Reservoir Could Stop Creek Worry, Develop Recreation

Perplexing community problems can be compared to a toothache. We never get around to doing them unless they become a crisis. And that's the way it is about the creek. When the rains come and the creek goes on a rampage, just as sure as you're breathing you know that the next day a meeting will be called and some plans made to do something about it. And that's the way it is with a toothache. As long as the cavity is there, it keeps getting bigger and bigger and unless it aches, it with the proper department of State Government perhaps a reservoir of some twenty acres could be built, making it possible to regulate the water flow when necessary. And besides that, such a reservoir, covering some 20 acres would be the greatest recreational water facility this area could ever dream of. The reservoir could be stocked with fish for the delight of this area's hundreds of lovers of Isaac Walton's sport. It would be a great area for boating and water skiing, a sport that's taken over the young people of the area.

The reservoir would draw many tourists to the area near us and thereby be another feather in the progressive cap of a growing Fulton.

Perhaps such a reservoir could not be completely financed by State Funds, and maybe some outside capital (harassed business people) could form some kind of corporation to finance the project.

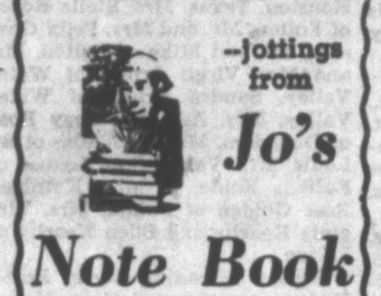

In viewing the names of those persons named to the committee there is no doubt that each of them, collectively and individually, will be prevailed upon to consult the present Administration, or the future Administration in Frankfort for help. Its been a powerfully long time since any State money of consequence has been spent in this farm section of West Kentucky and its high time that we be given some consideration.

Besides that, if such a reservoir could be built, affording water recreational facilities, maybe in the not too distant future the State might erect some rustic cabins on the site, which would be ideal for camping trips for our own Scouts who have to travel many, many miles each year to be near a rustic setting and water facilities as well.

First thing you know we'd have ourselves a small scale State Park, which could certainly some day become a big State Park, for from little acorns, great oaks grow.

I hope that the committee in charge of doing something about Harris Fork Creek will not present their case in a compromising manner. Maybe its not quite the proper thing to do, but State Government makes itself known around these parts in election years, and I'm for getting our just due all the time without any vote promises dangling in the offering as a means to get things accomplished.

And there's an election coming up, you know.

just gets bigger, until presto, soon it aches like the dickens and out it comes.

Several years ago the creek overflowed into everywhere. A mass meeting was held to ask the State to do something about it and as far as we know that's the extent of it. We hope this time, that with the strong committee that has been appointed, something will come of the meeting held last week.

And while the committee is contemplating action we wonder if they would "kick around" the idea given us this week by a very capable young businessman called Nathan Wade. Nathan advanced a tremendous idea that will not only ward off future creek overflows, but afford a bang-up recreational project as well.

Nathan and I discussed the fact that the State Highway Department would be asked to raise the bridges on the Kentucky side. This will undoubtedly cost a lot of money and will help greatly to facilitate the flow of debris that accumulates in the creek during a down-pour. Raising the bridges, as we see it, will not lower the high water. Nor will a high bridge do anything to break up the piles of debris that accumulates on the Tennessee side causing a bottle neck in the flow of the high water.

But its for sure that if the highway department could consult

Sub-Divider Must Pay For Improvements, But City Will Reimburse, Council Decrees

The South Fulton Council met in a lengthy adjourned session at the city hall Tuesday night, and two ordinances were passed.

One ordinance would require a sub-divider to furnish all material and labor in the installation of water, sewer, streets and storm sewers. Then, the city would repay the sub-divider at the rate of $100 per house, when the utilities were connected and $100 per year, per house built until paid.

Another ordinance passed by the council was one providing for and requiring the approval of the majority of the city council of the proposed plat of the sub-division, the proposed streets, water mains, sewer lines and the names of the said streets and the dimensions of the said lots as platted in the said sub-division.

No lots shall have less than 10,500 square feet of area.

Janice Walker Will Appear In "Stars Of Today And Tomorrow"

Janice Walker, 18-year-old Hickman Countian, will appear in "Stars of Today and Tomorrow", a musical production to be staged Tuesday night, August 25, at Overton Park Shell, Memphis, Tennessee.

Her participation will mark her third year's performance as solo organist in the musical. She was Sweepstake winner in the instrumental division over six states at the Mid-South Fair last September.

Miss Walker will carry her own electric organ to Memphis and will play a fifteen minute organ interlude. She will also have a spot in the show, where she will play with the stage band. She will rehearse with the band August 24.

The show is under the direction of Harlo McCall, who arranged the musical to show off top talent that has come to public attention through the Mid-South Fair.

No admission is to be charged for viewing and hearing the show. The public is invited.

Miss Walker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Walker, Clinton, Kentucky. Janice will enter the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music in Cincinnati, Ohio, September 6, where she plans to further her education in music.

