10 Red MIGs Shot Down By Allied Pilots

By ROBERT UDBEK SEOUL, April 7 (UP)—American Sabrejets destroyed or damaged 10 Communist MIGs today while protecting UN dive bombers in hand-baiting attacks against enemy hardware and power installations. The F-86's shot down two MIG-15's, probably destroyed one and damaged seven for their first claims in three days and their biggest score in two weeks. While the swirling dogfights were going on, F-84 Thunderjets flew within 12 miles of Manchuria to attack a key rail line, destroying 20 boxcars and ripping up rails on the Suijiu-Namuidong route. Other groups of dive-bombers hit eight rail bridges and a transport station near Chinnampo, the port for the North Korean capital of Pyongyang. On the ground, South Korean troops launched new counterattacks to push Chinese Communist outposts east of the Pukhan River, which they lost three days ago. The ROKs wrested control of the position from the Chinese for a brief while early today, then were thrown back when the Reds rushed in fresh troops. However, the South Koreans counterattacked late today and the battle was still raging at last reports. It was the bitterest fight along the front. Elsewhere, American Marines held their Chinese patrols near Panmunjom. The Leathernecks lost two small outposts, but regained them at noon. At the far eastern tip of the front, ROK troops beat back an attack against Anchor Hill before dawn. The newest Allied aerial blows at the Reds started Monday night when 16 B-29 Superforts flew through heavy anti-aircraft barges and searchlights and dropped 160 tons of bombs on a vital rail bridge complex on the Chongchon River in northwest Korea.

Doctors Seek To Save 16 Year Old Boy Weighing 44

WASHINGTON April 7 (UP)—Doctors used all their scientific ability today in a fight to rescue Eddie Murphy from 16 years of slow starvation. They weren't sure they could turn the trick. Neglect has drained most of the life from Eddie's chalk-white, 44-pound body. But with oxygen and intravenous feedings, he has recovered consciousness. Now his large brown eyes flutter open from time to time. Eddie starved silently almost in the shadow of the Capitol, not far from the White House. It was only when "it looked like he was going to die" that his grandmother, Mrs. Ora Murphy, took him to Gallinger Hospital and the city suddenly became aware of the squalor and misery in the tall frame house on I Street SE. "You wouldn't believe it was Washington, a police woman said. Eleven persons — Murphys and relatives — were sleeping in four beds. The outside toilet was clogged. The kitchen was littered with junk. The main pieces of furniture were a dirtyavenport and rocker. "I never asked nobody for no help," Mrs. Murphy said. "I done the best I could." She tried to make ends meet with a $74.40 monthly pension, $35 of which went for rent. Eddie is only four feet four inches tall and has suffered with convulsions since birth. He never was able to stand for more than 20 minutes at a time. "I tried to tend Eddie as best I could since his mother Julia up and went off to Philadelphia," Mrs. Murphy said. "I wrote her that Eddie was getting mighty skinny but she didn't answer." Besides Eddie, those who have been living with Mrs. Murphy are: a daughter, Alice, 40, who is deaf and mentally retarded; a son William Charles, 19, who has ducked working because he is waiting to go into the Army; a daughter, Shirley, 24, with her four children, a son, Ralph, 13, who is going to school; and George Houston, 13, another son of Julia's. Eddie used to share a bed with Mrs. Murphy and Ralph, Alice, Shirley and her four children had another bed. William had a bed himself because "he's particular," George slept on a cot. "Eddie went down all at once," Eleven days ago he had a bowl of chicken soup, a glass of milk and two slices of bread. Last Thursday, he ate a little oatmeal and milk. On Friday, she said, he wouldn't even take water. He went to the hospital Saturday.

VA Compelled To Administer To Millionaires, Said

LOUISVILLE April 7 (UP)—The Louisville Times said today in the second of a series of copyrighted stories that existing law compels the Veterans Administration to provide free medical care and hospitalization to millionaires. "The Times quoted a report by U. S. Comptroller General Lindsay Warren to Congress last week as saying that of 338 representative veterans receiving free care, more than half had incomes of $5,000 or more a year. At least one of the patients was worth between $500,000 and $1,000,000. "Yet all of these veterans went to government hospitals for treatment of ailments that had no connection with their war service, and all of them swore under oath they couldn't afford to pay for private hospitalization," the Times quoted Warren's report. Reporter Richard Harwood's first story yesterday charged that large insurance companies and big industrial firms with health insurance plans were being subsidized by some $370,000,000 annually by refusal to pay medical bills submitted by VA hospitals.

