FASHIONS—The centennial celebration at Fulton, Ky., inspired these period clothes worn by Mrs. C. H. McDaniel (left) and Mrs. Howard Adams.

Union City Leaders Blast Traffic Speedtrap

Finance Commissioner Raymond Mitchell Tuesday at Union City called for an end to what he termed a "speedtrap" existing on the Union City-Fulton highway.

Other members of the City Commission agreed to contact the state Safety Department to see if the problem can be solved.

Commissioner Mitchell told Mayor Sam C. Nailling and Street Commissioner Bob McCowan, that the Highway 51 and 45-W is posted at 45 miles per hour from the Union City limits to a point about five miles north of Union City.

This, posted area is the scene of constant radar patrols, the commissioner said. He pointed out that the statewide 65-55 m.p.h. signs are prominent when drivers cross the Kentucky state line into Tennessee and that the speed limit drops abruptly a few miles down the highway.

A radar patrol established just inside the 45-mile per hour zone less than a week ago, resulted in between 50 and 60 citations in a 10-hour period.

Several other Union City organizations have protested the speed limit on the improved road during the past several months. They have pointed to the recently increased width of bridges on the highway as one reason for elimination of the speed zone.

In other action the commissioners appointed Bill Kalenberg to succeed Dr. Jim G. Taylor as a member of the Obion County Library Board. They also authorized City Attorney Robert Fry to prepare an ordinance prohibiting the raising of poultry and rabbits inside the city limits.

Sanitary Survey Of South Fulton To Be Made By Health Department

Mayor Milton Counce and the City Council announced today that a complete sanitary survey of South Fulton would be made by the Obion County Health Department and the State Health Department during the next few weeks. The survey is designed to point out sanitary deficiencies that may exist in the city, including sewage disposal facilities, water supplies, garbage disposal, insect and rodent infestation, animal and fowl shelters, the number of unvaccinated dogs, and general premise cleanliness.

It was indicated that particular attention was being given to garbage cans, since the city is preparing to make some changes toward improving the present garbage collection method. At present wet garbage is being collected by private individuals for hog feed. In the future the city will collect both garbage and trash and dispose of it on the city sanitary landfill.

Surveyors will make house to house inspection, calling the attention of home owners to unsanitary conditions, such as mosquito breeding places, rat harborage, fly breeding places, unsatisfactory garbage cans, and faulty plumbing.

After the survey has been completed a complete report will be presented to the City Council.

Kangaroo Kourt Swings Into Action As Celebration 'Trials' Are Held

Kangaroo Kourt law ran rampant in the streets of Fulton Friday as the Kourt's Kops and deputies hauled miscreants off the streets for violations of the Ken-Tenn-O-Rama Celebration ordinances.

Urged on by cheers of a large crowd which quickly gathered members of the Kangaroo Kourt dispensed their unorthodox brand of justice with a heavy hand, sentencing men and women to the stockade or fining them heavily. Charges against the unwary victims ranged from improper dress, that is not wearing a button, hat, tie, or bonnet, to an improper attitude about the forth-coming celebration July 19 through July 25.

Several city policemen circulated among the large crowd on Lake Street to make certain the Kangaroo Kourt activities were "legal".

Celebration Headquarters reports a heavy run on Brother of the Brush Buttons, Smoothie Buttons, Celebration Belle Buttons, Cosmetic Permits, Hats, Bonnets, and Ties.

Eighteen persons were tried and convicted by the Kourt Judge, Spud Edwards within about 45 minutes. Although some of their interpretations of the law would probably not have withstood review by a higher court, sentences were quickly carried out by the willing hands of the Kangaroo Kops. Friday's activities make the first official session of the Kangaroo Kourt with the next session expected to be held on this coming Friday night.

All Woman's Societies of the district are asked to send delegates to the workshop. Especially urged to attend are the vice-presidents, treasurers, and members of the program and finance committees.

Fulton Voluntary Firemen Quit When Council Fails To Act On Petition

All ten members of the Fulton voluntary fire department quit their jobs Monday night at 9:50, when the Fulton City Council failed to accept the terms of a petition, which was presented to the council two or three months ago. According to spokesmen for the group they felt that the council was giving them "the go around".

Appearing before the council Monday night were Milton and Thomas Exum and Wilburn Allen, spokesmen for the fire department members. Milton Exum, who has been on the fire department for about 30 years, said that he thought the council should accept the terms of the petition, which asked that there be 12 men on the department instead of 10, and that when the big hose was used and on country fires, the firemen receive $5.00 each instead of the regular $3.50. The firemen pointed out that the big hose is not used but very seldom and that the city makes good money off of the country fires. They also pointed out that the firemen need a little more money to pay for the wear and tear on their clothes, etc. Mr. Exum explained that the firemen had voted not to make any fire calls after noon Tuesday if the council didn't pass on the request.