Fulton High Season Tickets Go On Sale Here

The 1959 football season tickets for Fulton High School will go on sale Monday morning. Cheerleaders Nancy Bushart, Chan Covington, Judy Moore, Wanda Cash, Sherry Johnson, and Judy Owens, with four other students, will cover the downtown Fulton area the first of the week to make the tickets as widely available as possible. They can also be obtained by calling 697 (Fulton High), giving your address, and requesting delivery.

The 1959 season tickets are good for four Bulldog home games: Sharon (Sept. 11), Martin (Sept. 18), Newbern (Oct. 9), and Dresden (Nov. 6). The proceeds of the fifth home game, with South Fulton (Oct. 29), will go to charity. Ticket prices for adults are $3.50, students $1.50.

For its homecoming game, Fulton High will play host to Martin on September 18, with the crowning of the football queen and all the other festivities that contribute to make the homecoming the top game of the year.

This year's Bulldogs boast a total roster of 38 players, eighteen of whom are eyed as potential starters. On the team are included nine first-classmen; "We're expecting big things of these seniors!" Principal J. M. Martin declares.

Former Official Of Ferry-Morse Dies Recently

Thomas Moore Landrum, former Vice President and member of the Board of Directors of Ferry-Morse Seed Co., died Sunday, August 9, 1959, at the age of 84.

In 1893, at the age of 17, he joined C. C. Morse & Co. Mr. Landrum progressed rapidly in the company and in 1900 was made Assistant Manager, later becoming the firm's Secretary. He established residence at the C. C. Good Response To Singing Over WFUL

R. L. McNatt reports to the News office that the telephone calls, cards and letters received complimentary of the radio program from WFUL Sunday morning is proof that the station has many early listeners and that the young ladies have at their command good gospel music. They were the Woodruff sisters, Martha and Judy of Union City, Mary Cashlon and Connie Hastings of Dukedom and Judy Thacker of Leitchfield, Ill. Judy is the daughter of Albert Thacker, nephew of R. L. McNatt. She has full time employment during the school vacation in a music store. (She's only 15.)

Miss Thacker does a weekly radio program for the music store and is assistant organist at the First Baptist Church at Leitchfield.

Connie, Mary and Judy attended the singing at Beech Springs Baptist Church the second Sunday night and gave special numbers, getting great applause.

Don Wright Home And Writes Of Sailing Over The Ocean Blue

Dear Jo:

As I think back now upon the events of the last few months, the hectic closing days of June Week at the Academy, the baffling problems of attempting to get all our gear aboard ship and ready for summer cruise, the excitement of living and working aboard ship, the pleasures and newness of visiting in foreign ports, it behooves me to say that this has been quite a summer.

But perhaps I'd best start at the beginning. I think you'll remember my telling you that June Week was the festive time of a school year at Annapolis. School in the academic sense was over and the more to be enjoyed summer months of training and vacationing were yet ahead. It has been said each successive June Week of the four years at the academy becomes more anticipated. I think I'll have to go along with that, the ones I've had have been great and already I'm looking forward to my last one next year. The Midshipmen do their best to have that special girl come for the week and the townspeople of Annapolis open their homes to the young ladies and make them feel almost as if they were part of their family. The fests, as we say, come from every state and even France, Spain, and other countries abroad. To be brief - we had a ball.

That week passes so fast that at times I wonder how we found time to do all we had planned. On the last day of the week we boarded our ships and commenced the first leg of the cruise.

It might be a good point to explain about this term "cruise". During the usual school period, September through May, we are busy learning the subjects necessary for our degree and profession. Then in the summer we go to sea and put to work practically these principles which we had studied in theory. There's no better way to learn than by doing.

Thus, out to sea. The first few weeks of the cruise were spent aboard aircraft carriers which were transferring the larger amount of midshipmen to the Mediterranean Sea for their assignment to the smaller ships. I was on board the USS Lake Champlain for the trip across the Atlantic and later the USS Intrepid took me to my destroyer the Massey. Pack and unpack, find a bed and lie down, sleep, tired, I wish this ship would stop jumping up and down... so went the first part of the cruise. Finally we arrive at Gibraltar in the entrance to the Mediterranean and a few days later boarded the destroyers. The best part began. On the destroyers we were given billets or jobs that the junior officer would encounter and busied ourselves with the task of learning all we could of the profession that would be ours upon graduation next year. Needless to say, it really was interesting.

After the initial weeks at sea we put in to our first port and felt the good old earth beneath our feet again. That port was Palma on the island of Majorca. This island lies just off the coast of Spain and is indeed beautiful. It lies in water so blue as to almost defy description. The people there were lovely and their habits and language quite Spanish. Old forts and castles, small fishing villages, exquisite gardens and - bull fights. Ah Torol. Bill Medaris, from Memphis, went along with me to the first bull fight either of us had ever seen. We took our cameras and really had plenty of color to click our shutters upon. If you think the Americans get a bit excited about watching our baseball or football, you should see the Spanish and their enthusiasm for the bull ring. They yell, they shout, clap their hands, stomp their feet, throw their caps into

Nuclear Warfare Brings Startling Army Changes

With the coming of atomic bombs and the refinement of nuclear warfare to a degree yet unrealized by the average citizen of this country, the United States Army is currently undergoing one of the most rapid, startling and drastic changes in its entire career.

