Swidler Raps Utility Laws

Joseph Swidler, Nashville attorney, Tuesday night lashed out at Kentucky laws pertaining to the acquisition of electric systems.

"You have now in Kentucky", Swidler said, "what amounts to a vested protected monopoly under a thin disguise of freedom."

He called the laws "terribly unfair" to the people and said they were deprived of a "freedom of choice in utility systems. He said the people should not be hindered by laws adopted in a hypocritical and dishonest way."

Swidler spoke at Kentucky Dam Village, at a meeting of the steering committee of a recently-formed organization pledged to work for lower power rates in Kentucky. He urged that the organization start work at once on a campaign to change the Kentucky statutes.

A general meeting of the organization will be held in Glasgow within the next few weeks. The committee said the date would be set at a time when Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky can attend.

The Electric Plant Board of Fulton is represented by Clyde Williams, Jr., who was in attendance at the meeting. The entire Fulton group plans to attend the meeting at Glasgow in the near future.

Jo's Note Book

Perhaps many of you are wondering what has happened to the "Citizen of the Year" award dinner that has been sponsored for the past ten years by the Fulton County News and Radio Station WFUL and I think that you are entitled to know.

It's no secret to you, I am sure, that I am State campaign chairman for the team of Bert Combs and Wilson Wyatt and in this capacity I have been traveling extensively around the State. When I am home I am quite busy tending to the home-fires. In spite of all of this, Paul, Mary-Nelle, Ouida and I were making plans to have the annual award dinner.

I think that those of you who have attended the dinner each year, and those of you who have worked with me to honor the citizen chosen, know that it is a monumental task. Keeping the name of the citizen chosen is no small task and getting people here from far and near, all in deep secrecy, is a task of the greatest magnitude.

When I returned home from a campaign trip I was somewhat surprised to know that a local organization had undertaken a similar project. While we were not taken into the confidence of this organization to avoid conflict, I called the president of the group and was told that a certain individual in the organization had undertaken the project and it was his complete event.

Still not wanting to create a conflict I called the individual and asked if the News, WFUL and the organization might not make it a joint affair, but the individual was unwilling to do so. He said it would in no manner interfere with the annual award made by the newspaper and radio station.

But that's where he was mighty

Alleged Racket In Dog Stealing May Be Operating In Area

A recent wave of dog disappearances in the Fulton area may uncover a state-wide "racket" dealing in dog stealing and selling, the News learned today. City and county police in a ten-county area around Fulton have been alerted to the wholesale traffic in trading and selling dogs, with many of them perhaps stolen from their owners.

The alleged "racket" was uncovered when the News and Radio Station WFUL were deluged with requests to find canine pets that had mysteriously disappeared from their homes.

An investigation of the situation by the newspaper and the radio station revealed that:

—Periodically a transient dog buyer visits the area and calls on his "contacts" who sell from three to ten dogs at a time for as little as one dollar each.

—Many of the "contacts" are known to traffic in stolen dogs.

—Dogs wardens, operating under loosely written State dog laws, may sell dogs they pick up after a given period.

—While many of the dogs sold are strays, dogs with pedigrees have been known to be bought and sold later for higher prices.

—A near-by dog farm, selling more than 100 dogs a month, is operating in the wholesale traffic of dogs purchased in the area.

What do they do with the dogs? Reports vary. A well-known veterinarian said that dogs can be sold to legally operating clinics where the dogs are used for experimental purposes and where their blood is extracted for serum.

The veterinarian said that the clinics, operating under strict State laws, pay premium prices for dogs and have no recourse as to where they are procured.

Mrs. E. C. Grisham, who lost her dog recently and who has done a tremendous job in working with the News and WFUL, said that police officers are getting more and more reports regarding the methods by which "dog traders" are operating. The police officers at Trenton, Tenn., said that "dog traders" were prohibited from operating there and that they were now operating in McKenzie, Tenn.

Dog traders have known to operate in Mayfield, Ky., where they buy and trade dogs brought to them from a wide area.

Police officers in the area, working in an attempt to break up any traffic in stolen dogs, have asked that persons losing their dogs contact them immediately so that all avenues may be investigated before the dogs are disposed of.