The matter was turned over to the Fire Department Committee, composed of Mayor Nelson Tripp, Ward Johnson and Orin Winstead, who went into a private conference with Fire Chief Nemo Williams, and upon returning to the council meeting announced a proposition to the firemen. They were willing to reduce the firemen's pay from $3.50 to $2.50 on calls in town when no water is used, and $5.00 on calls in town when water is used and on out of town calls. They would put 12 men back on the payroll, but only the first 10 men to the fire would be paid.

The firemen felt that they would be better off the way things stood at present than to accept the new proposition and no agreement was reached.

The firemen gathered outside the council room and announced to Fire Chief Nemo Williams at 9:50 p. m. that they had all quit. The message was then relayed to the council at the close of the meeting.

At noon Tuesday the only firemen the city of Fulton had was the four firemen, who are members of the Fulton Police Force. The other six still maintained that they had quit, according to Fire Chief Nemo Williams.

Late Tuesday afternoon Chief Williams had hired two new firemen, who are inexperienced. They are Jerry Hawks and Jimmy Lawson.

The council adopted an ordinance raising the rates on the pickup of garbage in the city.

Fulton County Jailor Earl Tibbs of Hickman appeared before the council and informed the members that from now on the City of Fulton will have to pay for the upkeep of prisoners, sent to the county jail from here. He presented a bill of over

Two Young Men Drown In Lakes In Area Over July 4th Weekend

Services were held Sunday afternoon at 3, at the Penecostal Church in Water Valley, for Charles Edward "Peewee" Carter of Water Valley, Route 2, who was drowned at Stephens Lake on July 4. Burial was in Pleasant Valley Cemetery, under direction of Hopkins, Hopkins and Brown Funeral Home. He was 26.

Carter drowned shortly after 11 a. m., when he dived into the lake on top of another boy. He was knocked unconscious and failed to come up. He was pulled from the water within two or three minutes, but all efforts to revive him were in vain.

Carter, who had attended Wingo High School, was employed by the McPade Construction Company of Fulton. He was single and the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Carter of Water Valley.

Besides his parents, he leaves four brothers, Ardell Carter of Wingo, Route 1, Noble, Earl and Rubel Carter, all of Water Valley.

He was a nephew of Bill, Tom and Otto Bradley and Mrs. Charles Burgess of Fulton.

James Hibbs of Whitel Funnell Home, Fire Chief Nemo Williams and Dr. D. L. Jones answered the emergency call to the lake.

Services for Jessie Parnell Wolberton, 16, another drowning victim, who lived about two miles north of Union City, were held Saturday afternoon at 3:30 at the White-Ranson Funeral Home in Union City. The Wolberton boy drowned in a private lake Friday afternoon at 2 while swimming with three other boys. The boys were attempting to swim across the lake, when Wolberton became exhausted in about 20 feet of water and was drowned. The lake was on the Charles Barham farm about a mile north of Union City on the Jordan Highway.

Burial was in Eastview Cemetery at Union City.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wolberton, would have been a senior at Woodland Mills High School this fall.

Besides his parents, he leaves a brother, Gus Wolberton; four sisters, Barbara Lynn, Lywanda, Malissa and Malinda Wolberton, and is grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Wolberton of Gideon, Mo.

Lindbergh Visited Fulton, Dropped Flowers On Grave Of Local Boy

By Ouida Jewell

Many Fultonians remember the time that Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, the famous pilot, visited Fulton and dropped flowers on the grave of Charles E. Smith at Fairview Cemetery.

Capt. Lindbergh was a good friend of Lt. Smith, the late husband of Mozelle Terry, who is here now on a visit from St. Petersburg, Fla.

Lindbergh and Smith were both in the Missouri National Guard at St. Louis, when the Fulton boy was killed in a plane crash on April 6, 1926, an Easter Sunday.

Lt. L. H. Littlefield and a Lt. Love came to Fulton with the body, then on Friday, May 28, 1926, Lt. Littlefield, accompanied by Lindbergh, returned to Fulton and spent the weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Terry, who were brother-in-law and sister-in-law of Smith's.

On Sunday, May 30, Memorial Day, Lindbergh flew over the city and dropped flowers on Lt. Smith's grave.

While in Fulton, Capt. Lindbergh had a date with Miss Doris Huddleston, who is now Mrs. Steve Wiley, and attended a dinner party in the Terry home. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Emery of Paducah.