Atomic warfare has made it necessary to change the whole concept of fighting on the ground—and no conflict, however small, has ever been won without physical occupation of ground.

The Army today is one that no World War II veteran would recognize in operation. Knowing that any future prospective enemy will also have the capability of delivering nuclear missiles into its front, the Army now has created new tactics employing dispersion over considerably wider an area than ever before. And with dispersion comes a new mobility to ground troops employing all manner of short-range, short-lift aircraft that are now integral components of fighting units bring about some drastic changes in fighting tactics undreamed of in World War II.

Army firepower, too, has multiplied in unbelievable significance. Where the World War II range of weapons operated by a ground Army perhaps had a maximum effective range of 15 miles, now the range is almost boundless with the various missiles and rockets that have been perfected and are now being used. Rockets carrying atomic warheads are not only packing more punch than planes carrying conventional bombs, —they are perfected to the point of deadly accuracy and can be brought on a target with a minimum of delay.

These were but a few of the up-to-date developments that we learned during a two-week information course the first part of this month. The fact that all of this modernization has already been accomplished and our Army is currently being trained in these methods attests to the degree of readiness that this Country is maintaining should any enemy seek to attack us.

In a future war anything that cannot be moved can be destroyed. A Battle Group, or a Division, or a key installation, however far to the rear of the front line, will have to depend on its ability to move from one location to another in order to survive. Such things as airfields that are required for huge sprawling bombers, however distant they may be, can be destroyed as soon as they are located, rendering this potential perhaps a matter of question.

No war of the future will ever be concluded without physically occupying ground. The ill-informed current school of thinking that estimates a future "push-button" war consisting of a rain of atomic bombs lasting a matter of hours or weeks simply doesn't face the facts.

The Army, then, has its job cut out for it. Given the money to maintain its manpower and to equip its men, it will do the rest. It is modern, it is mobile, it is progressive and it's our basic and most important fighting force.

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

Facts For Teenagers

By Dorothy Ricker.

author of "Teen-age Mail," a syndicated column

Recently a young girl wrote to me saying that she and her boy friend liked each other very much, but they quarreled over what is right and wrong on dates. She wondered, "Why did God make us as we are? We're only human and sometimes it's awfully hard to say 'No'."

QUESTIONS like these from young girls are quite common to "Teen-age Mail." To me the most striking observation about these letters is one I have never seen mentioned in any literature on teen-age boy-girl problems. It is the fact that the basic urge of most teen-age females is to "own," possess for herself alone, the male to whom she has taken a fancy. This desire becomes so strong at times that the girl often convinces herself that submitting to her boy friend's demands is the one sure way to hold him for keeps.

The sad part of it is, as so many girls have learned, it doesn't work! To the contrary, when a girl lets down the bars it usually starts the boy to wondering. The girl, too, begins to wonder after a time whether he really loves her or is just "using" her for his own convenience. Sooner or later, in most cases, the couple breaks up. The girl's submission has become the reason for losing him, not "holding" him as she thought.

EVERY intelligent teen-ager knows that the answer to all questions about immoral boy-girl relationships is "Don't!" But is that answer enough? I doubt it. Too many teen-agers have written to me saying they knew all the "Don'ts" all along, and fully intended to observe them. But when the right person and circumstances came along the "Don'ts" did not prevent them from letting down the bars. It seems that teen-agers are sometimes caught up in a whirlpool of emotions so powerful that all of their good intentions and moral ideals are swept away.

It is true that God did make us with powerful emotions, desires and the ability to reproduce our kind. But that ability was not meant to be misused. It was meant to be used to create fine children and happy families through marriage.

GOD ALSO gave us our hands to work, clothe and feed ourselves. But, unfortunately, these same hands can also pull the trigger of a gun to kill a neighbor in a fit of anger. Just as we can misuse our hands, we can, if we are not careful, misuse our wonderful powers of sex and love.

The important fact we must always remember is that not only did God make us with a desire to do many things, but he also gave us the intelligence to know the difference between right and wrong and the ability to choose between them. Our happiness in teen-age life is the result of using the gifts God gave us as He intended them to be used, not as our fancy pleases.

Diary of Doin's

(Items gathered along Fulton's merryway for your pleasure and your scrapbook)

Somewhere around these parts we heard a record once called "LET'S HAVE A PARTY." Regardless of what the top tune of the Nation is these days, "LET'S HAVE A PARTY" is the all-time, all-time favorite in Fulton right now. There aren't enough pages in the book, or ink, we must confess, to record all these doings in your diary, but we'll do the "bestest" we can.

We'll get around to all the bridal and birthday parties later on in this missal, but first we'd like to tell you that the news of the untimely death of Admiral William F. (Bull) Halsey meant more to a former Fultonian than the passing of a great general.

