Two Charged In Shooting Death Of County Man

Two county men are in Calloway County Jail today charged in connection with the shooting death of Charles G. Eaker, 21, whose body was found early Thursday morning.

A Calloway County Sheriff's Department spokesman said late Friday authorities have charged William David West, 24, Route 7, Murray, and Randy Barrow, 19, also Route 7, Murray, in connection with Eaker's death.

Eaker's body was discovered about 3:45 a.m. Thursday in his car parked on Highway 1550 about a mile west of Sinking Spring Baptist Church, authorities said.

Calloway County Coroner Tommy Walker said Eaker died of a gunshot wound to the head.

The spokesman said the arrest of the two men came after an intensive investigation by the sheriff's department, Kentucky State Police and Murray Police Department.

Calloway County Attorney Max Parker said Friday night that West is charged with murder and robbery while Barrow is charged with conspiracy to commit murder and robbery. Parker said another female juvenile was questioned in the case but was not charged.

Authorities said Eaker was shot in the head with a .22 caliber pistol.

Walker said Thursday said he was unable to determine the exact time of death.

Authorities said the two are in the county jail without bond with arraignment set Monday morning.

Eaker, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Eaker, Route 8, Murray, had been employed by Mid-South Construction Co.

Final Performances Of MSU 'Lights' Set

Tickets will be on sale at the door for each performance of "Campus Lights," the annual student musical comedy production at Murray State University tonight and Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Roger Reichmuth, chairman of the Department of Music and faculty adviser, said the sale of tickets will begin at 7 p.m. for the evening performance and 3 p.m. Sunday.

Reichmuth pointed out the best seats are available for the Sunday matinee. The Saturday performance is "close to being sold out," he said.

No more than 1,200 people may attend any performance because of a limitation put on the size of Lovett Auditorium audiences as a fire safety measure.

Tickets to attend are $3 each with some exceptions — children 15 and younger and accompanied by parents may attend on Sunday for $2 each.

Written, directed and performed by a company of about 125 students, the production is the 42nd since the show was inaugurated in 1938. Proceeds go into a scholarship fund for incoming music students.

Mrs. Betty Lowry Co-Chairwoman Of Lewis Campaign

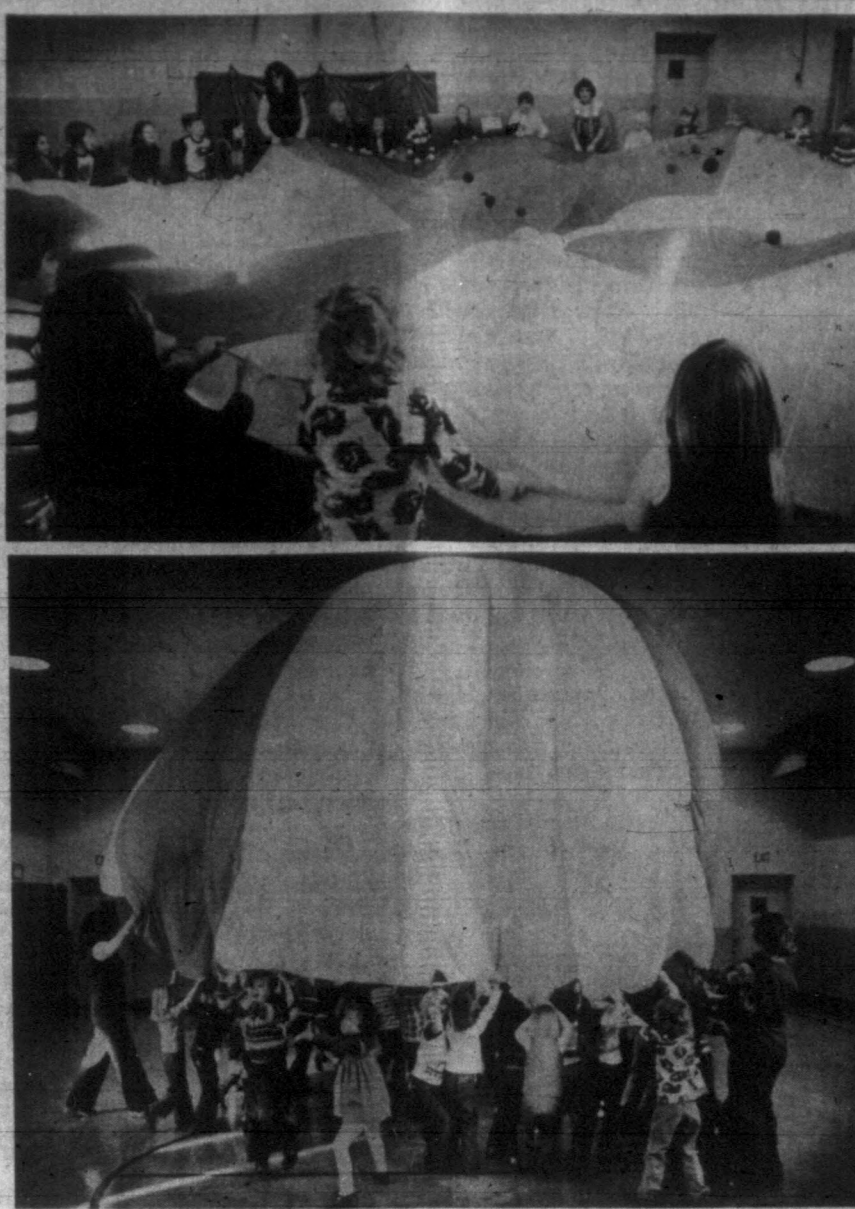

Mrs. Betty Lowry has been named as state co-chairwoman for Richard Lewis, candidate for lieutenant governor.

Mrs. Lowry, wife of Murray physician Dr. C. C. Lowry, has been a member of the Murray Common Council, Kentucky Council on Higher Education and advisory council of the Murray Woman's Club. She was the first woman chairman of the United States March of Dimes and served as president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs from 1966-68.

Lewis, of Benton, is a former state representative, chief executive to the governor and member of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

