Fulton Told It Cannot Run Sewer Lines From Ferry-Morse And Highlands Across State Line

Mayor Council Receives Letter Tuesday; Situation Discussed

The director of Stream Pollution Control of Tennessee has refused the city of Fulton permission to run a new sewer line from Highlands to its sewage tanks in Tennessee, city officials of Fulton and South Fulton learned Tuesday of this week when a copy of a letter on the subject was received here.

S. Leary Jones, Tennessee director of stream pollution control, stated that permission to construct the new sewer line into Tennessee "will connect to the overloaded Fulton (Ky.) Imhoff tank, located in Tennessee" creating new interstate pollution, and for that reason permission to cross the State line has been refused.

The letter was received with much concern here, since it only underscores a pressing problem of constructing new sewage treatment facilities that both cities already need, and Mayor Nelson Tripp told The News Wednesday that further delay in tackling the sewage problem would surely now cease.

what the Cities of Fulton and South Fulton are expected to do immediately about the matter, and to see if Fulton can't go on and run the sewer lines to the plant until a new plant can be built.

The letter Mayor Council received was a copy of a letter to Louis F. Birkel, Jr., Executive Director of the Ky. Water Pollution Control Commission, Kentucky Department of Health, from Mr. Jones.

The letter received by Mayor Council follows:

STATE OF TENNESSEE
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH
NASHVILLE 3

December 3, 1958
Mr. Louis F. Birkel, Jr.,
Executive Director Ky. Water
Pollution Control Commission
Department of Health,
Commonwealth of Ky.,
620 South Third Street
Louisville 2, Kentucky

Dear Mr. Birkel:

The City of South Fulton has employed Nichols Engineering Company to design sewage treatment works for the city. It is our understanding that South Fulton will file an application prior to February 1, 1959, for a Federal Construction Grant to assist with the construction of these works. We will not know until after February 1, 1959, if South Fulton will receive a grant from 1960 fiscal year funds because we will have application for more than twice the funds that Congress is expected to appropriate.

It is our understanding that the City of Fulton, Kentucky, has employed Hemco Engineers of Memphis, Tennessee, to prepare a report on sewerage needs for that city and to design sewage treatment works. We know that there has been discussions of separate sewage treatment plants as well as joint treatment works for the two cities. This will have to be decided before either consultant can start final design of treatment works. Do you know what Fulton, Kentucky, is planning?

We have been informed that Fulton, Kentucky, has let a contract for a new 12 inch sewer to serve the Ferry-Morse Seed Company and that this sewer will cross the State line and connect to the overloaded Fulton, Kentucky, Imhoff tank located in Tennessee. This, of course, is new interstate pollution and the discharge will be into Tennessee waters without a permit. Two copies each of the Tennessee Stream Pollution Act and Regulations are being furnished to you.

City Garbage Truck Badly Damaged By Fire

The Fulton City garbage truck, the big white truck, was badly damaged late Wednesday afternoon when the truck caught fire out at the city dump.

Garbage was being dumped when the truck got stuck in mud. Some of the garbage caught fire from the garbage dump and the truck caught from the burning garbage.

The back part of the truck, the bed and tires were damaged considerably, according to the Fulton Fire Department, which was called to put out the fire.

The garbage truck fire and a fire at a house on Anderson Street in Missionary Bottom caught fire about the same time and both fire trucks had to be called out. The house was not damaged badly.

Rules Bonds Be Adjudged Valid At Hearing Here

Circuit Judge Elvis Stahr ruled Saturday that the million dollars worth of industrial bonds, sold by the M. A. Saunders Co. of Memphis, for the construction of the Ferry-Morse Seed Company in Highlands, be adjudged valid, upon a motion by the defendants.

The Ferry-Morse Company, suit against the city of Fulton, M. A. Saunders Company, Memphis, and the Ferry-Morse Seed Company, Detroit, got underway in Fulton Circuit Court here Saturday morning.

The Kentucky Company, a Louisville firm, has filed suit against the three defendants for $150,000 in connection with the sale of industrial bonds issued by the city.

The city first contracted with the Louisville firm to sell the bonds, but claimed they were not sold before a deadline set by the city. The contract was then given to the Memphis company which completed sales of the bonds.

The Kentucky Company claims that it could have disposed of the bonds if it had been given more time, and asks judgment for its commission on the sales.

The City of Fulton has filed a counter-claim of $250,000 against the Kentucky Company. The city is seeking $100,000 actual damages and $150,000 punitive damages.

Other details of the suit will be gone over by the lawyers and another meeting date will be held in the future.

The suit of The Kentucky Company will probably come up at the January term of Circuit Court. This suit will be heard before a jury.

Two Local Girls Receive Writeup

Recently two local girls had a nice writeup in the Campbell, Mo. newspaper, "The Campbell Citizen". The girls are Peggy Downey of Fulton, Route 1, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Francis, and Mildred Greer of 501 West State Line, Fulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Greer.

The article follows:—Peggy and Mildred, who sing from 1:05 to 1:30 p. m. each Sunday over WFUL, Fulton, Ky. (1270 k.c.) have adopted the name of "The Kentucky Sweethearts" which was suggested by a Campbell man.

Earl Hammonds, local composer, suggested the title and announcement of the new name and its originator was made on the girls' program last Sunday. Peggy and Mildred sang four of Hammonds' numbers—"No Greater Love Was Ever Known," "The Death of Bobby Greenleaf," "I Am Ready Lord, When You Call My Name" and "They'll Rock and Roll In The Flames of Hell."

The sheet music of Hammonds' latest song, "The Death of Bobby Greenleaf," scheduled for publication in late December, will carry the picture of the Kentucky Sweethearts on the front cover.

KU Agrees To Discuss System Sale With Weakley County System

The Kentucky Utilities Company has agreed to discuss sale of its distribution system in South Fulton to Weakley County Municipal Electric System, a co-operative which buys and distributes Tennessee Valley Authority power.

M. M. Roberts, WCMES chairman said at Martin he received a letter from R. M. Watt, chairman of the KU board, Monday.

Watt said he would contact the cooperative within the next few days concerning negotiations for the sale.

South Fulton City Council recently granted a franchise for electric power to the Weakley County co-op. The KU franchise in South Fulton has expired.

After the franchise was granted, WCMES asked for meetings with KU officials to discuss the sale of facilities. Unless KU agrees to sell, officials of the co-op said it would proceed to build duplicate facilities for power distribution. A December 10 deadline was set on meetings leading toward price negotiations with KU.

Watt called the cooperative's action a "severe first step" in connection with property "of such importance as an electrical utility service to a community."

He said, however, that under Tennessee law there is "on alternative for the owner now serving the people than to agree to discuss negotiations" toward the sale.

Prior to granting the new franchise, the South Fulton council asked KU about selling out, and the company replied the property is not for sale. The same reply was given to an inquiry by Princeton, Ky.

Fulton Council Delays Action On KU Issue; Employees Get Raise

The Fulton City Council discussed a proposal to secure Tennessee Valley Authority power for the city Monday night, but took no action.

Mayor Nelson Tripp and Councilman Ward Johnson led the discussion in favor of TVA power. The city is now supplied by Kentucky Utilities Co.

Mr. Johnson asked City Attorney James Warren, "Can the City of Fulton get TVA?" Mr. Warren's answer was "Yes," although he pointed out that he couldn't say exactly how long or how much money it would take.

Mayor Tripp asked if the council wanted to appoint a committee to meet with the Nashville attorney, who is employed by South Fulton in its TVA efforts, but no action was taken. Councilman Orian Winstead said he was in favor of delaying any action on the TVA question until after the first of the year.

The council granted pay increases for hourly workers from 90 cents to $1 an hour upon a motion by Councilman John Earle. The council took no action on a plea by Chief of Police Rex Ruddle for a pay hike for patrolmen, who have not had a salary increase in at least seven years. Miss Martha Smith, city clerk, also pointed out that her clerk's monthly report.