Red Cross Drive Is Successful

Harold Wiley, Fulton Red Cross Chapter Chairman, announced today that the 1959 Red Cross Fund Drive had again been successful this year.

Robert Burrow, Fund Campaign Chairman, and Mrs. Eugene Hoodenpyle, Residential Fund Chairman, each did a splendid job with their part of the campaign.

Mr. Wiley said the Red Cross would also like to extend their thanks and appreciation to the many volunteer workers who assisted Mrs. Hoodenpyle and Mr. Burrow in making the drive a success.

South Fulton To Get Sewage Plant U. S. Loan

South Fulton has been granted an interest-free government loan for engineering work on a proposed sewage disposal plant, it was announced here Monday night.

The city council was notified of the loan approval by Rep. Robert A. (Fats) Everett of Union City.

The city plans to issue bonds totaling about $495,000 to build the sewage plant. When it is completed it will also serve Fulton, Ky., on an assessment basis.

South Fulton officials said they hoped to complete the plant this year.

The council also heard that plans are under way to attempt to secure a TVA substation for South Fulton. Mayor Milton Counce said he conferred during the week with Rep. Everett, Joe Swidler, Nashville attorney, and Brooks Crockett, superintendent of the Weakley County Municipal Electric System on the substation plan.

The Weakley County electric cooperative has been granted a franchise to furnish electric power in South Fulton. The co-op buys power from TVA. South

Fulton is now served by Kentucky Utilities Co.

Reuben L. Kimbel submitted his resignation as South Fulton chief of police to the council. The resignation is effective April 23, when the chief said, he expects to accept other employment.

No successor has been named. The council informed the police force to enforce the law that the city tags be prominently displayed on automobiles. If this is not done by May 1 the vehicle owner will be subject to fine.

The council also voted to ask for bids for a tax assessor for the City of County. The assessor will be named at the next monthly meeting.

New Ordinance Changes Names Of Several Streets In City Of Fulton

The Fulton City Council meet in regular session Monday night, with all present and Mayor Nelson Tripp presiding.

Probably the most important item of business acted on at the meeting was adoption of an ordinance proposed by the Planning and Zoning Commission, in which the names of several streets were changed, and in which a number of outlying streets in both the eastern and western sections of the city were officially given new names.

The action, proposed several years ago by the Commission and ardently sought by the local Post Office, eliminates most streets on the Kentucky side that have similar names in South Fulton. Here are but a few of the instances:

Church Street, actually an ex-renamed Laurel Street; Taylor tension of Commercial Avenue, Street has been renamed Sunset Avenue; College Street has been A glamorous touch has been

Car Thieves On Loose In Fulton

Two automobiles were reported stolen here Tuesday night, according to Chief of Police Rex Ruddle. The cars belonged to Jack Speight of 303 Fourth Street, Fulton, and Jimmy Carter of Lynnville, Route 1. Both were stolen sometime after midnight.

Wednesday morning Mr. Speight's car was located parked in front of the Fulton Market on Sixth Street. Mr. Carter's car, a 1950 Ford, a two-door, blue model with Kentucky license number 374-924, had not been found Wednesday morning.

Mr. Carter spent the night in Fulton with his brother, Bobby Carter, who lives at the corner of Fifth and Fairview.

Charles King of Sixth Street, also reported that he found his car, which he left parked in front of his house Tuesday night, parked in front of the Fulton Market Wednesday morning.

House Destroyed By Fire Tuesday

A tenant house belonging to Mrs. Doc Douglas, located just off the Union City Highway about a mile southwest of Fulton, was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning at 10:15.

A colored family lived in the house and the fire started from a defective flue, while lunch was being prepared by the woman of the house. Some of the household furniture was saved.

added to suburbs, in renaming such as Stephens Street in Highlands "West Parkway"; in naming the by-pass from the Pipeline station in Highlands to Hillview Hospital as "North Parkway"; in changing Lake Street, extended to "Kentucky Avenue", and in the Country Club Courts area we now have "Hollywood Boulevard", "Henderson Drive", "Northeast Drive" and "Wells Avenue", just to name a few. The complete new listing appears elsewhere in this week's issue of the FULTON NEWS.

