often police or fire stations, where someone is always on duty. They depend on the Federal Civil Defense Administration's 14,156-mile warning net (base) to link them to Air Force air defense division control centers. Key-points notify, in turn some 3,500 "sub-keypoints" which set off sirens and call out civil defense personnel.

here that I will not send my picture but meet her in person or by representative per her instructions and demands, this may be giving the party some advantage but I am willing to go all out on this proposition as I am lonely and furthermore will state that I can bring home the bacon and eggs and pay all the bills.

I wish to state that I have money enough to burn a mule (small mule) and am wild to lavish it on BR — I love the way she writes and can give her all the advice and patience that her heart desires. I AM READY. I do feel this is an opportunity of a life time: PLEASE WHEN, OH WHEN?

Very truly,

J. L.

Dear J. L. If you will be kind enough to send me your address I will be glad to send your letter to B. R.; then if she cares to contact you she may do so.

Patricia Latane,

I am a weekly reader of the County News and enjoy reading it and also your page.

I've written you once before but some how you never got around to my letter. Would appreciate if you could answer these few questions for me.

About 2 years ago we had a very cute and expensive little dog to disappear from our family. We've searched every where for him but in vain.

Could you tell us if he just merely strayed away, or if some one picked him up for their own, or just what did really happen to him? Maybe, you could tell us where we might even find him now, or if we will ever see him again. Have had hopes he might come back home again sometime.

Hoping to hear from you soon.

Sincerely,

F. M.

Dear F. M. This was a small type dog. He was running down West State Line and was picked up by a man, and was taken out of the state. I don't know where this dog came from; all I got on him from your writing is a bridge (that would be the overhead bridge on West State Line) but this dog was only taken a short distance but yet it was out of the state. The dog is now dead.

—Patricia

Dear Pat, I am sure glad you are back. We have a little trouble. Would like for you to give me some information of how it happened. We had some money taken from us some over a year ago. Would like to know just how it happened.

Will thank you so much.

L. B. B.

Dear L. B. B. This money was taken from your home by a member of your family; you have this person on your mind. According to him it's not stealing, he just can't help it, so its an illness. You will just have to watch him, that's not the only thing he has taken from you; you missed something off your dresser that you thought you misplaced, which he took.

—Patricia

Dear Miss Latane,

I have a problem I don't know how to solve. We hope you can give me some advice on just what would be the best, to move from here or just stay on for the rest of this year.

Thanks,

G. B.

Dear G. B. This is a cold old world at times and when you don't know what your going to do, that's bad, so I suggest, stay where you are because in August 1957 your life is to change all together. In August you will have more good luck than you will know there's possible for any one family.

—Patricia

Dear Patricia,

Glad you are back in the News again. Pat, I have been away from my girl friend 8 weeks. I get a letter from her every day. Can you tell me if she is being true to me while I am away or is she dating other guys.

I'd like to know for she promised to be true and wait for me.

H. L.

Dear H. L. You have nothing to worry about; this girl is very much in love with you. And as for someone else, it hasn't entered her mind. Just answer those letters and assure her of your love.

—Patricia

Dear Pat, I am writing you about my son and wife. The first thing I want to tell you is that I am glad again you are back. I wish you would tell me what is wrong that they can't get along. Is there someone talking a lot and causing trouble? He told me he hadn't done anything wrong. He knew that his wife accuses him of everything in the world. I know you can tell me what it is, I love them very much. I love his wife dearly. I sure would be a happy mother if their lives be straightened out. It sure does hurt me. I will be looking in the column for my answer.

Worried Mother

Dear Worried Mother: Your son is, the only child and of course he is spoiled and wants his own way; well in marriage it's a give and take bargain, and when you take all and give nothing it just won't work, that's all. Another thing is, there is no house big enough for two women, and being his Mother you should have suggested to him that they needed a home of their own. My advice to you is for you to stop petting him, and explain to him that young couples need a home of their own and that when he married he cut his apron strings and for him to attach himself to his wife's and not yours. I feel sorry for you, because of your love for your son he has lost his wife (a girl who is in love with him) and whom he is in love with, so start talking because there is still a chance to save their marriage. But remember there's no house big enough for two women; now talk this into your pet's mind, then see him courting so he can get his wife back before it's too late. If you're wondering how to go about this get on your knees and ask God for guidance.

—Patricia

Dear Pat,

I have been going with a young man for several years and I love him very much. He said he cared for me. Until the last 6 months we were unable to think about marriage.

Now for the past 5 or 6 weeks he has been different; we couldn't seem to understand each other. I hear he has started going with a woman who has been married, has a married daughter and a son at home. He works out of town and at times he is very late getting home. Is he true to me and where does the woman live, if there is another one. Won't you please help me. I am so worried for I love him very much.

J. R.

Dear J. R. This woman lives in Fulton, Kentucky and your loved one is not the only one she has hurt (she will before its over). The only thing I can advise you to do is fight back with the only weapon you have: being kind, nice, sweet, looking pretty, being agreeable; by all means don't nag, don't accuse him of going with other women, and he will wake up and come back to you.

—Patricia

Dear Miss Latane: I would like to take B. R. out for supper and to a movie; do you think you could arrange this for me?

R. D. C.

Dear R. D. C. If you will drop me a letter with your name and address I will be glad to forward your letter to B. R. and if she cares to contact you she may do so.

—Patricia

Dear Miss Latane: Someone borrowed my prescription to cook and they haven't bought it back; can you tell me who has it?

Mrs. R. M.

Dear Mrs. R. M. If you will think real hard you will remember your cook is in a cottage at Kentucky Lake which is owned by your husband.

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

by Marie Holland

Home Demonstrator Kentucky Utilities

If you are tired of looking at your living room why not redecorate by changing your lighting. You can do wonders just by changing your lamps.

Remodeling home lighting need not be expensive. On the contrary, attractive and inexpensive adapter equipment, specially designed light bulbs and lamp modernization offer a very happy medium as to price, and produce an acceptable quantity of high quality light.

Ceiling fixtures, that are too ornate, too conspicuous and too glaring should be removed. Replace them with new, attractive fixtures in designs compatible with traditional, contemporary and "in-between" decor.

Newest and most popular trend in modern home lighting is lighted valances. These long lines of fluorescent light concealed in decorative valances over windows or along walls create a sense of spaciousness and glowing sunshine effect by night. Women particularly enjoy the additional beauty lighted valances give to draperies and window hangings by bringing out color and texture of fabrics and shades.

Now with the new coloramic bulbs, which come in pink, gold, green and blue, you can change the whole color of your room. Sun Gold is luminous, radiant, warm, soft, and like the sunset. Dawn pink is rosy, warm, soft, and like the tinted early morning clouds. It suggests warm skin tones of a lovely complexion. Spring Green is mildly cool, verdant and soft. It suggests the coming of a new season and new foliage. Sky blue is cool and soft. Its rosy overtones step out from people's face to softly create a new warmth and glow. Everything that is red is brought to life even though the light is bluish.

Most living rooms need at least five lamps, not only to create focal points of interest but to give rhythm to the entire scene. Decorators say there are three ways to ensemble them: 1, so that shades match.

2, so that lamps match and 3, so that the lamps simply have a relationship to one another and to the period of the room.
