Mr. Thomas Hughes and Mrs. Hughes are in Florida. Mr. Hughes wrote to have his Ledger and Times follow him to the sunshine state.

Our sympathy is extended to Mrs. James M. Thomas who lost her husband last week.

Congratulations to Holland Drug Company on their remodeling program.

Callaway County has an active March of Dimes chapter, which spells only good for the children here.

The sparkplugs are Ray Brownfield, Chuck Simons, James Johnson, Bob Miller and Ed Settle. Mrs. Mason Ross has contributed a lot and so has Joe Pat Ward.

It's good to know that there is an organization in the county that is working twice as hard as a year to perfect a smoothly working system here.

One of the nicest projects put on here lately was the blood pressure checks sponsored by the Callaway County Heart Association.

Several cases were found that needed treatment.

Our brick fact for today: The earliest recorded reference to clay products is in the Bible, Genesis II, where it is written that the descendants of the sons of Noah said, "Let us make brick and burn them thoroughly."

We can report to Dewey Jones, that his new gutter that comes out of the alley into North Fourth street along side the office, works.

No longer do trucks kick up the cover of the gutter and throw it to one side.

We heard several favorable comments on the new feature ad that we run each Monday, Shopping Round Murray Stores.

MIG Losses Mount As Sabrejets In Support Of Air Raids

SEOUL, Feb. 20 (UP)—American jets against the Red Air Force, aged two Communist jets today while protecting UN fighter-bombers striking at widely separated targets over North Korea.

The two claims brought the seven-day toll of MIG-15's to 16 destroyed, five probably destroyed and 18 damaged. American losses for the week will be announced Saturday.

First Lt. Charles A. Grenz of Fairlawn, N. J., and 2nd Lt. Samuel R. Johnson of Dallas, Tex., were credited with damaging the MIG's.

The Air Force shifted emphasis in fighter-bomber attacks today after a merciless two-day concentrated bombing of a Red tank and infantry training school at Kangso near Pyongyang.

Today the dive bombers fanned out, battering a troop concentration at Kangdong, hitting rail lines and roads north of Kumsong and dropping bombs on Red front line positions.

They destroyed eight buildings at Kangdong. In close support missions they wrecked 21 personnel shelters and 10 gun positions and set off 13 secondary explosions in ammunition stores.

The Fifth Air Force awarded a belated damage claim for Feb. 1 to 2nd Lt. James L. Thompson of 210 Thomas Drive, Wilmington, Del. The new claim brought the February toll of MIG's to 20 destroyed, six probably destroyed and 22 damaged, a total of 48.

Early today, American Superforts dumped 220,000 pounds of bombs on a "ripe" Communist headquarters near Manchuria. The B-29's touched off at least 40 fires and a series of explosions that virtually wiped out the target. The target, 20 miles from Sinuiju, had not been hit before.

The ground war was quiet except on the western front where Chinese raiders punched at two Allied outposts south of Panmunjom. Both blows were blocked.

Eleven B-29's took part in the attack on the Red headquarters. "Our bombs must have hit one of those gas tanks," reported Airman 1/c Carl A. Oseen of Pearl River, N. Y., a tail gunner, "because a tremendous explosion erupted, and then smoke and flames soared at least 2,000 feet into the air."

First Lt. John E. White, of 209 Tremont Ave. S. E., Massillon, O., a Superfort pilot, said he counted the fires "but quit when I passed the 40-mark."

Blizzard Hits North Plains Hard Today

By United Press
A severe blizzard whipped across the northern plains states today, burying roads under drifting snow and blotting out the fate of a school bus lost on a lonely country road in Colorado.

Meanwhile, a tornado that skipped across east-central Texas, demolishing a number of buildings, disappeared as quickly as it came.

The howling prairie snow storm started Thursday raged through the night and continued unabated into the day with no letup in sight until tonight. Weather forecasters called it a "most uniform" blizzard, a storm with stamina.

It was so intense that rescue teams gave up a search for the missing Colorado school bus and turned back to wait for sunlight. At least seven children were known to have boarded the bus near Sterling, Colo., and anxious parents believed that "two more students were aboard."

U. S. Not Behind Oil Field Sabotage Government Claims

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (UP)—The United States today hotly denied it was behind alleged sabotage in Communist Romania's oil fields.

This government said Romania conducted a "show trial" of defendants on the charges "to hide the role of Soviet imperialism in Romania."

The American denial of the allegations made during the trial of 24 Romanian defendants at Ploesti between Feb. 9 and 12 was delivered to the Romanian Ministry of Foreign Affairs today by U. S. Minister Harold Shantz.