Rear Admiral M. C. Cheek, (brother of LaVerne Terry and Louise Henderson) now vacationing in Europe, surely must be recounting his long, close, personal and historic association with the great Admiral, for Admiral Cheek served with "Bull" Halsey in the Pacific area during the fiercest of the Japanese battles.

Admiral Cheek was chief of naval intelligence on Halsey's staff during World War II and was right at the Admiral's side when the historic Japanese surrender document was signed on the battleship Missouri in 1945. We mean "at his side" literally, for when Time magazine published a photograph of the momentous occasion, Admiral Cheek was seen at Halsey's elbow in the picture.

Admiral and Mrs. Cheek have been in Europe since last April spending time visiting with their daughters in Germany and France and points continental. What a wonderful way to enjoy a vacation.

And while on the subject of this distinguished family we might add that there was all kinds of continental gaiety (American) at the Terry and Henderson households

Preston Watts and his family can tell you that. Preston came by to see us Saturday to subscribe for the News, because, said he, he couldn't wait to borrow his neighbor's copy anymore. Preston said that it's a regular Saturday ritual in Detroit among all the Fulton families up there to call up and discuss items of interest appearing in the News. They used to exchange copies until everybody decided they wanted to keep their own, and of course that makes us happy. Preston, his wife, and son are visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Watts near Harris.

Had a note from Sara (Photographer) Denny from Memphis this week and she tells us the sad news that Marvin's father died suddenly recently and that Marvin has been hospitalized for some time, but is able to go back to work again. We're sorry to learn such news, but hope everything will be all right soon.

Carolyn Roberts certainly was a welcome guest in the Don Samons household in Memphis this week, for more reasons than one. Carolyn went down to help Tootie and Don pack their belongings, since they are leaving Memphis to live in Sarasota, where Don has received a nice promotion from the electrical firm where he is employed.

Ruth and Jim Lewis took off Wednesday for a nice, needed vacation and we wish we could be along. Their destination is Cumberland Falls, Ky., but they're going by way of Bardstown where they will enjoy the presentation of the Stephen Foster Story. Read the other day where Bardstown has become "THE" place to visit this summer and rightly so. Ruth says that she will have an interesting sojourn in a little town called Bardown, Ky., where her early ancestors settled in Kentucky. Jim too, says he has "kin" thereabouts so we know they'll have fun. Seeing the Stephen Foster story makes some kind of record for the Lewises, for after seeing the Foster story they will have seen all three of the Paul Green productions in Kentucky: "Wilderness Road," "Unto These Hills," and now the Foster story. It's going to Bardtown or bust for us before September.

And now for the party line... Lucy Anderson (Now Mrs. Charles Andrews) was complimented at a morning coffee last week by Mesdames F. D. Phillips, Raymond Adams, L. C. Logan and Robert Holland at whose lovely home the party was held... and then too, Lucy shared honors with Betty Gregory at a dessert bridge, when Paula DeMyer, Mary Ann Hill and Carolyn Roberts served as gracious young hostesses with Mrs. Don Hill and Mrs. A. B. Roberts helping, at the home of the Don Hills... Agatha Voelpel, "the wedding-lady" was hostess to a porch party (that's new) for lovely Lucy at her home last week... and then the three lovely brides who have been the occasion for the "Let's Have A Party" epidemic were honored at a one o'clock luncheon (watch those calories department) by Mrs. Sterling Bennett, Mrs. Jerry Phillips, Mrs. Jack Edwards and Mrs. Donnie Rogers... the hostesses were a mother and daughter affair, and that's fun.

Nothing is so much fun as coming back to Fulton for a visit after having been away for awhile.

As the guests assembled Miss Anna Mary DeMyer, organist, gave a program of nuptial music which included "Romance" - Rubenstein, "Caprice Venoise" - Kreisler, "Chanson Triste" - Ravel, "Thine Alone" - Romberg, and a Greig "Berceuse." The traditions wedding marches from Wagner and Mendelssohn were used as processional and recessional. The Barnby wedding hymn, "O Perfect Love" was played during the ceremony. Miss Beverly Hill, soprano, sang "Because" - D'Hardelot and "Oh Promise Me" - De Koven before the exchanging of the vows and the Malott "Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

The lovely young bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an exquisite formal wedding gown of imported Chantilly lace and tulle over bridal taffeta. The fitted bodice was of the lace and featured a scalloped sabbina neckline. The long tapered sleeves extended in pointness over her hands. Iridescent sequins were sprinkled at the neckline. The voluminous skirts were poised over Southern Belle Hoops. The tulle skirt had full-length lace panels which were encrusted with iridescent. The skirts developed into a cathedral train. Miss Lucy Anderson Becomes Bride Of Charles Wade Andrews Saturday

One of the outstanding weddings of the season was solemnized on Saturday afternoon the fifteenth of August, nineteen hundred and fifty-nine, at four-thirty o'clock at the First Methodist Church, when Miss Lucy Virginia Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wilson Anderson, of Fulton, became the bride of Charles Wade Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Andrews, of Fulton. The Reverend Joseph L. Leggett, pastor of the church, officiated using an impressive double ring service. The ceremony was witnessed by a large assembly of relatives and friends of the young couple and their parents.

such popular brides-elect... the mamma-daughter teams were Elva (mamma) and Anne (daughter) Fall and Irene (mamma) and Barbara (daughter) Boyd.