Mrs. Norman Terry this week recalled that at the dinner, Capt. Lindbergh, then about 22, was very reserved. In fact, he was so reserved that he didn't enter into the conversation, until Mr. Terry started talking about the Wright Whirlwind Motor, a new invention then.

Mrs. Terry went on to say that when their grandchildren came to see them they all want to sleep in the "Lindbergh bed." Mr. Terry, who used to fly quite a bit, later, visited Lindbergh and Littlefield in St. Louis, and Mr. Terry was the first and only flier from Fulton to go overseas in World War I. He flew a bomber with the Italian Air Corps and his commanding officer was LaGuardia.

Lindbergh took Lt. Smith's place to fly the first air mail from St. Louis to Chicago.

An account of the death of Lt. Smith in the April 9, 1926 issue of the Fulton Advertiser follows:

The remains of Lieut. Chas. Smith arrived in Fulton from St. Louis Tuesday morning, accompanied by Lieut. Littlefield of U. S. Air Service, and conveyed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Terry, where funeral services were held in the afternoon, conducted by the Rev. J. V. Freeman, assisted by the Rev. H. L. Patterson. Marshall Alexander Post No. 72, American Legion, attended in a body and the deceased was given a military burial in Fairview cemetery, with final honors by the Legion. Three volley salutes were fired after the casket was lowered into the grave and buglers sounding taps.

The funeral was largely attended, many coming in from the community in which young Smith spent his best days.

The floral tributes were beautiful and the singing was soft and sweet.

Lieut. Smith was 28 years of age, and is survived by his young wife, who was Miss Mozelle Terry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Terry of this city; his father, John Smith, of Pierce Station, four brothers, R. D., of Blackford, Ky.; R. G., of Knoxville, Ark.; Walter, of Lansing, Mich., and H. H. of Fayetteville, Ark.; two sisters, Miss Ethel, of Lansing, Mich., and

Mrs. W. L. Jenkins of Fayetteville, Tenn.

The following account of the disaster was published in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat:

Lieut. Charles E. Smith and Private August Zwengroch, of the Thirty-fifth Division Air Service of the Missouri National Guard, met instant death Sunday afternoon, April 4, in a 1500-foot fall from a plane, on Lambert-St. Louis Flying Field, at Bridgeton, when a wing of their plane crumpled while they were doing a "loop."

Zwengroch jumped clear of the plane when the wing parted from the fuselage, but apparently was too excited to pull the rip cord of his parachute, for he dropped straight to the ground, his arms thrashing madly about him.

Lieut. Smith attempted to jump from the plane, also, but

Kentucky Lake Is A Priceless Asset To Us

During these torrid days of July and in the months to come, when the entire mid-west swelters and often drives hundreds of miles in an effort to escape the heat, we in Western Kentucky are more than ever grateful for vast Kentucky Lake and all that it offers us so conveniently.

While elsewhere in the midwest, families have to pack their children for a trip that takes days to get to such facilities, we here in Western Kentucky can run over to the lake in an hour's time, spend the afternoon and evening, and return same day for no more cost than the gasoline it takes to make the trip. We can take our boats over with us on a trailer and bring them back for storage at home.

Kentucky Lake is a wonderful asset to our area, and no one realizes this fact more than this writer, who, for many years, lived in a midwestern area far removed from any such thing. Even today, residents of that area must drive 500 miles west to Colorado, or 400 miles north to Minnesota, or come 500 miles east to Kentucky to enjoy what we have at our own back door.

Annually, Fulton is visited by thousands of tourists; Kentucky by millions. Let us always treat them courteously and helpfully, and the State of Kentucky should continually add to the attractiveness of our great State Park facilities. One never knows when a tourist may decide to come and live among us, or when an unknown visitor may be an influential executive who is looking for a good location combined with pleasant living.

We believe that Kentucky Lake and all that it offers will help all of its surrounding area to grow and prosper. Whether we realize it or not—accustomed as we are to its nearness—in Kentucky Lake we have a priceless asset.

Come And Enjoy Willow-Plunge Pool—Often!

Fulton's new Willow-Plunge swimming pool is open for business and it will fill a welcome spot among the hot and weary children and grown folks alike throughout the whole area. Nothing like cool and inviting waters on a hot afternoon—or after a hot day!

We have no doubt but that Willow-Plunge will do well, since it fills a need throughout the whole area for a handy, close-by swimming pool, and it is ideally located.