The planning and Zoning Commission has promised to have a number of maps made, so everyone can find their way home.

A distinguished visitor at the Council meeting was Mr. Charles Morse, Vice-President and Director of Ferry-Morse, who flew to Fulton from Palo Alto, California over the weekend. Mr. Morse remarked to the major and Council that "it is difficult to relay to you just how sincerely the people of Ferry-Morse feel about all of you here in Fulton" as he discussed the friendliness, the co-operation and the warm spirit that company personnel have received here.

In other actions, the Council:

- * Instructed Chief Ruddle to maintain police traffic control on Lake Street on Saturdays;
- * Agreed to participate in a co-operative mosquito-spraying program with South Fulton this year, which will cost each community around $1300;
- * Agreed to enforce sanitary regulations in the Missionary Bottoms area, after having called to their attention that there are as many as seven houses in one area using one outdoor toilet on which there is no screening, and in another area five houses that use one common water faucet, located out in a yard between them.

Since no request was received by the Council to permit the transfer of a liquor and beer license from downtown to the Highlands, a petition of a number of Highlands residents against the move was not read, in a private discussion after the meeting it was emphasized that before such a transfer could be made, a request for such would have to be made to the Council.

Waterfield Forces Resorting To Journalistic Blackmail To Sell Empty Campaign Promises

Right off hand we'd say that the local Chandler-Waterfield forces are getting pretty desperate for support when they resort to journalistic blackmail in an attempt to confuse voters of the real facts.

So futile are their attempts to sell Harry Lee Waterfield's campaign promises that they are trying to make people believe that staunch supporters of Bert Combs and Wilson Wyatt are endorsing Harry Lee's "promise-everything-do-nothing-program."

Last week a very amateurish replica of a news story that appeared in the Fulton News deliberately attempted to mislead readers of the Fulton Daily Leader into believing that Harry Lee was going to do something about East State Line . . . just like he said he was going to do in 1955 with Happy Chandler as his mouthpiece.

The Fulton Leader advertisement said this:

Harry Lee Waterfield AGAIN promised that East State Line Road would be widened and improved. In speaking informally to a gathering at a local restaurant Monday night, he said: "I have promised these projects". (Period).

The story that appeared in the News said this:

Harry Lee Waterfield AGAIN promised that East State Line Road would be widened and improved. In speaking informally to a gathering at a local restaurant Monday night he said: "I have promised these projects". (comma) and obviously was making reference to the promise he made in 1955 while campaigning here that he would improve East State Line road.

The Waterfield people didn't complete the sentence that appeared in the Fulton News, just as they don't intend to complete or execute any campaign promises they are making this year as they did in 1955.

Actually we don't think that the appointed leaders of the Waterfield campaign would stoop to such journalistic blackmail, but some "Freddie the Freeloader" who faces political and economic oblivion if Chandler's candidate is defeated would crawl in any old gutter to perpetuate his backdoor, underhanded, nefarious political deals.

The Street-Renaming Job Had To Be Done

The path of progress is sometimes punctuated with little inconveniences that result from readjustments, and such a situation faces some citizens of Fulton this week.

For years and years Fulton and South Fulton have had several streets with the same name, causing constant confusion in local postal circles, delivery circles and casual address-seekers. In an effort to correct the situation, the Fulton Planning and Zoning Commission, with the help of a representative of the State, drew up a list of suggested changes for certain Fulton streets and submitted them to the Fulton Council two or three years ago, but the matter was by-passed at the time for some reason or other.

Earlier this year, with Highlands coming into the corporation and certain sections of the Country Club

Courts area getting new streets, it became imperative that a general street naming program be adopted by the City Council for the sake of official uniformity. At the same time, the Commission found this a convenient opportunity to undertake the re-naming of already-established streets such as Church, College, Taylor and others.

This was adopted Monday night at the Council meeting.

No doubt we may expect some grumbling and irritation over the action, but it represents a progressive step that needed to be taken by someone, something, and we commend the Mayor and Council for taking the proverbial bull by the horns.

So if it works a hardship on you right now, just think that in a year or so everything will be smooth again and you'll never know the difference.

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

What's So Impossible About Miracles?