There were several visitors present and one suggested that the walk in front of Davis Jewelry Store be fixed. This will be referred on to the property owner.

The council voted to plaster the men's rest room at the City Hall, and a discussion was held on the traffic problem on Church Street and the possibility of a parking lot behind the old Arkansas Jewelry Store building. The I. C. R. R. and the State Highway Department will go along with the city on this project, if it decides to do so, Mayor Tripp said.

Kentucky's Newest National Park: Cumberland Gap

America's newest national park is the 20,000-acre Cumberland Gap National Historical Park near Middlesboro, Ky.

Dedicated in September, 1955, the park extends into Virginia and Tennessee and is the largest historical park in the federal system.

Cumberland Gap, a natural passage through a mountain barrier, was discovered in 1750 by Dr. Thomas Walker, thereby opening Kentucky to Virginia colonizers.

Daniel Boone first passed through the gap in 1769 with five companions. He left in 1771 and sought to return in 1773 to settle his family in the state. But the party was attacked by Indians in Powell valley and Boone's son was killed. Boone returned in 1775 with 30 axemen and blazed Wilderners Road.

Besides the gap itself, the park contains about two miles of Wilderness Road; the Pinnacle, from which can be seen parts of several states; ruins of an early mill and foundry; Civil War fortifications installed by federal and Confederate troops; caves and geological features, and the tri-state peak where Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia meet.

The park encompasses a 20-mile segment of the Cumberland mountain wall split by the great pass. A winding road has been constructed on the backbone of this ridge.

Pinnacle Mountain on the southeast side of the pass rises to nearly 3,000 feet and has a sheer Gibraltar-like face of 1,400, overlooking the village of Cumberland Gap. On the crest are remains of Civil War trenches and gun emplacements. Carved in the stones are many inscriptions by pioneers and soldiers.

Mammoth Cave's Saltpetre Beds Helped Win War

Mammoth Cave played an important part in the War of 1812 as a source of saltpetre from which gunpowder was made.

England had placed a rigid embargo on all shipping to the United States. American forces thus suffered a severe shortage of gunpowder, because they were cut off from foreign supplies of saltpetre.

Mammoth Cave contained a large deposit of nitrous earth or "petre dirt," as it was called then. From this dirt saltpetre was extracted. Thousands and thousands of pounds were hauled from the cave across the country to Philadelphia by oxcart and pack-mule or to New Orleans by barge.

The precious ore did much to save the young republic during those perilous years.

The nitrates in the cave earth originated from two sources: water charged with nitrogen compounds which drained into the cave and from the nitrification of bat guano (manure).

The first step in the process of extracting saltpetre was dumping the nitrous earth into large leaching vats, where it was saturated with water brought into the cave through pipeline made of hollow logs.

The solution of nitrates leached from this earth drained into wooden troughs and then into a large trough by gravity. From this tank it flowed by gravity to the entrance of the cave through another wooden pipeline.

On the surface the nitrate solution was boiled and the concentrate was then run through hoppers filled with wood ashes. It was then boiled a second time and cooled in wooden troughs. The resulting product was saltpetre.

Cave earth contained about four pounds of nitrate a bushel. Cost of manufacture was about four cents a pound and its selling price was about 25 cents a pound.

Three Areas Are Best For Ducks

Hunters expecting to try their luck during Kentucky's waterfowl season—Nov. 7-Jan. 15—should look for ducks in these areas:

3. Drainage of the major rivers, such as the Kentucky and Green.

This advice comes from the Kentucky Division of Game, which is looking for a successful duck hunting season in the state, provided there is enough rainy weather.

Miss Nancy Lou Myatt Becomes Bride of Gerald M. Conn Nov. 27

Poyner's Chapel Methodist Church was the setting for the Thanksgiving Day ceremony during which Miss Nancy Lou Myatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Myatt, Wingo, route 1, became the bride of Gerald M. Conn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walker Conn, Fulton, route 1, on Thursday, November 27.

The church pastor, the Rev. B. A. Bowden, read the double ring ceremony at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Forming a focal point for the pledging of the vows was a wrought iron bridal arch entwined with Oregon fern and palms, mass arrangements of which also formed the background. A wedding bell was suspended in the center of the arch, which was offset by wrought iron candelabra holding lighted tapers and arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Roy Linder presented a program of nuptial music, which included the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Her floor-length gown of scalloped Chantilly lace and net over bridal satin was fashioned with a bouffant skirt poised over hoops. The bodice featured a small round collar and formed a point in front and back. Her tiered fingertip veil of bridal illusion fell from a queen's cap of complementing lace embroidered with seed pearls and sequins. She carried a purple orchid surrounded by white chrysanthemums.

Miss Patsy Sanford of Wingo was maid of honor. She wore a gown of blue net over taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums accented by white satin streamers.

Linda Carol Myatt, sister of the bride, was the flower girl. The bridegroom's brother, Mac Conn, was ring bearer. Miss Wanda Jean Myatt of Mayfield, cousin of the bride, lighted the candles. James Conn of Fulton attended his brother as best man. Ushers were another brother, Dick Conn of Fulton, and Charles Batts of Fulton.

The bride's mother chose a dress of permanently pleated arnel and nylon in peacock blue and accessories of black. A corsage of white carnations was pinned at her shoulder.

The bridegroom's mother was wearing a moss green dress of sheer wool, black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Gary Alexander, Mrs. Dick Conn, Miss Ruth Vaughn and Miss Maggie Conn. The bride's cousin, Miss Betty Lee Myatt, kept the guest register.

The bride's table, overlaid with a crocketed cloth over yellow, held a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple. White candles burned on either side.

For her travelling costume the bride chose a blue wool flannel dress and black accessories. The orchid from her bridal bouquet was pinned at her shoulder.

The couple is residing in the Wingo community.

The bride attended Murray State College after graduating from Wingo High School. She is presently employed by the law firm of Martin, Neely and Reed in Mayfield.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Fulham High School, is employed by the Illinois Central Railroad at Fulton.

Wade-Emison Wedding Solemnized

In a lovely morning ceremony, Miss Anita Joan Wade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wade of Fulton, became the bride of John Wayne Emison, Fulton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Emison of Bell, Tenn.

Friends and relatives attended the wedding at nine o'clock in the morning, Thursday, November 27 in the church parlor of the First Baptist Church. Rev. John D. Ladd, pastor, officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony. The vows were exchanged before the mantle, decorated with an arrangement of gladioli and fern with candles in brass candelabra.

Festus Robertson sang "I Love You Truly" and Mrs. L. C. Logan, organist, gave a rendition of nuptial music preceding the ceremony. The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

Miss Barbara Buchanan of Union City was the maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. She wore brocade taffeta shaded in turquoise fashioned along princess lines with bias bands, ending in self bows and featuring a low cut neckline. She wore a velvet head band and a corsage of white carnations.

Frederick Emison of Dyersburg, Tenn., attended his brother as best man. William Leon Wade, brother of the bride, served as an usher.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length dress of turquoise embroidered satin with flowing gores skirt and empire waist with cowl neckline. Her only ornament was a gold pin which had been worn by her paternal grandmother on her wedding day. She wore a matching satin hat and carried a white orchid with satin streamers on a white Bible.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Emison left for a short wedding trip after which they will make their home on Church street.

Out-of-town guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Emison, Bells, Tenn., Frederick Emison, Dyersburg, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Eads, Bloomington, Ind., Miss Molly Wiley, Nashville, Miss Barbara Buchanan, Union City, Michael Pottock, Philadelphia, Pa., Miss Betty Lou Davis, Mur-

VISITS KENTUCKY
In 1753 John Findley, a Pennsylvania trader, visited Kentucky to trade with the Shawnee Indians at their village, Eskippikthiki, in what is now Clark county.

New U-T Book First Full Story of Region Indians

A new book which tells the authentic and complete story of Indians of the vast Tennessee Valley region has just been published by the University of Tennessee Press at Knoxville. Written by two U-T archeologists and entitled "Tribes That Slumber," the book is a history of early man in the Western Hemisphere, tracing the rise and fall of Indian nations which inhabited the Middle South long before the days of the Roman Empire.