And it must have been a lot of fun for Lucy Anderson last Thursday when she turned from honoree to hostess honoring her bridal attendants... it was a luncheon... and as your diarist writes on she can almost feel the pounds accumulating on the waist lines of the honorees and guests for meals at every hour of the day have been planned, party-line style... Susan and Lynn Bushart and their mother Sara had a breakfast last week for the three brides of the season... Beverly, Lucy and Betty... when this is over somebody will surely compose a song in their honor.

We've always wondered what happens to the bride-groom-elect while the bride-elect is gadding about all the time... never have figured it out, but then every now and then somebody brings them together so they can talk over their wedding plans... and that's what Al Bushart and Gaylon Varden did for Betty Gregory and Charles Binford... they just got those two nice people together for a back yard supper and that was a mighty "thoughty" thing to do.

iridescent. She wore a pearl and diamond pendant which was the gift of the groom. Her bridal bouquet was a large fuchsia throat orchid surrounded with lilies of the valley and illusion puffs. White satins ribbons showered the bouquet and were caught with lilies of the valley. The bouquet was placed on a white Bible.

Mrs. Frederick Spraggs was the matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Paula DeMyer, Miss Carolyn Roberts, Miss Betty Gregory, and Miss Mary Ann Hill. Miss Judy Andrews, cousin of the groom, was the junior bridesmaid.

Little Miss Gwen Graves, a cousin of the bride, was an appealing flower girl in her blue lace rock made in similar style to the dresses of the other attendants.

Mr. Charles Andrews was his son's best man. The ushers were Charles Binford, Mikey Homra, Phillip Andrews, brother of the groom, Jerre Pigus and Billy Mott Jones and William Turner, cousins of the groom.

For the daughter's wedding Mrs. Anderson chose a handsome re-embroidered lace frock of sapphire blue. The dress was designed along sheath lines and had a cummerbund and drapery of matching chiffon. She wore blue crystal jewelry and her hat was of shaded blue velvet petals. Her satin slippers matched her dress and she had a deep fuchsia orchid corsage.

Mrs. Andrews, mother of the groom, wore an afternoon dress of ice blue chiffon and ribbon embroidered lace. The lace bodice had a portrait neckline and short sleeves. The chiffon skirt was gathered. She had a matching shell hat and her accessories were white. She also had a fuchsia orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony the parents of the bride entertained with a reception in the dining room of the church.

The registered table was covered with a drawn work linen cloth and held a tall white anniversary candle nestled in tulle and ornamented with lilies of the valley. A white and gold wedding pen was topped with a single white rose. Mrs. Fred Armstrong and Mrs. Joe Moore, aunts of the bride, presided at the table. Appropriate organ music was played throughout the reception by Mrs. L. C. Logan.

Assisting in receiving and serving the guests were Mrs. W. T. Meriwether, Mrs. C. W. Anderson, Jr., Aunts of the bride, Mrs. Frew W. Armstrong, Mrs. Bennie Graves, Mrs. Bror Nordberg, cousins of the bride, Mrs. Harry Brady, Miss Mary Katherine Brady, Miss Mary Ann Ringo, Miss Barbara Ann Boyd, Miss Ruth Caldwell and Miss Ella Doyle.

Early in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Andrews left for their wedding trip. After their wedding trip the young couple will make their home in Memphis, where Mrs. Andrews will be a member of the faculty of the Memphis City School and Mrs. Andrews will be a senior at the University of Tennessee Medical School in the School of Pharmacy. They will be at home at 760 Adams Street, Apartment 307, Memphis, Tennessee.

Miss Sue Helmbrecht Becomes Bride Of Leroy Sawyer Sunday

By Agatha Voelpel

The Cumberland Presbyterian Church presented a setting of nuptial beauty on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 9, when Miss Sue Helmbrecht became the bride of Leroy Sawyer at four o'clock, with the Reverend Oakley Woodside, pastor of the church officiating and using an impressive double-ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester William Helmbrecht and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sawyer.

As the guests assembled, Mrs. Gus G. Bard, organist, gave a program of nuptial music. Mrs. Wendall Coffman, soloist, sang "I Love You Truly" (Bond), preceding the exchanging of the vows and "The Lord's Prayer" (Malotte), just before the prayer of benediction.

The lovely young bride, who was escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful formal wedding gown of imported Chantilly lace over satin. She had elbow-length lace mitts. Her misty illusion veil fell from a modified pill box of pearl-encrusted lace. She wore pearl earrings, which were a gift of the groom and a pearl necklace, which was a gift of her maternal grandfather. She carried a circular bouquet of stephanotis centered with a large white orchid and surrounded with tulle and tied with satin ribbons.