By Richard Ginder, editor, "Our Sunday Visitor"

By Richard Ginder, associate

I'VE never seen a miracle myself, just as I never saw the Battle of Gettysburg. But I'd be lacking in common sense if I argued from either of these facts to the conclusion either that miracles are impossible or that the Battle of Gettysburg never took place.

It would, of course, be unscientific to believe in miracles—those extraordinary effects above or beyond the laws of nature produced directly by God in the world—if we had no proof that they happened; but it would be worse than unscientific to believe that they didn't happen in the face of proof that they did. Christianity can supply that proof. All that is asked is an open mind.

SUPPOSE a man claims he's God. Now, he looks like an ordinary human being—two hands, two feet, nose, eyes, ears, etc. How, then, shall we know whether or not he really is God?

Well, if he's God, he should be able, say, to walk on the sea without so much as getting his feet wet; to heal sicknesses of all sorts, to raise people from the dead. In fact, if he's really God, he should be able to let himself be killed and then come back from

Kentucky Windage

By P. W.

Through the mails last week-end came a little book called "Kentucky on the Move". We opened it up to page one, were dumfounded to see the grinning countenance of Gov. Albert B. Chandler, all by himself, Nothin' else on the page.

On page three discovered a typographical error . . . a misplaced question mark.

Page three announces "Who is governor Chandler—Kentucky's greatest living citizen? and what has he done as a Democrat and public servant to make Kentucky a greater Kentucky

Of all the brazen efforts to toot one's own horn, this little book beats anything we have ever seen. Fourteen pages of telling about this "rare and unfolding genius".

For what purpose it was issued, I don't know. It is true, of course that "Happy" is going to be on the move . . . in January he will be moving back to Versailles.

As the book says, "he has demonstrated his ability . . . to mold men's thoughts. On May 26 the voters will prove that they are not as mouldy as he thinks they are.

"The Kentucky Report", an administration-loving weekly business digest published in Louisville, sure loves to peck at Earle Clements. Not a week goes by that some subtle insinuation doesn't get squeezed in somewhere that Earle is about to lose his Washington job because he is fiddling too much in Kentucky these days. This week KyR was almost gleeful in commenting that Senator Thurston Morton has ascended near the top of the national Republican party, and would surely wield a great big powerful stick in Kentucky from now on . . . meaning that if we don't get "right" and vote for the right man in the Democratic primary, we are lost out to the Republicans in November Governor's race.

Down here where we're sittin', we'll take our chances on that, Bro. Wood. Furthermore, if you were down here in Fulton County, you wouldn't have the nerve to call the Combs-Wyatt May victory a "political miracle". When you go out on a limb that far—and get it sawed off—you put your other observations on other subjects in jeopardy. If you'll just put your ear on the map of the First district, you can hear that saw going now. And if they'll just send Happy down here campaigning to the First district, one will be able to hear the limb break in Ashland.

With tears rolling down his cheeks, the "Kentucky Report" editor relates that he had to go clear out of the State to find any big paper singing the virtues of the 100,000-copy printing of the most recent "In Kentucky" magazine. That's the issue that was printed and distributed at public expense, extolling the virtues of the administration. The NEWS office received three copies. Station WFUL got at least three copies, and several others here received multiple-copy mailings, where we usually get one.

Now Sandy, what we want to know is: How come the extra copies didn't all go out of the State, if it was advertising Kentucky's virtues to the Nation? If we in Kentucky are not pretty familiar with our virtues already, one copy will inform us.

We may not condemn the record (that's what public officials are paid and elected to do); we don't say we're not proud of the Commonwealth (after all, we live in it, by choice); but we believe we know a couple of gentlemen who can do better without bulldozer politics: Bert Combs and Wilson Wyatt.

We don't even think they will find it necessary to name any of their accomplishments after them (Chandler Medical Center, Waterfield State Park); after all, we could just as easily have had a Clements Village, and a Henry Ward State Park, and a Wetherby Lake down here. But those weren't horn-tootin', breast-beating, goose-shooting, court-fighting administrations, were they.

DIXIE PROMENADE

The Southland Dixie Promenade of the 40&8 will have its annual convention in Paducah, beginning April 17, according to the president, Fred Homra of Fulton. Delegates from all over the United States are expected to attend.