If the Romanian Communists are having trouble with their oil industry, the 1,500 word note said the Reds should blame themselves and their Soviet masters.

The blame for the sabotage charges against the United States, it added, is "a patently obvious falsification of history."

Some of the defendants in the case had been employed previously by American oil companies operating in Romania. Sentences ranged from a minimum of three years imprisonment to life in hard labor.

The note indicated the defendants were ordered to make confessions.

Big Industry Behind "Tour Kentucky" Sign

FRANKFORT, Feb. 20 (UP)—A high British source said today that "rumblings in the Kremlin" indicate Russia might be in position within the next year to retaliate in full scale to any abrupt American action in the Far East.

The same informant said: "1. Britain has warned France that she is making unacceptable demands on Germany which might wreck the entire plan for a six-nation European army."

2. British government now believes that the best solution to the Trieste issue is to divide that "free territory" at the top of the Adriatic Sea between Italy and Yugoslavia on the basis of the present two occupation zones.

As to the Far East, the informant said Britain is more "disturbed" about Russia's attitude than she was a year ago because of the uncertainty regarding an apparent crisis in the Kremlin.

The informant explained by "rumblings" he meant there are indications of a struggle for power in the Kremlin—a fight between Soviet Security Chief Lavrenti P. Beria and his rivals as successor to Premier Joseph Stalin.

This period of apparent upheaval in Russia leadership, the informant said, might bring more danger of the explosion of a war rather than less danger.

In an unusual review of the foreign situation, the informant said that the British government believes the Western allies must move cautiously in the next year to avoid giving the men in the Kremlin the idea that the West believes a new world war is inevitable.

He said that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler will impress this view upon President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles when they go to Washington next week.

But Eden and Butler will go to Washington with the knowledge that British fears about American policy in the Far East are severely straining Anglo-American relations, the informant said.

Hence, he added, they will try to seek a better understanding with the President and Dulles. He commented that the British government admits frankly it has no solution to ending the Korean war.

Russia Will Be In Improved Position Within The Next Year

Before pronouncing sentence Recorder Judge O. Z. Ide told the 46-year-old bookkeeper "your child, dotting transients all sense of decency, good judgement and honesty."

Idea Rejected Of Buying Truce By Giving in on Prisoner Debate

By DONALD J. GONZALES
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20—The Eisenhower administration is standing squarely behind former President Truman's decision to resist Communist demands for forcible repatriation of Korean war prisoners it was learned today.

Official sources said the administration in its current hunt for ways to end the Korean war, has emphatically rejected the idea of buying a truce by giving in on the POW issue.

The Allies now hold 124,000 Red prisoners. The fate of 38,000 of those who refuse to return to their Communist homelands is the sole issue blocking a truce at Panmunjom, Korea, where negotiations were recessed Oct. 8 when the prisoners impasse hardened.

Many experts believe the Communist negotiators were hoping that President Eisenhower's expressed interest in ending the war would prompt him to reconsider Red demands that all prisoners be sent home at bayonet point if necessary.

All present indications, however, are that the new administration is not even interested in early renewal of armistice talks. It is concentrating instead on military and other pressures to make the Reds want an honorable armistice at a later date.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has revealed that a naval blockade, tighter Allied trade restrictions and other reseed measures are under intensive study.

The current administration attitude is that the armistice talks should be resumed only if the Communists express willingness to:

1. Accept any one of various proposals put forward in the past by Allied negotiators to solve the prisoner of war deadlock.
2. Advance new proposals of a "constructive" nature that would show the enemy is sincerely interested in an armistice.

August Busch Buys Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, Mo. Feb. 20 (UP)—August A. Busch Jr., wealthy St. Louis brewery owner, today bought the St. Louis Cardinals baseball club from Fred Saigh, who must serve a 15-month prison sentence for tax evasion.

Sale of the club was announced by Saigh two days in advance of a deadline set by organized baseball officials for him to sell the club or turn over its administration to a committee of St. Louis business leaders until it could be sold.

Although it was not made public the price Busch paid for the Cardinals was believed to be about $425,000.

Busch is president of Anheuser-Busch Brewing Co. Inc., one of St. Louis' major industries.

Saigh made a surprise appearance in the court of Federal Judge Roy W. Harper last Jan. 28 to plea no contest to two counts of an indictment against him. He had been expected to go to trial on charges that he defrauded the government of nearly $50,000 in income taxes.

The government dismissed three counts of the indictment when he entered his plea of no contest covering $19,000 in income for 1947 and 1949.