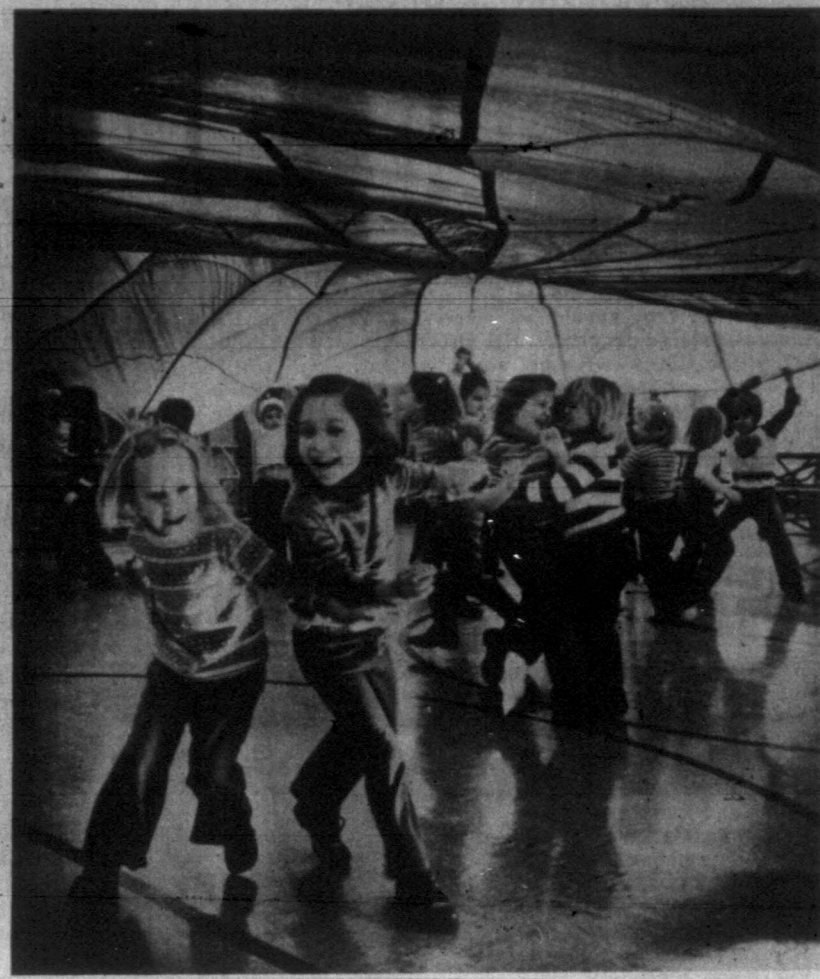

"Mrs. Lowry is one of the most outstanding women in Kentucky," Lewis said. "We are delighted and appreciative that she has seen fit to take this important position with our campaign. I am confident that having Betty on our team will add a new and very important dimension to our campaign."

Mrs. Lowry has done extensive work for the Kentucky Medical Auxiliary and has received numerous awards including the Mental Health Award, Kentucky Heart Association Award, Kentucky Colonel in 1962 and 1969, and Citizen of the Year for Murray in 1977. Mrs. Lowry was listed in "Who's Who of American Women" and in "World Notables" in 1975.

Carroll Gets Measure Removing Five Percent Tax From Utilities

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Several major bills were awaiting action by the governor today after House and Senate agreement on amendments.

Each chamber was able to agree fairly quickly on most changes proposed by the other body — with the exception of amendments to the budget bill and a major measure to limit property tax increases.

The Senate and House worked late into the night trying to resolve differences on those bills. The Friday evening session of the House ended abruptly after two legislators became ill.

Legislation agreed on by both houses and sent to the governor included a measure removing the 5 percent state sales tax from residential utilities.

The measure would remove the tax from residential bills for gas, electricity, water, fuel oil, bottled gas, coke and wood, effective June 1.

The estimated cost of the tax break is $50 million, but consumers will probably only save a few dollars on their monthly bills. The more fuel used, the larger the savings.

Both chambers had approved the legislation, but the Senate added three amendments which met with House concurrence Friday.

Two make technical corrections, and the third extends the exemption to some apartments and trailer parks where tenants have separate meters and pay their own utility bills, even though the meters are listed in the name of the property owner.

As written earlier, House Bill 43 would have denied the exemption in cases where the utilities are billed to the owner or operator of an apartment or trailer park.

Also ready for the governor's signature is House Bill 40, which would allow state-chartered banks to raise interest rates on loans of $15,000 or under.

The House concurred in a Senate amendment that allows the bill to become law upon signing by the governor.

Under the measure, state banks could charge one point above the federal discount rate, currently at 9.5 percent. State law previously limited state banks to 8.5 percent interest on smaller loans.

The House also went along with Senate amendments to a House bill that would establish an independent board to operate the Kentucky Horse Park.

The measure, which takes the Lexington facility out of the state park system, now goes to the governor.

House Bill 46, sponsored by House Speaker William Kenton, D-Lexington, had passed the House easily early in the session, but ran into some difficulty in the Senate.

It finally passed the Senate 21-13 this week, after Gov. Julian Carroll made his support of the bill known.

Under the measure, a board appointed by the governor would take over the park operation July 1.

The House concurred in Senate amendments increasing the size of the board from 15 to 16 members, and specifying that a member of the Kentucky Appaloosa Horse Association be named to the board.

Also ready for the governor's signature is a bill reducing minimum state traffic fines by $5 and making court costs for all prepayable offenses $15 and $20 in contested cases.

The Senate passed its committee substitute for House Bill 51 late Friday and soon after the House agreed to the terms of the substitute and concurred in a Senate amendment prohibiting bond paid by a third party from being used for payment of fines or court costs without permission.

Meanwhile, the Senate concurred in House amendments to a bill making welfare fraud a felony where more than $100 is involved, and that bill also goes to the governor.

TVA Says It Will Raise Rates In April; May Lose Bond Status

By MATT YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — In danger of losing its preferential bond status, the Tennessee Valley Authority likely will raise its electric rates 8 percent in April, officials say.

The nation's bond-rating services have told the government utility it cannot keep using depreciation of its existing power plants to pay the interest costs on new nuclear plants and keep its AAA status.

TVA spokesman Lee Sheppard said Friday that TVA's directors will be asked to approve the increase Feb. 26, after the necessity for it is outlined at a board meeting Feb. 19 and at public hearings in seven cities the following day.

The $115 million increase would raise rates for most residential consumers from about $31 per 1,000 kilowatt-hours to $33.50, still 25 percent below the national average for the same amount of power.

J.R. Durall, TVA's power financing officer, said about one-fourth of the increase, is to change the method TVA uses to set its rates so that depreciation allowances are not used to cover interest costs.

Moodys and Standard & Poor's have told TVA they will lower its bond rating from AAA to AA without the change, which could make it harder to obtain financing in a tight money market, he said.

Some private utility and New York financial institutions reportedly have argued that TVA's rates have been kept artificially low in view of the agency's billions of dollars in borrowings for six new nuclear power plants.

TVA, blaming energy conglomerates for higher coal and uranium prices and citing spiraling interest rates and inflation in general, already has raised its electric rates about 30 percent the past two years.

"Still," Durall said, "the rates have not kept up with the rising costs since about 1975 and that's what we're correcting now."

Except for fuel and purchases of electricity from other utilities, the $655 million in interest on TVA's current debt of $8.1 billion is the largest single expense in the $2.9 billion power budget in 1979.

That yearly interest will climb to above $1 billion in the early 1980s; the debt will reach $16 billion by the time the last of the six new plants is completed in 1986. And just last month, TVA asked Congress to double its debt ceiling—from $15 billion to $30 billion.

TVA Chairman S. David Freeman was shocked by the power system's debt-equity ratio when he joined the board in 1977. A year later he said there was little chance TVA could lose its borrowing power, seeing that it had the power of the federal government behind it and was not a private utility.