It is the first non-technical publication of its kind to give a complete account of the Indians of a widespread region such as the Tennessee Valley, encompassing Tennessee and its neighboring states.

The authors are T. M. N. Lewis and Madeline Kneberg, both of whom have been gathering facts for such a publication for more than 20 years. Liberally illustrated with 107 original drawings and paintings by Professor Kneberg and with 26 maps and photographs by Professor Lewis, the book is written in a language easily understood by the layman. The authors found their title in William Cullen Bryant's poem "Thanatopsis," which reads: "All that tread the globe are but a handful to the tribes that slumber in its bosom."

The book had its beginning in 1934 when Professor Lewis was appointed to the U-T staff with the assignment to rescue Indian remains that were buried in grounds destined to be flooded by TVA lakes. This undertaking proved to be one of the greatest mass archaeological projects in history. Professor Kneberg joined Professor Lewis in 1938, and the two have studied more than a hundred thousand artifacts which told them the story of these early peoples.

Pointing up the fact that the white settlers were the last in a long line of "invaders" to change existing Indian cultures in America, the authors state in their book that "very few, if any, areas of the world have shown continuous cultural evolution without the addition of new populations, as well as the borrowing of culture traits. At times the local populations were almost entirely replaced."

America's early story is one of Indian nations being overrun and absorbed by succeeding waves of immigrants from Asia who reached this country by crossing the narrow Bering Sea which separates Asia and Alaska.

Beginning with the coming of the first Indians from Asia at least 15,000 years ago during the last Ice Age, the authors have traced the rise and fall of each succeeding Indian culture in the region up to the Indians of today. The Cherokee, the Creek, the Shawnee, the Choctaw, and the Yuchi all play roles in this book. The rituals and ceremonies, the tools and weapons, the jewelry, ornaments and costumes, the games and dances, the varied ways of life of these prehistoric and later tribes are painted in word and picture for the reader of "Tribes That Slumber."

The 196-page cloth-bound book, bearing a colorful dust jacket, is available from the U-T Press. The price is $3.75.

Miss Mires Of Union City Tells Her Final Wedding Plans For Dec. 21

The First Baptist church in Union City will be the setting at 3 p. m. on Sunday, Dec. 21, for the wedding of Miss Janice Mires and Marvin Richard Phillips.

Miss Mires, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Mires of 709 North Fifth street, Union City, is announcing today final plans for her marriage. Mr. Phillips is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Denzie Phillips of Martin and formerly of Fulton.

The Rev. John Laid, pastor of the Fulton Baptist church, will perform the double ring ceremony and music will be presented by Mrs. J. D. Carlton, organist, and Miss Dianne Robinson, vocalist.

The attractive bride-elect, who will be given in marriage by her father, has chosen Miss Barbara Thornton as her honor attendant. Bridesmaids will be Mrs. Kenneth Fuzzell, Mrs. Jerry Patterson of Memphis, the former Miss Kaye Howard of Union City and Miss Patricia Rappoport of Nashville, cousin of the bride-elect.

Ann Marie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Smith, and Donna Ruth Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams, will serve as flower girls. They

U. which meets at 8:30 p. m. The B. T. U. is off to a good start, having been organized only four weeks ago now, with a fine attendance to the delight of the church and Pastor Hickerson.

Mr. J. T. Puckett returned from Clarksville, Tenn. and spent the weekend with his wife, Mrs. Puckett, and daughter, Paula, in Dukedom.

Mr. and Mrs. Rubel Thomas and son, Ricky, moved the past week to the Grover True farm, only a short distance from where they have resided on the Ben Westbrook place, the past few years.

Becky Lynn, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mathis, is suffering from a deep cold and was housed in for a few days the past week.

There is plenty of evidence that foxes are still at large around here, for over at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grover True, a nice, big, fat, hen was over-taken and killed the past week. Her head was mostly eaten off when found, by the True family. It was a few years ago that this writer reported that foxes den, and raise their young, only a few miles east from this village in the Tamlin hills, Sand Hill Spring area. They roam around in daytime and slaughter by night.

Miss Margaret Bynum, fell victim to a very sore throat and seige of cold. She has been indisposed for several days.

Neighbors and friends of Mr. Norman Harris gathered in, striped and classed Mr. Harris' tobacco crop a few days ago, since he remains under some treatment for complication that developed several weeks ago. These same friends of Mr. Harris gathered his corn crop several weeks ago, and it's a fine Christian act to have helped the sick man and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Cunningham and children, Steve and Beth, of Bowling Green, Ky. spent the past week-end with relatives and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Cunningham.

Family Loses All In Fire

A house occupied by Omer Morris and his family, on the farm of Mrs. Lee Ella Jonakin on the McConnell road near Harris Station, was destroyed by fire recently.

The Obion County chapter of the American Red Cross said today that the Morris family lost everything in the fire. Mrs. Morris and her five children were routed from their beds in the cold early morning by Mr. Morris, who was awakened by the smoke and flame. They escaped in only their nightclothes. No one was injured.

"There was no insurance at all," the Red Cross reported.

"This family needs everything," the office declared. "But, right now, they need bedclothing and furniture worst of all, something to allow them to set up house-keeping again."

The family is presently staying with a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Robert L. Stroud of the Pleasant Valley road. Mr. Morris is a farmer.

The family, besides Mr. and Mrs. Morris, consists of five boys, aged 21, 17, 13 and 9, and a girl, aged 6.

People who have things they wish to donate are asked to contact the local chapter of the American Red Cross. The telephone number is Turner 5-5113, Union City.

BETTER FEEDS FOR BETTER FOODS

here's proof!

Clyde Treese, Leapwood, Tennessee, says:

"Last year was my first year following the Dixie Cattle Feeding Program with my brood herd. They have come through the winter in the best of condition and that was one of the hardest winters we have ever had. My calf crop was excellent this spring, and the cows didn't have any trouble with birth. The Dixie Cattle Feeding Program was less costly than the cottonseed meal program I had been feeding. I would recommend the Dixie Cattle Feeding Program to any cattleman interested in a better year-round herd and higher profits."

lations are enclosed for your information.

Mr. James B. Eilers of Hemco Engineers who has been employed by Fulton, Kentucky, has submitted plans on this new 12-inch sewer to the Division of Sanitary Engineering, Tennessee Department of Public Health and I believe that either you or Mr. Ralph C. Pickard have also received these plans.

The Department engineers are reviewing these plans but we will not approve the part in Tennessee until we hear from you and until we receive a commitment from Fulton, Kentucky, through you as to its schedule to provide adequate treatment. I believe it is important that the approvals be correlated since the approval for discharge will have to be by Tennessee.

We believe that a meeting should be called in Fulton, Kentucky, with its city officials and your Department and our Department present. Since the decision of joint or separate plants will involve South Fulton, Tennessee, I suggest that Mayor Milton Counce of South Fulton, Tennessee, be invited to this meeting. The meeting should be called soon. We can meet at almost any time.

For the Chairman.
Yours very truly,
S. Leary Jones, Director

4-H CLUB MEETS

The Fulton 4-H Club met Wednesday afternoon at 12:45 at the farm building at the Fulton High School. Slides were shown of 4-H camp and of 4-H Club work. Plans for the projects during the year were planned and discussed.

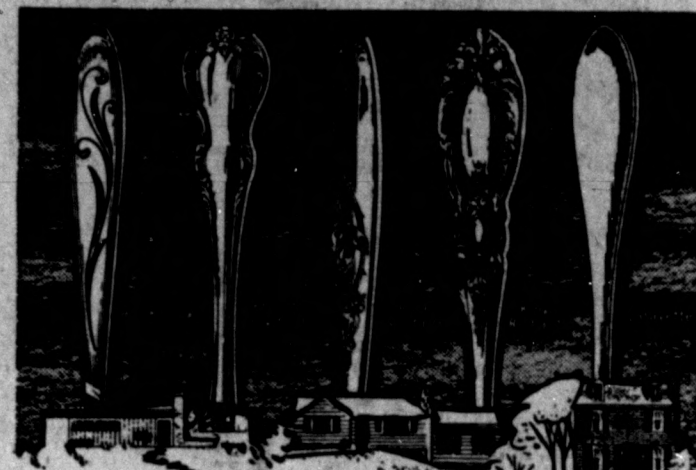

FULTON COUNCIL—

This project was turned over to Councilman Johnson.