Among Other Things

The following editorial appeared in the February 18 issue of the Mayfield Messenger, and was written by Jess Anderson, Editor of the daily publication.

By Jess Anderson

One of the finest demonstrations of sportsmanship ever seen anywhere occurred at the Murray State college gymnasium last Saturday night.

The small gymnasium was packed to the rafters for the Murray-Western basketball game. Murray, as has been the case in most of the cage contests between these old rivals, was the underdog. The "experts" were picking Western to win by as many as 16 points.

The crowd was strictly a Murray crowd. Only a few Western rooters had tickets because of the small seating space in the Murray gym and because some 1,500 Murray students have tickets for each game, leaving only a few for outsiders.

Just before the game started the players and coaches on both sides were introduced and then the voice of the public address system said: "Ladies and gentlemen we are pleased to have with us tonight Mr. Ed Diddle the coach of the Western team who flew to Murray from Florida to see tonight's game." The crowd stood up as one man and gave "Uncle" Ed a thunderous ovation that lasted well over two minutes. Tears streamed down the cheeks of the great Western coach as he stood up to acknowledge the ovation.

Coming from a crowd who would rather beat one of "Uncle" Ed's teams than do anything on earth, it was indeed a beautiful gesture. It proved that there is something else in sports besides winning. Something even better than winning.

Nobody on earth wants to win any more than Ed Diddle.
His teams play the game right down to the hilt to win. They have won hundreds of games for "Uncle" Ed and since his illness last fall prevented his being on the coaching line all this season, his presence at Murray Saturday night must have buoyed his team. But the Murray team was not to be denied. It was their night.

I'm quite sure Uncle Ed wanted to win that one Saturday as bad as he ever wanted to win one, but I also am of the opinion that after that ovation he felt much better about losing it than any game he ever lost to Murray.

Another fine gesture of sportsmanship came last year from the University of Kentucky's bitterest rival, the University of Tennessee. Wherever the Kentucky basketball team traveled last year, the crowd would yell about the basketball fixes in which some U. K. players were involved. None of the members of the Kentucky team last year were involved in any way in any of the basketball scandals. Bill Spivey, innocent or guilty, was not on that team, nor were any of the other players whose names had been connected with the scandals. At Florida, Mississippi, Vanderbilt and all the other colleges where the Kentucky teams played the Wildcats took a terrible verbal beating from the fans about the scandals of former Wildcat players. Everywhere except the University of Tennessee gymnasium. The Wildcats went down to Knoxville and beat Tenn., but not a word about the scandals came from a single spectator at Knoxville. That too, was great sportsmanship.

Hindman Yellowjackets Give Top Hi School Ratings Shakeup

LEXINGTON, (UP) — Hindman's rebounding Yellowjackets gave the "Top Ten" in the United Press Disables, American Veterans basketball ratings quite a shaking up today, but the shaking failed to dislodge Ashland and Flaget from their one-two positions.

Capping a great comeback from a mid-season slump that saw them lose four games, the Yellowjackets upset Ashland last weekend and vaulted all the way from 12th place to seventh in this week's poll of 26 leading high school coaches conducted by Lexington Chapter No. 1 of the DAV.

Hindman almost moved into sixth, but was moved out of that position by one vote by the average coaches, who jumped from seventh to sixth after knocking off Lexington Lafayette.

Ashland polled 14 of the 26 first-place votes and tallied 224 points to take a decisive lead over second-place Flaget, which drew only two first-place ballots and 181 points after a surprising defeat by the Point Manual.

Third place again went to Male High, with three first-place votes and 157 points, closely followed by the Lexington Indians with two first-place ballots and 148 points.

By United Press

The St. Louis Cardinals were without one player of reporting all signed today when catcher Del Rice came to terms for an estimated $100,000.

Rice's signing left only reserve catcher Bill Sarna unsettled and he is expected to join the fold shortly. Rice, who hit 239 last season, was expected to leave for the Cardinals' St. Petersburg, Fla., training base next Sunday. Manager Eddie Stanky considers him the best defensive catcher in the National League.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, meanwhile, reported that pitcher Howie Pollet has notified them that his signed contract is in the mail. Although Pollet had only a 7-16 record last year, he is still regarded as one of the league's best left-handers. He will report to Havana, Cuba, on March 1st, a week later than the rest of the battersmen.

On other fronts:

Outfielders Clyde Volmer and Edgar Wilson, signed with the Boston Red Sox, who now have 33 players under contract. Still unsigned are pitchers Sid Hudson and Maurice McDermott, infielder Billy Goodman and catcher Gus Niarhos.