Sitting alone on the three-member board, Freeman turned down his staff's call for a 4 1/2 percent hike last October, three months after he and former Chairman Aubrey Wagner had effected a 7 percent increase.

The new chairman and Richard Freeman, a Chicago railroad executive who joined the board in November, again rejected a hike in January, saying the winter and its already high heating bills was no time to raise rates. But the same $59 million deficit that existed last October in TVA's $2.9 power budget for fiscal 1979 is still there, Durall said, necessitating a rate increase almost double the size needed then to end the year in the black next September.

TVA is required by law to set its rates so they will cover all operating costs plus a margin for reinvestment that the board determines appropriate to maintain its financial integrity.

Dear Abby

No Wedding Bells, No Wedding Bills

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Karla, is 20, and Bill, her boyfriend, is 22. They've gone together for nearly two years and have just announced that they plan to live together for about a year. Then, if they are compatible, they'll get married.

Bill's parents seem to approve of this, but I do not. I think it's immoral and that they would be living in sin. My husband doesn't really approve of the idea, but says if it doesn't work out it will be easier on Karla than a divorce.

Abby, I say if Karla and Bill love each other and want to live together they should get married now! Karla is the youngest of three daughters. Her sisters both had beautiful church weddings without any "compatibility tests" beforehand, and they are happily married. I promised Karla a lovely church wedding, too, but told her if she lives with Bill for a year, a wedding would be a mockery, and not to expect us to give her one. Am I wrong to feel this way?

SYRACUSE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You are entitled to feel any way you wish, but children who are of age (and self-supporting) have a right to determine their own lifestyles. If you believe a church wedding would be a mockery, it's your right to refuse to foot the bill for one.

DEAR ABBY: Someone asked you whose name should be listed first, the man's or woman's, when couples sign something. You said "Ladies first," but I think the reverse is true.

I've made a list of some famous couples, and found many more in which the man's name comes first. Examples:

Adam and Eve
Romeo and Juliet
Sonny and Cher
Napoleon and Josephine
Donny and Marie
Anthony and Cleopatra
William and Mary (the college)
Punch and Judy
Burns and Allen
Jack and Jill

On the other hand, I could come up with very few famous couples in which the woman's name is mentioned first. Namely:

Bonnie and Clyde
Frankie and Johnny
Maggie and Jiggs
How come?

ED IN VAN NUYS

DEAR ED: When you're right, you're right. Beats me. Readers?

DEAR ABBY: This is not a prank. I have heard there is a place in Texas where I could send cremated ashes to be made into pottery. If there is such a place, one's ashes would not have to be kept in a container and possibly lost.

My husband and I plan to be cremated, and this would be an ideal solution for our remains.

Can you help us, please?

MAKING PLANS

DEAR MAKING: I am not aware of such a place. But if one exists, I'll surely be advised.

HEALTH

Pain was the issue

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A year-and-a-half ago I had an X-ray series of my stomach and it showed I had a gastric ulcer. My doctor told me that he was going to put me on medicine and if it wasn't healed within a month, he'd have to remove half the stomach and some nerve endings. He added that gastric ulcers have a tendency to become malignant. I took the medicine and after a month when the tests were repeated, my ulcer was gone.

About three months later, I had some family problems and my old familiar pain was back. He took X rays and my ulcer was bigger than ever. He asked me what I wanted to do and I said, "I'm ready for surgery."

So he operated and removed half my stomach and cut nerve endings to the stomach and also removed the gall bladder while he was in there. My surgeon was recommended by our dear family doctor who has since retired, so I trust him.

Our paper carried an article on ulcers. It stated that it was a myth that a gastric ulcer could cause cancer. Now my family does not believe me when I tell them what my doctor told me. This has me so upset. I don't think my husband believes me either.

This doctor has done surgery on me before. He gets me up on my feet quickly and without a lot of medication which is important to me. Could you please discuss gastric ulcers in your column? Incidentally, it's nice not to have that terrible pain anymore.

DEAR READER — The important point is in the bottom line of your letter. Your medical problem has been relieved by the surgery that has been performed.

After all, that's the most important thing.

Of course, I can't say why your surgeon decided you needed surgery, but perhaps because of the size, extent and recurrent nature of the ulcer, irrespective of his concern about the cancer. Sometimes patients do have severe, recurring ulcers that can't be controlled with medical treatment and need such surgery.

A person can have ulcers in the stomach which are essentially the same as ulcers in the duodenum. These are the ulcers associated with an overproduction of stomach acid. A person can also have cancer of the stomach with an ulcer of the cancer. That's where all the trouble begins.

Doctors used to believe that peptic ulcers in the stomach might become malignant. Cancer cells were noted around some ulcers. Now most doctors believe the cancer was there first and the ulcer formed in the base of the cancer. It really doesn't make a lot of difference because if a doctor has any reason to suspect that an ulcerated area in the stomach is associated with a stomach cancer, he would want to perform surgery at once.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-5, Ulcers, Duodenal, Stomach, to give you more information about ulcers, which appears to have been your primary problem. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Don't let your family upset you. As I tried to suggest, it really doesn't make much difference. The important thing is to obtain proper treatment to relieve the difficulties you were experiencing. Apparently, in your case, that has been done.

The general practitioner is the most popular doctor in the country, says the Health Insurance Institute.

According to a report by the National Center for Health Statistics, Americans made more visits to general practitioners in 1975 than to any other type of doctor. For every 100 persons, 113 visits were made to the general practitioner, while 30 were made to internists, 23 to obstetricians and gynecologists, 22 to pediatricians, 20 to general surgeons and 7 to psychiatrists.

KENTUCKY BUSINESS SCENE

Kentuckians 'Rediscover' Bourbon

Liquor distilleries are dusting off their bourbon labels to meet the increasing demand from fickle consumers "rediscovering" Kentucky's traditional alcoholic drink.

Sales of bourbon slid at a rate of about 3 percent for several years, losing ground to so-called white goods — gin, vodka, tequila and rum. However, the trend seems to have come to a halt. Bourbon sales for part of 1978 picked up 8 percent, probably due to a combination of an aging population and aggressive advertising and marketing techniques.

Liquor's traditional stronghold has been the 25 to 44 age group; this generation is now 56 million strong and its taste buds have grown up.

Brown-Forman Distillers Corp., Louisville, is enjoying its third consecutive record year. The company's original label, Old Forester, boasted a hearty 7.8 percent sales increase in 1978 to become the number 10 selling bourbon; just two years ago the brand's sales slid 2 percent.

But the company's marketing strategy for Early Times, the number two selling bourbon behind Jim Beam, illustrates the changing emphasis on bourbon for bourbon's sake.

The brand's color ads now feature robust men, dressed in nostalgic 19th Century clothes, sharing a bottle of bourbon. The slogan reads "The way it was is the way it is." That's quite a switch from the recipe insert booklets which used to let customers know you didn't need vodka or rum to make one of those new, mixable drinks with a fancy name.

"We were ready for a new direction and we believed Early Times' tradition was the best way in the years ahead," said one company official.