The parking problem on East State Line near McDowell Street was discussed and Councilman Winstead was asked to get the "safety man" of the Highway Department to come down and investigate the matter as to whether a stop light would solve the problem.

Mayor Tripp suggested that the hall of the City Hall building be remodeled—a new floor, the ceiling dropped and a new paint job—and the council members were in favor of this, but no action will be taken until after the first of the year. Cost of the project will be between $900 and $1,000. The work on the remodeling of the Police Station will come to approximately $800, Mayor Tripp said.

The meeting was adjourned to meet sometime between now and Christmas.

The World Is Getting Warmer: Changing Nature And Man's Life

Over the last 40 or 50 years the earth has been getting warmer, the National Geographic Society reports.

The change is gradual and there have been short-term reverses, but science has proved grandfather correct: Today's winters are not as cold as those he knew as a boy.

Warmer weather has both advantages and disadvantages.

A New Yorker who awakes to the liquid cadences of the mocking-bird, once the avian symbol of the south, or the Canadian wheat grower who finds farming possible 50 miles north of the former limit may be delighted.

Hurts Clammers, Skiers

A different view may be taken by a New England waterman who finds tropical green crabs threatening his clam beds, or the skier who is forced to go father and higher to find snow.

All forms of wildlife have been affected: Turkey vultures soar in western Massachusetts, where they were not seen 15 years ago. White egrets stalk the Middle Atlantic marshes. In South Dakota and Minnesota, the cardinal flashes at ever more northerly points.

Reports indicate that the moose and the polar bear, as well as the common opossum, are finding haunts well north of their former ranges.

Ocean dwellers are changing their feeding grounds. Warm-water fish have been moving up the California coast. Dolphin were taken last year as far north as Oregon.

Weather patterns have been disrupted. Last year, for the first time in history, a hurricane struck Hawaii. At Point Barrow, the northern-most part of Alaska, the ice went out earlier in 1937 than ever before.

Changes have also taken place on the Atlantic. The life of the Greenland Eskimo has been revolutionized. When seals were plentiful, the Eskimos were self-sufficient. Seals provided meat, skins for clothing and shelter, and oil for lamps.

When summer weather drove the seals north, the economy was wrecked. But codfish moved north, too, and became plentiful near Greenland. The Eskimos turned to fishing, which offered income, but not all the uses of the seals. They were forced to convert to a money-based economy.

Ice Melts, Oceans Rise

As the world's icecaps melt and glaciers become smaller, more water is released to the oceans. The sea level has been rising an eighth of an inch a year. If it continues, some coastal cities eventually may have to build dikes.

Climatologists differ on the cause of the warming. Some see the change as part of the Ice Age cycle, with the ice retreating as it has several times before.

Possibly, climatologists hold, gradual clearing from the atmosphere of the dust thrown up by huge volcanic eruptions of the past, such as Krakatau (1883) and Katmai (1912), has allowed more of the sun's heat to strike the earth. Other theories tie the change to sunspot cycles, or to an increase in carbon dioxide in the air caused by man's burning of fuels.

Will the trend continue? Again there is dispute. Some scientists forecast a century of warmer weather. Others, noting increases in the size of certain glaciers, believe the cycle may have reached

James Clark Was Governor In 1836

James Clark, governor from 1836 to his death in 1839, was, undoubtedly, in his day, "the best known man in Kentucky after Henry Clay." His busy public career as legislator, congressman, judge, and governor extended from 1807 to 1839.

He was born in 1779 in Bedford County, Virginia, son of Robert and Susan Clark. The family emigrated to a farm in Clark County when James was a boy, and there he received his general education from Dr. Blythe, who later gained a reputation as a professor at Transylvania College. Young James was sent back to Virginia, however, to study law.

He was admitted to the bar in Winchester in 1797 and soon turned to a political career. He served in the State House of Representatives from 1807 to 1809, on the Court of Appeals from 1810 to 1812, and in the United States House from 1813 to 1816.

His tenure as a circuit court judge from 1817 to 1824 first brought him State and even national prominence. The Replevin Law of 1820, designed to delay payment of private debts up to two years, was given a test in Judge Clark's court in Bourbon County. He ruled, in a very able opinion, that the obligation of contracts as based on the United States and Kentucky constitutions were on trial; and, therefore, the plaintiff must receive payments from the defendant without delay.

This was a courageous act because Kentucky was in the throes of a serious depression and it was unpopular to oppose the platform of the "Relief Party." The Kentucky Legislature attempted but failed to muster the two-thirds vote necessary to remove Judge its warmest point, and is about to reverse itself.

Clark from office; although the vote was close at 59-35. After resigning in 1824 as circuit judge, Clark served in the United States House (1825-31) and the State Senate (1832-36).

In 1836 he was elected governor on the Whig ticket but died September 27, 1839, before completion of his term. He was buried

Mormon Elders Working Here

Two Elders, representing the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon), are in Fulton at the present time doing missionary work for the church. They are two out of between five and six thousand full-time missionaries throughout the world representing the church. The church has a very unique missionary system, where many of the young men and young ladies go out in the world leaving their homes for two to three years doing missionary work on their own expense and time, although they are not compelled to do the missionary work.

They acquaint the world with the teaching of the church. They go door to door and meet with all the people possible. They don't wish to sell anything or solicit but to have a Christian hearing, with the people. Since the whole family is not at home when they call by they like to make appointments when they can call back and talk with as many members of the family as possible. They don't come to argue deligion but to share truth with the people, in which they feel they do have.

(The two Elders are Carvel Shaffer and Dee Hymas.)

Paducah Asks KU Meeting

Paducah—The Board of Commissioners last week requested a meeting with officials of Kentucky Utilities Company to assist them in making a decision concerning the proposed acquisition of a municipal electric distribution system for Paducah.

In a letter to R. M. Watt, chairman of the KU board of directors, the city officials said there is widespread sentiment for the proposed acquisition and they would like to discuss the proposition with KU officials to determine "the degree of cooperation which we might expect from the Kentucky Utilities Company."

The board asked that the proposed meeting be held at the earliest date which meets the company's convenience.

"If you will advise this board or the city manager of your convenience as to time and place of meeting, the necessary arrangements for our attendance will be made," the letter stated.

The city board is studying "various possibilities for acquiring a municipal electric distribution system," the letter began.

"This is a matter in which the whole community is interested and we believe there is widespread sentiment for such action. Before reaching any final decision we should like the opportunity, at an early date as will meet your convenience, of discussing with you the degree of cooperation which we might expect from the Kentucky Utilities Company," it continued.

The letter, written earlier, was signed following a conference of the board with Joseph C. Swidler, utilities expert and attorney of Nashville, Tenn., who was employed recently to investigate the city's rights under provisions of its electric franchise.

Tilghman Drubs Fulton 76-41

Tilghman jumper into an early lead and coasted to a 76-41 win over Fulton City at Paducah Saturday night.

The Tornado used a well-balanced scoring attack and its big height advantage to overpower the Fulton City team.

The Big Blue jumped into a 10-point lead in the first period and continued to up the advantage against the cold shooting Fulton City quintet.

Substitute Bill Ragland was the offensive spark for the Tornado for the second straight night.

Ragland, who banged in 17 points in the season opener against Fulton County Friday night, came off the bench at the start of the second period to-night and amassed 16 points during the next two periods.

The southpaw shooting Ragland hit on eight of 10 shots from the field.