Miss Barbara Caesar, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Brenda Brown and Mrs. Charles Sawyer. They wore organdy designed along princess lines with gathered panel in the back of the flared skirts. Miss Caesar wore shell pink, Miss Brown wore green and Mrs. Sawyer wore orchid. They wore tiaras of matching net with clusters of Marguerite Daisies and carried Colonial bouquets of the same flowers with tulle puffs and ribbons to match their dresses. Little Miss Jacqueline Caesar was a dainty flower girl, wearing a bouffant frock of white embroidered organdy with matching tiny tiara and carrying a lace basket from which she scattered rose petals. Charles Sawyer attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Bobby Logan, Dale Breeden, Morgan Fields and Jerry Ferguson, cousin of the groom.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Helmbrecht entertained with a reception in the church dining room. Arrangements of gladioli were used in decoration. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. George Hatler, Mrs. Lester Kearney, Miss Jean Evans, Miss Marjorie Holder and Miss Margaret Ann Newton. Late in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer left for a wedding trip after which they will make their home in Fulton. For traveling Mrs. Sawyer wore a frock of beige cotton damask designed with a low neckline and short sleeves. A crushed cummerbund encircled her waist. She wore a jade green shell hat and her other accessories were also jade green. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

the ring, throw their caps into the air, they throw anything anywhere and manage to consume gigantic quantities of good Spanish wine at the same time. Yes Mam...there's nothing like a QUIET Sunday afternoon at the bull fights....

After a week in Palma we set sail for a few days at sea. I think every one from the Captain to the galley hands hated to leave. Barcelona, Spain was the next stop on our itinerary. There we found some wonderful bargains in leather goods as well as clothes and paintings. The women's leather purses were hand-tooled and works of art. If I had had the money to buy everything I liked the old destroyer wouldn't have had room for me and my gear. And say...have you ever seen a Spanish Flamenco? This is a dance of a pure Spanish origin accompanied by guitars and castanets. CLICK, CLICK-STRUM, STRUM-faster and faster and yet so graceful. Bill and I could watch for hours and try to clap our hands to the tricky rhythm.

Next stop Leghorn, Italy and the Leaning Tower of Pisa nearby. We only had one day in Leghorn and are presently aboard a MATS airplane bound for Port Lyaute in North Africa. From Africa we will fly home in about one-tenth of the time that it took us to cross by ship. So...so long for now and here's to good old Fulton for there's truly no place in the world that look's quite as good as HOME.

Love,
Don Wright

THE WHITNEL FUNERAL HOME

OFFERS

FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW

You can buy funeral services in price ranges to fit your financial circumstances in any funeral home in this area. Therefore, choose your funeral director on any basis that you desire, with the assurance that the prices are reasonable. However, DO NOT BE MISLED into thinking that any certain funeral home is cheaper in prices... because all funeral directors in this area use approximately the same formula and policy in pricing funerals.

The funeral business is a SERVICE business which means that SERVICE is what any funeral home has to offer. Hence, you get the greatest value for your money where the service is outstanding.

We are equipped in every detail to give you courteous, efficient, and outstanding service. If you are interested in comparing prices, we invite comparisons. BUT DO NOT CHOOSE YOUR FUNERAL DIRECTOR ON THE BASIS OF CHEAPER PRICES. You may get cheaper service but NOT cheaper prices for that service. It costs no more to have outstanding service. The cost is a matter of your choice.