Brown-Forman commands 10 percent of the bourbon market, with Early Times and Old Forester, and company officials predict that together they will post a 13.6 percent sales gain in 1979.

The future is looking bright at Glenmore in Louisville, too. Among the company's top priority items are two bourbons, Yellowstone and Kentucky Tavern, as well as Mr. Boston cordials and cocktails, Desmond & Duff 12-year-old imported Scotch and Amaretto di Saronno.

President Paul A. Caci points out that diversification efforts have assured the future of major distillers who gradually have divorced themselves from total dependency of bourbon.

"There's a strong emotional attachment to bourbon, but today very few companies receive more than 35 to 40 percent of their revenues from bourbon. Bourbon is one arrow in our quiver, but there are several others in the quiver too," Caci said.

The Mr. Boston line helped contribute to one of the company's best performances in the last 10 years and Amaretto di Saronno also was a winner for the company last year, posting a 55 percent market share.

Brown-Forman's sweetest success story this year is in Italian table wines, the fastest growing segment of the surging wine market. Case sales of Cella soared 82 percent while Bolla grew 21 percent last year.

A new addition to Kentucky's distilled spirits industry, Heublein, began production in its new Paducah facility in late summer. The parent company of Kentucky Fried Chicken posted gains with Heublein Club Cocktails and Smirnoff vodka, firmly seated in the number one spot in the vodka market.

However, bourbon is still first in the hearts of many Kentuckians, especially the T.W. Samuels family, which produces Makers Mark at the smallest distillery in the state. Located in the Bardonia area's bourbon belt, Makers Mark, a premium whisky, is almost too popular for its own good. With demand outpacing supply, the company has had to cut off about half of its regular markets.

T.W. Samuels, Jr., the president, says Makers Mark is an example of the little guy in the bourbon industry, doing things successfully in a left-handed way.

In the coming years, extra production of Makers Mark will be selectively placed, holding Kentucky to existing levels. "I'd like to have enough whiskey to supply people in influential market areas, the cosmopolitan markets," said Samuels.

MARKET DIRECTION OF KENTUCKY STOCKS LAST WEEK: Moderately downward. Leading gains: Texas Gas Transmission Corp (NYSE), to 38% from 34%; Kentucky Utilities (NYSE), to 20% from 19%; Liberty Bank (OTC), to 32 from 31%. Greatest declines: Ashland Oil (NYSE), to 85% from 37%; Capital Holding (NYSE), to 20% from 21%; Humana (NYSE), to 26% from 27%.

Thoughts In Season

By Ken Wolf

While volumes have been written and spoken on the need for religious tolerance, perhaps no one stated the problem as directly — or in so few words — as the satirist Jonathan Swift (1667-1745), in the following epigram, written "about 1706":

We have just enough religion to make us hate, but not enough to make us love one another. Swift, of course, was speaking here only of the self-righteous and not of real Christians.

Jesus Of Nazareth: Fact Or Fiction?

By The Rev. Dr. David C. Roos
First Christian Church

Did Jesus, the man of Nazareth really live or was he a delusion? If Madalyn Murray O'Hair, the famous Atheist from Austin, Texas, could prove that the man Jesus never existed, she could deal a death blow to historic Christianity from which it could never recover. What are the sources for accepting the fact that Jesus really lived in Palestine?

The major portion of what we know about Jesus comes from the collection of writings of various authors known as the New Testament canon. But there are collateral testimonies from various non-Christian sources which support this claim.

The first pagan source I would suggest is indirect evidence from the Roman Archives. People often ask if any record has been preserved of the report which presumably Pontius Pilate sent to Rome concerning the trial and execution of Jesus of Nazareth. The answer is none, but let it be noted that no official record has been preserved of any report which Pilate or any other Roman Governor of Judea sent to Rome about anything.

Early Christian writers assumed that such reports existed and that they were filed in the imperial archives and could be consulted if anyone cared to check. Justin Martyr, in his Defence of Christianity about 150 A.D. addressed it to the Emperor Antoninus Pius, and expressed emphatic certainty that the Christian account of the public life and death of Jesus could be verified by reference to the official records of Pilate's term of office.

Similarly Tertullian, another Christian apologist of a generation or so later in his polemic Against Marcion insisted that the census which was held about the time of Jesus' birth was recorded in the archives of the reign of Augustus, and that you could find the registration of Joseph and Mary there.

A second source is Suetonius, a second rate Roman historian but a first rate Walter Cronkite of his day. In his

Born Again Budget Cutters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Those born-again budget cutters in the statehouses had better beware. Congress is getting tired of political heat from people who complain about a spendthrift federal government while taking every dollar they can get from Washington.

And that's a lot of dollars, $82.9 billion in the new budget.

So far the congressional talk is no more than that.

There is a bill in the Senate to cut off $2.28 billion in no strings-attached federal aid to state governments, but it doesn't appear likely to pass.

To the members of Congress who vote on federal aid money, that pressure looks like grandstanding by state politicians who can boast of balancing their own budgets because of the money they get from Washington.

Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd noted that aid to state and local governments has gone up from $24.2 billion to $77.9 billion over the past nine years.

That's not a giveaway. Much of the money goes to support programs Congress ordered set up in the first place.

"Every one of these states that is passing these resolutions to balance the federal budget is taking a ton of money from the federal government every year," said Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo.

"There is a great deal of political hypocrisy in this country, and I think it is time we ended it."

Byrd said the 26 states advocating

Other sources which have been mentioned in a previous article printed in The Murray Ledger & Times a couple of years ago include the Roman historian, Tacitus; the Letters of Pliny the Younger; historian, Thallus, the Samaritan; and a letter written by one, Mara bar Serapion.

Further, Jewish sources include the Jewish Antiquities by historian Josephus, and cryptic references to Jesus made in the Talmud.

NEW YORK (AP) — When he was 19, Maxie Anderson prospected for uranium near the Arctic Circle. Two years later he founded a uranium company that is now part of Kerr-McKee Corp. Now he heads another company.

He took over the top job in the latter, Ranchers Exploration and Development Corp., in 1963, when he was 29. At the time, the company had sales of about $1 million. Now it grosses $35 million a year.

Late last summer, you might recall, Maxie Anderson and friends Ben Abruzzo and Larry Newman, all of Albuquerque, sailed the air currents across the Atlantic in a small gondola hung from a big balloon.

Says Anderson the achiever: "The assumption that you can attain without great effort is not consistent. If you want to do something right you have to work at it." Seventy hours a week, maybe even 90.

But sometimes, he said, he wonders if effort alone is sufficient. You need freedom too, he said. When he opened his first mine he took out no license; when he sailed the balloon to France he had none either.

But increasingly, he said just before accepting the Copper Club's man-of-the-year award, freedoms are restricted. To open a mine today, he said, you have to wade your way through two years of government paper.

"Government interference in business is getting to affect even companies our size," he said softly. "We cannot tolerate it."

Everything government does, he continued, is with a broad brush, of necessity. Applied, he said, those regulations can tyrannize. "What's good for Phelps Dodge (a mining giant) is not for us, and vice versa," he said.