We also have no doubt but that with a little good "promoting" the Willow Plunge pool can do exceptionally well. Ladies days, early-morning "dip" schedules, special exhibitions such as have been offered by the championship diving and acrobatic team at Ft. Campbell, an annual bathing-beauty competition and other local competitions help to keep a ticket-seller busy during the three months each year that the pool is open.

The pool is large, has plenty of deep water for divers and plenty of shallow water for the kids, and will have plenty of lounging space for the sun-bathers. Come out and enjoy it—often!

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

What Is Our Duty As Christian Citizens?

By James P. Mitchell,
U. S. Secretary of Labor

TWO societies are at war in the world today: one is our own Christian society which believes that God exists and that He cares for each individual man; the other society is Communism which insists there is no God and that man has no rights. In the conflict between these two societies, the Christian conscience has a stern and unavoidable call: to restore order and purpose to our Christian society which is in danger of breaking up because there is no real unity of moral purpose.

The Christian helps to heal this breach by doing that most simple but difficult of all acts—by living in the world. While the chief purpose of every life is the salvation of the individual soul, the commitment of the Christian to better his world makes that salvation more probable by providing the opportunity for the expression of Christian ideals. We need more Christians who know how to live in the world on Christian terms—and not on the world's terms.

BUT in order to revitalize the world through our Christian principles we must first rid ourselves of our "ghetto complex"—this living in a private world of our own. It's time we Christians come out of our ghetto and get to work in the world to instill purpose and give direction to our society. Merely talking about social principles is not enough. The man at the lathe must bring his Christian ideals to his union meetings just as much as the corporation executive must measure the responsibilities of his company in light of Christian standards. The action of all men in their everyday life is absolutely necessary if any headway is to be made toward a God-centered life.

It is my conviction that lasting peace will come only when Christian men and women make use of their Christian beliefs to meet the problems of the world. We must always be aware that the less fortunate members of the human family—a family that is pre-

Turning Back The Clock—

July 7, 1939

A crowd started gathering early in Fulton on July 4th, when 18,000 to 20,000 people attended the Second annual Old Car Derby, sponsored by the Fulton fair grounds under the auspices of the Young Men's Business Club. Robert Wadlow, the world's tallest man, appeared downtown and at the Fair Grounds, and thousands flocked to see him.

Claude Jobe, of Water Valley, sustained minor injuries in an automobile accident on the Mayfield highway Tuesday afternoon. He was brought to the Fulton hospital for first aid treatment.

Parker McClure who lives on Paschall St., in South Fulton and is an employee of Browder Milling Company, was probably critically injured at the Fair Grounds July 4th, as he rode with H. P. Allen, driver of an old racing car, which turned over while going around the dirt track prior to the races.

Mrs. Sam Edwards, College St. tied for first place in a contest held recently at Radio station WMC in Memphis. She received a check for $37.50 last week. Mrs. Edwards and the other winner will write an essay on "Why I Want a Diamond Ring." The writer of the best essay will be given a diamond ring.

Mrs. Harry Murphy and Mrs. Arch Huddleston, Jr. were hostesses to a number of their friends at bridge Saturday at the home of Mrs. Murphy on Second St. The party complimented their visitors, Miss Ann Murphy, Mrs. Robert Buckner and Mrs. John Reynolds, all of Nashville.

Employees of Swift and Company and their guests enjoyed a gypsy tea last Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Matthews in Pierce, Tenn.

WASHINGTON REPORT

by your Congressman, Frank Stubblefield

Soil Bank Program Funds Authorized

The Soil Bank Program will be expanded under the Agriculture Department appropriation bill as approved by the House and Senate and sent to the President last week.

The bill provides $375 million, the amount requested by the Administration, for the Conservation Reserve Program or 1960. This means that 5 million acres, in addition to the 23 million already under contract, can be accepted next year.

I am happy to report that the bill directs that those farms which applied this year but were left out because of lack of funds have first consideration in next year's sign-up. The Department of Agriculture is now working on the way to fit this provision into the bidding procedure.

Also, the Department has assured me they plan to get full and complete information out and have the contracts signed by the end of November. I know all farmers interested in the program, and the workers in our State and county ASC offices will applaud this timetable. If they succeed in making this schedule, farmers will know whether they are "in" or "out" in time to make their plans for next year.

General Farm Program Hearings Begin

The House Agriculture Committee began general farm program hearings last week. We heard witnesses from the Farmers Union, National Grange, American Farm Bureau, and the Chamber of Commerce. Generally speaking, the Grange and the Farmers Union support the view that the government has a responsibility to assist farmers. They point out that business and labor are helped by the government, and farmers must pay higher prices for what they buy because of this help. Business and labor get their help through protective tariffs, minimum wage laws, and union bargaining rights.