Four other Tilghman cagers hit in double figures. Craig Stubblefield got 14 points and John Mutchler added 13. S. W. Stamper tabbed 11 and Dickie Denton 10 to round out the double figures scores.

Charlie Forrest set the offensive pace for Fulton City with 17 points.

Tilghman led by 10 in the first period, held a 16-point gap at halftime and finally increased the margin to 40 points late in the game.

The Tornado shot out front at 6-1 and led 18-8 at the first quarter horn. The Tornado quickly ran its lead to 16 points, 24-8, early in the second period and led 38-23 at the half.

Tilghman poured in six straight points at the start of the second half for a 4-23 lead with 5:40 left in the period. Fulton City did not get a field goal in the third quarter until 4:16 had elapsed. Tilghman led by 22 points, 50-27, at the 15:55 mark and held a 63-31 third quarter margin.

Coach Otis Dinning filled his lineup with substitutes early in the fourth period, but they continued to pile up the points. The Tornado's biggest lead was 42 points, 76-36.

It was the second straight win for Tilghman. The loss leaves Fulton City with a 1-1 mark.

News Around Fulton High School

By Judy Harrison

(Last Week)

I do hope you will forgive me for not filling my column last week, but with Thanksgiving vacation coming on, I tried to force in as much studying as possible so that I could enjoy my vacation.

I know most of you were shocked to see our big snow last week. What a pity it couldn't have waited one more month, but you can never tell about the weather and what it will bring.

There are quite a few interesting events that go on up at high school, but I can hardly begin to include all of them.

First of all, I'd like to mention the fact that the Juniors are really looking forward to receiving their class rings in February or March. Most of us have chosen the ring we liked and I'd like to urge the rest of you to do so before this week is over. Mr. Andrews would like to have all the orders in as soon as possible, so that we may have them back in only a short time.

Most of the students chose the original blue set that has been worn for the past few years, but should you see the ring I'll be wearing, don't mention the fact that I wanted to be different. It's only because I fell in love with the white pearl set above all the rest.

From the basketball schedule—I have just glanced at—it looks as if our first big game was on Tuesday night with the Wingo Indians. Our next big game will be played Friday night, Dec. 6, with Tilghman. A big crowd is expected at this game and we hope you will go and help back our boys up.

You probably know by now, that our well known Charlie Forrest, who has played as forward every since I can remember, has been placed as guard this year. Charlie, we wish you a lot of luck in this new change and to Coach Thomas and the rest of the team, may you have all the luck in the world and may we have a complete all-over victory and go to State.

Last Wednesday morning everyone was admiring each other to extremes. Yes, we received our pictures and I might add, that all of those that I have seen are pretty good.

When Miss Jewell asked me to write a column for the Fulton News, I was astonished. Me? Write a column for everyone to read. Never! Well, here I have written many and have thoroughly enjoyed it. You may ask me if I'll miss writing after school is out. Yes, I'll miss it very much, but I hope that I may have the chance to write more stories when summer comes. I love to write and explore nature. I love people and love to view them from day to day, sympathize with them and rejoice when they are glad. I enjoy making friends and helping those who need help. Above all things, I am proud that I can say, "God gave me a talent to love people and to help them and bear their heartaches and fears."

Now, if you will excuse me, I must begin studying, so until next week, I hope you will love those who do you harm. God bless, keep and guide you.

South Fulton Schools
Dismissal December 19th

South Fulton schools will be dismissed for the Christmas holidays at 10 o'clock Friday morning, Dec. 19 and classes will be resumed on Dec. 20.

CHRISTY GLADE

LAST WEEK

The two boys ball teams which played the Hickman, Ky. teams at Hickman last Wednesday night lost both games to the very strong Hickman teams.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitver and children from Nashville spent the Thanksgiving holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Rogers and Bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilma Jones, Mrs. Jessie Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Terrel and Melody were holiday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Durell Terrell.

Several from this community attended the Beagle field trials near Hynsver Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday despite the disagreeable weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Grissom have moved from the David Nanney farm to the Herman Matheny farm recently vacated by the Bernard Clark family who moved to Fulton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McKnight and Louellen and Mrs. Lucy Gibbs in Knoxville during the holidays.

Several in the community are butchering their porkers this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Toons and children from Chicago spent last weekend with homefolks.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weatherford and daughters visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vaughan Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Flippin who purchased the Ed Thomas farm are moving this week.

Mrs. Floie Taylor is visiting her daughter Jean Kathryn and family in Nashville.

Guayon Brundige from Louisville has been spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Brundige and taking advantage of the hunting season.

Work began on the building of the new church building at Sandy Branch on Monday of this week, after the old building was torn away last week. The congregation will meet at the New Hope Methodist Church building until the New Church is completed.

NO KY. COUNCIL MEET

The Fulton City Council meeting was postponed last Monday, until next Monday night, due to the absence of James Warren, City Attorney.

Brother Of Local Man Is Honored

The man who organized the Obion County Flying club in 1942 was honored as the club's "Man of the Year" on Tuesday night of last week at a dinner meeting held at the Tom Stewart airport near Union City.

Following a duck dinner, David G. Caldwell was presented an engraved trophy by D. W. James, the club's "Man of the Year" in 1957. The trophy was inscribed "Obion County Flying Club. Man of the Year Award To David G. Caldwell 1958."

Mr. Caldwell is a brother of Harvey Caldwell, Fulton businessman.

Grace Moore Contest Seeks Vocal Talent

Young Tennessee singers now may enter the 10th annual Grace Moore Scholarship Contest, which this year offers two awards for vocal study at the University of Tennessee.

For the second year, two scholarships valued at a total of more than $1,000 will be awarded to Tennessee high school graduates with exceptional singing talent. In addition to the Grace Moore Scholarship award of $524, a second scholarship worth $225 will be given. The latter scholarship may be awarded to a contest finalist, a voice student already enrolled at U-T, or it may go to some other deserving, qualified Tennessee high school graduate between the ages of 17 and 22.

Arthur Schoep of the U-T fine arts department faculty and this year's contest manager, said the deadline for applying for the scholarships is Jan. 31, 1959. Mr. Schoep, a leader in the operatic field, is the new U-T Opera Workshop director, and a member of the Opera Department faculty of the Berkshire Music Center at Tanglewood, Mass.

Anachronistic Fee System Gives Many Local Officials $30,000-$40,000 A Year

The anachronistic practice of paying local officials by fee instead of salary has created a gravy train which stretches from coast to coast, says an article in the October Reader's Digest.

In the article, "A National Scandal—the Fee System," Lawrence Lader points out that once a year, the tax collector for tiny Franklin borough, Pa., (population: 1800) strolls into the Bethlehem Steel Co. plant to pick up his tax check. That walk nets him close to $14,000. Lader terms Pennsylvania "the nation's outstanding fee paradise."

The manager of an auto-license branch office in Fort Wayne, Ind., grossed $101,482 last year from license and registration fees. The sheriff of Coahoma County, Miss., listed a net income of $26,868. The probate judge of Hartford, Conn., netted $42,058 last year—which gave him an income larger than the Chief Justice of the United States. And one justice of the peace in Las Vegas, Nev., cleared $40,000 a year performing marriages.

Perhaps the cruelest application of the fee system, Lader writes, is in the payment of fees to sheriffs for feeding prisoners. At least half of our states still do this, despite campaigns against it by the American Prison Association and U. S. Bureau of Prisons.

The sheriff usually gets a daily fee of $1 to $2 per prisoner. In addition, the sheriff usually receives a "key fee"; 50 cents to $1 for admitting each prisoner, and the same amount for releasing him again. This encourages a continuous roundup of vagrants and any other easy prey, regularly

New Survey Sheet To Be Forwarded

Are you planning to build, remodel, or modify a "public building?" If so, after January 1, 1959, you will fill out a new survey sheet to be forwarded by your County Health Department to the Division of Plumbing, State Department of Health.