"In the last six, seven years," he said, "I've tried to look at the country and how I fit into it, and try to understand what makes it operate. And what caused it to not operate correctly."

"They begin with good intentions," he conceded, "but the power to regulate is the power to destroy. It's the very question of being a free man. We cannot relinquish freedom."

People have to be free, he said; they have to be individuals. "We all talk collectively about doing things," he said. "But the hard part is for individuals to do it."

As you might expect, Anderson doesn't believe, as some secretly do, that the nation's, the world's, difficulties are insurmountable. The problems, he said, "are definable." The real problem, he suggested, is that "people don't want to make the (hard) choices."

No ascetic, he still suspects the alleged benefits of some luxuries. "There are things we once didn't have and I'm not sure we're better off having them," he said. Luxuries, he mused, "can steal a person's freedom."

Of more immediate concern to him is the encumbering bureaucracy.

"I've had to think it through," he said. "I love my country, but I tolerate my government," said Maxie L. Anderson, free man.

Name Chicago Hartkeville?

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chicago can take comfort in the knowledge that only a tiny fraction of bills proposed in Congress are ever enacted.

One of the latest legislative efforts: a proposal by Rep. Dan Quayle, R-Ind., to rename Chicago after former Indiana Sen. Vance Hartke.

Quayle says he's afraid Congress will rename the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore in memory of the late Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois.

Douglas was instrumental in setting up the scenic park on the shores of Lake Michigan and there has been a move underfoot in Congress for some time to name it after him.

Last year the House even passed such a bill at the behest of Rep. Sidney Yates, D-Ill. But it died in the Senate.

Quayle says naming an Indiana park after an Illinois senator doesn't make any sense to him. Therefore, Quayle said, if Yates' bill surfaces again, "I would offer a resolution under which Chicago would become Hartke, Illinois; in honor of Senator Vance Hartke."

As other House members jockeyed to be photographed with visiting Chinese Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping at a congressional reception, Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, inadvertently stepped between Teng and the army of photographers following him. "Hey down in front," came a voice. Wright didn't respond.

"Hey, you in the brown sports coat, get out of the way," came another voice.

Wright, looking around and seeing no one else in his immediate vicinity wearing a brown sports coat, obliged and ducked.

The House Administration Committee recently agreed to supply its members with written copies of proposed amendments. When the question of cost came up, chairman Frank Thompson, D-N.J., suggested that distribution be limited to "one for each member who can read."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., introduced President Carter's inflation adviser, Alfred Kahn, as "Al" at a news conference.

It was a minor blunder. He doesn't like to be called "Al." Actually, Kahn says most of his friends call him "Fred."

Kahn told reporters that he was glad to join his "good friend" Kennedy, "even if he did call me Al."

Attorney General Griffin B. Bell waited patiently to testify at the first meeting of the year of the Senate Judiciary Committee as senator after senator droned on with opening speeches.

It finally came freshman Sen. Howell Heflin's turn to speak. But the Alabama Democrat drew on his experience as chief justice of his state's Supreme Court and said:

"I'm delighted to be on the committee. I concur in part and dissent in part with everything else that's been said. I yield the rest of my time to Mr. Bell."

Turnabout Eagles Face Murray State In 'Must' Contest

By TONY WILSON
Sports Editor

About this time last season, the Morehead basketball team was struggling with an 0-9 Ohio Valley Conference record and on its way to a finishing 4-19 overall and 0-14 league mark.

Those dubious records were the worst in the 49-year history of the Eagles, and the conference mark was the first winless slate since the 1955-56 Middle Tennessee team.

Now, though, as Morehead prepares to face Murray State in a 7:30 p.m. game tonight in the Sports Arena, there's little resemblance between last season's and the current edition of an Eagle squad.

Morehead is 9-11 and 3-5 in the conference, still in the chase for one of the four OVC tourney berths. But any more than five conference losses is out, says one source, if the Eagles are to be an upper-division team.

"We've got to have them all, including this one," said first-year Morehead coach Wayne Martin as he watched his squad take shooting practice last night at the site of tonight's game. "I think at least a 7-5 record is the only way we can get in."

Normally, Martin might feel that a break-even 6-6 mark would earn a berth, but not when his Eagles have already lost both its games to Middle Tennessee, the team currently in fourth place.

In fact, only 13 points separate Morehead from a perfect 8-0 conference mark. Aside from victories over Murray, Austin Peay and Western Kentucky, the Eagles have dropped decisions to the Blue Raiders twice (99-97, 70-66), Tennessee Tech (77-76), Western (78-76) and Eastern Kentucky (97-95). Tech and Eastern are tied for the league lead and Western is third.

The Tennessee Tech loss at home is one that Martin finds particularly hard to forget. "We had had some officials' calls go against us on the road, but I just wrote them off as what you get away from home," Martin said.

"But we got some calls at home against Tech that I found hard to believe," he said. "Inconsistency seems to be the biggest problem of the officials this season."

There's also some inconsistency in the Eagles' lineup in the form of three freshmen. Oh, Herbie Stamper, now a senior, is still around.

But he has a supporting cast in the form of junior Charlie Clay and frosh Norris

Bechley, Glen Napier and Greg Coldiron.

"I think the fact that I had a Herbie Stamper to build around in my first year here gave me an advantage Ron (Greene) doesn't have," Martin said. "Herbie's a leader-type of player, and he's one of the most talented players I've ever coached."