The Chamber of Commerce urged immediate abandonment of efforts to assist farmers. To adjust production and receive fair prices. The American Farm Bureau position was similar to the Chamber of Commerce except that the Bureau favored price supports at levels below normal world market prices.

There is little chance of enacting general farm legislation during this session. However, the first step in reconciling differences is to lay them out. The hearings, which will continue for several days are serving to do that. To that extent at least, they are useful.

Work Continues On Tobacco Bill Despite Presidential Veto

The veto of the tobacco bill was a victory for the opponents of the tobacco program and a prize example of "stalemate" government. Since this legislation is needed in order to safeguard the tobacco program for the long pull, I joined the effort to try to find some way to get the job done.

If the reason for the veto was actually because the bill provided for using old parity, then we may be able to get somewhere. If, on the other hand, this was merely a flimsy excuse to play politics with the tobacco program, I am afraid we may just have to "suffer them out" for 18 long months.

Visitors From Home

Visitors from the District this week included Don R. Mills, Clinton; Ruth E. Cole, Murray; Mr. and Mrs. Noah Geveden, and daughter, Jean, Wickliffe; V. C. Stubblefield, Sr., Murray.

Workers Vote Against Union

Workers at the Hickman Garment Company on June 24 voted to reject the ACWA as bargaining agents. The climax to a 26-week unionization attempt by Amalgamated, the 83-46 vote against the union was felt to be a community victory at Hickman.

Few Patrons Seats Still Available

A few patrons box seats for the Centennial Pageant are still available. It was announced today, Dr. John L. Jones, Chairman of the patrons tickets, said that he was very pleased with the response.

"These special reserved box seats will have the best location and each box will contain six chairs," he said. The price of these box seats is $3.50 for each person, however, by purchasing an advanced coupon from any of the queen candidates a person may save fifty cents on the price of these box seats by turning in the coupon and two dollars to celebration headquarters for each seat requested.

Each Patron Ticket is good for one admission to any one of the six nightly performances of the Historical Spectacle "Ken-Tenn-O-Rama" which will be presented at the Fulton Ball Park each evening, July 20-25.

50 Arrested In Road Block

About six highway patrolmen in three patrol cars set up a radar operation about 9:30 Thursday night and maintained the vigil until about 7 Friday morning.

Magistrate W. R. Phillips said Friday that between 50 and 60 motorists were cited or various offenses including speeding, driving without proper licenses and the possession of liquor.

The radar forces were deployed on the Union City highway between Union City and Fulton.

All Union City officers are on Tennessee National Guard duty at Fort Stewart, Ga., and patrolmen participating in the exercise were all from other stations, Mr. Phillips explained.

The offenders were carried to Union City every hour during the night and were fined by the Union City magistrate on pleas of guilty.

I am sorry that we did not have pictures of Mrs. Robert Holland and Miss LaDonna Weaver, two winners of the B & PW style show, to run in the paper last week. We tried to get a picture of them but failed. Mrs. Holland won second prize and Miss Weaver was winner among the visitors.

This is what happened. The B & PW, which was only organized a short time ago, could not afford to hire an official photographer. Paul had planned to come out and take a couple of pictures to run in The News, but he was called to a Power Board meeting and didn't make it.

Later, Mr. R. D. Benedict, whose hobby is photography, came by and gave me two pictures. I asked if he had pictures of the four winners. He said that he didn't take pictures of everyone and some of his pictures did not turn out good. He let me take a look and he had only pictures of two of the winners. I borrowed them to run in the paper. I used what pictures I had available, taking upon myself to pay for having the cuts made.

With all the weddings, engagements, parties and style shows, plus other Centennial news, it is very hard to get everything in the News each week. For weeks now, we have had type left over, but please bear with us. If your article doesn't get in one week, we will try to have it in the next. Just don't get mad at us. Nothing that is news is left out on purpose. Sometimes there just isn't enough room for everything.

We were busy at the time and failed to attend Kangaroo Court held on Lake Street Friday evening, but we understand that they had quite a time.

A stockade was built down on Lake Street Thursday night and Friday evening several local citizens were arrested and after a time in jail, were tried.

Patrolman Ralph Puckett and the other six Centennial officers were kept busy on foot and in the old patrol car.

We understand that at least one woman was arrested, this being Mrs. Charles Walker.

Saw Clarence Pickering Monday morning and was he fussing at me for not coming down to the jail and bailing him out.

According to Mr. Pickering, Louis Kasnow finally acted as his lawyer and got him off with a $1.00 fine.