Sewing Contest Featured At Mid-South Fair

Like to build castles in the air? If you do, it's possible that your own talent can make one of your day dreams a reality. This year, sewing ability will open the doorway to exciting vacations in Hollywood for top winners in the National Cotton Sewing Contest.

The competition, which is open to anyone who sews, will be featured at 48 state and regional fairs, including the Mid-South Fair at Memphis, Tennessee, September 25 thru October 3.

Entry categories include a crib quilt, adult dress, apron and pot-holders, sport shirt, playsuit, luncheon set, cotton-stuffed toy and pillowcases. With the exception of minor trimmings, all articles must be made from cotton sacks used for packaging feed, flour and other products.

Cash prizes totaling $100 will be divided among first, second and third place winners in the eight entry classes. The seamstress receiving the greatest number of first-place ribbons at the Mid-South Fair will be given a Necchi portable sewing machine and will become an automatic finalist.

If she is selected as the national winner or runner-up, the local sack sewing champion and a companion of her choice will spend the week of November 15-21 in the movie capital. While there, they will appear on network radio and television programs, tour major film studios, visit famous restaurants and supper clubs and sightsee.

Another award of $250 will be given to the woman receiving third place honors at the finals, and all three will share in several thousand dollars' worth of valuable household prizes.

Further information on the contest is available from Mrs. J. R. Patsy, Director Woman's Department, Mid-South Fair, P. O. Box 3808, Memphis, Tennessee.

HEY, FELLOWS! Want a tip on how to improve the menus at your house? Well, it's easy as hot apple pie! Just get the Missus an extension phone for the kitchen. She'll save so many steps and so much time, first thing you know she'll be using those extra minutes to fix your favorite dishes day after day. And will she love that phone? Just ask her sometime when she's stirring the pudding . . . watching the roast . . . and talking on her beautiful new color extension all at the same time! Then ask yourself — when did you ever get so much pleasure and convenience for so little money? Why not give us a call? Get your handy kitchen phone right away!

HERE AT THE TELEPHONE COMPANY we have a mighty special feeling about families. From our big family of telephone workers right down to the folks at home — yours and mine — we feel that families are mighty important. That's why I want to bring you a reminder about a serious threat to your family's health and happiness. That threat is cancer! It's not a very pretty word. It's not even something we like to think about, but it's real, and estimates indicate that it will strike two out of every three families.

THE OLD "OUNCE OF PREVENTION . . ." AXIOM can certainly apply here. You see, cancer is not a hopeless problem. Over 800,000 Americans have been saved from cancer because it was detected in time. For you that means regular physical checkups for your entire family — even if they feel fine. This will greatly increase the chances of detecting cancer while it is still curable.

THE AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY urges us to fight this dread disease with a check-up and a check. Sounds like a smart idea to me. How about you?

around town with

Ouida Jewell

Living out at Cayce are two very interesting, elderly gents. They are Mr. Jack Burns, 96, a blacksmith, and his brother, Mr. Sam Burns, who celebrated his 95th birthday Monday. Mr. Sam is a retired farmer and lives with his daughter, Mrs. Ella Holly right in Cayce. Mr. Jack, a bachelor, about whom we wrote a feature several years ago, has living with him his niece, Mrs. Hugh Cruce and her family.

Mr. Jack is still quite active and walks to Cayce, about a mile from his home, ever so often. He also attends the Methodist Church. His brother, Sam, who is two years younger, is not quite so active, although he too is a member of the Methodist Church.

Mr. Sam is the grandfather of Samuel Holly of the ASC office at Hickman.

My boss, Paul, is a firm believer of exercise and Thursday afternoon sent me on an hour's stroll around town—to see what and whom I could see. And, I really enjoyed it!

First, I stopped in to see "Cookie" (E. L. Cook), who was having the entrance to his liquor store repainted. Cookie said that he is planning to return to either a Memphis hospital or to Outwood for some more treatments, then would return home again to stay. He might, at that time, open up his store again.

Mr. Cook, who has also been in a hospital for quite some time, arrived home to stay three weeks ago. We are glad to have you both back home to stay!

My next stop was at the Coffee Shoppe, where I saw Follis Bennett, who was home from college, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bennett.