Working Mothers Put Heat On Congressmen

WASHINGTON April 7 (UP)—Working mothers have put the heat on Congress to give them a tax break. They want permission to deduct, as business expenses, the money they have to pay baby sitters to stay with the children. Under present law a mother who has a regular job cannot deduct for income tax purposes the expense of a maid or baby sitter, even though the mother may be a widow who has to work to support her family. The pleas have not been unheeded in Congress. Some 20 bills have

Greatest Concession Made By Communists During Talks

By LEROY HANSEN PANMUNJOM, Korea April 7 (UP)—The Communists agreed today to voluntary repatriation of all ailing war prisoners. It was the greatest Communist concession of the two-year old truce talks and could lead to an early end of the Korea war. The Communists agreed to the voluntary return of even prisoners suffering minor disabilities. This went beyond the Geneva Convention covering prisoner return—the United Nations goal in the long truce talks. If the Reds are willing to apply the same principle of voluntary repatriation to all prisoners of war, the way will be clearer to resume full-dress armistice talks leading to a possible end of the three-year old war. The United Nations truce team announced the Red agreement after morning and afternoon meetings with the Communists in this truce village. It was the second day of renewed talks. Another meeting will be held at 9 p.m. EST Tuesday. Rear Admiral John C. Daniel, chief UN negotiator, said the Allies were ready to begin the prisoner swap within a week, but he did not believe the Communists were set up to move that quickly. Danes said the Communists showed a "very favorable" attitude today to three major points they were discussing. Voluntary repatriation of all sick and wounded prisoners, including those less seriously disabled. Under the Geneva Convention, the latter could have been sent to a new imprisonment in a neutral nation. A "direct" exchange of prisoners—that is, between the two sides and not through any third nation. No sick or wounded prisoner would be forced to return to his homeland against his will during hostilities. The Communists also agreed to "certain" paragraphs in the nine-point program submitted by the United Nations Monday. They reserve the right to propose changes in other paragraphs. A UN briefing officer said among the points the Reds agreed to today were: That Panmunjom be made the exchange point. That prisoners would be delivered through Panmunjom in groups of 25 at a time, with each group accompanied by a roster with names, rank and nationality. The other points, on which the Communists reserved the right to make changes, provided for the exchange to begin seven days "after agreement, the number of prisoners to be exchanged daily, and limiting the number of prisoners from each side, including released prisoners, to 300 at the exchange point.

Six Die In Coal Oil Fire

EAST PALM BEACH, O. April 7 (UP)—Six persons, including four children, were burned fatally when a coal stove exploded in an old school bus which had been converted into a home, authorities reported today. Witnesses said the blast occurred when Beon Hinkle, 35, poured kerosene into a smouldering coal fire in his bus-home Monday night. Killed by the searing blast were Hinkle's three children, Robert, 4, Bradford, 3, and Joyce Ann, 18 months, and Albert Jack, 2, a neighbor who was visiting the Hinkles. Hinkle and Mrs. Patricia Jack, 27, mother of Albert, died this morning in Salem, O. Hospital of severe body burns. Another son of Mrs. Jack, Paul, 8, suffered burns but was reported in fair condition. Hinkle's wife, Jean, 34, was reported critically burned. The fire broke out about 8:30 p.m. Betty Jane, McClellan, a neighbor and friend of the Hinkles said the blaze was "just horrible." "We couldn't do a thing for the children trapped inside," she said. Within five minutes the whole thing, the bus was gone. It was "just horrible." Miss McClellan said the stove "blew out" when Hinkle tried to revive a coal fire with kerosene. A second open can of kerosene standing near the stove also exploded, setting the interior of the bus ablaze. Bodies of the victims were removed to the Oliver Funeral Home here.

Oxygen Lack Cited As One Possible Cause Of Cancer

LOS ANGELES, Calif. April 7 (UP)—A possible cause of cancer may have been discovered by a scientist who says his experiments have shown that normal living tissue, becomes cancerous when denied oxygen. Announcement of the discovery was made Monday by Dr. Harry Goldblatt, who has just completed four years of research at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. Goldblatt said he believes that too little oxygen in certain tissues of the body may be a principal cause of cancer in man, but said he won't be positive until this work has been re-checked by other doctors. He said he ran a series of two tests, using tissue of rats. In one test, he said, he put bits of normal tissue in test tubes without oxygen, and in the other, he used the same tissue but kept it supplied with oxygen. The issues, without sufficient oxygen became cancerous and the other tissue remained normal, he said. To back his argument, Goldblatt pointed out that cancer in humans frequently arises in scars, chronic ulcers, and in parts of organs in which a poor supply of blood has existed for a long time. A poor supply of blood, he said, means that oxygen is deficient. According to Goldblatt, this is the first time in medical history that it has been possible in animal experiments to take normal tissue growing outside the body and transform it into cancerous tissue. Goldblatt said that in some cases the transformation of normal cells into malignant cells took a year. He said that when some of these man-made malignant cells were injected into rats, which ordinarily are very resistant to cancer, cancers began to grow in four days.