A charming and interesting newcomer to town is Miss Janice Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Davis. Mr. Davis is employed by the Ferry-Morse Seed Company, The Davis' come from Detroit.

Janice will be a senior in high school this fall, and she is a talented dancer and writer. She was by to see me Saturday and brought the most beautiful Centennial ball dress you have ever seen. And she made it all herself, too. The dress is made of light blue taffeta ruffles.

We had a lot of fun Friday night rehearsing for the pageant. Why don't you join in the fun? There is a practice group each evening at the old Leader building on Main Street, and more are needed in several of the scenes.

One day recently Harry Bushart of Martin, Route 3, brought us an old newspaper clipping of a story written about Obion County's sleeping beauty—a Miss Godsey, who for twenty-four years was a puzzle to the medical and scientific world.

According to the story, not too far from Fulton in the Antioch Community in Obion County, there died on October 27, 1873, at the age of 37 years, a lady, who for twenty-four years was a puzzle and wonder to the scientific and medical world. Her name was Susan Caroline Godsey, known throughout the United States as the sleeping beauty, and she deserved that appellation, for rarely have eyes of man rested upon more beautiful features than those of Miss Godsey.

Before her death, many articles were written about her, some of which were true in part while others were base fabrications almost in toto. To acquaint myself (the author of the article was Jonas Jutton) with the facts, I drove out a few days ago to the home of Mrs. Mary E. Jurney, Miss Godsey's sister, with whom lives her brother, Mr. B. W. Godsey. Mrs. Jurney has reached the allotted span of life, while her brother has passed the meridian.

They are all that remain of the family. Mrs. Jurney is a widow, whose children are all married, and she and her bachelor brother live alone upon a little farm of twenty four acres, which they own.

Susan Caroline Godsey was born in 1836, in Gibson County, Tenn. When seven years of age she moved to Obion County with her parents, who settled twelve miles northwest of Union City, near the Kentucky line.

Susie, as her family and acquaintances called her, was as healthy as most children up to her eighth year, when she took the chills. The usual chill remedies would stop them for a while, but they invariably returned. When ten years of age she made a visit to her sister, Mrs. Jurney, several miles away, and while there had a chill. A quack, named Wasson, who had lately moved into the neighborhood from Middle Tennessee, was called in. He gave her medicines and left others, which were administered according to his directions, but the next day Susie had a chill as usual. The day following she missed her chill, but had a convulsion resembling a fit. From that day she began having cramping spells, the peculiarity of which was that in a second her heels would strike the back of her head, and before one could snap her finger her knees and chin would come together.

Other physicians were called in, who declared that the medicines Wasson had given her were the cause of her peculiar malady. But two of the remedies were known, phium and sulphuric ether. Of the former he gave her a spoonful, enough to kill any three men. But Susie's system was such that it did not kill her, but in conjunction with the other drugs threw her into a condition to which death would have been preferable. Susie's father was going to prosecute Wasson for malpractice, but he fled to Middle Tennessee, where he soon died.

Daily, for three years, Susie had these twisting, cramping spells, and every night, exactly at twelve o'clock, she would vomit blood after suffering terrible tortures for three years, her peculiar afflictions left her, and she went into a sleep which, with frequent awakenings, kept her in bed twenty-four years until death relieved her.

When her sleep was prolonged past the usual time, physicians were called in, but none of them could arouse her from her death-like slumber.

Her condition soon became widely known, and physicians from abroad came to see her and study her case, which proved beyond all their skill. A physician came from Paris, France, to see her, and procuring an interpreter at Hickman, Ky., visited the sleeping beauty at her humble home, but the satisfying of his curiosity as to the truth of what he had heard was all that was accomplished by his visit.

In 1867, her brother, B. W.

Godsey; her brother-in-law, James Jurney; her niece, Zenobia Jurney; and Mr. Jonah Montgomery, a friend, carried her to Nashville, where for several days, under the care of the celebrated Dr. Robert Eve, she was exhibited to the students of a medical college of which Dr. Eve was president.

In 1870, her physician, Dr. C. P. Glover, and Dr. John Ray, accompanied by Susie's mother, her brother, B. W. Godsey; and Zenobia Jurney, niece, carried her to a medical college in St.

The Fulton News, Thursday, July 9, 1959 Page 3

Louis. While in that city celebrated physicians from all parts of the country came to see her but her case baffled the skill of them all.

During the twenty-four years of her sleep she would awake every morning at six o'clock, and then every hour until noon. In the afternoon she would wake at three o'clock and then at sunset, and night at nine and eleven o'clock. These hours were never varied, except every Wednesday, when she would wake at ten a. m. She would have cramping spells in the chest and hiccoughs, followed between ten and eleven o'clock by a vomiting of blood sometimes as much as a pint.