I was also glad to see Mr. S. L. Brown, whom I hadn't seen in quite some time.

Fire Chief Nemo Williams was out taking pictures of Centennial beads.

Passing by the City Hall, I noticed that the exterior of the building was getting a partial paint job. The base and the framework of the building was being painted a snowy white. It would really look nice if the entire building received the same treatment.

My stroll carried me up to the post office, over to Walnut Street, down Walnut and across the railroad tracks to Noffel's.

There, I ran into Mr. Tom Hales, who was out politicking. He informed me that if I didn't walk faster people would think I was getting old. My answer was, "My boss said stroll, so I'm strolling!"

I stopped for a chat and some popcorn at Edmond Khouri's popcorn stand, then on to Smith's for a second cup of coffee. Incidentally, did you know that Smith's has some "Isolation Booths"? I didn't. Took a look and found them cute as could be. They're for quiet little conferences, etc., I was informed.

On my way back to the office, I ran into Bro. Oakley Woodside and had a nice chat with him.

Then, upon returning to my home base, June and Paul were eager to learn just what had happened to me on my hour stroll. My answer was that they'd have to wait and read my column this week.

June McClanahan, bookkeeper at the Fulton County News, was telling us that Miss Sarah Blandings, president of Vassar College, who was recently featured on the "Person to Person" TV show, used to live next door to her grandmother, Mrs. R. J. Bodkin.

And according to a letter to June's mother, Mrs. Mollie King, Mrs. Bodkin of Monterey, Ky., the Blandings came to Kentucky from Sumter, S. C. Mrs. Blandings, Sarah's mother, was Sallie Gibson Anderson and her father was Major Robert Anderson, who was stationed in the Civil War at Camp Sumter, Carolina. They were noted people.

Dr. Blandings owned a small house near Mrs. Bodkin's home. When his first wife died he sent for his brother, Will Blandings, and his family to come live with him. They only had two girls and a little boy, who died before they came. Lenora was the older and Ellen was about six or eight years old.

Mrs. Blandings was a pretty, sweet and cultured woman—and a little fat. She cooked and cleaned and answered phone calls, etc. She also cleaned the old Walnut Hill Church, close by.

Lenora and Mrs. King's mother used to help Mrs. Blandings clean the church and they had a play house in an upstairs room of the building, where the doctor had two skeletons—one a white man and one a negro, and other bones and a lot of old books.

"We didn't care. We had our dolls and play things in the other end by a window. We would sew and make doll clothes for hours," wrote Mrs. Bodkin.

"Lenora didn't make friends easy, so when she started to school there, she sat with me and we sat together every year, until we were through the grades—five year," she continued.

Dr. Blandings married again. When he brought his wife home, then Mrs. Blandings moved to Lexington. Lenora and I were about 14 years old when Sarah was born. Mrs. Blandings came near to dying. The baby was named for her mother, Sarah Gibson. Lenora married Minor Young, in January, 1905, when she was about 23 years old. They had six boys and a hard time.

"Lenora and I were close friends and we said if we ever had a girl, that we would name it for each other, so I named you after my friend Lenora. Lenora had no girls, but guess if she had it would have been named Ellen for me and her sister, Ellen."

"Their father, Mr. Will Blandings, never did very well. He was sick and had asthma every fall awfully bad. Sarah looks like him, tall and slim as a pole. He had some kind of work that kept him away from home. He disappeared and was found dead," Mrs. Bodkin's letter stated.

"Mrs. Blandings had a hard time. They rented the big house, or part of it. I think Mr. Will left an insurance that helped them some. She had high ideas for her children. She was a perfect lady—so refined and nice. She gave Ellen music and Ellen made good. She taught music and led the singing over at Paris and in other churches."

"Sarah was dean of women at the State College (University of Kentucky) for a long time and went on up and up, till she got in the big college in New York (Vassar) as president, the only woman to be president of a big college in the United States at that time," said Mrs. Bodkin.

If you have a favorite teacher and would like to see her, or him, win a free vacation trip, enter their name in the Commercial Appeal's annual Favorite Teacher contest.

The contest got underway Sunday with the first ballot appearing in the paper.