Telephone Talk

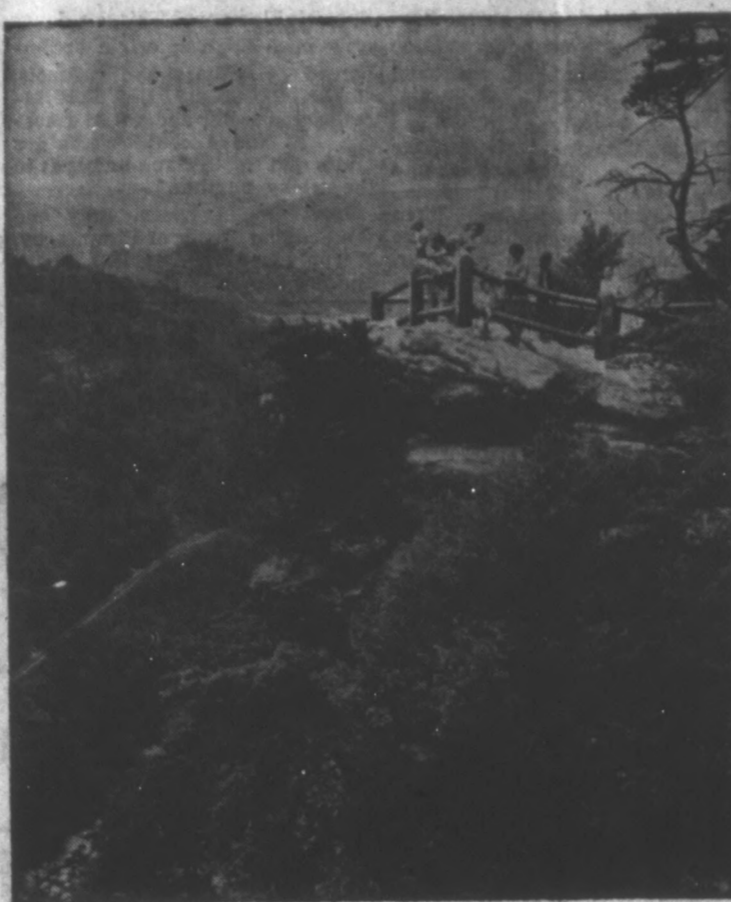

by HAROLD WILEY
Your Telephone Manager

THE CALENDAR tells me there's a holiday ahead—the Labor Day weekend. And this makes me think of two things—a good time (which I'm sure we're all planning) and safety.

SAFETY ON THE HIGHWAY will be especially important this year. There are more cars on the roads today than ever before in history—and you can count on it that most of them will be out over Labor Day. So, take care and drive carefully. You'll have a happier holiday if you do.

AND ON THE LIGHTER SIDE of safety and warning, if you're going away for Labor Day, "play it safe" and "warn" folks of your arrival. A Long Distance call will reserve accommodations, help you plan your visit with out-of-town friends and family. Remember when calling Long Distance, it's cheaper to call station-to-station—faster when you know the number.

THE REASON I'm so safety conscious is because we at the telephone company are continually aware of safety's importance—especially on the job. Because of this, we regularly conduct classes in safety and first aid. This knowledge helps protect us at work, and many times it's enabled us to help others in emergencies—even save lives. That's why I never underestimate the rules of safety, and I hope you won't either.

One of the most popular observation points at Breaks Interstate Park is the Clinchfield Overlook. Guardrails and steps have been observation points safe and easily accessible for the park visitor. Photo by Kentucky Department of Public Relations

Farm Census Field Assistant For Section Appointed

Appointment of Elias G. Adams of Route 6, Hopkinsville, Kentucky, as a field assistant for the 1959 Census of Agriculture was announced today by the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce.

Mr. Adams will direct a force of 18 crew leaders and 263 census takers in 32 counties in western Kentucky. Counties in which Mr. Adams will supervise the farm census this fall include Fulton County.

Mr. Adams will enter on duty on September 16 and receive several days of training which will cover administrative procedures and other duties and responsibilities connected with the job. He will be responsible for recruiting the crew leaders who will enter on duty on October 19. The crew leaders will in turn recruit the census takers who will enter on duty on November 11.

The 1959 Census of Agriculture will collect information on the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock production and inventories, selected farm facilities, selected farm expenditures, farm values, and mortgage debt. Information will be published for counties, states, and the nation.

Jaycees Plan For Horse Show On September 12

The board of directors of the Fulton Junior Chamber of Commerce, held its regular meeting Thursday night at 7:30 p. m. at the YMBC hall, and made plans for a Horse Show to be held at the Fulton Ball Park on September 12th at 8 p. m. Tickets will go on sale in the near future and price of admission is $1.00 for adults and 35c for students.

Highlight of the show will be a special exhibition by the Paris Riding Club. Tentative plans were made for the second Jaycee Talent Show to be held on September 15 at the South Fulton auditorium.

The talent show winner will be given an all-expense paid trip to the Mid-South Fair to participate in a Talent Show as a representative of the twin cities. The Mid South show will be held during the fair, which opens during the fair, which opens on September 25.

Sailor Injured In Car Wreck

One sailor was injured and three others escaped injuries Sunday night at 8:10, when a convertible in which they were riding, overturned on Highway 45 five miles north of Fulton.

The injured boy was David L. Gibbs, 19, of Shreveport, La. He suffered a back injury and was brought to Hillview Hospital in a Whitel ambulance. He was later dismissed.

The other occupants of the car were Robert L. Radford, 18, driver, from Bluff Ridge, Kansas, Robert R. Balks, 19, of Holland Mich., and Mike J. Case, 19, of Evansville, Ind.

All four sailors are stationed at the Millington Naval Base. The boys were enroute to Millington at the time of the accident, which occurred on an approaching car. Radford lost control of the car and the vehicle overturned in a ditch filled with water. The top of the convertible was down at the time. The car didn't appear to be damaged Sunday night.

smoothest ride!

One of the 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any other car in its field

Anyone who's ever taken a Chevy over a choppy country road can tell you how lightly Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension handles rough going—and coil springs never squeak, never need grease! Try this velvet way of going for yourself. Once you do, you'll find your own way of saying what MOTOR TREND magazine puts this way: "the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But the happiest part of it all is that this Full Coil ride is just one of seven big bests—all documented by published opinions of experts and on-the-record facts and figures.

BEST ROOM—Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* show that Chevrolet sedans offer more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars—more front seat hip room (by up to 5.9 inches) than the "other two" of the leading low-priced three.

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise from virtually every automobile magazine, and just recently, Chevrolet received the NASCAR† Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ECONOMY—A pair of Chevrolet sizes with Powerglide won their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, topping every other full-sized car. And the winning mileage was a whopping 22.38 m.p.g.