"Public buildings" are buildings intended for public use or built with public funds and include schools, industrial establishments, housing projects, restaurants, food handling establishments, private clubs, theaters (including drive-ins), trailer court parks, camping areas, hospitals, nursing homes, hotels, motels, tourist courts, rooming houses, boarding houses, and other establishments furnishing public sleeping accommodations. The installation and operation of all plumbing in public buildings must comply with the State Plumbing Code.

New information required on the survey sheet concerns products handled or manufactured, number of employees and customers, distance from water source to possible source of contamination, waste products expected and possible amount per day, and percolation test results. Other information requested includes name and address of owner; name, type, and location of establishment; source and treatment of water supply; volume of water to be used monthly, and sewage disposal methods.

HERE'S WHY SMART ADVERTISERS TAKE TO THE AIR

On the football field, nothing gains so much ground so fast as a smooth-working aerial offensive.

On the far bigger field of today's retailing—whether local, regional or national—the direct route to selling that scores is also via the air. Well-aimed Radio campaigns are carrying more and more advertisers' messages over the competition's line, into profitable backfields where sales are made.

The renaissance of Radio in the face of dour prophecies from the sidelines is a matter of record. Last year, Radio scored a gain of approximately 10% in dollar volume—proportionately more than any other major medium—and also upped its share of total advertising appropriations by over 5%. In short, the once-mourned ghost has never been so solid and substantial as it is today.

If you haven't lately examined the bulging dimensions of the Radio medium at the kick-off of its 1958-59 season, the following facts belong in your program:

- 48,900,000 U. S. homes have one or more Radio sets—representing almost 97% national coverage.
- Last year, 15,427,738 more sets were sold to an estimated 30.6% of all U. S. families.
- 1957 was Radio's biggest year yet, with $622,500,000 of advertisers' money invested in this medium.
- during the first half of 1958, 85.4% of the top 100 advertisers (excluding liquor) used Radio—and more than 1,300 national and regional brands were being sold by Radio.
- 37,200,000 automobiles now have Radio receivers.

Senator Byrd Warns Balanced Budget Necessary To Avoid Ruinous Inflation

If inflation is to be stopped, the federal budget must be balanced, warns Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia in an October Reader's Digest article titled, "Can We Escape a Ruinous Inflation?"

"The most important step we must take," writes Senator Byrd, "if we wish to halt inflation, is to balance the federal budget and assure our people that it will stay balanced."

"The menace of a disastrous inflation is real. All the pressure groups and special interests that campaign for more and more federal spending are helping to bring it on."

Senator Byrd's suggestions for economy include:

Eliminate "mere pump-priming public works . . . they never work as their proponents promise."

Stop launching new spending programs and state-aid programs generally. Try to halt expansion of established programs.

Eliminate foreign economic aid and "develop a definite tapering-off program for much of our military aid."

Review defense spending constantly for efficiency and to eliminate "outmoded programs and obsolete weapons."

"I believe there is hardly an agency of the government," says Senator Byrd, "that cannot reduce its administrative or so-called overhead expenditures by five or ten percent and still function effectively. This is a broad and fertile field for reduction. We still have 2.4 million regular federal employees."

Plastics are the number two raw material used in the manufacture of telephone equipment. Only about 10% goes into Bell telephone instruments. The rest is used in other equipment—from cable insulation to relay housings.

Chiselers, Giveaway Juries, Share Blame For Skyrocketing Auto Insurance Rates

Insurance rates are soaring so high that many drivers in New York, Chicago and San Francisco now pay more for insurance than gasoline, says the October Reader's Digest; and we can expect the rates to continue zooming until there's a crackdown on profiteering in accident claims.

In the article, "Why Your Car Insurance Costs So Much," Richard Dunlop says accident policy rates are boosted by situations like these:

In many cities, including Toledo and Philadelphia, tow trucks cruise with radios tuned to the police frequency, and race to accidents. In Columbus, O., a doctor cruises with a police radio. He not only treats accident victims, but also makes color photographs—the gorier the better—to get evidence for his friend, a lawyer.

Chicago has a team of "experts," also on the prowl. They collect testimony and pictures, which they sell to the highest-bidding lawyer.

A Bridgeport, Conn., lawyer's father owns a garage. When a car is brought in for repairs, he suggests that someone could have been hurt in that accident, and they fight collect plenty—if they contact his son.

Shenanigans like this are profitable, Dunlop says, because of the incredible soft-heartedness of juries. In Texas, a woman who merely saw an accident collected $90,000 because, she said, the shock caused a miscarriage—despite the word of two obstetricians that the idea was absurd. In Massachusetts, every year between 1951 and 1956, thousands more personal injury claims were filed than were reported to the Motor Vehicles Registry.

Butte, Mont., which once had one of the highest rates in the nation, has shown how to bring them down. Accident racketeers were prosecuted and chased out of town. Drunken and reckless drivers were hit by heavy fines. Second offenders went to jail. A safety council was set up to work with city officials. As a result: Butte's passenger car rate in 1956 was $117. Today it is $35.

The article is condensed from Traffic Safety, published by the National Safety Council.

Waterfield Headquarters Opens

The Waterfield-for-Governor campaign headquarters opened in the Watterson Hotel at Louisville, December 1, with Laban P. Jackson in charge.

Jackson, who has been State Commissioner of Conservation since December, 1955, is taking a leave of absence to become chairman of the campaign organization committee.

Waterfield and Leary said Jackson's acceptance of the position was particularly significant because the Conservation Commissioner "is putting aside his own political plans" in order to help Waterfield campaign for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Jackson had seriously considered seeking the nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

Teen-age Code Of Ethics Proposed

The Minnesota Teen-Age Code is a set of guiding principles developed to help achieve co-operation among parents and students for a sage and acceptable program of social activities for young people. It is estimated that over 600 young people and 300 adults helped to prepare this code.

The code is intended to be a basis for determining acceptable conduct regarding: (1) parties; (2) use of the car; (3) suitable hours; (4) appropriate dress; (5) the problems of party crashing; (6) proper respect for the rights of others; (7) smoking by teen-agers; (8) drinking of alcoholic beverages; (9) general dating.

band and the Glee club.

Miss Wiley attended the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, where she was a member of the U-T Singers and the Madrigal Singers, and UTMB. She is now attending Murray State college.

Grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Meek of Union City and Mr. and Mrs. George Winter Sr. of Fulton, the bridegroom-elect was graduated from Rives High school where he was a member of the basketball team. He attended UTMB for two years and is now a senior at U-T Knoxville, where he is majoring in geology.

Many parents need strength to combat the pressure exerted by the plea of their young people that "Everybody does it." Also, teen-agers need the protection from adults who impose unreasonable standards. By setting up desirable and acceptable standards of behavior, problems can be avoided later.

If Fulton High School students, faculty, and parents propose to adopt a Teen-Age Code, it will be written according to our needs.

Anachronistic Fee System Gives Many Local Officials $30,000-$40,000 A Year

The anachronistic practice of paying local officials by fee instead of salary has created a gray train which stretches from coast to coast, says an article in the October Reader's Digest.

In the article, "A National Scandal—The Fee System," Lawrence Lader points out that once a year, the tax collector for tiny Franklin borough, Pa., (population: 1800) strolls into the Bethlehem Steel Co. plant to pick up its tax check. Perhaps the cruelest application of the fee system, Lader writes, is in the payment of fees to sheriffs for feeding prisoners. At least half of our states still do this, despite campaigns against it by the American Prison Association and U. S. Bureau of Prisons.

The sheriff usually gets a daily fee of $1 to $2 per prisoner. In addition, the sheriff usually receives a "key fee"; 50 cents to $1 for admitting each prisoner, and the same amount for releasing him again. This encourages a continuous roundup of vagrants and any other easy prey, regularly

Insurance rates are soaring so high that many drivers in New York, Chicago and San Francisco now pay more for insurance than gasoline, says the October Reader's Digest; and we can expect the rates to continue zooming until there's a crackdown on profiteering in accident claims.