Republicans Blamed For Price Decline

DENVER, Colo. April 7 (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson charged today there has been a "deliberate attempt to unload responsibility for farm price declines on the Republicans." "Some who sought to embarrass the administration," he said, "deliberately fed fear of another depression" to give the impression "the rug was being pulled out from under the American farmer." "There has been an effort to visit the sins of the fathers upon the children," Benson complained. He made the statements in a frankly political speech prepared for delivery before the National Farm Ranch Congress of the Denver Chamber of Commerce. Benson said there is a "real possibility" that the $13,000,000 savings he hoped to make in the department's budget next year "will be swept aside" because the operation of farm programs set up by the Democrats, and because of high price support losses. Benson said he was "convinced" the present high price support system can be improved. He gave no specific remedies but said some "old and new" proposals being studied—including price insurance and two-price systems—seem to have promise.

Letters From FFA Members To Purchasers Of Their Fat Hogs Indicate Business Ability And A Sincere Appreciation

The following six letters from Future Farmer members in Calloway county to buyers in the March 17 fat hog sale, are being printed in order that business men and others might get an insight as to the attitude of the FFA boys concerned. The letters will indicate that the boys treat their project as a business enterprise, and keep up with their expenses so that they can tell whether a profit was made or not. The letters also expressed their appreciation for the interest shown them by the business men that purchased their hogs. Mr. Coleman McKee, McKee Imp. Co. Murray, Kentucky Dear Mr. McKee: I wish to take this opportunity to express my thanks to you for buying my hog in the recent 4-H and FFA Hog Show and Sale. I had two purebred Duroc pig from Mr. Jess-Gordon, December 19 for nine dollars. He weighed 50 pounds. I knew if I was to get him to the top by our club show I would have to do a good job feeding him. I was lucky in having plenty of skim milk, which I believe is one of the best feeds for hogs. I fed this skim milk with corn and protein supplement and had him weigh 215 pounds on March 16. I fed a total of 8 bushels of 190 bushels of corn and 1,200 pounds of supplement. My feed cost was $40.50 and hauling $3.00, which is a total cost of $43.50. The 13 hogs, after deducting marketing expenses, brought $637.50 and netted me $220. These same hogs sold through the open market would have netted me only $162.00. I am proud that you and other business men of Murray sponsor these shows, and I'm glad to have this way of thanking you. Very truly yours, Edward Palmer Kirksay FFA Member Mr. A. W. Simmons Murray Livestock Co. Murray, Kentucky Dear Mr. Simmons: I wish to take this opportunity to express my thanks to you for buying my hog in the recent 4-H and FFA Hog Show and Sale. correct 200 pounds of supplement, and about 240 gallons of skim milk. My feed cost $15.80, hauling $1.50, and pig, $9.00, making a total cost of $26.30. My hog brought, after deducting marketing expenses, $64.65. After my expenses were taken out, I had $37.72 net. This same hog sold on the open market would have netted me only $15.27. I'm proud that you and other business men of Murray sponsor these shows, and I'm glad to have this way of saying, "Thank you." Very truly yours, James Boggs Kirksay FFA Member Mr. Paul Daily Hazel Lumber Co. Hazel, Kentucky Dear Mr. Daily: I want to thank you for buying my hog in the FFA and 4-H Hog Sale March 17. Yours truly, Richard James Hazel FFA Calloway County Soil Improvement Association Murray, Kentucky

Dear Mr. Perry: I want to express my appreciation to you for participating in such a fine way in the FFA and 4-H Club Fat Hog Show, and Sale March 17. I have been working very close with my Agriculture teacher, Mr. Parks and he has helped me a lot in getting started in farming. At the present time I have hogs, Beef, dairy, corn, pasture, hay and tobacco in my farming program and I am enjoying it very much. In fact it would be very difficult for me to continue in school without my farming program and the cooperation of people like you. I am in partnership with my brothers Gerald and Lenice and with your help we did very well with our hogs. Again let me say, Thanks. Yours very truly, Bobby Coles Hazel FFA National Hotel Murray, Kentucky Dear Sir: I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to you for buying my pen of three hogs at the FFA 4-H Hog Show and Sale held March 16-17 at the Murray Livestock (Continued on Page Four)

Good Time to Begin Servicing More Beef

University of Kentucky home economists agreed with a statement from Washington that now is a good time to begin eating more beef. Beef is plentiful and a good buy. Food dollars can be stretched by serving beef. The Washington statement says: "They (home economists) say to make the best use of meat, cook it properly and use it all, including the trimmings. You can increase the number of servings per pound by combining beef with other foods. When you buy a large cut at a lower price per pound, it often pays to buy it and divide it for cooking in different ways. For example, you can cut a chuck roast three ways and used the rounded bonier end for beef stew, the center chunk for pot roast, and the other piece you can slice lengthwise into two swiss steaks."