Joe Borzellino, 18-year-old Reading, Pa. high school player, signed with the Chicago White Sox. Wisconsin Rapids team club.

The Philadelphia Phillies announced the signing of infielder Tommy Grayson and catcher Joe Lunn, bringing their team total to 25.

Harry Hankin and Hank Ertman, Boston infielders, returned from injured contracts to the Boston Braves, and the Cleveland Indians announced they would take 19-year-old rookie outfielder Herb Score to their Texas, A. & M. base.

Re Ward

DEMURE in the 1953 film "The Girl Who Came to Stay," Re Ward, 19, looks a court beauty in New York, where she is star witness in vice trial of Mickey Doyle.

That moved her ahead of Lexington Lafayette, which drew two first-place votes but only 139 points for fifth place after losing twice in week-end road trip to Campbellsville and Caverna.

Then came Caverna and Hindman, while eighth place went to Lexington Henry Clay with 76 votes. Henry Clay was sixth a week ago.

Clay County, only unbeaten team in the state, moved up a notch to ninth position, while Clark County dropped from eighth to 10th and South Christian, slipped out of the Top Ten to 11th.

Louisville Manual, among the alphas a week ago, snuggled 15th place after its stirring triumph over Flaget.

Hindman was rated first in the state by the coaches when the first poll was taken last December, but plunged out of the Top Ten when an appendicitis operation sidelined star Gurnard Martin for a month in mid-season.

The ratings — 1st place votes in parentheses:

1. Ashland (14)	224
2. Louisville Flaget (2)	181
3. Louisville Male (3)	157
4. Inez (2)	146
5. Lafayette (2)	139
6. Caverna	80
7. Hindman (1)	79
8. Lexington Henry Clay	76
9. Clark County (1)	56
10. South Christian	47
11. South Christian	39
12. Campbellsville	38
13. Georgetown	23
14. Cavington Holmes	20
15. Louisville Manual	15
16. Fleming County	12
17. Madisonville	9
18. Pikeville	8
19. Maysville	8
20. Morgantown	8

Others: Seven points — Breckinridge County; Six points — Newport Public, Monticello; Five points — Middleboro; Four points — Paducah; Three points — Hughes-Kirkpatrick; Two points — Mayfield, Lexington University; One point — Wingo, Owensboro, Barbourville.

Three Are Lined Up For UK Tourney

LEXINGTON, Feb. 20 (UP) — The University of Kentucky had three top-notch "guests" lined up today for its first Kentucky Invitational Basketball Tournament to be played here next Dec. 21 and 22.

Competing in the four-team tournament at Memorial Coliseum will be, besides the Wildcats themselves, LaSalle of the East, Duke of the deep South, and University of California at Los Angeles from the Far West.

All three of the "guests," are perennial powers both in their own backyards and nationally, and all three appear to be in good shape, personnel-wise, for the 1953-54 season.

LaSalle's Explorers, soon to defend their National Invitation Title will be led again next year by glumous Tom Gola, considered by many experts the "best college player in the nation."

Duke's even though rebuilding this year after the loss of Dick Groat, still rates as one of the best in Dixie and is ranked, in a tie for 17th nationally in the United Press ratings.

The team with which the Blue Devils are tied, coincidentally, is UCLA — The Bruins were Pacific Coast champs and an NCAA tournament entry a year ago. They have won 14 while losing six this year, and are reported to be a very young team. Former Purdue star Johnny Wooden is the coach.

Announcement of the tournament yesterday ended any speculation that the Wildcats would play in another projected "Kentucky Jovity" trial at Louisville next holiday season.

The Louisville group, however, hadn't really counted on the Wild- cats and their place no doubt will continue as before.

The state will have a third major holiday season tournament, the All-American City Invitational sponsored by Kentucky Western at Owensboro.

The tournament here, to be played in the 12,500-seat Memorial Coliseum, is scheduled for Feb. 1, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 1953.

Parker Home Scene Of Dorcas Class Dinner On Tuesday

The beautiful colonial home of Mrs. Burgess Parker on West Main Street was the scene of the monthly meeting potluck supper of the Dorcas Class of the First Baptist Church held Tuesday evening at six-thirty o'clock.

Mrs. Thomas Hogancamp was the devotional speaker for the evening. She gave a most inspiring talk on the subject, "How Tall Are You Spiritually," with her scripture being Ephesians 4. Mrs. Bud Jettison closed the devotional hour with prayer.

Introducing Mrs. Hogancamp was Mrs. G. T. Lilly, captain of group five, which was in charge of the arrangements for the evening.