She generally remained awake but five minutes, never over seven. Doctors—who would be ANY COLOR PHONES in your home? If so, you're right in style. The Bell System has just won a special award for adding the beauty of color to telephones. It's from the National Society of Interior Designers—the first award of this kind ever made by the Society.

HERE'S A BEAUTY TREATMENT THAT SAVES MONEY! Sound impossible? Well, here's how it works. "Spring" type telephone cords—the kind that can't twist and catch on things—eventually lose their neat, tight curls. Then they're ready for a "permanent wave." (They get it when the telephones come in for repair.) Around one million cords get the full beauty treatment each year—washing, rewinding, and heat setting. $400,000 is saved by this annually, helping to keep down telephone costs.

Barner-Strub Vows Pledged In Church Wedding At Memphis

The Highland Heights Baptist church of Memphis was the setting June 28 for the exchange of wedding vows by Miss Catherine Louise Barner, daughter of Mrs. Carl Atkins Barner of Memphis and the late Mr. Barner, and Richard Charles Strub of Memphis, and formerly of Fulton, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Strub of Union City.

Dr. S. A. Murphy of Memphis officiated at the double ring ceremony held at 3 in the afternoon. Floor baskets of white gladioli and white stock and jade trees with slender white tapers burning in wrought iron candelabra provided a beautiful background for the wedding scene.

Mrs. Glenn Smith, organist, and Miss Mary Ann Turner, vocalist, both of Memphis, presented the following selections of nuptial music: "Liebestraum," "At Dawning, I Love You," "To A Wild Rose," "The Evening Star," "Moonlight and Roses," "Bridal Chorus March," "Wedding March" and "Wedding Prayer."

The matron of honor was Mrs. Van H. Mathis of Memphis, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Maynard D. Burrows, sister of the bride and Mrs. Roland Kall, both of Memphis.

The attendants were dressed in green organza over taffeta. They carried Marguerite daisies interspersed with ivy and tied with matching ribbon streamers.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Van H. Mathis, was lovely in a full-length gown designed by her grandmother of pure white embroidered silk organza and satin. The embroidered bodice was sprinkled with rhinestones and featured long tapered sleeves.

Her illusion veil was attached to a crown of silk organza starred with rhinestones. The bridal bouquet was composed of fleur de amour, lilies of the valley and centered with a white orchid.

for a reception held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlor.

Those serving at the reception were Mrs. William Noblett, Decatur, Ga., Mrs. Frank M. Keefe, Mrs. George Crone, Mrs. Albert Rushton and Miss Jan Davis, all of Memphis.

For her traveling attire the bride chose a yellow linen sheath with matching accessories.

On their return from a Southern wedding trip, the couple will live in Memphis, where the groom is a Commercial Appeal sports staff writer.

Out of town guests included, Mrs. A. J. McNelly of Kenton and Mrs. A. D. Barner of Cleveland, O., aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Warren and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McNulty, all of Union City.

Martha Diane Bennett Becomes Bride Of Jerry Clyde Phillips

The First Baptist Church was the setting for a beautiful summer wedding when Miss Martha Diane Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Streling McKee, became the bride of Jerry Clyde Phillips of McKenzie, Tennessee, on June nineteenth, nineteen hundred and fifty-nine.

The formal wedding was solemnized at four-thirty o'clock in the afternoon. The pastor, the Reverend John D. Laidia officiated, using an impressive double ring ceremony.

As the guests assembled, a program of nuptial music was given by the organist, Mrs. J.

U. McKendree.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a full length bridal gown of ivory re-embroidered chantilly lace in a delicate rose pattern and tulle.

Features of the dress were the low neckline edged with tulle and embroidered in seed pearls, long pointed sleeves and a fitted bodice. The very bouffant skirt was poised over bridal satin and period hoops. Bands of tulle at the hemline were applied in the rose design of the lace. The circular tiered bridal veil of illusion was hand-whipped, satin trimmed and fastened to a satin Puritan hat, embroidered with pearls.

Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls and antique earrings which had belonged to her maternal grandmother. The lovely bridal bouquet was a white purple-throated orchid and lilies of the valley, tied with satin ribbon and puffs of illusion.

Mrs. Jimmy Sisson was her sister's matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Jennie Lindsey of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, Miss Barbara Ann Boyd and Miss Jacqueline Edwards.

Joe Phillips, twin brother of the groom, attended him as best man. Groomsmen were Jimmy Sisson, brother-in-law of the bride and Daniel Calhoun.