BEST BRAKES—Chevy's bonded-lining brakes are the biggest in their field, built for up to 66% longer life. In a direct competition conducted by NASCAR, Chevy outstepped both of the other leading low-priced cars in a test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST TRADE-IN—Any N.A.D.A.‡ Guide Book can give you the figures on Chevy's extra value. You'll find that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." Your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to tell you about a whole host of other advantages besides these seven. Why not drop by his showroom?

Farm News, Meetings, Events

(Ed's note: the following information, supplied THE NEWS by the USDA, ASC, nearby County Agents and agricultural agencies will be of special interest to progressive farmers in the Ken-Tenn area):

OBION COUNTY AGRICULTURAL COMMENTS & EVENTS

Excellent corn crop prospects. Soybeans generally good. Cotton looking much better and fruiting good after a very slow start. Red Spider continues to do scattered damage to cotton. No boll weevils have been reported. Pastures in most parts of the county are way above the average for August. Rains came last Sunday (August 16) in many parts of the county.

Farmers preparing to store more corn this year due to the low price forecast at harvest time.

The third and final day of County Feeder Calf Inspections will be held Monday, August 24. Obion County beef producers will consign around 500 head of high quality feeder calves to the Newbern sale on October 7. Plans are now being made to almost double that number in 1960. A year around program on beef heard management has already gotten underway. Alex Claiborne, Marketing Specialist with the State Department of Agriculture has assisted many farmers this year during the county feeder calf inspection days. Tom Langford, West Tennessee Extension Livestock Specialist, has also worked with many Obion County beef producers. The first herd in the county to start Beef Performance Testing was checked last week by Tom Langford. Farnell Garrigan, State Line Road Angus breeder is the first of many

We expect to start on this program. Obion countians are really busy getting ready for the big 1959 Obion County Fair to be held Wednesday, September 2 thru Saturday, September 5 here in Union City at Turner Field.

Wheat growers in Obion County should keep in mind that certain wheat varieties are labeled "undesirable" and so subject to a 20-cent discount under the 1960 price support program. Chairman Vaughn of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said today. These discounts have been in effect for the last four crops.

The undesirable varieties for 1960 include: Hard Red Winter - Blue Jacket, Cache, Chiefkan, Cimarron, Early Blackhull, Kan King, Kharkof MC 22, New Chief, Pawnee Sel. 33, Purkof, Red Chief, Red Hull, Red Jacket, Stafford, Wasatch, and Yogo.

Hard Red Spring - C. T. 231, Casser, Henry, Kinney, Premier, Progress Russell, Spinkota, and Sturgeon.

White - fiftyfold, Florence, Greeson, Rex, and Sonora. Soft Red Winter - Kan Queen, Kawvale, Nured, and Seabreeze. Durum - Golden Ball, Pellis, and Pentad.

Chairman Vaughn explained that the production of the "undesirable" varieties, which possess inferior milling or baking qualities, is being discouraged by the reduction in price support as one way of lessening the possibility of U. S. wheat of inferior quality getting into the domestic and export market channels.

Because wheat varieties are difficult to determine from threshed samples, the producer will be responsible for identifying the variety of wheat he is putting under price support.

No protein premiums and no amber or hard amber durum premiums will apply on undesirable varieties.

Ballots for voting the September referendum on the lamb and wool marketing development program are now being mailed to producers in Obion County. Chairman Vaughn of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced today.

The referendum will determine whether or not deductions will continue to be made from producer payments earned under the wool incentive program. Funds collected are used by the American

Down on the Farm

With JIM PRYOR

Agricultural Agent, Illinois Central Railroad

Credit is essential for successful agricultural production. Farming as it was known years ago is fast fading from the picture, while demands for more credit upon the part of those farmers who are left in business is increasing daily. Although farm credit is available from many sources and in sufficient amounts in most cases, judgment must be exercised wherever it is to be used and credit institutions need also to be aware of the needs and problems when money is to be loaned to farmers.

The adoption of technology on many farms has resulted in a marked increase in capital requirements for farming. A high level of investment and the need for large sums for operating expenses has resulted in an increase in the amount of credit needed. There are many sources of farm credit today and it has many broad applications. In studies made of what farm credit is used for, it has been found that sixty percent of those who borrow use it for crop production and related uses.

Commercial Banks still are the most important sources of farm credit. Production Credit Associations lend much money to farmers and in some areas of the cotton growing sections, ginners and merchants still represent a high percentage of the money loaned for production of crops. Many times, they in turn are financed by Banks and other related institutions.

Since farming is becoming a big time business, there will in the future be much more demand placed upon those who finance farmers to increase even their present lending ability and there is also another marked change that is to be needed in the years ahead. There will be more need for longer term plans for repayment of many of these loans.

Farm stored grain should be checked periodically. The top foot should be examined for presence of insects. A broomstick or long rod with thermometer attached should be pushed into the grain at several places. If one reading is several degrees warmer than others, insect activity is likely.