In the article, "Why Your Car Insurance Costs So Much," Richard Dunlop says accident policy rates are boosted by situations like these:

In many cities, including Toledo and Philadelphia, tow trucks cruise with radios tuned to the police frequency, and race to accidents. In Columbus, O., a doctor cruises with a police radio. He not only treats accident victims, but also makes color photographs—the gorier the better—to get evidence for his friend, a lawyer.

Chicago has a team of "experts" also on the prowl. They collect testimony and pictures, which they sell to the highest-bidding lawyer.

A Bridgeport, Conn., lawyer's father owns a garage. When a car is brought in for repairs, he suggests that someone could have been hurt in that accident, and they fight collect plenty—if they contact his son.

Shenanigans like this are profitable, Dunlop says, because of the incredible soft-heartedness of juries. In Texas, a woman who merely saw an accident collected $90,000 because, she said, the shock caused a miscarriage—despite the word of two obstetricians that the idea was absurd. In Massachusetts, every year between 1951 and 1956, thousands more personal injury claims were filed than were reported to the Motor Vehicles Registry.

Butte, Mont., which once had one of the highest rates in the nation, has shown how to bring them down. Accident racketeers were prosecuted and chased out of town. Drunken and reckless drivers were hit by heavy fines. Second offenders went to jail. A safety council was set up to work with city officials. As a result: Butte's passenger car rate in 1956 was $117. Today it is $35.

The article is condensed from Traffic Safety, published by the National Safety Council.

Waterfield Headquarters Opens

The Waterfield-for-Governor campaign headquarters opened in the Watterson Hotel at Louisville, December 1, with Laban P. Jackson in charge.

Jackson, who has been State Commissioner of Conservation since December, 1955, is taking a leave of absence to become chairman of the campaign organization committee.

Waterfield and Leary said Jackson's acceptance of the position was particularly significant because the Conservation Commissioner "is putting aside his own political plans" in order to help Waterfield campaign for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Jackson had seriously considered seeking the nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

A January wedding is being planned.

Teen-age Code Of Ethics Proposed

The Minnesota Teen-Age Code is a set of guiding principles developed to help achieve co-operation among parents and students for a sage and acceptable program of social activities for young people. It is estimated that over 600 young people and 300 adults helped to prepare this code.

The code is intended to be a basis for determining acceptable conduct regarding: (1) parties; (2) use of the car; (3) suitable hours; (4) appropriate dress; (5) the problems of party crashing; (6) proper respect for the rights of others; (7) smoking by teen-agers; (8) drinking of alcoholic beverages; (9) general dating.

band and the Glee club. Miss Wiley attended the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, where she was a member of the U-T Singers and the Madrigal Singers, and UTMB. She is now attending Murray State college.

Grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Meek of Union City and Mr. and Mrs. George Winter Sr. of Fulton, the bridegroom-elect was graduated from Rives High school where he was a member of the basketball team. He attended UTMB for two years and is now a senior at U-T Knoxville, where he is majoring in geology.

Many parents need strength to combat the pressure exerted by the plea of their young people that "Everybody does it." Also, teen-agers need the protection from adults who impose unreasonable standards. By setting up desirable and acceptable standards of behavior, problems can be avoided later.

If Fulton High School students, faculty, and parents propose to adopt a Teen-Age Code, it will be written according to our needs.

79,316 Kentucky Veterans Will Receive $3,872,300 In Annual Policy Dividends

An estimated 79,316 Kentucky veterans who hold participating GI life insurance will receive $3,872,300 in regular annual policy dividends during 1959, J. G. Ratliff, Acting Manager of the Veterans Administration regional office in Louisville announced today.

Ratliff said this represents Kentucky GI policyholders' proportionate share in a national 1959 dividend total of $256,000,000 declared recently for participating GI insurance.

He explained that the dividends are primarily a refund to policyholders of part of their premium payments, and are made possible because the death rate among GI policyholders continues to be

Farm Electricity Important

In most cases where farmers are using electric power, they are not getting the most out of correct and improved usage. We have been using a heat lamp for baby chicks many years and even before that stoves were used in cold weather to give needed heat to the young birds. Now let's think a little and see just where we can improve farm profits for 1959 with an expanded program electrically.

The most important enterprise to this area for the coming year is dairying. We use electricity to cool milk and operate the milkers, so let's see how we could use power for profit. There is a direct correlation between the amount of milk a cow will give and the amount of water she drinks during a 24 hour period. In order to qualify this a little farther, milk with a 4% fat test is 87% water, so a cow giving 5 gallons of milk daily will have to drink enough water to maintain her body and produce this amount of milk. Selfish as they may seem, ole bosses will take care of her requirements first, leaving the dairyman with an empty milk bucket. Water temperature is the answer. During the cold winter months water should be protected from the cold or heated to about 40 degrees. That is to get top production from your herd. If you want a cow to fail in milk, just let the pond freeze and do not cut the ice or supplement her water. A cow will drink enough extremely cold water to partially satisfy her thirst and will not drink her fill.

Joe Hartsfield near Sedalia has a heating element in his water tank that kept the water from freezing all last winter as well as this cold snap. This element cost about $35.00 and will heat a 150 gallon tank to about 40 to 48 degrees in very cold weather. The heaters are designed to last many years and could easily save their worth in added production each week. In purchasing a water heating element here are a few facts to keep in mind. First make sure the unit is large enough to heat your tank, next, see that it is well insulated and water proof. Be sure the construction is sturdy for years of service. Economy is not too important when buying a water heater.

If you are having production troubles during these cold winter days, why not try a water heater and let power bring more profit.

lower than the tables upon which the premiums were established by law.

Policyholders are requested NOT to make dividend inquiries in advance, since this would delay processing time, Ratliff stressed.

A breakdown of Kentucky GI policyholders' proportionate share in the 1959 dividend declarations shows that 75,240 veterans holding participating policies in National Service Life Insurance (NSLI), which originated during World War II, will receive $3,572,000 in dividends.

The other group, 4,076 veterans holding participating policies in U. S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI), which originated during World War I, will receive $300,300 in dividends.

Dividends will be paid as soon as possible after the anniversary date of each policy during 1959. For example, if a policy was issued any September 1, the anniversary date will be September 1, 1959, Ratliff pointed out.

He added that dividends will be paid to holders of both term and permanent plan participating NSLI and USGLI policies.

Colored Funeral Home Damaged By Two Fires

The F. M. Vanderford Funeral Home (colored) on Roach Street in South Fulton was badly damaged by two fires Sunday evening.

The first fire, started from an overheated stove in the front hall, at 5:30 p. m., did much damage to a portion of the downstairs, the ceiling and attic.

There was also considerable water damage to the house and contents, including several caskets.

The South Fulton Fire Department was called to put out the fire. The fire truck was again called out to the funeral home at 10:15, when a fire broke out in a rubbish pile upstairs in the center of the house, according to Fire Chief Neil Clinard.

Vanderford is carrying on his business in a house of his located next door to the damaged funeral home.

The South Fulton Fire Department was called out to two grass fires Saturday. One was at the home of M. M. Matlock on Smith Street and the other at the home of A. R. Stephens on Collinwood.

To Consider Easement For Power Lines

A special session of Obion county court has been called for Thursday, December 11 to consider the granting of a non-exclusive franchise to a Martin electric company which has signed a contract to supply power to South Fulton.

The South Fulton City Council and five county magistrates requested County Judge Dan McKinnis to call the session. It will begin at 1:30 p. m.

The Weakley County Municipal Electric system, located at Martin, was granted the franchise last week when it met with members of the South Fulton City Council. South Fulton has been negotiating with the power company for a number of weeks in an attempt to get TVA power.

The Martin company needs this franchise or easement before it can begin stringing power lines.

The sole purpose of the meeting will be the consideration of the granting to the Weakley County non-exclusive easement or franchise rights along and over the public roads in the 16th Civil district of Obion county.

If the court grants the easement, the Weakley county company can then begin installing its power lines from that point now served by the company, nearest to South Fulton, on into South Fulton. The easement is necessary before the lines can be placed through an area not served by the Martin company.