Immediately following the ceremony the brides parents entertained at a reception in the reception room of the church.

Assisting in receiving and serving the guests were: Mrs. Paul Boyd, Mrs. Charles Burrow, Mrs. Russell Rudd, Mrs. Joe Phillips, Miss Betty Gregory, Miss Mary Ann Hill, Miss Lucy Anderson, and Miss Paula DeMyer. Miss Ola Maddox of Nashville, aunt of the bride, presided at the register. Lighted tapers in branched candelabra and white lowers were used in decoration throughout the reception room.

Later in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips left on their wedding trip.

They will make their home at 1342 Walden, Memphis, where he will continue his studies at the University of Tennessee College of Medicine.

Out of town guests attending the wedding and reception included - Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Phillips, McKenzie, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. Joe G. Mayor Tripp announced that the city had received a check for $7,000 from Ferry-Morse Seed Company for garbage service for two years.

Mayor Tripp read letters from State ABC board that requests for beer and liquor license by F. A. and F. E. Homra to do business at 501 Kentucky Avenue (Mayfield Highway) and L. C. Adams, to move his liquor store, the Smokehouse, from Lake Street to Highlands, had been rejected. Also, that John Frankum's request for a beer license had been rejected.

A request of James Hurd, colored, of Burns Avenue, for a beer license, was turned down by the city council.

It was announced that F. A. and F. E. Homra will appeal the state's decision on their license.

The Fulton City Council also adopted an ordinance from the State Highway Department, concerning the widening of Church Street and the repair of several other streets in town.

Lindbergh--

his foot was caught in a strut or guy wire and he was hung with the machine, falling with it, a little to one side.

The plane and bodies fell near the center of the flying field, in full view of 1500 persons who had been watching the usual Sunday flying and who had been entertained by the stunts which these two aviators had been performing during the afternoon. The machine was completely destroyed, the engine penetrating 6 feet into the ground.

The body of Lieut. Smith, near by, and that of Zwengrosch, about 200 feet away, were badly crushed by the impact. The crowd rushed onto the field and helped pick up the bodies, which were taken to the undertaking establishment of Coronor Bopp in Kirkwood.

Smith, in the forward cockpit of the plane, was pilot, Zwengrosch was in the after cockpit and was learning something about stunt flying. The plane at 2000 feet went into a "loop-the-loop", coming out and shooting downward, to gain momentum for repeating the stunt. At about 1500 feet, the crowd gasped when the right wing of the plane suddenly was seen to crumple and then part from the rest of the plane, which continued its headlong dash earthward.

Sightseers saw Zwengrosch drop from the plane and spread his arms out in the air as though he was seeking to check the speed at which he was going downward. Apparently the man had forgotten all about the safety parachute with which he was equipped, according to army regulations, for he kept his arms extended, moving up and down, and made no effort to pull the rip cord which would have opened the parachute.

At the same time they saw Smith step from his cockpit and try to jump, apparently with the intention of opening his parachute as soon as he was clear of the ruins of the plane. However, as he sought to jump, it became apparent that his foot was held and he never did get away from the plane, nor get his parachute open.

According to officials of the National Guard, who witnessed the accident, both the aviators could have made their way safely to the ground could they have gotten their parachutes open. The safety device will open in 70 feet of fall, they asserted, and Zwengrosch, at least, had ample time to get his working. The entanglement of Smith with the struts of the plane, they believed, was the only thing that prevented his setting the parachute in operation.

Smith was engaged last week by the Robertson Aircraft Corporation as chief pilot at the Chicago flying branch of the concern and was to have flown from St. Louis to Chicago, April 15, on the first trip of the air mail service between this city and the Illinois metropolis. He was then to have remained in Chicago, having charge of all the pilots at that end of the line.

The plane was a Hispano-Suiza, 150-horsepower machine which recently had been overhauled and improved by the substitution of new wings. It was one of eight planes kept at the field, which are the property of the United States and which are available there for the use of the National Guard unit in practice and training. No theory could be advanced by others at the field to account for the sudden crumbling of the wing.

Smith was a native of Fulton, Ky., but had established legal residence in Missouri, to enable him to serve in the flying unit of the National Guard. He was educated at the University of Kentucky, and was classified as an expert flyer, with more than 700 hours' flying time to his credit. He served for two years as a private with the American Expeditionary forces in the World war and, after his return, attended the Coast Guard Academy and learned to fly at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas, and at Brooks Field. He was commissioned second lieutenant in the Officers' Reserve Corps, January 31, 1924, and had served in the guard since.