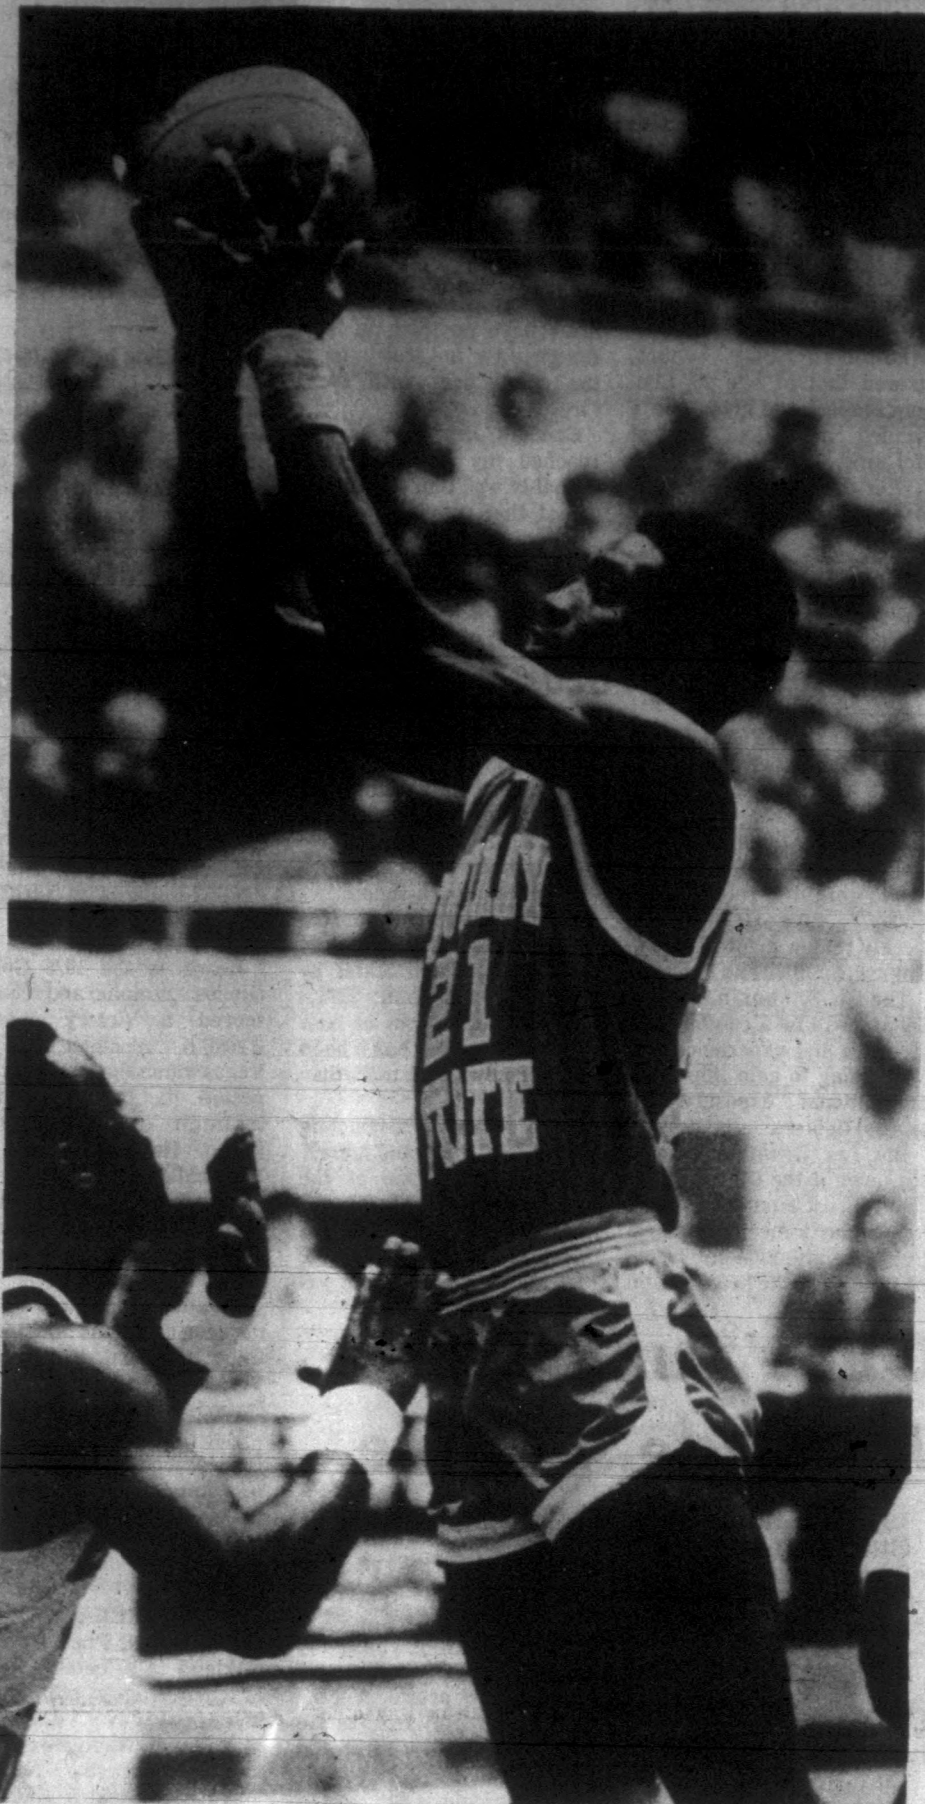

Stamper, a 6-4 senior, leads Morehead and is second in the OVC in scoring with an 18.9 mark. He became Morehead's all-time leading scorer during the Eagles' last game, surpassing Dan Swartz's 1,925 points.

Stamper also had his season high of 36 points against the Racers in the team's first meeting, an 84-70 Morehead victory.

Murray will attempt to improve upon 3-18 and 1-6 marks and, in the process, snap a five-game losing streak.

Though Morehead is hitting just 46.2 percent of its field-goal attempts for the season, it will hit over half its attempts tonight if previous statistics hold true.

Racer opponents have hit a blistering 52 percent of its shots in the Sports Arena this season, including two games over 60 percent and one of 59 percent.

John Randall (above) grabbed a season-high 18 rebounds in an earlier Murray-Morehead clash, and he will attempt to repeat that performance when the Racers host the Eagles to an Ohio Valley Conference game tonight (7:30 p.m.) in the Sports Arena.

Burns' Smooth 63 Earns 2nd Round Lead In Hawaiian

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

HONOLULU, Hawaii — George Burns was, of course, ecstatic about his 9-under-par 63 — "probably the best round of my life" he said of his best as a pro — that gave him a share of the second-round lead in the $300,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

But, as often happens after a particularly low round, Burns observed:

"It could have been a little better."

On the other hand, it could have been washed out entirely.

"I didn't think we'd be able to play," said Burns, held up twice by Friday's tropical cloudbursts that drenched the course and threatened the completion of play. The delays amounted to more than an hour and, until the final moments, it appeared several players would be stranded on the darkened 7,234-yard Waialae Country Club course. The last group, soaked to the knees by pools of casual water, putted out in the last flicker of daylight.

Burns, a consistent moneywinner who has yet to collect his first tour title, matched the course record with his near-flawless round and put together a 36-hole total of 134, 10 under par. He was tied with Fuzzy Zoeller, a recent winner at San Diego, and Canadian Dan Halldorson, playing his first tournament of the year.

Final Racer Club Meeting To Be Monday

The Racer Club will hold its final basketball meeting with a noon buffet luncheon at the Holiday Inn Monday. The meeting will honor Murray State coach Ron Greene. All members and interested persons are invited to attend.

Lopez' Latest Challenge Is Pain Off The Course

By the Associated Press
SADDLE BROOK, N.J. — Nancy Lopez is a little worried these days.

It has nothing to do with the challenge of duplicating her marvelous accomplishments as a rookie on the LPGA tour last summer.

Lopez is suffering from a severe pain in her right arm, a constant source of discomfort not only as a golfer but in her everyday life.

"One of the doctors said it was just a strained muscle, I don't believe that anymore," she said Friday at a luncheon honoring her as the defending champion of a $100,000 event to be played May 18-20 at the Upper Montclair Country Club.

"I don't believe it because my left arm hurts now, too," she added. "In the morning it's very stiff and hurts all day long. It hurts when I swing the club."

Lopez' victory in the tournament in New Jersey last year was the second in her winning streak.