Mrs. Lilly led the group in playing games.

The class president, Mrs. Keith Morris, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Myrtle Wall, teacher of the class, asked the blessing.

A covered dish supper was enjoyed by those present. The table was beautifully decorated with a centerpiece of yellow jonquils.

Individual tables were laid with flower arrangements of yellow snap dragons. Jonquils and hyacinths were placed at vantage places throughout the house.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Shabrother are visiting relatives in Galveston and Houston, Texas.

Rob W. Parker arrived home Thursday morning to spend a 27 days leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Parker. He is an electrician's mate third class in the United States Navy.

Paducah And Paris Matinee Music Clubs Guest Artists At Music Department Meet

The February meeting of the Music Department of the Murray Women's Club was held at the club house Tuesday evening at seven-thirty o'clock. This was an open meeting with an exchange program being given by the Paducah and Paris Matinee Music Clubs and was well attended.

Mrs. Harlan Hodges, program chairman, welcomed the guests and introduced Mrs. C. A. Leutenmeyer, president of the Paducah club, and Mrs. W. T. Morris, president of the Paris Club, who in turn presented the artists from their clubs to the appreciative audience in the following program:

Paducah—piano solos, "Engulfed Cathedral" by Debussy and "Black Key Etude" by Chopin, Miss Marilyn Neale; vocal solos, "Sing Me To Sleep" by Edwin Green and "The Second Minute" by Bealy, Miss Patricia Matheny, accompanied by Miss Sandra Fuqua.

Paris—vocal solo, "Serenade" by Grounold, Mrs. Earl Marig accompanied by Mrs. George Covington; piano solo, "Rondo Brillante" by von Weber, Robert Covington.

Mrs. Glenn Doran, chairman of the department, expressed her appreciation for this delightful program and extended a cordial invitation for a return visit.

A brief business session was conducted by Mrs. Doran at which time an announcement was made of the contest sponsored by the Music Department to select two music students who will attend the Egyptian Summer Music Camp at Duquoin, Ill. This is an unusual opportunity for talented boys and girls and it is hoped that an interest will be shown by the young musicians.

Following the program a social hour was enjoyed. The tea table, placed at the end of the spacious clubroom, was attractive with a lace cloth and an arrangement of spring flowers. A party plate was served with Mrs. Ed Griffin, president of the Murray Women's Club, presiding at the coffee service.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Walter Williams, Jr., Mrs. Ed Griffin, Mrs. D. E. McConnell, Mrs. Henry Holton and Mrs. Garnett Jones.

Mrs. C. L. Vaughn, program chairman, gave the devotional reading from the second chapter of 1 Corinthians and closed with prayer.

"Unto The Perfect Day" was the subject of the program given by Mrs. Vaughn. Group talks of various missionaries and teachers of the United States and foreign nations who proclaim the gospel news in their respective homelands were given. China, North Africa and Japan exchange students were also discussed.

Those taking part other than Mrs. Vaughn were Mrs. W. E. Johnson, Mrs. Autry Farmer, Mrs. Thelma Sammons and Mrs. Alice Jones. The meeting was dismissed with prayer.

Gay Dooryard Gardens From Seed of Low Annuals

Differing from parterre planting of the nineties, modern dooryard gardens emphasize beauty of the flowers, and not a pattern.

Low growing flowers which produce sheets of color can be used effectively in dooryard gardens, especially in the front yards of modern one-story homes. The simple lines and absence of ornamentation in the house design find a pleasing echo in simple floral plantings which depend for their effect on color masses rather than intricate designs.

When front yard flowers were formerly in fashion, in the nineties, flowers were used to work out elaborate designs of geometric shapes. This was an ancient fashion, dating back to the middle ages, known as parterre work. The beauty of the parterre was in its pattern, with the flowers used only to supply the color which developed it. Few examples of this method are now seen in this country.

Modern dooryard gardens are as simple as possible in design. In order to center attention upon the beauty of the flowers. These are grouped in masses of one color, so arranged that each mass harmonizes with and sets off the others. Annual flowers of low, compact growth will flower without ceasing until freezing weather, even in the northern states, and are easily grown from seed, when started early under protection, or in the garden itself as soon as the weather permits. The garden illustrated is a simple arrangement of border plantings for a small house where the walk leads from the private driveway to the front door. Both house and lot will be made to seem larger by this arrangement.