Fort Campbell Paratrooper Leads Most Exciting Life

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky.—Equally at home sky-diving 8000 feet above the ground, or chasing a shark 90 feet below the surface of the ocean, describes the colorful life of SFC James Shoenut of Troop B, 17th Airborne Cavalry (Recon Platoon) 101st Airborne Division.

Born in Emmitville, Tenn., where he attended Johnson Chapel school, Sgt. Shoenut's escapades read like something from an adventure novel.

At 16 Sgt. Shoenut went to Dearborn, Mich., to stay with relatives while he finished his education at Fordson high school. While there, he became interested in flying, and he began to spend his spare time at Haggerty Airport, a small field operated by a former World I Royal Air Corps pilot.

In return for doing odd jobs and servicing planes, John Haggerty, owner and operator of the field, promised to teach young Shoenut how to fly.

After weeks of taxing planes up and down the runways, Sgt. Shoenut began to get the flying fever. One cloudy day, he waited until Haggerty had gone into town, and then took off in a World War I Jenny. He flew it over the city of Detroit, then back over the field.

Haggerty, returning while Shoenut was still aloft, saw him circling the field, and waved him down with a red flag. (There were no control towers then.) After that day, Haggerty began to teach Shoenut in earnest.

Mastering flying, Shoenut got the urge to visit some relatives in England, and arrived there in August 1941. After watching the British at war with Germany, he decided to join the British Army. He enlisted in the Royal Horse Artillery, and after training, was sent to Gibraltar. When the Horse Artillery broke up, he was returned to England, where he served with the Coast Artillery.

"They had the coast rigged with underwater oil lines," he said. "At any given time, they could set the entire channel on fire for a distance of about 300 yards out to sea. It was a precaution against assault landing boats in event of an invasion by sea."

Surviving the many air raids, buzz bombings, and strafing attacks, Sgt. Shoenut was discharged in 1945 as a Quartermaster Sergeant (the equivalent of a platoon sergeant). He returned at once to the United States.

Still seeking something different, he got a job as a private investigator with the Pinkerton Detective Agency in Detroit.

It wasn't long before he began to yearn for the old army companionship, and Sgt. Shoenut enlisted in the army in 1946. He was sent to Puerto Rico with the 18th Cavalry Recon Squadron.

It was while stationed here that he recalled a dangerous, but humorous incident. "My buddies and I were going through a zoo when we passed an alligator in a pit. One of the guys dared me to go in and wrestle the alligator, so I hopped the fence and grabbed the beast."

"I was doing good for a while, then the alligator found my range with his tail, and was walloping the tar out of me when the attendant came to my rescue. That ended my alligator fighting for good."

Sgt. Shoenut became interested in skin-diving while watching vacationing enthusiasts working at the sport. He learned fast and soon was diving with the best of them.

He reenlisted in 1949, attended jump school at Fort Benning, Ga., and because of his ability to speak Spanish, was kept behind to instruct some allied officers.

The Korean war found Shoenut still serving as an instructor at Fort Benning. He took a short discharge and reenlisted for the 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team and joined them at Wonju, Korea in March 1951.

When the 187th returned to Japan, Sgt. Shoenut went to Kashi as a member of the Pathfinder platoon. The need for a jump school arose, and Shoenut was selected to run it.

As the only instructor, and with the aid of a Korean civilian, Shoenut operated the school for classes ranging from ten to 30 students. The average class lasted ten days, but bad weather sometimes forced Shoenut to have his students make five qualifying jumps in one day.

After an accident which drowned several troopers on a training jump elsewhere in Japan, Sgt. Shoenut designed a water landing trainer.

After getting it approved, he had it built, and incorporated it into the regular classes at jump school. It worked so well, that whenever a trooper came to Kashi for any type of airborne course, (jumpmaster, etc.) he was required to take the water landing course.

When the 187th returned to battle in Korea, Sgt. Shoenut left the jump school and returned to his old company. He was a squad leader in a mortar section, and saw bitter fighting in the Kumwa Valley sector.

Returning to the states in early 1953, Sgt. Shoenut attended leadership school at Fort Benning.

Tall Tales Were Told By Early State Pioneers

Kentucky is the native habitat of the tall tale.

For example, relates Lawrence S. Thompson in "Kentucky Tradition," pioneers used to boast of wild turkeys so fat that they burst their skins upon being shot to the ground.

Other wild stories recalled by Thompson:

Down in Lincoln County around Elizabethtown it was boasted that no Kentucky woman was adept in cooking pancakes until she could toss one out of the chimney and run out the door and catch it in her pan.

John J. Audubon swore that he saw a rattlesnake leaping from limb to limb in a high tree in pursuit of a squirrel.

Audubon, the naturalist, pulled the leg of the great scientist, Rafinesque, with the tale of the "Jack-Devil-Diamond" fish.

ing. He finished the course as distinguished graduate, and was assigned to the S-2 section, 2nd Battalion, 508th Airborne ROTC.

A tour of duty followed at Jeffersonville Quartermaster Depot. While there, he was sent to Wright-Patterson AFB on temporary duty to test new type static lines on the troop-type parachute.

He then attended the Parachute packing, Maintenance and Aerial Delivery school at Fort Lee, Va., where he also served as an instructor prior to his assignment with the Screaming Eagle division.

Sergeant Shoenut is a member of the Airborne Assn. Century Club, holds a Master Riggers license, and is a Class C sky-diving instructor. He has 227 free-fall parachute jumps, the longest of which was a 64 second delay.

He is an expert pilot and owns his own plane, a Cessna 140. As a sideline, he collects guns, and has more than 34 guns of all types in his collection. At present, he resides with his wife, Blane, at Fort Campbell.

equipped with stone-diamonded scales in oblique rows, which, when dry, would produce fire in the manner of flint and steel.

Squirrels stole ears of corn and escaped across the river on shingles by propelling their improvised craft with their tails.

Captain Bates, one of the most famous of Kentucky giants, was eight feet tall. As a young man with a Kentucky cavalry unit, he would dismount when the going got bad and carry his horse over the worst places.

A traveler in West Kentucky posted bills saying he was in the market for cat skins. He asked that the cats be delivered alive to a small hotel in a county seat. He offered two dollars for black cats, a dollar and a half for yellow, one twenty-five for spotted and a dollar for others. Crops were neglected while farmers searched their barns and woods for cats. On the appointed day cats arrived by the hundreds. No purchaser. That town came to be known as the worst catfested town in the Commonwealth.

GIFT OF SAFETY

Traditionally the Christmas season is one of sharing. An important gift that all of us can share with each other during this joyous season... is Safety. Motorists can share safety with pedestrians just by being alert, courteous and careful. Pedestrians can share safety with motorists by obeying safe walking laws and rules—such as crossing streets only at intersections and always looking both ways before crossing. A safe Christmas is a gift that can mean life itself.

SMALL IMPURITIES

Could you find a pinch of salt in 35 freight cars of sugar? That's about equal to the impurities found in germanium used in Bell System transistors—only 5 parts in 100 billion.

RECLAIMED SCRAP

Reclaimed scrap accounts for about 15% of the Bell System's copper wire bar and 25% of its lead requirement each year. The scrap metals are re-refined and converted again into wire and cable.

VANGUARD I

The Navy's Vanguard I, now in orbit around the earth, contains two important developments of telephone research. Bell Solar Batteries power one of the satellite's two radios. High frequency transistors enable them to report data back to earth.

ENGLISH WALNUT TREES

Grafted on our native eastern Black Walnut stock stands our eastern temperature as perfectly as do our local native blacks. We are now digging and planting these trees for best farmers and businessmen. These trees will bring many times the return in cash to the grower, over the pecan, and come into heavy production years sooner.

People who think for themselves are the people who are planting our English walnut trees. They make the most beautiful shade trees ever. If you have room only for a few trees, be sure and plant English walnut trees; better yet, if you have room, plant acres of them.

Our nursery is 3 1/2 miles south on the Union City Highway. Write or call