Despite her concern over her painful arm, Lopez looks forward to competing

Reeling Wildcats Tackle Powerful Alabama Today

By CHARLES WOLFE
Associated Press Writer

LEXINGTON — Reeling from two defeats in a three-game road trip, Kentucky tries to regroup today against Alabama in a regionally televised basketball game at Rupp Arena.

"We feel strange here at home, we've been gone so long," Coach Joe Hall said Friday in an interview. "But we're happy to be back and I feel like it will help us."

The Wildcats are 11-9 and, given the remaining schedule, could be hard pressed to avoid their first losing season in 52 years.

The Wildcats have home games with Mississippi State and Vanderbilt and road dates at Tennessee, Georgia and South Carolina. The first three teams each have beaten Kentucky once this season.

Hall acknowledged he is troubled by the specter of a losing season.

"Very definitely I'm conscious of it and I feel very strongly the responsibility not to let the program down with a losing season," he said, "but sometimes those things are out of your hands and, in this case, we're just going to do everything we can to play the best basketball we can play and not feel the pressure of that situation. I don't want to be a negative person."

Alabama is 15-5 and has an excellent chance to push the Wildcats nearer the failure mark.

"Alabama's tough," Hall said. "They have the emotions of being in the conference championship race and that has a way of bringing a team together and bringing the best out of them. We're in the spoiler's role and our motivation for that reason is a lot less than theirs."

Coach C.M. Newton's Crimson Tide boasts Reggie King, a smallish center who nonetheless is one of the SEC's top players.

King, the SEC's No. 6 scorer and No. 4 rebounder, is nicknamed "Mule," but Hall considers him nothing short of a thoroughbred.

"Reggie offers us the same problems as (John) Stroud at Ole Miss and (Charles) Davis at Vanderbilt — an inside low post player."

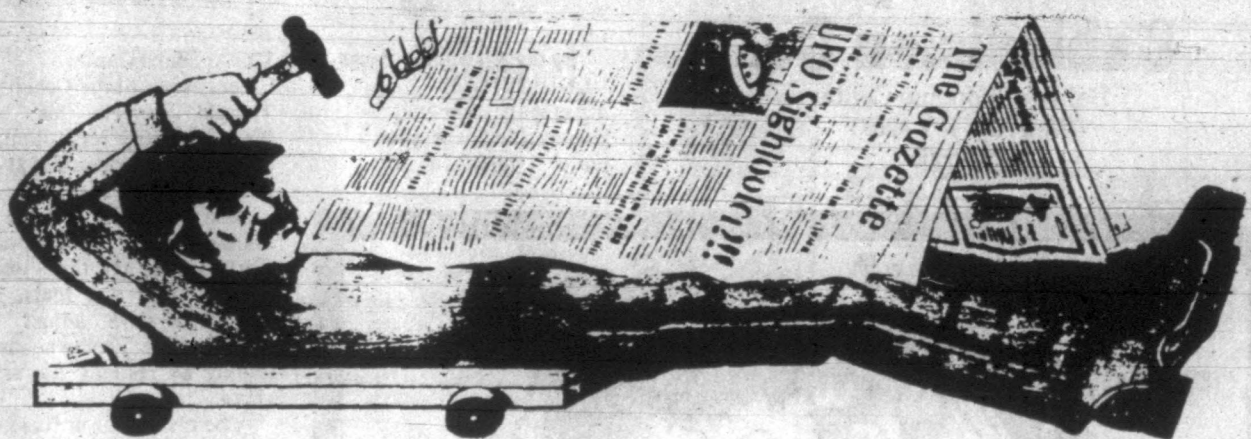

Kentucky will be subpar, physically, since freshman forward Chuck Verderber was slightly injured late in the Vanderbilt game and junior guard Kyle Macy is battling back from tonsillitis.

"We're short on the bench to begin with," Hall said. "Those things all hurt, but that's part of going through a basketball season. That's why you need a bench, that's why you need depth, but we didn't have those things at the start of the season."

No. 1 Connors Stings McEnroe

By DAN SEWELL
AP Sports Writer
BOCA RATON, Fla. — Jimmy Connors' angry boast that John McEnroe will never be No. 1 while he's around seems secure for the near future.

In another rematch of the brash American stars, Connors avenged last month's loss to the 19-year-old McEnroe with a dominating straight-set victory Friday in the first match of the $300,000 Grand Slam of Tennis tournament.

Connors, his smashing winners hitting the corners, won nearly all of the key points in a 6-3, 6-4 triumph. He will play the winner of today's Bjorn Borg-Guillermo Vilas match in Sunday's final.

A rivalry between the two began brewing after McEnroe's first victory in five tries against Connors in the Grand Prix Masters last month. The victory was tainted when Connors retired with a blistered foot. McEnroe took the 7-5, 3-0 victory, then declared that a true competitor wouldn't have retired as Connors did.

Connors responded angrily and when asked if McEnroe was good enough to be No. 1, replied, "Not as long as I'm playing."

Friday's match, played on a wind-blown clay court, showed that at age 26, Connors' experience gives him a decided advantage against McEnroe.

"For me on big points, I try to play them like any other points. I try not to panic I stay calm at all costs. I've learned to just try to play my own kind of game," Connors said.

McEnroe said, "I don't think I played badly, I just didn't win the big points. That was the difference between him and me."

Although he has fallen short in his three tournaments since the Masters, McEnroe didn't seem discouraged.

"I enjoy playing Jimmy. I don't have anything to lose. It's good for me just to be in the same boat with these three," he said.

Connors said, "I haven't reached my peak yet, and probably won't until I'm 27 or 28. At that point, I could be around another three, four or five years, if I want to.

"But I've always said I want to go out on top," he said.

Connors won three service breaks to one in the first set. He won two game points when McEnroe hit easy returns into the net, and won the final game when McEnroe double faulted.

In the next set, McEnroe fell behind 4-2 but came back to tie 4-4.

After falling behind 15-40 on his serve, Connors battled back in the ninth game and won when McEnroe netted another return. He lost only one point in the final game to capture the match.

Cuban Attention

Boxing Focus To Be On Teofilo Stevenson

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
AP Sports Writer
HAVANA, Cuba — "Regardless who represents the United States, attention will be focused on the Cuban heavyweight from Las Tunas," says Gramma, a weekly review printed here in English, Spanish and French.

The U.S. boxing team Sunday will be a combination of youth and experience, the hope being to gain important international exposure for several fighters.

But, as Gramma pointed out, even if the United States sent its best amateur fighters for Sunday's meeting against Cuba, the attention still would be focused on the heavyweight from Las Tunas — Teofilo Stevenson.

Stevenson has dominated amateur boxing since winning his first of two Olympic gold medals in 1972 and is truly a charismatic sports figure.

His opponent Sunday on the 12-bout card, to be televised live in the United States by ABC (3:15-4:45 p.m. EST), will be Phil Brown of New Orleans, who has been fighting only a little more than two years.

"These duels are exciting boxing fans more and more," said Gramma. One of the boxing fans expected to be lured to the Sports Palace is Cuban President Fidel Castro. The 10,000-seat arena is expected to be filled.