Bright red, or pink salvia, and clear, vivid red, pink, blue and buff verbenas will provide a brilliant decoration for the house. Both salvia and verbenas are slow growing, and seed should be started early in a hot-bed or greenhouse, so that plants of good size can be set out as soon as danger of frost is over. If seed is sown directly in the garden, flowers may be delayed two or three weeks. Sweet alyssum, however, will grow quickly from seed and either a dwarf white variety, or the dark purple Violet Queen Alyssum may be used. If the plants are sheared when they grow too tall, flowers will be increased, and a low growing border constantly maintained.

Birthday Party Is Held In Compliment To Miss Jane Jones

Miss Jane Jones was honored with a birthday party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jones on Wednesday evening, February 11.

The living room and dining room where the guests were served were beautifully decorated in the valentine motif. A lovely cake decorated also with the valentine motif and bearing the seventeen candles adorned the center of the dining room table.

A delicious sandwich plate was served the twenty-five guests present. Mrs. Dan K. Taylor, sister of the honoree, assisted in the serving and also in conducting the games which were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The honoree was presented with many lovely gifts.

Those attending the party were as follows:

Elvira Key, Peggy Lane, Lavelle Byars, Joan Humphreys, Ann Harding, Shirley Davis, Shirley Mondro, Linda Hart, Billy Gallimore, Hugh Ed Collins, Dan Charlton, Tommy Paschall, Jerry Jones, Tommy Dan Story, Walter Byars, Dan Dunn, Jerry Humphreys, Ralph Latimer, Gerald Paschall, Clifford Underwood, Billy New port, Keith Hill, Max Paschall, Bobby Bowen, Gene Rickman and Jerry Brandon.

Mrs. Rue Overbey Guest Speaker At Circle III Meeting

Circle III of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. D. Butterworth.

Mrs. W. A. Bell, chairman, presided. Announcement was made of the World Day of Prayer program at the First Christian Church, Friday, February 20 and of the WSCS mission study on "Africa" to be held Tuesday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock at the Methodist Church with Mrs. E. A. Tucker in charge.

Mrs. J. B. Farris was in charge of the program on the subject, "By One Spirit Are We One Body." Mrs. J. R. Gatlin read the scripture from 1 Corinthians 12-13.

The guest speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. Rue Overbey. She gave a most interesting and inspirational talk on "Unto The Perfect Day."

"Fellowship" was the title of the closing song by the group after which Mrs. J. B. Farris led in prayer.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to the fifteen members and one guest.

Hazel WSCS Meets Wednesday Evening At The Parsonage

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Hazel Methodist Church met at the parsonage Wednesday evening at seven o'clock.

"Unto The Perfect Day" was the subject of the program. The Rosary was used as an instrumental prelude. The devotion from Proverbs 4: 1, 2, 5, 13 and 18 was given by Mrs. Robert Taylor.

Mrs. Olga Freeman, program leader, gave the purposes of the program, Helen Kent's message and the aims of true Christian education. She presented several interesting short biographies of mission-school graduates. Emphasis was placed on christian training in proclaiming the good news and witnessing for Christ.

Principal centers of the work of the Woman's Division were pointed out with the aid of a world map. Record numbers of "The Lost Chord" and "The Lord's Prayer" were enjoyed. The closing prayer was read by Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. Darwin White, president, conducted a short business meeting and also gave a brief report of the annual district meeting held at Murray recently.

The hostess served a party plate to the members and visitor, Mrs. Ann Cochran.

Industrialist Is Given Opportunity

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON (UP)—The small town businessman was busy at his favorite pastime—complaining about the way things were being handled in Washington.

The phone in his office jingled. "I'm calling for Sinclair Weeks," the voice said. "Mr. Eisenhower has just made him the new secretary of commerce. Mr. Weeks wants to know if you would hop a plane for the capital and accept an appointment as assistant secretary of commerce."

That was it.

Craig Royer Sheffer, the pen man from Ft. Madison, Ia., looked at it about the office he could. "I got to thinking," he told me, "that I had been grousing at the government for 20 years. Here was my chance to see what I could do."

The 65-year-old Midwestern businessman hasn't been on the job very long, but already he has managed to realize that running the government is a little more complicated than putting writing implements on the market.

Sheffer has the kind of Midwestern personality that rubs off on others. For instance, he came bounding out of his new office, waving his hand warmly and apologized for being 10 minutes late for our date.

"I'm just feeling my way around," the new assistant secretary said. "It took me a couple of days to find these offices through the maze of corridors way the Commerce Building. I swear the building is bigger than all of Ft. Madison, at least it seems that way."

So far, Sheffer has made no change in the physical appearance of his office. The place has not been repainted. The pictures on the walls and drapes at the windows are the same that were there under the Truman administration.