The contest this year is different from those of the past two years, as there will be four winners chosen, instead of one. Your Favorite Teacher of 1959 will be chosen from Memphis-Shelby County; Mississippi-Alabama; Arkansas-Missouri; and West Tennessee (outside Shelby County)-Kentucky.

Nominees polling the highest total votes in each area will be guests of Holiday Inns of America in the Gulf of Mexico. Southern Airways will fly the four winners to and from the resort.

There will also be new clothes and other gifts for each of the four winners.

Why not start saving those coupons now, and maybe some Fulton or South Fulton teacher can have a free vacation trip this summer.

Last week in listing the committee chairmen of the Business and Professional Women's Club, we failed to list Mrs. Jewell McClain as Parliamentarian. Sorry for the omission. Three more charter members added to the club are Mrs. Gerry Merryman, Mrs. Marie Holland, and Mrs. Hester B. Rucker.

ads. They are not satisfied, they want to get their hands on the meters to bleed us for everything they can. They are a bunch of dirty, mange-ridden, lying polecats. They are large private electric companies, grouped together throughout the land extending from coast to coast, organized for one purpose, to destroy TVA, if at all possible.

They have the backing and support of the National Association of Manufacturers and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and only Congressmen and Senators in the TVA area are fighting them.

Congress is now wrangling over a TVA self-financing bill, but when it passes, or if it does, there will be "riders" attached limiting TVA to its present boundaries forbidding expansions, no matter how bad or how many people want TVA services.

The people want TVA for cheaper rates, and this is a big factor in inducing new business to a community. How unreasonable such a Congressional law, limiting TVA expansion for such reasons, and say if South Fulton should come through OK, with TVA just as this bill is about to pass, cutting off Fulton, Ky. proper, and this could happen and not only here but other communities, also.

We just hope Fulton and the neighboring towns have luck in TVA for their people the kind of service they want.

TVA is not seeking to run a private utilities electric company out of their place. The private utilities will bleed you to death should they ever get control of the Public Power System. Look up their ads. Read what they say. You don't have to guess at their aim. They advertise in these magazines that I have noticed—Look, Reader's Digest, and American Legion, a Farm Journal, etc., over the name of America's Independent Electric Light and Power Companies. Company names are furnished by the magazine on request. I wrote them a scorching letter on their dirty work.

Wish everyone would. Unless we fight, they will sneak up on us through Congress some day and kill Public Power. It will be too late then. They are making gains in getting TVA expansion limited.

Another one of their slogans is: "When Public Power Wins, You Lose". What a lie. Khrushchev himself could tell no bigger one.

Dear Editors,

Would you please change our address to c/o D. J. Jones, Route 5, Fulton, Ky. We will be leaving here about the 22nd of May and will give you our new address when we get settled at our new home in Tucson, Arizona. We will be having a 30-day vacation with our family near Fulton in June.

We are planning on driving the famous Alcan Highway and should arrive in Fulton around the 1st of June. Sure are looking forward to seeing all the changes I've read about for the last three years.

We will stop by and say hello while we are there. Oh by the way, I was reading the Fairbanks Daily News Miner one night and had a nice surprise to read about Mr. LeConru's donkey and goat. I'd say that news certainly gets around. This is of course Fairbanks, Alaska.

Sincerely,

mistaken. If this fine organization wanted to name an outstanding citizen of the year, the News and WFUL did not want to come right behind them with a similar event that might have embarrassed the selection of the group, or the selection of the News and WFUL. Moreover it had come to our attention that, in view of my state-wide political activities this year the opposition planned a large scale smear campaign, branding "politics" to our selection. In view of recent developments that have emanated from the opposition camp, we felt that certain persons were fully capable of forever disgracing the "Citizen of the Year" event of the News and WFUL. (see editorial).

In the light of these facts, and sincerely wishing to refrain from causing any embarrassment to the work of any outstanding citizen, we decided to forego the pleasure of our annual event until a time when it will be free of the slightest embarrassment, and free from any coercion and intimidation from unscrupulous political leaders.

We heartily commend and congratulate Josephine Omar for being honored for her tremendous public service. She deserved it, she earned it, and she has our sincere gratitude for a job well done.