Leading the U.S. team in a bid for its first victory over Cuba in four dual meets are 119-pounder Jackie Beard of Jackson, Tenn., 132-pounder Johnny Bumphus of Nashville, Tenn., and 156-pounder Jeff Stoudemire of Cleveland.

Beard is the 1978 Golden Gloves champion and recently scored a victory over a Russian opponent in Las Vegas when the United States posted its first dual meet triumph over the Soviet Union. He is also the 1978 National AAU champion.

Bumphus is a veteran of international meets and was a National AAU champion in 1977 at 125 pounds.

Stoudemire scored a decision over Luis Martinez of Cuba in a dual meet in New York last year. He also won a National Golden Gloves title.

But the spotlight will be on Brown, whose credentials are less impressive than some of his teammates but who will be in the ring against Stevenson.

Giles' Funeral Like His Code...Simple

By the Associated Press
CINCINNATI — Simplicity in organization was Warren Giles' code when he operated the Cincinnati Reds and later the National League.

His funeral Friday also was simple, as he had requested before his death last week at the age of 82.

The Rev. Andrew N. Jergens Jr. conducted a brief service with no eulogy. Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and his wife, representatives of most major league teams and Giles' friends attended the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer service.

"I was 18. He gave me my first job in baseball," said Gabe Paul, 69, president of the Cleveland Indians. "He bought me my first razor and my first drink."

Giles had given 50 years of his life to baseball before retiring as head of the National League in 1969.

BASEBALL
SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — Oakland A's center fielder Mitchell Page's ninth-inning home run gave Venezuela's Magallanes Navigators a 9-6 victory over the Navojos Mayans of Mexico and their second Caribbean professional baseball championship.

U.S. Records In Jeopardy Tonight At Mason-Dixon

By the Associated Press
LOUISVILLE — An American record is in jeopardy in the women's long jump tonight at the 19th

Mason-Dixon Games.

Tennessee State Coach Ed Temple expects his long jumper, Kathy McMillian, to break the U.S. record of 21-4½ if she can curb her fouling.

"She jumped 21-3 at the LA Sunkist meet," Temple said, "and fouled on three other jumps. Once she fouls, she doesn't always adjust her runup marks. So she keeps on fouling by running the same route."

"She needs four or five good jumps in competition, not just one, and she'll get that record. She told me she fouled on a jump that someone measured at 23 feet in LA, too."

Temple plans to alter McMillian's approach. She uses a 115-foot run-up, but the 144-foot runway at Freedom Hall is just about right for the Tigerbelle.

"She'll move back to 125 feet and see if that eliminates the fouling," Temple said.

In the men's competition, Olympic hopeful Dick Buerkle is confident that he will run a sub four-minute mile. If he accomplishes the task, he will become only the second man to do so in the history of the games.

"I can guarantee it," said Buerkle, who owns the world indoor mile mark of 3:54.9. "As I look back over the season, it seems that every race I've run has a winning time under four minutes."

The 31-year-old contact lens salesman from Rochester, N.Y., won't be alone in making an assault on the record 3:57.2 set in 1977 by Filbert Bayi of Tanzania.

Buerkle's competition will include star millers Ray Flynn, Rudy Chapa, Ron Becht, Gerald Jones, Bruce Fjsher and Marty Liquori.

"Considering the track, the record certainly is in danger," said Liquori. "Both Ray Flynn and I have run the equivalent of 3:57 already this year."

Liquori, who has been working and training at Gainesville, Fla., said he considered the oval track at Freedom Hall one of the fastest and said Buerkle's indoor mark also could topple.

Both men planned to fly to Louisville early today after taking part in the Millrose Games in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Use An Electric Space Heater With Caution

Fuses and Circuits — If you're using an electric space heater for the first time, your home's wiring and fuse box or breaker panel may be unable to handle the added load. Fuses may start blowing or breakers tripping. Then if you rig a way to by-pass the fuse or breaker, or if you use one larger than 20 amps, you're really asking for trouble. The wiring could get hot enough to start a fire. Your house could burn.

Be safe. Have an electrician check your home's circuits before you plug in that first electric space heater.

Beverly Settlement Is Under Fire; Utility Wants Release

CINCINNATI (AP) — The $3 million out-of-court settlement in the Beverly Hills Supper Club fire has come under fire, and a public utility believes it should be released as a defendant.

The litigation followed by a day U.S. District Judge Carl Rubin's decision Thursday to set aside the civil trial of Richard Schilling, his four sons and the 4-R Corp., owners of the club, which had been scheduled Tuesday.

The settlement was filed Thursday.

John I. Paulding Inc., New Bedford, Mass., one of 28 manufacturers named as defendants, filed an objection Friday. The firm is a division of Revere Copper and Brass, which manufactures electrical products, including switch boxes.

Roger W. Healey, attorney for Paulding, said that Paulding objects because the settlement would remove 4-R and the Schillings from further liability. Paulding has sued the defendants in a cross-petition in case a judgement is rendered against Paulding.

Healey noted that the settlement leaves the Schillings with only $500,000 in assets.

At the same time, the Union Light, Heat and Power Co., scheduled for trial with the Schillings and 4-R Corp., filed a motion to quash the civil case against the utility.

The defense argued that evidence against the utility does not indicate negligence of the utility in the May 28, 1977, fire in which 165 died and 50 were injured at the Southgate, Ky., nightclub.

Healey said he expected a flood of similar objections from the other defendants. There are another 900 insurance firms, state and local officials and manufacturers among the defendants in suits seeking more than $2.9 billion.

All the actions were filed in both U.S. District Court, Covington, Ky., and Campbell Circuit Court, Newport, Ky.

Officials Say Farmer Protest Could Cost Over $2.6 Million

By BRIAN B. KING Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials estimate it will cost more than $2.6 million to repair the damage and pay police overtime for the first week of a protest by 3,500 farmers seeking higher government support prices.

Three quarters of that estimate covers damage — accidental and deliberate — to the 146-acre Mall between the Capitol and the Washington Monument, where police have hundreds of heavy farm vehicles and campers penned to prevent traffic disruptions.

Many farmers are spending their nights on the Mall and all gather there during the day. Occupants put up this sign Friday: "Tractortown, Carter's First Prison Camp for Americans."

George Berkley, spokesman for the U.S. Park Service, said 25 elm saplings, 65 benches and 57 trash receptacles have been burned and two $500 kiosks — booths with maps and information for tourists — have been demolished.

"There's absolutely no turf left on the National Mall," and an underground sprinkler system may have to be replaced, Berkley said, estimating damages at up to $2 million.

The Mall underwent a $4.4 million facelift for the Bicentennial in 1976.

In addition, overtime for extra police patrols drawn from the 4,100-person Washington police force and Park Police is costing more than $100,000 a day in overtime, officials said.

Dozens of flattened police car tires must be repaired, along with cruisers and motorcycles hit by tractors. Rental of 103 buses to box in the tractors has cost about $90,000 so far, police said.

At dusk Friday, an old tractor and bale of cotton were set afire by the farmers, who warmed their hands and drank beer around the blaze.