He brought some of his own staff along on hand. "I don't see any sense in firing somebody who knows his job," he said.

The new executive hasn't made up his mind yet what changes, if any, he would recommend if he had a free hand in running the Department of Commerce.

"I realize now," he said, "that you can't rush into something as big and important as this."

When he and Mrs. Sheffer arrived in street fights, traffic accidents and other holiday mishaps.

The Reluctant Cinderella by JENNIFER AMES

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

FOR THE next two days the sea was smooth and blue, like the blue advertisements you read in the great ship's magazine. The Captain, urbane, smiling, made his rounds; the officers, the personnel, the stewards each did their part as though their work was a pleasure. Each night before dinner the head waiter joined the dining-room stewards up, inspected them as though he were the general of an army, telling them how proud they should be to serve on this great liner. He expected not only perfect service, but wholehearted cooperation. He made each one feel as important as the Captain on the bridge. It was good psychology and it got results. Carol had never felt so well-cared-for—or so nagged—unhappy.

Perhaps she was a little lonely. People on a giant ship like the Queen Mary don't make friends in the easy way they do on smaller ships. The trip is too short, there are too many planned entertainments, and, perhaps, for no good reason, they are all a little suspicious of one another.

Thelma kept Derek occupied; she was always wanting her deck chair to be moved or to be taken to the bar or to the movies. She found some friends on the ship, but these friends would be entertaining her, to drink or to supper in the Verandah Cafe. Derek was her escort. Carol would have made the extra woman.

Carol didn't know what Thelma Derek told in her plans, because he wanted to or because he was too nice not to. On the few occasions they talked together, he seemed puzzled and worried by the situation.

"I don't seem to be seeing anything of you, Carol," he complained.

They were standing together on the games deck at the railing. They had just finished a set of deck tennis and were cooling off. The breeze lifted Carol's light-brown hair off her brow, blew back the woolen sports dress she was wearing, showing the outline of her slim young body.

"You've been kept busy," she smiled. "You've been kept busy."

"I know, Thelma's a wonderful girl, but, yes, she keeps a fellow busy." He gave her a faintly wry smile and added quickly, "Naturally, I enjoy being with her. As I said, she's a wonderful girl, and she isn't used to doing things for herself. It's hard to be left alone when you're young, I guess, and someday she'll marry again, but, apparently, she was devoted to her husband."

Carol said nothing.

"I've wished you could have been on the party," he hesitated. "But Thelma seems to think you're a little too young. Her friends drink a good deal and she says she feels a great responsibility for you."

"Or perhaps she thinks they would be bored by me," Carol returned coolly.

By the embarrassed flush that rose up under his light tan she knew she had hit the nail upon the head. The other night she had heard Thelma describe her to him as "a dreary little thing."

"Only because you are so very young," he said quickly.

"Nonsense. I'm not very young at all," she said, feeling suddenly angry. "I've been earning my living for the past six years. You can't do that, Derek, and remain a child."

"No, of course not, but—I can only explain it by saying she does feel responsible for you," he evaded lamely.

She looked away from him out to sea. Her cheeks were burning and tears were very near her eyes. "You're not upset?" he asked in a deep, concerned voice. "I was just trying to explain. Thelma is my guest—I mean, the guest of my firm."

She turned to face him. The color was still high in her cheeks. "I had the idea I was the guest of your firm, too, Derek."

His flush deepened. "Of course, Carol. But, as I said, you're younger, and she seems to rely on me. But as soon as we get home it will be different." His face, his manner, brightened. "Dad and Mom will look after her."

"You want to show me a good time. I want to. You know

JESUS ANSWERS HIS CRITICS
I The Problem of the Tribute, Matthew 22:15-22.

This twenty-second chapter of the gospel, according to Matthew presents three groups of schemers against Christ.

(1) The Pharisees. They were the most strict and the most orthodox sect of the Jews. They were proud, exclusive, boastful of their good deeds, strict adherents to traditional beliefs, and precise in their religious worship. They reduced religion to a set of rules and ceremonies. They were noted for their orthodox creed and punctilious observance of the Jewish ritual. They were the strict formalists of the day. They added numerous traditions to the Word of God. To them, the ceremonies which their fathers invented were more important than the divine revelation. And the Pharisees hated Christ with satanic animosity.

(2) The Herodians. They were essentially a political and not a religious party, and in this respect were the very opposite of the Pharisees. They believed that the dominion of the Romans over the Jews was just, and that it was their duty to submit to it. Religiously they were skeptics.

(3) The Sadducees. They were the rationalists and materialists of that day. In their estimation there was no place for repentance, faith, or forgiveness. They taught that the existence of angels and a bodily resurrection were illusions. They denied the miracles, the resurrection of the physical body, and the judgment.

2. The Scheme. Even though they had nothing in common, but were at great variance with each other, these crafty and cruel enemies of the Saviour met, exchanged ideas, and concocted a clever scheme to lure Christ into self-incrimination. One need not be surprised that two hostile groups, like the Pharisees and the Herodians, were drawn together in their common hatred of Christ. Frequently bitter enemies become friends in a common crime. In fact, about the only thing on which Satan's followers will unite is their efforts against Christ and His cause.

These unscrupulous leaders were not interested in ascertaining the truth. They were seeking some admission from Christ which they could twist into a charge against Him. Their diabolical scheme was to propound a question to the Master that, regardless of how He might answer it, would bring upon Him the hatred of the populace or the punishment of the secular authorities. They merely wanted to prove that He was disloyal to His people because He advocated the payment of tribute to Caesar, or that He was a traitor to Caesar because He recommended rebellion against taxation.

3. The Subtlety. Their question was maliciously subtle. Starting with words of smoothest flattery, those hypocrites asked Him an exceedingly delicate question. Seemingly, they thought that He could not possibly discover a way out. The obvious intent of their subtle question was to ensnare Him in His speech.

With that in mind, they challenged Him to speak His mind without any reservations or any fear of man whatsoever. These wicked pretenses posed as learners, but in reality their minds were already closed. They were simply searching for a weapon to use against Him. They did not care how He answered their question, so long as it would result in His downfall and destruction.

4. The Surprise.

Christ promptly indicated to them that He saw through their trickery and duplicity. Turning to them, He said, "Show me the tribute money." And they brought to Him a denarius, a coin which the Jews used when paying their taxes to the Roman government. He asked them whose image and superscription appeared on the coin. Of course, they had to reply "Caesar's." By receiving it and using it as the current coin of their country, and by acknowledging that it was Caesar's, they thereby admitted their subjection to Caesar's government and their consequent obligation to pay the tribute which was demanded of them.

Christ's statement, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's," truly surprised them. Thus He laid down the rule that it is the duty of all people to acknowledge their obligations to human governments and to God. Just as the coin bore the image of Caesar and was to be rendered unto him, so they bore the image of God and therefore were under obligations to yield their lives unto Him. And that very thing they were refusing to do. Failure to perform one's obligation to human government is wrong, but denial of God's ownership and failure to perform one's obligation to Him is a far greater sin.

II The Problem of Love, Matthew 22:34-40.

Let no one think that the enemies of Christ become discouraged and quit working against Him. His cause, and His followers simply because they may suffer a defeat at His hands. Although they had suffered a severe rebuff, the Pharisees and Herodians and Sadducees proceeded immediately to make another attack of Christ. They decided to enter a realm where the Pharisees thought they knew about all their was to be known, the realm of the Jewish law. To facilitate matters, they selected a brilliant young lawyer to ask the Lord Jesus a question about the law. Acting as spokesman for the hostile Pharisees, he inquired of Christ as to which of the commandments was the greatest or the most important.

What he asked is the primary question for every man, namely, "Which is the great commandment in the law?" Our Lord's answer to that young lawyer's question is the ultimate answer to all in every age.

Just as in the other problem with reference to tribute money, Christ again showed that man's responsibility is two fold: first to God, and second to his fellowmen. The law deals with man's relationship to God and his relationship to man. Christ placed love to God first, and love for man second. Man's first duty is to God, and his second duty is to his fellowmen. It is the duty of every man to love God with that love which controls the whole being. He must put God first in everything. His claims are always supreme. In His memorable reply to the lawyer, Christ set forth the heart of true religion and the substance of right living. Only the one who loves God with all his heart will be able to love his neighbor as himself. Such love is made possible through the grace of God.

ALASKANS USE PLANES
IN FIGHT ON WOLVES

JUNEAU, Alaska (UP)—Alaskan wolf hunters are taking to the air early this year to destroy the hungry caribou-killers of the Alaskan Peninsula. Several light planes, carrying pilots and gunners, are hunting under the direction of M. W. Kelley fish and wildlife predator control supervisor. The inroads of wolves on the dwindling herds of Grant caribou set off the aerial campaign. Such hunting was successful above the Arctic Circle last winter. The operation destroyed 259 adult wolves which could have killed up to 15,000 caribou a year.
